

Mr. Businessman: Where's Your Competitor? Survey Tells

If you're a Cass City businessman, your nearest competitor may not necessarily be in Cass City. He may be in Bad Axe, Caro, Saginaw, Bay City or even Detroit.

That's the answer the Chronicle received this week in a telephone survey of area residents about their shopping preferences. Ten residents were asked if they shopped in Cass City and, depending on their answer, why.

Covered were grocery shopping, clothing purchases and furniture and appliance marketing.

According to the answers received, the ideal business in Cass City is a grocery store selling quality clothes, a wide variety of furniture and name brand appliances.

If your business doesn't carry some or all of these items, Mr. and Mrs. Average Shopper won't hesitate to go where they are, the interview revealed.

Names for the interview were picked at random and included the wives of two factory workers, a banker's wife, the wife of a doctor, the wife of a factory official, a carpenter's wife and two insurance salesmen.

Groceries

In the grocery category, all those interviewed were unanimous. All did the bulk of their grocery shopping at one of the two supermarkets or at one of the smaller stores.

A farmer's wife stated that she shopped the local supermarkets because "I think the over-all merchandise offers the best buys. I watch for the specials and stock up."

The factory official's wife likes the supermarket because "everything is in one place."

In defense of the small store, the banker's wife replied, "I was brought up and raised in a small town and I'm accustomed to shopping in a small town grocery. I prefer the small store to the supermarket although I get my meat at the supermarket. The little grocery is owned by a private party and I feel that I would prefer to patronize a locally owned store."

store."

The doctor's wife agreed, stating that she purchased her groceries at a small store "because he carries a good line. He stands behind anything he sells and anytime I need something delivered, he delivers it. Besides that, he's a good friend."

A factory worker's wife who lives in the country was less steadfast. "We get most of our groceries in Cass City. Once in a while, if we're someplace else, we get them there. I don't shop any particular store. . . I just shop them all."

Clothing

Clothing businesses in Cass City fared just slightly better among those surveyed. Most questioned stated they looked first for wearing apparel in Cass City and if they didn't find what they wanted, headed for Saginaw or Bay City.

A factory worker's wife stated she purchased most of her clothes in town "unless it's something I can't get here. I shop here because of the convenience and because I have been very satisfied with the results. Different times we've gone out of town and found out later that we could do just as well here."

The four interviewees who purchased almost no clothing in Cass City complained of a lack of quality, size problems, lack of variety and being unable to find what they wanted.

Several other women shoppers stated that they purchased clothes for the male members of the family locally but were forced to go to the bigger cities for themselves.

Furniture

Only three of the 10 persons interviewed purchased their furnishings in Cass City. A wider selection and higher priced furnishings drew most of the rest to Caro, Bad Axe, Saginaw, Bay City and Detroit.

As a banker's wife put it, "We purchase most of our clothing and furniture in Saginaw because better clothing and furniture is not available here. The selection is better there. If we had better clothing and furniture available here, we'd shop here."

Another furniture buyer was lost to Cass City's three furniture outlets because her son-in-law owns a furniture store in Owosso.

The doctor's wife stated the family's furnishings were "purchased mostly in Cass City. . . because we like to do whatever we can in Cass City before looking elsewhere."

Appliances

Appliance shopping was a direct reversal of the furniture picture. Two shoppers purchased their appliances out of town and the other eight were emphatically in favor of Cass City appliance products.

The banker's wife commented, "We buy all our appliances in Cass City because quality merchandise is available here."

An insurance salesman echoed the remark with "We get our appliances in Cass City because they have complete lines here."

Perhaps the most Cass City-conscious remark came from one of the insurance salesmen. "I firmly believe in home town shopping. I was educated to it by business parents. It is definitely worth it as a business interest. Of course, the women enjoy going to Arlan's or some other shopping center and making a day of it. . . this I understand."

"The point is, the fellow who serves me at the K-Mart isn't going to buy anything from me. He doesn't help pay our taxes. He couldn't care less about Cass City."

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 59, NUMBER 41

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, JANUARY 27, 1966

FOURTEEN PAGES

From the Editor's Corner

The first rumblings of what promises to become one of the hottest political potatoes in the village in 1966 was sounded Tuesday night at the village council meeting when Trustee Glen "Scotty" McCullough discussed the village buying land for off-street parking lots.

We have to start thinking along these lines with the new parallel parking on Main street, he said.

The Chamber of Commerce is running a survey to see what the merchants think about parking and parking meters. All are for off-street parking and the great majority do not want meters.

How much can the village be expected to pay for parking? This is a question that has been debated since the specter of parallel parking first occurred.

Various trustees on various councils in the last decade have expressed an opinion ranging from all to none.

At best, off-street parking under the village auspices promises to be a tedious process. There is no money allotted in the tentative budget for a project of this kind in 1966. Yet, action is becoming more and more imperative.

If the village should need an extra $2,500 this year and doesn't know where to find it, the council could "borrow" the $2,500 set aside for a new village dump.

It's sad to report, but the latest efforts of trustees to secure a dump site has been rebuffed as the Tuscola County Road Commission reported that they were not interested in selling land to Cass City for this purpose.

So the 10-year struggle for a new dump continues about where it started when the quest began and it's almost as sure as death and taxes that the problem won't be solved in 1966.

I like to go to shows. I went to one at the Cass Theatre Saturday night and came away feeling like I'd been taken, even though I enjoyed the show.

The reason is a gimmick employed by the producing studio. This is not the fault of Dick Hendrick who does his best to provide the village with theatre entertainment in a trying period.

I was disgruntled to attend "Cheyenne Autumn," expecting to see James Stewart, only to have him appear in one small sequence in the movie.

The reason the movie moguls do this of course is to lure more patrons into the theatre.

In the long run, we'd think that deception like this would hurt, not help, the motion picture business.

Reckless Driving, Theft Investigated By Co. Deputies

Charles Papkey, Watertown Cemetery sexton, reported Jan. 18 to sheriff's deputies that a pivot bar, two pins and a screw driver had been stolen from a cemetery tractor. A check with cemetery area residents revealed that a pickup truck had been seen at the cemetery the preceding Sunday. The case is still under investigation.

Lloyd C. Hickie, 46, of Deford, was arrested for reckless driving Friday, Jan. 21, after a high-speed chase by Dep. James Barriger over icy roads south of Deford. Hickie's truck was clocked at speeds up to 70 miles an hour. The deputy reported the truck was driven erratically, crossing the centerline several times. Hickie was finally stopped at the corner of Bevens and Cemetery roads.

For Cass City

Tentative Street Work Outlined

Probably the major problem facing the Cass City village council each year is the work on streets and alleys. Streets, together with related drainage problems, are the largest budget item in the village and the one that affects taxpayers more than any other.

Street money comes from State gas taxes related to the village and must be spent on major and local streets. There is some $20,000 earmarked for major streets. This money will be spent on Church Street.

Whether or not the work will be done this year has not been fully decided. The first section of Church to be completed when work starts will be from Seeger street west. This plan has been under study and discussion for two years.

Alley Work

Last year the village planned to resurface two blocks of alleys north of Main street and west of Seeger street. Because of difficulty in coming up with a formula the work was postponed.

For this reason, the village plans to do four blocks, adding the two blocks south of Main and west of Seeger street. Cost has been estimated at $5,000.

The work will be completed if property owners agree to hard surface the back of their property to the new surfacing in the alley. The village will pay for the entire cost of surfacing the alleys. Petitions to this effect are ready to be circulated so that work can be scheduled.

Local Streets

The work slated on local streets is always a critical problem. This year the bulk of the money will be spent on Pine and Seed streets, according to tentative plans of the council.

Plans call for new curb and gutter and resurfacing of Seed from Oak street to the park at a cost of some $8,000 and for similar work on Pine street from Woodland to the east village limits.

The village is also looking at Houghton street. If time and weather should permit curb and gutter, street preparation and drainage will be completed.

Judging by performances in past years, it is unlikely that all of the work will be done this summer. It is more likely that the first step in the work, building drainage, will be completed this year and the remainder of the work held over to 1967.

Six from Area Fined in Local Justice Court

Six area drivers received fines this week when they appeared before Justice Hugh Connolly to answer various traffic and other violations.

Randy E. Dohring, 19, ticketed Dec. 29 for excessive speed, was brought before Justice Connolly Monday on a warrant and fined $20.00 plus costs of $7.30. He was arrested by Patrolman Robert Pawlowski.

Richard J. Bilicki, 18, Caro, paid a fine of $15.00 and costs of $4.30 Saturday, Jan. 22, when he pleaded guilty to driving 40 miles an hour in a 25 mile an hour zone. He was ticketed Jan. 6 by Pawlowski.

Making a U-turn and use of abusive language to the arresting officer cost Glen R. Phelps, 18, Saginaw, a $15.00 fine and costs of $4.30. He was ticketed Jan. 16.

Thomas W. Berlin, 20, Lapeer, charged Jan. 18 with illegal possession of beer as a minor, paid a fine of $25.00 and costs of $4.30.

Paul V. Izydorek, 20, Decker, paid a fine of $10.00 and costs of $4.30 Friday, Jan. 21, after being ticketed Jan. 14 by State Police for driving with noisy mufflers.

Mary J. Lapeer, 34, ticketed Saturday by State Police for speeding, Monday paid a fine of $10.00 and costs of $4.30.

DOUBLE DUTY—These old Christmas cards being sorted by Cass City Junior American Legion Auxiliary President Linda Calka will bring color and fun into the lives of patients at three state hospitals. The Junior Auxiliary began collecting old cards in 1963. The first batch of 800 cards went to an orphanage in Calcutta, India.

The 1964 collection of 3,900 cards was sent to the Lapeer State Hospital and the 1965 cards, totaling 8,300 went to Lapeer and Caro State Hospitals. This year's batch, already totaling several thousand, will go to Mt. Pleasant State Hospital as well as the Lapeer and Caro hospitals.

Still Seeking Solution

Identify Local Mystery Odor

The State Health Department has finally pinpointed the mystery odor plaguing home owners in the vicinity of West Main Street but, like a shimmering mirage, its cause and cure continues to hover just out of reach.

The odor is gasoline, the department flatly asserts. Speculation had ranged from a faulty sanitary sewer to a natural gas leak when the smell first invaded the area.

Now that the village knows what it is, shouldn't finding the source be relatively easy?

No, says the health department. Gasoline can seep for long distances and it's possible that it could come from just about any place in the village. All the gas stations have been alerted, President Lambert Althaver reported.

But the most likely is the closest, so Cliff Ferguson, owner of Cass City Oil and Gas Co., is keeping a close check on his gas storage tank to check for leaks.

Damage Slight in Early Morning Fire

An estimated $100 damage was caused early Wednesday morning in a fire at the James Jenkins home on Garfield Street.

The fire, caused by either a faulty oil burner or a plugged chimney, was out when firemen arrived. The house is owned by William Andrus. The fire was discovered at 2:00 a.m.

Running through the area affected is a pipe that connects to the storage tank and under certain remote conditions it is possible that some gas could have seeped into this unused line.

This line has been cut twice by street crews in the area and 12-foot or larger sections removed.

Swedo Replaces Stroupe at Evans

Mike Swedo, Evans Products Company official for the past year, has been named plant manager, replacing Gerald Stroupe, plant manager for the past six years.

Swedo was named to the position on October 1 and officially took over on December 1. Stroupe, who has returned to the firm's main office in Plymouth, is currently in the sales department.

Swedo joined the Evans company a year ago Tuesday, coming from the American Standards Company in Columbus, Ohio, an air conditioning firm, where he was plant superintendent.

The new manager lives in Gagetown with his wife. Two married daughters live in Detroit. One of the daughters leaves Tuesday for Japan from where she will join her husband in Okinawa.

Stroupe, active in Cass City civic and community affairs, moved to a Plymouth suburb Tuesday.

Supervisor for 25 Years

Wills Quitting At Greenleaf

"Be sure to tell them that the people have used me just fine", Stanley Wills, Greenleaf Township supervisor, said this week as he announced that he was retiring from the board after 25 years of service to the people of the Sanilac county township.

"The township deserves a younger man", the veteran supervisor, who will shortly observe his 70th birthday, said when explaining his decision for not seeking re-election this fall.

But when I'm no longer on the board, I'll still have plenty to do, Wills said. Of course, he grinned, it doesn't take as much to keep me busy as it used to. I'll sell a little insurance and help on the farm. There is nearly 200 acres on the farm, although some of the land is in timber.

During his tenure in Greenleaf, Wills has seen the township grow and then decline. Right now I'd estimate that we have about 600 persons here. At one time it must have been about 700.

Our decline in population can be traced to the larger farms and the loss of families to urban areas, Wills explained.

Despite this, the valuation of the township has about doubled in the last 25 years. In 1940 it was about $540,000 and today's county valuation is $1,039,000. On State equalized valuation the figure is $1,676,687.

Mr. and Mrs. Wills have four children. Lee and Harold live in the Cass City area, as do Mrs. Arlene Lowe, while Mrs. Dorothy Wessels lives near Bad Axe. There are 13 grandchildren in the family.

The 25 years as supervisor have been kind to Wills. He is still in "fair" health. The people have made it an enjoyable job, he said.

If they hadn't, I would have been out long before this. When I started, we got $5 per day when attending sessions at Sandusky.

My salary today is $550 per year, plus mileage when the board is in session.

I don't believe anyone takes this job for the money, he concluded. I know I didn't.

Cases, Costs Jump For Local Police

Costs of village government are climbing rapidly, but expenses for the village police department are jumping faster than any other department, a look at the records by the village council Tuesday night revealed.

The increase can be traced to a number of factors, but the predominant one is the increase in protection and work for policemen in Cass City.

For about six months, Cass City has had a third man employed. This, coupled with salary increases, has jumped the department's cost $5,000 over its $12,000 budget for 1965 and will shove it to $19,000 in 1966, trustees feel.

Also on the horizon for the village is a new police car every year. The department now puts 50,000 miles a year on its police vehicle. . . as much as it did in two years before the enlarged department became effective.

Chief C. Palmateer submitted a comparative report to the council showing the work load for 1964 and 1965.

It reveals the increased activities of the department. A partial list of the department's activities follows:

	1964	1965
Calls received	1344	1678
Property damage accidents	81	88
Personal injury accidents	7	6

Concluded on page four.

Letters to Editor

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor. In most instances letters will be printed in full. However, the paper reserves the right to edit letters to fit space requirements. All letters must be signed.

Dear Haires-

Please change our address (to: 6220 Filkins Avenue, Alta Loma, 91701). And, also, please renew our subscription for 1966 - we like to read about "home."

John, we enjoyed your comments about California - incidentally, we were at the Rose Parade, too (one of the things we did while my sister Lillian was here). We're glad we went and we enjoyed it - but, once is enough!

We concur with your comment concerning the longevity of car bodies out here - we're still using the '53 Chevy that Ron drove out in the spring of 1962.

But we cannot agree entirely with you as to prices - at the roadside stands all kinds of produce can be purchased most economically (such as two "Rosy Red" grapefruit for 25 cents). As we compare prices with the grocery ads in the Chronicle, there's not much difference - sometimes none.

However! If you want to discuss license fees, that's something else again. We licensed our Corvair in Michigan when new for about $8.00 - the first time we licensed it here in California (and it was then two years old) it cost us $40.00! We exclaimed, "No wonder this is called the Golden State!"

California is a delightful place, nevertheless. There's something doing all the time. We never tire of Marineland - it's one of our favorite places. And we've enjoyed Disneyland, too - it has almost as much charm for adults as the youngsters. One of the happiest occurrences resulting from our coming to California, has been making the acquaintance of Jim Roberts and his lovely wife Jane. Jim, as perhaps you know, is a featured singer with the Lawrence Welk organization. Jim and Jane are helping Ron and me celebrate our 20th (is it possible!) wedding anniversary next month.

Give my regards to Mr. Searls - am enjoying his column - and the irrepressible Dave Kraft! (And, Dave, "fer hevvin's sake" nobody, but nobody, ever uses plain white toilet tissue any more! Just give up the search!)

Best wishes,
Helen Warren

Dear John,
Mrs. Vender and I have been quite elated to read in the Chronicle about the community project sponsoring foreign students in area homes. It is a very worthy feature for a church or group to sponsor and a splendid experience for individual families who are in a position to invite a student or two to their home over a week end or longer.

Place Three in All-Stars Band

Three Cass City High School students, accompanied by Ronald Walker, band director, attended the tryouts for the 1966 Greater Michigan All-Stars Band in Chelsea Saturday, January 22.

Mary Lou Spencer, tuba, placed in first chair out of six tubas. Linda Parrott and Don Joos both placed in the first section of the clarinets out of 24. They will return to Chelsea on Feb. 19 for a complete rehearsal.

On February 20 a concert will be given, open to the public. The three will spend the night in Chelsea band members' homes. The All-Stars Band is sponsored by the Lansing Conservatory of Music, Inc.

The purposes of this project, according to Walker, are as follows: To provide an educational opportunity for directors and students in the preparation of their festival band numbers; To provide two of the best possible clinic bands for the foregoing purpose and to provide an opportunity in which recognition will be given to the outstanding high school musicians in this area.

The program also gives students and their directors an opportunity to hear nationally famous professional performers; promotes interest in private study and promotes good fellowship and exchange of ideas among band directors, guest conductors and the All-Stars.

Kaleidoscope of Exhibits Feature of Farmers' Week

A kaleidoscope of exhibits that forecast the future will be stretched across the Michigan State University campus for the annual Farmers' Week, January 31 through February 4, according to Alfred Ballweg, county extension agricultural agent.

"In keeping with this year's theme, Rural Michigan - Now and In 1980, the exhibits are designed to help make rural Michigan an even better place to live in 1980," the MSU Extension agent explained.

This year all concourses of the stadium will feature exhibits of new machinery and equipment, as well as departmental and other agricultural displays.

Machinery and the latest farm building designs will also be exhibited in the Ag Engineering building. Other exhibits will include sprinkler irrigation equipment, water treatment and climate control equipment.

At the livestock pavilion everyone interested in the livestock industry can meet at the "Stockman's Inn" where a Bar-B-Q lunch will be served Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Exhibits in this building will center on an expanded meat-animal industry in Michigan. MSU's department of animal husbandry, livestock associations and the FFA will have displays.

Farmers' Week visitors will be able to see the latest livestock research with trips to the swine farm, the beef barn, beef cattle and dairy research centers, the horse barn, the sheep barn and the endocrine research center.

"If you are interested in just what makes life tick then plan to view the display of equipment and processes used in biological research at the new biochemistry building just southeast of ag engineering," Ballweg commented.

For those with a special interest in the dairy business there will be special educational exhibits at the dairy cattle research center and the loose housing barns. The observation balcony at the MSU dairy plant is another interesting stop.

MSU's new veterinary clinic will also open its doors for tours during Farmers' Week. Tours will be conducted on the hour from 1 to 5 p. m. Monday through Friday. The new building is located on the south campus at Wilson and Bogue Streets.

Many other departments, including fisheries and wildlife, forest products, horticulture, poultry science, soil science, Michigan Animal Breeders Cooperative and the Michigan Department of Agriculture, will also have exhibits.

Visitors will also want to include a visit to Abrams planetarium, a circular sky theater that projects the stars, moon and planets on a 50-foot dome. A special Farmers' Week presentation will be "Wonders of the Winter Sky". Other interesting trips include stops at the Kresge Art Center gallery to view outstanding nineteenth century painting and the museum which has an authentic village store, a fur trader's cabin and a display of military history.

MSU's radio and television facilities will also have "open house". Studio-originated, as well as special on-the-scene programs will be made during Farmers' Week.

All exhibits will be open for the public Monday noon to 5:30 p. m.; Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday 9:00 to 5:30, and Friday 9:00-12:00.

Honor Ross for 20 Years with Area ABA Group

Richard L. Ross, technician for the Cass City-Kingston ABA, was presented awards for 20 years of service at the 20th annual meeting of the organization Saturday, Jan. 15, at the Deford School.

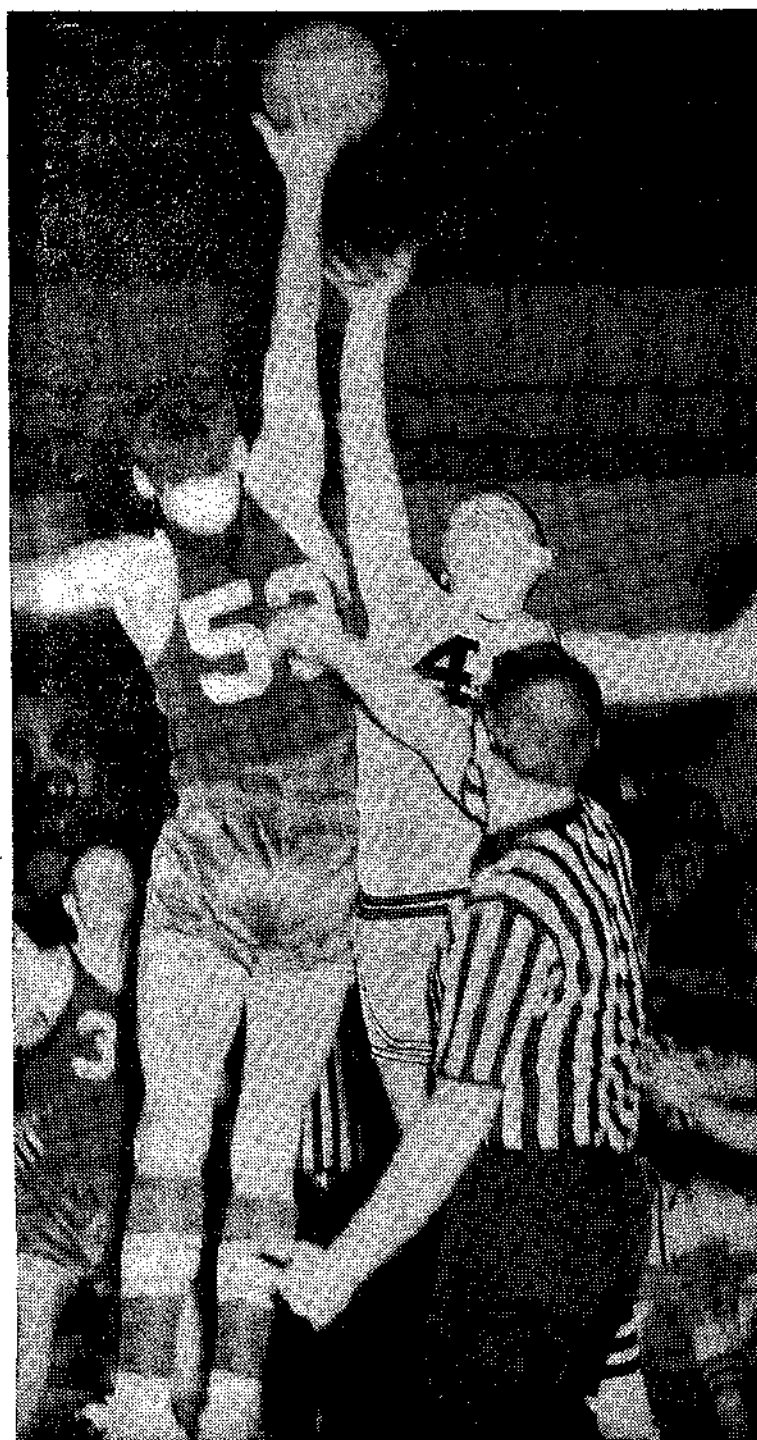

Some 75 persons saw Ken Baushe, MABC general manager, hand him an electric drill, while President Bruce Ruggles presented a tiltback chair to Mr. Ross and an electric spray, steam and dry iron to his wife.

Featured speaker was George Parsons, Michigan State University extension specialist, who recalled the early years in artificial breeding and explained trends for the future.

A special tribute was paid to the 100 per cent MABC members attending by Henry Otto, district manager.

Elected to the board of directors were Frank Butler and Carlyle Everett.

Michigan Territorial Legislature granted a charter in 1833 establishing the Michigan and Huron Institute which changed its name to Kalamazoo College in 1855.

Lakers Overpower Cass City, 96-79

For the second time this year, the Cass City Red Hawks bowed to the Lakers of Coach Ed Wolford by a decisive, 96-79, margin, but despite the score the team showed vast improvement over its initial encounter with the second-place green and white squad from Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port.

When the two clubs met on the Lakers floor in the first game of the year, it was strictly no contest and Wolford used his reserves as early as the second quarter. Friday, the visitors also dominated the game after the first period, but the Hawks were able to pull within nine points of the winners late in the fourth quarter, before they pulled away for the final decisive victory.

Actually, the game was lost in the middle two quarters when the Hawks' defense collapsed. The Lakers scored the biggest one quarter total of the year against Cass City in the second period and followed it with a 26-point spurge after the intermission to tuck the game away.

Cass City stayed on the heels of the Lakers in the first quarter, mainly through the efforts of Jim Walters who netted eight of his 12 points in the opening stanza. At the end of the period the Lakers were ahead 17-14.

In the first quarter, Cass City was able to hold Dale Ackerman and Mike Alexander, the Lakers' two fine guards, in check. They netted just three points each.

But in the second quarter they exploded, busting through Cass City's defense with driving layups and short jumpers almost at will.

Alexander poured through five field goals for 10 points and Ackerman matched his total with three field goals and four of five gift tosses. Cass City scored a respectable 10 points, but still fell out of contention as the Lakers left the court at intermission with a 50-33 lead.

The visitors stretched their lead to 24 points by the end of the third quarter and it looked as if Cass City were going to be whipped worse than in the first game between the two schools.

But the Hawks caught fire in the last quarter. Paced by Jerry Knoblet, Wayne Copeland and Rick Ruhl, the Hawks staged the rally previously mentioned to keep hopes for future improvement alive for Hawk fans.

Cass City's shooting percentage was not outstanding. The team hit 30 per cent from the floor and 50 per cent from the foul circle. The Lakers netted 46 per cent of their tries from the field and 65 per cent of their free throws.

Leading the Hawks in scoring was Jerry Knoblet who whipped in 18 points. He was helped by Ruhl with 16 and Copeland with 14.

Ackerman and Alexander led all scorers with 27 and 21 points, respectively. Krohn helped the winners with 16 points.

JV's Win
The Junior Varsity notched a one-sided victory. Paced by John Maharg, with 37 points, and Dave Bliss, with 27 points, the Hawks swept the preliminary, 83-59, for one of their most decisive wins of the year.

Things Looking Up For Little Hawks

Things are looking up for the Little Hawks.

Cass City's eighth and ninth grades chalked up their first victories of the season in games played during the week.

The ninth graders showed marked improvement with a win over Sandusky, 40-38. The squad lost the first game between the two schools and were winless in four previous outings.

Don Kaufman and Fred Ryan led the Hawks with 15 points each. Coach Ron Bass said that Tom Guinther netted three key baskets at the end of the game while Terry Brinkman and Mike Miracle played strong defensive games and were effective rebounders.

Deford-Cass City

The first victory for the eighth grade was chalked up against Deford, 22-19. John Smentek netted 12 points for Cass City while Bruce LeValley led all scorers with 13 points for Deford.

Bob King, Dave Milligan and John Smentek led strong rebounding for Cass City, Coach John Bifoss said.

Lose Two

The Junior High lost two more games to the Lakers Friday, Jan. 21.

Although the rangy Lakers were never in trouble throughout the game, Bifoss said that the team looked much better than it did in the first game between the two schools.

The seventh graders lost, 49-13, but the game was not as lopsided as the final score indicates. In the final period Cass City lost three boys by fouls and when they left, the Lakers posted a 20-0 last quarter advantage.

Coach Bifoss said that Rob Alexander did a good job of rebounding and Ralph Retherford led local scorers with six points. Jack Paul and Steve Zagorski had 13 each for the Lakers.

The eighth grade team came closer to winning in a 39-25 Lakers decision. Rebounding was not as good as in the previous two games, Bifoss said, but the squad is starting to get a little more offense.

John Smentek had nine points and Bob King, eight points for Cass City, while Galen Ebert picked up 15 points and Pat LePage netted 14 for the Lakers.

Girl Scouts Ready For Cookie Sale

When February comes, can Girl Scout Cookie Sale time be far behind? Apparently not, because Mrs. K. Ivan MacRae, neighborhood chairman, has announced that local Girl Scouts will canvass the village from Friday, Feb. 4, to Sunday, Feb. 13, picking up cookie orders.

Mrs. Jack Stahlbaum is neighborhood cookie chairman. Selling the five different kinds of cookies will be Junior, Cadette and Senior Girl Scouts.

Proceeds from the sale of each box go to five categories, including a troop bonus, a campership fund for needy campers, sales tax with the bulk going to a camp development and maintenance fund.

Last year, cookie money was used for the campership fund, insurance on all properties in the Mitten Bay Girl Scout Council, repair of cabins and camps, council camp caretaker, and equipment for day camps, troop camp depots, cabins, and camps.

Other projects the money was used for included: a new truck, tents for Camp Oak Hills and Kitchen flies for day camp and primitive camps.

Eight Kalamazoo College students are studying in Portugal and Kenya where no other American undergraduates have studied before under a formal academic program arranged by their home college.

Dehmel Named to Ag Commission Post

Former Republican State Sen. Arthur Dehmel of Unionville has been named full time administrative assistant to Blaque C. Knirk, Quincy livestock farmer, following Knirk's election as chairman of the state Agriculture Commission.

Arthur Dehmel

Monday. Dehmel, named by Knirk immediately after his election, will serve in an unclassified position with a salary to be fixed by Gov. George Romney in his budget.

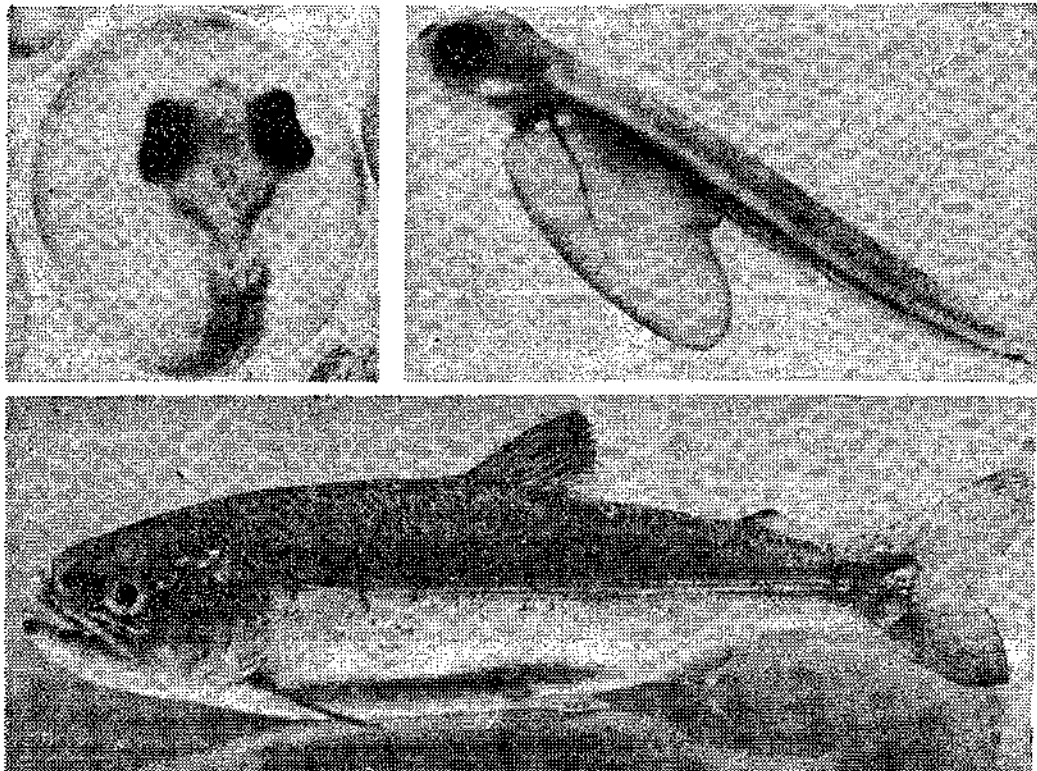

The commission also elected Charles E. Donaldson of Daggett, a vice-chairman, and Mrs. Rebecca Tompkins, wife of an Old Mission cherry grower, secretary.

Michigan's raspberry production will likely decline 50 per cent or more in the next 15 years, according to Michigan State University scientists. They say that most of the decline will be caused by the lack of disease-free, highly-productive varieties and mechanical harvesting techniques.

What A Difference A Year Made

Here are some "baby" pictures of a Great Lakes-bound coho salmon which is one year old this month. In the top left photo is the coho as it looks as an egg when it arrived from Oregon last January. Those two dark spots are its bulging eyes which at this stage are exaggerated. From this egg a tiny "sac-fry" coho was soon hatched (top right picture). Note the egg sac attached to the body of the fish. In the weeks and months that followed, the baby coho grew and the bottom photo shows how it looks today as a 10-inch, year-old fish. It is among about 750,000 cohos of the same age raised from Oregon and Washington eggs which will be planted this spring to launch the Conservation Department's hoped-for introduction of these fish in the Great Lakes. The fish, most of them 5 to 6 inches, will be released in the Platte river, Benzie county, Bear creek, Manistee county; and the Big Huron river, Baraga county. -- Mich. Dept. of Conservation

In other business, members voted to investigate changing the organization from an Association to a Corporation, Secretary Richard Root reported.

Stepka Included in Dismissed Suit

In the dismissed suit in Circuit Court, charges against defendants, John and Anna Stepka, were also included.

The case involved a real estate transaction between the Stepkas, B. A. Calka, John and Mary Zawilinski and John McCormick.

Details were published last week, but the Stepkas' names omitted.

Student Stage Band Seeks Engagements

Looking for some special entertainment for that service club meeting or some other function? If so, Director Ronald Walker has a "band" of students who would be more than happy to fill the bill. The students comprise the newly formed stage band which has been performing at the last two home basketball games.

"Ten years ago, school dance bands, or stage bands, were sponsored by students without recognition or support from school administrations," Walker explains.

"Today, however, there are stage band programs in the curriculums of more than 5,000 high schools. Student enthusiasm has made stage bands the fastest growing part of music education."

The Cass City group is a 15-piece band and, Walker points out, offers many possibilities for educational value that can't be obtained in concert or marching bands.

Functions at which the band can play include assemblies, civic projects, service clubs, high school dances, clinics, and festivals as well as other occasions.

Persons wishing further information may contact Walker.

Driver Sentenced To 30 Days in Jail

A Gilford man was sentenced to six weeks in the county jail Tuesday when he was arraigned before Circuit Court Judge James Churchill on a charge of driving on a revoked or suspended license, second or more offense.

Sentenced was Edward D. Carlisle. He was arrested Sept. 10 in Vassar and a check of his driving record showed arrests for similar offenses in 1964 and 1959.

Louis Cook, Caro, was sentenced to 30 days in jail when he appeared before Judge Churchill on a probation violation charge. Cook failed to report to his probation officer and to make fine payments for the month of November. He was originally arrested in January, 1963, for writing a $3,023 check on the Vassar State Bank with insufficient funds.

Andrew Laszlo, Caro, arrested on Oct. 24 for driving on a suspended license, fifth offense, was put on day parole in order to hold a job to provide for his wife who is under a doctor's care. He will serve his time at night and on weekends. He was sentenced to six weeks in jail last December.

Gary Davis, Ronald E. Jones, and Ronald L. Adair, all 17 and all of Caro, entered pleas of guilty when arraigned for unarmed robbery in connection with the theft of $2.00 from Glen O'Connor, Caro, at Green's Gravel Pit on Jan. 16. Pre-sentence investigations were ordered for the trio for March 1.

Larry Cooper, Mayville, alias Larry Robinson, was given an additional year of probation for the December, 1963, breaking into of the Mayville Community School. Cooper was put on three years probation in January, 1964. The probation was extended one more year because he still owes $240 of his fine.

In other legal news, a suit claiming $405 plus interest on two notes has been filed this week by the Cass City State Bank against David Stroud Jr., currently in the county jail. Stroud obtained the notes last July and October.

To Recognize Area Farmers at Farm Management Fete

Area farmers will be recognized at a farm management banquet slated Feb. 3 at Kellogg Center in East Lansing. The banquet is one of the highlights of Farmers' Week.

Cited will be Leon Keinath, farm manager of the year; Cecil Wallace, highest crop value per tillable acre and income per $100 of expense; Paul Findlay, Ruben Keinath and Arnold Krummauer, highest labor efficiency; C. Baker and M. Haines, highest crop value per tillable acre, and Charles J. Wells, highest lambs raised per 100 ewes.

In addition Findlay is scheduled to give the invocation at the banquet. The principal speaker will be Mrs. Dorothy Jacobson, U.S. Assistant Secretary of Agriculture for International Affairs, whose topic is "Our Stake in World Agriculture".

Pvt. T. N. Marshall Completes Training

Pvt. Theodore N. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ted R. Marshall, Route 1, Deford, completed advanced artillery training as a cannoner at the Army Artillery and Missile School, Fort Sill, Okla., Jan. 20.

Marshall was trained to serve as a crewman in field artillery gun or howitzer units.

tions. Marshall also learned tactical employment of self-propelled field artillery combat vehicles and techniques of driving wheeled vehicles used to transport weapons, personnel and supplies.

The 20-year-old soldier, a 1963 graduate of Cass City High School, was engaged in farming before entering the Army in September 1965. He was last assigned at Fort Knox, Ky.

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

Do You Have Any Real Old Valentines?

By Dave Kraft

Remember the song "Ukulele Lady?" Well, Larry Gnagey of Elkton has fouled the whole thing up by making a musical instrument called the "Kook-a-la-lee" and frankly, I refuse to sing the new version.

Larry, who made the stringed instrument as a class project, got the idea from a book given him by his music teacher, Steve Frank of Frank's Music.

The sounding board is made of plywood and the long part, whatever you call it, is made from a large wooden dowel. The tuning knobs were given to him by Steve and look a little like something off a bass violin.

The strings travel from the tuning knobs down the whatchamacallit, across the sounding board to a shiny dingus which was originally a drawer handle.

Put them all together and it spells "Kook-a-la-lee." Larry says it's his first attempt at making a musical instrument but he's going to try to make some more. I just hope he picks a decent name this time.

This prize blooper comes to us this week from the desk of our proofreader, Mrs. Stanley Gunthier. She caught it during the reports by the county offices to the Board of Supervisors.

Quote: "The net cost of funning the sheriff's department was $37,429.98." That's a lot of funning.

Valentine's Day is coming up and I need some help from some of our senior sweethearts. We'd like to get a picture of some old time Valentines and if any of you girls on the other side of 50 just by chance have saved some of the cards you received when you were dazzling the boys, we'd like to know about it.

We promise not to reveal your age nor, for the sake of your marriage, who sent the card.

I sent my wife a Valentine's card once and she married me for it, which seems like a pretty rotten thing to do to a buddy.

But I digress. If you have any really, really old Valentines or know of anyone who does, we'd appreciate hearing from you.

Life must be worth living - the cost has doubled and tripled and we still hang on.

New stereo tape player option with easy-loading cartridges. ■ New station wagon Magic Door—swings out like a door for people and down like a tailgate for cargo. ■ New automatic speed control option. ■ A ride so quiet that owners of European luxury cars—from a handcrafted Jaguar to a $14,000 Mercedes—have said, after a demonstration ride in a Ford XL or LTD, that it was even quieter than their custom-built cars. ■ Quiet-test a '66 Ford for yourself.

DRY MOUTH

Q. At 70 plus I have very few complaints except of extreme dryness of my mouth. Taking sips of water does little good. Is there anything to do for this condition?

A. This is a common complaint in later years. First, have a thorough general physical examination to rule out some commonly unrecognized disorders. If there is malfunction of the salivary glands the doctor may prescribe some type of corrective treatment. On the other hand, if the glands have wasted away there is not much that can be done. It might help to apply a small quantity of mineral oil or olive oil to the tongue before eating.

ANIMALS FOR RESEARCH

Q. How can scientists possibly justify the use of animals in needless "research"?

A. The study and control of diseases and the perfecting of treatments for use in humans can scarcely be termed "needless research." Animal experimentation is justified because there is no other way to make progress in the biological and medical sciences. Proper care and humane treatment of laboratory animals used for medical research are essential for the results to be meaningful. Aside from this consideration, humane treatment of animals is a moral obligation of a civilized society.

Village Prexy Addresses Club

The Junior Woman's Club of Cass City held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. Russell Ayres.

For the program, the club heard Village President Lambert Althaver speak on the organization of the village's government and of the need for a new fire hall and library.

The club voted to renew subscriptions to several magazines for the book cart at Hills and Dales Hospital.

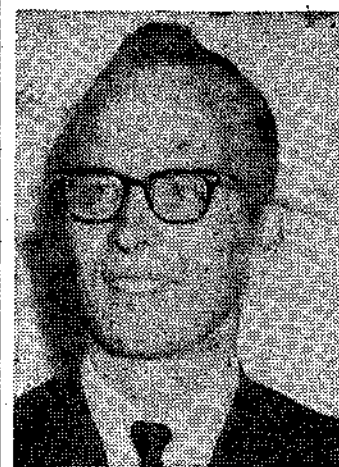

Members were asked to help design a hat for all Michigan Junior club members to wear at the Chicago convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs this summer.

A donation to the Tuscola County Mentally Retarded School was approved.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ayres and Mrs. Earl Woolner, cohostesses.

Mrs. Jim Jenkins was a guest at the meeting.

Same Problems, Same Methods
In Legislature for 10 Years

Same Old Ways

Observing the legislative process closely year after year often makes one wonder whether this function of civilization has fallen behind other segments.

In this area, the adage of "nothing new under the sun" seems to hold fairly true despite constant change in other elements of society. Colored television and computer advances in the electronics field, new fabrics in merchandising, faster methods of cooking, etc. - these tell in vivid pictures of the advances being made.

In the state legislature, however, much the same processes are being used today as were in vogue 10 or more years ago. The subject matter under discussion points up the lag also.

Hardly a year has gone by in recent memory that someone hasn't blamed the Conservation Department for allowing hunters to kill off too many deer, either bucks or does.

We're told taxes won't be on the agenda this year, but that won't keep fiscal reform out of off-the-floor discussion, it can be assured. Then there is the all-too-familiar subject of compensation of legislators. Even on the first day of the current session there were bills introduced to provide possible action in this area.

There's also the decade-old subject of the Governor's mansion. Lawmakers in 1964 thought they could deal quickly with this one because the new Constitution issued a mandate for providing a home for the chief executive. The question is far from solved and there are many, many other perennials.

The repetitious nature of legislative affairs will be increased this year, although there was enough previously, by another part of the 1963 Constitution. It provides that bills not disposed of in the first year of the legislative biennium shall carry over into the second.

Some 1,500 bills were left from the 1965 session at various stages of consideration. With about this number expected to be introduced again, this carry-over factor does lend something new "under the sun" in legislative activity: a new challenge to the memory of those who try to keep close track of what is being done.

The "Right" Time
Timing is all-important in politics. Every politician and adviser knows this. But judgments are required to determine whether the timing is right, and this is where politicians and advisers sometimes disagree or go wrong.

Detroit's young mayor apparently has decided that his time is now. He seems to care little about being governor, the post viewed as his next logical step when he was first elected.

Mayor Jerome Cavanagh also apparently is convinced that to get to the U.S. Senate he must run this year. Someone has told him it would be easier to get Senator Sen. Patrick McNamara's seat this year than run against Philip Hart four years from now. Waiting another six years, if McNamara ran this year and served the full term, would put the mayor in the position of a nobody or an also-ran if he was still in his present post.

So he has decided the time is now, or never.

Another time-honored philosophy among politicians, which will make the mayor's attempt most interesting, is that "you wait your turn."

After all, McNamara has served well (and got the votes needed) and should be allowed to continue if he cares to run again. And former Gov. G. Mennen Williams made it very clear before he finished his six long, hard terms as chief executive that he had his eye on the Senate seat.

Cavanagh boasts he could defeat Williams in a primary. His contention seems based largely on the notion that many voters have come of age since the assistant secretary of state for African affairs last was on the ballot. The mayor should not forget that it is the party faithful who generally vote in primaries, rather than the youngest voters.

Most interesting in either a McNamara or Williams-Cavanagh.

primary would be the question of where the Democratic Party leadership will stand. For all intents and purposes the party usually stays neutral in a primary fight, but it would be expected the allegiance will be to the politician who has followed the unwritten rules of the game.

Youth Nights to be Held in February

Community Youth Nights will be held again this year during the four Sunday evenings of February. A community-wide venture for all high school youth, the sessions will be held from 6 - 7:30 p.m. at the Cass City Methodist Church.

Featuring discussion topics, the subjects will be as follows:

- (1) Jean Dixon and her unusual prophecies.
- (2) Modern Japan as seen by a Methodist youth.
- (3) Chuck Churchill and a pictorial presentation on England.
- (4) Controversy over the war in Viet Nam.

Chairmen and devotional leaders for the series will be Gail Hoffman, Linda Bartle, Eric Esau, Dave MacRae, Miles Profit and Tim Knight. Working with the youth will be the ministers of the Council: Marion Hosetler, Presbyterian Church; James Braid, Methodist Church; and R. E. Betts, EUB Church.

Parents of senior high youth are urged to encourage their young people to attend these sessions. There is no fee charged and the various churches will provide refreshments following the evening discussions.

IT SEEMS TO ME Selective Service Errs on 3 Counts

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Several of our states' draft boards have set themselves up as both legislature and court, in the recent reclassifying of students participating in demonstrations against the Vietnamese war. In taking action against the youth (who have been taught that in America there is a right to protest) Michigan Selective Service Director, Colonel Arthur Holmes, and National Selective Service Director, General Lewis B. Hershey, have erred in at least three counts, according to the "Christian Century", interdenominational journal: "By using the draft to penalize dissenting students, they degrade the draft, usurp the privileges of civil courts and violate the rights of free speech guaranteed by the First Amendment." To hold the draft over the heads of students is not part of the selective service's legitimate function. "It should be used solely and strictly for the single purpose for which it was designed." And so "It Seems to Me."

This 'n That: One of the challenges to the churches in the cities today lies in the impersonality that is inherent in such trends as the high rise apartments. A Baptist official, Mr. Floyd Craig, is urging churches to make use of direct mailing, pointing out that "Of the 27 books in the New Testament, 21 of them are simply direct mail letters." Methodist readers will probably be surprised as I was to learn that there are 357 Deaconesses at work within the denomination! Defined as "an order of lay workers professionally trained and spiritually committed to serve the church. At one time these deaconesses wore a habit similar to that of the Roman Catholic nuns. . . . The New Hampshire effort to solve the state's fiscal problems through holding a state lottery is in deep trouble. In 1964 sales brought in $5.7 million; in 1965, with a longer selling season, 600,000 fewer lottery tickets were sold, for a gross $3.9 million. Schools received $280,723 less than they did during the first year. Officials are red-faced, but are still looking for 'something for nothing' solutions to their problems. . . . Finding more and more support is a movement from many directions to hold the period of worship at some time other than 11:00 a.m. on Sunday! That hour reflects an earlier time when such things as milking, morning chores and dressing up for the wagon-trip to church were a reality to most of the worshippers. Around the country various times are being experimented with.

A Caro businessman, Sam Anderson, won a round trip ticket to Rio de Janeiro recently, and his minister made up an envelope of interesting mission projects and personnel sponsored by the Methodist Church there. As soon as Mr. Anderson arrived, he was conducted on a tour of the mission work there, and found it more interesting than any mission he had visited anywhere, and was pleased when his local church sent an extra gift of $200 in late November. We congratulate our neighbor for winning the contest, for going to a church with an alert pastor (the Rev. Paul Cargo) and for the interest aroused by this unique trip, resulting in increased support to a cause most worthy.

"Travel - with a plus" is the motto of the Methodist Board of Missions, which is sponsoring vacation tours. Designed to increase not only knowledge of the many types of missionary activity the Board sponsors, but to stir increased giving in support of these activities. There are seven tours in all.

A nondenominational Protestant journal (Renewal) has proposed that local churches over the nation declare a one-year moratorium on church construction and pool the money for a peace fund.

Some people will do almost anything to avoid trouble, except try to be reasonable.

Telfarm Flexible Way to Keep Farm Records

Telfarm is flexible, remarks Don Kenier, Extension Agricultural Agent. It is flexible enough to design a program for each individual operator's wants.

We have cooperators who only want income, expense, depreciation records and a business analysis report. Some want to enter one or more crops or livestock. Others want to keep a running account of their credit transactions and obtain an annual net worth statement.

Several of our cooperators ask for separate reports on each of the farms they work, and they receive them too. About 25 per cent of our cooperators set-up their records for partnership reporting.

Regardless of the combination of these reporting systems used, the operator pays the same Telfarm fee.

The use of Telfarm to report partnership business is interesting. Each partner can receive a print-out of his individual contributions and receipts in the business. Or the whole partnership can be reported as one business, or part as one business and part on the individual business of each. Each partner will receive his own depreciation schedule, and any other reports the same as any single operator can. The total business is analyzed as one operation regardless of the number of partners. Also the Telfarm fee will not be increased because of the partnership. This Telfarm partnership business reporting system can mean one set of records for the entire operation, and not one set for each partner, if desired.

There is no farm operator today who can make plans and changes for tomorrow without having an accurate yearly business analysis and comparison. I might say that, except for farming, there is no other business that has any way to compare itself with other like businesses. So, to keep records for only the annual needs is not enough to keep an operation solid. Businesses have gone bankrupt by not using some system to determine their growth, and making adjustments accordingly. Another way to look at this is to say "the operator who cannot see the forest because of the trees, is lost".

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Five musicians from Cass City are among some 90 from high schools in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties selected to play in the Tri-County Honors Band at Sebawa Saturday, Jan. 28. They are: Bonnie Copeland, Mary Lou Crawford, Bill Dobbs, Linda Hulien and Tom Jones.

Although Cass City bounced back into the victory column Friday with an easy victory over the Sandusky Redskins, 63-42, Coach Irv Claseman is still not satisfied with the club and is experimenting with new combinations in an effort to find more scoring punch and better rebounding.

An estimated 170 persons turned out to honor Cass City High School gridders Tuesday night at the high school at the annual banquet. Coach Mike Yedinak presented plaques to Tim Anthes and Bob Wright as most valuable players. Also receiving a plaque was Dick Albee, captain of the team.

Ten members of the Art Club met with Mrs. Albert Whitfield Wednesday, Jan. 18.

Four persons were named to the session of the Presbyterian Church Sunday afternoon at the annual election of officers. Named were Morris Jones, Don MacLachlan, Don Reid and James A. Milligan.

Officers elected at the Evergreen Guys and Gals 4-H Club meeting held recently include: Linda Geister, president; Karen Pelton, vice-president; Linda Severance, secretary; David Burk, treasurer, and Eugene Izdorek, reporter.

Seven members and one guest attended the Jan. 17 meeting of the Grant Center Extension Club at the home of Mrs. Hazel Valance.

The "Unit" look was stressed at the meeting of the Cass City Home Demonstration Group which was held last week. The right accessories for each individual were presented by Mrs. Frank Meiser and Mrs. Ralph Perry. Good design in furnishing the home was explained by Mrs. Max Agar and Mrs. Fay McComb.

TEN YEARS AGO

According to a report in a Florida newspaper, Don McLellan, a native of Cass City, has joined the Linden, Fla., police force.

Three graduates from Cass City High School, who are attending Michigan State University, are listed among the students who earned a place on the honor list of the school for the fall term, 1955. They are: C. Edward Fox, Robert D. Fox and Koert J. Lessman.

Dr. Ira D. McCoy, Democrat, has announced that he is again a candidate for the Democratic nomination for representative in the Seventh Congressional District.

William Hill of Fostoria announced this week that his jewelry repair shop on Main Street in Cass City is now open for business.

James Seals, speech instructor at Cass City, is the new chairman of the Thumb B-C Debate League.

Cass City protected its undefeated string of nine straight victories in games during the week with an easy 78-52 win over Caro and a narrow 56-51 decision over Saginaw Sts. Peter and Paul.

Jack Esau completed his discussion of the three parts of the "Mutiny on the Bounty" story Tuesday at the Cass City Rotary Club.

About 20 bowling friends of Mrs. Ella Vance gave her a surprise party Friday night, Jan. 20, at the home of Mrs. Louis Bartz.

Ernest Schwaderer of Cass City was among 16 county men who, according to the Selective Service Board at Caro, have finished their tour of duty with the Armed Forces.

On Sunday, Jan. 22, when Mr. and Mrs. Howard Loomis returned home from church, Mr. Loomis was pleasantly surprised to find all of his children and grandchildren there to honor him at an oyster dinner, the occasion being his birthday.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Of the 40 automobile operators who applied to Deputy Sheriff Vernon Everett for drivers' licenses here Friday was Chris Schwaderer, who passed the 87th milestone on life's journey November 17th last. Mrs. Schwaderer is one of the oldest among Tuscola county's automobile drivers.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nicol quietly celebrated their 45th wedding anniversary on Wednesday, Jan. 15, in their home south of Cass City. Two of their three sons, Leland Nicol of Cass City and Ernest Nicol of Marlette, and their families had dinner with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Craig, lifelong residents of Sanilac county, were surprised Saturday evening when about 50 relatives and friends met in the Craig home in celebration of their silver wedding anniversary.

The Maroon and Grey basketball team got back into the win column again Friday by taking the heavy side of a 40-34 count from the high powered Bad Axe outfit.

John A. Bunick Jr., Deford, James Wilbur Hickie, Deford, and John A. Goda, Gagetown, were among eight county men to volunteer this week for the armed services.

Mrs. Robert L. Keppen and Mrs. Curtis Hunt entertained eight little folks at the Keppen home in honor of the birthdays of their daughters, Damon Keppen, who was six years old Monday, Jan. 20, and Harriet Jane Hunt, who was five years old Wednesday, Jan. 22.

Glenn McClorey, who has been quite ill at his home on Garfield Ave. for over two weeks, is slowly improving and now able to be up and around. He hopes to be back at his work at the Frutchey Bean Co.'s elevator next week.

OPEN-HAND POLICY

Kickback may sound like a football term, but it is more familiar in political circles.

G. H. Burke writes from Fort Lauderdale, Fla.: "Just returned from Palm Beach and saw the S.S. Manhattan aground. Looks like it will be a big task to get it afloat again if the weather is favorable."

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Those who received athletic letters at the annual sports banquet Thursday night included: Marwood McBride, Max Johnson, Ray Floenor, Don Schenck, Elmer Simmons, Oswald Doerr, Harry Evans, Horace Pinney, Merritt Allen, Colin McCallum, Harland O'Dell, Fred Morris, Bill Doerr, Russell Quick and John Kelly.

Kercher, of Cass City, as follows: "Dear Folks—So far this winter we have had good weather and still can drive our car. The coldest was 22 degrees below. These are queer times we are having. I went down on saddle horse last Saturday to visit a friend who lives on a ranch, and we were discussing matters. He was saying a sheep ranch up the canyon sold at $2.00 a head with lambs and horses thrown in the bargain. Prime cattle are selling for $26 to $28 a head. Sheep usually sell here from $9.00 to $12.00 a head and cattle bring from $60 to $120 when prices are right."

Fire destroyed the barn, chicken house, farm machinery, hay, 300 bushels of grain, 18 head of cattle, three horses and 100 chickens and ducks on the farm of Edgar Pelton, five miles south and three-fourths of a mile east of Cass City Sunday night. Mr. Pelton is blind.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was giving the medicine perfession the onct-over-light treatment. It got started when Ed Doodittle announced he had been to see his doctor that afternoon. Ed claims the longer the Democrats stays in office the worse his roomitism gits and the Great Society, he says, has about got him on crutches.

Ed told the fellers the doctor didn't do him no good but charged him $3 fer the conversation anyhow. Most of the visit was took up, said Ed, with the doctor telling him about how the practise of medicine was a combination of science and art. Ed reported his roomitism was hurting mighty bad to have to listen to that stuff but he was afeared to say anything on account of the doctor might up the price to $5.

He told Ed that fixing a sick body was a science, just like fixing a broke down car, but treating a sick person was a art. He said if a feller come to him with a pain and he couldn't find what was causing it, he don't up and tell the feller he ain't hurting. He told Ed that was where a doctor has got to use art instead of science.

Clem Webster allowed as how that was getting too close to spirit healing to suit him, but he admitted he didn't want no doctor telling him he wasn't sick when he knewed he was.

Actual, Mister Editor, I can see the point Ed's doctor was making. It might be that $3 was a little high fer this point, but it was a pritty good one. I heard a doctor say onct that he didn't have half as much trouble treating the disease as he did treating the patient.

I recollect here a few year back my old lady going to the doctor. She was having awful pains in her chest. The doctor examined her and couldn't find the trouble and made the mistake of telling her he couldn't. She come home half mad and half scared to death. She said either the doctor didn't know nothing, which made her mad, or she had some disease so terrible the medicine perfession hadn't even heard of yet, which made her scared. I learned right then, Mister Editor, the difference between treating the disease and treating the patient.

They was a heap of ways of making crazy things in life look sound and logic, and sooner or later the fellers at the store figgers 'em all out. It makes me recollect the story about the feller that told his neighbor he had got $1,000 fer a bird dog. When his neighbor ask him if that wasn't a heap of money to git fer a bird dog, he explained he didn't exact git the $1,000 in money, that he had traded the feller the bird dog fer two $500 cats. ing a full academic load.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
