

Business Alley Surfacing Hits Snag as Merchants Protest Cost

The long-awaited business district alley resurfacing plan has been at least temporarily derailed, Trustee Fred Auten reported Tuesday night at the regular meeting of the village council.

The council's plan for resurfacing needs the cooperation of affected property owners on the business district side of the alleys.

The plan calls for the village to pay the cost of blacktopping a 30-foot strip in the alley, if owners of 80 per cent or more of the lineal footage of the business property would agree to pay for having the blacktop installed on their property.

Because only one side of the street would be assessed, a petition was going to be secured in which the owners agreed to pay for the work.

Auten reported that he went to four business places in one of the blocks north and west of Seeger and heard from the owner of another. One agreed to participate and another said they would "go along". The rest either had objections or flatly refused to participate.

A ray of hope for the project as it was originally devised still exists. Auten said that the price, as he understood it, would push the cost to some of the owners with larger areas to cover to $1,000 or more.

Trustees felt that this price could have been higher than the cost would actually be.

The cost figure is 2 1/2 times the original off-the-cuff estimates made for the work.

If these cost figures prove realistic, it is the opinion of Auten that a change in the program will be necessary before any action will be feasible.

Other Business

A new two-inch water line was authorized in the alley of Main, between West and Seeger streets and its installation will require the breaking through of the new surface on West to bring the line across this street. The block between Leach and Seeger is serviced from Seeger Street and Leach will not be crossed.

The area is now served by a smaller line and is inadequate for a new laundry business slated to open in the empty building next to the Detroit Edison at the corner of West and Main streets.

A good deal of discussion revolved around how much the new concern would be charged. It was decided that a special fee of $150 for bringing the line across the street, plus the usual tap-in fee and a charge for a larger meter would be made.

The measure passed by a 4-2 margin with Auten and Jim Seals voting against the fee. They favored a percentage of the cost rather than a flat fee.

At the time the line is brought across West street it will be extended the entire block to Leach so that it should not be necessary to dig after the alleys are resurfaced. Total cost of this project is estimated at $800.

The board voted against joint board of review meetings with the township because of the variations in valuation on property by the township and the village.

Three persons have agreed to serve on the board of review. They are Elwyn Helwig, Harry Little and Warren Wood. Filling these posts is difficult because payment is restricted to $1.00 per hour.

Tests are continuing on a buried gas tank at Cass City Oil and Gas, with full cooperation of the company, to pinpoint a gas leak. The odor continues to wax and wane in homes in the area.

Bid Plans Okayed

Costs Threaten New School

Cass City Board of Education members placed their stamp of approval on plans for the new Cass City High School but whether or not the building will be completed without seeking more funds remains to be seen.

Board members waded through 44 pages of designs in a three-hour session Monday night at a special meeting called to view the plans. Explaining the plans, which covered the building in four sections and outlined structural and mechanical specifications, were Gordon Stow and Ken Gunther, Warren Holmes architects.

Bids on the building will be opened Tuesday, March 29, at 2:00 p.m. Specifications will go to various ous contractors on March 4 with the deadline for bids set for 1:30 p.m. Tuesday, March 29.

Minor changes were penciled in as the plans were examined, but no drastic changes were made.

Chief problem now facing the building of the new school is the skyrocketing cost of construction. Original plans called for 89,000 square feet at cost of $1,247,400 or approximately $14.00 per square foot.

Stow was less than optimistic when he reported to the board that only one job let in the state recently was less than $16.00 per square foot. At $16.00, the school would be approximately $180,000 over the budgeted figure.

"I see no way to cut $180,000 out of the building by alterations or variations in materials," Stow explained. "The only way to do it is to cut area and we can't do that without cutting out teaching stations."

"Our other possibility is presumably to go back to the taxpayers for an additional supplemental bond issue."

Cass City Public Schools voters approved the original $1.6 million bond issue last spring. The figure covers the building, equipment, sight and sight development and planning and supervision.

"By the time we do that," interjected Board President Horace Buien, "the cost will be up again."

Stow explained further that the rise in construction "began last June and since then, we haven't been able to find any basis for estimating construction."

"There are no 'hungry' contractors, then?" Buien asked. "Basically, that's it," Stow answered. Stow finally dismissed the problem by pointing out that "there is too much hypothesis here. This is all purely speculative and no problem may exist. The bids may be lower than the current average. We won't know until they are opened."

At that remark, the board dropped the matter and returned to consider the plans.

Appoint Rotary Supper Committees

Rotary completed plans for its annual pancake supper when committee chairmen were appointed at the regular meeting Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel.

Chairman Dick Erla appointed the members for the supper which is slated at the Willis Campbell Elementary gym Thursday, Mar. 2.

After the business meeting, the Rotarians heard the "Mystery and Magic of Microwaves" explained by Roger Gunneman, General Telephone official.

Gunneman traced the development of phone communication from the familiar wires on tele-

From the Editor's Corner

Fifteen years ago the annual village budget was easy to understand. Most persons could get a picture of costs and revenues with a casual glance.

The community's finances have steadily become more complicated and President Lambert Althaver says it will get worse in the years ahead.

If figures are confusing and you want to find out how the money will be spent, you can receive a first hand explanation at the annual budget meeting Tuesday at the Municipal Building.

Authorities of the class of 1941 have asked us to see if anyone knows where Maynard Cragg, Jack Hoag's and Margaret Kapral are now. They want the addresses for an upcoming school reunion. Information should be sent to Lucille Galloway, Cass City.

Two signs that spring and summer are drawing closer. One is the first Robin reported Friday morning by Mrs. William McKinley.

The other is that the council is turning its attention to park personnel.

There is an opening for a park director. The council is giving first chance to applications from qualified area residents. If none appear they will contact Michigan State to see if any students majoring in recreation are available.

Trustees pointed out that Fred Leeson was a recreation major and worked at the park one summer as part of his schooling. . . . giving Cass City some of its best supervision in recent years, the council feels.

If local persons aren't interested the village hopes to be able to find another "Fred Leeson" to take over this year.

Ronald Walker, band director, said Wednesday morning that a last minute decision resulted in setting the date for the mid-winter band concert Tuesday, Mar. 1, at 8 p.m. at the high school.

Both the Junior and Senior bands will play.

Adjust Overtime

Pay Scale for Village Employees

The village council this week established overtime premium pay for members of the village hourly rated crew and boosted salaried employees 10 per cent.

The present work schedule for village employees is 49 1/2 hours weekly. Previous pay scales ranged from $1.77 to $2.02 per hour on a straight time basis.

The new pay calls for time and one half over 40 hours. It was passed with the recommendation that employees take more time off whenever possible.

The members of the crew now work 9 hours daily, plus 4 1/2 hours on Saturday.

Lynn's Win Makes Her Eligible for District Contest

Lynn Atwell, Cass City skier, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Atwell, were to have left Wednesday for Lutsen, Minn., where she will compete in divisional competition Saturday and Sunday under the auspices of the United States Ski Association.

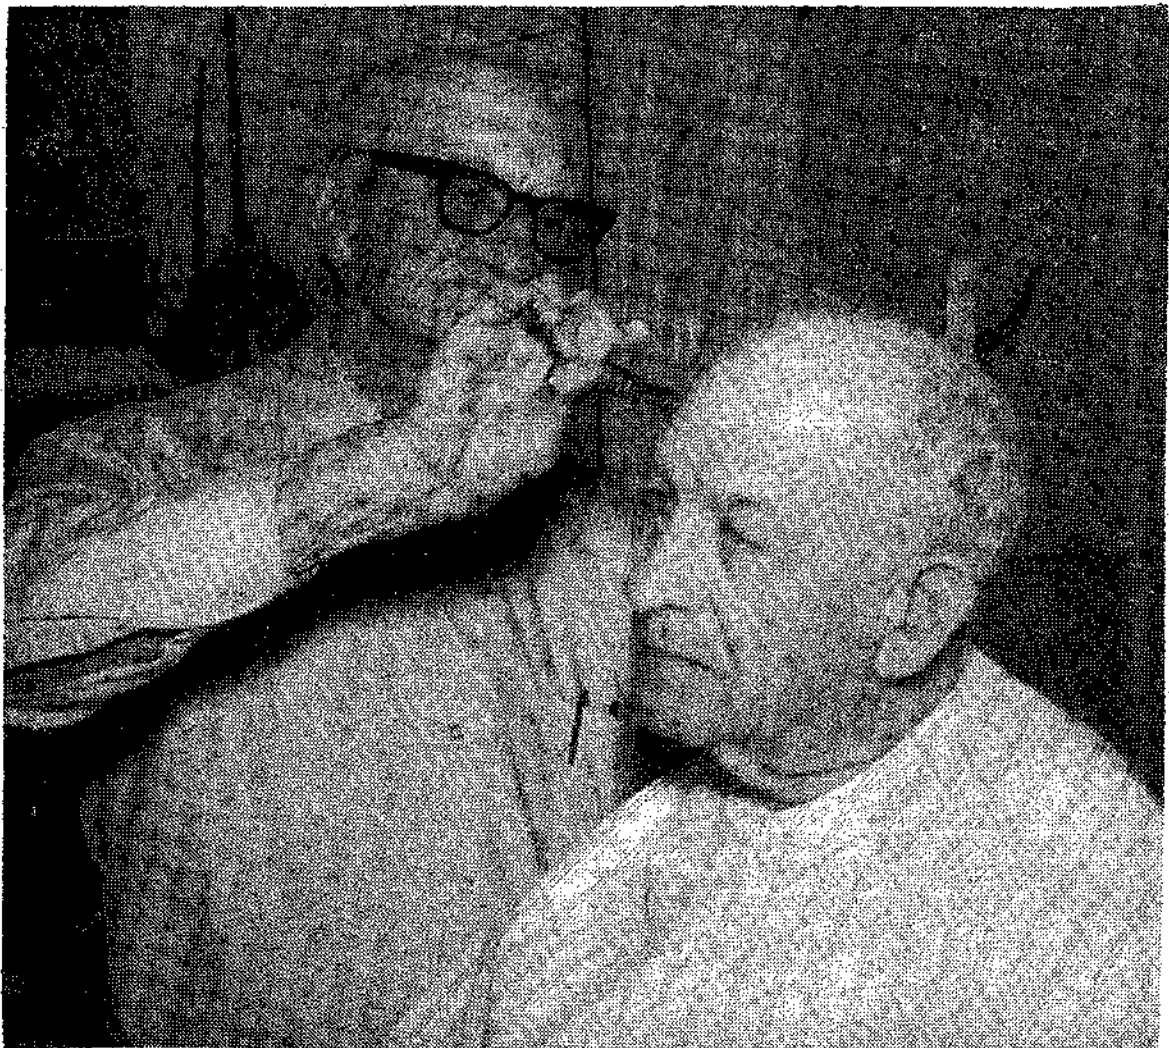

The 13-year-old skier won a spot at the district meet by taking the Slalom at the regional meet at Boyne Mountain Saturday in competition against 20 girls from the four-state Region III. Coupled with an earlier Giant Slalom win, Saturday's win made her eligible for the Lutsen meet. Only two other girls from the region will compete in the weekend races.

Her competition in the coming race will consist of girls from senior high age down from the 12 states in the division.

March 12 Deadline For Absentee Ballots

Deadline for obtaining absentee ballots for the Cass City village election is Saturday, March 12, according to Mrs. Clinton House, village clerk-treasurer.

Mrs. House will be available at her home until 2:00 p.m. to hand out the absentee ballots on that day. Prior to that, ballots may be picked up at anytime at the clerk's office in the Municipal Building.

DEAN OF BARBERS—With 61 years of experience behind his clippers and still at it at 84, Charlie McCaslin can safely be called the dean of Cass City's, if not the Thumb's barbers. Since Charlie began barbering in 1905 many changes in the profession and the people he has served have occurred. Charlie demonstrates his hair cutting technique for Chet Graham at Graham's barbershop in Cass City. Compared to Charlie, Chet is a newcomer to the field, having been barbering for only 56 years. (Chronicle photo)

People, Prices Have Changed In 61 Years Behind the Chair

Remember when a haircut was 25 cents and a shave cost a dime? Remember when the barbershop was a meeting place for all the men in town and almost every customer had his own mug and razor? Remember?

If the answer is "no," then stop by Chet Graham's barbershop sometime and let Charlie McCaslin refresh your memory.

Barbering since 1905, McCaslin, now a meditative 84, is the dean of Cass City's, if not the Thumb's, barbers. He was called out of retirement late last year when Chet's partner of 43 years, Lester Bailey, died in October.

Many things in the barbering business, besides the price of shaves and haircuts, have changed in the 61 years Charlie has been standing behind the chair. For one, the training is different.

No Schooning

"I started down where the flower shop is now," Charlie recounts. "Jack Kicker had the place. . . ne died a long while ago. . . and I learned from him."

"I had no schooning in barbering. . . didn't have to. All you had to do then was put in two years under a licensed man. After your two years were up, you bought your license for $1.00."

Charlie remembers vividly the importance of the barbershop as a meeting place, a position reserved now for the coffee shop.

"We used to have a lot of 'sisters' around. They'd sit around and shoot the hot air and tell stories and argue about politics."

"There's not so much of that today. People are too busy trying to make a living. It ain't anywhere like it used to be. . . there used to be a lot of trustin'. Now there ain't any trustin'."

Own Mugs

As he sat in one of the empty chairs in the shop trying to recall some of the high points of his half century-plus in the business, McCaslin reflected that "there's no shaving now."

"We used to get eight shaves to two haircuts. Now it's just now and then." He blamed safety and electric razors. . . "and such stuff as that." Shaves are now $1.00.

"A lot of the customers used to have their own mugs and razors. I remember when I was with Ball and Bailey under the Cass City State Bank. The best thing that ever happened was when they got rid of those mugs. Some of those razors were no good, but you had to use them anyway. I don't know why it was so important."

Graham, sitting in the barber chair, offered, "It was pride of ownership. It was their razor and they knew it should work."

Long Hours

Long hours were another feature of the early tonsorial parlor. "I've been in the shop as late as 3:30 a.m. on a Saturday night. Of course, that was the latest and it wasn't always like that. Still, it was nothing for us to stay open till 12:00-1:00 in the morning."

Graham, who's been barbering for 56 years, explained that "the barbershop was the last place they came on Saturdays." "Lester and I used to give out tickets. They'd come to the door and pick up a ticket. We had this electric bell with the numbers on it and when a new number came up, the bell rang."

Some of them would miss their number and get mad. They'd go to one of the other shops for a while. . . until they cooled off and then come back."

Charlie wasn't always a full-time barber. He used to fix bikes. "I still do some yet. . . or I could still do some. I have all the equipment. I've got arthritis in my legs and can't bend over. I used to fix them for George Hitchcock in the old opera house when I was a kid."

"I used to fish a lot too but had to give it up. I can't walk good enough. Oh, I can still stand up behind the barber chair though."

"I went up and picked Charlie up out of retirement," says Graham. "And he's been doing real well."

Budget Reveals

Village Costs to Jump $9,000

After several months of study the Cass City Village Council has finalized the budget for the year and will present it at the annual budget hearing slated Tuesday, Mar. 1, at 7 p.m. at the Municipal Building.

Total expenditures for 1966 are estimated to rise some $9,000. Total funds available amount to $210,250. This includes $45,650 on hand to start the year.

Costs in several departments jumped, while others will decrease, according to present budget plans. Expenditures for water will jump sharply. Special projects, including removal of the old water tower, service to Woodland subdivision, service to the new high school and replacing a water line in an alley are scheduled. This work will cost some $11,500 pushing the total cost of this department to $32,500, as compared to $23,000 last year.

Another man for a half a year will jump disposal costs some $3,000, it is anticipated, while $5,000 has been allotted for resurfacing business district alleys where nothing was spent in 1965.

Because of the new high school, sanitary service is budgeted at $6,000 as compared to $1,500 in 1965. Money spent on local streets will jump to $23,500 as compared to $19,000 last year. The police department's cost will go from $18,850 to $23,500, according to the budget, primarily because of an extra man for a full year and an increase in salaries.

Reductions

Balancing these cost increases are reductions in several areas. Sidewalks, because of business district walks, cost some $7,000 last year. The figure was reduced to $1,000 in the budget.

The park and recreation department spent $7,500 last year, primarily because of expenses connected with the centennial. The department is budgeted for $5,000 this year.

A copy of the budget is available at the clerk's office in the Municipal Building for examination prior to the budget hearing.

done previously by several other persons."

The position covers personnel, labor relations, public relations, college recruiting, training, benefits and a host of other categories.

He officially transferred from the Rome plant, which employs about 400 persons, to the Cass City branch, employment 550, early in January. He has been with Cable since his graduation from Cornell University with a degree in industry and labor relations.

He also spent four years at Union College, Schenectady, N.Y., where he majored in economics and psychology, before going on to Cornell for two years.

Cattle Watcher Arrested at Erla's

A Cass City man is in Tuscola County Jail under $100 bond following his arrest early Tuesday morning in Erla Meat Packing Company's slaughterhouse.

Scheduled to have been arraigned Wednesday for breaking and entering in the nighttime was Rinerd A. Schember, 21, Cass City. Village Patrolman William McKinley, Deputy James Barriger and Jim Haley, Erla employee, found Schember sitting on the fence of one of the livestock pens watching the cattle. He told the officers that he had been in the building for about 45 minutes before they arrived. The officers investigated when they saw a strange car parked behind the slaughterhouse.

Two Cadillac transients were arrested Monday by Patrolman Robert Pawlowski for the theft of 13 novels, blankets and other items from the New Gordon Hotel where they were staying.

In jail under $100 bond each are Leon A. Barber, 20, and Robert L. Zeery, 17, both of Cadillac. Both were to be arraigned Wednesday.

List Area Man as Critical Following Sunday Accident

A Cass City man is still listed in critical condition in Saginaw St. Mary's modified care unit after being thrown from his car early Sunday morning in a one-car crash on Vassar Road, near Swaffler Road.

Listed in critical condition Wednesday morning was Frederic O. Vollmer, 27, Dodge Road, Cass City. His wife, Norma, 24, suffered cuts and bruises in the accident.

According to a report filed by Tuscola County Deputy Jim Barriger, the Vollmer car skidded for 240 feet on the blacktop, left the road and skidded 81 feet, tearing out a mailbox and hitting a tree. The car continued another 60 feet after hitting the tree.

Vollmer was thrown from the car after it struck the tree. The accident happened at 2:58 Sunday morning.

Alan L. Guilds, 20, Cass City, suffered bruises and abrasions Saturday when his car was struck by a second car driven by George F. Somers, 48, Cass City, at the intersection of Garfield and Maple streets.

Guilds told Police Chief Carl Palmateer that his gas pedal stuck and he bent down to pull it up. When he looked up, the Somers car had started across in front of him. Guilds' car spun around after being struck and hit a tree.

Later Saturday, a car driven by Richard C. Palmer, 22, Elkton, backed away from the curb on Seeger, near Main Street, and struck a car owned by Donald H. Kruse, 33, Cass City. Riding in the Palmer car were his wife, Catherine, 21, and son Richard, one, and daughter Brenda, one. In the Kruse vehicle were his sons, Dean, nine, and Duane, seven.

Charles R. Parker, 39, Cass City, received bruises when his car was struck by a car being backed from the curb on west Main Street, on Friday. The second vehicle was driven by Wayne G. Rabideau, 44, Cass City.

Parker's daughter, Jean, also received bruises. They were taken to Cass City Hospital for treatment. Beverly Parker, and David Parker, five, were uninjured. Riding with Rabideau were Marvin Winters, 33, and John Haire, 43, both of Cass City.

Earlier Friday, a parked car owned by Frederick Gallagher, 31, Cass City, slipped into reverse, backed across Seeger, just off Main Street, and struck a parked car owned by Chester Graham, Cass City.

A car left running at the curb by Grant Ball, 49, Cass City, Thursday, Feb. 17, slipped into gear and slammed into Jack's Bar, according to a report filed by Patrolman Robert Pawlowski. Ball told Pawlowski that he had left the car running while he went into the New Gordon Hotel.

Drivers Ticketed

Jerry A. Curtis, 20, Deford, was ticketed Sunday in Caro when his car struck a parked car after turning a corner. Curtis told police that he turned the corner and when he started out, his car skidded, striking a parked car owned by Ethel Rondo, Caro.

Curtis was ticketed for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Riding with him were Terry Burrows, 15, and Fred LaPratt, 14, both of Caro.

Car Rolls

Donald S. Landram, 24, Kingston, escaped injury when he lost control of his car on a curve on Stevens Road Sunday, near East Dayton Road, and the vehicle rolled over. He told deputies that he hit snow and ice on the corner and went in to a skid. The car slid across the road and into a ditch, rolling over.

His Deer

Earlier Monday, also on Stevens Road, this time near Kingston, a car driven by Robert L. Schwaderer, 24, Kingston, struck a deer as it crossed the road. Riding with him was Sylvia Schwaderer. No injuries were reported.

Shaken Up

Ann Mitchell, 65, Cass City, owner of the Crossroads Restaurant, was shaken up Tuesday, Feb. 15, when she lost control of her car on M-53, near the restaurant. She told deputies that she reached into her glove compartment and lost control of the vehicle. The car went off the road and struck a tree.

Estimate Health Dept. Cost

When Tuscola County's District Health Department is formed with Lapeer county, it has been estimated that the taxpayers will pay from $7,000 to $8,000 more than they are now shelling out for health service.

If this estimate of the steering committee headed by Charles Woodcock of Vassar is correct, Tuscola will be paying a good deal less than Lapeer. Supervisor Clyde Ross of Lapeer county estimates that the first year's cost to Lapeer county would probably be $30,000.

A meeting of officials from Tuscola and Lapeer county has been set for Friday in Vassar.

At this meeting, the general program will be reviewed. Still undecided are the tentative location of the department's headquarters and the members of the new department from Tuscola county.

We will decide this at our Mar. 7 meeting, Woodcock said. Sure to receive strong consideration when the appointments are made are the members of the supervisors' health committee: J. Arthur Haley, Everett Starkey and Quentin Howell.

Already appointed are the members from Lapeer county: Clyde Ross, Ed Oyster and Edgar A. Mitten.

Originally, the group had hoped to form a four-county unit using Hills and Dales Hospital as the headquarters. This fell through when Huron and Sanilac elected to have their own two-county unit.

However, Woodcock said, after the new two-county units are established there is nothing to prevent us from taking another look at a four-county unit if it appears more advantageous to everyone.

The new department is required because of a new State law that requires every county to have a health department headed by a medical doctor. The department's chief responsibility would be inspection and education. . . . not treatment. There will not be any more free nurse or doctor's care than there has been in the past.

A sanitarian is also required under the law. His chief duties will be to control health conditions in public places and pollution problems, primarily in rural areas.

Letters to Editor

The Chronicle welcomes letters to the editor. In most instances letters will be printed in full. However, the paper reserves the right to edit letters to fit space requirements. All letters must be signed.

Inverness, Fla.
Feb. 18, 1966-

Dear Mr. Haire:
Mails are very slow under this Zip code setup. Letters this year are sometimes five days from Cass City to Inverness and we had one although plainly addressed which went to San Francisco and then here in a matter of twelve days.

The Chronicle arrives on Mon. and Mr. Jump had one arrive on the following Wed.

But this is not what I intended to write about. I've long considered Dave Kraft's sense of humor on rather a low plane but when he writes such tripe as that in the Feb. 10 issue it seems to me that the Editor should use his editorial prerogative and delete that which is objectionable to decent minded people.

Sincerely yours,
Jason A. Kitchen

Detroit, Mich.
Feb. 15, 1966

Dear Mr. Editor:
Enclosed find check for three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) for my subscription to the Chronicle for another year.

I look forward to receiving it each week to see what the folks are doing in my "Old Home Town."

If it had not been for the Chronicle, I might not have known who my next door neighbor is, at least until spring when we can get outdoors more, and this is what happened.

I was reading about the wedding of this one couple and noted the bride was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester Muntz. Mr. Muntz was a very good friend of my mother, Mrs. Genie Martin, when she lived in Cass City and he was postmaster. He was very kind to her and she requested before her death that Mr. Muntz be one of her pallbearers.

Well, as I read on about the wedding, I learned that the groom lived a few blocks from my home, then at the end of the article it said they would reside ---yes, you guessed it ---next door to me.

Needless to say I was thrilled and pleased. That evening when my last pupil had left (I teach music) I went next door to call on my new neighbors.

So you see it pays to subscribe to the Chronicle. I still like to read the chat chat of "Uncle Tim from Tyre."

Sincerely,
Mrs. Goldie Martin-McLaughlin
(Mrs. John McLaughlin)

Even though a woman looks as heavy as a truck, she'll believe you and be pleased if you say she looks thinner.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where we was still making a little headway in this war the Great Society was putting on agin poverty. Congressman Richard Roudeshush of Indiana has reported we just paid $23,700 to a group of our fine citizens fer studying the "life cycle and behavior of the African ostrich."

Congressman Roudeshush was of the opinion it was mighty fine to git the latest data on how the ostriches was behaving in Africa and to git this $23,700 put in circulation on the poverty circuit, but he was a little alarmed, he said, that maybe them Government agencies was overdoing the matter. Fer instant, he had took note where the Department of Agriculture had just granted a perlessor at the State College of Agriculture at Ithaca, New York, $42,000 to "study the sex life of cabbages."

Personal, Mister Editor, everybody already knows the ostrich buries his head in the sand when he sees trouble coming and I figger that's about all we need to know in this field. Actual, the African ostrich and them Government agencies was a heap alike when they see trouble coming. One sticks his head in the sand and the other sticks his paws in the tax bucket.

And I'm agin this $42,000 cab-

Plan Open House For Ugly Couple

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Morrison of Ugly will observe their golden wedding anniversary with an open house from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturday at the Sturges Congregational Church, Port Huron.

The Morrisons were married Feb. 24, 1916, in Ugly. He is a retired maintenance foreman at Mueller Brass Co. of Port Huron. The couple has two daughters, Mrs. Archie McIntyre and Mrs. Gar Henry, both of Port Huron; six grandsons and a granddaughter.

bage deal fer personal reasons. The Government has already admitted they was tapping phone lines and hiding them "bug" contraptions around trying to git information about certain citizens and taxpayers. When we git to spending $42,000 to study the sex life of the pore old cabbages, it looks like we was invading to the last straw the right to privacy give us in the Constitution.

I bring this matter up at the country store Saturday night and Zeke Grubb claimed we was taking one step forward and two steps backwards in a heap of these poverty programs. Fer instant, he reported he had saw in the papers where the Revenue agents had went all out to git the moonshiners in Georgia.

The agents, said Zeke, claimed them self employed fellers in Georgia was cheating the Government out of $20 million a year in liquor taxes, so they clamped down on the bootleggers so hard they was shutting off the main line of supply to Atlanta and the legal liquor stores was suffering a shortage.

They figgered by blowing up the stills they would git $20 million more in taxes, provided everybody kept on drinking liquor at the same rate, and they could use the money to help pay for the war on poverty. But the disemployed moonshiners has come out of the woods and has put in fer all the poverty program benefits. The fellers was all agreed, Mister Editor, that in a heap of cases we was burning down the barn to git the rats.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Rotary Celebrating 61st Anniversary

Rotary is celebrating its 61st anniversary this week. Since the first club was formed in Chicago Feb. 23, 1905, the organization has grown by leaps and bounds.

There are now 581,500 Rotarians in 12,000 clubs in 131 countries. In all of the communities in which clubs are active, Rotary stresses "service above self."

Some things are simply inexplicable, and among them is that twenty years from now the present group of teen-agers will complain that their daughters are immodest.

Four Fires Fought In Four-day Period

A long quiet spell ended for Cass City firemen this week with four minor fires reported within a four-day period.

Papers and other materials were burned in a garage at the William Krutzman residence in Cass City Sunday but damage was slight, according to Fire Chief Neilson Willy. The fire was believed to have been started by children playing with matches.

Two car fires were put out, including a fire in the front seat of a car owned by Ernie Pena Saturday, Feb. 19. The cause of that fire was unknown.

The other car fire was reported Thursday, Feb. 17, when a car driven by Cathy Langenburg, Cass City, developed an engine fire, a mile and a quarter east of Cass City. Damage was confined to the motor area and wiring was burned.

Earlier in the day, a fire in a trailer house occupied by Arsene Floener, six and a half miles west of Cass City, was extinguished before much damage was done. Heating tape on water lines was blamed for the fire. Damage was estimated at about $50.00.

Thought for Lent Ready to Listen?

Rev. Marion S. Hostetter

This is the fourth year that the Chronicle has made it possible for you to read some of the Lenten thoughts of the leading clergymen of the area. Dr. Marion Hostetter is the minister of the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City.

We once lived across the street from a fire siren that was timed to go off every morning at 7:00. After we spent our first night there, I bounded out of bed in consternation when I heard the siren sound. After living there a while, I was no longer bothered by the siren, and finally I paid so little attention to it that if I decided to sleep until 7:30, I could do it without difficulty. I had learned to "tune out" the sound of the siren.

An expert on hearing reports that some men are unable to hear what their wives say to them, not because there is anything wrong with their ears or their auditory nerves, but because they have developed the habit of "tuning out" their wives' voices.

According to an article in the current issue of "McCall's," most women wish their husbands would listen to them more carefully and talk with them more often. The apparent reason for the lack of communication, according to the article, is that the wife wants to talk about a multitude of household details (which are not really interesting to a man), while the man can't think of anything to talk about except his work (which may not be very thrilling to the wife).

If communication has broken down between a husband and wife, a parent and child, a teacher and pupil, the first step toward re-establishing it is to recognize that all genuine communication is a two-way process. Each person must do some revealing of himself, and each must do some listening to the other person. I suppose the best way to restore communication is to make a sincere effort to listen to what the other person is trying to say. If the breakdown has lasted for a long time, you may have to work at it a while before the other person will realize that you are now ready to listen to him. Keep giving him chances to talk, and pay attention to what he says. Then respond with your own true feelings about what he has said. Whether you agree with him or oppose him, your careful listening and your sincere offering of your own feelings may restore the communication that has broken down.

Many people today find they have no communication with God. They might very well echo the words Jesus spoke when he was being crucified, "My God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

Langdon Gilkey says of this situation, "It is as if for our age the receiving set for religion had been tuned way down, or in some cases turned quite off. For the multitudes of us, no experience of God is either expected or felt, no word from God listened for or heard, and no command of God received or obeyed."

If you are one who feels that God is either uninterested or non-existent, perhaps the days of Lent would be a good time to see whether communication can be restored.

Try listening. Pause at night to see whether you can "hear" God's evaluation of the events of the day. Listen in the morning to see whether there is any divine directive for your use of the hours that lie ahead of you. And try listening to the people in your life. To paraphrase a saying of Jesus, "If you have listened to one of the least of these my brothers, you have listened to me."

phone poles to the microwaves now in use for long distance calls.

The guest speaker illustrated the limited capacity of open wire and traced the development of cable to increase capacity and then showed a scale model of the microwave.

One of the samples of cable was produced at General Cable Corporation in Cass City.

The advantage of the microwave, Gunneman said, is that it increases capacity (1,200 calls per beam) and is less expensive to maintain. There are no wires and receiving towers are needed only every 25 or 30 miles.

The disadvantages are the need for highly trained personnel and the necessity for a strong, vibration-free tower.

The microwave system has been in use in the Gaylord, Lewiston, Atlanta area for many years and another system from Roscommon to St. Johns is under construction, Gunneman said.

The speaker emphasized that the development of microwaves does not mean that cable and open wire are being discontinued.

Microwave is adaptable best for long distance calls and to reach remote spots where it is hard to string wire. In a call from coast to coast, all three types of transmittal facilities are very apt to be used.

We always have to use wire to get into the individual phones, he said.

The future may bring about the extensive use of the Laser beam. It is a high frequency beam that will have the carrying capacity to meet any foreseeable demands by the user, Gunneman reported.

"That's right," interrupted McCaslin. "The doctor says I look a lot better than I did a year ago."

"Charlie was working for Ball and Bailey when I started training," Graham pointed out. He's exactly 10 years older than I am. He gave me my first barbershop shave."

McCaslin worked for a time in Detroit and Flint before opening his own shop in 1926. Bill Johnston now owns the shop.

McCaslin went into semiretirement "seven or eight years ago." In that time he has worked with most of the other barbers in town on a part-time basis. No matter how hard he tries to quit, he keeps returning.

Lunch time for Charlie came during a lull in the interview and he popped abruptly from his chair and out the door with, "Well, if you're through with me, I'm going to lunch."

A tall man, tired by the years, but unbowed, his large frame filled the barbershop door and then disappeared. Still there was no cause for concern because Charlie keeps coming back.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 59, NUMBER 45

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1966

Library Topic at February Zonta Meet

Mrs. Arthur Little, Cass City-Elkland township librarian, called the library "a treasure house and an open door," when she gave history and statistics of the local unit at the February 15 meeting of the Zonta Club at the New Gordon Hotel.

Mrs. Little told the group that the library has 5,000 volumes on hand and that circulation for 1965 passed the 10,000 mark. January's circulation was over 1,000 books.

She introduced Mrs. John Zinnecker, library trustee, who gave a book review on the novel, "The Road to Beersheba." Mrs. William Profit and Mrs. Ben Benkelman were also guests of the club. Village President Lambert Althaver explained the need for a new fire hall and library.

Plans were made in the business session for the annual rummage sale which will be held April 1-2. Plans for the antique show and sale, slated for Feb. 25-26, were also discussed.

Civic project for the club for the year will be the library.

Program for the March meeting will be "The Status of Women" with Mrs. George Murray as chairman. Mrs. Helen Agar was program chairman for the February session.

KOMMENTS BY KRAFT

Buttons Make A Bitter Pill

By Dave Kraft

Ever do something ridiculous... so ridiculous that even you had to laugh at it. I walked into a certain business in town the other day and the lady in charge told this story on herself.

She had to take a couple of pills for some reason or other and as she took them out of the bottle, she was called to the front. Dropping the pills in her uniform pocket, she proceeded to the front where she took care of whatever was wrong.

A little while later she remembered the pills in her pocket. She reached in while getting a glass of water and popped the pills into her mouth.

Later in the day, she reached into her pocket and was surprised to find one of the pills. She knew she had taken two and suddenly it dawned on her that she had earlier dropped a button of her uniform, the same size as the pills, into the same pocket.

You guessed it, she took one pill and one button. I should have asked her if she felt any better after taking the button. Just as well I didn't. Suppose she had. Could have developed into a real situation.

For one thing, buttons might be habit forming. Might even be lethal... you know, like an overdose of buttons.

As far as this lady is concerned, I solved her problem by suggesting that she sew the button onto her uniform. This will serve two purposes, one as a real button and two, when she craves a button, she can tear it off and still be taking her medicine.

The one she took is the one that concerns me. Suppose you could call that a belly button?

*****

I don't know what it is about winter that makes vacationers feel they have to send me cards and letters from their sunny spots, telling me how great it is.

How do they think I feel as I sit in front of the window watching the snow fall after reading something like this from the Neil Shermans?

"Leesburg, Sat., Feb. 12. How can one country have so many kinds of weather? Wonderful here now. Cliff Ferguson and wife were in town Wednesday. Fishing good."

Nobody ever sends me cards from Alaska in the summer time. Just from Florida in the winter. Still, if I get enough of the cards I got from a couple of buddies of mine who were visiting Bracon, Fla., I won't care what time of year it is.

The picture on the front was of a well-proportioned young lady in an interestingly arranged bikini. Actually she wasn't in a bikini... she was more out than in.

The message read: "Even this girl reads your Komments." It had some other stuff but it isn't necessary that we go into that.

One thing I might suggest. If any of you send more of this type of card, please enclose it in a plain brown wrapper. Those boys down at the post office keep getting finger prints all over my mail.

I refer you to the letters to the editor department in this issue.

IT DOESN'T LOOK as if anybody is trying after this shot by Dave Asher Friday night. But the action is just arrested. This bucket was the one that spelled the difference in Cass City's two-point win over Bad Axe Friday. (Photo by David MacRae)

Cass City Edges Bad Axe Friday in Cage Thriller, 68-66

The Cass City Red Hawks posted their second victory of the year over Bad Axe Friday at Cass City High School in a game not decided until the final whistle. The score was 68-66.

The Hatchets made a determined effort to score an upset as they exhibited an aggressive defense... but excessive fouling eventually cost the visitors their chance for victory.

The Hatchets were charged with 27 fouls and three of their starters were forced from the game with five fouls. Most serious blow to Bad Axe was the loss of Dick DeChane who whopped in 31 points in the three quarters he played before fouling out.

Coach John Oswald started an all senior line-up which played for most of the first quarter.

The quintet included Rick Ruhl, Jerry Knoblet, Al Wallace, Dave

Schember and Wayne Copeland. The seniors jumped into an early lead and at the end of the quarter Cass City was in front 16-14.

The Hatchets roared back in the second quarter to post a 22-17 advantage to move in front at half time, 36-33.

From this point on, it was a see-saw affair. The Hawks managed to stay even or ahead most of the way. At one time in the last period Cass City moved in front by six points.

But Bad Axe came charging back to tie the score and the Hawks were forced to rally in the dying moments of the game to chalk up the narrow victory.

Oswald said that Friday's game was one of Cass City's poorest in recent weeks. We made many mistakes and turned the ball over too many times without taking a shot, he explained.

Besides the poor ball handling, the Hawks registered a miserable percentage from the field. They hit just 19 of 26 shots for 28 per cent. Bad Axe hit 28 of 78 for 36 per cent.

The game was saved from the

Can Establish Grain Base by March 1

A feed grain base may be established under the 1966 Feed Grain Program for farms which did not plant feed grains in 1959 and/or 1960 that meet eligibility requirements, Mr. Schian of the Tuscola ASCS County Office announced today.

To be eligible for a new feed grain base, Mr. Schian said the operator must expect to receive 50 per cent or more of his livelihood in the current year from the production of agricultural commodities on the farm; must have had at least two experiences in the production of feed grains in the last five years; must have adequate equipment for the production of feed grains; the land must be suitable for the production of feed grains, and neither the owner nor the operator may have an interest in any other farm for which a feed grain base has been established.

Interested producers who can meet these requirements should contact the County ASCS Office not later than March 1, 1966 and file an application, Mr. Schian said.

STUTTERING

Q. Does a person "stutter" or "stammer"?
A. The two words mean exactly the same. The former is generally used in the United States, whereas "stammer" is widely used in England. Stuttering is an interruption of speech of sufficient severity to attract attention, interfere with communication, or cause distress to the stutterer or his audience. The stutterer knows exactly what he wishes to say but at the time is unable to say it easily because of involuntary repetition, prolongation, or cessation of sound.

TREATMENT

Q. Is there any treatment for stuttering?
A. Yes. Treatment usually involves measures designed to promote relaxation. Speech exercises and discussions with the therapist tend to give the patient more insight about his ailment. The essential element in treatment of stuttering is persistence. Although results may be slow to appear, a marked improvement in speech or even recovery from stuttering may suddenly occur during any stage of treatment.

Remember—the diagnosis and treatment of disease is the function of the patient's personal physician.

New Breed of Cat . . Leopard Christians

Rev. R. E. Betts, Salem EUB Church

While this has nothing to do with being 'catty' it does suggest that many Christians are only 'saved in spots.' This is certainly no reflection on the grace of God nor even on our sincerity, but rather on our willingness to submit all of what we are to God and to attain maturity in our faith.

For instance, the 'spots' most saved in your experience might come under the headings of theology or churchmanship. You believe in Jesus Christ and are affiliated with some church — and this is important. But, there are other important spots that need saving.

How about the tongue? St. James says, "The tongue is a little member and boasts of great things. How great a forest is set ablaze by a small fire. And the tongue is a fire." Maybe you have an unruly tongue that needs saving. Or perhaps your unsaved spot centers around your pocketbook. Many a church member appears to be saved until you reach for his purse . . . then watch him growl! Parsimony and true piety are poor bedfellows.

Above all is the heart. "For out of the heart flow the issues of life." It is the seat of the Royal Law, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God . . . and thy neighbor as thyself." Pettiness, resentment, bitterness, an unforgiving spirit, these reveal a lack of Christian love, an unsanctified heart.

Come, friend, leap out of the brush and let the Master do a thorough job on those spots.

Michigan State University clothing specialists say clothing researchers are working on a one-step process of making fabric by spraying fibers. If this process is perfected, it will eliminate spinning and weaving of fabrics. Clothing is also being genuinely 'wash n' wear' through a durable press process.

Pitfalls in Lobbying Stems From People, Not from Laws

Look At Lobbyists

Lobbying activities have been under scrutiny several times in recent years but every attempt to tighten Michigan's law regarding legislative agents have come to little.

The public eye may be trained more firmly on the Legislature's disposal of lobby law changes this year because of the recent disclosures regarding the activities conducted in behalf of the People's Community Hospital Authority in suburban Wayne County.

This is the first investigation in recent years which has resulted in any legal charges being placed against the people involved. Since no trials have yet been conducted, it would be presumptuous and improper to draw any conclusions about this case.

WSWS Officers Installed Thursday

Twenty-three were present Thursday evening for the meeting in Salem EUB church of the General Woman's Society of World Service.

Rev. R. E. Betts, pastor, officiated at the installation of officers of the general society and of the Martha and Mary Circles.

Mrs. Stanley Kirm Sr. presided over the business meeting. Various activities for the next quarter were announced, including the father-son banquet to be held March 12.

Mrs. David Loomis reported on recommendations of the membership and attendance committee. Mrs. Charles Tuckey announced a project for the month of March for raising convention project funds.

Annual reports were given by Mrs. Charles Tuckey as president for the past year and by Mrs. Esther McCullough as treasurer. Mrs. Tuckey reported that membership was 39 and that 14 women completed the prescribed reading course.

A coffee hour preceded the meeting.

Lobbying is generally a very honorable, demanding, and tiring occupation. It requires long hours, great patience, and, probably foremost, a most unusual ability to get along with others.

The lobbyist's chief job is to keep legislators informed of the viewpoint on various bills held by the agent's employer and vice versa. The lobbyist is essentially a salesman selling an idea, hoping the legislator will adopt it and try to sell it to others in turn.

A lobbyist must try to convince legislators that his view is the best for the public as well as his client. The legislator must be wise enough to determine whether this is true.

During any given legislative session, the lobbyist's life revolves around the 148 men and women, plus a few other officials, who write the laws for Michigan.

They live, eat, sleep and breathe the legislative activity. In a very few cases, this familiarity appears to breed contempt.

In the few known incidents of alleged misuse of the lobbying privilege, the allegations have hinted at attempts to "buy" legislators' allegiance.

Good will of legislators is something that is acquired, not bought. The intelligent, well principled lobbyist, by far the majority, is well aware of this. Companies and agencies which hire lobbyists recognize this fact too.

Seasoned lobbyists hate the thoughts of more laws and regulations, primarily because those who try to operate honestly and with integrity do so without laws which limit their effectiveness. Those who disregard present laws can be expected to disregard future laws too.

It's the same old story: the trouble is more with the people than with the system of laws. "You just can't legislate morality."

Candidates On Hand

From out of the blue they came. That was the impression when it was time for the Republican Party to seriously consider the 1966 U. S. Senate race.

Less than two months before, the Party moguls were said to be at a standstill, mystified at where they might find a possible winner. Then suddenly there were more than 10 men listed either as possible or hopeful candidates.

Planned or not? It is hard to determine, but rumor is that the powers that be were not entirely satisfied with the few willing hands that had been raised and wanted to see more volunteers.

Reiterating an old idea, politics is not a whole lot different from a corporation.

Consider a large corporation in which the first vice-president is about to retire. The president and board are not quite enthusiastic about elevating the second vice-president to the soon-to-be-vacant slot. How many lower vice-presidents and other executives do you think would be clamoring for the job if they were aware of this sentiment?

This reportedly was essentially the situation which brought the numerous Republican office-holders to pony up decaire they would love a chance at the U.S. Senate race.

More than one of the public announcements were prompted by the high expectations of the state GOP regarding the 1966 election.

Nationwide, the word is that there is to be a year for the Republicans, this is it. In Michigan, Gov. George Romney's name on the top of the ticket is contributing to predictions of a full reversal of the 1964 election results.

The GOP should have no difficulty filling out its ticket if the hopeful attitude remains at its present high.

Michigan State University housing specialists predict that by 1980 most people will be living in medium and high-rise apartment buildings in "high-density" areas. Rural and outer suburban areas will probably contain the only single family homes. Ultimately even farm homesteads may be replaced with manufactured houses erected on the site. Mobile homes will continue to increase in popularity.

IT SEEMS TO ME
More Members, Less Attendance at Church

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Membership of the churches in this country seems to be up again. Reports covering 1964 show no new major trends in church membership which rose in that year pretty much as the population itself grew. 64.4 per cent of the American population, says the report, belongs to some religious organization. While the nation grew 1.5 per cent, religious bodies grew almost 2 per cent. Protestant numbers are reported as having increased more rapidly than Roman Catholic. The Gallup polls report that church attendance is, however, declining. I predict that the clergy of Cass City accepts these statistics as a challenge. Or, so "It Seems To Me."

Twice in one week, the courts of Alabama sentenced white men to prison for ten years for violating the civil rights of Negroes! These sentences, while not on a scale with the majority of states in the nation, nonetheless, represent justice in a far different way than it was just a few short months ago. Police, attorneys, judges, and just plain people in that state can now rest easier in the knowledge that justice is being meted out in at least one state in the south. Or, so "It Seems To Me."

The Religious News Service reports that a drive is underway to place Bibles in all public libraries. This move is seen as one way to replace the banned reading of the Bible in schools. "Strange as it may seem," one leader commented, "the Supreme Court decision may well be the greatest boon to the cause of the Bible since the organization of the American Bible Society." And so, "It Seems To Me."

I frankly do not know whether the Cass City library has a Bible in circulation, but I am certain that if one is requested, Mrs. Little would come up with one. I had charge of providing the Hills and Dales Hospital Chapel with several versions of the Bible. Why don't you lead your community organization in a project to provide the library with several translations of the Bible?

Even the old songs are being updated for the "Space Age," like this one:

"Put on your new space bonnet, with the sound equipment on it, While I hitch up an atom to the shay, 'Through the wild blue yonder, To Jupiter we'll wander, On our uranium wedding day."

Did you notice the 'new look' at the head of this column and the one that heads Dave Kraft's? Recently, in the print shop my old picture was dropped and suffered from a chipped old temple. Mr. Haire took new pictures of both of us. Notice, please, that I don't need hirsute adornment on my face, like you know who, or is it, you know whom?

Editor's Note: We took the picture, but it doesn't meet Kraft's exacting beard standards, so it wasn't used.

Day of Prayer

Plans have been completed for the annual World Day of Prayer service to be held Friday, Feb. 25, in Salem EUB church at 1:30 p. m. Arthur Holmberg will be the speaker.

A Michigan State University agricultural engineer predicts a dramatic increase in farm uses of electricity by 1990. The specialist estimates that each farmer will use an average of 15,000 kilowatt-hours of electricity, compared with just a little over 9,000 today.

Kebler Tells How To Keep Them Down on Farm

Just look around and count the number of young boys farming alone or with their fathers.

There are not as many around as were used to be and when we start counting there are fewer than we first believed.

Where are our future farmers going? We know, they are migrating to the cities, enrolling in the schools of higher learning and serving with the armed forces.

Very few of them will ever return to the role of a farm operator and if this trend continues I am afraid our agriculture is going to really suffer, Don R. Kebler, extension agricultural agent, says.

If predictions from the USDA become reality, by 1984 the world demand for food will be greater than the world's production. By 1984 farm operators now 47 years, or older, will be retiring and who is going to replace them?

When the time comes to replace these retiring farmers will we be able to get them from the city? It is easier to train a farm boy for a city vocation than a city boy for a farm vocation. Good farm operators are a product of a long time developmental process. They must have a strong affection for the land and growing things and have the knowledge to manage.

What induces a farm boy to leave the farm? I don't believe there is one single reason but a combination of the following:

(1) The operation is not big enough or managed properly to support two families, (2) Lack of proper knowledge and value standards to realize the true rewards possible as a professional farm operator and manager, (3) High wages available today in non-farm occupations, (4) Lack of incentive or challenge, (5) The parents' waiting too long before realizing they neglected to stimulate a real interest and desire in their sons toward wanting to become a farm operator, (6) Armed services, its standards, values and demands.

Item five is perhaps the one best reason for a son to leave farming and many fathers neglect making early plans and setting goals which include the son. To wait until the son is about to graduate from high school before including him in the operation, as a part of the operation, is too late. Start him early to develop the operation. As he grows so does the operation, his interests and desire.

These fathers who are helping to develop their sons into farm operators will need all the outside management assistance available. Operational records and business management knowledge will be a must in their total program developmental process. Furthermore these fathers and sons are going to buy this service either from commercial farm management services or using systems available today such as offered by the Telfarm program.

We need to keep these young farmers on the farm. Which way we go will depend on the parents, economics and a topnotch farm management program, Kebler concludes.

ELECTRICAL CONVENIENCE—Tom Herron demonstrates the ease and convenience of electrical living as he turns on a burner by pushing a button. Mr. and Mrs. Herron's new home will be featured in a two-day Detroit Edison "Gold Medallion" open house Saturday and Sunday, Feb. 26-27. (Chronicle photo)

Herrons Slate Week-End Open House of All Electric Home

Flameless electric living will be the keynote of another of Detroit Edison's "Gold Medallion" open houses Saturday and Sunday, 2:00 p. m. to 6:00 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Herron, a mile west of Cass City.

Herron's 10-room home, which he built himself, is completely electric, featuring radiant ceiling heat in all rooms, humidistats in bathrooms and kitchen and a wide array of conveniences in the kitchen. Each room has individual temperature controls which evenly spread the heat throughout the house.

"Light for Living," in accordance with recommendations of the Electric Living Division of Detroit Edison Company, enhances the beauty of the home and provides comfort for all seeing tasks.

Medallion wiring throughout the home assures full use of appliances and outlets throughout the house without worry of fuse burn-outs or overloaded circuits.

Plans for the home were pre-designed and few changes were made while he was building the house, Herron reports. Individual rooms consist of three bedrooms, two baths, one with double vanity, a living room, family room, dining room, kitchen and utility room.

The house also features a full basement and two-car garage.

In the kitchen, a drop-in stove dominates a bar separating the kitchen from the family room. Also built in are the dishwasher and disposal unit. Cupboards lining three walls were also all built by Herron.

Herron spent two weeks roughing in the house and then worked on the home whenever his work as a builder would give him time to work on his own house.

Other contractors on the home were Tuckey Block, Croft-Clara Lumber, Leeson Wallpaper and Paint, Don Shagene, Jim Johnson Plumbing & Heating, and Frank Chipp, all of Cass City, and B&L Construction, Akron.

Mrs. Baker AAUW President Nominee

Also serving on the nominating committee were Mrs. Lambert Althaver and Miss Gertrude McWebb.

A book discussion group is being organized by the branch which will be open to interested women in the community, whether or not they are members of the branch.

The first meeting of the group will be held March 3 at 8:00 at the home of Mrs. Evans Parrott. The book to be read for the first session is "Tomorrow is Now" by Eleanor Roosevelt. Interested persons are urged to contact Mrs. Parrott for further information.

The branch continued its study of genetics with the showing of the film, "The Thread of Life." The study will conclude with the appearance here on March 30 of Dr. Leroy Augusten, chairman of the department of biophysics at Michigan State University.

Political Action Classes Underway

The Individual in Politics was the topic at the first Political Action class, at the Farm Bureau Center in Caro February 15.

Led by Delbert Wells, Lansing, the workshop brought discussion of political participation opportunities available to the individual.

The second in the series of eight classes, held Tuesday evening, covered why and how political parties are organized, from the precinct up. Eldon Bruce, Deford, led the group and with the aid of problem solutions discussed why individuals become more effective through established parties.

March 1, Mrs. Clare Carpenter of Cass City will be in charge. The discussion on political precincts will analyze the tactics and strategy used by a precinct leader in getting voters registered and to the polls.
