

From the Editor's Corner

When is a champion not a champion? When he bowls in the Merchants' League in Cass City. Members of the Croft-Clara team coincidentally attended a banquet Wednesday night, May 4, expecting to receive the trophy as the loop's best. After all they scratched out a narrow one-point victory in the first half and then defeated the second half champions, Frutchey Bean, in a special roll-off for the title.

But when League Secretary Pat Rabideau checked the totals for the year, something didn't add up . . . and it proved to be the total for Croft-Clara.

The lumbermen were given four points more than they deserved and the real winner of the first half was Frutchey Bean.

The result was the irrepressible Pat was forced to announce at the banquet that the sponsor's trophy would have to be sent back for a new name inscription . . . that the roll-off wasn't really necessary after all.

Next year it will be the other league's turn to furnish the secretary.

It's been a full turn of the wheel for Cass City Lutherans. The Cass City Church was started as a mission from Caro about 25 years ago. The pastor at Caro who started the church, the Rev. Otto Nuechterlein, filled the pulpit in addition to his full-time duties as pastor at Caro.

Since that time there have been several circuit pastors who helped keep the church in operation. Now Cass City has its own pastor, the Rev. Richard Eyer.

A short time ago the Rev. John Boerger, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Caro, accepted a call for Flint and will leave the Caro church without a pastor.

And until the congregation can secure someone, the church's pulpit will be filled by the church that it founded as a mission. Bread cast upon the water.

Tony Doerr

Accident Injures Boy, 5

Little Tony Doerr, 5, suffered lacerations and shock Tuesday afternoon when he ran into a car while attempting to cross South Cemetery Road to meet his mother.

The boy is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Doerr of 2646 Cemetery Road, about four miles south of Cass City.

According to police officials, Mrs. Doerr reported that the youth ran into the side of the car driven by Russell A. Alger, 40, of Kingston, approaching at about 25 miles per hour.

Tony was treated by Dr. H. T. Donahue and released.

Other Accidents

A car owned by Charles Hollis Seeley was damaged on Main Street in Cass City. The mishap occurred when Joseph Krawczyk, 18, of Deford attempted to leave a Main Street parking area and backed into the Seeley auto. The impact pushed the Seeley car into the vehicle parked behind it.

The front and rear of the Seeley auto were damaged. Franklin Sweeney, 19, of Ubbly suffered bumps and bruises in an accident at 2:45 a. m. Sunday in Ubbly.

Sheriff's deputies report that Sweeney lost control of his car and went off the road, hitting a utility pole.

Sweeney's 1966 auto was declared a total wreck. It was the second current model car wrecked by the youth. A similar auto was destroyed in an earlier accident.

Strike Clouds Completion of School as Construction Starts

The first shovel full of dirt was turned Monday for Cass City's new $1.35 million school and Davison and Son Builders revealed that they would swing into construction immediately.

The company is now taking applications from area persons at the site. Ed Harmon is the general superintendent of the job, according to Ed Davison Jr., company official.

Although construction has started, just how far the company will be able to go is uncertain because of the carpenters' strike.

We can do the earth work, but cannot pour any footings because carpenters are needed, Davison explained.

Thieves Find Little to Loot at Area Businesses

Thieves breaking into two area businesses during the week caused considerable damage but failed to find anything of value.

Tuesday, May 3, Chris Labor, manager of Michigan Livestock Exchange stockyard at M-53 and M-81, reported that his office was ransacked.

An ink bottle was smashed, the office safe tipped over and desk drawers pried open. Only loss was two small keys of no appreciable value.

The second break-in was reported Friday at Michigan Bean Company at Owendale. A similar pattern was evident.

The building was entered through the side windows. Thieves knocked off the door to a walk-in vault and forced open a safe which contained no money. Another safe was battered but its handle was knocked off, preventing opening of the door.

A change box, containing some $20, and a cardboard box, containing $12, were overlooked.

The thieves removed a storm sash, broke the inside window, and replaced the storm sash when they left.

explained. We have just started and you could say that we are already behind.

The target date for the completion of the new school is September 1967. If the strike is not settled in the very near future it is doubtful whether or not the work will be completed in time to have students in the building when originally scheduled.

Another factor that clouds the completion of the building is the $250,000 additional funds needed to complete the school with quality construction.

The answer to this problem will be in the hands of the school electors when they vote on the supplemental bond issue in the regular school election June 13.

Supt. Don Crouse has not reported how much tax is needed to

Supervisors Ask For Legal Opinion

Personnel of two county offices were the focal points of discussion Monday when the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors met in Caro.

Clayton Hunter, a member of the board, was elected county equalization director, a full time job in the county. He participated in the vote.

There is the question of the legality of the vote when the board elects a voting member and an opinion is to be secured from the attorney general.

In other action, the board noted the resignation of Mrs. Carmen Smith as county agent, State Board of Corrections and Charities. She is at retirement age.

The new director is expected to be a man already recommended by the probate judge who is awaiting approval by the State.

In other action, the board authorized a new case worker in the department with a starting salary of $3,300 and regular increases to a maximum of $4,500 on the schedule arranged for all county workers.

The county receives $16,000 from the State to operate the corrections and charities department.

Reese districts did not vote since they were already reorganized.

The reorganization becomes effective immediately, but, by previous agreement, the rural schools will continue to operate until the end of the school year.

In the Cass City district there will be little change in the education for the children. The reason for this is that Evergreen students (the only district that operates a school) will continue to go to Evergreen Township Unit School next year. The difference will be that they will be under the direction of the Cass City School Board instead of a local school board.

The complete vote by districts:

Caro 196 139
Cass City 179 79
Mayville 213 98
Millington 179 139
Kingston 178 72
Unionville 278 48
Vassar 112 192
North Grove 14 37
West Dayton 26 81

Deny Injunction For Dr. Anderson

Judge James Churchill denied a petition for a preliminary injunction to Dr. Norma Anderson of Caro in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Dr. Anderson is suing the Caro Community Hospital and doctors on the staff for refusing to allow her to practice in the Caro hospital.

A divorce was granted Gladys Strickland, now of Pontiac, in a contested divorce suit against Ray Strickland of Cass City.

Minor children remained in the custody of the court.

A divorce action by Cyril Klein from Marjorie Klein of Cass City was denied by the court because of inadequate proofs presented by Mr. Klein.

Jezewski Joins Police Department

Cass City selected James Jezewski, 25, to replace Robert Pawlowski who recently resigned, as the third member of the Cass City Police Force. The appointment becomes effective May 23.

The council selected the native Cass Cityite after sifting the applications of 15 persons from the entire Thumb area.

The final six choices of the committee in charge was brought before the council Thursday night and Jezewski was named.

Jezewski has been employed at Anrod Screen Cylinder Co. He joins Chief Carl Palmateer and Patrolman William R. McKinley on the staff.

Charge Mother With Murder In Mercy Death

Mrs. Richard Kefgen, 36, of Farmington was released Tuesday on $5,000 bail after being charged Tuesday with murder in the mercy killing of her son, Terry Lee, 8, at Caro State Hospital. Mrs. Kefgen was never jailed.

A preliminary examination has been set for Friday, May 20, at 10 a. m.

Prosecuting Attorney James J. Epskamp Monday authorized the warrant for the arrest.

Coroner Benson Colton said Mrs. Kefgen, who was found crving beside the body, has admitted she placed a plastic bag on the head of her son. Authorities have described the boy as a helpless and incurable bed patient.

He had contracted a rare virus and had been in the hospital since last September. Formerly a normal healthy child, the youth at the time of his death was deaf and blind in addition to other ailments.

Seek Summer Musical with Local Talent

The Cass City Schools music department is attempting to launch a community musical this summer and tryouts will be held May 16 at 7:30 p. m. at the band room at Cass City High School.

The show selected for the event, first staged locally, is the "H. M. S. Pinaree" or "The Lass That Loved a Sailor", a Gilbert and Sullivan nautical comic opera.

Bell-bottom trousers are in this year, authorities said, and there are seven main parts, four for men and three for women, that will be filled, plus a chorus of men and women and a pit band.

Interested persons can get an advance look at the script at Wood's Drug Store or by contacting Mrs. Ronald Walker.

Visiting Mayor Comes from Unique City

Richard N. Cogger is the mayor of Lathrup Village, with a growing population that was listed at 4,000 in the last available statistics compiled in a city brochure in 1964. Cogger is this year's exchange mayor who will visit Cass City Monday as a highlight of Michigan Week.

A typical suburban community, Lathrup Village nestles in a 1½ square mile area between 12 and 10 mile road, south of Birmingham.

Cogger has been mayor of the community since 1958. He moved to the top post after serving as a councilman and mayor pro tem from 1955-57.

All of the city council in his community serves without pay. The young community boasts of good planning and the successful retention of the village atmosphere that has made the community attractive to new residents.

Lathrup Village became a city in 1953, but its origin goes back Concluded on page four.

Decorate Fox For Bravery In Action

Capt. Clarence E. Fox, a six-year veteran in the Air Force, received the Distinguished Flying Cross for heroism as an F-105 Thunderchief pilot in Southeast Asia recently. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Fox of Cass City.

He was decorated by Lt. General Maurice A. Preston, commander of U. S. Forces in Japan, for successful jet fighter-bomber strikes against vital enemy targets while subject to intense hostile ground fire.

Fox has just returned to Southeast Asia after a two-week furlough. He has spent 2½ years overseas and expects another six months of duty (or 50 missions) before becoming eligible for rotation home, according to Mrs. Fox.

Capt. Fox graduated from Cass City High School and received his B. S. degree in agricultural engineering from Michigan State University.

He was commissioned through the ROTC program at the school. Fox is indefinite about his future plans and has not decided whether to leave the service when his enlistment is over or make the Air Force a career.

School Board Reluctantly Acts

Costs, Pupil Apathy Ending Senior Trip

For a variety of reasons, the three-day jaunts that Cass City Seniors have traditionally taken for 30 years will soon fade from the school scene.

The Cass City Board of Education voted to eliminate the trips at their regular session Monday night at the high school after hearing about the problems connected with the trip described by Principal Arthur Holmberg.

The board acted with a good deal of reluctance and moved only to abolish the expensive trips now taken and left the door wide open for trips that would interest more students.

For, lack of interest by the students is the reason that the trips are due to be discarded.

Back when the trips were first originated, nearly 100 per cent of the students accompanied the class. . . it was an outstanding event of the senior year.

In recent years, student interest has waned until only 58 per cent of this year's seniors will go on the trip.

The board was in agreement with Holmberg and Supt. Don Crouse who believe that a class activity must appeal to more than half of the students to be effective. Members of the board want to find the reason for the lack of interest. A major one may be the expense of a trip.

A few years ago the cost per student was $35. This year it is $96.

To participate, each student needs $60 of his own to add to the money the class raises for the trip. To many, it evidently isn't worth it.

To find out if the students would participate more if costs were held to the amount in the class treasury, a survey will be held to get the opinions of the students.

The board left the door open to just about any plan that would entice more students to participate.

If Cass City's trips go glimmering, the school will be the last to abandon them in the county. . . and, according to Holmberg, in the county the school originated the outing.

Routine Business
The action with the seniors was the only action outside of routine business discussed in the meeting.

Board Members Kenneth Maharg, Don Reid and Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn were appointed to a publicity committee to start explaining why the school will need $250,000 to complete the new high school.

Members of an election board were appointed for the June 13 election at the school. They are: Mrs. Janet Bishop, Chester Graham, Bernard Freiburger, Earl Harris and Mrs. Neva Zinnecker.

Executive Session
Several matters were decided in an executive (secret) session of the board. Mrs. Jacqueline Freiburger was named summer school director and an adjustment was made in the salary of Mrs. Grace Quick.

Mrs. Quick is the elementary librarian. This job called for an extra salary of $100 yearly. The board added $100 to this to bring it on a par with the extra money the high school librarian receives.

In addition, $400 was added to Mrs. Quick's salary for two years because of classes she conducts in the library. When the new school is finished, this extra amount will no longer be paid.

Summer School
Richard Carroll, commercial teacher at the school, will be paid $800 for attending six weeks of summer school.

Now serving on a temporary certificate under a Federal Aid program, Carroll needs two courses to qualify for permanent status.

Under the Federal program, 25 per cent of Carroll's salary is paid and the school also receives other money to conduct commercial courses.

Seniors Set for Trip

Fifty-eight members of Cass City High School's graduating class of over 100 will fly to Washington, D. C., May 16 for a three-day visit. They will leave Cass City early Monday morning to board a plane at Metropolitan airport at 8:15 a. m.

Their stay in the nation's capital will include tours of important and historic places, as well as entertainment including a cruise on the Potomac river and a nightclub visit. Return to Detroit will be at 6:25 Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Karen Wallace and Larry Todd, senior class sponsors, will be assisted by Richard Carroll, as chaperones for the trip.

Seniors will be back in classes May 19 and will be looking forward to the opening event of commencement, the swing-out ceremony, which is scheduled Friday, May 27, at 9 a. m.

Baccalaureate services are slated Sunday evening, May 29, with Dr. Marlon Hostetler as speaker. Graduation exercises will be held Thursday evening, June 2. The speaker will be Willard Cheek, of the General Motors Research Laboratories, at Warren.

A new plan for special education instruction is under consideration by Kingston and Cass City Schools.

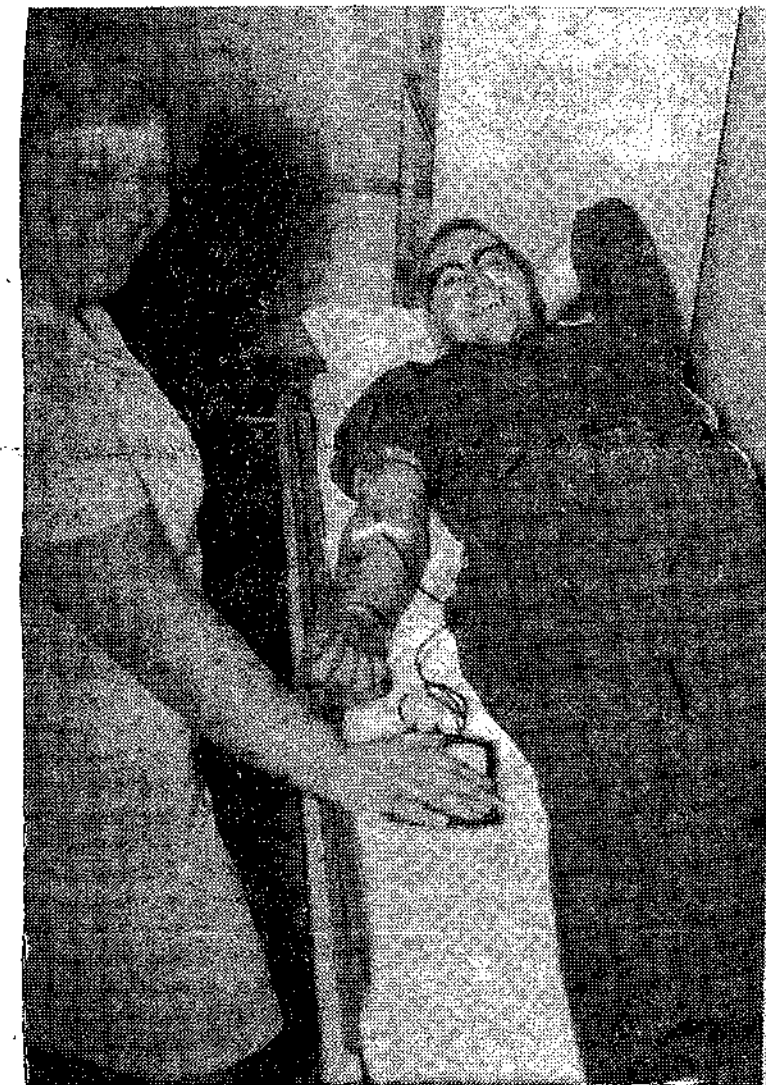

Under a plan that received a tentative okay Monday night at the regular meeting of the Cass City board, special education students will be divided according to age and transported to each school.

All students in elementary school special education at both Kingston and Cass City are taught together. It is the opinion of special education authorities that the students could receive more valuable instruction if they were divided into early elementary and later elementary classes.

With this in mind, the plans are to transport the early elementary students to Kingston and late elementary students to Cass City.

Supt. Don Crouse pointed out that it would mean more travel for the youngsters, but that the instructional advantages should outweigh the added transportation time.

Before the program is inaugurated, it will be discussed with the parents.

GIVING BLOOD doesn't bother a veteran donor like Gerald Auten. He smiles as he donates his 14th pint, maintaining his leadership at the Cass City Blood Bank.

Auten Champ Donor

O-Negative Brings Positive Results

Jerry Auten, 30, of Cass City is an unusual donor of unusual blood. Friday when the blood bank was at Hills and Dales General Hospital, the young Cass City native contributed his 14th pint of blood . . . the most any individual has given.

But the amount alone is not the only unusual feature about his donation. Auten has volunteered his blood without any of the usual reasons that prod people to take the time and trouble to give.

He is not paying back a blood debt for a friend or family member and he isn't doing it for money. I have a couple of pints in my name here, he said, but the rest has gone to help when needed.

Many of the donors at the hospital are veterans. While the Chronicle was interviewing Auten, as the biggest donor, Carl Crow came in to make another donation . . . "this makes a gallon for me," he said with a grin. Stan Guintner and Ronald Geiger, also waiting to donate, indicated that they had been to the blood bank many times before.

Auten got into donating blood almost by accident. One night about 2½ years ago Jack Smith, one of the lab technicians at the hospital, received an emergency call at the hospital during a raging snow storm.

He couldn't get out by himself so I helped get him to the hospital. While we were there he took my blood type and after that I started to give.

According to authorities, there is no rare type blood today. Although some is much more common than others. About 85 per cent of the people have positive, 15 per cent negative type blood.

Auten is O-negative, an uncommon type that has uncommon properties in that it can be used with any type blood.

Many persons remember the Auten family (wife, Donna, and three children) from last year's Centennial.

Their horse-drawn surrey and home-made Centennial costumes were one of the sensations of the event.

Less spectacular, but more important, is Auten's unstinting, unselfish service as the community's leading blood donor.

Edmund Patera, 50 Dies at Hospital

Physicians are puzzled by the exact cause of the death of Edmund Patera, 50, of Deford.

Mr. Patera strained his back in February and became paralyzed from the waist down and died Thursday in Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Mr. Patera was vice-president and general manager of Cap Screw Specialty Corp. of Mt. Clemens. Son of the late Jacob and Catherine Patera, he was born June 5, 1915, in Detroit.

He married Miss Chesterine Dulemba in Detroit Feb. 18, 1939. They lived in Detroit until 1949 when they moved to their home on Severance Road where he lived until his death.

Surviving, besides his widow, are: a son, Ronald, at home, and a brother, Rudolph, of Cass City.

Rosary was recited at 8 p. m. Sunday at Little's Funeral Home and funeral services conducted at St. Pancratius Church in Cass City Monday. The Rev. Arnold Messing officiated.

Burial was in Novesta cemetery.

Induct Honor Society Pupils Monday

By Arthur Holmberg
A tradition of more than 20 years' standing was observed at Cass City High School Monday when the annual National Honor Society induction was held as a school assembly.

Under the direction of Dave Ackerman, faculty sponsor for the society, a group of the honor students conducted the impressive candlelight ceremony. Serving as chairman was Mary Lou Spencer, 1966 Valedictorian and Merit Scholarship finalist.

Talks on the fourfold purpose of the society were given by Guy Whittaker, who spoke on Character; Richard Hartwick, this year's Salutatorian, who dealt with Scholarship; Tim Knight, who discussed Leadership; and Linda Calka, whose topic was Service.

Thirteen new members from grades 10 through 12, entered the senior society, while 21 students from grades seven through nine were made members of the junior society. Calling the roll of senior members was Jerry Knoblet, while Lynn Haire read the roster of the junior inductees. Edward Ackerman administered the oath of membership. The new members signed the scrolls bearing the signatures of 21 years of honor society members, while Guidance Counselor George Elliott presented the membership cards and certificates. Tim Knight furnished the music for the processional march.

Members of the Class of 1966 who will graduate as National Honor Society members are:

Keith Baudoin
Charles Churchill
Donald Greenleaf
Richard Hartwick

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by H. M. Bulen

What's the rarest feat in baseball? . . . It is not pitching a perfect game or even pulling off an unassisted triple play . . . Those feats have been done several times . . . But, here's the rarest of all . . . Only once in the 88-year history of major league baseball has any batter ever been able to get seven hits in a 9-inning game . . . The only man ever to do this was Wilbert Robinson, and he did it in 1892 . . . Nobody has been able to duplicate that feat in the last 72 seasons.

Almost all big league baseball stars got their start by first playing minor league ball . . . But did you know there are several top players today who never were in the minors . . . Sandy Koufax, Al Kaline and Dick Groat are some of the men who never spent one minute playing minor league baseball.

Here's a real sports teaser for you . . . Of all the heavyweight boxing champions in history, only one ever attended college . . . Can you guess which one? . . . Many people might say Gene Tunney, but that's not right . . . The only heavyweight champ who ever went to college was John L. Sullivan.

Tell Cheerleaders For Junior and Senior High

The Cass City High School annual try-outs for cheerleaders were held during the past week. Girls were selected for their personalities, expression of enthusiasm and leadership abilities.

The following girls were elected by a panel of judges: Varsity - Brenda Powell, Rose Fritz, Kelly Pine, Linda Calka and Sherry Matlack. Kathy Mark will be the alternate. Junior Varsity - Barbara MacRae, Pat Sawicki, Mona Calka, Linda Brown and Sally Geiger. Jill Auten will be the alternate.

The Junior High cheering staff has been enlarged this year, for more active participation in the program. The following girls were elected: Eighth grade - Mary Jane Croft, Sherry Bacon, Lynn Johnston, Jan Glaspie, and Janet Weipert. Betsy Hostetler will be the alternate. Seventh grade - Mary Powell, Linda Zawilinski, Diane Asher, Maria Martin and Romayne Bassett. Barbara Crow is the alternate.

Mrs. Shirley Bifoss, advisor, stated that she hopes to have all girls interested in cheering but not on a squad, incorporated into an intramural group which will promote enthusiasm for the freshman basketball program.

Gagetown Views Water-Project

The Gagetown Village Council completed plans for the community's water project with Frank DeBerker, a representative from an engineering firm in Birmingham, at a council meeting Monday night, May 2.

The project includes new water mains and the erection of a storage tank above the ground. Total cost of the project has been estimated at $120,000.

The village has some $3,000 available for the work and is seeking Federal aid.

In other business, C. H. King was granted $25 a month for maintenance and repairs on the Gagetown police car.

To 1923 when Louise Lathrup Kelley conceived the development and acquired the land to start the village.

A complete utility plant costing several millions of dollars was needed to the city by Mrs. Kelley. The city has continued to grow as she planned it.

Lathrup Village boasts of being the only city in the world with all of its homes built of brick, stone or masonry, each with an attached garage.

Despite the traditional high costs of suburban living, the city held village taxes to 12 mills as late as 1965 and the amount included just 7.5 mills for operating.

The 13-mill total included debt retirement for water and sanitary sewer, tap-in fees and special rubbish collection.

While city tax rates are low, school taxes are sky high when compared to Cass City. A total of 44.15 mills is raised for schools and an additional 1.15 to special education.

Girl Scouts in Fly-up Ceremony

The Girl Scouts of Troop 272 entertained at an investiture and fly-up ceremony, Brownies Troop 170, its leader, Mrs. George Elliott, and Mrs. Charles Tuckey, committee mother. The ceremonies took place Thursday, May 5, at the home of Mrs. Evans Parrott.

The Brownies received their wings from Mrs. Elliott as they left the Brownie ring and flew up to Junior Girl Scouting. The girls were presented their Girl Scout pins by Mrs. Evans Parrott, Junior leader, and Mrs. Aiden Asher, assistant leader.

Brownies receiving wings and pins were: Dorothy Schwartz, Carolina Richardson, Peggy Asher, Nancy Koepfen, Cathy Kerbyson, Wanetta Morse, Cynthia Guernsey, Marie Pena, Cindy Tuckey and Cheryl O'Harris.

Punch and cookies were served.

Troop 272 Fly-Up
The Junior Girl Scouts of Troop 113 were hostesses Thursday, May 5, at a fly-up ceremony held in the Scout Rooms.

The following 12 Brownie Scouts of Troop 247 received Brownie wings and trefoil pins:

Lori Arroyo, Sandra Doyen, Joan Erla, Marlene Fisher, Nancy Greenwood, Sheryl Guc, Santra Hartel, Carol Little, Grace MacDonald, Becky Peters, Debra Petrone, and Debra Selby.

Their leader, Mrs. Richard Greenwood, was assisted by Mrs. George Fisher Jr.

Nineteen Junior Scouts received membership stars for a year of Scouting and Debbie Skinner joined the troop.

The leaders are Mrs. Robert Ryland and Mrs. Don Koepfen.

Mrs. K. I. MacRae, neighborhood chairman, was a special guest.

Methodist Men In Spring Rally

The Methodist Men's Spring Rally of the Port Huron District will be held this year at the Cass City Methodist Church and some 200 men are expected to attend.

The session starts at 3 p. m. Sunday, May 15, and is concluded with a dinner program starting at 6 p. m.

Highlight of the event will be an address by the Rev. David Jordan of Berea Methodist church of Highland Park.

At 3:30 p. m. various workshops will be conducted for lay leaders, stewardship and other committees connected with the church.

Thinclads Post Best Times of Year at Oscoda

Cass City finished ninth in an 11-team Class B field in the heavily competitive Oscoda Invitational Saturday.

Despite the relatively low position in the standings, Coach John Bifoss was pleased with the team's performance. He said that the team lowered most of its running times.

Phil Nichols was third in the long jump with a leap of 20 feet, 1/2 inch. Karl Weippert was fifth in the low hurdles with a time of 22 seconds.

Earlier last week, the Hawks started their improvement by placing second in a triangular meet at Cass City Tuesday, May 3. The score was: Vassar, 54 1/2; Cass City, 54, and Bad Axe 24 1/2.

It was the closest the Hawks have come to winning a meet this year.

Cass City piled up firsts in four events. Nichols was first in the long jump and high jump. Dean Stine won the 120-yard high hurdles and Karl Weippert copped the 130-yard low hurdles.

Other events where points were won were: pole vault, Dick McRae, second; 880-yard relay, second; 20-yard low hurdles, Dennis Stine, second; 100-yard dash, Dick McRae, second; 180-low hurdles, Dean Stine, second, and Tom Guinther, fourth; mile relay, second.

Other point winners were: Tom Guinther, third, long jump; Larry Kolb, third, shot put; Randy Aleksink, third, high jump; Wade Strace, fourth, mile; Jack Selby, third, 880; Gary Volmar, third, and Larry Hartwick, fourth, 440; Tom Guinther, fourth, 180-low hurdles, and Karl Weippert, fourth, 220.

Errors Ruin Hawks In Loop Baseball

Errors have plagued the efforts of Cass City High School's baseball team in its games in the Thumb B Conference this year.

The Hawks lost three of their first four loop games to eliminate them from the conference race.

Their most recent loop loss was to Bad Axe, 9-3. Don Fredericks of Bad Axe outdueled Dave Schember of Cass City for the win.

However, the Hawk hurler was much better than the score indicated. He gave up only three hits and walked four while not allowing an earned run. But 11 Cass City errors made it a walk-away for the Hatchets.

Fredericks hurled a strong game, limiting Cass City to one hit.

Cass City's lone victory was posted over Frankenthuth. Al Zawilinski received credit for the 11-10 win. Both teams hit freely in the contest with Cass City picking up 10 safeties while the Eagles countered with 11. The Hawks made only three errors to six for Frankenthuth to win the game. John Maharg and Phil Gray led the attack with two hits each.

Monday, May 2, Vassar routed the Hawks in a battle of errors, 15-7. Cass City was guilty of 13 infractions while the Vulcans were charged with six misplays. Tom Kelley went the distance for Cass City and allowed just three earned runs.

In the opening game of the season, the Hawks bowed to the Lakers, 4-3.

In Tourney

Although Cass City is out of the conference race, the club is still very much alive in the area tournament.

In the opening game the Hawks downed tough Flint Bentley, 6-5, to qualify for Saturday's regional round at Swartz Creek.

Wayne Copeland pitched and batted the Hawks to victory. He went the distance and scattered seven hits and slammed out two circuit clouts in the victory. His teammates helped out by cutting their errors to three in what Coach John Oswald called the club's best game of the year.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

VOLUME 60, NUMBER 4

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN THURSDAY, MAY 12, 1966

Coming Auctions

Saturday, May 14 - Frank Zagorski will sell a complete line of farm machinery at the premises five miles east and one-half mile north of Kinde school on Tomlinson Rd.

Saturday, May 14 - The Cass City Lutheran Church will sell at auction five buildings, to be moved from the premises, at the east village limits of Cass City.

Saturday, May 21 - Mrs. Gary Kelley will sell farm machinery and household goods at the premises six miles east and 1 1/4 miles south of Uby on Polk Rd.

LIBRARY BOOKS

Q. Is there any danger of contracting an infectious disease by handling library books?

A. There may be some danger, but the risk of infection from library books is very slight. If a book is allowed to stand open in a warm atmosphere most vegetative bacteria and viruses will die in time, though this process may take several weeks.

TANGERINE A DAY KEEPS...

Q. What's new for colds?

A. Tangerines may be, Scientists at the University of Florida recently reported that eating tangerines can give some relief after development of a cold. Tangerines contain synephrine, a nasal decongestant. So — tangerine juice may be "just what the doctor ordered" for a runny nose. This is the only thing "new" about colds that we have run across in recent months.

The personal interest we take in the health of those we serve is of equal importance with the professional skill we put in the dispensing of prescribed medicine.

OFFICERS FOR THE year for Cass City's Business and Professional Women were installed Wednesday night, May 4, at the club's regular meeting in Cass City.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Was That Good?

- - Not Necessarily

Marion Hostetler

B. J. Wallace of Arma, Inc. says there are three possible answers to any question: Yes, No, and Not Necessarily.

Let's apply that to Dale Carnegie's idea that everybody's favorite sound is the sound of his own name. If you want to win friends and influence people, according to Mr. Carnegie, call every person you meet by name as often as you can. Is that true? Not necessarily. There are at least two men in town by the name of Billie. Not William, but Billie. I get the impression that they are not too happy about that name. They'd rather be called Bill or "B. K." or "B. J." or something. Or take my own name: Marion. When I write to people who don't know me, half of the replies come back addressed to "Miss Marion Hostetler."

Is that bad? Not necessarily. When I was in high school I entered an essay contest about the Declaration of Independence. Two winners from each county in Ohio were to receive a free trip to Philadelphia. Finally the letter came from the sponsors, saying that I had won a trip . . . and that I had been assigned a berth in a Pullman car reserved for all the girls who were winners!

Was that good? Not necessarily. I was such a gentleman that I wrote back and told them they'd better place me in the boys' car instead.

What would you think of "Not Necessarily" as a tag line for this column? My constant readers will recall that John Haire started it off as "Marion's Musings." That wasn't so popular with me, so I suggested "Hostetler's Hodgepodge." When I lived in Huron county I used "Thumbnail Sketches." Or do any of these appeal to you: Neighbors of Mine, Here Today-- Views and Interviews, Ham on Wry, Inklings, Tales Out of School, Sense and Nonsense, Heard and Overheard, Grassroots and Stubble?

Drop a postcard to the Chronicle or give me a phone call and let us know which one sends you. Or if you can think of a better one, I'll pay $2.37 for the title I use. Plus all that recognition.

Here's a tip for the Investment Club: "Fertilizer stocks are growthy." That may sound like an agribusiness pun, but it is actually intended to be a piece of sound advice from the investment firm of Goodbody and Co. The reasoning behind it, of course, is that farmers are using more and more fertilizer. And if we ever perfect a system of distribution that can transfer our surpluses to the needy areas of the world, still more fertilizer can be profitably utilized. The same company recommends Lennox China and Gorham Silver in this decade of eager brides and affluent fathers.

Each investor will have to decide for himself whether to take this tip seriously or not. It came to me from Gerald Kercher, a Registered Representative of Goodbody and Co., by way of his wife, who is the mother of half of Lyle Koepfgen's grandchildren.

When I'm in a good mood I have strength of character. At other times I'm just plain stubborn. This may go back to the fact that my father had a pretty strong will himself.

His mother used to treasure a picture taken when he was a small boy. In those days a photograph was no casual snapshot; it involved getting dressed up and going to a photographic studio. The photographer put his small subject on a table in order to get the best light, and started to shove his feet around to get him into a good pose. But the kid grabbed his high buttoned shoe away from this stranger who was taking liberties with him, and said indignantly, "Mein Fuss." Fritz Neitzel will recognize this as Pennsylvania Dutch for "My foot." The alert photographer quickly snapped the shutter, and his prompt action captured the beligerent look for posterity.

So sometimes when Dad insisted on having his own way, Mother would gently murmur, "Mein Fuss." It's a good thing my Helen can't speak Pennsylvania Dutch.

Mrs. L. Guinther

Jr. Club Prexy

The April meeting of the Cass City Junior Woman's Club began with a tour of Mrs. James Bauer's home and paintings.

Election of officers was held with Mrs. Lawrence Guinther named president. Mrs. Dwayne Peters is first vice-president, Mrs. James Jenkins, second vice-president, Mrs. Ronald Walker, secretary, and Mrs. Barry Miller, treasurer.

Mrs. Peters was presented an award as the best calendar saleswoman of the year. Mrs. Robert Schott was installed as a new member.

A White Elephant sale was held after the meeting and refreshments were served by Mrs. Ronald Walker, hostess.

You should exercise extra caution while driving during a light shower, safety specialists warn. Highways are slicker than during a heavy rain because road oil and grease "float" on the surface of the moisture. A downpour washes them away.

Isolated buildings are in more danger of lightning damage than city houses because multiple points tend to disperse the destructive force. The same "safety in numbers" principle makes dense forests acceptable shelter.

Nine Qualify in President's Fitness Program

TOO FAST FOR THE CAMERAMAN was Anne Bulen, left, as she won one of the running events in the presidential physical fitness contest Saturday at the park. Lynn Atwell stays close on her heels in the event. (Chronicle photo)

Nine girls from among 45 from Cass City Schools qualified for the presidential physical fitness award Saturday at Cass City Recreational Park in a program conducted by the school's junior and senior high physical education department in conjunction with the president's council on physical fitness.

To win the award the girls must qualify in each of seven events. Passing every test were: Cindy Strickland, Kathy Hillaker, Judy Snear, all 13 years old; Sally Geiger and Brenda Periso, 14, and Cindy McClorey, 12. Others were Pam Randall and Lynn Haire, both 15, and Vivian Englehart, 14.

Supervising the event were Mrs. Jon Fahrner and Mrs. John Bifoss.

Test items for the girls included situps, shuttle run, standing broad jump, 50-yard dash, softball throw, 600-yard run and flexed-arm hang.

In other events involving the department it was announced that four girls from each department would attend a gymnastic workshop at Delta College Saturday.

Give your clothespins a good sudsy bath now and then. Put them in water to which a little liquid bleach has been added. Rinse well and place on a large turkish towel to dry. You will prevent soiled marks on your fresh laundry.

ALTHOUGH INTENT on qualifying these girls seem to be enjoying the exercise as they qualify in another event in the afternoon's competition. (Chronicle photo)

Beets Require Extra Effort, Make Extra Profits—Kebler

By Don Kebler
Regardless of your reasons for not raising sugar beets or for reducing your acreage in this high value cash crop, don't sell sugar beets or yourself short.

Sure, sugar beets require some extras in management and possibly risks compared to some other cash crops grown but the extra reward is there to more than compensate for the extras.

How do I figure this? I don't, the Telfarm cooperators have done it for us and we take it from their total Telfarm annual business analysis.

What did the business analysis for these cash crop operators show for the 1965 year? It showed that these cash crop operators who farmed at least 210 to 220 tillable acres per man, who grossed an average of 110 to 120 dollars in average crop value per tillable acre, who had a machinery investment of 50 dollars or less per tillable acre, and had a gross cash and non-cash expense of 90 to 110 dollars per tillable acre were in top shape for the year. These cash crop operators will bounce back real easily with a normal crop year.

Right here I must point out that these top cash crop operators had at least 70 per cent of their tillable acres into row crop production. Also all of them grew sugar beets.

This illustrates why you should not sell sugar beets short. For instance, it takes 110 to 120 bushels of shelled corn at $1 per bushel; 28 to 30 bushels of navy beans at $4 per bushel; 80 bushels of barley at $1.25, and 65 to 70 bushels of wheat at $1.70 per bushel to give an average crop value of $110 to $120 per acre. Sixteen tons of sugar beets at $12.20 per ton will give you a crop value of nearly $200 per tillable acre.

With these facts in mind, can you as a cash crop operator grow enough oats, wheat, barley, corn and navy beans to return an average crop value per acre of from 110 to 120 dollars per acre? You know that crop value per tillable acre is not the entire answer either. But, if you as a cash crop operator can realize a gross crop return of $120 to $130 for each $100 gross expenses, you set a good standard. Your business ranks in the upper one-third of the farm businesses.

Let's look at this another way. Using the same market value of the crops listed above and yields of 100 bushels corn, 50 bushel wheat, 27 bushel navy beans on $600 bare land value. By the time you deduct both cash and non-cash costs from these respective crops, you should find it requires about one and three quarters acres of navy beans, two and one-half acres of corn and three and one-half acres of wheat to give you the same return above total cash and non-cash costs as one acre of sugar beets yielding 16 tons per acre. I have not said anything about feed oats at 90 bushels per acre yield with a market value of 65 cents per bushel. Returns above total costs for this above oat crop will be about a negative $8 to $9 per acre.

With this farmer-based information in evidence, you ask yourself, "Should I sell sugar beets short and myself also by not raising this crop?" Here again only you can make this decision - remembering also that sugar beets is not a surplus cash crop.

Grifka Completes Marine Course

Marine Private Ronald J. Grifka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grifka of Snover, has completed individual combat training here.

The four-week course included over 200 hours of instruction under simulated combat conditions, covering squad tactics, guerrilla warfare, day and night combat, patrolling and the use of infantry weapons.

His next stop is four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field. Marines to be assigned to infantry units will be taught infantry sub-specialties, such as the machine gun, grenade launcher, rifle or mortar. Marines to be assigned to highly technical specialties will be sent to military technical schools for their specialist training.

Leathernecks bound for the Pacific will receive more training when they report to the Staging Battalion at Camp Pendleton, Calif. This training will emphasize jungle warfare, patrolling, and civic action based on experience gained in Vietnam.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I see by the papers where the U. S. Department of Commerce has come out with a new survey showing 25 per cent of all Americans was spending more than they was making. Furthermore, this piece said the Government was setting up a agency to advise Americans how to keep their family budget balanced.

What we got here, Mister Editor, is a rock trying to teach a duck how to swim.

One hundred per cent of the Government lives higher than its budget, so I figger the 25 per cent of the people that spends more than they was making had ought to git a medal for following the Government example. I heard a feller say once that if we wanted to make sure crime didn't pay, we ought to let the Government run it.

I was reading where one Congressman was complaining that the people didn't know the difference between a deficit of strength and a deficit of weakness. I ain't much hand for figgers but a deficit of strength must be like the ad I saw in the papers where you could borrow enough from one loan company to git complete out of debt. And a deficit of weakness must be where you borrow more than you owe.

The Government has got out a book called "U. S. Government Benefits," and it lists 2,000 ways the Government helps us. I was telling this to the fellers at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle claimed that book was already out of date, that we must have 3,000 ways by now. He reported he had saw in the papers where the Human Relations Commission in one state was gitting $200,000 a year from the Office of Economic Opportunity to run a 55-hour course of lectures and field trips to improve understanding between police officers and the pore folks. They got a teaching staff of 22 and they was 1,200 taking the course. The piece said it worked out where the folks taking the course would git $4 a hour fer listening and the teaching staff $6 a hour fer teaching. Ed figgered the pay scale had ought to be the other way around.

Bug Hookum allowed as how we should not worry about these little matters in the $200,000 bracket, said he had saw where our Congressmen was spending $5.9 million this year on junkets traveling all over the world.

Zeke Grubb reported he had saw where the U. S. Commerce Department announced the total public and private debt in this country fer 1965 was $1.17 trillion and averaged $25,000 per average family unit in America.

Clem Webster said he wasn't worrying none about his $25,000, that the Great Society was taking care of his part. And there you have it, Mister Editor.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

A skid-proof table makes an excellent surface for cutting out patterns - the fabric won't slip as you work.

Material left over from making a dress or other garment that isn't suitable for a quilt can be used in crocheted or braided rugs. If you use new material in the rugs, they will wear longer.

Do not make quilts too full when trimming aprons. They take a lot of material, are very hard to iron, and do not look as pretty as those less full.

4-H Agent Accepts Position at MSU

The Cooperative Extension Service this week announced the transfer of Carroll "Jake" Wamhoff, Extension 4-H Youth Agent for the tri-county Thumb area since October 1, 1965. Mr. Wamhoff will become program assistant on the state 4-H club staff at Michigan State University on June 1st of this year. He will also do graduate work at Michigan State University toward the Ph. D. Degree.

Carroll Wamhoff

Wamhoff received his BS from Michigan State University in 1959 and taught vocational agriculture at Ubly for two years. In July of 1961 he joined the Cooperative Extension Service as Huron County's 4-H Club Agent and served in that capacity until October 1, 1965, when he was transferred to the tri-county area position. He received his Masters Degree in Adult Education from MSU in 1964.

Wamhoff has given freely of his time and talents to the people of Huron County and the Thumb Area. He has stressed training of adult leaders, youth camping activities, and participation in district and state 4-H leadership events. The County 4-H Service Club has been very active under his guidance.

Wamhoff has been active in community and professional organizations. He has been an officer of Our Savior Lutheran Church, Bad Axe, and an active member of the Bad Axe Rotary Club. He has also been a member of the Thumb Social Service Club and a director of the Michigan Association of County 4-H Club Agents.

Kindergartners Fete Mothers at Tea

The kindergarten classes of Cass City Schools entertained their mothers at a Mother's Day tea Friday, May 6.

Each room presented a program of songs which they had learned throughout the year and mothers were given a flower and stationery folder which the students had made.

In the cafeteria, coffee and tea were served. Mrs. Paul Murray, elementary school principal, poured from the silver service which was purchased by the students in memory of Mrs. Gladys Hutchinson, former head cook at the school cafeteria. Mrs. A. J. Stevens served punch to the children.

An electric water heater is for the people who don't like to run out of hot water. We're so sure you'll like one, we guarantee your satisfaction—for a whole year! What do we mean by satisfaction? Simply this: If you don't get all the hot water you want, when you want it, you get all your money back, including any you may have spent on installation. And it doesn't matter where you bought your electric water heater. The Edison guarantee still applies. No strings attached. Fair enough?

SOIL STEWARDSHIP WEEK MAY 15-22, 1966

"Consider Countryside, Consider It Well."

Soil Stewardship Week will be May 15 to May 22, this year in the Tuscola Soil Conservation District in conjunction with more than 3,000 other Districts throughout the United States. Paul Findlay, District Director and Chairman of the Soil Stewardship committee, announced today.

The Theme this year is "Crisis in the Countryside" pointing up the fact that the Earth is the Lord's. The Tuscola District is furnishing bulletin inserts to all interested churches in the District. These inserts emphasize the idea that all people, not just the farmers, should "consider the countryside, consider it well", Findlay explained.

The Tuscola District is asking that all ministers take time from their busy schedules to consider with their people the importance of considering the countryside, which is the masterpiece of God's creation.

Ten Vie for Three

Ten candidates selected by community Farm Bureaus in Tuscola County are slated for interviews by a panel of judges May 24.

From the group, three will be chosen to participate in the 3rd annual Young People's Citizenship Seminar, July 11-15, at Camp Kett. Sponsoring the local students to the seminar are the women's group and the young people's committee of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau.

The seminar will cover four major topics: Americanism, communism, our private enterprise economic system and participation in political parties. Students were selected for their interest in this area and leadership ability.

Candidates and their sponsoring groups include: Jerome Lewis,

Holstein Breeders

Schedule Shows

Holstein breeders in Michigan plan to conduct six regional "black and white" shows prior to the State show July 29.

Region 1, which includes Huron, Lapeer, Macomb, Sanilac, St. Clair and Tuscola counties, will hold its sale July 14 at Sandusky.

Premium money will be paid at the same rate as at the state show.

Regional officers are: President, Dolan Sweeney of Uliby; vice-president, Ed O'Mara of Carsonville, and secretary-treasurer, Russell Newell of Yale.

Automobile Deaths in State Can Be Analyzed Two Ways

Better or Worse? Figures don't lie it is said, but it has been shown time and again that for every situation a given set of figures can be found to "prove" almost any point.

Such is the case with traffic accident rates in Michigan. The bare figures record 310,538 "traffic accidents" in Michigan last year with 155,258 injured and 2,129 killed. Taken alone the figures represent record highs.

Measuring the totals against the number of miles driven in Michigan, however, suggests the accident situation is not as bad as it seems.

Official statistics in this area of record-keeping show a death rate of 5.2 per 100 million vehicle miles driven. This was down from 5.5 the previous year, and below the 5.8 national rate.

Michigan's traffic death rate has shown general decline constantly since 1935 when the rate was 16.3 per million vehicle miles.

Another way to look at it, the 2,129 persons killed count has been topped only twice.

And while the number of vehicles on the road increased 20 per cent in the past five years and mileage estimates show a 27 per cent boost, the casualty count shows an astounding increase of 66 per cent. The accident count has grown by 55 per cent.

The year 1965 was the second consecutive in which more than 2,000 persons died on Michigan roads. Every death is a great personal loss and economic loss. Everything possible should be done to improve this record.

Anti-Poison Drive

A poison-consciousness drive by the Michigan Pharmaceutical Association got a legal, if tardy, boost when a new law took effect regarding labeling of household products.

The association conducted an educational program during National Poison Prevention Week in March. It was highlighted by the distribution of kits containing two vital antidotes for poison.

In April when the bulk of the 1965 laws took effect, a new labeling law was among them. It requires the labeling with "Keep out of the reach of children" on many potentially hazardous substances commonly found in the home.

Included are ammonia, cleaning materials, flammable materials, polishes, paint thinners and many other toxic substances.

Hundreds of children are killed or seriously injured each year because of their curiosity and the carelessness of adults in storing such items. Keeping all such dangerous substances under lock and key would be the best protection against injuries, of course, but this would be difficult to legislate.

Next best things, it is believed, is a visible word of warning and periodic reminders of the dangers often found in constant presence in the home.

The association's campaign also included a check list for making the home poison-proof. Medicines should be stored in a locked place, flushed down the drain when no longer usable, and never referred to as candy.

In addition, all cleaning supplies should be stored out of a child's reach and kept in their original containers.

Camping, with or without electricity and hot-and-cold running water, continues to gain sharply in popularity each year.

In an attempt to meet the increased demand for campsites, the State Conservation Department reports some 1,700 spots have been added in the past year. This brings the total now available to more than 17,300.

The sites are located in 65 state parks and recreation areas, 139 state forest campgrounds, 86 national forest campgrounds, and 60 county, township and city parks.

Campers' tastes vary. So do types of sites available throughout the state.

State parks generally offer the most "complete" facilities: bath houses, flush toilets, electricity and concession stands. At the other end of the convenience scale are the state and national forest campgrounds with pit toilets, picnic tables, fireplaces and a water supply.

Many find camping to be the most inexpensive form of vacation travel once the initial equipment investment is made. Some of the campgrounds in Michigan and other states are free. Even the most expensive spots in Michigan involve only a nominal fee, such as the $2 annual state park permit, plus $1.50 a day per campsite and the optional 50 cents per day if electricity is used.

If you have a skirt that is too tight around the waist, remove the band, turn down, and stitch on a strip of grosgrain ribbon. This will add an inch or two, according to how much you turn down.

To clean sneakers, use a scrub brush dipped in detergent and water, then in dry baking soda. To dry sneakers without puckers, stretch them on shoe trees.

Agent's Corner

Barbara Henrikson

Spring days start thoughts of beachcombing. Any mother who has taken a child to the beach knows how many lovely things he can collect.

It's difficult to teach a child that you can't collect all the beautiful shells on the beach.

There are some you can't reach, some you can't find, some that are on another's land. Still you end up with far too many to carry home. Then comes the moment of truth. The child is told he may only take one small boxful home.

He must be shown how to judge, how to evaluate. Out with the cracked ones, the dull ones, the mediocre ones. Which is more valuable to him, a huge one or seven small ones? The delicately etched lines, or the one with glowing mother-of-pearl lining?

Deciding what to keep is a necessary lesson to everyone. The wise mother teaches a child early to make decisions.

Abiding by his decision is perhaps the most important part.

It reminds mother, too, that she has decisions to make, and that living with the verdict isn't always easy.

If you want your toasted cheese sandwiches to taste out-of-this-world, fry them very slowly in hot butter in a heavy skillet. When the bread is toasted, the cheese should be at least partly melted.

NON-STOP FORAGE TEAM

Handle hay or silage non-stop with a Gehl Self-Unloading Forage Box and Hi-Throw Blower . . . any crop, any size silo

New Gehl Box is 7-ft.-wide and the toughest, safest built. Safety bar, across the front, stops all unloading with the touch of a hand. Two rear-unloading options: low-cost bale unloader for lighter-weight materials, or silage unloader. Plus . . . a box size for every need, ruggedness for years of big-job crop hauling.

recessed wheels for easier positioning of forage box; and "quick-touch" leveling adjustment for fast, easy set-up on uneven ground.

LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION SCHOOL ELECTION

NOTICE OF LAST DAY OF REGISTRATION OF THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF CASS CITY PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, Michigan
TO THE QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF SAID SCHOOL DISTRICT:

Please Take Notice that the Annual Election of said School District will be held on Monday, June 13, 1966.

Section 532 of the School Code of 1955 provides as follows:

"The inspectors of election at any annual or special election shall not receive the vote of any person residing in a registration school district whose name is not registered as an elector in the city or township in which he resides . . ."

THE LAST DAY on which persons may register with the appropriate township clerks, in order to be eligible to vote at said annual school election called to be held on Monday, June 13, 1966, is May 16, 1966. Persons registering after 5:00 o'clock, p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on the said Monday, May 16, 1966, are not eligible to vote at said annual school election.

Under the provisions of the School Code of 1955, registrations will not be taken by school officials and only persons who have registered as general electors with the township clerk of the township in which they reside are registered school electors. Persons planning to register with the respective township clerks must ascertain the days and hours on which the clerks' offices are open for registration.

This Notice is given by order of the Board of Education of Cass City Public Schools, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac Counties, Michigan.

BOOK REVIEW

Meets All The Standards Of A Good Novel

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

Jesse Stuart is the author of nearly twenty-five books, not counting another five written for juvenile reading. It is extremely unusual, in the world of books, for a writer of books for adults to also be interested and able in writing for youngsters as well. Probably Stuart's best-known book (it was also made into a movie) is Taps. For Private Tussie. With the sole exception being Daughter of The Legend, which we are reviewing this week, his books have all been set in his native Kentucky hill country.

This is the first novel that I've read in a long time that meets the dual standards that I set for a good novel: a good plot and a readable style. Its 249 pages seem more like 149 pages or even just 49 pages to the reader, who never has to stop to recall how, what he has just finished reading, ties in with what he has already read. When interruption tears you away from this novel, you are able to recall the plot with ease.

By readable style, I mean that this book is uncluttered with long descriptive passages. Instead, relying on always personal dialogue. If there is any purpose in this book, other than that of entertaining, it might have been written with our nation's present racial strife in the back of his mind. If Stuart was attempting to write a tract for our times (with the Melungeons taking over the role of the Negro), he never allows his convictions to interfere with his story-telling.

The story is narrated by Dave, a young lumberjack, and native of the Virginia mountains. He has come to Centwell County in Tennessee to cut lumber with his partner, Ben Dewberry. These two boys had grown up together and cut lumber together for seven years. A pair of older men share the cabin with them.

The two long-term friends fell in love at almost the same moment; Ben with the County nurse, Fern, and Dave with Deutsia (the Daughter of The Legend, referred to in the title of the book.) Deutsia was a Melungeon, a strange clan of mountaineers, about whom nobody knew very much. The valley people believed almost any tale and retold all sorts of legends about the Melungeons, to whom the merchants were happy to sell but not to drink or eat with. Dave was made aware of the many pressures against Deutsia's people almost from the first moment of their courtship. Ben tried to "talk some sense" into Dave, which ended with a bloody fight between them. Dave moved out of the cabin.

The quarrel is not patched up between the old friends until nearly the end of the book when Fern comes to help deliver Deutsia's baby. Deutsia died in childbirth. Ben had married long since the County nurse and came to Dave's home with his wife.

Dave had made many things of wood for the Melungeons, including wooden bath tubs, gun stocks, children's games, and coffins. Days and hours spent happily by Dave and Deutsia as they await the birth of their child, are shared with the reader. Dave leaves the mountain and his adopted kinfolk and his child as he goes out to find himself.

I enjoyed this book immensely; both in the tale and in the comprehension of his characterizations of a persecuted but happy people. If you are ready for an interesting book, which doesn't take too much time to read, borrow the Daughter Of The Legend. You'll like it as I did.

Daughter Of The Legend by Jesse Stuart, McGraw-Hill Book Company, New York, 1965. Available from the Elkland Township and Cass City library.

Nazarene Church Slates Services

The Cass City Church of the Nazarene will start revival services May 12 which will be held through May 22. The services are at 7:30 p. m. each evening.

The Rev. R. L. Rich of Fort Wayne, Ind., is the evangelist. He has more than 25 years experience as pastor, evangelist and camp meeting preacher in many states. Special music will be provided each evening.

Pastor Richard Spencer and congregation extend a welcome to the public to attend.

The majority of back troubles result from unsafe lifting acts. Safety experts recommend that men should not lift over 75 pounds, or half their weight, whichever is less, and women should not lift over 35 pounds without help.

Personal News and Notes from Gagetown

WSC Meeting—

The final spring meeting for members and guests of the Gagetown Woman's Study Club was held Friday evening with a luncheon at the Sherwood Forest Country Club. State Representative from the 84th district, Harry Rohls of Akron, showed slides of countries in Europe.
