

Set Final Rites for Curtis, Clark

Stoll, Fritz Mending From Crash Injuries

What action to take in the head-on collision that claimed two lives and injured two others Monday morning on M-81, two miles west of Cass City had not yet been decided Wednesday morning by police authorities.

Sheriff Hugh Marr said that he expected the investigation to be completed Wednesday and the facts submitted to the prosecuting attorney for decision.

Killed instantly were Miss Diana Curtis, 17, of Deford and Howard F. Clark, 24, of Cass City.

Injured were Kenneth Stoll, 18, driver of one of the cars, and Thomas A. Fritz, 26, of Pontiac, driver of the second vehicle. According to Dr. H. T. Donahue who administered emergency treatment, Stoll suffered from severe lacerations of the face, chin, nose and forehead and was in shock.

The lacerations required about 100 stitches, Dr. Donahue said. Stoll was showing improvement

Tuesday. He was able to sit up in bed at Hills and Dales General Hospital and his condition is no longer critical.

Fritz suffered a severe sprain of his wrist and left knee. In addition, he has several bruised ribs in the chest area and suffered from shock. He has been discharged from the hospital.

Although police had not yet questioned Fritz concerning the accident Wednesday, they reported that preliminary investigation revealed that Stoll was driving west on M-81 and Fritz was traveling east. Damage to the cars indicated that the right front of both vehicles collided.

The impact sent the Stoll car some 200 feet into a field. Miss Curtis was seated in the middle of the front seat of the car and Clark was in the right front seat.

Police were notified of the crash when Stoll staggered to the home of Ed Golding Sr. and was found unconscious on the floor of the porch. Golding notified the police.

The deaths raised the county's traffic death toll for the year to nine.

Clark Funeral

Funeral services were held Wednesday at Watrousville Methodist Church for Clark. The Rev. Carter Preston, pastor, officiated and burial was in Watrousville cemetery.

Clark was born in Cass City July 1908. He was 24 years old.

Sweeney Not Driver In Two Accidents

Last week's issue of the Chronicle issued a report of an accident involving Franklin Sweeney, 19, of Uby that inadvertently gave the impression that Sweeney was driving his car when involved in two accidents.

While the cars were wrecked in both accidents Sweeney was not driving at the time of the first accident.

The Huron County Sheriff's report shows that the Sweeney car was legally parked and Franklin Sweeney was not in it when the crash occurred Nov. 27.

The car was hit by Harold Whear who said he looked up and saw the car parked on South Port Crescent Street.

The Chronicle regrets the error.

Horses.. A Love Affair that Doesn't Flicker

By Marion Hostetler

A clandestine meeting with an undertaker and a horse about a half century ago started a love affair that has lasted through the years and promises to be continued in the foreseeable future.

The undertaker was Angus MacPhail and the object of affection was not a pretty young lady but the horse itself.

The incident goes back to the days when Lyle Koepfgen was trying to break into harness racing and his father objected.

"My father thought racing was foolishness," says Lyle Koepfgen. "But he had a friend named Angus MacPhail, an undertaker, who was wild about horse racing. Angus knew I was interested in horses, and one day he said to me, 'I know where we can get a good horse. Let's go and try him out tonight!'"

So I went with him after dark. We hitched the horse to a buggy and drove him down the road in the darkness. He seemed to be going pretty fast, so we decided to buy him in partnership. We hitched him behind the car and started off, and it was almost morning by the time we got him home. Dad stormed when he saw what we had done, but Angus whispered to me, 'I'll take care of him.' I don't know what he said, but Dad didn't object any more after that, and I've been at it ever since."

And ever since then there have been horses and children on the farm on Koepfgen Road west of Cass City.

Donald Koepfgen, Lyle's son, is already a well-known horseman and his children are following in the family tradition. Among them, the five youngest Koepfgens now have three saddle

Turner Chucks Top Job for Lifetime Ambition

By Art Randall

At the time in life when most persons are thinking about the coming twilight years and planning on retirement Clayton Turner of Flushing, formerly of Cass City, embarked on a whole new career at a substantial reduction in salary. Turner is 40 years old.

Turner has been appointed vocational director of four Flint area schools. The schools combined to receive Federal reimbursements to offer a better vocational program. The four cooperating schools are Fenton, Lake Fenton, Holly and Linden. Here students will be Clayton Turner offered co-op vocational courses. Academic training is presented in the morning and in the afternoon on the job training starts. Four different areas of industrial arts will be covered. Scheduled to begin in September, they include an office procedures co-op, a trade and industry co-op, a distributive (retailing) co-op, and a health co-op.

Turner stated that most large schools have programs similar to this but what makes this program unique is that it is the first time in the Flint area that schools have combined quality for Federal help.

Turner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Turner of Cass City. He graduated from Cass City High School in 1941. After spending 22 months in the Navy he entered General Motors Institute. At GMI he received his Bachelor's degree in Industrial Engineering. For the next 20 years Turner was with the Fisher Body Division of General Motors, working in engineering and administration.

But a job that held position and security wasn't all that Turner wanted. He occasionally taught classes at GMI. When asked if this influenced him to enter the field of education he said, "...perhaps this helped but it is something I have wanted to do all my life."

Both Pleased with Mayor's Swap

Productive Day for Cogger and Althaver

"I have been visiting communities in conjunction with mayor's exchange day every year since 1958 and I have always learned something and found that it was a memorable experience," Richard N. Cogger, mayor of Lathrup Village, told Rotarians and special guests Monday at a special luncheon in his honor at the New Gordon Hotel.

The luncheon kicked off a special day for the visiting dignitaries. It was featured by a special Michigan Week program presented by selected students from the fourth grade.

Original poems were read by Tim Heckroth, Kris Murphy and Charles Tuckey. A "tour" of Michigan which featured locally made drawings with appropriate commentary was presented by Greg Hampshire and Cara Priekorn.

A characterization of Henry Ford and an auto engineer was presented by Richard Lowe and Kevin Gaffney.

President Pro Tem Dr. D. E. Rawson presented the mayor with a desk pen set, a gift from the village.

After the luncheon the council and the visiting mayor discussed mutual problems at a special council meeting and the Coggers were conducted on a tour of the village with Trustee Jim Baker and Herbert Ludlow hosting the visitors.

The evening was concluded with an informal dinner at Sherwood Forest Country Club in Gagetown.

Howard Bacon is Cass City chairman and Arle Vandemeyer, award chairman for Michigan Week. Regional chairman is Willis Campbell.

The visiting mayor is a graduate engineer from the University of Michigan who works as a director of production for Parke, Davis & Company in Detroit.

The village has 16 employees headed by the city administrator who is also the building commissioner, traffic engineer and street administrator.

Estimate Tax For Additional School Funds

Supt. Donald Crouse this week reported that the estimated tax rate for the $250,000 additional funds needed to complete Cass City's $1.85 million high school will be .7 of a mill (70 cents per $1,000 of the state's equalized valuation).

The rate is based on a 26-year bond issue with an interest rate of 4 per cent or less. Bonds for $1.6 million for the school sold this spring for an interest rate of 3.6116.

Lack of Voices Jeopardizes Cass City Musical

The community musical, "H. M. S. Pinafare", is threatening to be grounded on the shoals of community disinterest following the first rehearsal last week.

"Biggest obstacle in the way of a summer musical by the Cass City Community group is a high tenor for the main role and enough other singers for the chorus."

Several of the other principal parts were selected at the opening meeting last Monday.

Mrs. Ruth Hoffman will play Josephine; Shirley Shaw, Buttercup; Vic Guensey, Captain Corcoran, and Tom Proctor, Sir Joseph Porter, K.C.B.

A second attempt to get the production off the ground will be held Monday, May 23, at 7:30 p. m. in the high school band room.

Authorities are urging everyone interested to attend. "If there is no more interest at this rehearsal, the musical will have to be canceled," they explained.

Authorities also said that the production has nothing to do with the school music department and would be a project of the entire community.

Cross Out Crosses At School

Iron crosses are out at Cass City Schools.

Authorities at the school have banned the latest teen-age fad for students while at school. School spokesmen said they didn't find anything morally objectionable to the ornaments, except that they were in bad taste.

We had one Junior High student, Principal Art Holmberg reported, who wore a six-inch cross suspended from a two-foot chain that reached past the student's waist.

To avoid charges of discrimination, the school banned them for all students.

The council meets twice monthly and all meetings are open to the public.

Meanwhile, Village President Lambert Althaver said that he had a very good time in his visit to Lathrup Village.

From the Editor's Corner

About once every six months Charles A. Lewis, Division of University Relations, at Wayne State University, visits the Chronicle on his periodic tour of area newspapers.

Usually, he has some interesting information to pass on about the university.

He made his most recent visit Friday and told about the giant strides Wayne has made in its medical program. ... explaining that the university has more hospital beds available for student doctors' training than any other university. Plans call for the school to increase medical freshmen enrollment from the present 125 to 200 in 1969.

In conjunction with this program, he also pointed out that Wayne, like most other universities, is expanding its graduate study program and gradually swinging away from teaching the basics that come in the first two years of college.

He predicts that the trend will be accelerated as schools try to best utilize cramped quarters.

This, of course, is one of the reasons why community colleges are springing up all over Michigan. Despite the voter denial of community colleges in Wayne county, most of the propositions outstate have been endorsed by heavy margins.

No one maintains that the switch to graduate emphasis at big universities is the only, or even the primary, reason that voters have been approving community colleges in wholesale batches. ... but it is a factor.

The primary reason is enlightened self-interest. Voters realize that it is cheaper to educate a child at home than it is away and that with the Federal and State tax aid that community colleges receive, they are helping pay for community colleges whether they have one or not.

Sheriff Reports Vandals Active In Local Area

Vandals have been active in the Cass City area, according to complaints under investigation this week by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

Police are looking for the persons who broke into the former depot at Kingston and cut open 25 bags of feed stored on a truck owned by Copelands.

The complaint was made by Mrs. Nancy Copeland Thursday. It was reported that the depot was rented for storage and that the feed had a retail value of $5.25 per bag.

In addition to cutting the bags, the vandals also cut the seat of the truck, bent windshield wipers and were responsible for other damage to the truck.

Ruin Mailboxes

Sheriff's deputies are questioning suspects who reportedly ruined a mailbox in front of the Charles Goff home on Koepfgen road.

Investigation showed that a mailbox belonging to Nick Decker, Elmwood road and a newspaper tube belonging to Mark Tuckey, corner of Koepfgen and Elmwood roads, were also damaged.

The complaint was made by Goff.

Six Injured in Tractor-Car Crash

Six persons were injured in an automobile accident in Huron county and property damage was reported in six minor accidents investigated by members of the Cass City Police Department during the week.

Tell Candidates for Area School Boards

For the first time in several years, there will be no competition for an open position on the Cass City School Board. There is just one vacancy on the board and the only candidate is Incumbent Elwyn Helwig.

While Cass City has no competition, Owendale-Gagetown authorities say that three petitions for the two open vacancies for their board were received before the May 14 deadline.

As previously announced, W. C. Downing, who served for 41 years, will retire. The term of Omar Hafner is also expiring.

Hafner is seeking re-election. Trying to take his father's place on the board is Jack Downing of Gagetown. The third candidate is Richard Ziehm, Gagetown area farmer.

In Cass City, Helwig will be seeking his second term. He has served one four-year term. He is presently secretary of the board.

In the Huron county mishap, State Police reported a car driven by Roger Peters, 23, of Cass City drove into the rear of a slow-moving farm tractor operated by Carl Erner. Peters said that he did not see the tractor until it was too late to stop.

Erner, Roger Peters, Lavern Peters, 24, and Gail Hutchinson, 23, suffered cuts and bruises. Margaret Peters, 21, and Judy Spencer, 23, were shaken up. The injured were treated at Scheurer hospital in Pigeon.

Cass City Accidents

Defective brakes were listed as the cause of an unusual accident in Cass City Tuesday. Anne Elizabeth Hambleton, 80, ran through the plate glass window of a building owned by Joe Frederick of Cass City. In addition to breaking the window, part of the wall of the building was damaged.

Two accidents were reported Monday. Minor damage was reported when a door hinge on a vehicle driven by Edward Baker, 63, of Cass City caught on the left front fender of a car driven by Leslie Floyd Nichols, 17, of Cass City.

According to the report of Chief Carl Palmateer, the Nichols car Conclusion on page three.

horses. Janet, 14, claims Prince as her own, while Susan, 13, Linda, 11, Nancy, nearly 9, and Donny take turns riding and caring for Milkshake and her son Spunky.

Janet and Linda are members of the Junior Wranglers 4-H Club which meets on the second Wednesday of each month. They expect to show their horses again this summer at the Caro fair, staying with them and taking care of them for three or four days. This will be the fourth year for Janet, the second for Linda.

FUTURE GENERATIONS of racing for the Koepfgens is in the hands of Don Koepfgen and his sister, Janet. The interest in racing stretches back from the children's grandfather. (Chronicle photo by Marion Hostetler)

The big news this month on the Koepfgen farm was the birth of a colt to Miss Adioscel, one of three standard bred pacers owned by Don and Lyle. The colt, as yet unnamed, was sired by Keystone, a horse that belongs to Fred Van Lempe, who also owns Castleton Farms, the Wolverine Raceway, and Pompano Downs. Miss Adioscel has the ancestry to be a good racer, but her stride proved to be too short, so the Koepfgens have kept her as a brood mare. Following the recent foaling, she and the colt were taken to Pickwick Farms of Bucyrus, Ohio, where she is to be bred to Baron Hanover, a full brother of Bret Hanover, acclaimed "horse of the year" in 1965.

The two horses that Don plans to drive this summer at county fairs "anywhere in the lower peninsula" are Dominion K, who did well last year as a two year old, and Lady Hillsdale, whom Lyle purchased last fall. Don and Lyle have been jogging their horses nearly every day since March 15 at the track on the Ralph Youngs farm at the east edge of Cass City.

Do they count on making a profit with their racing? "No," says Don, "it's strictly a hobby. Some years we make expenses. They used to say that a horse had to earn $3,000 a year to pay its way, but with inflation the way it is, I'd hate to say what the figure would be today."

"You can pay any price for a horse, up to $100,000," according to Lyle, but a good racer might cost around $3,000. A sulky costs maybe $400. Then there is harness, shoeing, feed, transportation costs, and veterinarians' fees. "While expenses have been going up, purses have also been increasing, and if Conclusion on page three.

Death Be Not Proud

Eagles, hawks, and owls are protected by law in Michigan. But, nearly last winter, somewhere west of Alpena, someone pointed a shotgun at a bald eagle and pulled the trigger. Pictured here is the eagle he killed. Who did this thing? Was he proud of his deed? In the company of associates, did he boast? Did he lean back in his chair, or forward on his bar stool and say "I killed a bald eagle?" If a dad, did he tell his boy all about it? Yes, whoever you are, you killed a bald eagle. Few hunters could duplicate what you did; even if they wanted to (we can be thankful they wouldn't want to). This is because there are just about no eagles left in Michigan. And their number is diminishing all too fast over the entire continent. This majestic creature may be in danger of extinction; IS in danger of extinction if you, whoever you are, are one of many. Whoever you are, whatever are you? Certainly you are no sportsman. Whoever you are, sportsmen and conservationists pity you. They pity you because you miss the indescribable thrill of being in the woods with a gun. The ethic of an age-old sport is obviously not yours to enjoy. You have no appreciation of the true rewards of hunting. Established is the fact that you are a violator. But somehow you are more—or less—than that. You killed a bald eagle.

For instance there are advisory committees for planning, building, finance, zoning and many others. With this plan the best brains in the community are being used, Althaver said.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by H. M. Bulen

A few months ago we talked about people overcoming handicaps and we named men with only one arm who played major league baseball and even big time football. . . There's also an inspiring example in golf. . . Did you know that Ed Furgol, who won the National Open in 1954 and who has been a top golfer ever since, had his left arm permanently crippled in a childhood playground accident. . . Ed learned to play golf despite his withered arm, and he proves again what men can do if they have the determination.

Here's a baseball riddle you can win a bet on. . . How can a team get three triples and three singles in one inning, and still not score a run? . . . Answer: First two men triple and are out at the plate trying for an inside-the-park homer. . . Next man triples and stays at third. . . Next two men get infield singles with the runner holding third. . . Last man smacks a ground ball that hits runner going from first to second. . . Batter gets credit for a hit, but runner is out, making three triples, three singles, three outs. . . and no runs!

you do your own training you have a good chance of breaking even." There is a harness racing circuit in the Thumb, with matinee races scheduled from May through July. "It's just for fun and practice; there are no purses." The next two races are at Bad Axe at 2 p. m. on May 22 and at Caro on May 30 at 2 p. m.

The best horse they ever owned? That's hard to say. Don had very good luck four or five years ago with a bay mare named Mam'selle.

Ralph Youngs, another harness racing veteran, is pinning his hopes on Rythm Billy, whom he bought a year ago in Kentucky. With Bill Withy of Caro driving, Rythm Billy won a race at the Toledo Raceway last June, and added three other races for total winnings of $3,261 for the summer.

"Driving was dangerous when Ralph and I were youngsters," says Lyle, "and some of the fellows that hung around the track were rough and shady characters. But today's rules have made gentlemen out of those fellows." The Rules and Regulations of the U. S. Trotting Association are just as detailed as those for basketball or any other sport, and they govern all harness racing, both trotting and pacing. Drivers can be fined or suspended for such infractions as hooking sulky wheels in a race or using abusive language. "Today a lady can walk along the stables to look at the horses, and she'll never hear a bit of bad language," reports Lyle with satisfaction. Until her death in January of this year, his wife, Ersel, often went along with Lyle to racing meetings.

Other local racehorse owners and drivers include Leonard Copeland, Nick Alexander, Clark Jackson, Bill Hutchinson, and Harold Murphv. "But the one who can tell you the most about racing," Lyle told me, "is Harry Wilson. And he has a son John, 17, who is developing into a fine driver."

What Harry Wilson knows about racing will have to be another story. I tried to look him up, but he had gone to Detroit . . . to the races!

A car driven by Allen Alfred Witherspoon, 35, of Cass City was damaged in the right side when it was hit by a car driven by Dennis Clare Mooney, 22, of Flint.

Witherspoon was traveling on Seeger street and was attempting to turn into an alley when the Mooney car attempted to pass on the right side.

Tuesday minor damage was recorded when Ruth Marie Heck attempted to back from the General Cable Co. parking lot and turned into a parked car of Thelma Lottie Romain.

The left rear quarter of the Romain car and the right front of the Heck vehicle were damaged.

Wednesday, May 11, a Frutheby Bean vehicle driven by Thomas K. Wolschlager, 58, collided with a car driven by Shirley Ann Root, 19, of Cass City.

According to the police report, the Wolschlager vehicle had its left turn signals on and then turned right when the accident occurred. The accident occurred on Garfield Street at the railroad tracks.

SECONDARY BOYCOTTS

The secondary boycott bill is a measure now being considered in Congress, which has not been much in the news, although it is a highly important issue with the construction industry.
This proposed law is H.R. 10027 and it would grant building trades unions exemption from the Taft-Hartley ban against secondary boycott activity. Through this measure, the construction unions could arbitrarily force one employer to cease doing business with any other employer under union disapproval.
For example, suppose you hire a contractor to build a house. He subcontracts parts of the job to other contractors. If plumbers take steps to install bathroom fixtures made by some company not approved by plumbers union officials, the plumbers could call a strike and stop all construction, throwing the other workers out of a job.

Secondary boycotts also could apply to larger construction projects, including hospitals, schools or defense installations. Some officials point out that a strike could even be called if some workers thought some of the men on the project were getting longer coffee breaks than others.

Passage of this measure no doubt would result in more strikes that cause delays in construction projects. Building tradesmen are at present among the highest paid workers in the country. Present laws seem to be more than adequate to protect them in labor disputes.

Hold Federation WSC Meet May 12

An address by Mrs. G. Mennen Williams of Grosse Pointe highlighted the annual meeting of the Tuscola County Federation of Women's Clubs at Kingston Methodist Church Thursday, May 12.

Mrs. Williams spoke about Africa, where her husband served for several years. She said that Africa now outnumbers all new members in the United Nations with 37 of the 39 new members seated.

She pointed out that the great need of the country was for schools, as 80 to 90 per cent of the population is illiterate. Other barriers to progress are the lack of hospitals, sanitation and a common language, Mrs. Williams explained. She said that tribes within a 30-mile radius may have as many as four different languages.

High points of the event for Cass City club women included recognition for the Cass City Junior Woman's Club for having the largest number of new members for the year and an announcement concerning Mrs. A. J. Knapp.

Mrs. E. R. Green of Lapeer, East Central District president, reported State Convention activities and said that Mrs. Knapp had been chosen as one of the two "jewels" to be honored at the diamond jubilee of woman's clubs in Chicago June 6-7.

The group was welcomed by Mayor Edward Kaminski of Kingston. The morning program featured reports by club presidents and brief addresses.

The first was by Mrs. Ralph Kitchen of Leslie, who discussed safety, and by Mrs. Ward Atkins of Marlette, who discussed Girls-town.

Attending from Cass City were: Mrs. Keith McConkey, Mrs. Alfred Knapp, Mrs. John Sandham and Mrs. C. U. Haire, of the senior club, and Mrs. Robert Ryland and Mrs. Russell Ayres of the junior club.

Simple Steps to Fire Prevention

Michigan's wild fire losses in the spring would be cut considerably if every debris burner followed this landowner's example. As shown above, here are the three simple steps to fire prevention: 1) After making sure that debris is a safe distance from buildings, plow a fire line around your burning site; 2) With a shovel, water can, or other fire-fighting hand equipment at your side, keep a constant watch over your burn from start to finish; and 3) Check what you have burned to see that your fire is dead out. Actually, there's another step that comes before all the rest: Before starting your fire, get a free burning permit from your nearest Conservation Department field office or fire department. It's a must! -- Michigan Department of Conservation.

Sentence Weaver To Probation In Circuit Court

John Alford Weaver, 49, of Upper Road, Marlette, was sentenced to three years' probation for indecent liberties by Judge James Churchill in Tuscola County Circuit Court in Caro Tuesday.

In addition he was ordered to pay a $200 fine, costs of $100 and a statutory fine of $20, all at the rate of $20 per month.

He pleaded guilty of the charge involving a 15-year-old minor boy. A pre-sentence investigation disclosed that Weaver had never before been arrested.

Judge Churchill took under advisement a request by Al Watkins that the court take over superintending control of Justice of the Peace-Frank Rolka.

Because Rolka was a witness in the case before his court, Watkins claimed that he should disqualify himself. Because Watkins waited a year to make the request, Rolka refused to do so.

Judge Churchill will rule after he has studied the evidence.

Jr. Woman's Club Receives 2 Awards

The May meeting of the Cass City Junior Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. Robert Schott. Mrs. Robert Ryland, outgoing president, gave reports on the Grand Rapids State convention and the Kingston county convention.

The club was the recipient of two awards: the CARE Service Certificate and the General Federation of Women's Clubs 100 per cent award.

Members are making plans for the National Convention of Women's Clubs at Chicago to be held in June.

Installation of officers was held and each officer was presented with a corsage.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Schott.

About one half of the Dominican Republic is covered with timber, most of which is pine.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge Believe U. S. Has

Money to Burn

Marion Hostetler

I am still waiting to hear from Peace Corps headquarters as to the advisability of sending contributions from Cass City to help drill a well for the village of Saipina in Bolivia, where Jim Ross is serving. But Lester and Helen Ross did hear from Jim about it. Jim wrote:

"I was pleased to hear of Cass City's interest in the well. Unfortunately the Peace Corps asks us not to accept money from home except for special projects such as the School to School program. (See article "Project Sam" in the May "Farm Journal."—Ed.) The main idea of Community Development is to foster a feeling that the community can solve its own problems with a minimum of outside assistance. The money from home would tend to reinforce their belief that they have to rely on outside aid. It would also increase the belief that the U. S. is so rich it has money to burn.

"I would like to have this water project (if I ever get it going) to be a community project as much as possible, with outside aid coming from the Bolivian agencies. It will take considerably more time, perhaps the full two years, but in the end it will prove much more beneficial for Saipina. The main problem is not to get the money but to change the ideas of the people. Getting them to accept the idea of a cooperative water project is as difficult as it would be to persuade people the moon is made of green cheese!"

Jim's address is Cuero de Paz, Casilla 670, La Paz, Bolivia. His folks have found that it pays to send letters by air mail. This reaches La Paz quite quickly, but it may take a week or two for a messenger to bring the mail to Jim.

Have you noticed that mail in this country is arriving faster since people have been using ZIP Code? I asked Postmaster Grant Glaspie where the day would come when a letter could be addressed merely to 48726, saving all the time and ink it takes to write "Cass City, Mich." He thought it was a possibility. The main objection, I suppose, would be that if the writer accidentally wrote one wrong number, there would be no way of recognizing the intended destination.

When ZIP Code first came into use, our son Bob sent us a letter addressed "Box 8 48445." That is the ZIP Code for Kinde, Michigan, where we lived at the time. But at that time postal personnel were not yet ready to believe their eyes, and the letter was delayed several days by being sent to the Detroit sectional center, where someone wrote "Kinde, Mich." on it and stamped it with several threatening messages, such as "Address all mail to street and number."

When dial telephones and the ZIP Code were both new in Cass City, Jessie Goodall noticed that there is an "872" in both the phone number and the ZIP Code, and wondered whether there was some correlation between the two sets of numbers. There really isn't.

I quizzed Grant Glaspie about the "meaning" of the numbers, and learned that the first digit refers to a national area. In our case the "4" indicates that the mail is destined for Area 4, which includes Kentucky, Ohio, Indiana, and Michigan. Everything starting with 48 goes to southern Michigan. Everything starting with 487 goes through Saginaw, and is distributed in the area principally east of Saginaw. Cass City is the farthest east of the Saginaw satellite stations; as Uby, Bad Axe, and points farther east are served through Flint, so their ZIP Codes begin with 484.

Permanent ZIP Codes have been assigned offices in the Saginaw area by arranging the names of post offices in alphabetical (rather than geographical) order. So Caro is 48723, Carrollton, 48724, and Caseville, 48725.

There's still time to cast your vote for a tag line for this column. Do you like one of the suggestions in last week's column better than "Hostetler's Hodgepodge?" Or can you come up with something even more apt? Drop us a line or give us a call... and watch next week's Chronicle for the winning title!

PARACUSIS

Q. I have some difficulty in hearing, especially in a quiet room. My hearing seems much better in a noisy place. Can you explain this?

A. The apparent ability to hear better in a noisy place than in a quiet place is known as paracusis. The phenomenon is explained by the fact that people with normal hearing talk louder in noisy surroundings. They regulate the sound level of their speech by the loudness with which they hear themselves talk. In a noisy area, the hard-of-hearing person does not hear the noise as well as the normal person and consequently benefits from the louder speech of the latter.

IT SEEMS TO ME Carpets of Gold And Plated Pews

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

The Rev. Melvin Vender is once again back at his post as Senior Citizen expert. He passes along the information that soon it will be much easier to select more objectively a nursing home. The operators of such homes are interested in being 'approved' by The American Medical Association and the American Hospital Association. Medicare will pay for nursing home care only if the nursing home meets certain standards. To be accredited a nursing home will be required to have (for example) a qualified administrator, a minimum of at least two doctors, a full-time registered nurse and licensed nurses on duty at all times. It seems to me, that this might well be an excellent step forward for many persons.

Also from the Rev. Mr. Vender, is the following information concerning 'Slaughter on the Highways'. Last year 49,000 people died on the highway, and 1,800,000 others were severely injured. The damage amounted to $3,500,000, with the death-by-traffic figure

Legion Poppy Sale Slated May 19-21

Volunteer workers from Tri-county post American Legion and Auxiliary will hold their annual poppy sale May 19, 20, 21. Two thousand poppies have been ordered.

The poppy was adopted in 1920 as the American Legion's memorial flower. The flowers are made by hand by disabled veterans in hospitals in most of the 50 states. The veterans are paid a small amount for each flower and the work is occupational therapy for the hospitalized man.

Proceeds from the sales can be used only for aid to needy veterans and their families. Each year the local American Legion and Auxiliary spend part of the amount to help local veterans or their families. The use of the poppy funds is determined by the rehabilitation chairman, the child welfare chairman and the community service chairman in the local organizations.

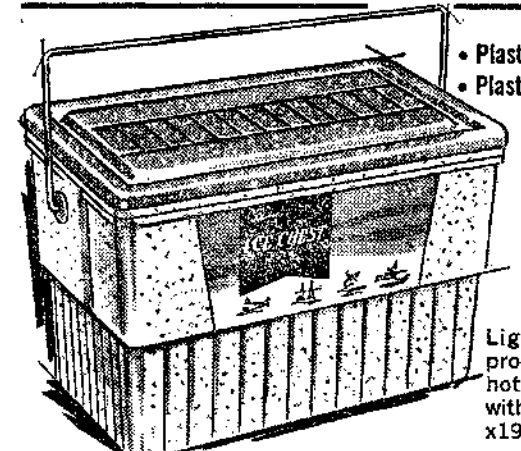

Although other countries pay subsidies to commercial fishing operations, the United States does not.

Slate Viet Nam

Film at EUB Church

"Viet Nam Profile," film production by Dr. Bob Pierce for World Vision Inc., will be presented in a special showing at the Salem EUB Church Sunday, May 22, at 7:30 p. m.

Eighty minutes in length, the sound-color film documentary takes the viewer throughout war-torn Viet Nam.

Dr. Pierce has spent the major part of the last two years in Viet Nam filming and directing production of "Viet Nam Profile," while also establishing his organization's vast relief program there.

The film portrays the people of the war-torn little country, including colorful aboriginal mountain tribes people as well as the Vietnamese people themselves. It takes the viewer into scenes of actual combat, follows missionaries and depicts the ministries of a typical U. S. chaplain.

World Vision, with its international headquarters in Monrovia, Calif., cares for over 20,000 orphans in 20 countries. It has launched an all-out aid program in Viet Nam, building refugee centers, providing hundreds of crutches and wheelchairs for war amputees, distributing countless thousands of relief packets and supporting war widows as well as blind students, orphans and other needy children.

Deadwood, S. D., derived its name years ago from the amount of driftwood which had accumulated there. The wood was convenient for pioneers in making campfires.

Many Interesting Ideas Can Be Found in Williams Papers

Williams Papers

Consideration of changing the name of the Mackinac Bridge to the G. Mennen Williams Bridge has been dropped for now but an interesting sidelight of the proposal can be found in history.

It is not known whether anyone asked the former governor's opinion on the question this year, but he expressed himself on the matter some years back.

Back in 1957, right around the time the bridge opened, a group of Upper Peninsula Williams enthusiasts proposed it be named after the governor who was the moving force in its construction.

They were ready to circulate petitions when they wrote to him regarding the use of his name. His answer was short and to the point: the bridge should be called the Mackinac Straits Bridge because of its location.

This year, the proposal for change was dropped in the legislature because proponents thought it would seem too political since Williams is running for the U. S. Senate nomination.

Opponents of the idea used the same reasoning that Williams himself used back when a Williams Bridge might have had considerable political value.

The former governor's reply to the bridge naming proposal is found in the Williams Papers collection housed at the University of Michigan.

An interesting note about the Williams Papers comes in conjunction with the current Democratic primary battle over the U. S. Senate nomination.

The Papers were donated to the University library for their value as historical record. They are in a closed reserve section. Use of the collection is limited to historical research.

Most of the Papers can be used for bona fide research purposes but some remain closed because of their controversial nature or because the people involved are still alive.

It is common practice, as was seen in the case of some records of the late President Kennedy, to suppress papers for a period of years or until the death of the principles if there is any chance embarrassment could come from disclosure.

Many interesting ideas behind the Williams administration over 12 years can be found in the Papers which are open for research, however.

Apparently the followers of Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh thought the Papers would be good digging ground for ammunition against the former governor in the current campaign.

A member of Cavanagh's campaign staff went to Ann Arbor to go through the papers shortly after the Mayor announced he would run against Williams in the primary. He was turned away. His purpose was not deemed to be worthy under the library's concept of historical research.

Tough Job

Superman wasn't available, so the State Board of Education found a man right here in Michigan to serve as the first appointive Superintendent of Public Instruction.

The qualifications of Ira Polley to serve in the new $30,000 a year post are being questioned by professionals in the field, but that is a matter to be decided by the legal experts.

Worthy of note in the selection of Polley is the process itself.

When the State Board of Education was created by the 1963 Constitution and elected the following year, it set about quickly to find a replacement for Lynn M. Bartlett. He was leaving to accept a federal post shortly after his elective term expired.

That was nearly a year ago. As in the search some time back to get a psychiatrist to head the Mental Health Department, nationwide efforts were undertaken to get a field of candidates from which to choose.

The figure heard most during the closed-door deliberations was about 30 applicants interviewed.

Narrowing this field was a big job. Some of the applicants withdrew themselves and the Board dropped others from consideration.

When it came to a final decision, an offer reportedly was made to an out-of-state man who declined the position.

There followed several weeks of meetings during which Polley's name reportedly was the only one given serious consideration. Finally, a deadlock vote was broken when one board member changed his mind.

Said Dr. Edwin L. Novak of Flint, "We had been looking for a superman who didn't exist." Other state government units might remember Novak's observation when looking for other top level personnel.

German shepherd dogs are said to have an IQ of a seven year old child and the ability to learn 100 commands.

Read the attached labels when buying seed, Michigan State University Extension specialists say. Laws require labels to give percentage of germination, purity, and other important facts. Don't let price be the only guide.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was of the opinion the country was going cuckoo on account of automation and everybody trying to git things done the short way.

Ed Doolittle reported he had saw where one feller punched a couple extra pin holes in his state income tax card and they sent his refund to Look Magazine and the maga- zine sent him a three-year sub- scription.

Zeke Grubb said he was reading this piece in the papers where this town sent out all the water bills wrong and the town got out a letter to all the people explaining the card machine had made a mistake but it wouldn't admit it and they was nothing they could do about it but hope the machine would catch the mistake next month.

All the fellers was agreed that if the post office was any way to judge how automation was working in Government, we already got more of it than we need. Ed said he ain't never been to the post office when the stamp machine was working, that it's al- ways got a piece of tape pasted over the money hole and a note to buy stamps at the window.

The feller that runs the store said in this day and time you can take your car to a "analyst" to git it examined, you can buy ever- thing from house paint to bacon drippings in a spray can, but we have to take memory pills to recol- lect where we left our raincoats.

And Clem Webster allowed as how this was the year the Gov- ernor of Georgia was running his wife fer Governor and somebody come out with the slogan "bed- fellers make strange politics." Farthermore, reported Clem, this was the year the Man Will Never Fly Society was making a pitch fer more members.

Bug Hookum said he had saw where a Government agency had made a study of the paper clip that was invented 600 year ago and found that only one clip out of five was used for clipping paper. The rest was used fer everthing from holding up wimmen's stockings to cleaning pipes and picking teeth. Bug also figured some of 'em was now being used to keep all our punch card machines go- ing.

And I was reading, Mister Ed- itor, where a North Carolina wo- man left her $200,000 estate to her two canary birds and her cat. With the cost of living climbing higher, the cost of gitting buried going up and the insurance you git when you die going down, it looks like we might as well just give it all to the birds and the cats.

I tell you, Mister Editor, I don't know where we're going but we're going fast.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
