

Air Opinions as Teacher Negotiations at Crisis Stage

The revolution in education that is currently sweeping Michigan has stretched into every school district... posing problems for teachers, administrators and members of school boards.

Cass City is caught in the struggle as contract negotiations stretch out long past the previous March signing deadline.

In an attempt to find out how the persons who are paying the bill feel about the school situation as concerns the Cass City District, the Chronicle surveyed 10 voters and asked these three questions: Do you believe that the taxpayers should be informed in what is happening in their schools?

Do you believe that the teachers have the right to consider striking for settlement of contracts? Do you believe salaries for teachers are adequate (approximately $5,300 starting and $6,800 maximum) for the job teachers are expected to do?

While there were a variety of answers to two of the three questions, everyone felt that they deserved complete information about the schools.

The comments were consistent. The school "is a public business," says Arleon Retherford of Deford. "School taxes are higher and higher all the time," asserts Frank Woldan, Deford. "We should know where the money goes."

"We should know what the hold up is," says Mrs. Dean Rabideau. "The public should know now if we may have trouble finding teachers in September."

Teacher Striking

While everyone wants to know what's what at the school, there was a sharp divergence of opinion about teacher strikes and salaries.

"Let them strike," says a Cass City businessman, "but the school board should be able to fire the strikers and hire others... no pay while striking, either."

In Evergreen, a resident explains that strikes are okay... but only if they come in the summer months when the children won't suffer.

Another says that the only leverage for the teachers will come with a strike when the students are at school.

Jason Kitchin, Cass City, a teacher for 35 years, countered with: "Teachers are well enough paid now so that they should come to a reasonable settlement without striking." His stand was supported by two other taxpayers.

Divided Opinion

While everyone wanted to find out all about the school and the majority were against strikes with- out reservations, there was no clear cut trend when the survey asked about the amount teachers should be paid.

No one felt that the teachers were overpaid. Comments ranged from "adequate" to "not enough to live on."

Of the 10 persons quizzed, four wanted more money for teachers, four wanted the salaries to remain about as they are and two had no comment.

"I feel that the pay scale is adequate for the regular hours that a teacher puts in, but they should be paid for extra hours... from Evergreen township. The pay scale is normal, judging by what teachers are receiving in other places... Kitchin and Retherford.

"I think it would be hard for a married teacher with children to live on $5,300 a year... although a lot live for less," noted Mrs. Rabideau... "but a teacher is required to set an example as a professional."

The higher end of the administration is getting too much and the lower end of the faculty not enough, says the businessman. Here's his solution: A higher starting pay scale and a ceiling of about $7,500... with no double salaries for husband and wife teams at the same school.

Perhaps one of the most significant results of the survey is that everyone called had an opinion about one or more of the questions concerning the school.

It is obvious the taxpayer is interested in both the quality and the cost of education for pupils in the district.

"Best Place in Town" Now A Parking Lot

It was the best place in town to eat, old timers recalled as the wreckers went to work on the building on Seeger street, a half block north of Main, recently.

Walter Bender was famous for his Sunday dinner and people used to come from miles around to eat.

Just when the original building was erected is not quite certain. Most long-time Cass City residents knew the property as the McLellan building.

McLellan purchased the property in 1892 and soon added to the front of the building for use as

ITS DAYS of grandeur over, this is the way the former hotel building on Seeger, near Main, looked a few weeks ago.

WRECKERS MOVED in and within a matter of hours the demolition of the building started... making way for progress.

THIS IS THE way the area directly in back of the Cass City State Bank looks today after the lot was graded and new gravel installed. (Chronicle photos)

Okay Medicare Patients at Cass City Hospital

Joe Weiler, administrator, announced this week that the Cass City Hospital has been approved for medicare patients when the program starts July 1.

All persons who are eligible under the benefits of the act can receive treatment. Weiler told members of the hospital board this week.

The program is administered by Blue Cross-Blue Shield, but eligible persons need only to show that they are qualified under the program to receive treatment, the administrator said.

The part of the medicare program that goes into effect July 1 is for acute patients. Weiler explained. The portion that is designed for chronically ill patients does not begin until Jan. 1, Weiler explained.

Cooks Baking Better Things For Viet Nam

History will be made this Friday and Saturday when the Cass City area churches put forth a combined effort to sponsor a bake and rummage sale for the victims, veterans and orphans of the Viet Nam war.

Spearheading the drive for this combined effort is Mrs. Dale Buehrly, Cass City. The idea for the sale came to Mrs. Buehrly after having seen the film, "Viet Nam Proud," which depicts "... the drama of God at work in the midst of war." The film, shown at the Cass City EUB Church, is a product of World Vision Inc., a non-denominational organization which aids and supports Viet Nam missions, orphanages and victims.

According to Rev. Robert Betts, Cass City EUB Church, Mrs. Buehrly began contacting the Cass City Council of Churches for their support soon after she saw the film. "I just felt like I had to do something," said Mrs. Buehrly, "so I contacted other churches for their opinion." Although Mrs. Buehrly knows of no one from the Cass City area that is in Viet Nam to benefit from this aid, she commented on having read of the aid World Vision Inc. is giving to the children and wounded in Viet Nam in the works of Dr. Thomas Dewey.

As the enthusiasm for the sale began to grow, other Cass City churches pledged their support in goods and money. "Judging from the success of other bake and rummage sales," continued Mrs. Buehrly, "... we are aiming for about $600.00 in this one because it is a combined effort."

Members from each participating church will be appointed to work at the sale this week end. Proceeds will be turned over to the Council of Churches who will in turn write a check for the full amount to World Vision Inc. This organization will use the money for crutches and wheelchairs for the Saigon hospitals, hygienic kits for the people of Viet Nam and educational kits for their children. Says Rev. Betts about the organization, "It is not a mission as such, but it aids missions where the aid is needed. It also supplies aid and relief to the orphanages of Viet Nam and the victims and veterans of the war there."

The sale will be held Friday afternoon and evening and Saturday morning at the vacant Canile furniture store. The use of the store is being donated by Harry Little, Cass City. Participating churches include members of the Council of Churches, Cass City's St. Pancratius, First Baptist, Church of the Nazarene and the Novesta Church of Christ. Those interested in making donations may contact their local church. Mrs. Buehrly may be contacted for donations by members of non-participation churches.

Calm, Cool and Collected 2 Boys Rescue Injured Friend

Two Deford youths refused to panic in the face of impending disaster Thursday and as a result George Lindahl, 14, is well on the road to recovery after a short stay at Cass City Hospital.

Young Lindahl and four other boys from the Deford area were swimming in an area marked "no swimming" on White Creek, about four miles south of Cass City and about a half mile from Cemetery Road.

Lindahl and his companions were swimming in a pool about 4 1/2 feet deep when Lindahl stepped on a bottle and severely cut his toe and the bottom of his foot.

The blood poured out in a torrent and only quick action by Bill Goss, 15, and Dennis Curtis, 15, averted a tragedy.

It was Goss who knew exactly what to do in the emergency. He had learned the hard way. A year or so previously he nearly lost his hand in a chain saw accident and he knew what his dad did to stem the flow of blood.

He quickly applied a tourniquet, using a bath towel.

The youths then hoisted George on the back of Curtis and started the half-mile trek back to Cemetery Road.

By the time they reached the road, Curtis was covered with blood and three towels were soaked with it.

The boys hailed a passing Fuel-gas truck and the injured youth was rushed to Cass City Hospital for emergency treatment.

During the trip from the river to the road, Goss alternately loosened and tightened the tourniquet and by the time the hospital was reached the flow of blood was nearly stemmed.

The wound required five stitches and Lindahl was hospitalized until Monday.

It's Dad's Day for Border Collies, too

Glen Shagena of Ubyly says that most everyone likes Border Collies... as long as they are males. I advertised seven pups in the Chronicle liners and sold five of them right after the ad appeared, Shagena reports. I could have sold more if they were all males.

Females aren't so much in demand, he explained, and I still have two of these left.

From the Editor's Corner

Every person who writes a daily or weekly column has several during the year that are pure drivel.

The reasons are as varied as the writers. Sometimes personal problems, sometimes a bad week-end party, perhaps it's business worries... you name it and one or more writers has experienced it. During these periods it is almost impossible to think of anything to write about.

One of the favorite dodges is to reprint a column from another writer because it is so "outstanding."

Another is to rewrite a news release and present it as an original thought. When Dave Kraft was editor he solved it by picking on his wife.

Two of my favorites happened in Thumb communities a couple of years ago. One editor simply left his column out and blandly resumed it the following week by starting out... "I left my column out last week to see if anyone would miss it."

The other simply put the title of the column in the paper and under it in big bold type, "gone fishing."

If I thought I could get by with it I could use the gone fishing approach to column writing nearly every week during May and June.

As a trout fanatic I usually get away for at least a half a day a week during these months and usually once or twice during this period strike a time when trout fishing is good.

Not so this year. Despite repeated trips, results have been the worst in years... if measured only in the amount of fish caught.

According to all reports, fishing has been good this spring... immediately before and after I arrived.

If I ever catch one of the giant trout that such artists as Frank Fort, Grant "Whitey" Strickland and Dick Szarapki bring home regularly, I will use the column to show you a picture of it.

Which may be considered more drivel... but only if you are not a trout fisherman.

Slashed Teenager Recovers

The 17-year-old Bay City girl who was slashed 33 times Sunday was still in serious condition Tuesday afternoon in a Bay City Hospital, Bay City State Police reported.

Arrested for the crime was Milton Shields, 30, an unemployed ex-convict. He pleaded innocent to a charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than murder before Justice Frank Rolka in Caro.

The girl was found by passing motorists in a thicket near Vanderbilt Park at Quinacsee after they stopped to help Shields free his car from the mud.

Shields and the girl met for the first time Sunday at a Citizens Band radio picnic after conversing several times on the short-range radio sets.

Police said Shields left his car in Quinacsee and hitchhiked to Bay City, where he was arrested at his home.

Shields has served time for breaking and entering and larceny. Sheriff Hugh Marr said that Shields has been transferred to the Lapeer County jail to await trial.

He was unable to post a $5,000 bond set by the court. Shields has made no statement about the crime.

For the double-ring candlelight ceremony, the bride chose a silk organza gown over taffeta with imported French lace, long wrist-point sleeves, a fitted bodice and a full bouffant skirt falling into a chapel train of three tiers. Giants on Top in Little League

The number one and two teams in Little League action retained their places in the standings this week as they both recorded big wins. The league-leading Giants kept their grip on first place, and a 6-0 record, with victories over the Yankees and the Tigers. With wins over the Cubs and the Yankees, the Pirates remained firm in second place with a 5-1 record.
Giants vs Tigers
Fred Harbec went all the way as the Giants defeated the Tigers in a loosely-played ball game, 12-3. Jeff Profit relieved Tim Klinkman, the starting pitcher for the Tigers, in the first inning. Big guns in the batting order for the Giants were Graig Guernsey and Carl Zawliniski with Rob Alexander hitting a home run.
Giants vs Yankees
The Yankees played what was termed their best game of the season with top efforts from Randy Brown at third and Scott Hartel on the mound in a fruitless effort to down the league-leading Giants in a game played Saturday night. Rob Alexander hit a homer with two on to insure the 7-3 win for the Giants.
Pirates vs Cubs
Mark McClorey pitched the Pirates to their fourth victory against one loss in a 20-2 win over the Cubs, June 14. The Hopper gang combined for 8 hits out of 13 trips to the plate for the Pirates as Kip was 4 for 5 and Kim and Gene went 2 for 4. Home runs for the Pirates were hit by Greg Eshelman, Mark McClorey, Gene Hopper and Kip Hopper.
The Cub's pitcher, Randy Horne, started the game for the losers and was relieved by A. Pierce in the third. J. Swartz replaced Pierce in the fifth. Big hitters for the Cubs were Kemy Hall and Chester Sieraski, both 2 for 3.
Pirates vs Yankees
In a game played Thursday, the Pirates boosted their won-loss record for the year to 5-1 with a 20-3 victory over the Yankees.
Greg Eshelman went the distance for the Pirates as he allowed only eight hits. Helping Eshelman to his victory with home runs were: Mark McClorey and Gene Hopper with one apiece and Kim Hopper with two. Big guns in the Pirate hitting attack were Kim Hopper with a perfect 6 for 6, Kip Hopper with a perfect 5 for 5, Greg Eshelman went 4 for 5, Mark McClorey was perfect at 3 for 3 and Gene Hopper had a perfect night at 2 for 2.
Tim Williams started for the Yankees and was relieved in the fourth by Randy Brown. Brown was 3 for 4 and Larry McPhail went 2 for 3 as the big hitters for the Yankees.

Erla's Tops Cable In Ugly League

Erla's Food Market easily defeated a General Cable softball nine in the opening game of the Ugly Softball League Tuesday night, June 14, as the contest was called at the end of five innings because the winners were so far ahead.
The score was 10-9. Erla's led with their mound ace, Al Bosch, and the little chucker responded by striking out 11 of the first 12 men he faced before allowing the only hit of the game by Cable, a double by Ashmore.
He quickly regained control by striking out the next batter to account for every put out while he was on the mound.
Elwyn Helwig mopped up in the last inning and whiffed two out of three while not allowing a hit.
Meanwhile, Erla's was pounding the Cable pitching without a letup. They garnered 13 hits in the five innings. Hillaker cracked out three for three and Walt Hempton rapped out two home runs in as many tries. Al Wallace also picked up a pair of safeties.

Ag. Meet Stresses Publicity Need

Leading Thumb farmers, politicians and members of the Michigan State University Extension Service were told of some of the major problems facing agriculture Thursday night at a special meeting at the Michigan Livestock Exchange Co. in Cass City.

One of our biggest problems is acquainting people with the problems and opportunities in agriculture, George McIntyre, assistant director of Cooperative exchange service at Michigan State University, said.

For instance, authorities said, most persons don't know that there are two jobs for every graduate in agriculture today. A BS degree will start at about $6,444 yearly. If you have a masters' degree the salary jumps to $7,848 and a PHD brings $10,788. These are average figures, the experts said.

Some of the problems facing the Thumb in the years ahead, the experts feel, are best land use, mechanization, labor and product quality.

Listening to the views expressed were State Senator Frank Beadle and Rep. Roy Spencer.

An estimated 50 area farmers were at the meeting.

The meeting was one of 20 scheduled throughout Michigan's lower peninsula to get across the story of agriculture to the public.

Lions Check to Buy School A Projector

"Lionism is service to mankind, service to friends and service to all persons in need," stated George Daly, Lion International district governor from Flint, as he addressed the Cass City Lions Saturday night. Daly spoke before the Lions and their wives at the annual Lions' Ladies Night and installation of officers held at the New Gordon Hotel. He then installed the 1966-67 officers to the club's Board of Directors.

Other business at the meeting was the completion of the year's largest Lion local service project with President Lloyd Bryant presenting a check to the Cass City High School athletic department for the purchase of a new projector.

According to John Oswald, Cass City athletic department, the $385 projector will be used by the football and basketball coaches. "...so the boys will be able to see their errors. The projector will stop the film for particular plays, back up for second looks and re-run plays in slow motion."

The school has its own camera for the purpose of filming games. Oswald says the new projector will make it possible to view the results of a game on film, step by step, before the next game is played.

"The school's physics department could possibly use it for studying motion," continued Oswald. "In fact, the whole science department could make use of the projector."

On hand to receive the check for the 16 mm Analyst camera were Athletic Director Jim Seals and coaches John Bifoss and Oswald.

Following the presentation to the school was the installation of officers for the 1966-67 club year. District Governor Daly installed the new officers by stressing the responsibilities of their positions to the club and to the community and by giving a brief explanation of office duties.

Installed were: Ron Keegan, president; Jim Williams, secretary; Dale Iscier, treasurer; Al Witherspoon, 1st vice-president; Jerry Stilson, 2nd vice-president; Grant Glaspie, 3rd vice-president; Lyle Richardson, Russ Schneebarger, Don Doerr and George Jacoby, directors; Ed Scollon, Lion Tamer, and Joe Perrot, Tail Twister.

As Past-President Bryant turned the club over to Keegan for the 1966-67 year, he was given a rising vote of thanks by the club members for his past year's "job well done."

Other club activities for the past year included a talent show, broom sales and the white cane sale. The success of these projects made possible club donations to the Leader Dog School, Michigan Eye Center, Tuscola County sight-seeing program for eye testing and donations to homes for retarded children.

Pay Raise Question Helps Bog Down Legislative Session

Tough Fight
Disgruntled and disillusioned, most legislators took to their home districts to campaign for another term.

At the beginning of this session there was much praise for the legislature's performance. Members seemed to be settling down sensibly and determined to get things done. But the pace soon bogged down.

Box score for the '66 session showed it took nearly as many days to pass slightly more than half the number of bills enacted in 1965. In 103 days this year, as compared to 126 for all of 1965, some 252 bills were passed through both chambers. Last year the Governor received 442 bills.

Numbers alone do not measure the value of activity, but the record will show that there was much time wasted, much hot air expended and much left undone.

Biggest problem of the legislator is a changing philosophy about his own job. That leads to the next biggest problem he faces.

Until recently, legislators were picked from various communities to represent people in state government. They were, for the most part, farmers, merchants, lawyers, real estate people. They came to the Capitol, conducted state business, went home.

More recently, the legislator has viewed himself as a full-time, career man. There is no doubt that need for representative efforts has increased as society has become more complex. There is room for doubt the state needs full-time people as legislators.

There is also room for suspicion that the present bodies could make their own operation much more efficient if they worked at it.

Second problem is the legislator's pay raise. Most legislators feel honestly entitled to a higher amount and most of these feel that the public does not understand how hard they work.

The image of the legislator has suffered a great deal this year because of the publicity received by some of his colleagues. The public expects that men who make laws for them to obey ought to be very careful about obeying laws themselves. Despite the fact that some of the men who got in trouble this year show some good points on their records and despite the fact that most of the legislators had no legal troubles at all, general public reaction is to lose respect for the legislative body as a whole.

This is a major problem for anyone seeking a pay increase, and it is easy enough to see why the legislators are disgruntled and disillusioned when their frustrations are understood.

Motorcycle Safety

One of the newer traffic problems got three-pronged attention in the legislature this year: the mounting problem posed by the increased use of motorcycles. Any city newspaper tells the tale daily. In the Lansing area, for example, a two-week period recorded motorcycle accidents almost every day. Injuries were involved in every accident.

Concern over this problem is great at least partly because of the higher potential for serious injury in crashes involving motorcycles. Laws regulating the use of motorcycles are nonexistent in most states.

The National Safety Council started a major campaign this year to encourage states to control motorcycle activities to some extent.

Primary reason was the 1,500 cycle deaths recorded the past couple years. The Council noted cycle owners often had no special knowledge about their vehicles, although safe driving requires know-how and extra ability.

Salesmen were known to give only brief instructions on the mechanical processes for getting the vehicle on the road.

Michigan's legislature became one of the first to take steps aimed at making motorcycling safer.

Their bill would first prohibit cyclists from passing between lines of cars going in the same direction. Like auto drivers, the motorcyclists will have to pass on the left.

A second part of the bill passed through both houses will require rental establishment operators to explain the operation of the vehicle to the renter, and to refuse the customer if he appears incompetent.

The final section relating to motorcycle operators will require them to have a driver's license, be insured, and wear a protective helmet at all times.

Walbro Cited by Association For Excellent Package Design

Walbro Corporation, Cass City, has received a 1966 Excellence Award for superiority in packaging from the National Paper Box Manufacturers Association. The award was presented at the recent NPBMA national convention in Boston.

The award-winning packages were designed to stock and display DuPre's chrome dome and Autopulse's custom chrome electric fuel pumps for the hot-rod and custom automotive trade. Each pump is individually packaged in a velour covered die-cut platform and mounted into a three color set-up (rigid) box.

The Excellence award cited the DuPre boxes as an outstanding example of progressive packaging, and was one of 97 out of 4,029 entries to win. The graphic design for the boxes was created by Hopkins-Campbell, Inc., Ann Arbor. Packaging design and manufacturing was done by the Barger Box and Printing Corporation, Elkhart, Indiana.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

The Only Punch Left Was in the Acting

By Marion Hostetler

From a source usually considered reliable I learned of an interesting sidelight on the Girl Scouts' production of "Little Women," directed by Linda Isbister. The girls decided to serve punch to the audience between scenes. Having only a vague idea about how many to expect on their first night, the refreshment committee stocked up with a gallon of punch. They were overcome with mingled delight and dismay when nearly a hundred people trooped into the Cultural Center. Even an experienced exponent of the new math can't expect to divide a gallon of punch into a hundred portions, so they saved the punch for the use of the cast, who lined up after the show and gleefully lifted the cup that cheers.

Fortunately for me, I waited until the second night to see the show, and by that time the girls had ample refreshments for all. The acoustics of the hall are good, and the young actresses could be heard very well when speaking in natural tones. They gradually built up the illusion of reality, so that by the time the play came to an end it seemed quite believable that they were old enough to be ready for marriage. But after the final curtain call the parents in the audience were immensely relieved to find that all that sophistication was only skin deep . . . as a bale of girlish giggles burst forth from behind the curtain.

Certainly a parent may be forgiven for paying the most attention to the performance of his own offspring. So I'm sure you'll not take it amiss if I mention that the audience seemed to applaud most enthusiastically whenever our own daughter played her role in the production. Betsy was the curtain puller.

Right across the street from our house live two people who are both doing something to make the world better. Rev. Clem Schott works in the church to make people look better by making them truly happy. Helen Agar works in her beauty shop to make people happier by making them look better.

Both of them seem to be successful at meeting people's needs. For Helen has all the business she can take care of, and Clem has accepted a position that was offered to him in a larger church in Pontiac. Some folks I know are living proof that it is possible to get along without either the church or the beauty shop, but I know others who will testify that both Clem and Helen have something of value to offer.

"I always feel better if I get dressed up and go to church on Sunday morning," a young mother said to me not long ago. "It gives me a real lift to have a regular appointment at the hair dresser's," says another woman I know.

"I always have a clean feeling after being in church," someone remarks. "There's something about having somebody else shampoo your hair that I don't quite get at home," says her sister.

To be human is to be interested in persons and their relationships. And if the news is good news, so much the better. At their best there is not too much difference between the gospel proclaimed in church and the gossip which circulates under the hair dryers. Both "gospel" and "gossip" have something to do with good news about interpersonal relationships.

In our high-speed high-pressure civilization it is worth something to be able to sit quiet for a while without feeling guilty about wasting time. For relaxing and taking a long view of life, the church pew and the beauty operator's chair may be just as valuable . . . and much more readily available . . . than the psychiatrist's couch.

Is it proof of the perversity of human nature that we assume most "gossip" is going to be malicious? . . . Did you hear about the woman who phoned her friend and said, "I never say anything about anyone else unless I can say something good. . . and, dearie, is this good?" . . . Once I heard a preacher say that one reason for believing in "original sin" is that a dirty joke is so much easier to remember than the other kind. . . If we weren't all such pessimists we might call it a "go light" instead of a "stop light."

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I was just thinking last week, reading the automobile ads in a slick magazine, that we got the smartest people on earth. Take these engineers that designs cars. They'll come out with a model that is the very last word in everything. Folks buys it, and in six months they've produced another model that makes the old one anywhere from 5 to 10 year out of date.

I reckon, though, that everything this day and time is perishable fast. They say news is the most perishable thing on earth, and even in this country they manufacture a heap of news, especial from Washington, after it happens to keep it from spoiling.

I was discussing this matter at the country store Saturday night and Ed Doolittle allowed as how it was a pity we got the smartest people on earth and didn't none of them ever git to Washington. He said he was glad I brung this item up on account of he had fetched some fingers he wanted the fellers to hear.

According to this piece Ed had, our post office department was handling 74.3 billion pieces of mail this year, would handle 77.7 billion pieces in 1967. Ever day, the piece said, folks was mailing from New York to Los Angeles 210 million letters, cards, packages, bills, newspapers, magazines and advertisements. In the whole country, the piece said, the post office was averaging 2 pieces of mail a day fer ever man, woman, and child in America.

And Ed reported he had saw a piece where Congressmen Rumsfeld from Illinois, Langen from Minnesota, and Gross from Iowa claimed the postal service was gitting worse ever day.

One of them, said Ed, reported Goldburg of the United Nations wrote some greetings to a affair in Nashville, Tennessee, airmailed it from New York to Mrs. Gore, wife of the Tennessee Senator, six days afore the affair and it got there the day afore the event was held. And one of them Congressmen reported a feller named Floyd Kline, Indiana traffic director, sent out plans for a 40-day safety campaign. The mailman delivered Kline's announcement to a Indianapolis newspaper—just 5 blocks away—after the campaign ended. If we got the smartest people on earth, claimed Ed, how come we on way to euros pias 1,uphoo Washington to take the politics out of the post office department, stop millions of pieces of junk mail, set up a proper budget and git the manpower to run the thing proper like General Motors would run it. Ed got powerful worked up over the matter, Mister Editor, and I was mighty sorry I brung up this new model car item at the meeting.

Yours Truly,
Uncle Tim

CERVICAL ULCER—CHILDBIRTH

Q. What causes a cervical ulcer after childbirth? What is meant by cauterization?

A. The cervix or neck of the uterus is stretched and thinned during delivery. There may also be some tearing. A stitch or two may be required after delivery but small tears usually heal without help. If the damaged tissue doesn't heal, an ulcer may form and, if infection sets in, the ulcer may become chronic. Childbirth isn't the only cause of cervical ulcer ("erosion"). Single women may experience such erosion just as anyone can develop a sore area in the throat or small ulcer in the nose. Usually, medicine applied to the cervical ulcer is not very successful, in which case the doctor cauterizes ("burns") or surgically removes the ulcer to allow regrowth of new, healthy tissue.

The true measure of the worth of prescribed medicine lies not in dollars and cents, but in the faster relief from pain and speedier recovery it provides.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Charles Tedford of Wichita Falls, Texas. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert Englehart of Deford.

Candelabra backed with greenery formed the setting for the rites.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Glen Tedford, the bride wore a formal gown of white silk organza, appliqued with white lace Medallions. It featured a scooped neckline, fitted bodice and cathedral train. Her elbow-length veil of silk illusion was held by a tiara of seed pearls. She carried white roses and stephanotis on a white Bible with white satin streamers.

Miss Jan Bitner of Peoria, Ill., was maid of honor. She wore a yellow and white peau de soie full-length gown. Her headpiece was a tiny veil held with a yellow flower. She carried a nosegay of yellow daisies.

Mrs. Glen Tedford sang "God Bless This House," "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Kathy Looney and Mark Apple, cousins of the bride, were flower girl and ring bearer.

Glen E. Tedford Jr., cousin of the bride, was best man. Ushers were Ricky Apple, cousin of the bride, and Douglas Englehart, brother of the groom.

The bride graduated from Dallas Texas in June 1965 and joined the WAF in October 1965.

The groom graduated from Cass City High School in June 1964 and joined the Air Force in April 1965. He is an instructor in business administration and is stationed in Amarillo, Texas.

The couple are making their home at 1605 South Buchanan St., Apt. B, in Amarillo.

Guests attending from a distance were Mrs. Ada Blair, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Blair, Kathy and Margie Blair of Godfrey, Ill., and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Englehart and family of Deford.

IT SEEMS TO ME
Add Indians to the Shabby Treatment List
By the Rev. R. J. Searls

While we are finding it necessary to readjust our thinking towards those people whose skin is of a different hue than ours; it seems like a good time to look at the shabby way we have treated the American Indian. If you are going to show some concern (long overdue) toward the American Negroes and the American Orientals, how about showing concern for the race of noble people who occupied the North American continent before Queen Isabella had even been born, much less hooked the Queen's jewels to sponsor one Christopher Columbus on a trip around the world.

"Put yourself in the Indian's place -- repeatedly turned down for jobs because of lack of education, lack of skills, and the color of your skin -- watching your children die of diseases curable and preventable in the white man's world." In return for the wealth of his forests, and plains, and fields, the Indian has received the least portion of America's bounty. Here's where he stands today:

Schooling -- five years.
Life Span -- 42 years.
Family Income -- $1,500.
Unemployment -- 45 per cent.
(All figures from the American Indian Fund.)

That we continue this shameful state of affairs is a sad commentary on the times, and on us. Serving an Indian mission near Escanaba, in our younger days, both shamed us and shocked Mrs. Searls and her husband. You can do something to set right in our life-time, the wrongs that the American white man has caused. Write to The American Indian Fund of the Association On American Indian Affairs, Inc., 432 Park Avenue South, New York, N. Y. 10016. They can make some practical suggestions about what you can do about this unhappy situation: or so it seems to me.

I'm sorry to have misplaced an invitation to you to attend a national convention of Baptists held in Detroit the last week in May. The invitation arrived too late, which serves us with an opportunity to pass on to organizations, churches, etc., a reminder that this column is frequently written anywhere from one week to eight weeks in advance.

One of the most exciting movements affecting seminary education today, is the country-wide sharing of professors and facilities of the many seminaries. Largest of these co-operative movements in ministerial education is in Chicago, but in Dayton, Ohio, students attending United Theological Seminary (EUB) and Marianist Roman Catholic College have joined in co-operative presentation of a series of radio programs. Trends like these are truly exciting, or so it seems to me.

A man escorted his wife to the psychiatrist for her first appointment and was in the waiting room when the doctor emerged from his private consulting room.

"Did you make any progress, Doc?" asked the husband, noting that it had been a long session.

"Not very much," the psychiatrist admitted. "Your wife spent most of the time having me move the couch to see if it wouldn't look better in some other part of the office."

The newest drink (so I am told) is called an "Embassy Cocktail." After two of them -- you're stoned!

Finally this inspirational message.

Teacher: "What two documents contributed greatly to the government of our country?"

Student: "Forms 1040 and 1040a."

Agent's Corner
Barbara Henrikson

Your husband comes home from work and says "Hi blubber-bottom". You can use your present resources -- tears in the eyes and a quivering bottom lip -- to make him stop. You could decide to lose some weight and find the resources -- will power and pride -- so you won't deserve the title.

Most problems are solved in one of two ways. You can figure out what you have ready to use, then decide how to use them. Or you can decide what you want to do and figure out where to get the resources to do it.

If the kids are hungry you can go to the refrigerator and cupboard, line up the left overs and turn the kids loose. Or you can make a balanced food plan, either written or mental, for the week, and shop to fit the plan.

You haven't anything decent to wear. You can remake an old dress. Perhaps you'd rather pick out a new dress, lay it away, plan to save a dollar from each week's food budget and cut the boys' hair yourself for the rest of the summer.

It's surprising what a difference there can be in solving a problem whether you start with your resources, or start with an answer and find resources to fit it.

A hurricane may be 300 to 400 miles in diameter.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barriger

Russell James Barriger of Unionville claimed Miss Shirley Ann Wagner as his bride May 28 in the Caro Nazarene Church before an altar of white gladioli and mums. The 7:30 candlelight ceremony was officiated by Rev. A. E. McFarland for the daughter of Mrs. Adeline Wagner and the late Henry Wagner of Caro and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Barriger of Unionville.

The bride approached the altar in a gown of imported hand-clipped Chantilly lace and silk organza. The dress was fashioned with wrist-point sleeves, fitted bodice and scalloped sabrina neckline encrusted with iridescent and seed pearls. Chantilly lace graced her full floor-length skirt which was highlighted at the back with a lace-edged detachable train. Her veil of imported silk illusion was centered with a headpiece of seed pearl accents. She carried pink roses and white carnations on a white Bible and wore a string of cultured pearls, a gift from the groom.

Attending as maid of honor was a sister of the bride, Miss Frances Wagner of Caro. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Jerry Hillaker of Snover and Miss Maryanne Barriger, sister of the groom, of Unionville.

The maid of honor wore a powder blue brocade and crepe dress, featuring camelot sleeves, bateau neckline, Empire bodice and a modified sheath floor-length skirt, accented in back with floating Watteau panels. The bridesmaids wore identically fashioned gowns in lemon yellow. The bridal attendants wore matching floral headbands and bouffant veils. They carried bouquets of white roses surrounded by carnations tinted to match their dresses.

Flower girl for the wedding was Kathy Timmins of Caro, cousin of the bride. She wore a white nylon dress trimmed with rows of lace and a matching floral headpiece.

She carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow carnations centered with a yellow rose.

Attending the bridegroom as best man was Clifford R. Smith Jr. of Unionville. Groomsman were Richard Barriger, brother of the groom, of Unionville, and David Livingston, cousin of the groom, of Caro. Ushers for the wedding were Robert Joiner Jr. of Bay City, Terry Livingston of Unionville and Jerry Hillaker of Snover. The ring bearer was Dale Livingston, cousin of the groom, of Unionville.

A reception followed the wedding where the couple entertained approximately 250 guests in the Caro High School cafeteria.

The bride wore a three-piece surf blue suit of enclilada material as the couple left for a week's tour of northern Michigan.

The bridegroom is serving with the United States Coast Guard and the bride is a secretary at Caro State Hospital. They are residing at 2191 N. Colling Rd., Caro.

Will the strike at Edison affect your electric service?

Local 223, Utility Workers Union of America, AFL-CIO, representing about 3000 of Detroit Edison's 9500 employees, called a strike at midnight, June 15.

Local 223 is chiefly composed of operators of power plants and substations, underground linemen, and construction and maintenance personnel.

As in the case of Local 17, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, AFL-CIO, which is already on strike, the issue is money.

The present average pay of Local 223 members is $3.46 an hour. Benefits are additional. Edison has offered the union a two-year contract—21.4 cents an hour more in cash and benefits in 1966 and 17.2 cents more in cash and benefits in 1967. The offer amounts to a 10.9 per cent raise in cash and benefits by June 1967. According to Edison's understanding, the union leaders want a 12.5 per cent increase.

Edison has always treated employees fairly. Pay and benefits are higher than those provided by most other major employers in the area. The company is widely known as a good place to work.

On any basis of comparison, the present offer is a good one.

Although about one third of our employees are on strike, Edison intends to maintain near-normal customer service with the help of supervisors and other employees. Unless a severe storm causes an emergency, it is unlikely that the two walkouts will affect users of electricity.
