

From the Editor's Corner

The other day a local resident good naturedly accused us of "going after the school and Don Crouse". He made the statement, I presume, after reading recent stories about the school in the Chronicle.

Actually, nothing could be further from the truth. I go on record as saying that the Chronicle believes that Crouse has done an outstanding job in his short tenure as boss of Cass City Schools.

He has piloted the treacherous waters of a $1.85 million bond issue for a new school and so far has not been grounded on the shoals of bargaining with the teachers.

But while we admire his efforts, like every newspaper worth its salt, we reserve the right to be critical when we feel criticism is due.

As a newspaper which believes in the people's right to know, we cannot and do not condone the numerous decisions that are made behind closed doors and labeled "executive" sessions.

Outside of discussing ratings of a teacher's work academically, I see no sound reasons for not letting the people know what decisions are being reached, HOW they are being reached and the reason each member of the school board has for making them.

After all, it's the people's money they are spending.

And I also feel that the teachers should not be afraid to bring their case before the people paying the bills.

Is there a reason why they feel that they should not sign a master contract? There must be... but what is it?

To date, the teachers' union has not made one public utterance about its demands. In fact, they have not even named the members of the bargaining committee that are representing them in sessions with the school board.

There has not been a bargaining session for two weeks (as this was written Sunday.) It's time that the teachers and the board settle down to continuous negotiations until a contract is signed.

And these sessions should be open to the press and the people so that the community can find out what is holding up the orderly progress in the education of their children.

I printed that only one flag was flying on Main Street on the Fourth of July last week. Not so, says Floyd Luetke, there was a flag flying at our station at the corner of Oak and Main. We don't have a hole in the sidewalk to display ours at the curb, he continued, but we had it hanging from the building in honor of the Fourth.

At press time I learned that the same situation occurred at ST&L.

Fighting Cocks Valuable

Destroy Roosters As Owners Moan

Cockfight fans should become convinced soon that Tuscola county is not the place to hold their meetings. For the second time, a cockfight was broken up in the county, the participants arrested and the roosters confiscated.

June 2, 1962, the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department, then under the direction of George Jefferies, succeeded in breaking up a gathering of the fight fanciers in the western half of the county. History repeated itself Sunday.

The raid was masterminded by the Michigan State Police and the sheriff's department. We had the south side of the road and the State Police the north side, Sheriff Hugh Marr said.

The fight was held in a woods on Turner Road, a half mile north of Shay Lake Road, near Mayville. The actual arrest was somewhat like a movie scene. An airplane swooped down and a loudspeaker blared at the 66 fans, "you are all under arrest."

Troopers, dressed in camouflage uniforms, infiltrated the area several hours before the fans arrived. They hid in trees, in the grass and on utility poles. One operated a movie camera for evidence.

Fans were present from all over Michigan and parts of Canada.

In a cockfight two roosters, trained to kill, are matched in a circular pit and equipped with metal spurs to make their slashing more effective. Bets between fans add to the interest.

Fred Martin Buys Copeland Service Station

Announcement of the sale of Copeland Service was made this week by owner Ken Copeland. Running the service station on West Main Street will be Fred Martin of Cass City. Martin said that he has purchased the inventory and will lease the building.

Copeland sold the building to the Leonard Refining Co. The new owner was to have assumed control Thursday.

Copeland said that his future plans were indefinite, but that he planned to work shorter hours than he did while running the station. He expressed appreciation for the support of area motorists while in business in Cass City.

Copeland purchased the station in partnership with his brother, the late Arnold Copeland, in 1958. He became sole owner when his brother died.

into a Caro School bus, taken before Justice George Foster and fined $26 each for loitering at an illegal event.

Last Battle

It was one fight in which none of the roosters were winners. The sheriff's department had 109 of the birds confiscated and early this week disposed of them on orders from the prosecutor.

Destroying the birds probably caused more anguish to cockfight fanciers than the relatively small fine.

One of the trainers came into the sheriff's department trying to get his bird back and reported that the rooster was worth over $500.

An unidentified area resident called the department and wanted to get a couple of the roosters so that they could start raising fighters for the flourishing market.

Raising and training the birds is not illegal in Michigan. State Police are continuing the investigation to determine the leaders of the ring.

Rain Misses Most Of Tuscola County

Rain which deluged most of lower Michigan Tuesday almost completely missed Tuscola county.

In the immediate Cass City area the threatening storm brought only a light sprinkle, not enough to help the excessively dry conditions.

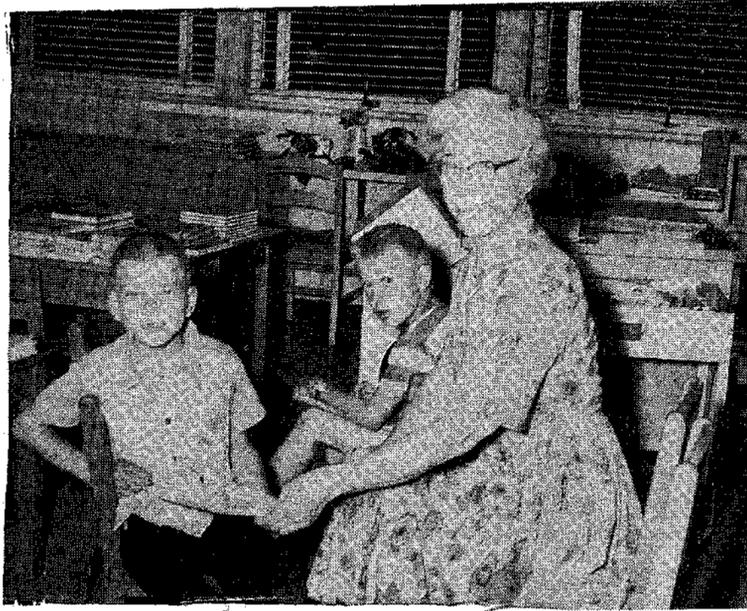

In Caro, a strong wind caused some damage, including blowing down a wall of a garage under construction west of the community, but no rain fell despite the heavy rain clouds that darkened the day.

Grant Eaton Mfg. Restraining Order Against Strikers

Eaton Manufacturing Co. of Vassar was granted a restraining order Tuesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court against some 20 employees who left the job July 1 in protest over the suspension of a fellow worker.

The injunction was granted by Judge Eugene S. Huff of Saginaw and ordered the strikers to stop picketing.

The wildcat strike was held despite the request of union authorities to have the men return to work.

SPECIAL ATTENTION is one of the advantages of the summer school program. Miss Caroline Garety gives a helping hand to Richard Bradley and Jimmy Gilliam. (Chronicle photo)

Children Broaden Horizons in New Summer School Program

The program authorized under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act now in progress at the Willis Campbell Elementary School means more to the pupils attending than a summer of extra study.

For many it means a first look at the world around them outside of the immediate vicinity of Cass City. It means trips to the Detroit Zoo and to Cranbrook Institute and, incidentally, their first look at Detroit.

For some a proposed trip to Sleeper State Park will be their initial experience in swimming, and their first look at a lake of any kind.

These surprising facts were revealed in an interview with Mrs. Barbara Stickle, one of nine teachers in the program, and Mrs. Clayton Moore, elementary school secretary. The head of the "ESEA" program, Mrs. Bernard Freiburger, was absent the day the interview was taken.

The program in Cass City will cost $18,113 for the five weeks that the 106 children enrolled are taught. The entire budget comes from tax monies contributed to the Federal government and returned to schools under the recently enacted Federal aid to education bill.

The program is diversified. Offered are classes in reading, science, art and physical education.

ence, art and physical education. One of the advantages of the summer program is the number of teachers available. Each pupil studying this summer is one of just 16 to a room as compared to about 32 to a room during the regular school year.

The reduced pupil load per teacher results in more individual attention for each student. Reading requires the greatest number of teachers. There are seven teachers and seven aides helping the youngsters. In addition to reading there are a teacher and an aide for the courses in physical education, science and art.

In the summer program, science comes to life through numerous field trips. Among the local trips have been a visit to the greenhouse and a study of various trees along the nature trail in Cass City.

Physical Education Our physical education program under ESEA is not designed to put the child in top physical condition, Coach John Bifoss, teacher, explained.

Much of the time is devoted to various group games and individual attention to the problems of the youngsters. "Basically, we are trying to install a love of recreation in these children and I feel

Hunter Must Resign From Supervisors To Accept New Post

Attorney General Frank Kelley has rendered an opinion concerning the appointment of Clayton Hunter as equalization director for Tuscola county.

Hunter had been previously appointed director in a vote by the board of supervisors. However, after the election a question of the legality of the board of supervisors appointing a fellow supervisor

Concluded on page two.

Corral Caged Critters

It was round-up time in Cumber over the Fourth of July week end and four cagy critters were corralled after spending a couple of weeks roaming the countryside.

James Anthony of Cumber bought two cows and their calves at auction June 18 and was hauling them home when they broke away, jumped fences like deer and, like deer, set up housekeeping in a near-by 80-acre woods. . . . and successfully defied anyone to catch them.

For a couple of weeks the Anthonys didn't even know where the hustling Herefords had gone. And when they found out, the battle had just begun.

A full scout of the area by the Anthonys revealed the best plan of action . . . a corral. A clearing frequented by the cows was baited with crushed feed, hay and water. The cows walked in, the gate was closed and the cows captured.

Mrs. Anthony says now that the cows have been home for awhile they are acting as cows are supposed to act . . . staying within the confines of the farm, not jumping fences and getting along well.

Weather Dims Crop Outlook

Tuscola county is poised to start the annual wheat harvest and a favorable yield is expected, local authorities say, although the possible bumper crop failed to materialize because of excessively dry weather.

Despite the lack of rain in recent weeks, wheat promises to be better than last year when a light crop was harvested. Other crops could also be better if rain comes before it is too late, according to Alfred Ballweg, Tuscola County Agriculture Agent.

One crop beyond saving is oats. Ballweg says that a third to a half of the crop has been lost because of the dry spell.

"The wheat crop had promised to be one of the best in years," stated the agent, "but not so now. I don't know how much it has been hurt, just that it is."

While the yield will be down, the price is up. In Kansas where hard winter wheat is going to market, prices are up about 45 cents per bushel. Speculators are pushing the price steadily upwards in the Thumb. It was quoted at the $1.25 government support price.

Many farm organizations are urging farmers to store wheat for possible higher prices later in the year. Wheat carryover in the nation was at a five-year low at the close of the crop year June 30, with 550 million bushels stored.

It is estimated that this year's crop will be short of needs by 150 million bushels which will have to be taken from the surplus.

Agricultural Secretary Orville Freeman has already allowed an increase in wheat acreage by 15 per cent for next year.

Wheat harvest should start in the county this week end and will be in full swing next week.

Frank Scholt, Cass City Frutchey Bean Co. manager, commenting on the local situation, says that the wheat yield in the area should be "good," although hurt by the dry weather. He reports that oats are damaged and suspects that corn and bean yields will suffer because of the lack of rain.

Agent Ballweg said that rye is now being combined in the northern part of the county and a fair yield is in prospect.

Corn and beans could still come through if we get any moisture, Ballweg continued. The crops have undoubtedly been hurt somewhat already, he believes.

Top Crop
The only crop that has withstood the dryness and can still be regarded as ready for bumper yields is sugar beets. "It's one of the best in years," Ballweg commented.

The July crop estimate, the first general report of the season, predicted wheat output to be seven per cent below last year, but still one per cent above average.

The oat forecast for the nation is .897 billion bushels, down considerably from the 959 billion bushels harvested in 1965.

The wheat situation is apparent to the millers who recently raised New York flour prices 15 cents per 100 pounds.

Cass City Grows 100 Acres Larger With Annexation

Cass City became 100 acres larger this week as the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors approved the annexation of three pieces of property Monday at its regular session in Caro.

Now a part of the village is 20 acres belonging to Cass City School district and purchased for its new high school at the north village limits.

Forty acres immediately south of the school property owned by Dr. and Mrs. H. T. Donahue was also accepted. A subdivision is planned for the area.

The final 40 acres is owned by the Cass City Lutheran Church and joins village property at the east village limits, immediately south of M-81.

The three property owners had petitioned the village to have the land annexed and there were no objections to the annexation at the board meeting.

Kostanko Defies Opposition-Set to Open Thunder Road Speedway July 31

By Chris Schwaderer

Despite futile attempts by a township to seek zoning laws against his business; despite threatened laws against Sunday racing and despite the possibility of township legal action, young Thomas Kostanko, Cass City, has carried out his plan to build and open the Thunder Road Speedway, a half-mile stock car racing track located just north of M-81 on M-53, for the last half of the summer racing season.

Kostanko approached the Greenleaf township board in July of 1965 to ask about what zoning laws, if any, there were that would prohibit the building of his track. After finding no such laws, Kostanko proceeded with his plans.

It was after this first meeting with the board, remarked Kostanko, that the township turned to legal action to see if his project could be stopped. The board found that it was too late to zone and lawyers were useless in stopping him because Kostanko was breaking no law. Although no official indication of the board's feeling was given at this first meeting, it was stated by Greenleaf Supervisor Stanley Willis, that ". . . Sunday racing will definitely not be allowed."

On July 14, 1965, approximately 40 persons met at the Greenleaf Township Hall to discuss whether or not, ". . . a stock car racing track was good for the area." Willis said that the opinions on the track were split about even, for and against. Those against the track are the ones that lived in its vicinity with the others not caring one way or another.

One year has gone by since Kostanko approached the township and the track in which he has $17,000 invested will open Sunday, July 31. The township explained that the meetings were called just to get them the residents' opinions and to let them know that the township could do nothing about Kostanko's track.

"The biggest complainers are the farmers that live near the track," said Kostanko, "They're afraid it will be too much noise on Sunday. I expect more complaints after I open, but no further action by the township."

The track, owned by Kostanko and his wife, was financed in most part through the Cass City State Bank. "Racing is a big spectator sport," commented the track owner, "It's a good business risk."

The 21-year-old Kostanko feels that Thunder Road Speedway could shut down Ubyly once it got started, and "put Cass City on the map." He says that there are more thrills to watching 10 to 30 minutes of lap racing than to 10 seconds of drag racing. Not only that, continued the owner, it should give more local boys a chance to compete with their own cars where at Ubyly it's hard for a private dragster owner to measure up to a $15,000 company sponsored car.

Thunder Road will also give cash prizes along with their trophies where Ubyly gives just trophies. "We will charge only $1.50 adult admission and give $75 to $250 away in prize money every Sunday. We're giving two free pit passes to each driver," stated Kostanko.

The speedway, begun last August, will seat 2,000 on opening day with plans of expansion to 3,500. There will be three classes of cars racing; jalopies, modified stock and super stock. Future plans include Powder-puff and Demolition Derbies.

A 45-inch retaining wall plus a 10 foot wire mesh fence will separate the spectators from the cars racing on the 60 foot wide half-mile track. "We are going to advertise in the Detroit and Bay City papers as soon as we get started," Kostanko said. He believes that this advertising will soon bring big-name drivers and larger crowds which he feels will promote the area and make his track financially successful.

DESPITE OBJECTIONS FROM TOWNSHIP residents and neighboring farmers, the soon to be completed Thunder Road Speedway will open on schedule, July 31, according to its owner, Thomas Kostanko, Cass City.

Sidewalk Sale Feature

Dress Up for Fun And $100 in Prizes

Spurred by the offer of $100 in prizes and a desire to dress up in old fashioned finery, Cass City area residents are expected to promenade down Main Street this week end. . . . the only provision is again this week end.

Many persons throughout the area have already dug the clothing out of the moth balls and others are expected to join the fun as the Cass City Chamber of Commerce stages "Old Fashioned Sidewalk Bargain days Friday and Saturday."

The Retail Division of the Chamber decided to offer 10 $10 gift certificate prizes to persons dressed in Centennial clothing during the two days.

The prizes will be given to persons on Main Street and the winners will be picked at random. If you happen to be in the right place at the right time, the prize is yours. . . . the only provision is that you must be wearing old fashioned garb.

The Sidewalk sale is the first since spring for Cass City merchants and they have gone all out to make it a gala event.

Nearly all stores have stashed prices for this event and many extensive sidewalk displays are planned.

Stores with merchandise not suited for sidewalk display have arranged for many sale items within their stores.

REVEAL DECISION

Concluded from page one. While he served on the board was questioned.

Prosecuting Attorney James E. Skamp referred the question to the attorney general for decision.

Kelley said that the procedure was illegal. He said that Hunter must resign and then be appointed at a later meeting.

To comply, the supervisors rescinded the previous appointment and authorized the equalization committee to appoint the director. It is expected that Hunter will eventually become the director.

The impact caused Graham's truck to land on its side and catch fire. The Pigeon Fire Department answered the alarm, but the vehicle was damaged beyond repair.

Bridesmaids were Virginia Crawford of Cass City and Suzanne Zawilinski, sister of the bride. Miss Crawford's gown was yellow and white and Miss Zawilinski's was mint green with white. They carried arrangements of white carnations trimmed with ribbons to match their gowns.

The bride's sisters, Vickie and Debbie Zawilinski, were flower girls. Their dresses were pink and yellow.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by H. M. Bulen

Most weekend golfers have trouble on various holes and get bad scores, but did you ever wonder what was the worst score ever made by a professional on one hole in a tournament? . . . The record is held by Tommy Armour . . . In the 1927 Shawnee Open, he took a 21 on one hole! . . . Armour had better luck that same year, however, because he won the National Open that season . . . It proves how inconsistent golfers can be — both the weekend golfers, and the pros.

Has there ever been a "triple-header" played in major league baseball? . . . Answer is yes . . . They aren't permitted anymore, but in the old days there was no rule against playing three games in one day . . . Last time there was a triple-header in the majors was October 2, 1920, between the Pirates and Reds.

One of the most famous teams in baseball history was the 1934 St. Louis Cardinals, who were known as the "Gas House Gang" . . . How many of their regulars can you name? . . . Here they are . . . (1B) Rip Collins . . . (2B) Frankie Frisch . . . (SS) Leo Durocher . . . (3B) Pepper Martin . . . (LF) Joe Medwick . . . (CF) Ernie Orsatti . . . (RF) Jack Rothrock . . . (C) Bill DeLancey.

Officials' Pay Hike Almost Unnoticed

New Payroll
Pay hikes for most state officials went almost unnoticed while the debate over a salary raise for legislators gathered attention.

mission.
Biggest hikes will go to the top officers. They begin next January. To the winners in the races for governor, secretary of state and attorney general will go $10,000 more than these officers now get annually.

Judges on the two highest courts, the Supreme and Appellate Courts, will each get raises of $9,500. This sets the Supreme Court pay scale at $35,000 annually and the Appeals Court judges' salaries at $32,500.

were designed to meet Gov. George Romney's plea to pay administrators more than their highest level employees get under Civil Service rates.

Driving problems
Traffic safety field workers, if they can be called that, hoped for a full package of legislation to get through this year.

Additional revenue will go back to schools providing driver training to teenagers. The increase is expected to raise about $1.7 million annually.

Proponents of the hike had to fight hard for the increase, although they contended it should have sailed through without argument.

Since driver training is now compulsory for teenagers to obtain a license, more schools are offering the course.

The state had indicated it would pay schools $30 for each student enrolled in driver training, but the funds coming in from license sales did not enable the state to fulfill this obligation.

Supporters of the increased license fees say the new funds will allow for the full payment, although more and more teenagers will be taking the training course in the coming years.

Same Difference
Addition of regulatory agencies in state government occurs every year, but it isn't quite as noticeable any more.

Last year it was noted that Michigan was spending money for 94 agencies which were not in existence 10 years before.

Up to 1965 many of the new units were created independent of existing departments or councils, although their functions were often inter-related.

Under the 1963 Constitution, however, each of the new groups is categorized under one of the 19 principal departments created through a major reorganization of state government. The change was dictated by the Constitution but just enacted last year and put into full effect in 1966.

When reorganization took effect there were in existence more than 140 administrative agencies. These are still in operation, but the administrative chart of state government was made a little more readable by grouping them all into the 19 major units.

Arrested July 4 by State Police for allowing an unlicensed minor to drive his motorcoter was Alan L. Zawilinski, 17, of Cass City. He paid a fine and costs of $8.70.

State Police ticketed Max Edwin Cooper, 38, of Cass City, on July 9 for disregarding a stop sign. He paid a fine and costs of $13.70.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
In a manner of speaking, I reckon you'd have to say the session at the country store Saturday night was took up mostly with Government figgers and grass roots filocophy.

First off, Ed Doolittle allowed as how the Government was starting a new fiscal year and he had bring along a few figgers for the fellers to chew on.

Incidental, Ed is fetching more and more newspaper clippings to the Saturday night sessions and the feller that runs the store reported he was going to git Ed one of them brief cases like the city folks carries and give it to him fer Christmas.

Anyhow, Ed reported the fiscal year ended in bad shape fer the Government. The Congress, he announced, had raised the public debt limit to $332 billion to take care of our shorts and that we was short in about all departments. Ed explained we got a item called the Gross National Product that was the total amount of everthing bought and sold in the country and that the long-time plan fer a balanced budget in the Great Society was fer the Internal Revenue Service to collect in taxes the same amount as the Gross National Product. He claimed they wasn't no other way to ever balance the budget unless they quit spending so much money in Washington.

Clem Webster was defending the Great Society, allowed as how wages was going up and up and everybody was paying more and more taxes but was still enjoying great prosperity.

But the storekeeper allowed as how the prices of things was going up faster than wages and we was headed fer inflation and bust. He said the price of a house raised the roof when it went up $2,500 a ton but he done some figgering by the pound, and in the last 12 months the wholesale price of bacon had gone up $500 a ton and pork chops had gone up $1,100 a ton and the White House ain't done nothing about it.

But Clem still claimed folks couldn't be hurting much in a country where they spend more on tobacco that's bad fer the health than they do fer hospital care, and more at beauty parlors than fer doctor bills.

This whole thing is too complicated for me, Mister Editor, but it looks like we was starting out the new fiscal year with the Government having us hooked. It makes me recollect the story about the preacher that was raising funds to burn the church mortgage. He told everybody in the congregation that would contribute $20 to please stand up. Then he turned to the church organist and ask her to please play the Star Spangled Banner.

Yours truly, Uncle Tim

Fast-Action Chronicle Liner Ad

ONE OF THE FOUR OPERATORS OF THE NEW teletype machine installed recently in the Mac and Scotty Drug store is Gary Miller, Cass City. The Western Union machine is a replacement of the telegraph system which was housed in the Grand Trunk Western Depot, Cass City.

No More Morse Code

Anyone Can Send A Telegram Today

Progress has ended the career of the Morse code operator in Cass City and throughout much of Southern Michigan.

A machine, the teletype, now does the work handled for years by the Western Union telegraph operator at the railroad depot in Cass City.

The teletype has been installed at Mac & Scotty Drug Store as Western Union switched to the new system in the Detroit office.

Resembling a typewriter, the new system doesn't require a skilled operator. The message is typed on a regular typewriter keyboard and the machine does the rest.

After the drug store agreed to the teletype, owner Glen "Scotty" McCullough said that the store personnel took a week's instruction in sending and receiving the telegrams.

"It's just like operating a regular typewriter," says Christine McCullough, one of the operators. "One key is pressed for figures and another for letters, that is the only difference."

The machine is in operation from 8 a. m. until 6 p. m. with Mrs. Erna Kennedy, Miss Christine McCullough, Gary Miller and Mrs. Lucille McCullough trained to receive the teletype messages which are relayed from Saginaw.

"Our biggest users are the plants," said McCullough, with rates depending on the length of the message and its destination.

Besides the regular Western Union teletype service, the office handles money orders.

Messages that are sent to a Cass City area resident after this drug-store is closed will be phoned directly from Saginaw.

White Sox Capture Minor League Title

In the final week of regular minor league play, the league-leading White Sox took a game from the Braves to remain on top. The Indians, basement dwellers three weeks ago, defeated the Dodgers to move into a tie for second place.

In other league action, the Angels defeated the Dodgers, 10-9, in a game played Tuesday, July 5.

White Sox vs Braves
Jerry Toner struck out 14 and then added two home runs and a double to aid his own cause when the White Sox chalked up a 16-4 win over the Braves, Wednesday night.

David Eberline relieved Toner in the sixth and allowed no hits. Brian Kelly and Ed Stoutenburg both scored three runs apiece to lead the White Sox hitters.

The losing pitcher for the Braves was Ricky Damm.

Dodgers vs Angels
The Angels took the measure of the Dodgers, 10-9, in a game played Tuesday night.

Little League Play-offs in Full Swing

Little League play-offs will be held this week to determine the champion from the five teams which make up the league. In regular league action, the Giants finished undefeated.

Giants vs Pirates
The Giants kept their season record spotless as they slipped by the second-place Pirates in a real pitchers' duel, 1-0.

Rob Alexander pitched a no-hitter as the Giants added their last regular season game to their win column. Gary Zellar allowed only four hits in a futile effort to defeat the Giants, the team to beat in Little League play.

Craig Helwig drove in the game's only run when he singled in the third with the bases loaded.

Recreation Program Attracting Many

If you just happened to be in the vicinity of the village baseball field Friday morning, July 8, and just happened to see a tribe of wild-looking, war-painted Indians running hither and yon, there was no need to blink your eyes in disbelief or blame a bad night's sleep for early morning hallucinations.

What you saw was the result of the summer recreation program activity, Indian Day, led by Chief Barbara Tuckey.

Being an Indian for a day required youngsters to make their own beads, warpaint and costumes and hunt for items an Indian might find in a field, such as flowers and twigs.

Already this year, the summer recreation program has sponsored three events with three more to come. Next week's program will be a pet show with cages and animals decorated and judged for prizes in different categories.

Besides the regularly scheduled programs, the youngsters are kept busy during the week by making such items as pottolders and plastic molds. On Tuesdays, there is a free swim from 10-11 a. m. at the municipal swimming pool.

"We are having a very good turnout in our program," said Mrs. Tuckey, "... with the 45-50 children we have coming every day, I think the program is a success."

Erla's Top Saginaw In Benefit Game

Cass City was a winner all around Saturday night as Erla's topped Banquet Frozen Foods in an exhibition softball game Saturday night, 2-1.

The game was a benefit for the Little League baseball in Cass City and netted over $26.

The game was a nine-inning affair and was a pitching duel between Al Bosen for Erla's and Guy Manke of Saginaw.

Manke whiffed 14 while allowing seven hits, while Bosen struck out 11 and allowed just three hits. The class A Saginaw team had been favored to win.

Cass City trailed 1-0 going into the sixth inning when hits by Wilson, Knoblet and Helwig netted the tying run and set the stage for the winning tally in the next inning.

In the seventh it was Wallace, Wilson and Knoblet who collected the hits that pushed the run across.

The benefit was the first of several that Erla's will be playing this summer. Also on the docket is a return game at Saginaw with Banquet Frozen Foods.

League Play
Tuesday, July 5, the team kept its undefeated record intact in the Uby Softball League by defeating Carlings in a slugfest, 10-6.

Carlings' outfit the Foodmen, 11-7, but seven walks, five in one inning, by Carlings' hurler was the difference in the game. Dan Erla went the distance for Erla's and was credited with the victory. Although hit hard, Erla walked just one man to hold down Carlings' scoring. Home runs were smashed by Stuart for Carlings and Hillaker and Hempton for Erla's.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE—THURSDAY, JULY 14, 1966

Slate Barley Tour At Six Farms

The annual Thumb Mating Barley Tour will be held Tuesday, July 19, reports Alfred P. Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent.

The group will arrive at the Loren Gettel farm of Pigeon at 1:15 p. m. and from there will go to the Sturm Bros. farm. They are to arrive at the Norman Ewald farm about 2:45 p. m., located three miles south of Unionville, where they will observe a field of Betzes variety.

After leaving the Ewald farm, they will arrive at 3:30 p. m. at a field of Conquest barley belonging to Roy Hickey on Vassar Road just south of Junction 138 or Fairgrove Road. Next stop, at 4:15 p. m., will be at Ree Bell and John Kirk fields of Larker and Betzes varieties, one mile south of Fairgrove and one-half mile east on Deckerville Road.

Starting at 7:00 p. m. will be a twilight meeting at the MSU barley and oats variety plots located on the E. C. Korthals farm on Bradleyville Road.

All interested barley growers are invited to join the tour at any stop.

When your family gets tired of snap beans served hot, try using the beans in a salad. Just marinate the cooked beans (fresh or canned) in a highly seasoned French dressing and serve on salad greens. Garnish with paper-thin onion rings, if desired.

Estimate Bridge Cost at $90,000

Bids were received by the Tuscola County Road Commission, July 13 in Lansing, for the construction of a new bridge over the Cass River on Deckerville Road.

The proposed bridge, located in Ellington township, will be 180 feet long, consist of three spans and will cost an estimated $90,000. It will be similar in construction to the bridges opened to traffic last year in Cass City and Tuscola. Construction is expected to begin in late August, opening to traffic in December. A temporary detour will be provided on Murray-Frankfort-East Dayton and Gun Club Roads.

Home Razed in One of 3 Fires

Fire left a family of six homeless Sunday as a blaze of undetermined origin razed the building they lived in four miles east and seven miles south of Cass City.

Homeless are Mr. and Mrs. John Lorance and four children.

It was one of three fire alarms answered by the Elkland Township Fire Department as excessively dry weather raised the fire index to critical heights.

Chief Nelson Willy warned combining farmers to be especially careful and recommended keeping water near the work area to quell blazes quickly.

In addition to the house fire Sunday, two grass fires were brought under control Saturday. Both were caused when burning trash spread out of control.

An 11:30 a. m. fire was extinguished at the Charles Peasley home in Cass City. Just prior to this blaze, a fire was reported at the Charles Bigelow home on East Cass City Road.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

A Country Home In Scotland--

By Marion Hostetler

The weekly paper, "Grit," carries a column called "Hotchpotch" which contains items like this one from the issue of June 26:

"The 17th-Century home of Annie Laurie is up for sale. The Laurie family has decided to let go of the property, Maxwellton House, in Dumfriesshire, Scotland. Annie was born there Dec. 16, 1682. Her first suitor, Capt. William Douglas, wrote the love song to her, but she married Alexander Ferguson, the son of a neighbor, and lived to the age of 81." How's that for packing history, romance, tragedy, and triumph into one paragraph?

But what I started to say was that Harold and Marion Oatley of Allen Park are leaving for Scotland on July 27, and will undoubtedly plan to visit Maxwellton House. Marion's father, the late Alex Milligan, and her uncle, the late Robert Milligan, were farmers on Maxwellton's braes before coming to Cass City as pioneers when they were young men. Some of the Oatley children will be visiting at the James A. Milligan farm home on the Bay City-Forestville Road while their parents are abroad.

And what I started to say was that if we have any readers who have been wishing for a country home in Scotland, we'll be happy to arrange with the Oatleys to do your dickering for you. . . if Maxwellton House is still on the market when they arrive. . . and unless they decide to settle down there themselves.

William Ware and Anson Henderson were talking over old times at Leo Ware's house not long ago. Will said, "One thing I can't figure out is why so many younger people are dying, and old men like us keep hanging on."

Anson, who at 90 has a few years of seniority, had a ready answer to that query: "The good die young."

All those oldsters who were expected to flock into the hospitals on July 1 to take advantage of Medicare must have decided that, the temperature being what it was, they would be wiser to stay at home in the rocking chair on the front porch.

That hot week had to be the one the dehumidifier in my office quit working. I took it to Ray Fleenor's shop for repairs, but Ray was out giving transfusions to overworked air conditioners. I had never met Mrs. Fleenor, but she said she knew me right away: "I saw your picture in the paper." And all this time I'd been telling myself I'm really better looking than that picture would lead you to believe!

I may be the only family man in Cass City who still uses a hand-power lawn mower. I've been telling Don, who does most of the mowing, that the old reel-type machine was lighter and quieter. . . and if it was a little harder to push, it would put his legs into condition for next year's track meets.

Now I see by the latest "Better Homes and Gardens" that hand-power lawn mowers are "enjoying quite a comeback." The mower pictured in the magazine is said to be lightweight, quiet, and easy to push. The manufacturer has even undercut one of the reasons for buying a power mower. . . prestige. The new hand mower costs $49.95, and at that price it should be quite a status symbol.

Scanning a book list the other day I noted that James Braid is author of a "classic, definitive work on hypnotism." Now I know how Pastor Jim handles all those Methodists so effortlessly. He hypnotizes 'em.

When somebody named Quick has been married twenty-five years, should he celebrate a Quick-silver Anniversary?

My theory that Cass City is the hub of the universe has apparently not been accepted by the county road commission. The road west of town is called "East Cass City Road, and south of town we have North Cemetery Road.

Mrs. Don E. Artz

Miss Beverly June Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Campbell of Uby, became the bride of Don E. Artz, June 25, in the Bad Axe Missionary Church before an altar of white gladioli, candelabra and white bows. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Artz of Dayton, Ohio. The service was officiated by Rev. Louis Campbell, brother of the bride, of Greenville, Ohio. He was assisted by Rev. J. Clement Schott of Pontiac, brother-in-law of the bride.

The bride chose a gown of imported chantilly lace and silk bombazine over taffeta. It featured a basque neckline and unpressed pleats which fell into a semi-bell skirt. A detachable train was appliqued with motifs and her fingertip veil was a blend of rayon and nylon with a silk-beaded crown. She carried red roses on a white Bible.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Krista Miller of South Bend, Indiana. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Edith Schott, sister of the bride, of Pontiac and Janet Wakefield of Detroit. They chose identical dresses of floor-length, powder blue silk organza over acetate satin, matching shoes, headpieces and veils. They each carried a cascade bouquet of dyed powder blue and white carnations with streamers.

The flower girls for the wedding were Debra and Shari Van Allen, nieces of the bride, of Cass City. They wore floor-length dresses of acetate: satin and carried baskets of dyed blue and white carnations. The bride's mother wore an off-white suit with silver threads woven through the material. She wore a white gardenia with pink carnations and matching accessories. The bridegroom's mother chose a blue dress and wore a white gardenia with blue carnations.

Ron Artz, brother of the bridegroom, of Dayton, Ohio, was best man. Groomsmen were David Edmiston and John Kenton, also of Dayton. Ushers were Graydon Campbell, Bad Axe, and Dwight Bowers, South Bend, Ind.

Organist was Mrs. Karen Artz of Springfield, Ohio.

After a reception held at the Bad Axe Farm Bureau building where they entertained 200 guests, the couple left for the Smoky Mountains and Virginia Beach.

The bride is presently employed as a telephone operator for Bell Telephone in South Bend, Ind. The bridegroom is a senior at Bethel College, Mishawaka, Ind., where he is majoring in education and science. He plans on teaching. He is now employed in construction work.

Legion Auxiliary Officers Installed

Thirty were present Monday evening when the American Legion Auxiliary met at the Legion hall.

Mrs. William Donnelly presided over a short business meeting, after which officers were installed for the coming year by Mrs. Vern McConnell, past unit president, assisted by Peggy McConnell, sergeant at arms, and Mrs. Glenn McClure, chaplain. Mrs. Donnelly was presented with her past president's pin and a gift from the unit.

In the business meeting Mrs. McConnell and Mrs. Garrison Stine were elected delegates to the district meetings for the coming year. Mrs. Doris Klinkman and Mrs. Leo Tracy are alternates.

Linda Calka gave an account of Wolverine Girls State in Ann Arbor which she attended in June. The organization, which started in 1938, this year had 462 girls from all parts of Michigan in attendance. Miss Calka reported that she returned from Girls State with an increased appreciation of citizenship, government and politics. Four well-known Michigan persons addressed Girls State, including Mrs. Lenore Romney, Michigan's first lady, former governor G. Mennen Williams, Mrs. Ely Peterson and Neil Staebler.

At the close of the Monday night meeting a potluck lunch was enjoyed. Door prizes went to Mrs. Doris Klinkman and Debra Francis.

Mrs. Henry Cherry of Caro is the newly-installed president for the coming year.

Washington is the Evergreen State.

Shabbona News

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Wheeler were host and hostess for the Wheeler reunion held Sunday, July 10, at Wheeler School. Fifty-eight attended from Ann Arbor, Mayville, Shepherd, Mt. Clemens, Waterford and the local area. The 1967 reunion will be held the same place with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wheeler, Grace and Clayton Wheeler as hosts and hostesses. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Severance and family spent July 4 with Mrs. Paul Auslander. The Shabbona MYF will meet at the church at 7:00 p. m. Friday evening, July 15, to go swimming at the lake. Everyone is asked to bring their own hot dogs and buns. Parents are invited to attend. Mr. and Mrs. Clair Auslander and Dale spent six days including the July 4 week end in western Michigan and Wisconsin. They visited the Wisconsin Dells and viewed "A Day in Old Milwaukee" parade on July 4.

Don't discard that worn, rubber bowl scraper. It is wonderful for mixing paints or cleaning out paint cans.

Owen-Gage Board Names Officers

The Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools held their regular school board meeting July 6 to re-elect the following officers on the Board of Education: Burton Roth, president; Leo Saurynck, vice-president; Fred Cooley, secretary; Thomas Laurie, treasurer, and Omar Hafner, Eldon Dietzel and Richard Ziehm, trustees.

IT SEEMS TO ME Father Arnold Messing Speaks to Methodists

The Rev. James Nixon, who made the news columns recently by being transferred from the Grosse Pointe Methodist Church to the State Street Methodist Church, Saginaw, is no stranger to Cass City Methodists. A friend of long-standing of mine, he addressed a family night crowd here five or six years ago. According to the June 16 issue of The Christian Advocate: "Mr. Nixon has been involved in considerable controversy during his six-year pastorate in the prestigious all-white suburb (of Detroit). He was arrested in Jackson, Miss., during a 1963 attempt to integrate all-white Methodist Churches there. In March of this year, Mr. Nixon placed an ad in a Detroit Negro newspaper announcing that Grosse Pointe Methodist Church was open to all races, an action in line with a conference-wide decision to publicize Methodism's stand on race." The State Street Methodist Church has been served for more than a decade by the Rev. William Rickard, a seminary friend of mine and brother-in-law of the Rev. Ralph Churchill, former pastor at Caro. Cass City Methodists will get an ample opportunity to know Mr. Rickard as their new District Superintendent. He is expected to serve in that capacity for six years.

Imagine our surprise when my daughter Lynn said, just as we were leaving the June 15-18 sessions of the Detroit annual conference, "Look! Father Messing is on the platform!" After assuring her that this could never be, I took a look and verified that Fr. Messing was indeed on the platform! He was there, we learned later, to talk about what local churches can do in sponsoring overseas relief through CARE and allied groups.

Two sexy young starlets were sipping drinks in a Hollywood bar. "You remember that backless, frontless, sideless evening gown I wore to that sneak preview last week?" asked the first. "Sure do," said her friend, "It was a sensation!" "Well, I just found out it's only a belt."

From the study of the Rev. Melvin Vender: (1) All people in hospitals on July 1 (65 or older) will immediately be eligible for Medicare. (2) Newlyweds and others may find help in planning family finances in "A Guide To Budgeting For The Family," by sending a postcard request to: Office of Information, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C. 20250.

Chaplain Roy C. DeLamotte recently preached to a congregation of 450 students at Paine College in Augusta, Ga., "675968346522; 773552-9884; 67665-90811912.332?" he asked after a thoughtful pause. The students squirmed in their seats and looked at each other in puzzlement, as the chaplain went on: "6776689-32415.6; 65678443; 722-89-0115.0151," and there was more of the same. In a more conventional postscript he told the students that every sermon they hear will seem just as empty and meaningless as his mathematical sermon "until you are willing to do God's will." Extreme methods like this may be called for in a few cases, but only in a few. Or so it seems to me!

In this most critical of times, Two problems we shall face: (1) Taking off five pounds or more; (2) Finding a parking space.

The Rev. Donald Healy of northern Michigan, the newlyweds will reside in Mt. Pleasant. The bride approached the altar wearing a gown of treebark crepe fashioned with an A-line skirt. Its Empire waistline was trimmed with a single wide band of Venice lace. The double organdy Watteau train was banded with matching lace. The bride's headpiece of looped braid was trimmed with lace and seed pearls and held a short veil of silk illusion. She carried a colonial bouquet of daisies and gerberia.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Miss Shelley Graves of Grand Rapids. She wore a floor-length sheath of yellow linen trimmed with bands of moss green at the Empire waistline. Falling from the back of the waist were long tubular panels of moss green. Bells of Ireland were fashioned to form her headband. She carried an arrangement of daisies and Bells of Ireland.

The bride's mother wore a silk linen sheath suit of ice blue with matching accessories. The mother of the groom wore a crystal pleated blue print dress with white accessories. Both mothers wore cymbidium orchid corsages.
