

Early Next Year?

College Vote Unlikely Soon

It has been some four months since the citizens' advisory committee for the Community College for the tri-county area submitted its final recommendations for a new facility to be erected somewhere in the area of M-53 and M-81.

Since that time little has been heard about the proposed new school.

According to Max S. Smith, of Michigan State University who conducted the study, the application now pending before the State Board of Education is proceeding normally.

I talked with Dr. Ferris Crawford, executive secretary of the State Board, and he reported that the application has been reviewed favorably, Smith said.

The next step will be a review of the requests of two school districts (Croswell-Lexington and Millington) to be removed from the three-county district that will support the new school. The requests of these districts will be reviewed at a special session of the State Board and a decision rendered.

It is not likely that a vote on the new school will be held this year. The special election necessary must be called by the Intermediate School Districts of the three counties and the necessary steps can't start until after the hearing with the State Board is conducted.

When approval of the request is issued by the State Board, the county boards will be free to act.

It takes at least 60 days to hold a special election.

The study committee had recommended that two mills be raised for both the operation and the erection of the Community college and vocational centers for work at the high school level.

Community colleges are the fastest growing segment of secondary education in the state, authorities say. As costs of education grow and classroom space becomes more and more scarce at four-year universities, the demand for community colleges has skyrocketed and as a result the colleges are springing up throughout Michigan.

Appoint Lawyer For Milton Shields

Milton Shields, 30, of Bay City, accused of attempted murder and rape, was appointed an attorney in Tuscola County Circuit Court Wednesday, Aug. 3.

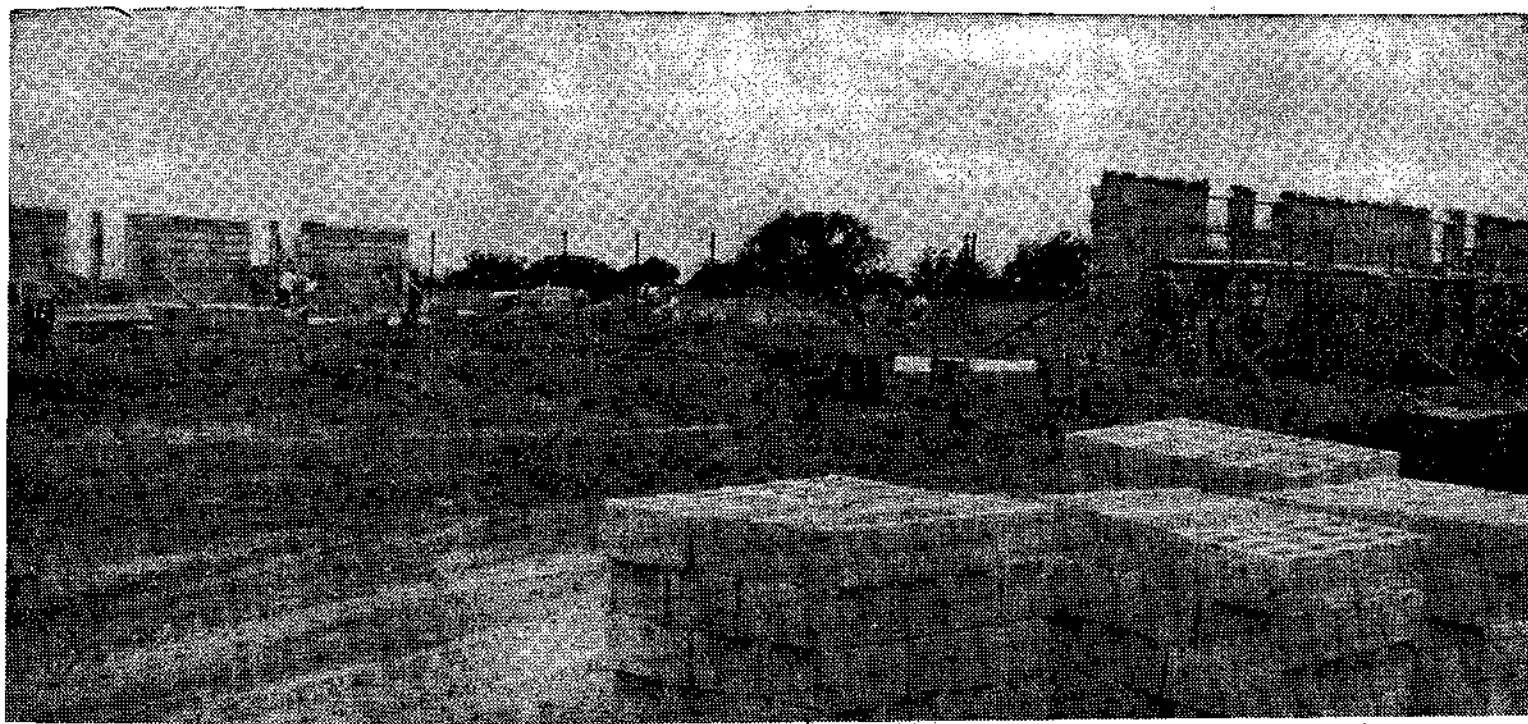

Judge James Churchill appointed Roland Kern to defend Shields, who is charged with attempted murder and rape, for beating up a Bay City girl, leaving her nude and slashed 33 times.

Other cases heard in court included the arraignment of Richard Brock and David Curtis for breaking and entering the Club Restaurant of Caro July 21.

The men pleaded guilty and Judge Churchill ordered a presentence investigation. Sentence will be passed Sept. 12.

The Free Flow Fertilizer Co. of Maumee, O., was awarded a default judgment against George Foster, owner of Foster Feed and Supply of Millington.

The judgment was for $4,786.97 for a past due fertilizer bill, plus court costs of $34.60.

IT IS DOUBTFUL if the new high school building will be completed in time to admit classes for the start of the 1967-68 school year, but progress in recent weeks has been noticeable as the construction of the walls start. (Chronicle photo)

From the Editor's Corner

A large cloud of smoke waited its way across Cass City ahead of a moderate breeze Thursday afternoon and persons who saw it knew that the community was in for another unpleasant sight.

For the smoke came from burning in the village dump and with it came a stench that has much of the community up in arms.

One lady reported that the smell from the burning of the rubbish actually made her ill and another person reportedly tried to call every councilman in the village about the problem.

Councilmen, of course, are aware of the crying need for action. They have investigated and rejected for one reason or another at least a half dozen sites for a new dump in the last decade.

It has been on the council's agenda for 10 years. Now the State is on the backs of all units of government and under the law a dump must be built that is effective, but very expensive. Every community must comply in the near future.

But until a new dump is forced on the village, it is likely that Cass City will struggle with the one it has.

The council will be well advised to take measures to stop burning the rubbish that causes the odor even though it causes a hardship in operating the dump site already bulging at the seams.

It is likely that a complaint to the proper State authorities would bring fast action and place Cass City in the untenable position of being forced to act at once without any place to turn.

School Opens Sept. 6

Supt. Crouse Takes Dim View Of North Central Accreditation

Supt. Donald Crouse doesn't think that accreditation by the North Central Accreditation Committee is too important for Cass City High School.

Crouse voiced his opinion to members of the Cass City School Board at their regular session Monday at the school.

The remark came after discussion of curriculum by the board. Mrs. Geraldine Priesskorn said that she would like to see a committee appointed to start planning a new enlarged curriculum to be used when more space becomes available as the high school moves into its new quarters.

We should start thinking of physical education for girls, an enlarged library and more teaching aids so that we can become accredited by North Central, Mrs. Priesskorn asserted.

It was here that Crouse said that he felt that accreditation by the agency wasn't too important. He explained his position later by saying that the North Central was a high school accrediting agency.

It pays no attention to the caliber of instruction in the junior high or elementary schools. For this reason, if there is a shortage of money or space, the high school receives the primary attention, often at the expense of the lower grades, Crouse feels.

Regardless of whether or not accreditation is necessary, Mrs. Priesskorn said, the need for curriculum improvement before moving into the new school is needed. I'd like to see action now.

Crouse agreed that curriculum improvement is always necessary, but said that planning a new schedule and hiring teachers to fill it would be impossible before moving into the building.

If we planned on moving in before the 1967-68 school year starts and were delayed for three or four months, all of these plans would be fruitless, Crouse said.

We should be in the building before planning major changes, Crouse said.

Teacher Shortage
The most perplexing problem facing the school at this time is the shortage of teachers. Authorities say that state-wide the shortage is more critical this year than ever before.

Cass City is no exception. There are no prospects to replace Ronald Walker in instrumental music. Other vacancies without prospects are social studies, junior high math and later elementary.

Executive Schedule
In the executive session, which bars the public, the board decided to ask for applications for a head cook at the school to replace Mrs. Lucille Wright, who resigned. George Elliott's contract was increased by two weeks at a pro-rated salary boost. The counselor will receive $7,800 for the year.

Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. Bernard Freiburger, principals at Evergreen and Deford, will receive $500 additional for their administrative work.

School Schedule
Crouse presented the tentative school schedule to the board and it will remain essentially as it was the previous year.

School will start Tuesday, Sept. 6, in the afternoon. Final day for classes will be Friday, June 2. Students will have 177 attendance days and 182 membership days.

Reflecting the times, there was a brief discussion over the advisability of eliminating the day off for pheasant hunting.

The board decided to go along with the tradition even though hunting is so poor that the day no longer has practical value, members feel.

To Speed Court Cases

Judge Churchill Plans New System

Judge James Churchill this week said that he is working on a plan that he hopes will speed up handling of the ever increasing case load in his circuit of Tuscola and Lapeer counties.

Presently, Churchill said, court is held for a week in Lapeer and then a week in Tuscola county. Under the new plan this will change.

Mondays will be reserved for motion days. Presently motions are heard Monday in Lapeer and Tuesday in Caro. Under the speeded up schedule Lapeer will be handled in the morning and Caro in the afternoon.

But outside of motions, court will be held continuously in Lapeer county for three weeks and then in Tuscola county for three weeks.

How will this speed up the handling of cases? Judge Churchill explains it this way. At the present

Mrs. Freiburger Principal at Deford School

Mrs. Jacqueline Freiburger was named principal of Deford elementary school Monday night by the Cass City Board of Education.

Mrs. Freiburger, a veteran teacher, moved up to the new post after five years in the Cass City system. Before coming to Cass City she taught at Caro.

While at Cass City, Mrs. Freiburger taught in the first, second and fifth grades. This spring she was awarded her master's degree from Central Michigan University.

She attended Marlette High School and is the wife of Bernard Freiburger, Cass City businessman.

The couple has three children: Linda, a student at CMU, and Bernard and Kurt, at home.

Cass City School Board

Bids Let but Policy Hazy

An estimated $20,000 worth of business for gas and fuel oil for the Cass City School District was awarded on the basis of bids, but still unresolved was the basic policy of the board in awarding business.

The question that plagues members of the board is when to take the low bid and when to take a bid from a local person, even though it is very slightly higher. Monday night at the regular session, the board decided in favor of the local vendor. The low bid for number four fuel oil was 9.45 and was submitted by Enterprise Oil Co. of Detroit. The next low bids of 9.5 were submitted by Frank Meiser's Service and Leonard Service. On the estimated 50,000 gallons used, the difference in the low bid and the next higher bid is $23. Total cost for the number four fuel is estimated at $4,750.

Board members agreed to the discarding of the low bid, but did not agree on the awarding of the contract between the next two low bidders.

A motion to award the business to Meiser's was endorsed by President Horace Bulen, Donald Reid and Mrs. Geraldine Priesskorn. Voting against this motion were Donald Koepfgen, Kenneth Maharg and William Ruhl.

Those favoring Meiser wanted to rotate the business between local vendors. Those against said that the fuel and service was satisfactory from Leonard and that they were against changing unless the price was lower. They maintained that Leonard owned the station building and is a local taxpayer also.

The 3-3 tie was made possible because Elwyn Helwig, board member, was away on vacation. After more discussion, another vote was held and Reid switched his vote to "get the bids awarded".

No Trouble
The remainder of the bids was awarded without difficulty as Cass City Oil and Gas Co. was both low and local.

The company's low bids for an estimated $8,700 worth of gasoline business were:

Purpose	Gallon Price
Cass City School	23.9
Driver Training	24.9
Evergreen School	24.65
Cass City Oil and Gas's low bids for number two fuel oil were:
Cass City	10.65
Deford	10.25
Evergreen	10.25

Bids for the various fuels were slightly less than the bids submitted for the last school year.

Insurance Bids
While bids for fuel were not appreciably changed, insurance rates jumped sharply. The base bid jumped some $200. A bid submitted by James Williams was low. His bid for the fleet insurance and for an added provision covering driving of non-school-owned cars on school business totaled $866.32. The second low bidder, Peter Rienstra, was just over this figure with a bid of $867.87.

Campbell Again Regional Mich. Week Chairman

Appointment of Willis Campbell, former Cass City school superintendent, as regional chairman of Michigan Week for the second year, was announced today by Postmaster Edward Baker of Detroit, deputy general chairman for southeastern Michigan.

This region consists of Huron, Lapeer, St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola counties. The state is organized into 16 regions for Michigan Week activity.

Campbell will name his five county chairmen very soon and all counties and communities of the region will be expected to have their Michigan Week councils organized by early fall, Mr. Baker said. The 1967 Michigan Week dates are May 21-27.

Campbell was widely praised for his leadership of the 1966 Michigan Week. This is region no. 14 in the Michigan Week organization. The state chairman for 1967 is Dr. Edgar L. Harden, president of Northern Michigan University at Marquette.

Supervisors Okay Salary Boost For Kroswek

Civil Defense Director Frank Kroswek was granted a $200 increase in pay Monday by the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors. The raise brings his salary to $5,750 per year.

The salary of the director is split between the county and the Federal government, each paying half of the costs.

The supervisors also voted to make their tax work easier by authorizing the purchase of an electronic computing machine for $10,900.

The machine will spread all of the taxes and perform the book-keeping work previously performed by the supervisors.

Each township will be charged 10 cents per description for having the new machine do the work.

The board also signed a three-year renewal lease for rent on county farm property with William Tomkins. The rate per year is $1,800.

Three Injured in Two-Car Crash

Three persons were injured Monday evening in a collision at the corner of M-24 and Gun Club Road, a mile south of Caro, when cars driven by George Robert Kloc, 19, of Cass City and Charles David Hoy, 75, of rural Caro collided.

Treated at Caro Community Hospital were Kloc, Hoy and Miss Christine Schwaderer of Kingston, a passenger in the Kloc vehicle. Miss Schwaderer suffered facial lacerations. Kloc and Hoy were treated and released.

The accident occurred when Kloc failed to see the Hoy car traveling south on M-24 and did not stop at the intersection.

Tuscola County Sheriff Department, which investigated, said that both cars were demolished in the crash.

Miss Schwaderer is working as a summer employee at the Chronicle.

Griffin Slates Tour, Luncheon In Cass City Area

Senator Robert Griffin will barnstorm through the Thumb Friday with a stop along Cass City's Main Street from 1:30 to 2:20 p. m. in his campaign for re-election as United States Senator.

His tour will start with a talk over WKY in Caro Friday morning and a luncheon at 12:15 at Sherwood Forest Country Club in Gagetown will follow.

The luncheon is open to the public and tickets can be purchased from Carl Mantey in Caro, or at the door.

Following his Cass City visit he will tour Elkton, Pigeon and Bad Axe, ending the day at the Huron County Fair where he will crown the bean queen.

Boost Payments for Coaching

As expected, the board of Cass City School District approved the master contract of the teachers Monday night in its regular session and then settled on the extra salary schedule for coaches at the school.

The total package passed by the board and approved by the coaches will boost costs $1,025, from $3,250 to $4,275 for the year.

The package agreed upon by all parties places the coaching salaries at the upper level of the pay scale for Thumb B Conference schools.

The total cost is under the amounts paid by Caro, Lapeer and Vassar, but only because junior high coaches are not available for track and baseball. If these positions were filled at the same rate that junior high basketball and football coaches receive, the salary schedule would be second only to Caro in the Conference. Caro's coaching staff receives a total of $6,200.

The head football and basketball coaches were jumped from $550 yearly to $600.

The junior varsity schedule for basketball and football coaches was jumped from $300 to $375 and junior high coaches' salaries in all sports were increased from $150 to $250.

The head baseball and track coaches will receive $350 yearly, up from last year's $250.

DeLongs' Myriad Ribbons and Trophies Attest to Half Century in 4-H Work

Fourteen blue ribbons, 22 red ribbons, seven white ribbons, a first-place junior calf, two state-show projects, the county 4-H queen and a combined total of 30 years of membership would be a fine showing for any 4-H club at the fair. But when those accomplishments belong to one family, it's enough to make anyone proud, especially the parents. The parents in this case are Mr. and Mrs. Donald DeLong of Cass City.

The DeLong children, all six of them, are avid members of the Cass City 4-H clubs - Needles and Kettles and Livestock Club - and all have exhibited at the fair.

4-H'ing runs in the DeLong family and has since before the DeLongs were married. DeLong showed dairy cattle in the Cass City club and Lucile exhibited sewing in Gagetown. DeLong now is the leader of the Cass City dairy cattle club while Mrs. DeLong works fair week as a cook for the 4-H'ers.

The DeLong children joined the 4-H movement at nine or ten years of age, near the minimum age limit. Because 19 is the maximum age limit, 19-year-old Francis didn't show this year. But his brothers and sisters did.

Duane, 17, and a club member for eight years, exhibited the second place junior cow and received two blue and 10 red ribbons for his showing of heifers, two-year-old milkers, senior calf and junior yearling.

Connie, 16, and a four-year veteran of Needles and Kettles and the Livestock Club, received six red ribbons for her showing in the senior calf division. She also exhibited in sewing, junior leadership, cooking and flower gardening. Her flower garden project received the state-show award which enables Miss DeLong to exhibit at the state fair.

Richard is 13, a four-year member of the 4-H club and already a veteran of the state fair. He exhibits swine, cattle and handicraft. This year he received four red ribbons with his junior yearling cattle.

Robert, only 12, is on his way to becoming a first-class showman after only three years in the club. By exhibiting in the junior heifer and senior calf divisions, he won five blue ribbons. In the Black and White show held last week, he came home with the prize junior heifer, junior champion calf and a trophy for judging other entries.

Dear Sir:
Well, it seems that Tuscola county has had a cockfight. The "World Series" of cockfighting. The Kentucky Derby of cockfighting that was held in two perfectly square pits that became circular as the story was passed on and on.

I knew about it a week ahead of time, says one official not to be outdone. Another law enforcement branch says, "we knew about it 10 days ahead of time."

Very smart men indeed. wouldn't you say? Let's take a closer look at the law that was broken, the law against cockfighting. A law passed mainly to put an end to the inhumane treatment of chickens.

But after the raid in the hands of our own officials and Michigan's finest these highly bred, well conditioned fowl in the peak of health were stuffed into a barn all together with no way to defend themselves except with the blunt spur that nature provided. This will not allow the quick, clean kill that every sportsman strives for in any form of fowling from pheasant hunting right through to cockfighting.

(Editor's note: No evidence has ever been submitted that these allegations are true. The Tuscola County Sheriff's Department has said only that the birds were destroyed.)

Our highest courts have handed down decision after decision against law enforcement using this form of entrapment, saying "the primary job of any law enforcement agency is the prevention of crime."

The cockers and spectators to a man stepped up and paid their fines so there would not be any reason to hold these fowl for evidence in a long-drawn out court case.

If this cockfight were stopped and run out of the county before it started none of this mess would have happened. They say that they would have went to another location and have their fight anyway. Maybe and maybe not. At least we would have known that our officials had done their best to enforce the law, by the law.

Bacterial Blight Serious in Beans

Bacterial blight is becoming increasingly serious on dry beans throughout Michigan due to the presence of weather conditions favorable for disease development, the use of cultural practices such as overhead irrigation which spread the disease, and the scarcity of disease-free or "clean" seed. Recent blight epidemics in certain areas of Michigan emphasize the fact that, at present, there are few, if any, dry bean varieties possessing genetic resistance to common and halo blights. The bacteria causing these blights are subject themselves to genetic changes which may enable them to attack bean varieties formerly thought to be resistant. Therefore, the use of chemical treatments is also being considered as a possible means of reducing losses in bean yields and seed quality.

Michigan State University, in cooperation with the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is conducting trials in bean growing throughout the state, using different chemicals and methods of application. In Tuscola county, a number of copper-containing compounds are being applied from the air at weekly intervals to Red Kidney, Navy and Marrow beans. The experiments are located on the Paul Monteil farm, 2½ miles east of Fairgrove, and the Orville Beitz farm in Columbia township.

The airplane used for spraying is equipped with Micronair atomizer applicator, a new type of spraying device which does not employ the conventional boom and nozzles. Instead, the unit consists of a series of rotating atomizers mounted below the wing surface. This unique applicator is capable of applying a relatively high volume of spray material and still maintain the fine droplet size necessary to provide protective coverage on plants. The plane, a Snow, was designed particularly for agricultural spraying and is equipped with adequate horsepower to carry 150 or more gallons of spray.

Five Day Sanilac

Fair Opens Tuesday

The five-day Sanilac County 4-H Fair opens Tuesday at Sandusky and traditional fair events have been scheduled to highlight the activities.

The emphasis is again on the exhibits and well over $7,000 in prizes for 4-H, FFA and adult exhibits will be presented before the fair ends Saturday.

The opening day show will be highlighted by horse judging in the morning and the traditional Sanilac Saddle Club Show in the evening.

Wednesday all 4-H exhibits with the exception of Livestock will be judged. "King" Kovaz, international auto daredevil show, will be shown in the evening.

Thursday will be highlighted by Livestock judging during the day. In the evening a market livestock sale will be held in front of the grandstand. 4-H and FFA livestock will be sold. It will be the first sale ever held at the Sanilac Fair.

Friday, 4-H horse judging will be held and the "Hollywood Stunt Stars" will perform in the evening.

Saturday at 1 p. m. a tractor pulling contest is slated. It will be followed by the annual parade of livestock, floats and machinery. In the evening, horse and pony pulling contests will conclude the show.

DeLONG FAMILY

name of the game, he beat out his other brother with a first-place junior Holstein calf. Bob also shows handicraft.

The last of the DeLongs is 11 and has belonged to 4-H for two years. Donna exhibits in sewing, cooking, handicraft and flower garlands. Like her older sister, her flowers won state show. They won't be competing against each other, however, because of the age difference.

Donna was also this year's Tuscola County 4-H queen and reigned over the county 4-Hers at the fair. She won the title by selling the most tickets on the cow, sheep and swine to be given away by the 4-H council.

Although the DeLong children are 4-H veterans and enjoy their work, they are just like any other children when it comes to having something finished on time. "They need a little prodding around fair time," says their mother.

"Not me!" says Bob, who raises his cattle as a year-round project.

Cooking is considered a summer program and sewing a winter activity. Each takes up about four or five months. 4-H'ing on the farm keeps the DeLongs busy.

"It gives the boys a start," commented their father, "and it gives them something to call their own."

"It gives the girls some practical experience in home-making," added Mrs. DeLong. "They take over cooking chores and can sew most of their own clothes."

SPORTS FANS

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by H. M. Bulen

Do you know what was the biggest score ever run up in a college football game? Answer is 227-0. Dickinson beat Haverford in 1900 by that score. The highest score ever made by a major college team was when Georgia Tech beat Cumberland in 1916, 222-0.

Did you ever wonder who was the smallest man ever to play big-time pro football? That honor goes to Buddy Young who was a star runner in the 1940s and 1950s. Buddy was only 5'4". But he was a regular for six years in the rough, tough National Football League.

Everybody always associates Babe Ruth with the Yankees, but how many fans know he also played with two other teams in the big leagues? Can you name the teams Ruth played for, besides the Yanks? Answer is the Red Sox and the Braves.

BULLETIN

Mrs. Floyd Reid of Cass City died early Wednesday morning at Clarkston. Funeral arrangements were not complete at press time.

Frozen Food Can Still Be Poisoned

Freezing foods doesn't completely avoid chances of food spoilage. Temperatures below freezing only retard the growth of bacteria and organisms that cause food spoilage.

Mrs. Ann Ross, home economist with the Cooperative Extension Service in Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties, stresses that when temperatures return to 40 degrees and higher, food spoilage starts again. For this reason she recommends starting to cook foods while they're still in a frozen state, whenever possible. Most frozen prepared foods can be taken directly from the freezer to the oven or range.

If food must be thawed before preparing, cook them as soon as they're thawed. Thawing in a refrigerator is recommended for poultry.

Mrs. Ross explains that to really be sure of keeping quality in frozen foods, the temperature in the freezer should be 0 degrees or below all the time.

"The most common cause of loss of quality in frozen foods is storage at too high a temperature," she says. "Frozen foods can deteriorate from a single exposure to temperature that is much too high, or from repeated exposures to temperatures only a few degrees too high."

"Organisms that could cause food spoilage that are already on food or transferred to food before it's frozen will still be there when the food thaws. Often you won't notice a change in the appearance or taste, but can risk food poisoning without knowing it," Mrs. Ross adds.

Lengths of time recommended for keeping frozen foods vary, she says. They range from one month for ice cream to 12 months for some fruits and vegetables and some meats. No storage time longer than 12 months is recommended. Information on the recommended storage times is available from her office, Mrs. Ross concluded.

Census Shows Large Farms in Thumb

The most recent census data for Michigan's agriculture shows that there were 6.7 million acres of cropland in Michigan in 1964. The average farm had 101 acres of cropland. The biggest farms, averaging 114 acres of cropland were found in the Thumb area - Arenac, Bay, Saginaw, Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

Michigan State University scientists expect the total of harvested cropland to drop to 5.8 million acres by 1980. But average farm size will increase by about 60 acres of cropland, since the number of commercial farmers is expected to drop from a little more than 60,000 in 1964 to 37,000 in 1980.

Seven girls from the Needles and Kettles 4-H Club had exhibits selected at the Tuscola County Fair for the State 4-H Show, to be held in Lansing Aug. 23-26.

The flower arrangements exhibited by Connie DeLong and Margie Clarke and the annual flowers grown by Dianna Fisher, Donna DeLong and Sharon Clarke were among the State Show selections in flower gardening.

Three plant science projects also selected for State Show were exhibited by Margaret Battel, Ruthann Cummins and Margie Clarke.

Other blue ribbons awarded in flower gardening went to Margaret Battel and Ruthann Cummins for flower arranging and to Sharon Clarke for indoor gardening.

The foods project produced a State Show selection for Margie Clarke with Margaret Battel as alternate in action demonstrations. Other blue ribbon winners in foods were Carol Clarke, action demonstration; Becky Loomis and Susan Brown, quick breads; Donna DeLong and Sharon Clarke, cake squares; Carol Clarke, Paula Karr and Ruthann Cummins, outdoor cooking "buddy burners".

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Write A Letter... Become My Friend

By Marion Hostetler

In these days of applied psychology it is considered quite important to have an attractive name for any new concern. Should Loren call his new society something like the Church of Beauty, or would it be better to emphasize the other aspect and call it the Faith Beauty Shop? Or should he cast the old completely aside and start out with a name like Happiness House?

The way you say something makes quite a difference.

A monk asked his superior whether it was permissible to smoke while he was praying, and was told, "Of course not."

Another monk asked whether it was all right to pray while he was smoking, and the superior said, "Certainly. Any time is a good time to pray."

But whatever you call a new concern, nothing ever works exactly as it was intended to. It would indeed be heaven on earth, if a merchant never stocked any unsalable merchandise. . . . and people never ate any more food than they really needed. . . . and all the Christians really loved their neighbors. . . . and pupils in school remembered everything that is in their books. But even the longest-lasting of "permanent" waves is only temporary, and even those who are most sure that they possess "eternal" life seem to keep coming back once a week for new guidance and inspiration.

Shortly after he retired following a long period of service on the psychiatric staff at Traverse City State Hospital, Dr. Haynes said to me, "I have never yet met a person who could persuade me that he wasn't miserable." I suppose we'd all agree that the Traverse City State Hospital is a less likely hunting ground than Hawaii would be, if we were going to look for a truly happy man. And yet who would contend that his own life was without misery?

With all that misery in the world, there ought to be quite a demand for Loren Hewitt's Church of Beauty and Happiness. . . . or else for the other kind of church that was founded by a Man of sorrows, acquainted with grief.

My good friend Paul Soini, of Bad Axe, writes a Sunday column for the Port Huron Times Herald which often consists of stories about "my dear friend So-and-So, whom I have known for seventeen years (or twenty-eight years, or whatever the period may have been)". Paul has so many friends . . . and I consider it a privilege to be numbered among them. . . . that every week something of interest is bound to happen in the lives of two or three of them.

But since this column is intended to be about Cass City folks, and since my good wife is the only friend I have known for twenty-eight years who now lives in Cass City, it isn't possible for me to follow Paul Soini's formula. The best I can do is to write about friends of more recent vintage.

So today I want to tell you about my dear friend Loren Hewitt, whom I have never met. Loren wrote to me from his home in "Captain Cooke, Hawaii" about a recent Hodgepodge column, and anybody who writes a fan letter about Hodgepodge becomes a dear old friend of mine. . . . instantly.

His letter had to do with the column in which I said that churches and beauty parlors both make people happier, and hence better looking, although they use quite different methods. He wonders why nobody has thought of turning the churches into beauty parlors. "Then they would have the most beautiful folks in the world in the churches, and with all the money they spend on beauty, that would make them the richest, most beautiful folks outside of heaven."

That sounds like a capital idea, and Loren has my permission to start up a salon like that any time he wants to. In fact, I should think Hawaii would be the ideal place to begin, if the tourist folders are correct in hinting that Hawaii is the most delightful place this side of heaven.

One objection to the proposal might be that if the people in Hawaii are really as supple and contented as we are led to suppose, they might not want to be bothered with any establishment designed to make them happier and better looking.

IT SEEMS TO ME

It Was Cass City On Sand Pointe

By the Rev. R. J. Searls

A pleasant vacation leaves one with a sort of "afterglow" as he relives in his memory the high points of that vacation. I was no sooner in the door of our modest little domicile when I got the word that Dorothy Haire had called to tell me that they had used all of my columns up and would expect one the first thing on Monday. My first reaction was to tell Mrs. H where to go (for her vacation, of course,) and how to get there. But I never stay angry long, especially since after vacation I could need the 'dough', the 'do-re-me', the remuneration, the pay.

The Searlses rented a cabin on Sand Pointe near Cassville and by the first evening discovered that many citizens of Cass City were located in the vicinity. Amer Krueger was the first of our village's citizens to 'come to call.' He was followed by Mrs. Krueger.

About that time, our daughter Marsha learned that the Bill Johnston family, who normally reside just two doors from us, were in a cottage (you guessed it) just two doors away. Next was friend 'Whit' Bolen, who had a hand in suggesting whom to call when we decided to vacation at Sand Pointe. She told us just where a great many other Cass City citizens could be located.

The following evening when I was sitting on the patio all alone, I was brought back from my reveries by "Beanie" Bolen who thoughtfully invited me to go with him for a ride in his launch. Since I had just been watching some people having some nice cool boat rides, and wished that I could do likewise, I snapped up his invitation before he could change his mind! Taking my son's car to the Bolen's home on the point, I was soon riding about the bay, just as if I were normal. "Beanie" pointed out the summer homes of still more Cass Cityites. The time just sped by and our running lights were on when Mr. Bolen unceremoniously piloted us back to the same dock we had left.

Among others we saw at Sand Pointe, Marian Douglas stopped by for a few minutes. Heretofore, one of the prime requisites for vacationing in our family had been privacy. After a year of being in the middle of everything, I, like Greta Garbo, just wanted to be left alone. I discovered just how much fun it is to vacation with thoughtful friends. Or, so it seems to me.

Seeing the pressures being put on the Internal Revenue Service not to carry out its ruling about religious deductions on Income Tax makes me throw up my hands in horror. I know that larger gifts are possible to individual churches if the IRS allows such gifts to be spread across several years. But, certainly some better method can be found to finance the work of the church and its allied projects. I liked the action I read about a few years ago, in which a church divided its building fund in such a way that at the same time as their new church was being built a new mission church was also being built, courtesy of the other church. I know that it is visionary and some hard-headed businessmen will sneer at the idea, but it at least delivers a church from parochialism. Or, so it seems to me!

This 'N That: At Eastern Michigan University recently, The Newman Club (Catholic student group) and the Wesley Foundation (Methodist student club) jointly gave an award to finest piece of art work exhibited at an art exhibit.

In England, cigarettes will no longer be advertised when their current contracts expire. Cigarette advertising on the two media stopped by mutual agreement ten months ago. One of the few acclaimed woman preachers of Detroit is the Rev. Elsie Johns, just beginning her 26th year as pastor of the Clarenceville Methodist Church. When she was assigned to that parish 26 years ago, she found only a handful of church members. Today there are more than 1,500! A grateful congregation is sending Miss Johns on a trip around the world. Much could be written about Elsie, but the brand new church (the third church building used by her congregation) says it for me. Or, so it seems to me!

Letter to Editor

Cass City Chronicle.
Gentlemen:
Today I received the Chronicle dated July 28th. I did not receive the issue of July 21st. Possibly the Post Office is at fault. Also the envelope in which you mail the Chronicle is open at the end and the paper may have slipped out of the envelope leaving no address on the newspaper.
Being a Cass City home-town boy, I read all the details in the Chronicle. The Chronicle is sure doing an outstanding job in covering the news of the community.
Yours very truly,

More Chance for Food Poisoning In Summer

Meats-salad mixtures, sandwich mixes, and improperly refrigerated foods common in summer may mean increased chances of food poisoning or your family.
Mrs. Anita Dear, nutritionist with the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service, points out that food poisoning is possible at any time of year. However, it is more common in summer because bacteria causing food poisoning need warmth to grow. She noted that bacteria can grow in a 45 degree temperature. However, they grow faster with warmer temperatures. Bacteria also need food and moisture to survive.
The food poisoning problem with home canned foods is most likely in low acid foods such as vegetables, meat and poultry. They are hard to sterilize. Some organisms that live in the absence of air - one of them causes botulism - will grow and spoil food in closed containers. This means that you should not use any food from a container with a bulging cap or lid, from leaking can or jar, with rancid or putrid odor, or from a can that spurts or foams when you open it.
The homemaker who is informed and alert to possible sources of food poisoning is more able to make safe and sound decisions in food buying, storing, handling and preparation.
Mrs. Ayn Ross, Extension Home Economist for Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties, has a story of Mrs. Dean's new bulletin, "Prevent Food Poisoning". The bulletin is available without charge from the Cooperative Extension Offices in Federal Building, Sanilac; Courthouse, Caro, or Courthouse, Bad Axe.

Legal Snags Stay Decision In License Patronage Case

Wheels of government often move exceedingly slow. Witness a case which was heatedly debated two years ago and now flairs anew.
Early in 1964, the State Civil Service Commission began fighting to get the larger Secretary of State fee branches under its jurisdiction. These are the offices which distribute auto license plates.
For decades, the Secretary of State has been blessed with one of the largest patronage organizations in these fee branches. He decides where branch offices should be and who should manage the offices.
Contention of the Civil Service Commission is that the largest of these, primarily in large metropolitan areas, employ several full-time people and do a volume of business which warrants their inclusion under the civil service setup.
The Commission ordered fee payments stopped as of June 30, 1964 to the selected large offices. Civil Service examinations were given and over 150 top rankers on the written test were interviewed orally that spring to allow the Commission to establish a roster of available managers.
When the state treasurer failed to stop the payments, the Commission took the case to the Ingham County Circuit Court.
Jurisdiction of the case in the Circuit Court was challenged by the Secretary of State, who contended a decision on the matter should come from the new Court of Appeals.
Thus, a two-year stall occurred until recently when the Court of Appeals decided the question before it. The question, however, simply meant the renewal of the basic issue of whether the large branches should be changed from fee offices to Civil Service salary-pay basis.
The Court of Appeals decision said only that the Circuit Court did have jurisdiction in the matter.
Thus, a fight which was almost forgotten will start anew. How long it lasts could be considerable because Circuit Court dockets throughout the state are heavy and the Ingham County bench is no exception.
No doubt any decision at the Circuit level will be appealed by the losing side so it could be a good many years before a final decision is known on whether certain license plate offices will be brought under Civil Service.
Student Help
Despite a late start, an undetermined number of fall freshmen in Michigan will get state assistance with the high cost of attending private colleges and universities.
Questions of church-state separation were sharply debated before the Legislature gave approval to a $3.5 million appropriation which became law Aug. 1. It provides scholarships to students at private schools recognized by the State Board of Education.
Some 40 institutions would be included in the eligible list, most of them church-related.
Students could be eligible for scholarships under the new law if their family's income was $10,000 or less, with smaller amounts being available to youths from the higher income families.
With just over a month to mull over an estimated 7,000 applications, officials in the Department of Education anticipate little difficulty in distributing the $100-$500 grants provided under the law.
Support for the scholarship program was based largely on the idea of encouraging students to enroll at private colleges and possibly relieve some of the pressure on the public institutions. Enrollments at the private schools had been dropping in recent years.
Hat and Ring
Hardly a day goes by without some national columnist mentioning the name of Michigan's Governor in speculation about the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.
Gov. George Romney isn't very vocal on the possibility, one way or the other, but his out-of-state appearances are becoming more frequent, one mark of a potential candidate.
Unlike Pennsylvania's Gov. Wil-

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
I see by the papers where the U. S. Public Health Service wasted $19 million dollars worth of drugs last year. This medical expert, a fellow named Dr. Howard Rusk, said these drugs went to the bad while they were laying on storage shelves in 2,000 Civil Defense stockpile locations around the country.
I ain't going to tell Ed Doolittle about this item, Mister Editor, on account of Ed is trying to git ready fer his golden wedding anniversary and has got all the troubles he can stand. But these kind of news items makes a taxpayer mighty mad.
Incidental, the papers was full of interesting items last week. Some of them makes a fellow mad and some of them makes him glad. I reckon that's the proper way to run a newspaper. I recollect the editor that said he tried to keep half his subscribers mad and half of them glad and then swap ends onct a year.
Some of the most amusing items you see in the papers these days was about cases in court. Fer instant, I was reading where they had these two fellers in court fer being drunk and running their car off the road and tearing down part of a farmer's front porch. When the Judge ask which one of them was driving, they both swore that the best they could recollect they was both in the back seat at the time. We got a heap of them kind of drivers today and they ain't much car manufacturers can do about it.
And they was this piece in the papers yesterday about this woman in Miami filing suit agin a shoe store for $25,000 damage on account what a pair of shoes she brought 15 months ago done to her feet. You know, Mister Editor, and I know they ain't no woman that wears one pair of shoes 15 months, and if I was on the jury I'd throw her and shoes both out of court.
Another court item I was reading give me a kick. They was having this damage suit over a wreck and the Judge ask one driver how fast he reacted when he was confronted with the other car. The feller told the Judge he wasn't confronted, he was "rear-ended."
But you git some mighty good philosophy if you read the papers regular. I reckon they ain't no perfection more interesting than being a editor, special in a small community where it's hard to swap them two ends onct a year.
Speaking of philosophy and editors, I see where a newspaper feller in Boston says he's thankful fer life as he finds it. With the heat wave gitting to about 100 degrees, he said it could be worse. "When it's over," he allowed, "I won't have to shove it off the sidewalk."
Yep, newspaper folks, Mister Editor, has to be good philosophers. Yours truly,
Uncle Tim
