

Boost School Lunch Prices

More kids may be carrying their lunch after Monday, Oct. 3, when a raise in hot lunch prices, authorized by the School Board Monday, goes into effect.

An across the board increase of five cents was okayed. Elementary tickets will be 30 cents; high school tickets, 35 cents, and adults, 40 cents.

Supt. Don Crouse said that the cafeteria had been operating at a deficit for two years. This year salaries for cooks have been increased and the Federal surplus funds have been reduced.

He said that all schools in the area face the same problems and are increasing costs to students to meet expenses.

Board Member Mrs. Geraldine Priessorn said that she would like to see a more varied menu go into effect with the increase in price.

Other Action

In other activities, Frank Weatherhead's supplemental pay for editing the annual was jumped from $100 to $250.

Assistant Principal Bob Stickle reported on the Title I program for the school and said that the funds available for the year total $21,677.

He also said that the emphasis this winter will be on reading as the best way to help the child.

Opening of New School Delayed

The contractor for the new Cass City High School reported this week to the board that the tentative opening date for the facility is now Oct. 30, 1967, a full month and a half later than original estimates.

In other action concerning the school, the board authorized expenditures of $3,202.16 for the erection of storage area under the cafeteria stage. The area was not in the original contract.

Another extra will be some $3,000 for removing muck at the building site. The muck was not disclosed in the boring taken before the bids were let.

Hunter New County Director Of Equalization

The appointment of Clayton Hunter as equalization director finally became official Wednesday, Sept. 7, when he was reappointed to the post by the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors.

The former supervisor from Dayton township had been previously appointed to the $5,500 a year job, but the appointment was rescinded after it was discovered that it was illegal for the board to appoint one of its own members.

Hunter then officially resigned to pave the way for his reappointment.

Replacing Hunter as supervisor from Dayton is Earl Maharg who was appointed to fill the vacancy by the township board.

In other business in the session, a representative explained to the board details of the Municipal Employees' Retirement System for county employees.

Community Chest Meeting Slated

Residents are reminded that the annual meeting of the Elkland-Novesta Township Community Chest will be held Tuesday, Sept. 20, at the Municipal Building.

The local Chest has never failed to meet its quota.

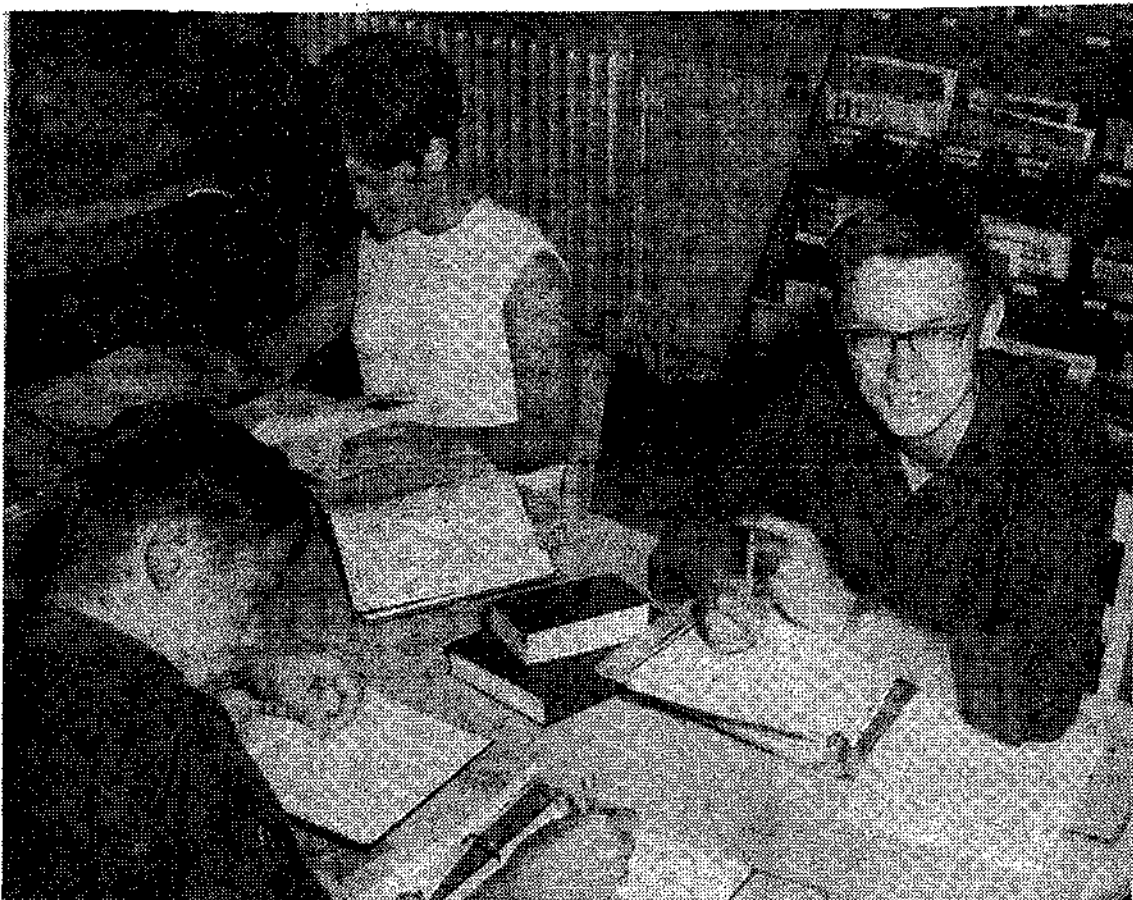

Rescind Pay Raise For William Schram

In another of a long series of special unannounced council meetings, the Cass City Village Council hired a new man, switched another and rescinded a pay raise granted the week before to William Schram, village engineer.

Frank Guilds was hired as an assistant to Nelson Willy at the sewage disposal plant. His place on the village crew was taken by Joe Gruber of Cass City.

The pay raise of Schram was rescinded because of the immediate request of other members of the village crew for raises in salary.

Wages are expected to be reviewed at budget time.

THE FIRST TIME THAT Heinrich Volschow, right, went to school with girls is when he entered Cass City High School as a foreign exchange student. It's obvious that he likes it. In study hall he sits next to Kathy Mark. (Chronicle photo)

Five Minor Youths Caught In Escapade

Charges were dropped against five minor Cass City youths who admitted destroying several mailboxes in rural Cass City last week.

The youths, four of whom are students at Cass City High School, admitted driving by the mailboxes in a car and throwing watermelons at the mailboxes. . . . scoring several direct hits.

Tuscola County Sheriff's Department traced the car used by the youths to find the boys involved in the escapade.

Charges against the youths were dropped when parents assured the sheriff's department that all damages would be taken care of.

KICKING IS VITAL in soccer and Heinrich Volschow is turning the talents learned on the soccer fields in Germany to the football field in Cass City. (Chronicle photo)

Volschow Getting Kick Out of School

Cass City has recruited its own "Pete Gogolak" for kicking duties when the Cass City Red Hawks take to the gridiron this fall.

Gogolak, most sportsfans know, is the famous place-kicker drafted by the National Football League as a free agent by the New York Giants. He learned to kick playing soccer at home in Europe.

Cass City's foreign import is Heinrich Volschow, 17, of Germany who also learned to kick playing soccer at home. He has won a place with the Hawks with booming kicks of 50 yards or more. The youth kicks the ball soccer style (with his instep) and joins a rapidly growing group of foreign kickers operating in a special role on the gridiron.

Volschow is the first foreign exchange student to play sports at Cass City High School. Despite a wrenched knee in opening practices, the youth is enjoying American football.

In fact, he is enjoying most everything about his opening weeks in Cass City except some of the food and a few words in English.

I had an upset stomach the first few days I was here because of the difference in foods. . . . especially the vegetables, he recalled. In Germany, we never heard of squash. But it only lasted a very few days and now everything is all right, he said.

His difficulty with English slows his studies. It takes me three times as long as it should, he said, because I have to look up so many words.

Despite this deficiency, Heinrich handles himself well as a student. He speaks English very well with only a slight trace of an accent, even though he has just started his year's stay with two families in the village. Now he is a guest at the Donald Wernetie home.

At Cass City, the youth is taking two junior and three senior courses. In Germany he was in the 11th grade.

Little Transition

Volschow says that he didn't have to make a very large adjustment when he came to the village. At home I live in a town of about 1,000 persons. Even though it is small, we had four soccer teams and our team beat all of the neighboring cities in the tournaments we played, he said with obvious pride.

The school is about the same size as Cass City's. We had about 650 students, Volschow explained, in grades five through 13.

Kids are a lot more informal here, he went on. No one in Germany would say "hi" to a teacher. This way is better, he believes.

Your school is much better in another way, too, Heinrich says positively. Here you go to school with the girls. In my home town the girls go by themselves a couple of blocks down the road.

We tried to get them to change it, but they wouldn't, he concluded wistfully.

Smoke Damage In House Fire

The Elkland Township Fire Department extinguished a fire at the home of Mrs. Mabel Jickling on Maple street in Cass City Tuesday afternoon.

The fire broke out in the kitchen when the kitchen stove caught on fire. The amount of loss was not determined. Fire Chief Nelson Willy said that smoke damage caused the greatest loss.

According to Dr. H. T. Donahue, Johnson is suffering from a per-

Cass City Schools

Budget Reflecting Increasing Costs

The 1966-67 budget of the Cass

City School District reflects generally rising costs and is up $77,778 over the actual expenditures of $621,127 spent last year.

Anticipated receipts for operating expenses are up from $648,564 to $698,905. Supt. Donald Crouse explained that the $50,000 increase in revenues is not the result of increased operating taxes. About $40,000 of the extra money will come from an increase in State Aid and the remainder from an increase in valuation in the district.

According to the budget, as submitted to the Board of Education Monday night, costs in most departments have risen, with major increases set for instruction and teaching aids. Total costs for elementary instruction jumped 15.3 per cent, from $219,174 to $258,831, reflecting not only increased salaries, but also enlarged classes.

Secondary educational costs went up a more modest 10.67 per cent as costs went from $200,110 to $224,023. Also climbing was the cost of administration. The relatively small percentage of the total funds spent increased 13 per cent from $29,572 to $34,000. Some of the increase was the result of adding another secretary to the staff.

Bigger Tax Bill

Although operating tax remained constant, residents of the district can look for a bigger tax bill next year.

The total tax rate will go from 17.2 mills to 19.2 mills on State Equalized valuation next year. (A mill is one dollar per $1,000 of valuation.)

The reason for the jump is to pay for the last bond issue needed to complete the new school. School authorities promised before the first bond issue for the new school would be 18.5 mills. Last year only 17.1 was needed. This year the entire 18.5 mills is needed and the .7 mill needed for the second bond issue is also being raised, bringing the total millage to 19.2.

A public budget hearing has been scheduled for Monday, Sept. 26, at the school.

Snover Man Wins Luxury Car in Drawing

The luckiest man in Sanilac county has to be Howard Gregg of Snover.

Gregg is the proud new owner of a "solid gold" Cadillac.

Gregg won the prize in a drawing among top producers for managers of Field Enterprises at the International Achievement Convention held in Chicago last week end.

He qualified for the drawing by recruiting at least 20 sales persons which 12 made sales. Gregg's figures were 22 sales persons of which 18 made sales.

He was one of 189 district managers to qualify for the drawing.

Brock was placed on probation for a year and fined $100, plus costs of $100. He must pay a statutory fee of $10, all at the rate of $20 per month.

Concealed Weapon

Rick Delbert Morrow, of Saginaw, was sentenced for parole violation. He was on parole for leaving the scene of a property damage accident.

He violated parole by being convicted as a minor in possession of intoxicants. His parole was extended for a year and the first six weeks must be spent in the county jail.

From the Editor's Corner

The Cass City Village Council may be moving closer to providing the community with a new dump grounds.

As councils before them have discovered, choosing a dump site can be tricky business.

President Lambert Althaver has said that there has been no discussion about the procedure the council will follow if the present undisclosed site is found suitable.

The Chronicle believes that it is reasonable to expect that the trustees provide a full public airing of all of the facts before a final decision is reached.

The community is still feeling the effects of the controversy that came after trees in the village were cut on short notice.

The new council established a policy for tree cutting that protects the public interest. Shouldn't it do as much before a dump site is purchased?

A public hearing for every interested resident with the site of the dump outlined and the way the dump will operate is a reasonable expectation of the taxpayers who foot the bill.

It should be explained that no dump will be able to operate like the one now in use in Cass City. It's against the law. The landfill dump that must come will be covered within 24 hours and there will be no burning.

These facts are pertinent, just as the site location is pertinent and illustrate the necessity for the council to explain all facets of the program BEFORE they enter into it.

Notice the newly-erected weather vane on top of Krizman's store building? Last week, you remember, the proud Eagle that was a landmark for years was shot down by workers who removed a cupola from the top of the building.

It caused comment up and down West Main street.

Evidently, feeling that local merchants should always know which way the wind is blowing, Leslie (Tommy) Townsend (a former merchant) made himself a committee of one to take up a collection (50 cents each) to replace the vane.

In short order he had enough money to erect the rooster that now flies at the top of one corner of the building.

The new vane looks sturdy, but it's an odds on bet that it won't last as long as the one it replaced.

QUIZZING THE CASS CITY school board is Otis Dorland (standing rear) who wanted to find out about school policies that are different than the ones that used to be in

Visitors Quiz School Board Monday

Schoolbook rental fees, curriculum study, North Central Accreditation and modern study techniques brought interested school district residents to the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board Monday night at the high school.

Present to quiz the board concerning policies were two members of the newly-added Evergreen School District.

Otis Dorland and Dale Turner wanted to find the answers to three questions: why a $6 charge for books, why modern math and why television?

The Evergreen representatives said that when the school was an autonomous district, the district paid for the books for the children. Subsequent discussion revealed that while the school paid for textbooks, charges in the lower four grades at Evergreen the previous year were almost as much as the charge made at Cass City.

The cost for the top four grades will be higher for parents this year. Dorland and Turner felt that Evergreen should receive special consideration because when the district was forced into the Cass City district it turned over some $22,000 to the Cass City board.

President Horace Bulen said that he appreciated the viewpoint of the district, but felt that it would be impossible to charge a different rate within the school district.

Supt. Donald Crouse pointed out that Evergreen would not have to pay any taxes on the new school for at least three years. For a year and a half, students from Evergreen will be using these facilities, he said, and this should help equalize somewhat the loss of funds turned over.

Turner said that when his child comes and asks about modern math, he can't help her. He asked "What useful purpose does this math accomplish?"

According to the teachers present, the new math helps the students understand math better. Crouse said that in a very few years, students entering college without it will be lost.

Mrs. Marie Murray, grade principal, said that Cass City School has taken the middle of the road in new math. There are many more "far out" than the one we selected here, she explained.

Educational TV enables the school to offer experimental study with equipment that the ordinary school cannot afford, said Assistant Principal Robert Stickle.

Because of the questions posed about modern math and because the board felt that many parents would be interested in learning the new system, the board authorized an adult night class in the new math and will make it available to all without charge. No definite time was set.

While the delegates from Evergreen wanted to learn about new teaching techniques, other residents of the district were present to see how the curriculum could be improved.

Quizzing Crouse about an article that appeared in the Chronicle following the last board meeting, Mrs. Richard Dews and Mrs. Lambert Althaver wanted to know why Crouse was not interested in North Central Accreditation.

Crouse said that he was quoted "out of context." The story in the Chronicle quoted Crouse as saying that he felt that North Central Accreditation was not too important for Cass City High School. He said

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

by H. M. Bulen

How well do you know your football rules? ... He's a little puzzler for you... Suppose a forward pass is tried and a player from both the offensive team and defensive team come together and each catch the ball simultaneously... They fall to the ground, each holding the ball and each having equal possession... What's the ruling? ... The official rule book says that in a situation like this the ball belongs to the offensive team at the spot of the catch, and is considered a completed pass.

Here's an oddity about the New York Jets of the American Football League... In each of the last three seasons, the Jets... oddly enough... have finished with the identical record of 5 wins, 8 losses and one tie!

Of all the men who have ever played pro football, which one do you think has thrown the most completed passes? ... Who holds the all-time record? ... Johnny Unitas, Sid Luckman, Sammy Baugh, Y. A. Tittle or Bobby Layne? ... Answer is Y. A. Tittle... In his career, he completed more than 2,000 passes... No one else has ever reached the 2,000 mark.

Third In A Series

Catholic Family Service Provides Aid to Area Persons Regardless of Creed

Editor's Note: Third in a series about the agencies receiving help from the United Fund.

Infidelity is not always the marriage destroyer. In the case of Ann and Ralph it was chronic, petty discord which brought on thoughts of separation. What could they do? Johnnie, an intelligent youngster, is failing in school; nervous and withdrawn at home. His parents wonder why he cannot be outgoing and lovable like his pretty five-year-old sister, Barbara, the apple of their eye. Can anything be done? Betty, lonely, confused and bewildered, is pregnant out of wedlock. "What of her friends, her family, herself, this baby, its future; where can she turn?"

George and Jane, married five years, have learned that their sterility is definite. They are eager to share their love, understanding, and stable life with a child. Can they adopt a child somewhere?

Catholic Family Service of Bad Axe, serving Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties, offers help when: A marriage is failing . . . when parents and children are in conflict . . . when an unmarried mother needs help . . . when a childless couple seeks adoption. The four cases listed above were disguised a bit, but they are local people who have received actual help in time of need.

The many services offered by Catholic Family Service to resolve such problems include the child and the family. Counseling and assistance with placement plans are a basic part of the services offered to the girl who finds herself pregnant and unsure of the future for herself and the infant. Infants or, in some cases, older children, are placed with childless couples who present an ability to offer the infant or child a wholesome family life. There are various kinds of boarding homes available. Catholic Family Service attempts to utilize good foster homes which may take in children who are in need of substitute care and who can accept substitute family living.

Counseling is offered to couples who are experiencing difficulties in their marriage and who find that their marriage is in jeopardy. Often adults and children need assistance or counseling so that they may better understand certain aspects of their personality which are causing conflicts within themselves or within the family. Often a personality problem is related to what seems to be either a marriage, parent-child, delinquent or pre-delinquent problem. Families who are experiencing serious economic difficulties can be assisted by proper referral to private or public agencies which may be able to help them. The alcoholic and-or his family, through counseling, may be assisted to better understand this problem and to cooperate with resources for resolving it.

Catholic Family Service was established in January, 1948. It is a casework agency serving residents of all creeds, all religions of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties. Persons needing assistance are seen by trained personnel including a director, administrative assistant and caseworker. Catholic Family Service works closely with our Probate Judge and cooperates with other similar agencies. For further information or assistance write or phone Catholic Family Service, 532 North Port Crescent, Bad Axe, Michigan.

Catholic Family Service is a member of the Tuscola County United Fund.

QUIZ BOARD

that he made this statement in reference to the agency as a guide for admittance to colleges.

He reiterated his previous statement by saying that the agency focused all of the attention on the top four grades with no inspection of the remainder of the school.

If we can become accredited without sacrificing any part of our education, then I'm all for it. . . . but I do not believe it should become our goal at the expense of any other part of the school system, he said.

The question was asked by Mrs. Drews, if more money was needed to bring the entire system up to a standard that would enable the high school to be accredited.

Crouse replied that he was not certain of all of the current requirements for accreditation, but that the lack of space was one of the biggest ones.

Principal Arthur Holmberg said that he felt that becoming accredited was a worthwhile aim for the school and it was generally agreed that the school should make an effort to rejoin North Central as soon as it became feasible.

The need for curriculum study was suggested by Mrs. Karen Wallace, art teacher. Crouse said that curriculum study for adding courses would not be feasible until the move to the new building is made.

Holmberg said that he would be glad to meet with any group in a study of ways to better existing classes and curriculum. Crouse concurred.

CRIMINAL CASES

Pleads Guilty

Patricia Dewey, Kingston, pleaded guilty of forgery and uttering and publishing for writing bogus checks on Drayton Plains branch of Pontiac State Bank.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and bond set at $200. Sentence will be passed Oct. 17.

In a domestic case Gazella Jean Palmateer of Cass City was divorced from Carl A. Palmateer. Custody of children was awarded Mrs. Palmateer and support set at $36 weekly for three children.

A property settlement was approved in lieu of dower.

IN PEACE CORPS—David Hostetler left New York by air Sunday with more than 100 other Peace Corps Volunteers. After stopping a few hours in Rome, some of the volunteers left for Turkey and others went to Africa. David is one of about 60 who will teach mathematics in the schools of Ghana.

After the overthrow of Kwame Nkrumah early this year, the Russian teachers he had brought into the country were sent home, and the present government requested the Peace Corps to help them fill the vacancies.

Hostetler graduated from Alma College in June with a major in mathematics, and received his peace corps training in New York City during the summer.

Farm Bureau Host At Press Meeting

"It's good to talk to you members of the press and Michigan Farm Bureau who live on the seacoast," said Herb Harris, of the American Farm Bureau, Thursday night in Flint at a meeting for heads of area county Farm Bureau officials and members of the press.

With the St. Lawrence Seaway, farmers in Michigan are now in the heart of the foreign shipping trade, he continued, and it is to these foreign markets that the farmer must look to protect his prices.

"We can't look towards government to solve our problems," Harris continued. "We should remember that farmers as a political force constitute only six per cent of the population while consumers form 94 per cent. We can't expect favorable political decisions under these conditions," he said.

Farm Bureau is asking for less and less governmental control, seeking to set up world-wide markets of their own and have succeeded in doing so in many countries, Harris said.

As a political force, the farmer will continue to decline in importance, as the number of persons on the farm, but as an economic force we have never been more important, Harris said.

This point was also illustrated by Charles Bailey, of Michigan Farm Bureau, who said that seven per cent of the people in the state are on the farm, 30 per cent of the people have jobs directly tied to agriculture.

He illustrated the changing farm complexion by pointing out that in the last decade surveys show that there are 10,000 fewer farmers who produce $2,500 worth of food crops yearly and an increase in the number of farmers who produced $10,000 and more annually. The meeting for the press drew

Mrs. Wallace's Art Show Set at Alma

Mrs. James Wallace will present a one-man show at the Alma Arts and Crafts Center Sept. 18-Oct. 8 where she will present her paintings under her first name, Leontine.

Leontine has conducted one-man shows in Saginaw Museum and Bourbon Studios, New Orleans. She exhibited in two-man shows in San Francisco and Northwood Institute in Midland.

A graduate of Alma College, she continued art studies at J. B. Steison University in DeLaud, Fla., and worked under Ziroli at Leland Summer school of painting.

She just returned from a month of painting in Hawaii and the show includes these and works completed in the last year.

Exams Open

The Cass City Post Office announced this week that the exam for clerk-carrier is now open. Any citizen, regardless of race or creed may apply. A Civil Service exam must be written to qualify for a post office position.

Applications are now available at the local post office.

6 Acts Slated for Lions Benefit Show

Six acts that have been outstanding hits on various television shows will be featured in the Cass City Lions Club sponsored TV Thrill-Orama Show Monday, Oct. 10, at the Cass City High School auditorium.

The Floating Princess, The Buzz Saw Illusion, The Decapitation, The Houdini Trunk Escape and The Haunted Totem Lodge, all outstanding hits, have thrilled and puzzled television audiences across the nation. Now Ken Griffin will present them here in person in the two-hour variety, mystery revue.

Are these illusions accomplished through camera tricks? Griffin says no, and that he will be pleased to show the public that they can be performed before their eyes without resorting to camera angles, film cutting or any other subterfuge that might be used on television shows.

Ron Keegan, president of the Lions Club, says, "The show comes to Cass City highly recommended as wonderful entertainment for all ages." Advance sale tickets at a reduced price may be purchased from any Lions Club member.

Net proceeds from the show will go to the Cass City Little League program.

The problem is how to grow old gracefully when it's all concentrated in the spot that prohibits it.

Man knows when he is licked. So the word obey is being removed from marriage vows.

Mrs. George Robert Harmon

Honeymooning in the New England states are Mr. and Mrs. George Robert Harmon, who were married at 2:30 Saturday, Sept. 10, in the Westminster Presbyterian Church, Lansing.

The bride is the former Ann Marie Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Ross of Lansing. The Reverend and Mrs. George Harmon of Decker are parents of the bridegroom.

The bride, a graduate of Moody Bible Institute, attended Michigan State University. The bridegroom also attended Moody Bible Institute and Michigan State University.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of nylon taffeta with Chantilly lace bodice and sleeves. The gown features a detachable train that gives a bell look from the mid-Empire front to a chapel length in back. Chantilly lace also borders the train. The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and yellow roses.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Harold Knight of Cass City, wore a floor-length mid-Empire peacock gown of silk with a detachable back panel of flowered embroidered chiffon. Identically attired were Mrs. Wendell Boertje of Wheaton, Ill., Mrs. David Lawrence of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Miss Sandra Brown of Chicago, Ill. Each attendant carried one dozen long stem yellow roses.

Terry Taggart of Farmington, Mich., served as best man for the groom. Other groomsmen were Ernest Teller, brother-in-law of the groom, of Caro, David Brooks of Lansing and Russell Ross, brother of the bride, of Lansing.

Miss Linda Curtis was flower girl. She wore a floor-length gown of flowered embroidered chiffon over peacock peau de soie. She carried yellow rose petals in a basket.

Dennis Hosnich was ring bearer. Both are cousins of the bride.

Michael Dailey, cousin of the groom, Charles Hughes, cousin of the bride, and Alan Combs seated the guests.

Immediately following the ceremony, the guests were received in the church parlors and were served by Mrs. Ronald Spare, Miss Judy Ross, Miss Joan Pride, and Mrs. George Cliff.

Miss Linda Ross and Miss Ramona Dunchel assisted with the gifts. Mrs. Ernest Teller presided at the guest book. Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Scott acted as hosts.

On Sept. 16 the newlyweds sail on the S. S. Rotterdam for Paris, France, where the groom will be working with young people under Youth For Christ International for one year.

Zonta Club Holds Dinner Meeting

The Zonta Club held its first dinner meeting of the season Thursday evening, Sept. 8, at the New Gordon Hotel.

Mrs. Lottie Konwalski and Mrs. Esther McCullough reported on the Zonta International convention held in Miami Beach, Fla., to which they were delegates. Mrs. McCullough showed slides taken at the convention. They reported that telegrams were received at the convention from the president and from the UN.

Mrs. Marie Roch was elected delegate to the 19th annual Zonta conference, with Mrs. Helen Baker and Mrs. Helen Agar as alternates. The conference will be held at the Statler Hotel in Detroit Sept. 30 and Oct. 1 and 2. Several club members also plan to attend the conference of district 5.

Mrs. Julia Murray gave a report on the revision of the constitution.

One of the service projects of the year for the club will be birthday parties to be given every three months at the medical care facilities in Caro for all patients having a birthday in that quarter.

During the program, Mrs. Celia House, who has a new baby, was presented with a high chair.

The centerpiece consisting of oranges and tiny orange blossoms was won by the local delegates at the international convention. It was awarded as a door prize to Mrs. Edith Little at the dinner meeting.

The next dinner will be held the third Tuesday of October.

Two-year Medical School at MSU To Help Alleviate Doctor Shortage

Doctors Coming

Many cheered when Michigan State University's Institute of Biology and Medicine started classes this fall, the first academic step toward a full-scale medical school on the East Lansing campus. The long effort to come into existence was over.

Among those cheering were educators at MSU who had worked for years to get the two-year medical school program out of the planning stage.

Many outsiders as well lauded the new program because of its potential for helping alleviate the doctor shortage in Michigan and throughout the nation.

One who called to hear: I'm sorry but Dr. Jones is not taking any new patients," can appreciate what the MSU Institute can mean.

Starting with 26 students this fall, MSU officials hope to get state approval to expand the program to a full four-year medical degree curriculum.

University officials have built into curriculum a relatively new concept in medical education. They hope to encourage a maximum of independent study and original research at the earliest levels of the future doctor's study.

Instead of the usual procedure of lecture rooms and laboratories for 30-40 hours each week, the MSU medical students will have only about 25 hours in required class time. Other hours may be filled with student-selected courses, individual study, research projects, part-time jobs or other activities the student feels are worth while.

Institute planners see their curriculum as a six-year program, including the first four years of undergraduate work as an integral part of the first two years of the traditional medical school.

Thus, the students in the program this year are considered to be in the fourth year of college leading to the bachelor's degree, although most of the 26 already hold a degree.

Next year, normally the first in medical school, MSU's students will start limited patient contact in clinical work, which is not usually started until a student has completed at least one full year in medicine.

Change Proposed

Before the 1961-62 Constitutional Convention, many politicians described the state's basic document in the same terms used to criticize the present tax structure: "patchwork" and "horse-and-buggy."

Critics maintained a similarly dim view of the new construction, but it has so far withstood several attempts at amendment.

This fall it appeared that voters would be asked to start a massive move to change the Constitution which has only been in effect for two years.

Voters will be asked about one change, in the required age for balloting rights. Several other questions which were considered by the legislature must wait for future elections.

Lawmakers gave serious debate to proposals to change Constitutional provisions regarding highway department administration, judicial vacancies, terms of State Representatives, charitable bingo playing and several other matters.

Only a proposal to permit persons from 18 years up to vote in Michigan gained the necessary two-thirds vote in the two houses to get it on the November ballot.

Proponents and opponents of the 18-year-old idea were basically pleased that this issue would go to the public alone, although many were disappointed that their other pet ideas would not get a hearing this year.

It is easier to get an idea across to the voting public if there is only one matter to discuss.

With two, three or even more constitutional proposals on the ballot, voters could easily be confused when they get inside the polling place.

Constitutional amendments are worded about as simply as possible on the ballot but with a number of them to be considered a poorly informed voter could easily be confused about the questions before him.

Do electric dryers really cost less to buy?

Do you really get no-charge service?

Do kids like ice cream?

The answer, of course, is a rousing YES! Model for model, electric dryers cost from $20 to $40 less than gas dryers. And every electric dryer is backed by Edison's No-Charge repair service. No charge for any electrical parts. No charge for labor. Edison is the only utility company in this area that offers no-charge repair service.

Can you get this kind of worry-free assurance with a gas dryer? Sure—with a manufacturer's repair service policy. But it will cost you up to $120 over the first five years of operation alone!

One thing more. Edison's No-Charge repair service applies even if you don't buy your dryer from Edison—so long as the dryer is electric and you get your electricity from Edison. And if you buy now from a participating dealer, the low price you pay includes the cost of wiring, if any's needed. So when you add it up, an electric dryer can save you up to $160 in just a few years. That can keep the kids in ice cream a good long time.

Twenty-one members were present Monday evening when the American Legion Auxiliary met at the Legion hall.

Mrs. Henry Cherry presided over the business meeting. Mrs. James Stapleton, cochairman on membership, reported 81 memberships paid as of Sept. 12. Mrs. Cherry read appointments of the committee on arrangements for each meeting of the coming year.

Announcement was made of the next seventh district meeting to be held Oct. 9 at Richville.

Mrs. Garrison Stine has invited past presidents of the local auxiliary to meet at her home Oct. 4. Games and refreshments were enjoyed at the close of the business meeting, with the door prizes going to Mrs. Joseph Koepf and Betsy Koepf.

The eagle repairs and uses the same nest year after year.

Mrs. Raymond William Hurd

The Novesta Church of Christ, Cass City, was the scene of the Sept. 3 wedding that united Barbara Jean Franzel and Raymond William Hurd.

The Rev. George Getchel officiated at the 8:00 o'clock double-ring candlelight ceremony before an altar decorated with white gladioli and ivy.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Koss of Cass City and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hurd Sr. of Deford.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Sylvester Franzel of Snover. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, featuring a sweetheart neckline, fitted bodice and wristpoint sleeves. The full floor-length skirt fell into a chapel train and a white satin bow accented the back waist. A wedding cake crown of lace, pearl and sequins held the bouffant bridal illusion veil. The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white mums and bridal ivy.

Proceeding the bride down the aisle was Janet Mae Parrish, sister of the groom, as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Grace, Norma and Ellen Hurd, all sisters of the groom.

The attendants chose bridal satin gowns in pastel shades of pink, yellow and green, respectively. They featured round necklines, fitted bodices, floor-length skirts and were sleeveless. Miniature crowns of flowered petals secured their bouffant veils. They wore wrist corsages in an arrangement of mums and bridal ivy. The mums matched the attendants' dresses.

Flower girl was Dawn Marie Parrish, niece of the groom. Her gown was Chantilly lace and taffeta and designed similar to the bride's, only it was street-length. A queen's crown of seed pearls secured her bouffant veil. She carried a sloop-shaped basket of red rose petals.

David Parrish, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man, while Harry Parrish and Eugene Haney, friends of the groom, and Raymond Franzel, brother of the bride, were the groom's attendants.

Roger Grimsley, cousin of the groom, was ringbearer and carried a white satin pillow.

Ushers were Daniel and Steven Cummins of Rochester, Mich., cousins of the groom, Norman Hurd Jr., brother of the groom, and Bradley Franzel, brother of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Koss wore a beige dress with white accessories. Mrs. Hurd chose a brown flowered jersey dress with white accessories. Mrs. Koss wore a corsage of white mums and Mrs. Hurd had a corsage of crimson mums.

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony for 100 guests.

The new Mr. and Mrs. Hurd are making their home on Severance Rd., Cass City.

WSWS Circles Hold Monthly Meetings

The Mary Circle of the WSWS of Salem EUB church met Sept. 7 at the home of Mrs. Luke Tuckey for an evening meeting with 20 women present.

Mrs. Stanley Kirn Jr. presided over the business meeting. It was announced that Mrs. Charles Tuckey was elected member-at-large of the Bay Shore Auxiliary when the meeting was held at Sebawaing in August.

Mrs. David Loomis presented the lesson for the month on "Intercessory Prayer", after which the group watched the Billy Graham telecast in color.

The hostess, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Carl Mantey of Fairgrove, and her daughters-in-law, Mrs. William Tuckey of Caro, Mrs. Robert Tuckey and Mrs. Roy Tuckey, served dessert refreshments.

The October meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Charles Tuckey.

Martha Circle

Nineteen were present for a co-operative dinner in the church when the Martha Circle of the WSWS met for the monthly meeting.

Mrs. Lena Schwegler presided over the business meeting when election of officers was announced for October. Several get-well cards were signed to be sent to the sick. Mrs. David Loomis presented the lesson for the month on "Intercessory Prayer."

Make wheat while the sun shines... make it better... make more of it... with AGRICO fertilizers in the soil to give your grain the start it needs. Wheat growers say the yield barriers are breaking. Researchers are talking in terms of 100 bushels or more per acre. How? With proper management, of course, and with quality AGRICO fertilizers correctly applied. AGRICO gives you quality in extra measure. AGRICO fertilizers are tailored to your specific soil needs. You get the precise formulation your crop calls for. Our free AGRICO soil test will pay dividends. It shows exactly the plant food needs of your soil and will recommend the AGRICO formula that's best. It's the practical way to help boost wheat yields.

BOOK REVIEW*Reads Like A News Magazine

By Rev. R. J. Searis

Suppose for a moment that you were given the opportunity to return to college life, to work on an advanced degree. And suppose that the neighborhood surrounding the University you wanted to attend was inhabited by Negroes. Further suppose you had three young children, and an attractive wife to care for: what would you do in the way of housing your family?

Many faced this situation before, and many will face it in the future, in many differing degrees. But how would a young Presbyterian minister face such a situation? More specifically, how would one face it after serving a significant period as pastor in a community which was made up entirely by white people?

Many Cass City persons wondered just what the popular minister of First Presbyterian Church would elect to do in such a situation. Many looked for him to conveniently forget the many sermons he had preached about the brotherhood of man without regard for race. Instead, the Rev. John Hall Fish, supported in his decision by his lovely and charming wife, Sally, rented a home in a changing neighborhood; enrolled their children in public schools, where they might be the only white children in their class.

They encountered no racial problems, but were accepted with suspicion by their neighbors. John Fish continued to be impatient just to be an observer of neighborhood change. He began some practical steps toward becoming a participant in what he (and many others) hoped would be a positive movement leading the area to integration. The book I am reviewing this week is an account of The Organization for The Southwest Community. Written cooperatively by four men in the Divinity School of The University of Chicago, the opening and closing chapters were written by John Fish.

I found "The Edge of the Ghetto" to be a fascinating reading, sharpened by my own deep and personal interest in all approaches to our racial problems in our nation. However, the casual reader might find it advisable to skip the sections which deal with the details of the study, moving on to these which tell the story of the OSC. Especially, the authors detail the degree to which the churches sought to serve the community in which they were located, as opposed to serving a widely scattered membership.

Most of the area dealt with is in the southwest section of Chicago in what is known as Glenwood. The OSC was made up of elected representatives of groups active in the area who are deeply involved in the welfare of their homes and businesses, churches, schools, lodges, etc. It concerned itself with real estate activities, with problems of the schools and problems of racial adjustment in the area. The ministers of cooperating churches were among the leaders in this movement.

OSC has been organized six years, now, and the book attempts (in a section written by John Fish) to evaluate just what it has accomplished and what it was unable to do. While this book deals only with one situation, it could be used as a handbook for similar projects in other places. In some sections of the book the mood of excitement shines through.

The Edge of The Ghetto reads like a news magazine. When you order your copy, write to: John Fish, 1155 E. 58th St., Chicago, Ill. 60637.

I could not find the price of this book but with 183 pages, it probably is in the area of $2.00.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was so full of what ole Dizzy Dean used to call 'statics' that I was afraid the sparks was going to set the store on fire.

First off, Clem Webster of the Great Society brung out a newspaper clipping showing where the Postmaster General had ordered all post office workers to start using rubber bands instead of twine to tie bundles of mail. The piece said they had conducted a survey and found bands would last longer and would save $4 million a year. Clem claimed this was the beginning of a big economy wave in the Great Society.

Ed Doolittle, that still carries Goldwater's button in his pocket and Abe Lincoln's picture in the back of his watch, allowed as how it probable cost $4 million to conduct that survey and they wouldn't be no savings fer the first year. Furthermore, said Ed, by that time the twine lobby in Washington would have took a few Senators to some horse races and another $4 million survey would show rubber bands wasn't strong enough to do the job.

Zeke Grubb, that votes either way, depending on how farm prices was at election time, said he was agin the fellers bringing all them newspaper statics to the Saturday night sessions, but on account of he didn't want to git marked absent, he had brung along a little one hisself. Zeke's piece reported they was 12 doctors, 11 lawyers and judges, 40 gas station operators and 40 telephone workers, a total of 103, fer ever 10,000

American citizens. But they was 130 Federal employees, 27 more than all the doctors, lawyers, judges, filling station and telephone workers put together, fer ever 10,000 citizens.

The storekeeper butted in to say he was agreed with Zeke and was agin fetching all them figgers to the sessions, claimed figgers and philosophy didn't mix and he would rather listen to philosophy. But, allowed the storekeeper, since everybody was gitting in on the act, he had a few figgers of his own. He brung out this piece where the Bureau of Indian Affairs reported to a Senate committee last week that his Bureau now had 22,000 workers looking after the needs of 308,000 Reservation Indians, or one Federal employee fer ever 14 Indians.

All the fellers was agreed that our Indians deserves the best and it was a pity they was gitting all this Federal snooping called supervision.

It made me recollect, Mister Editor, what that feller Mark Twain said once. He said it was a God's blessing Americans didn't git all the government they paid fer.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Abraham Lincoln was offered the job as Washington state's first governor but he declined.

Motorcycles are having a boom year. The Department of Commerce estimates the number now in use at about 1.5 million.
