

From the Editor's Corner

Jim Williams and Evans Parrott devoted a good deal of time to the Lions Talent Show and it must have been gratifying to them to see the large turnout for the show.

The club grossed some $400 from admissions and there were tickets sold only at the door. That's almost unheard of for a club function in Cass City.

Most residents of Cass City will tell you that it is a nice place to live. But it's human to tend to forget just what we do have. . . and it takes a letter such as the one received from a Kearsley (Flint) High School assistant superintendent for us to realize how we are envied by other persons. You'll find the letter in one of the other sections of today's paper.

And while Cass City is a fine place to live and it's still possible to let the kids walk home from the show after dark, we aren't entirely escaping the plagues of the cities and the suburbs.

The vandalism of the parking meters and the ruining of aerials on cars at the Twirp dance the other night are cases in point.

But to paraphrase an old cliché, living in Cass City ain't everything. . . but for most of us it beats the chickens out of whatever is in second place.

Last week the Chronicle printed a letter written by Dave Kraft, former news editor, and an answer he received three years later from the paper company.

The company also sent along several rolls of paper and we sent them along to Dave, who now is the ramrod over at the Vassar Pioneer Times.

I thought perhaps he might write a letter in his inimitable style, commenting on the whole situation. . . but he hasn't. Probably going to print the whole thing over at Vassar. . . the rat.

Soini Says

Invest in Area's Future

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Chronicle and other area papers are running a series of articles by editors and reporters from various papers telling their views of the proposed Community College. Today's article is by Paul D. Soini, columnist and Huron bureau chief for the Port Huron Times Herald.

Voters of the Thumb will have an opportunity at school elections June 12 to invest in the future of children of the area in particular and the district as a whole.

It is that date that three proposals to establish a community college and vocational schools in the counties of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola will be decided.

Ballots will be cast in the 88 school districts of the Thumb, except the Crosswell-Lexington and Millington Districts and part of the Reese District.

These areas were excluded from the community college district as they are closer to other such institutions.

The three proposals will be: To establish a community college, to approve a two-mill tax rate and elect a board of trustees.

A "yes" vote is earnestly recommended for the first two proposals.

Voters are urged to study carefully the qualifications of candidates for trustees and to give consideration to obtaining representation from all parts of the district.

The trustees will operate the community college and vocational schools.

One of their first decisions will be the location of the community college. It has been suggested it be built in the vicinity of Cass City in the geographical center of the Thumb to permit daily commuting by students.

The cost to taxpayers would be small (federal and state funds will also be available) and the dividends would be great from college-trained boys and girls.

Every voter should go to the polls June 12 to register their opinion. It is hoped it will be favorable.

Consider Village As City—Althaver

Lambert Althaver, village president, feels that Cass City should give careful consideration to changing Cass City from a village to a city.

Speaking to Cass City Rotarians Tuesday noon at the New Gordon Hotel, Althaver pointed out several advantages

Escapes Injury

One accident involving Cass City area persons was reported by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department this week.

Rosemary Kirohner was uninjured when she lost control of her car at the corner of Darbee and Colwood Road Saturday.

She reported to police that she attempted to turn too fast, lost control and hit the stop sign at the corner before going into a nearby field.

Blood Bank Due In Cass City

The Northeastern Michigan Blood Bank will be at Hills and Dales General Hospital Friday, May 5, from 11:30 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Donors can give blood to establish a reserve in their name, pay back owed blood or designate the blood for specific persons.

Mrs. Helen Smith of rural Cass City suggests that anyone wishing to give blood without a specific person in mind might consider earmarking their blood for Larry R. Berry of Caro.

Now ill at University Hospital, the young man is in need of a minimum of 38 pints of blood, according to Mrs. Smith.

Berry is married and has four small children at his residence at 337 Wells Street in Caro.

that the city form of government has over the present village type.

One would be an expansion of the boundaries of the village to take in more land area for future growth as envisioned by village planners.

Another, he said, would be the retention of more control of the government locally. In explaining the city concept, Althaver pointed out that most of the planning for water and sewer takes in an area wider than the present village limits.

The powers of the village assessor show how the local autonomy of the village is diminishing, Althaver claimed. As you know, he said, a village assessor now must assess at the same rate as the township. In a city this would not be the case.

If we widened our boundaries, we would also widen our tax base and have a control of enterprises now located at the edge of the village, he continued.

I realize, he said, that there are probably some objections to becoming a city, but these advantages should make it worth while to give the change careful consideration.

Althaver also pointed out the importance of planning. He referred to a study now in progress that includes an area that stretches all around the Great Lakes and includes the Thumb.

Sometime, probably within the next 50 years, Cass City will be part of a megalopolis, this study concluded.

Planning on a regional basis including 14 counties has already become a fact for us, he said, and a county planning board must come up with a county-wide master plan in the very near future for any of us to be eligible for Federal aid projects, Althaver said.

Hale and Hardy Pioneer Still Sticks to Stitches

Mrs. Elizabeth Fletcher, 79, a spry older woman whose activities belie her years, doesn't care much for television, does very little reading and couldn't care less about the radio, but still manages to keep busy most of every day.

The native pioneer resident of Cass City now lives with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Merchant, on Third Street in Cass City and does a limited amount of household work and the rest of her time she knits

Local Group Cops Lions Talent Contest

"The Soundz", a rock and roll band featuring four Cass City youths, walked off with the top prize in the 2nd annual Lions Club Talent Show Saturday night at Cass City High School.

The youths, Ken Hiatt, Randy Aleksink, Ken Elsing and Paul Leyva, will split $50.

Second place and $40 was won by Kenneth Hampshire, an 11-year-old singer from Deford. The $30 third prize was awarded to the "Chain Brothers", folk singers from Central Michigan University.

A Vassar duo with a baton act, Becky and Butch Weston, walked off with $20 for fourth place and Sue Kelley, Cass City singer, finished fifth and collected $10.

Bonnie Lockwood of Cass City annexed the last prize offered, $5, for sixth place, for an organ solo.

Chairman Jim Williams said that finishing among the top six was a significant achievement as the competition among the many acts was very strong.

and quilts. Mittens and patchwork quilts are her specialties. . . although in her sewing career she has made numerous sweaters and created appliqued quilts.

But today the genial Mrs. Fletcher sticks mostly to patchwork quilts and mittens.

She doesn't make quite as many as she once did, but by the end of the year she still logs an impressive total. Last year, for instance, she made 10 tops and 10 complete quilts and an uncounted number of mittens.

Besides seeing that the grandchildren and great-grandchildren are well supplied, she makes mittens for the mitten tree missionary project carried on by the Presbyterian church.

Last year she placed 12 pairs on the tree. . . about average for her. She has been doing it every year since the missionary project started some 10 years ago.

Although Mrs. Fletcher does not live in the past, she is remarkably alert and has a steel-trap memory for things that happened recently and in the distant past.

"I was born and reared on a farm northwest of Cass City which I still own," she said, "and during those years I've seen plenty of changes in the community."

"I can remember when they built the Wood Building and the City Block next to it," she continued. "Much of the brick came from a brick factory located near the Cass River. Did you know," she added, "that the oldest building in town used for the same purpose over the years is the camera studio where Netzel Studio is now?"

As a native Cass Cityan, Mrs. Fletcher is proud that she has been a member of the Presbyterian church longer than anyone. . . although she is not the eldest member of the church, an honor that goes to Mrs. A. J. Knapp.

Although her husband, Neil, died in 1962, Mrs. Fletcher remained at the family farm until three years ago when she moved in with her daughter.

While she lives with Mrs. Merchant, she is not far from the rest of her family. Her two daughters, Mrs. Anna Childs and Mrs. Lillian Kennedy, both live in Caro.

She has 14 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren and all except one now serving in Vietnam, are living in the vicinity.

With that many youngsters, she said with a pleased smile, you know that there are always going to be weddings and babies. . . and plenty of demand for whatever I can sew or knit in the years to come.

Several Honored For College Work

Several area students have been recognized for scholastic achievements at Ferris State College and Central Michigan University.

At CMU, Larry Kenneth Seale of Cass City, a sophomore, and Lynmarie Billicki of Deford, a freshman, were named to the scholastic honors list.

At Ferris, Larry R. Hughes, a sophomore in commerce, and Gary W. Miller, a junior in pharmacy, were named to the dean's list. Both students come from Cass City. Steven L. Kehoe of Gagetown, sophomore, Technical and Applied Arts, also made the list.

To qualify for listing at both schools, students must have earned a B or better average for the semester.

3-Year Pact

Settle Strike At Gagetown

An estimated 150 employees, members of the United Steel Workers of America, returned to work Monday at Evans Products Co. in Gagetown after a new contract was ratified Sunday, John Weber, a company official said.

The settlement ended an eight-day walk out at the plant. Weber declined to give actual terms of the settlement, but said that the new contract was for three years.

It included wage increases in each of the three years, Weber said, and a new insurance program paid for by the company. There was a general re-writing of the terms of the contract, Weber concluded.

Although the actual terms were not revealed, officials indicated that the settlement was a compromise between the demands of the union and the original company offer.

The settlement was reached after tempers had flared between management and labor.

Pickets were massing at the gates of the main entrance of the plant and were refusing to let the supervisors in to operate the plant while the strike was on, according to a deposition filed in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Several strikers were alleged to have clubs and were issuing threatening statements, according to a brief that asked for a restraining order.

A show cause order was to have been issued, but with the settlement of the strike the request for an injunction will be withdrawn by Evans.

partment of Mental Health. Heath, administrative officer at the Caro Hospital for the past three and a half years, will succeed W. W. Dickerson, M.D., hospital medical superintendent, who retired May 1.

Prior to his present position, Heath was an administrative assistant to the Department's program director for the mentally retarded. He began his career with the Department at the Caro facility where he was assistant business executive for two years and personnel officer for four years.

A former resident of Midland, Heath attended Albion College for two years and received his bachelor degree in institutional management from Michigan State University in 1955.

Nurettin B. Gokcora, M.D., will be chief of medical services at Caro during the period of Heath's appointment. Dr. Gokcora has been on the hospital staff for two years.

Chamber Board Names Officers

Officers of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce were named Wednesday, April 26, at an election conducted by the board of directors.

Previously named was Dick Drews, president. Elected were Newell Harris, secretary; Clarence "Bud" Schneeberger, treasurer, and Ferris Ware, liaison man between retail division and Chamber of Commerce.

Ways of promoting the Community College were discussed.

Kindergarteners' Pennies Pay for School Shrubs

The kindergarten class at Willis Campbell Elementary School are making their pennies go a long way. Friday they helped plant shrubs in front of the school using money they had contributed by donating pennies to the project.

Grade Principal Marie Murray said that she hopes that the project started Friday will be a continuing one.

Survey Shows Storm Situation

Citizens Concerned, Confused or Content

What did you do when the tornado alert sounded in Cass City a couple of weeks ago? Ignore it? Watch it? Worry about it? Take precautions?

If you wondered if your reactions were the same as most of your neighbors, read what this informal survey by the Chronicle reveals.

The Cass City man who heard about the approaching tornado. . . then yawned and went to bed wasn't acting the way most area folks did when the warning sounded in the community.

More were like his wife who stayed up, worried a little and scanned the skies until the all-clear sounded.

But while residents generally rode out the storm in the same way, there was a wide variation in their attitude towards the storm and their opinion of the effectiveness of the village's warning methods.

CLYDE WELLS

My family and I are very concerned about a tornado, Clyde Wells reported. So much, so that we built a basement under our garage so we could have a place to go in severe weather.

However, we didn't use it during the warning because we were already in a basement and well protected. We went home, got the kids and returned to the party, he said.

It was a good thing I was at a fireman's house, he continued, because you can't tell anything by the whistle system. They should have a different type signal for the warning and the all-clear so a person can tell it's a weather warning, not another fire.

MRS. FERN MAIER

The Cass City warning system is just fine, says Mrs. Fern Maier. When it sounded we got dressed in case we had to leave the house and watched the storm approaching. We didn't go to bed until the all-clear sounded. We disconnected the television in an electrical storm and depend on the village whistle, she said.

Laura (Maier) and I kept a close watch on the sky and were ready to move to a safe spot in our brick home if necessary. We didn't miss much, she concluded.

MRS. LAURENCE BARTLE

I was shopping and I got home in a hurry, says Mrs. Laurence Bartle. After I got there I watched television and the sky and waited for the all-clear.

Once I was home and knew that everyone was okay, I wasn't nervous, she said. We have a basement and we could have gone down if we sighted a tornado.

MRS. ELLA CUMPER

I get very nervous in a storm, says Mrs. Ella Cumper. I've got a place in the southwest corner of the house that is supposed to be safe. . . but the trouble is that I can't hear the whistle.

I had to depend on the television and you don't really know what is happening right at home that way. There should be a better system.

ORVAL HUTCHINSON

We stayed up, says Orval Hutchinson. We watched the sky and the television for storm information, but weren't too nervous.

"After all, if she's going to blow, she's going to blow," he said.

MRS. DEAN HOAG

Coincidentally, another person called by the Chronicle was at the same party with the Wellises. Mrs. Dean Hoag said that when the warning sounded, she and her husband went home, put the kids to bed and then watched to see what would happen with the storm. We depended mostly on television for the all-clear, she said, although we can hear the fire whistle here on the edge of town.

SHARON O'CONNOR demonstrates the basic bounce on the trampoline. . . one of the first exercises learned when using the apparatus.

New Trampoline Hit at School

Although the trampoline has been in use at Cass City School for just about a semester, members of the physical education department say that it already has proven to be a very useful addition to the facilities.

Used by both boys and girls, the unit has proven popular with both. Mrs. John Fahrner and Mrs. John Blifoss are both enthusiastic about its possibilities for the girls.

It is surprising how much that the girls learned in the six short weeks that we used the trampoline in connection with our tumbling course, Mrs. Fahrner reported.

If the school can buy a safety belt she predicts even better results with the students.

The safety belt is a sort of harness that is attached to the student when she is attempting twists and other stunts on the trampoline and is used to avoid injury.

The basic tumbling exercises learned this year were demonstrated at a basketball game at the end of March.

Although there is no formal competition among area high schools in the trampoline, some schools have developed programs where students became expert enough to give exhibitions at many public functions, it was revealed.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Izydorek

Patricia Marie Calvin became the bride of Eugene Francis Izydorek Saturday, April 1, in a double-ring ceremony at St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Cass City.

Father Arnold Messing celebrated the nuptial Mass before an altar decorated with lilies and gladioluses.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Calvin of Southgate are parents of the bride. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Louise Izydorek of Cass City and the late Valerian Izydorek.

The former Miss Calvin wore a floor-length silk organza gown. The Empire styled bodice of Chantilly lace featured a scalloped neckline and long pointed sleeves. The A-line skirt was highlighted by a cathedral length train of Chantilly lace attached at the bodice.

Petals of Alencon lace outlined with crystals and seed pearls secured the bride's elbow-length veil of imported silk illusion. She carried a cascade arrangement of white mums and stephanotis, centered with an orchid.

As her sister's maid of honor, Frances Calvin of Southgate wore a floor-length Empire gown of orchid crepe designed with a flowing back panel of linen. The fitted bodice, accented with a band of daisies and also of linen, was styled with a round neckline and elbow-length sleeves. A petal shaped headpiece clasped the honor attendant's triple-tiered veil. She carried a basket of orchid daisies and purple mums.

Appearing as bridesmaid in a similar ensemble was Sharon Heronemus of Decker. She carried a basket of orchid daisies.

Charles Izydorek, the groom's brother, was best man, while another brother, Paul Izydorek, also of Decker, served as groomsmen.

SPORTS FANS!

By H. M. Bolen

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

This one may surprise you. . . Among racing's Triple Crown -- the Kentucky Derby, the Preakness and the Belmont Stakes -- do you know which race is the oldest? . . . It's not the Derby. . . The Belmont was started in 1867. . . The Kentucky Derby didn't start till eight years later.

Here's an oddity about horse racing you may not have known. . . Did you know that every thoroughbred race horse in the world must be able to trace its pedigree straight back to one of just 3 horses. . . Every thoroughbred that races anywhere today is descended directly from either Byerly Turk, Darley Arabian or Godolphin Arabian. . . Those 3 horses, from the Middle East, and known for their speed, were bred some 250 years ago to 3 English mares known for durability -- and that was the start of the breed we know today as the thoroughbred.

How's this for an oddity. . . Stan Musial made a total of 3,630 hits in his baseball career; exactly 1,815 of those hits came at home and exactly 1,815 came on the road. . . That's a little hard to believe, but it's been checked and it's true.

Tell Details of Gas Tax Bill

If the tax bill recently passed by the State Senate works its way through the House in its present form and is signed by the governor, area communities will be among those benefiting, according to Sen. Frank D. Beadie.

The amounts of increase for roads in various area communities would be: Cass City, $5,900; Gaytown, $3,000; Kingston, $1,800, and Caro, $11,800. The proposed law calls for a one cent a gallon increase in the gas tax and an increase on the weight tax on motor vehicles.

Sommers to Hold
Grand Opening

Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Merchant announced this week that they were celebrating the operation of the bakery under their management with a grand opening Saturday.

An unusual aspect of the event will be that the concern will also mark 30 years serving Cass City at the same time.

Free flowers will be given to the ladies and bakery specials will be used to thank the customers, the Merchants said.

Betty Kennedy
Wins Washer at Schneeberger's

Miss Betty Kennedy of Decker won the washer given away by Schneeberger's in Cass City this week when she broke a tie in a "count the bubbles" contest with the following essay:

WASH A FARMER CLEAN
Winning a washer is much cheaper than buying one, especially when you are just setting up housekeeping. I particularly would like to win a washer since I plan to live on a farm; and as everyone knows, no one gets any dirtier than a farmer, especially one who has pigs.

Klein's Start
Production
In Cass City

Production began last week at the new Klein fertilizer installation in Cass City. This plant is the first of its kind in the Cass City area, officials say, and is producing a complete line of both bagged and bulk fertilizers. Its location is on Vulcan Street along the Grand Trunk railroad.

This new fertilizer plant is complete with the most modern equipment for handling and manufacturing fertilizer; equipment like belt and screw conveyors, fork lift trucks, payloaders, mixer, bagger, complete screening system, and magnetic separator.

The manager of the plant, Leslie Profit, says "when the plant is in full operation we will be producing around 200 tons of finished product per day, including Klein's Super Q and Q Base and Klein's Premium and Super fertilizers." In all, 20 different grades of fertilizer are being produced.

The company offers a complete service program to their farm customers. This includes soil sampling and testing at the Michigan State University laboratory, fertilizer recommendations based on the soil tests, spreaders, applicators, agricultural chemicals, ammonia, farm seeds and many, many more customer services.

The Klein company located at Cass City because of its good roads and helpful and friendly people, according to Clayton Klein, president of the company. "We plan to serve the entire Thumb area from this plant," he says.

Plans Complete for Prom Saturday

Breaking with tradition, the annual Junior-Senior Prom will be held by itself this year instead of in conjunction with the banquet.

The prom is slated for Saturday, May 6, and the banquet will be held the following Saturday, May 13. Both will be semiformal.

The prom theme is "An Exotic Evening in the Orient."

Mixed League
Champs Crowned

The Wallace-McLachlan bowling team posted the season's highest series when it counted most and won the championship of the Kings' and Queens' bowling league this year.

There were four rounds in the league schedule. The Wallace-McLachlan team won rounds two and four; Rochelleau-Comment were the victors in round one and Downing-Kehoe won round three.

The Downing-Kehoe team won the championship preliminary roll-off for the right to face the Wallace-McLachlan team.

Bowling on one squad were Dick and Norma Wallace and Archie and Gwen McLachlan. The Downing-Kehoe team members were Harry and Jenny Kehoe and Mary Downing and Don Doerr.

The high team series posted was 2105 and the high team game (801) was posted the same night by the league champs.

Don Doerr had the high individual men's score (583) and Norma Wallace topped the girls with 508.

Hawks Cop 5-Way Meet Wednesday

Cass City continued undefeated in spring track meets as the thincads edged Vassar, Marlette, Mayville and Reese in a 5-way meet Wednesday night, April 26, at Cass City Recreational Park.

The Hawks were able to win even though the team could muster only two firsts. Showing point-making depth, Cass City finished with 59 1/2 points. Others finished in the following order: Vassar, 56; Marlette, 37 1/2; Mayville, 39 1/2; Reese, 29 1/2.

A brilliant individual performance by Vassar's Bob Frye fell just short of pulling his team to victory. Frye won the shot put and posted the best time of the year in the 100-yard dash with a 10.3 effort. He also won the 220-yard dash.

Cass City's two first places were won by Phil Nichols in the long jump and the high jump. Besides Nichols, points were won for Cass City in the meet by Asher, Weppert, Aleksink, Volschow, Jim and Jack Selby and McRae.

First place winners were: Long jump - Nichols (CC), 19 feet, 10 inches. Shot put - Frye (V), 53 feet, 7 1/2 inches.

High jump - Nichols (CC), 5 feet, 8 inches. Pole vault - Lynch (M), 10 feet, 3 inches.

Two mile run - Lum (Mar), 10:48.6.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter was written to Bob Stickle and we present it here as a tribute to the community.

April 24, 1967

Mr. Bob Stickle
Assistant Principal
Cass City High School
Cass City, Michigan

Dear Bob:
After I got thawed out Saturday night, I started to recall some of the past invitations and the tremendous amount of good that they have created. Speaking strictly from a selfish standpoint, I must say that Cass City is responsible for much of the success our teams have enjoyed in recent years. I remember the first meet and the job of selling we did to convince the boys that we could win, and that it could become a vital link to future track success. Today, Cass City needs no selling, our track men look forward to coming up there, starting in early February. I know that we have been successful in taking our share of gold, but more important is the fact that your meet was the one that gave us the initial start toward a better quality of track teams. I often remark to people that Cass City is one of the most industrious communities in the State. Your pool, for instance was one of the first for any small town, also the Christmas programs were outstanding. The members of the "Gavel Club" are to be commended for their efforts and sense of community pride. Please pay my respects to the members of your organization, they are to be congratulated on a job well done!

Sincerely,
Harry J. Brunet

Dean Hoag Presides at Church Meet

Twenty-four persons attended the monthly party of the Baptist Philathea class Tuesday night, April 25, at the church basement.

President Dean Hoag conducted the business meeting. Mr. and Mrs. Stan Guinther were in charge of recreation, which consisted of parodies of popular TV shows featuring audience participation.

Miss Barbara Buckley of LaPeer, one of the "mystery guests," presented devotions. Miss Buckley was formerly church secretary at the local Baptist church. Other mystery guests included Mrs. Pat Kendall and Mark Canfield.

Poduck lunch was served. The May meeting will be at the Dick Shaw home.

New Law Gives Parents Lever Over Errant Drivers

Michigan parents have a unique tool for disciplining their teenagers.

A law which took effect last year allows parents to request revocation of a child's driving license if the minor is under 18. The parents need give no reason for the request, but they usually do.

Reasons given include poor driving habits, disapproval of the teen's friends, a son who stays out too late, a daughter who takes the car and skips school, and others.

Increased cost of insurance when teens are driving is often a factor, but apparently not usually the sole reason.

Most parents believe a letter from the State Department announcing license revocation will have a positive impact on the teen's behavior, especially since the law also permits parents to have driving privilege restored when they feel it is warranted.

Michigan is the only state where such a law is in effect. Authorities in several other states have been looking at the Michigan legislation with an eye toward similar moves.

BRAG TIME

Michigan Week will be observed May 21-27 for the 14th year, reaching more people within and outside of the state each time.

Preparations for the official one-week May celebration take many months.

The effort to enlist all citizens in programs for the advancement and development of their state is by no means seasonal. It is a year-round program with activity reaching its climax in the week starting the third Sunday in May.

Composed of a central state organization and then broken down into committees working at the regional, county and local levels, the working force behind Michigan Week is thousands strong and includes people from all walks of life.

Each day is given a special designation but designed to accommodate local imagination or special attraction.

Sunday is Spiritual Foundations Day; Monday centers around Our Government; Tuesday emphasizes Hospitality; Wednesday, Our Livelihood; Thursday recognizes Education; Friday, Our Heritage; and Saturday emphasizes Youth.

The 1967 celebration will hold extra significance for some. Special recognition for contributions to the state or local areas will be given.

For the many who have worked on Michigan Week since its ambitious beginnings 14 years ago this observance will be another tribute to their enthusiasm.

NOT DETERRENT

Is a traffic light the answer to a hazardous intersection? Ask the State Highway Department, if a major route is involved, but don't expect an automatic "yes" just because traffic accidents are frequent.

The department, upon investigation, may decide a traffic signal will not remedy the situation.

What many people don't realize is that stop lights are designed to open one traffic corridor across another at alternate intervals. They are not generally useful devices to prevent accidents.

Accidents at an East Lansing intersection were increased almost four times in one year after a stop light replaced a yellow flashing signal.

Traffic volume is most important in determining whether a stop-and-go signal is warranted. In many cases, volume does not warrant a signal, although accidents are frequent.

A poignant example of the futility of a stop light was seen recently at M-25 and Park Street in Bay City where a car plowed into a dozen school children, killing two.

Department officials agreed that the traffic volume at the crossing warranted a signal light. They emphasized, however, that school authorities were told to continue the use of a crossing guard after the light is installed. The study showed the signal would not have prevented the accident.

When feathers begin coming through pillow ticking, remove the feathers, turn the ticking to the wrong side, and iron the surface with an iron that has been rubbed over a piece of wax. Return the feathers to the ticking, and your problem will be solved.

Free Bulletins Can Help Farm Corn Production

In 122 of 161 experiments in Michigan, a corn population of about 16,000 plants an acre yielded 15 per cent more corn than 12,000 plants an acre. Populations of 20,000 plants had higher yield in 27 of the 135 comparisons but the average increase was only three per cent above 16,000 population.

Alfred Ballweg, county extension agricultural agent, thinks farmers who plan to step up the plant population in corn this year should be certain that they are setting their planter right. Michigan State University extension bulletin 436, available at the Tuscola County Extension Office, gives a complete, easy-to-read table that will help farmers determine the rate of planting.

The county agent warns, however, that while plant population can be too low it can also be too high. This will result in lower yields when moisture is a limiting factor. Farmers must also remember that fertilizer needs are increased by higher population and lodging frequently increases which could make higher harvest losses.

Corn growers will find three Michigan corn production publications, EB-436, EB-439 and EB-440 helpful in cultural practices, insect control and weed control. All are available at the Tuscola County Extension Office in the Courthouse, Caro.

Nola Plaskowski, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Plaskowski of Detroit, became the bride of Ronald Puvalowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Puvalowski, of Uby Saturday, April 15. Rev. Fr. Modra performed the double-ring ceremony at Holy Name Church in Detroit.

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride wore an A-line skirted gown trimmed with chantilly lace, a scoop neckline, graced with a detachable train which fell to chapel length. Her three-tier bouffant veil was held secure by a triple flower of lace petals with teardrop crystals. She carried a cascade arrangement of white roses centered with an orchid.

Miss Jan Kuros of Detroit, maid of honor, wore a floor-length light blue crepe sheath with a royal blue bodice, Empire waistline and scoop neckline.

Bridesmaids were Miss Pam Wolanin of Detroit, Mrs. Kathy Plaskowski of Detroit and Miss Gloria Grifka of Uby. They wore gowns identical to the maid of honor's and carried bouquets of blue and white tinted carnations.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Karen Puvalowski of Uby and Miss Monica Plaskowski of Detroit. Their gowns were styled as the other attendants.

Best man was Mike Grifka Jr. of Uby and ushers were Larry Plaskowski, Ron Plaskowski and Paul Scarbrough, all of Detroit.

A reception was held at American Serbian Memorial Hall, Detroit. After honeymooning in the West, the couple will live in Royal Oak.

THIS TINY
ZENITH

WORN IN
LIKE THIS

New Zenith "Zenette" can make life fun again. Precision amplification from 2 Micro-Lithic® circuits. Weighs only 1/16 ounce. Tiny, yet gives hearing help for most mild or moderate losses. Ask for a demonstration. You'll agree that . . .

The quality goes in before the name goes on!

Hearing aids have been getting smaller for years. So, how do you convince anyone that your newest hearing aid is really small? Here at Zenith we choose to do it with facts. . . like these:

... it weighs 1/16 ounce; . . . it will fit inside a regular thimble;

... it is worn in your ear canal; no plastic tubing, no dangling wires.

Interested? Then please read on.

The ZENETTE is the tiniest, in-the-ear instrument that Zenith has ever made. A dramatic engineering accomplishment. The ZENETTE provides superb part-time hearing help for persons with mild hearing losses yet it's so tiny that you may tuck it away in a small corner of your pocket or purse when you're not wearing it.

The new ZENETTE slips easily into the ear, with its own soft rubber tip. No ear mold is required. And, as for the fit, it's as comfortable and snug as you could want.

For persons with a moderate hearing loss, there's a more powerful ZENETTE. Just as tiny. And just as comfortable. Actually, because of its unusual design, the new ZENETTE can be adjusted many ways to fit your particular hearing problem.

Mr. McConkey has been the Zenith dealer in Cass City for many years and will be happy to show you the ZENETTE. He will demonstrate for you all the big features we've built into this, the smallest hearing aid we've ever made.

A nice thing to know is that you take no risk in purchasing any Zenith hearing aid. If you are not completely satisfied, simply return the aid to Mr. McConkey. There is no charge for Zenith's Ten-Day trial offer. At Zenith, the quality goes in before the name goes on. And the entire Zenith Company stands behind that pledge. Stop and see Mr. McConkey. He has been in business in Cass City nearly 40 years and has built his business on service.

Won't you please come in for a demonstration of the tiny new ZENETTE?

P. S. We realize that you may have purchased a hearing aid recently, but we still wanted you to know about the new Zenith ZENETTE. It may have just the features you will want in your next hearing aid.

BOOK REVIEW

No Sex....But Book Still Sells

By Rev. R. J. Searls

The book being reviewed today is by an author whose talents have been reviewed before in this column. Ernest K. Gann will be remembered as the writer of "Fate Is The Hunter and Of Good And Evil," reviewed in this column previously, not to mention a dozen more books he has written. They have all avoided boresome clichés, have sustaining readability and the times they were written about, thoroughly researched.

This week's novel is entitled "In The Company of Eagles".

Unlike many novelists that claim that a writer must scatter sex episodes throughout a novel or it won't sell, Gann in two or three instances has realistic reference to sex, but avoids glorifying it or making it everything about everybody. In this it sharply differs from the general run-of-the-mill. It has been charged that all it takes to be an author today is the discernment to collect four or five vivid sex stories and connect them up by more sexual episodes, and that then the novel will sell!

Gann proves that this is not necessary if the author is willing to do some real work in preparing his manuscript. I thought of the world's best seller, All Quiet On The Western Front, as being similar in content.

The action all takes place in the year 1917. You'll recall that in that critical time, the only real enemies were Great Britain and France vs. Germany. The method of telling his story is to expose the dreams and nightmares alternately. Thus we become more intimate with the problems, the weakness, the constant fear that lay just beneath the surface of almost all of the men.

The only fault that slowed me down when I was reading the book are the rapid moves from one side to the other. I admit to being a fast reader so perhaps this isn't so much a fault of the writer as it is of the reader.

One of the threads that is pursued throughout the novel is one of relentless pursuit by a French pilot of a particular German pilot who had, earlier in the war, killed a friend, seemingly continuing to shoot long after the pilot was dead, greatly tearing up the face, apparently for no reason at all. Chamay makes a personal vendetta of hunting out the German; only to discover, when the two fliers face up to being alone in the sky, that the spirit between the two fliers is no longer an earnest hate, so they turn tail in mutual respect for the enemies' talents.

The other man involved is a German pilot and ace, Kupper, who is an excellent flyer in his own right -- tormented by a love for his Vaterland and a loathing for legalized slaughter. Gann allows us to enter into the very thought processes of the characters, and where Kupper's men see in their leader a half-god and half-man, we can see the thoughts that torment Kupper's mind.

A lesser character but nonetheless important is Kupper's batman (not the opposite of Robin but a valet on a military level) sort of an aid named Pilger described in these words: "The clumsy, insensitive, cunning product of an education for death on the Eastern front -- the symbol of the beast that war can make of men."

America had not yet entered the war, though supplying both men and machines to their allied friends.

I was not yet born at the time of the first world war, but this book seems to me to have been honestly told and realistically too.

"In The Company of Eagles" is a masterful novel of the great war. The 'Eagles' of course are the flyers, so important a weapon for the first time in World War I.

I liked the book, and discovered that it was sharply written throughout. If you like to read books of the World War I, and enjoy being taken into the thinking and rationale of how the soldier justifies participation in this sort of conflict, then read "In The Company of Eagles".

Mrs. Richard Szpunar

Saint Agatha's Catholic Church, Gagetown, was the setting when Mary Ann Bartholomy became the bride of Richard Szpunar Saturday, April 29. Father Joseph P. Friske, pastor, performed the double-ring nuptial Mass at 10:00 a. m. The altar was decorated with white carnations, white gladioli and white chrysanthemums.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bartholomy of Bach, was given in marriage by her father. She chose a floor-length Empire gown of bridal satin, styled with an A-line skirt and featuring a Chantilly lace bodice, pointed sleeves and a round neckline. A detachable Chantilly lace train was chapel length. Her bubble veil of bridal illusion was held by a petal headress and she carried a white missal with a white orchid and red miniature roses. The bride's gown was fashioned by Mrs. Donald Childs of Cass City.

Helen Szpunar, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore a yellow Empire floor-length sheath with a matching lace cage and matching headpiece. She carried white carnations and yellow daisy mums.

Teresa Kosowski, cousin of the bridegroom, Ann Jaster and Mary Brandmair, cousins of the bride, were bridesmaids. They wore aqua Empire floor-length sheaths with Chantilly lace cages and matching headpieces.

Margaret Yost, cousin of the bride, was junior bridesmaid. She wore a yellow Empire floor-length sheath with a Chantilly lace cage and matching headpiece. The bride attendants carried white carnations and yellow daisy mums.

Flower girl was Doreen Jaster, cousin of the bride. She wore a white Empire A-line floor-length dress of bridal satin and a pearl headpiece. A basket of white carnations and yellow daisy mums were her flowers. Her dress was styled by Mrs. Henry Jaster.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Szpunar of Kingston, was attended by Robert C. Harris, cousin of the bride, as best man.

Phil Bieszczak, Wesley Szpunar, brother of the groom, Ray Wolak and Mark Yost, cousin of the bride, were groomsmen. Ronald Houghtaling, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose a light blue suit with white accessories. Her corsage was pink roses.

Mrs. Szpunar wore a lilac suit with white accessories. Her corsage was also pink roses. A breakfast was served 130 guests at the Dom Polski hall, Caro. A buffet supper followed and 375 guests attended the evening reception.

The couple left for a trip to Expo '67 at Montreal and Niagara Falls. They will make their home in Cass City.

Chevrolet's room, ride and price. When Automotive News made its annual roominess study, Chevrolet got the most points. It's roomier inside, they reported, than any other American car. The ride is Full Coil suspension smooth. And Chevrolet hardtops and convertibles are still the lowest priced full-size cars of this kind you can buy. Chevelle's quick size. It's quick to climb, quick to turn. Other mid-size cars might be like Chevelle, true. But they're not as low priced. And they're not made by Chevrolet with Body by Fisher, GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column, inner fenders and Full Coil suspension. Camaro's road-hugging stance. At its price, Camaro is the only sportster to give you wide-stance design. It rides steadier, clings to curves better, hugs the road closer. It's the roomiest car you can buy. Plus, you get a bigger standard engine.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Need Pep Club For Spelling Match

By Marion Hostetler

Bill O'Dell says that being a coach is about as nerve-racking a job as you'll find anywhere. His son David is a junior high coach at Central City, Nebraska. Last year his basketball team were runners-up in the district finals, and this year they were the winners by a narrow margin. . . . In an overtime period. This spring his track team won the district championship by only half a point, and in order to do that they had to break two track records and win the relay by a fraction of a second.

Just about the only part of the educational system on which the public can keep tabs is the department of athletics. The average taxpayer has no way of knowing whether the local schools are doing a superb, mediocre, or slipshod job of teaching geography, trigonometry, or foreign languages, but everybody knows whether the teams are winning or losing.

So this year David O'Dell is a hero in Central City, and next year, if the scores tip the other way. . . . Oh, well, we can worry about that next year.

lenged to earn as many points as they possibly can.

My neighbor Gertrude McWebb, who formerly taught in the elementary schools of East Cleveland, Ohio, was widely recognized in educational circles for her teaching of natural science by the use of a school garden and classroom projects. She would take her classes to Upper Chagrin Park, where a park ranger would guide them in observing trees, plants, wild animals, and birds.

Pupils in smaller towns are closer to nature in terms of distance, but some of them may not pay as much attention to the workings of nature as do the children whose teachers must put forth more effort to arouse their interest.

Boys and girls in the Thumb are receiving a deficient education in the matter of race relations. Lucile Bauer was recently invited to give a travel talk to an elementary class. As a part of her presentation she showed slides of some schoolroom scenes in Jamaica. Whenever a picture of dark-skinned children flashed on the screen, our local boys and girls roared with laughter. At the conclusion of her talk, Mrs. Bauer felt impelled to tell the class that it would hurt the feelings of those children in Jamaica to know that people in Michigan thought they looked so funny.

People with "white" skins form a distinct minority in the total population of the earth, and our pupils are getting a false picture of reality if their books and their environment lead them to believe that anyone who is not white is abnormal.

Zonta Officers

Installed April 25

The Zonta Club of Cass City held its monthly dinner meeting at the New Gordon Hotel Tuesday, April 25.

At the business meeting, a report was given by Kathryn Gauer on the hospital birthday party for senior citizens with birthdays in January, February and March. This is held quarterly at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility.

Helen Baker gave a report on the shirts that are being made into hospital gowns for Project Hope. She reported mailing 40 that had been completed, with more to be finished.

Several members plan to attend a workshop for Zonta members at the Wenonah Hotel in Bay City May 21.

The June meeting will be held at Little's cabin at Caseville, June 15, with potluck refreshments.

Zonta Club will be hosts to a tea Monday, May 15, in honor of the visiting mayor's wife and her party, for Michigan Week. All clubs and the public are invited. The tea will be from 2 to 4 p. m. Chairman is Lucile Bauer, assisted by Edith Little, Gladys Fort, Evelyn Wells, Irene Flemming and Helen Copeland.

An installation ceremony was given by Helen Baker for the new officers. President is Helen Agar; vice-president, Edith Little; second vice-president, Lottie Konwalski; treasurer, Evelyn Wells, and secretary, Celia House.

Helen Copeland and Agnes Milligan are two new board members.

Initiation ceremony was given by Marie Krueger for two new members, Mrs. Gauer and Elaine Romain.

Mildred McConkey gave a talk on "time", beginning with the hourglass. All early watchmakers were classified as scientists, she stated, and even most primitive man was conscious of time. She showed the first watch with any change in 500 years.

Youth Sunday For Lutherans

In an attempt to up-date the youth ministry at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, members of the congregation are working on a Youth Afternoon, May 7.

The theme of the day will be the Christian Teen's Involvement in the Church's Ministry to the World. The program is a radical departure from the past Walther League programs in that it seeks to grow out of local needs and interests rather than superimpose programs from "headquarters".

Beginning at 4:00 p. m., the program will last until about 7:00 p. m. and feature skits, film and speaker, Rev. Robert Schroeder of Forestville. A dinner will be served by the Ladies Aid.

All teens of the congregation are invited. Anyone 13 years of age and older may attend and will find the day rewarding and educational, said the Rev. R. E. Eyer.

It's the high cost of leisure, and not the high cost of living, that bothers most of us.

Don't take a job where you have to wait for some superior to die before you get a promotion; with today's miracle drugs that may be farther away than you think.

Flint Kearsley High School always seems to win the Cayel Club Relays. This might be because they have the largest student body from which to draw, or it might mean that they have the best track coach in the region. I can't think of any way of determining which of these factors is more important.

Hal Conkey, a retired school teacher from Caseville, was called out of retirement to fill a position in the Kingston school system this semester. Hal has been both a farmer and a teacher, and he contends that although there has been a revolution in agricultural methods in the past fifty years, most schools are still teaching the same subjects in about the same ways they did half a century ago.

Hal wishes all classes could have the same incentives for excellence that the athletic teams do. "How about having inter-school spelling matches," he wonders, "with cheer leaders and pep bands to build up enthusiasm?"

Come to think of it, science fairs have put some competitive spirit into academic achievement, but I seem to sense a dwindling of interest along this line.

This year Hal is trying an experiment which seems to him to be working out well. Whenever a pupil recites or takes a test, the teacher immediately gives him one or more small plastic discs, valued from one to six points. The final grade will be based on the number of points a pupil has accumulated.

Some scientists at Harvard learned that pigeons learn more quickly if they are rewarded with food immediately after each success than they do if they are punished after each failure. According to Conkey's system, even the pupils who do rather poorly have the pleasure of receiving at least one token, and those who are better at school work are challenged.

Keith Shaws Observe 40th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Keith Shaw of Decker observed their 40th wedding anniversary Sunday, April 23. A family dinner was held at the Decker Masonic Hall.

Keith Shaw and the former Clara Kreuger were married April 23, 1927, in Snover.

They have six daughters, Mrs. Irvin (Aletha) Mahaffy of Snover, Mrs. Jay (Mabel) Caverly of Kingston, Mrs. Rick (Joyce) Westerlund of Oxon Hill, Md., Mrs. Harold (Judith) Bartels of Port Sanilac, Linda and Sheryl, at home, and five sons, Russell of Snover, Kenneth of Bridgeport, Allan of Marietta, Dale of Tucson, Ariz., and Robert of Highland. They also have 23 grandchildren.

Eighty-two relatives attended from Dryden, Goodrich, Bridgeport, Highland, Rochester, Bad Axe, Allenton, Pontiac, Davison, Marietta, Snover and Decker.

To separate tumblers that have become stuck together, pour cool water in the one on top and set the bottom one in warm water.

cism, shaming, threats or even ignoring the baffled child will only confirm in his mind his feeling of loss. Parents need to help him over this "tragic" hump that's very real in his tender young life.

These are suggestions from child development specialists that could help, says Mrs. Ross.

First, give the child all the time and affection he needs -- and you can possibly spare. Show him with actions as well as words that you still love him.

Help him talk out his feelings about his new baby sister or brother. Encourage him to act them out too with toys or dolls, so if he feels like "punching" her he can take these emotions out on the doll -- not the baby.

If he's old enough -- 3 1/2 or more -- let him hold the baby, help feed it and help care for it. This might make him feel he's a "big boy" and "Mommy counts on his help." But forcing him to help may make his feelings for dislike even stronger.

Other pointers that might help curb jealousy are to inform the child that a baby is coming to your house; to give him some time which is exclusively his each day after the baby comes; to always give him reassuring affection, and help him see that you're always a ready listener to his ideas and problems.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I was telling you here a while back about that country editor in North Carolina that was gitting overflowed with red tape from the Post Office Department.

Well, I found out yesterday that you country editors ain't yet even got in the mainstream of Government red tape. This Washington column writer said he got a news item from the U. S. Civil Service Commission. I copied the news item down fer my little piece this week and here it is:

"The United States Civil Service Commission announces the cancellation of Amendment No. 2 to Announcement No. DE-2719 (1966) for identification and condition verifier W-7 issued Feb. 27, 1967."

*Receipt of applications for this examination was suspended until further notice effective Feb. 6, 1967, as a result of an amendment issued Jan. 23, 1967."

This column writer said he give the news item to Senator Dirksen and ask him if he would get in touch with the Civil Service Commission and find out what they was trying to announce.

He got the word back that they was going to hold a examination for a clerk but was announcing it had been called off.

And you think you got red tape troubles, Mister Editor? I ain't saw but one item out of Washington this week that I could understand. This item said the Veterans Administration had 29,700,000 names on file and they had completed a study to see which was the most common names in this country. They run in this order. (1) Smith, (2) Johnson, (3) Williams, (4) Jones, (5) Brown, (6) Miller, (7) Davis, (8) Anderson, (9) Wilson, (10) Thompson.

I was a little surprised, Mister Editor, that Jones and Brown wasn't running in the two and three spots, but the Veterans Administration has spoke.

And speaking of Government red tape onct more, I was reading where a "White House spokesman" said the "destruction of the Viet Cong infrastructure was succeeding." If anything in Viet Nam was succeeding I wanted to know about it so I went over to Ed Doolittle's house to look in his dictionary and see what "infrastructure" meant. It wasn't in Ed's dictionary and I still don't know what we've got over there that was succeeding.

When you git through with your Zip Code chores this week and git your papers sacked up east and west, please find out what "infrastructure" means so's I can tell the fellers at the store Saturday night about our new success.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Perpetual Motion Machine...
"The Atomic Energy Commission is developing a new type of nuclear reactor which will produce more fuel than it uses -- and is thereby virtually a perpetual motion machine."
Known as the LMFB-- Liquid Metal Fast Breeder Reactor--the atomic engine will produce electricity as well as supplies of plutonium.

"Such a machine would reduce pressure on dwindling supplies of coal, oil, and natural gas--fuels which now carry the brunt of America's power needs."

Aluminum foil placed over the bottom of your freezing compartment will prevent ice-cube trays and food packages from sticking, as well as keep the bottom of the freezer compartment clean.

A saucer turned upside down on the bottom of the salad bowl will keep a tossed green salad from getting soggy while waiting for late guests. The dressing drains down around the saucer, not on the greens.

One For The Road

Water Is The Prime Problem

By Dan Marlowe

Excerpted from the March-April issue of the Michigan Conservation Magazine:

Seawater to Freshwater... "Interest in converters that make fresh water from salt water continues to grow, and new research is helping to drive costs down."

"Many conservationists feel that the prime problem now facing the world is water--fresh, clean water that can sustain life as we know it. Growing populations and growing pollution are siphons draining freshwater supplies dangerously."

"A set of US patents was approved recently that could sharply increase the output from plants now in operation. A plant in Israel was able to increase its daily output from 1 million to 1.25 million gallons a day by introducing a simplified method of scale removal."

"Water prices to consumers dropped from $1.38 to $1.25 per thousand gallons, very high in comparison to municipal rates in Michigan, but the price drop is significant at a time when natural supplies of freshwater are diminishing throughout the world."
