

I like it... I like it not

BY CHRIS SCHWADERER

The State of Michigan just gave each and every one of us a gift. There was nothing too special about the way it was wrapped, just the way it came, and it came early. Bright and early Wednesday morning it was there; nine o'clock came at eight, eight came at seven, seven came at six and six came at the unbelievable hour of five.

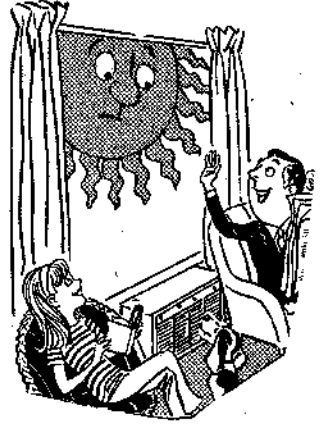

reactions to the time change were. Out of the 20 persons interviewed, only five thought the State could do better in the gift department. Seven didn't think it would affect them too much and eight thought it was "wonderful."

"I have to get up at 4:30 a. m. now," said Mrs. Henry Taylor, "and I don't care for the change. They are just going to shift the time back later anyway."

he would rather it stayed the same way because the change means he has to get up an hour earlier. How will the change affect the bankers who supposedly keep "bankers' hours?" One banker told the Chronicle, "I don't like it. It means I have to go to work one hour sooner."

The Chronicle interviewed Idaho where they had this same type of time change, and she is all in favor of having the same change here.

When the Chronicle called Sommer's Bakery, Lena Tuckey said that they were just discussing the issue. She is in favor of the change because there will be more time at night and besides, "I enjoy the morning."

Earn College Degrees

Two area residents were among the 3,724 Michigan State University students awarded degrees at commencement exercises held Sunday, June 11, in Spartan Stadium. J. Daniel O'Rourke, a 1963 graduate of Owen-Gage High School, was commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force May 23. He received his bachelor of science degree in mathematics. He will report for active duty July 17 at Langley Field, Hampton, Va., where he will work in electronic data processing. While at MSU, O'Rourke was treasurer of the Student Education Association, a member of the Judo Club and the Association for Computing Machinery and a Cadet Officer. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Rourke of Gagetown.

J. DANIEL O'ROURKE

KENNETH HOFMEISTER

Also a 1963 graduate of Owen-Gage High School and a Sunday graduate of MSU was Kenneth Hofmeister, son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hofmeister of Gagetown. Hofmeister received his bachelor of science degree in agricultural engineering and has been awarded a grant to attend graduate school at MSU. As a graduate research assistant, he will initiate and conduct surveys on farm accidents in Michigan. Hofmeister was both vice-president and president of Gamma Delta, the Lutheran students' group and president of Montel House, a student resident home.

Four area residents were graduated from Michigan Universities in exercises held at the schools last week end. Ronald Wright was graduated from Eastern Michigan University June 10 and Sherryl Law Dillon was graduated from Central Michigan University June 11. Michigan State University graduated J. Daniel O'Rourke and Kenneth Hofmeister June 12.

RONALD WRIGHT

Ronald Wright, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Wright of rural Cass City, received his master's degree from Eastern Michigan University in exercises held June 10. He holds a bachelor of arts degree from Central Michigan University where he was graduated in 1963 with a major in social science. Wright will continue teaching at Richfield Center near Davison where he has been since graduating from CMU. Wright, his wife and two sons live in Davison.

CIRCUIT COURT

Concluded from page one to the driving charge and innocent to the check writing charge. Sentence will be passed July 17 on the driving charge and a jury trial has been scheduled for Aug. 31 on the check charge.

Thirty-one were present Monday evening for the monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary at the Legion hall. Hostesses for the meeting were Mrs. Alfred Fort, Mrs. Fred Wright and Mrs. Alvin Guild.

The Department of Michigan convention was announced to be held in Grand Rapids July 20-23.

The president, Mrs. Henry Cherry, assisted by Mrs. Arthur Little and Mrs. William Anker, conducted a memorial service for 13 members who have died since the organization of the unit.

Mrs. Wilbur Morrison reported for the nominating committee. Miss Esther Buehrly and Mrs. Vern McConnell served as tellers when the following officers were elected: president, Mrs. Albert Keller Jr.; vice-president, Mrs. William Anker; secretary, Mrs. Joseph Koepf; treasurer, Mrs. Vern McConnell; chaplain, Mrs. John Guinther; sergeant at arms, Mrs. Edward Schwartz; historian, Mrs. Glenn McCloyre, and executive committee, Mrs. Garrison Stine, Mrs. Arthur Little and Mrs. Arthur Kelley.

Named as delegates to district meetings for the coming year were Mrs. Arthur Little and Mrs. Vern McConnell, with Mrs. William Anker and Mrs. Garrison Stine as alternates.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge Local Concern Fights Delinquency

By Marion Hostetler

Last Thursday I went with Rev. Ira Wood to Oakland University at Rochester to attend a conference on crime and delinquency which was sponsored by the Mott Center for Community Affairs and the State Bar of Michigan.

I was surprised and pleased to note that the chairman of the program was Probate Judge Eugene A. Moore of Oakland county, better known in Cass City as the husband of Mary Shaw Moore. I said hello to Judge Moore during the luncheon period, and he told me that the entire Brewster Shaw family had been at his house for dinner the preceding evening.

Eugene Moore's father, Circuit Judge Arthur E. Moore, spoke about Oakland County Protective Services which he founded several years ago, which has become a national model of what the people of a community can accomplish if they work together to eliminate the causes of delinquency.

Protective Services can best be provided on a community basis, because whatever delinquency there may be must have been produced by the local community, and its prevention should be accomplished by the people of the same community. When the people of a community are genuinely concerned, Judge Moore has shown that they can organize in order to do three things: (1) Find the child who seems to be headed in the direction of delinquency; (2) learn about his problems and the needs of his family, and (3) work with him persistently to help him become a well-adjusted person and a good citizen.

Most of these services are rendered without charge by public-spirited citizens, but even if it became necessary to employ a professional case worker in larger communities, his salary would be money well spent, for it costs $6,000 every year to keep one inmate in a state prison.

We might suppose that there are no children or young people in our fair village who need the kind of help that Protective Services can offer. But that reminds me about a young minister in Sebawaing who decided to move to a city church because he wanted to counsel with young people about their problems. Another more experienced minister commented, "If he can't see any young people in Sebawaing who are in need of counseling, he won't be able to find them in a city, either."

Susan Tyo is working with the Neighborhood Youth Corps in Saginaw, helping to find jobs or educational opportunities for school drop-outs and other young people who may be delinquents or pre-delinquents. This is a federal program, I believe, and it seems to be working at the same problem which is being tackled on a local basis by Oakland County's Protective Services.

Croswell has something of a reputation as being a town that believes in local government as opposed to federal regulation. A few years ago when the postal department offered to build a new post office in Croswell, the people rejected the offer, saying, "Our old post office is good enough for us."

I was talking to a couple of fellows in Croswell one evening not long ago, and one of them said, "Government welfare is OK, but what we really should have done was to employ a local case worker to investigate the cases of need in our own town. We could have provided for them without our own funds, and that would have saved a lot of red tape and the salaries of all those bureaucrats in Washington, D. C."

I agreed that this would have been a good plan, but we all had to admit that Croswell didn't actually do it until somebody from higher up said that it had to be done.

Lounsbury's Feted On Anniversary

Forty relatives gathered at the Harland Lounsbury home Sunday afternoon at an open house which celebrated the Lounsbury's silver wedding anniversary.

Guests attending were: Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lounsbury of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Lorn Brinkman and two children of Southfield, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Strecker and children of Saginaw, Mr. and Mrs. James Schad and sons of Clio, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Halsey and children of Davisburg, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Goodall, Grant and Linda and Susan Tuckey, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Lounsbury, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Hutchinson and children, Mrs. Emory Lounsbury, Mrs. Charlotte Bishop and Mrs. Eliza Morse.

Harland Lounsbury and Miss Elnora Bishop were married June 14, 1942, in Caro and have a teenage son, Norris.

WINNER OF THE annual $100 scholarship given by the Cass City Business and Professional Women this year was Miss Sue Bryant. The Cass City High School graduate plans to enter a nursing school and after two years enter the Peace Corps. Making the presentation were club officers. From left: Mrs. Geraldine Fischer, Miss Bryant, Mrs. Verna Mae MacRae and Mrs. Lorraine O'Dell.

140 Attend DVB School

About 140 children are enrolled in the Vacation Church School, sponsored by the Cass City Council of Churches, which closes Friday, June 16.

Special offerings taken during the school will be given to the Huron-Tuscola Migrant Mission. A speaker from the Migrant Mission was to talk to the students Wednesday.

Departmental superintendents for the school are Emily Meiser, Ann Leverich, Joyce and Mrs. Ira Wood.

Teachers are Pat Gee, Delores McAlpine, Rosemary Galz loway, Shirley Doerr, Dorothea Quick, Janet Bishop, Iris Tuckey, Betty Kirn, Laura Bryant, Agnes Milligan, Ruth Esau and Jeanette Lapeer.

Helpers include Mary Beth Esau, B. J. Halre, Beth Parrott, Linda Goodall, Debbie Boylan, Betsy Hostetler, Debbie Chippi, Barbara Crow, Shari Geiger, Don Leverich, Sherry Schmeberger and Fay Barker. Judy Braid is director of the school which is meeting in the Methodist and Presbyterian churches due to remodeling in the EUB Church.

The cost for materials for each child was about 75 cents this year, a decrease from last year.

Knowledge is power only when hatched to the right theory.

Police Work Is Tough— And Just As Rewarding

More and more bright young men are attracted to careers with the Michigan State Police. Better base salary, fringe benefits, shorter work weeks and other overall conditions brought renewed interest in this important job. State Police count 1,473 in their ranks with 68 recruits beginning school. Their authorized strength is 1,576. About 300 civilians are employed.

missioner, notes that about 35% of those who begin training do not graduate.

**** Opportunities for advancement are excellent. Each retirement opens vacancies through the ranks which means several promotions per retirement. Troopers are eligible to take promotional examinations after five years of service.

Salaries begin at $6,368.40 per year. Annual raises bring a trooper's pay to $9,437.76 after seven years. Higher rank increases pay, of course, with a police captain drawing about $15,000 per year.

Civil Service pay increases will raise salaries to a higher level beginning July 1.

Other benefits include longevity pay after six years of service; travel allowance; free uniforms and equipment; vacation and sick leave; free moving when transferred; group medical and life insurance; a retirement plan which allows half-pay for life after 25 years of service.

**** Work weeks have been reduced to 40 hours, but the job is still demanding and the training rigorous. Basic school at headquarters in East Lansing includes classroom instruction in police administration and related subjects. First aid, firearms, boxing, judo, swimming and other skills are also taught. After graduation, troopers are encouraged to seek additional school.

MICHIGAN "YEAR"

"It's just begun," said Don Weeks, executive director of the Greater Michigan Foundation. This, despite the fact that Michigan Week "ended" May 27.

The 14th consecutive Michigan Week observance involved an estimated 15,000 people in leadership roles with hundreds of thousands participating.

Weeks looks upon Michigan Week as a rallying time and likens it to a business convention. The observance, itself, he maintains, is merely a "charging up" of leaders and citizens with the hope that interest and pride in the state will linger for the remaining 51 weeks.

**** "It is nothing but a place on the calendar," Weeks says when referring to Michigan Week. A county chairman may begin organizing plans in the summer. By the time school starts he will have recommended programs which schools and service clubs can immediately use to promote Michigan Week ideals within their own organizations.

Year-round promotions need not bring monumental results to keep with underlying principles of Michigan Week. Any original program which endeavors to demonstrate the state's friendliness, brings people closer together, builds community pride or improves opportunities for Michigan youth is considered a direct result of Greater Michigan promotion.

**** Improvements in the seven-day event constantly take place. This year, addition of Michigan Minuteman Governor's Awards became a part of Livelihood Day.

Nominations for the award were submitted by state associations, city and village councils, and county boards of supervisors. One hundred people received the Governor's citation at special ceremonies.

**** Another attraction this year was a tour by five former Michigan Governors during Government Day. Wilber M. Brucker, 1931-32; Murray D. Van Wagner, 1941-42; Harry F. Kelly, 1943-46; G. Mennen Williams, 1949-60, and John B. Swainson, 1961-62, visited some of Michigan's larger cities and were met by enthusiastic crowds at each stop. Next year's observance, set for May 19-25, is already in the planning stage.

Agent's Corner

By Mrs. Ann Ross

Home Extension Agent

"Do-it-yourself" house fixers are not advised to try their hands at laying "poured floors."

The new seamless, resilient floor covering has much in its favor, points out Mrs. Ann Ross, Thumb extension home economist, but best results come if this flooring is laid by an experienced, authorized dealer.

The new resilient flooring, with its high-gloss waterproof surface, is installed by pouring the substance from wall to wall or by welding together strips which come from the factory and then pouring the polyurethane coating on the surface.

"This is tricky business at best," Mrs. Ross indicates, if the flooring is to have a quality look. The actual process for a "poured" floor involves treating the floor case with a toxic liquid, adding color chips as desired to the liquid surface and then applying a polyurethane coating on top. If the first two steps have been factory-done and the material then comes to the dealer, these strips must be carefully welded on site and the surface coating added.

Advantages of the new type of flooring are less upkeep (washing only needed), durability, non-slip safety factor, and its versatility for use in the home and outside.

Quality of the product to start with and the quality of workmanship by the installer are vital. After installation, flooring cannot be changed without removing the whole floor. This type of flooring, it is noted, cannot be laid over previous floor coverings.

Remodeling of the kitchen has included painting and the addition of new cupboards.

A Mass and picnic for the catechism children June 7 was discussed.

The meeting was concluded with refreshments served by Mrs. E. Rutkowski, Mrs. C. Bartnik, Mrs. H. Bartnik, Mrs. H. Rogers and Mrs. R. Sugden.

Final Rites Sunday For Earl Hartwick

Earl Hartwick, 75, retired farmer of Greenleaf township, died unexpectedly Friday in his home.

Son of the late Edward and Harriett Hartwick, he was born Sept. 29, 1891, in Sanilac county. He and Miss Pearl Agar were married Aug. 10, 1913, at Caro.

Mr. Hartwick was a member of Tyler Lodge No. 317, F & AM, and Echo Chapter No. 337, OES.

He is survived by his widow; a daughter, Mrs. Elgin Greenlee of Argyle; two sons, Kenneth of Saginaw and Kermit of Cass City; seven grandchildren; a great-grandchild; a brother, Ernest of Detroit, and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Tahosh of Stockbridge, Mich., and Mrs. Mina Rossrousseau of Flushing.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home, Rev. Melvin R. Vender, retired Presbyterian minister, officiated. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

Altar Society Meets June 5

Members of the St. Pancratius Rosary Altar Society heard Mrs. K. Ivan MacRae speak on the proposed Tri-County Community College and vocational schools June 5.

Mrs. Tom Herron presided over the meeting and Mrs. Ed Hahn read a prayer of St. Francis.

The meeting was concluded with refreshments served by Mrs. E. Rutkowski, Mrs. C. Bartnik, Mrs. H. Bartnik, Mrs. H. Rogers and Mrs. R. Sugden.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night was discussing the 1968 elections. Most of the fellers, special Ed Doolittle and Clem Webster, git started on these matters well in advance.

Ed said the nearer we git to 1968 and the elections the louder some of them politicians, Democrat and Republican, was talking and taking credit fer what they was doing fer the pore folks and the working man.

Zeke Grubb said, as a rule, he had always noted that them what was talking the loudest was doing the least. He said when he was a boy more'n 50 year ago his Pa told him a story about folks taking public credit fer things.

He said they was a bullfrog living in a lake up in the Far North where a couple of wild geese was spending the summer.

The bullfrog and the geese got to be good friends and when cold weather set in and the geese was gitting ready to fly South, the bullfrog was mighty sad. But, final, he got a smart idea. He figgered out how he could go South with the geese. He got a long rope, tied one end to one goose leg and the other end to the leg of the other goose.

Then the bullfrog clamped his jaws on the middle of the rope and the two geese took off fer warmer climate, carrying the bullfrog with them.

All was going good fer about half the journey. But onct, when the geese was flying pritty low, a farmer, looking up, was over-come with praise fer such a original idea.

"Who thought that up?," he yelled to the bullfrog and the geese.

"I did," said the bullfrog. But when he opened his mouth to take credit, he lost his hold on the rope, fell to the ground, and his geese friends left him behind.

Zeke allowed as how it was a simple little story but he had recollect about it since he was a boy.

And I'll have to say this about Zeke, Mister Editor, he's got a heap of faults but bragging and taking credit fer things ain't one of them. I reckon it's on account of that story his Pa told him about the bullfrog and the wild geese.

Ed was of the opinion that if you boiled everthing down to the bottom of the barrel, it was the taxpayers and nobody else that had ought to get credit fer whatever the Government was doing to help anybody, rich or pore.

Even Clem Webster of the Great Society was agreed with this and all the fellers said they just aimed to tune them credit grabbers out from now on.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

New Holland's Model 975 - a medium-size combine with harvest power to spare!

Check it out. Here's harvest power. Plenty of it. Whether you're planting narrow-row or wide-row.

Driving it is a big, brawny 85-hp engine, for example. Its got the heft to handle the heavy crops, the "push" for the tough conditions. Keeps you right on rolling till the crop's in.

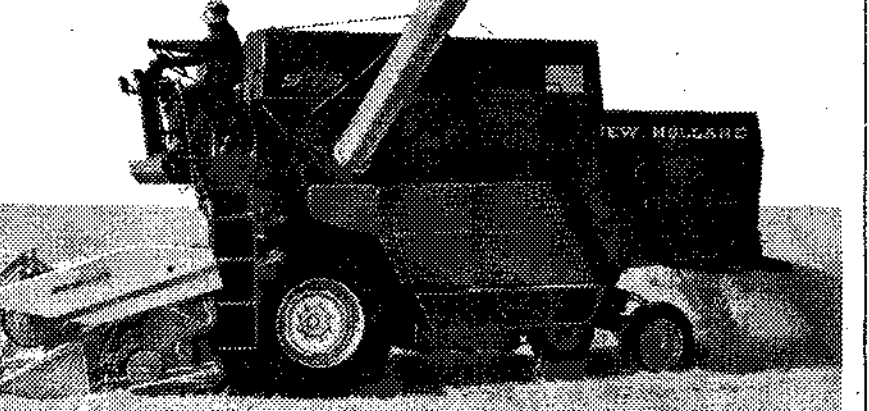

And there's separating ability to match. The "975" measures in bigger than some of the "big" price combines. Extra-big strawwalkers and cleaning area are fed by an almost-40-inch-wide cylinder. The result is more corn—and cleaner corn!

And you'll get the job done in comfort with full on-the-go control of reel speed, cylinder speed, header height, reel height. Right from the cushioned contour seat. It's all standard equipment, too!

But best of all is the way the "975" is built to stay on the job till it's done. It's truly a powerful combine, built to do a powerful lot of work!

Choice of headers. Select either 2-row 40-inch or 3-row 30-inch corn heads. 13-foot or 15-foot direct-cut headers. There's a lot more you'll like about the Model 975. But let

One For The Road Daugherty Sees "Spirit" In Ubyly

By Dan Marlowe

The Ubyly Community Club held its annual Athletic Banquet the other night at which the Ubyly High School athletic awards were made to the letter-men of the football, baseball, basketball and track teams, and the attendance at the banquet was a remarkable 263. It was remarkable because the population of Ubyly is less than 900, and the crowd turning out for the awards ceremonies thus represented 30% of the townspeople. Ubyly has community spirit. It didn't hurt the attendance, of course, that the principal speaker of the evening was none other than Hugh "Duffy" Daugherty, head football coach at Michigan State University and raconteur par excellence. In the week preceding the Ubyly banquet, Duffy had spoken in California, Arizona and New York. How does a community of 900 obtain the services of a speaker of the caliber of Duffy Daugherty? It helps, for one thing, if the unofficial chaplain for Duffy's Spartans in East Lansing is Monsignor Jerome MacEachin, a native of Ubyly. It helps, too, if the local high school football team has just had an undefeated season, as Ubyly had, and shows signs of making a better than average showing in the coming one. Duffy was seen carefully examining the dimensions of Ubyly's 7 first team All-Conference footballers. During the evening the MSU coach was at the top of his storytelling form, skillfully sugarcoating his "working This is the time of year when it's no trick at all to give the garden a mental hee-

BPW Club Plan Events For Summer

The regular meeting of the Cass City Business and Professional Women's Club was held June 2 with a potluck dinner at the Cultural Center. Twenty-one members and three guests attended. During the meeting, Lorraine O'Dell introduced Sue Bryant as the BPW scholarship girl and Grace Nemeth gave an account of the trip to the State Convention made by President Verna Mae MacRae, Phyllis Connolly and a guest. A rummage sale and an ice cream wagon were discussed as summer projects. Both ideas were passed. The meeting was then adjourned until September.

Tuscola Cancer Unit to Meet

The Tuscola County Unit of the American Cancer Society will meet on Wednesday, June 21, in the Gulliver Room of the Reese Elementary School. According to Mrs. Joe Young, crusade chairman, township totals will be announced at the 8 p. m. roundup meeting. Volunteers who have not yet used their complimentary "Pap" smear kits are asked to use them before July 31 and to remind their doctors that the county unit ACS will pay the lab fees.
