Break ground for golf course

Ground was broken this week on a new nine-hole golf course on an 80-acre site just north of the Cass City village lim-

From the ditor's Corner

I'll bet you didn't know that Thursday, Oct. 12, is Columbus Day. Here in the Midwest, Columbus Day is sort of like flag day. . .nice to have, but nothing like any of the major holidays.

But in New England it's different. General Cable employees transferred here from the east say that Columbus Day is big. . . . and they can't under-stand why everyone doesn't take off for the big event.

Last week was a clean sweep for local sports fans. . . the Tigers, Lions, Wolverines, Spartans and Hawks all lost and even the Coho salmon stopped biting. . . and I won't say a word about the upcoming pheasant season.

Every week of the year there is one commemorating something or other. . . one of the more important has been set for next week and it's for Fire

Instead of just calling attention to the $1.8 billion in losses to fire each year and the 12,100 persons who die from burns, the Elkland Township Fire Department takes practical steps to do what it can locally. Chief Nelson Willy says that the department will again check every business building in the community for potential fire hazards. Store owners are asked to be on hand either Tuesday or Thursday at 7 p. m. while the firemen make their free courtesy checks.

Any day now the new sanitary landfill dump will be in full use. it's a credit to the community and to the council which engineered it over some rocky shoals after 10 years of trying.

But one problem solved creates another. What to do with the old site? Besides being an eyesore, it creates a problem aside from its aesthetic

When the new dump opens it will be closely guarded for indiscriminate dumping, will not the tendency be for persons who can't get in to toss their refuse in the old dump Continued on page four.

The owner-builder is Grant Hutchinson of Cass City, Hutchinson said that he plans to have a 3,200-foot par-36 course when work is completed.

In addition, he said, there will be a driving range in conjunction with the course. The course has been designed by a professional to give maximum utilization of the site, Hutchinson continued.

One of the first projects in construction will be digging a large pond as a course hazard and water supply.

We'll probably start that later this week, Hutchinson explained.

While work is now underway, plans do not call for the building of the greens until next

We have some clearing to do in the woods before we can get started on the remainder of the construction, Hutchinson explained.

The course will be open to the public, the new owner said. A name has not yet been se-

SERVING THE GRANT METHODISTS from 1892 to 1907 was this church and rectory. It was destroyed by fire.

BUILT IN 1907 this church still serves the congregation of the Grant Methodist Church today. It could be the last church built to serve the families of the Grant-Speridan townships

The Grant Methodist Church will celebrate its diamond anniversary with special services Sunday, Oct. 15, when former members and guests are expected to attend to help commemorate another landmark in the church's history. It could be the last historical odists. Changing economic and population patterns make it questionable whether or not the church will be functioning for its centennial anniversary.

O. H. Blair, the oldest living long-time member of the church, recalled the early history of the church and how it served the Methodists of the Rescue area.

The Grant church probably reached its zenith just after World War I, he said. Fifty years ago there were 100 members who belonged to the church and the church was the center of activities for the area.

"We went to town once a week", he continued, "and most of the meetings and cultural activities of the families were held in the church". But since World War I with the advent of better roads, larger farms and fewer people, the church membership has fallen slowly, but steadily. To-

Mother receives 4 medals for son's valor

Four posthumous awards were presented to Mrs. Karl Weippert of Cass City Tuesday noon at a Rotary meeting at the New Gordon Hotel for service performed by her son, Stanley J. Himmel, in overseas assignments.

Himmel died this spring while on duty with the Navy in Washington, D. C. He was a 12year career sailor.

Mrs. Weippert received the first medal for Himmel's service in Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, between 1961 and 1962.

The second was the national defense service medal for serving in the armed forces. The third, the Vietnam Service Medal, was presented for service in South Vietnam or nearby coastal waters during the Vietnam conflict and the final award was the Vietnam campaign ribbon bar awarded by the Republic of South Vietnam to members of the United States Armed Forces for meritorious service and supporting operations during the Vietnam conday there are 45 mempers on the rolls.

"I'm afraid the hand writing is on the wall", Blair said regretfully. Although the Grant Church has always been a member of a circuit, in the early years it was the dominant one and the pastor lived at Grant instead of one of the other area churches served.

But when the population shifted, so did the pastor. For many years the Grant and Owendale churches were served together. For a brief period a pastor preached at Grant and Gagetown. . . . today the church is served by the Rev. Elizabeth Isaacs, the pastor of the Elkton church.

MANY PASTORS

In its 75 years the church has been served by 42 pastors. Prior to the building of the first church five pastors served three Sunday School classes in the area.

The classes combined to become the Grant church. The church was formed when Duncan McDonald and Enoch Turner walked to Cass City to attend a district conference to obtain recognition for Grant as a regular appointment. The Rev. and Mrs. Richardson were sent to serve the new circuit.

Mrs. Richardson organized the first Ladies Aid with five other charter members: Mrs. R. Parr, Mrs. D. McDonald, Mrs. James Young Sr., Miss Effie McDermett and Miss Mil-He Young.

Various money raising events were held to build a fund to erect a church. In 1891 a building committee was appointed.

Kingston senior semifinalist in national tests

Tom (Horace) Clement, a senior at Kingston High School, has been named as a semifinalist in the National Merit Scholarship competition, according to Jerome G. Schwartz, principal. Achievement of a semifinalist rank is a major accomplishment. Fewer than one per cent of all students taking the yearly exam achieve this status. The youth is now eligible to compete for the finals.

Clement has attended Kingston Community School for eight years, Marlette Community School for one year, and Chesaning Community School for two years. His parents are deceased and he is living with his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Dale Clement of Kingston.

Dismal bean harvest over is the best of the three counties in the Upper Thumb, but still well below an average yield, a check of various farm officials showed this week. Nearly all of the crop has been harvested.

By far the hardest hit was Sanilac county which has barely a 20 per cent crop and is a disaster area.

At best, the figures about the crop this year are just educated guesses, Assistant Agent Don Kebler reported, but it is likely that Tuscola county will have an 80 per cent crop. Original estimates of the yield per acre are proving too high, Kebler said, because the beans are running small. The best beans in the county are in the Akron, Fairgrove, and Gilford area, and they are running about 22 bushels to the acre as compared to an average of 25-26 bushels.

Lee Warchefsky, Huron county agent, said that he feels

Arrest three for car theft

Three juveniles from Detroit were arrested for car theft Monday by Chief Carl Palmateer of Cass City.

Palmateer said that he found the youths hanging around the school and made a routine check and found that the car was reported stolen.

Each of the youths had been involved in theft previously, Palmateer said.

Sieland charged with arson in barn burning

Joseph E. Sieland, of Caro, stood mute Tuesday when arraigned on a charge of arson for the burning of a barn in Elmwood township belonging to Thomas Smith when he appeared before Judge James Churchill in Tuscola County Circuit Court in Caro.

His plea was the same as another youth, Bruce Wilson of Farmington, who was arraigned on the same charge last week.

The burning of the Smith barn was one of several in the area which were attributed to arson, by authorities. Also Tuscola county's bean crop that the yield there will be only about 60 per cent of the longtime average and about half as large as last year's crop.

Farmers in the Cass City area of Huron county fared better than the county as a whole. In the eastern portion of the county farmers were unable to plant because of early rains and others were forced to plow crops under. The western half of Huron county missed some of the damaging spring

In Sanilac county, virtually every farmer's crop was wiped out by rain. Those who replanted late have crops that are either nothing at all or are substantially below average

Even in the more fortunate areas around the Thumb, the bean crop varied sharply from farm to farm and, in some cases, even from field to field.

Farmers report yields of up to 25 bushels to the acre on one field and 10 bushels and below on another.

One bright spot in the dismal bean picture is the price. Last year beans sold for around $6.00 per hundredweight and this year the price hovers around $8.50 per hundred-

Spooner sent to Jackson

Cleveland V. Spooner, 22 Bad Axe, who was involved in a shooting escapade May 25 with Sheriff M. R. McBride, was sentenced from two to four years in Southern Michigan Prison Thursday for assault with a deadly weapon.

Spooner, who had been pefriended by McBride, who was acting as his probation officer, missed work and the sheriff spotted him in Cass City.

He tried to question Spooner who drove away at high speeds towards Owendale. He ran off the road and took the shot at the sheriff as he was about to question him.

Spooner then ran into a nearby woods where he stayed until talked into surrendering.

New catholic priest enjoys music, radio and Cass City

When area folks become acquainted with Father Peter Pijnappels, the new pastor at St. Pancratius Church, many will find they have interests in common with the new priest. The new Father is a Ham radio operator. . . . he enjoys fishing. . . . loves boating, water skiing and conventional skiing

. . ,and enjoys playing the piano and organ. Regretfully, many of his more active interests have fallen by the wayside in recent years because of Father Pijnappels' health. . . .but already located in his study is his radio equipment and he still plays the piano and organ.

It was because of his health that the new pastor requested the Bishop to transfer him from St. Norbert's at Munger. The parish there has a Catholic school and is larger. . . making more demands on the priest in charge. St. Norbert's is now under the direction of Fr. Arnold Messing. Besides handling the work at St. Norbert's, Fr. Pijnappels had a full time job working on the marriage court of the church, a position he has filled for 14 years. "I hope to resume this task as soon as I am settled here in Cass City," he said, Fr. Pijnappels was born Feb.

28, 1908, in the Netherlands and was ordained in Belgium Oct. 15, 1931. After he entered the priesthood, he studied church and civil law at a school in Rome, Italy, that was accredited by the Vatican.

He came to the United States in 1947 to teach at St. Norbert Abbey, West dePere, Wis., from 1947 to 1951.

He left the Abbey to enter the Saginaw diocese as an assistant at SS Peter and Paul in Ruth. He became assistant at Sacred Heart, Saginaw, in 1954 and at St. Mary Cathedral in Saginaw in 1957. His first pastorate was St.

Joseph at Unionville and he was the first pastor of the parish. . . . formerly operated as a mission of St. Mary, Sebewaing, He was transferred to Munger in 1966 and his appointment to St. Pancratius became effective Sept. 26.

Fr. Pijnappels said that he was happy to be at Cass City and was looking forward to a long and pleasant stay in the community.

MRS. KARL WEIPPERT received four medals Tuesday for activities of her son Stanley J. Himmel, USN. The awards were made by Lieut. Commander C. M. Charneco Jr., Bay City, at a meeting of the Rotary Club at the New Gordon Hotel.

LOOKING PENSIVE as he poses in the living room of the Rectory at St. Pancratius is Father Peter Pijnappels, new pastor who assumed his duties here Sept.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lasko

Miss Jeanette June Davisbecame the bride of Edward Steven Lasko Saturday, Sept. 9, at St. Mary's Catholic Church in Burnside. The ceremony was performed by Fr. Emery Petho for the daughter of Mrs. Bill Davis and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Lasko of Deford. Snowball mums graced the church altars as the bride was given in marriage by her brother, Clarence Davis of Brown

She chose a white gown fashioned with scalloped neckline adorned with beads. Sequins decorated the gown's ruffles. A crown of Chantilly lace encrusted with sequins, crystals and pearls held her ballerina length veil. She wore a gold cross, a gift from the groom, and carried a bouquet of baby pink roses and an orchid with white streamers.

Mrs. Jane Endert of Caro, sister of the groom, was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Elaine Lasko of Deford, sister of the groom, Mrs. Linda Ferguson of Marlette, sister of the bride, and Miss Cecilia Byrnes, niece of the bride, The honor matron wore a powder blue sheath gown which was floor length. A matching headpiece crown held a silk Illusion veil. The bridesmaids' ensembles were teal blue. They carried pink and white mums with pink streamers.

Miss Debbie Reid of Marlette, niece of the bride, was flower girl. Her white floor length gown was fashioned with scoop neckline, brief sleeves and bouffant skirt. A crown of crystals and pearls held a ballerina length veil and she carried a basket of pink and white mums with pink streamers.

Eddie Byrnes of Marlette, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer.

Serving as best man was Bill Endert of Caro, the groom's brother-in-law, Groomsmen included James Gyomory of Deford, cousin of the groom, Kenneth Ferguson of Marlette, brother-in-law of the bride, and Dennis Davis of Marlette, brother of the bride.

Ushering at the services were Robert Rickett of Brown City, brother-in-law of the bride, and Bob Zyrowski of Kingston, cousin of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue and white two-piece dress, accented with red accessories. The groom's mother wore a celery green twopiece lace dress with beige accessories. Both mothers had corsages of baby pink roses and white carnations.

Immediately following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the groom's parents. A reception followed in the evening at the VFW Hall in Brown City for 400 guests. The couple honeymooned at Mackinaw City and Mackinac Island and are making their home in Caro.

Generally speaking, unless a farmer has a drill to place fertilizer to the side and below the seed it is best to place about 20% of it with the seed at planting time and the balance either drilled, broadcast or plowed down ahead of wheat planting.

The question is often asked, should one dry and store corn? Whether to sell corn or store on the farm depends on the cost of storage and the expected seasonal price pattern in your area. In addition, the following factors affect the decision: (1) Waiting time at elevator at harvest time. (2) Convenience of farm storage facilities including location and unloading equipment. (3) Availability of storage space. (4) Need for cash. (5) Alternative investment opportunities. (6) Risk of grain going out of con-

CASS CITY VILLAGE

COUNCIL MEETING

A regular meeting of the Village of Cass City Council was held at the Municipal Building on September 26, 1967 at 7:00 p. m. All members were present except Trustee McCullough, Minutes of the regular August meeting were read and approved as read. Financial positions as of August 31 and September 26 were reviewed. Trustee Dillman outlined discussion between the Sanitary Landfill committee and Gary Stine and listed the committee's recommendations as follows: That the sanitary landfill be under the supervision of the Superintendent of the Waste Water Treatment Plant with cooperation from Mr. Stine; That the area be open to the public from noon until 5:00 p. m. on Thursdays and from 8:00 a. m. until noon on Saturdays: That Mr. Stine hire and furnish a man to operate the gate and supervise unloading during open hours;

That the covering operation be the responsibility of the Waste Water Treatment Department men with a piece of equipment furnished by the Village of Cass City;

That a gate be erected as soon as possible; and that the Superintendent of the Waste Water Treatment Plant purchase suitable rat control products and suitable locks with two keys each issued to William Schram, Gary Stine and himself.

It was estimated that the covering operations would cost $1560 per year based on two hours labor per day at $2.50 per hour. The Landfill Committee was requested to establish a realistic figure for sharing both operating expenses and return on the capital investment with Elkland and other townships and report back to the Council. President Althaver reported that the windmill has been removed and the well capped in the landfill area. A letter to this effect will be sent to the State Health Department, completing the necessary information needed for acceptance of the formal license application. At Trustee Rawson's request the Council authorized the Park Committee to use part of the budgeted funds to obtain assistance for a layout for the new park property. President Althaver introduced Mr. Ed Upson, District Engineer for the Michigan State Highway Department, who discussed the need of a four-lane road with curb and gutter on M-81 in Cass City. Due to other priorities the State does not anticipate considering this project until at least 1972. The State has given early priority to placing a bituminous surface on M-81 for a 9-mile stretch beginning five miles west of town and going through Cass City, up to a width of 48 ft. Mr. Upson stated there was a good chance this work would be done in 1968. Regarding drainage needs on West Main Street, Mr. Upson estimated the total cost for the 2,500 ft. project would be $53,000, 60% to be borne by the Village and 40% by the State. President Althaver thanked Mr. Upson for his time and information in assisting the Council. It was moved by Trustee Dillman and supported by Trustee Albee to extend the warrant for the time for tax collection to and including Oct. 16, 1967. Yeas 5, Nays 0 motion carried. At this time 98.2% has been collected. President Althaver nounced that the Clerk and Treasurer, Barbara C. Marshall, will be resigning in October.

It was moved by Trustee Dillman and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bills as approved by the Finance Committee be paid. Yeas 5, Nays 0 - motion carried.

President Althaver reported that the county has placed warning signs in the school area but additional flashing signals are recommended by the Chief of Police. The matter was referred to the Police Committee for further study.

Trustee Rawson brought up the need of an access road to the new park area. The possibility of extending Ale Street to an east-west road across the north line of the present park was discussed and the subject was turned over to the Park Committee for further study.

Hawks lose to Sandusky

Cass City's chance for breaking its three-game losing streak Friday at Vassar doesn't appear to be bright following the team's loss to Sandusky last Friday, 20-0.

Vassar has shown strength in its early games and will rank as a solid favorite to whip the Hawks who have shown little so far this season.

Certainly, the players will have to come up with a bigger effort than they did against the Redskins, Coach John Bifoss said that the offense showed a few sparks and the defensive line was fairly consistent, but the secondary defense was porous.

"We failed to put out an overall top effort Friday,* Bifoss concluded.

Early in the first quarter it looked as if Cass City might be on the road to victory. The Hawks took the opening kickoff and moved smartly down the field to the three-yard line only to fold before hitting pay Statistically, the Hawks showed better than the final score indicated. . .but Sandusky moved into position and scored while Cass City just moved into position.

Cass City was able to contain Sandusky's ground game when the going got tough, but when the visitors switched to the air it was a different story.

Sandusky came up with a dickens of a passing attack. . . . Bill Dickens that is, The Redskin back tossed three times for markers during the evening. In the first quarter he hit Bill Colclough in a play that covered 39 yards. The try for point was blocked by Tom Fulcher.

In the third period Lee Smith was the target and the play went 17 yards. Dennis Whalley, a soccer type kicker.con-

Consumer credit usually from banks, credit unions, finance companies, and retail stores. Credit rates vary between the credit sources and also with the use for which the credit is intended, according to Mrs. Ann Ross, Thumb Extension Home Economist.

Typical credit charges can be figured on the basis of the type of credit being extended. charges are based on the beginning amount owed and are included in the 12 equal monthly installments, you pay the following credit percentages:

MRS. AGNES LAPAK poses before several of her prize oleanders, some of which date back to 1920. Raising the plants is no trouble, says the farm-orientated Gagetown resident.

Oleanders her specialty

Gagetown has always had a "green thumb" and she has Oleanders that have survived for nearly half a century to

Mrs. Lapak brought the flowers when she moved to the Gagetown area from Kansas City in 1920, Stashed away in a stove pipe, the two original pink plants are still hale and

"Doesn't take any special effort for the flowers to grow,"

Mrs. Agnes Lapak, 78, of Mrs. Lapak says. In the winter she keeps them in the cellar and in the spring plants them outdoors.

You can pinch an Oleander anywhere and they will grow, she explained. Simply let them root in water and then plant them and you have these beautiful, fragrant flowers.

Perhaps the reason it all seems so simple to Mrs. Lapak is that she has been connected with a farm nearly all of her

She was born in Czechoslovakia on a farm and then immigrated to Kansas City where she worked in a packing house. When Mrs. Lapak and her late husband, Joe, who died six years ago, received a chance to move back on the farm in Michigan in 1920 they quickly moved to the area.

Mrs. Lapak has 10 living children and now makes her home with a son, Alfred.

Book Review

Nothing at all in this novel

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

By Marion Hostetler

I must be getting handsomer as time goes on. It surely seems to me that the picture at the top of the column is better looking than the one we had before.

Shortly after I began to write for the Chronicle, John Haire backed me up against a wall of the print shop and took the picture that was formerly used. I must have been feeling grumpy that day, because the picture looked pretty sad.

A few weeks ago I stopped in for a portrait at Neitzel's studio. While Fritz was adjusting his floodlights and spotlights he began to soften me up with good-natured banter in two or three languages. Then he began to tell me anecdotes about an old friend of his whose picture I had noticed on display, and while I was laughing at the funny stories, Fritz was taking a dozen very pleasant-looking pictures.

It took quite a while for the person who does the retouching to eliminate all my wrinkles, but when the pictures finally came back, they really made me look good.

Not only am I getting prettier; Joe Crawford tells me my disposition is improving, too. Joe remembers the time and place at which he met me, fourteen years ago. "You're the kind of person who improves with age," says Joe. "The longer a fellow knows you, the better he likes you."

Of course that's only one man's opinion, but I accepted it gratefully as a very fine compliment. Joe wouldn't think so kindly of me if it weren't for his own good nature. I've never heard anybody say an unkind word about Joe, and I suppose the reason for this is that he thinks kind thoughts about everyone he knows.

Getting back to Fritz Neitzel for a minute, Fritz tells me he takes movies of the Hawks' football games, and that these are used by the coaches for spotting the strong points and weaknesses of the team.

But, strangely enough, Fritz himself doesn't see the game. "The whole game for me is reduced to the size of a viewfinder," he says. "I can see the ebb and flow of the game, as the teams surge back and forth, and I can tell when the quarterback drops back to make a pass, but while I'm handling the camera I just don't have time to watch the players have time or the plays."

Not long ago I was talking with a local woman who wondered whether her grandson might really be left-handed, since he seemed to do things equally well with either hand. This reminded me about a test for left-handedness I had heard Select a vertical line in front of you, such as a pole or the corner of a room. Hold your forefinger out in front of you, pointing it at the line you have chosen. Close both eyes, and then open the right one. Close them again, and open the left.

If your finger is still pointing at the line when the right eye is open, and if it appears to have jumped to one side when you are looking with the left eye, that means that your right eve is the dominant one, and presumably you will also be right-handed. If your left eye is dominant, so that the finger seems to have jumped when you look at it with the right eye, then you are naturally left-handed,

It used to be that every child was encouraged to hold his pencil with the right hand, on the theory that most people are right-handed . . . and the majority has to be right. More recently I have heard that educators think it best for a child to learn to write with whichever hand he uses more

We all know the seasons were late this year, but Easter in October -- that's ridiculous!

R. M. Hunter has an Easter lily in his back yard that barely managed to survive during the early part of the summer ... and then it started to grow. Now it is more than four feet tall, and it has five good-sized buds on it. Whenever the air feels frosty, Bob wraps it up in an electric blanket or something. If we only have a few more warm, sunny days, he's hoping to have Easter lilles for Hallowe'en. Or, would you believe Thanks-

To All 4-H'ers and their Leaders, Our hearty congratulations . . . Keep up the good work, and May Success always be yours!

With pride, we salute our local 4-H Club members, for their efforts and achievements. Through their head ... heart ... hands ... health program, they are learning better ways of farming and homemaking, better ways of working together, better citizenship for a brighter tomorrow. Seek to lure nurses back to work to ease shortage

"About 100 nurses are needed, right now, at Sparrow Hospital, notes Roger Busfield, associate director of the Michigan Hospital Association. Sparrow is a 465 bed hospital in Lansing. Its ery for registered nurses is echoed throughout the state. Urban and rural, large and small, many hospitals in Michigan are feeling the pinch of the R.N. short-

William Bresler, business manager of the Michigan Nurses Association, says, "It's not so much a shortage of registered nurses as it is a shortage of working registered nurses." So many nurses have left the profession that there are just not enough to satisfy the demand, he points out.

Young, graduate nurses are soon lost to marriage and family. Many who return to nursing do not return to general duty in hospitals. Instead, they private, industrial or practice. The pay is school and the hours more better

The nurses association and the Michigan Employment Security Commission have set up "retired" registered nurses, hoping to attract those who have raised their families back into the general duty field.

Economic security of nurses is also undergoing a change, Bresler says. It wasn't until February of this year that nurses were brought under the Federal Minimum Wage & Hour Act. Until that time, some hospitals didn't pay overtime, he maintains, although policies varied from hospital to hos-

Wages are just now beginning to reflect the years of education and training required, Bresler maintains Busfield, reflecting hospital views, feels that nurses' wages are generally in line with other skilled professions. He agrees there are too many exceptions where pay is still low, He points to a recent survey published by the hospital association which lists the "average starting monthly salary" for general duty nurses in Michigan at $410, up from $390 in 1965, Maximum salary for general duty is averaged at $481 monthly.

Bedside nursing has become the job of nurses' aides and practical nurses, while registered nurses are now bookfive-week refresher courses keepers. Busfield and Bresler stress this is undesirable.

> Although both men agree that R.N.'s are trying to correct the situation, they do not agree with what caused the trend. Busfield feels that the nurses, returning after long absences more of the paper work. "It just grew like Topsy," he said.

There are three ways to become an R.N. in Michigan. Some community colleges offer an associate degree in a two-year program.

A three-year program is offered by many hospitals. Instruction takes place in hospital classrooms and students pay tuition the same as college students.

A four-year college program leads to a Bachelor of Nursing Science.

Graduates of all three programs must pass state exams to become licensed.

Higher pay and more respect for professional abilities must be apparent, says Bresler, before the current shortage of nurses improves.

The state-backed program is expected to entice some 700 nurses back to duty. Hospitals and colleges will graduate several hundred more. These will help, but they cannot fill the need nor solve the problem.

Caution against Harvest mishap

Farm accident hazards are numerous during corn silage and corn grain harvesting time. Being "in a hurry" brings about many lax moments that cause injuries, says Alfred Ballweg, county Extension agricultural agent.

He points to these hazards as those most likely to cause injury:

Computer-tuned suspension systems. Improved shock absorbers. New double-cushioned rubber body mounts. They all team up to bring you the smoothest, most silent Chevrolet ride ever. A fresh new idea in ventilation comes standard on every 1968 Camaro and Corvette. It's Astro Ventilation, a system that lets air in, but keeps noise and wind out. You'll appreciate all the proved safety features on the '68 Chevrolets, including the GM-developed energy-absorbing steering column and many new ones. More style. More performance. More all-around value. One look tells you these are for the man who loves driving. One demonstration drive shows why!

Salute 4-H in Tuscola county

It's a treat this week to read and hear so many good things about hometown teenagers who are members of a real go-go group -- 4-H. During this National 4-H Week, we joined the nation in saluting nearly three million of the finest boys and girls anywhere in the world, said Bernard J. Jardot, extension 4-H Agent.

4-H'ers are always on the go - both here in Tuscola county and the State of Michigan. Parents of 4-H members are on the go, too. They volunteer as club or project leaders; serve as judges of projects such as livestock, clothing, safety, health and scores of

If you are not yet acquainted with 4-H, Jardot urges that you make an effort to learn more about this unique Youth Organization. Then urge your children 9 to 19 to join.

The slogan for the 1967 4-H Week is "A World of Opportunity - Join 4-H". Several window displays are in most communities in Tuscola coun-

Saturday, September 30, over 300 Michigan 4-H members participated in the special 4-H Day program at Spartan Stadium on the Michigan State University Campus. Jardot took 10 worthy members from Tuscola county to participate in this special program. This is just one of many activities local 4-H members participate in, he said.

Hughes is good for Las Vegas

One For The Road

By Dan Marlowe

Something strange is going on in Las Vegas these days. Something strange other than Frank Sinatra losing two teeth to a roundhouse right hand punch, that is.

Many newspapermen and magazine writers rushed into print about the incident, chortling over the comeuppance of the man who has made a career of winning one-punch barroom brawls, but the writers are missing the point. What makes it truly strange is that just one year ago it literally couldn't have happened, and the changed circumstances which permitted it to happen are the real story in Las Vegas these days.

It has never been much of a secret that the gambling casinos in Las Vegas have been dominated in the main by syndicate money and personnel (also spelled mob, gangster, Mafioso, and Cosa Nostra money and personnel). The fact has been documented in a number of books, most notably in The Gambiers' Money by Wallace Turner, and in The Green Felt Jungle by Ovid Demaris and Ed Reed. It is in this area that the change is taking place.

The name of the change is Howard Hughes, ex-TWA and ex-Hughes Tool tycoon, No one will ever know why, probably, but a year ago Hughes took up residence in the top floor penthouse of one of the larger casinos and holed up for two months. When the casino tired of having its choicest residential area tied up by a nongambler and requested that he move on. Hughes responded by buying the entire hotel and casino operation, a transaction made less difficult for him by the fact that he had moved into the Las Vegas area with $150,-000,000 loose change in his pockets after disposing of Hughes Tool.

Hughes has since bought another casino and is understood to be dickering for a third. He has also suggested to state authorities that they plan to build a new airport well outside of town, large enough to make it attractive to the upcoming jet monsters of the 1970's. When the officials demurred that the present airfield was good enough, they discovered that when Howard Hughes "suggests" something, people sit up and take notice.

No one knows what Hughes' interest is in Las Vegas. He is quite capable of having bought the first casino in a fit of pique after being asked to move out, but the airport suggestion makes it look as though he be interested in Las Vegas other than as a shortterm proposition. The casino operators discount his appearance on the scene; they are accustomed to thinking of themselves as monled men with leverage, but men with the money and the leverage of a Howard Hughes can be counted on the fingers of one hand.

Sinatra left the casino purchased by Hughes, with which he had had a long-time relationship, to move on elsewhere to a location in which he would cut more ice than he obviously had with Hughes.

Almost anything that happens to the gambling operation in Las Vegas has to be for the better, and it begins to appear that if the name Howard Hughes then betterment can be taken were Clara and Alma Vogel, for granted.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Bug Hookum was telling the fellers at the country store night about his troubles. He said his old lady was complaining about her el-Mr. and Mrs. Howard Britt, bow hurting and he figgered maybe she'd been leaning on too much but the doctor said it was bursitis and sent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl her to the hospital to git some pictures took.

Bug reported that things at the hospital had gone on the automatic just like everything else. He said while he was waiting fer his old lady he wandered around and found a place full of them dispensing machines. They had everything to eat and drink and he found a coffee machine and figgered out how to punch the buttons coffee and cream. He fer watched through a glass while a paper cup dropped down and fell over sideways. The coffee squirted over the cup and went right on down the drain. All he got fer his dime was a paper wrapper full of "nondairy creamer." He told the fellers they wasn't nobody around to complain to, so he went back down the hall wondering what "non-dairy creamwas. He said he passed two doctors standing in the hall and they was talking about "the hernia in room 415" and the "interesting throat in 204" human beings. Zeke Grubb allowed as how, with everthing going on the automatic, the time was coming, and pritty soon, when folks would fergit how to talk to each other. Right now, fer instant, he said he could go to a store, pick up a week's groceries in them celephome bags, git a pack of crackers out of one machine and wash'em down with a cold drink from another machine while another machine added up what he owed, pay his bill and go home without saying a word. Ed Doolittle was agreed with Zeke, said it was the aim of the Great Society fer everbody to have a number tatood across his farhead, a sorter Master Account Number fer social security, medicare, draft board, driver's license, home mortgage, life insurance and income tax. He claimed even the churches was going on the automatic. He told the fellers his daughter, that went to one of them big churches in the city, reported all the members has got a number and the preacher has ask them to please use their number instead of their name on their contribution envelops and fer any business with the church office.

but they never mentioned no

Clem Webster cleared his throat and was gitting ready to defend the Great Society and operating by the number when the feller that runs the store announced he was closing up fer the night on the automatic.

I hope, Mister Editor, you don't put your newspaper on the automatic any time soon. You'll git mighty lonesome setting there by yorself and worrying about which way the country was headed.

Yours truly,
