Kick-off Monday Seek record Chest quota

for a record goal has been forecast by authorities.

Spearheading the annual drive again will be Willis Campbell. The 1967-68 goal was increased about 10% by the Board of Directors making the Cass City area quota $8,200. Tuscola county goal was increased also. There will also be an increase in services offered throughout the county.

elected Board Recently Chairman Harold Isard said

If the pollution problem can be licked where do you believe that the finest fishing for King Salmon will be? Manistee? Oscoda? Frankfurt? Lake Superior?

Wrong, say the fishing experts. The best potential area is Saginaw Bay and the Saginaw River. Think about fishing like this practically on our doorstep. . . . it makes the work of the State Water Resources Commission worth while,

For the first time in recent years, the banks will be open Thursday, Oct. 12, for Columbus Day. But don't start thinking that they are going to join the rest of business in opening dates.

A recent change in State law has moved holidays that occur in mid-week to the nearest Saturday. So the banks will be closed Saturday, in place of Thursday, this week.

A record effort expressed his pleasure that Campbell is at the helm, active, energizing, and instilling enthusiasm in the 101 solicitors who have agreed to work. A kick-off dinner at 6:30 in Martin's restaurant will open the two-week campaign. Board of directors and solicitors will be the guests of Pinney State Bank and the Cass City State Bank who are picking up the dinner tabs.

Solicitors will have a supply of the 1966-67 financial statement containing details of all collections and all monies expended. A higher percentage of last year's contributions remained in local funds, reported Mrs. Richard Drews, secretary of the eight-member board of directors.

$2,000 was retained by the Elkland-Novesta treasurer. In addition, a higher percentage of the remaining $7,700 stayed in the Tuscola county treasury, some of which was returned for the needs of this and surrounding communities.

The town-wide sale will feature bargains in nearly every store, spokesmen said.

THE CAR OF Eugene Bock was demolished in the crash that killed Mrs. Bock Friday evening in Cass City.

Diplomas for special ed to be marked here Students in special education will receive diplomas from Cass City High School but they will not be the same as the regular diplomas issued to graduates if the Cass City School Board implements an informal decision reached Monday night at the school. The diploma question was raised by Principal Arthur Holmberg after a discussion with principals from other schools in Tuscola county. He told the board that the general concensus was that the special education students should receive the same diploma as other students. Supt. Donald Crouse said that he felt that it should be different from the regular diplomas because he felt that a Continued on page five.

Damoths seek $75,000 in damage suit

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Damoth Judy Ann MacPhail of Cass City for injuries suffered in an accident Nov. 25, 1964. Geraldine MacPhail is now deceased, Damoth is seeking $25,000 for injuries suffered by his wife in the accident and Mrs. Damoth is asking $50,000 for the injuries she suffered.

The accident occurred on Main street, near Weaver street in Cass City. A vehicle driven by Judy Ann MacPhail and owned by Geraldine MacPhail allegedly hit the rear of the Damoth vehicle as it was stopped waiting to make a left turn onto Weaver street.

Mrs. Damoth claims severe whiplash injuries to neck and back, headaches, dizziness and other injuries described as "of a permanent nature".

No action set for Hadley bridge

No action has been taken at this time to replace the Cass River bridge on Hadley road, according to a spokesman for the Sanilac county road commission.

The bridge collapsed under the weight of Walter Bertul's milk truck September 25. Sanilac Engineer Elwood of Sandusky stated in a telephone conversation Monday afternoon that the bridge is beyond repair. "Responsibility for replacement," said Elwood, "lies with both the county and the township." He added that rebuilding a new bridge must be decided by township supervisors and road commission members but no date has been set to discuss the problem. The road is closed.

> The Cass City Board of Education Monday night voted to hire a personnel consultant to represent the school at the bargaining table with the Michigan Education Association teachers' union.

> Meeting at the school in regular session Monday night the board named 33year-old Alan Luce of Saginaw to the $350 monthly post.

> Although hired on a monthly basis and available as a consultant when needed, Luce's primary job will be to represent the school in negotiations.

Before a contract was signed with the teachers this year members of the committee from the board spent an estimated total of 40 hours in negotiation. In addition a good deal of time was spent with non-teaching personnel.

Luce is described by Supt. Donald Crouse as very personable and experienced in labor relations. A graduate of Michigan State, he was with General Motors for five years; with MSU for a year and a half and has one year's experience with Delta College and Reese school district. He also has had limited teaching experience.

Besides his job with Cass City Luce now works as consultant for Combustion Engineering, Delta and Reese schools. Luce lives in Saginaw.

OTHER BUSINESS

Elwyn Helwig was appointed to represent the board with the Michigan Association of School Boards. The action means little because Helwig was handling correspondence with the MASB before the appointment was made official.

The action of the board gives Helwig the title as well as the work.

Helwig will be apprised of the legislative programs in the state and may be asked to occasionally contact state legislators.

St. Pancratius Church was granted the use of school facilities after regular school hours for catechism classes under the board's regular policy for use of the building for extracurricular activities.

Engagement Told Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor: The fellers at the country store Saturday night was giving the wimmen folks a hard time. It all got started when Zeke Grubb got to telling about this big box of bottles his old lady had brung home from the beauty parlor. She claimed she bought the box on special and she aimed to try ever bottle in the box to git her money's worth. Zeke reported he looked them over and they was everthing from paint-on eyebrows to a bottle of stuff you put on all over at night with a brush that would give a woman the "gold Bahamas" complexion. He told the fellers he hinted to her she could git that same "gold Bahamas" look by spending a day putting new shingles on the barn roof but she claimed this would ruin her storeboughten fingernails the girl at the beauty shop had sold her trial. Farthermore, she told Zeke, this bottle complexion would look the same winter or summer, rain or shine. Bug Hookum said he wasn't taking nothing away from the ladies, that he liked to look

by the hard work that he firmly

Ed Doolittle was agreed with Bug, said he saw two young girls in town last week that looked fer the world like pinto ponies, and a old lady was with them that would have matched real good with a palomino. She had yeller hair with a white all three of them had on dresses to match their hair and they all had their lips painted a pale blue that made them look like they was frostbit.

Ed was of the opinion it won't be long afore the Great Society will try to git a law passed making everbody looking and smelling alike. Right now, said Ed, if you believed them TV commercials it was a worse crime to have bad breath than it was to burn the barn down.

Personal, Mister Editor, I didn't say nothing fer fear I'd run the session overtime, but it's gitting to the place; with these backless dresses, a11 where it's hard to tell if a woman is going or coming. at all of them from afar, but it was gitting so's a feller had a hard time these days telling if a woman was homemade or store-boughten. Fer instant, he reported, he was reading this piece in the papers where it said girls was now cutting their hair GI style so's they could put on a wig to match ever dress. He said this piece claimed this style was spreading down to the high school girls. He was of the opinion they had ought to quit calling 'em blonds, broonets; and redheads and call them speckled, streeked, spotted and so on like we did horses. They was changing their hair color ever time they changed their

Hawks gird for win over Marlette

It's Homecoming time at Cass City Friday and the winless Hawks have high hopes of using the event to register their first win of the season when they host Marlette at Cass City Recreational Park,

Cass City's football stock rose last Friday even though the team dropped a 28-18 decision to Vassar. For the Vulcans lead the league and are one of the stronger teams in the Thumb B Conference. The team bounced back after a dismal showing against Sandusky to show more spark, an improved passing attack and general all-around improvement in play.

The Vulcans moved into the lead in the first period, but the Hawks refused to fold, scoring once in each of the final three quarters.

Coach John Bifoss was pleased with the over-all performance of the team. He said that the loss of Ron Weippert with an injury in the first half hurt Cass City on defense.

Vassar moved into an early lead and was never behind, but the Hawks kept plugging away to stay in contention until the final period.

Dan Buckman capped a Vul-can drive in the first quarter with a three-yard dash for a score. Buckman converted the extra point and Vassar led, 7-0. The Hawks came charging back in the second quarter on the passing arm of John Maharg and the receiving of Fred Ryan. A 30-yard play reached pay dirt and Cass City was behind by only a point, 7-6, when the try for point was missed. Vassar moved into a safer lead later in the period as Archie MacGillvary dashed 12 yards to score. Buckman again converted the extra point and

UNICEF campaign set for Oct. 23

Monday, Oct. 23, has been set for the annual UNICEF door to door campaign, announced Mrs. Newell Harris, re-elected chairman.

Children in grades two through six may take part in the collection of "treats of coins" for children in 120 underdeveloped countries.

They will leave the Scout rooms at 6:00 p. m. on the appointed night, dressed for Halloween, carrying a half pint milk carton. All will wear the official UNICEF identification tag.

The UNICEF program is sponsored and carefully supervised by adults of local churches. A delegation from this group will serve refreshments to the trick or treaters for UNICEF upon their return City. to the Scout rooms. Vassar led at the half, 14-7. The winners moved into a comfortable lead early in the third quarter when MacGillvary capped a drive with a one-yard plunge to pay dirt. Buckman converted again and Vassar led 21-6. Cass City's new found passing combo, Maharg to Ryan, clicked again later in the third quarter for another Hawk touchdown. This time the heave covered six yards. The point was missed.

MacGillvary got that score back for Vassar early in the opening of the lengthy October third quarter as he dashed 10. session of the Tuscola County yards for the final score of Board of Supervisors Monday the evening for the Vulcans. Buckman converted his fourth in Caro.

All-girl staff at county license bureau unique and efficient

GIVING ROAD TESTS is strictly routine for Mrs. Jean Owen of Vassar. She handles nearly all of the tests given by the Tuscola license bureau.

What may be the only driving license bureau in Michigan to be operated exclusively by ladies is in Tuscola county. Certainly the three-woman department is unique in the Thumb.

The bureau is staffed by Mrs. Jean Owen, Miss Joyce Howell and Mrs. Helen Watson.

In charge of giving the drivers' test for licenses is Mrs. Owen. She says that only about one in 20 fail to make the grade on the first attempt.

The success ratio, Mrs. Owen says, is largely due to the driver training courses at the school. You can tell if they have the confidence to make it within minutes after they start the test, Mrs. Owen explained.

Most of the test is uneventful, she continued. Once in a while a novice will go through a stop street or back over the curb, but not often.

The few who can't qualify are given permits to drive under the supervision of a licensed driver and then come back in 30 to 90 days to take the test again.

Sheriff Hugh Marr said that he felt that many inexperienced drivers were more comfortable with a lady examiner than with a regular member of the department.

Pictures of applicants and other details of the license applications are handled by Mrs. Helen Watson, a threeyear veteran of the bureau. She is the only person working fulltime in the department who has ever handled the camera.

When Mrs. Owen and Mrs. Watson are unavailable for one reason or another, Miss Joyce Howell fills in. . . .she has handled both jobs in addition to other duties in the Sheriff's department.

discuss problem

Still fighting to cut the cost for sewage disposal on proposed school additions, a request for a joint meeting between the board, Owendale village council and Michigan Water Resources Commission was slated the Owen-Gage School Board at a Wednesday evening,

Oct. 4, session. The requirements of the Commission have been estimated to be so expensive that the construction of the additions have been necessarily de-diploma should not be "downgraded". The board concurred with this reasoning.

However, both Crouse and the board emphasized that on graduation night, every student will receive an identical looking diploma and will be indistinguishable from all other graduates.

The difference in the diploma. they said, should be that it should be marked a degree in special education work.

Special ed students are required to complete certain basic requirements in English and other subjects and then are given special credits for work that is not available to students in the regular curriculum.

The argument for identical diplomas as discussed by the county principals, Holmberg said, was that there is a wide difference in the schooling given students as represented by the standard diploma.

For instance, he said, an all-A student is required to do much more than the D student who may be passed through to graduation because the teacher realizes that the student is working to the extent of his or her capacity.

For this reason, it was felt that special education students could also receive the standard diploma.

The board and Crouse acknowledged the wide difference, but said that granting a special education student the same diploma would further downgrade it and wasn't fair to the regular student who struggled to make it through high school.

The question is academic at Cass City this year, because there will be no students in special ed graduating until next year.

For this reason no action was taken. The views of the Cass City board will be spread about the county to see if a uniform policy based on the hoard's reasoning can be adopted.

Chronicle staff Starting to work on a parttime basis at the Chroniclethis week is Mrs. Thelma Curtis of Caro.

Mrs. Curtis is no stranger to newspapers or to Cass City. She spent a year at Cass City Schools before moving to Caro. She was associated with the Pigeon Progress and Benzie Record at Beulah before coming to the Chronicle.

At present our American dairy farmer and dairy industry are in the early stages of competitive economic survival, Dairy farmers have lost 66 percent of their butter market to oleomargarine and 50 percent or more of their cream to vegetable oil coffee cream substitutes, vegetable fat frozen desserts, including ice cream. Besides these mentioned, dairymen have lost milk sales to liquid substitutes like imitation milk, sour cream, dessert topping mixes and cheeses. How much loss of milk consumption does this amount to? Nearly 35 to 40 billion pounds in 1966.

The startling thought on the decrease in milk consumption is that milk substitute fabrication is only in its infancy with more to come. Another thought is that even though statements are being made to the extent that

CASS CITY CHRONICLE-THURSDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1967 School scribbles By L.H.

> EVERGREEN by Kathy LaPeer and Ann Turner

Autumn seems to affect nearly every school's program, and it's no wonder, because autumn can be one of the lovliest times of the year.

The kindergarteners of Evergreen are collecting all sorts of "things". All the way from the colored leaves of autumn to caterpillars. Kimberly Meredith brought two birds nests and a bouquet of flowers. (Their room must be a jungle by now!)

All of the kindergarteners can are drawing pumpkins, witches, print their own names now. and goblins. The kindergarteners aren't the only ones who are collect-ing "things". Sandra Pallas and Jeff Moore brought frogs to school for their science class and Janice Wentworth brought a Praying Mantis.

Mrs. Johnson's room used the fall theme for decorating the hall showcase. The showcase is decorated with fall leaves, a tall vase full of cattails, and poems which the students have written.

According to Kathy and Ann the nice weather really makes school a lot more enjoyable.

DEFORD ELEMENTARY

This week the kindergarteners learned a poem for the autumn season. They have also made some leaf pictures, which Mrs. Coleman put on their bulletin board.

The second grade has the responsibility of decorating the hall showcase. They made sponge paintings of fall trees and they have collected many colored leaves for the display.

HOORAY! HOORAY!

If you were walking through the halls of Deford one day this past week, you might have heard these cheers coming from the third grade room.

What are they all excited about? Believe it or not it's over a test! -- a spelling test. After receiving their spelling papers from their final test for the week, they made a blg discovery. Twenty-one of the twenty-four papers were perfect! The remaining three papers only had one word spelled wrong.

They have displayed their papers on the bulletin board under two roosters with the words. "Something To Crow About".

Well, homecoming is this coming Friday and all of our work and efforts have been put into action.

All day Tuesday the elections for the top five were held. The five girls on court were announced Tuesday, but the queen won't be announced until the halftime of the game.

Diane Freiburger, last year's queen, has been invited to ride on the throne on the queen's float as reigning queen, and to give her crown to the new queen, whoever she may be. Thursday, at 6:00 p. m. the traditional Snake Dance Pep Rally will be held. A Pep Band will be on hand for our school song, the court will ride in a convertible, and all the student body will form a long line by joining hands. Led by the Varsity cheerleaders, we'll have a long "crack the whip" down the center of Seeger and Main all the way to the park. At the park will be a bonfire where we will burn the Marlette Raider's dummy.

Round metal bins, with proper ducts for forced air ventilation, may be the cheapest way to store shelled corn. Alfred Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent, says these pre-fabricated storages can be bought for as little as 35 cents a bushel capacity. Based on 10 years of life, this puts the cost relatively low.

If a complete corn drying system and proper grain conveying equipment are added, costs can soon run up to $1 phone connection as his crying for each bushel to be dried and sounded like he was laughing stored, the agent explained. But once a farmer has committed That same day the bus stopped. himself to field shelling, he on the night run and Mrs. Ausmust make the right arrangelander had to drive over to ments for handling the grain. Fin's to tell him to come fix

Farmers need to carefully consider whether purchases are for long range or merely temporary before making such investments, the agent explained. But the agent says there is no short cut to drying corn. It is a combination of moisture, heat and time. "Drying corn from 30 per cent moisture to the recommended 15.5 per cent for safe storage removes about 12 pounds of water a bushel and requires about 25,000 BTU of heat," the agricultural authority explained.

It takes 67 1/2 pounds of 30 per cent moisture corn to dry down to 56 pounds or a bushel at 15.5 per cent moisture.

All their efforts have made them more aware of the works of "Mother Nature* and her effects.

Friday Deford's boys met Evergreen's boys for a gruelling game of two-hand-touch football.

The fourth grade girls of Deford were cheerleaders for their side. They had been practicing new cheers all week and it seems their efforts were rewarded. Deford defeated Evergreen 18-0.

ST. AGATHA

The students of St. Agatha's primary and intermediate divisions saw a filmstrip on Paul Bunyan, and a discussion of "tall tales". The two groups of children planned and did some interesting activities.

The Primary division drew pictures and wrote original stories about this legendary hero.

In the Intermediate class, the children wrote original "tall tales", made up songs in honor of Paul Bunyan, and held group discussions on legends, how they grew, and why these stories are enjoyed by people of all ages.

The students gained a greater appreciation for this type of literature and seemed to enjoy its humor.

CAMPBELL ELEMENTARY

The beautiful weather this past week drew Mrs. Dillon's second graders and Mrs. Howarth's third graders to the outof-doors. Their walks and field trips resulted in the collection of many colorful leaves, seeds, and other signs of fall. The elementary school has three showcases to decorate, In one showcase Mrs. Murphy's kindergartens have made a large tree covered with bright leaves and added fall fruits, gourds, and Indian corn to complete the display.

In another showcase, Mrs. Cardew's second grade also made a fall tree, but added ball team played Sandusky, at

LIBRARIES LACK

Nine million books must be added to state school libraries to meet minimum standards! Michigan has 4,484 school buildings, but only 1,095 have central libraries with full time librarians. Only 840 have space adequate for quality library service.

If Michigan schools are to attain recommended standards, 3,389 school librarians must be added.
