

Village liable?

Damage claim sparks confab

Bernard Freiburger feels that the company that carries the liability insurance for the village is not fulfilling its obligations.

From the Editor's Corner

A sequel to the story about the misleading "yellow pages" advertising that has been sent to business and industry in Cass City and all over the nation appears in an issue of General Telephone's employee newspaper.

A story there says that a southern firm who sent out the cards has been convicted of misleading directory advertising. But the interesting point is that there are 34 such companies now under investigation for the same type work.

The company convicted sent out a million "bills" and printed 3,971 copies of its directory . . . one for each of the concerns which paid $45 for a listing.

Persons who have been concerned about the sad condition of the sign on M-53 pointing to Cass City will be happy to see that it has been painted. It is the property of the Chamber of Commerce and Dick Drews, Chamber president, said that it was painted by Champion Advertising.

Why I should be surprised when the high school kids come up with work that is outstanding, I don't know. Time after time they produce outstanding work when their interest is captured. Each year's homecoming floats are prime examples.

But I was caught again in the window painting sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. I expected a few feeble attempts at best. But the youngsters have come up with creative, artistic work and it's worth your time to take a jaunt down Main Street and see what they achieved.

One of the banes of a weekly editor's life are newsworthy releases that come across the desk the day after the paper is printed.

A case in point is the story about Wally Hempton, Cass City's great athlete at CMU. The story was released to us and to the dailies and the chances are that you've read it one place or another already.

Now the question is: to print or not to print a story that is second hand by the time the paper hits the streets. Each of these cases we must decide on its individual merits. The Hempton story is so good that the Chronicle printed it this week just because he is a home town boy and there is an off-chance that it was missed by a percentage of the readers earlier.

Building to report on an accident he had with his car in the alley back of his Main Street store.

He said that a drain in the alley was sticking up in the roadway so far that his car caught on it, bending the frame and shoving his head through the window.

The drain was left high to allow for blacktop (now placed in the area) and subsequent rains washed even more of the dirt around the cover away.

Freiburger feels that the village was negligent and responsible. He has approached the insurance company, but his claim was denied.

Feeling that his claim is just, Freiburger said that he could go to a lawyer for action, but wanted to check with the council first. Trustees said that they would contact the insurance firm to see what action, if any, could be taken.

The damage claim sparked discussion about whether the company representing the village was giving adequate payment for claims against the village. . . . short of a court order. This phase of the insurance coverage will also be looked into, the councilmen said.

Free from Rotary

Topnotch show set tonight

Cass City Rotary Club will kick off its travel and adventure series Thursday, Nov. 2, at 8:04 p. m. when Eric Pavel will show a popular color motion picture, "The Alpine World".

Tonight's program at Cass City High School is free and will be used to introduce the series of six nationally known programs that will follow.

Authorities say that the adventurers and explorers who are slated here have been acclaimed by sophisticated audiences. They appeared on platforms for National Geographic, Washington, D. C.; Town Hall, New York; Orchestra Hall, Chicago; and Town Hall, San Francisco.

Taken by professional photographers, experienced in the travelogue field, the films are of beautiful and interesting places around the world.

The all-color pictures are narrated in person by the person who shot the film. A musical background and special sound effects add to the quality of the presentation.

Coming in the series will be visits to Mexico, Canadian Rockies, Hunza - Land - A Shangri-La, Spain, Australia and Constantinople.

Season tickets sell for $4.00 for students and $6.00 for adults. The tickets are good for six admissions and can be used any way the owner desires.

THIS IS THE WORK of Lynn Atwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Atwell, and it was the best of many outstanding window paintings by students, according to Chamber of Commerce judges. Other pictures of the students at work appear on an inside page.

Laud best village tax collection

Cass City posted its best tax collection record in history this week when it was reported to the council that all but $118.30 of a total of over $86,000 due has been received.

This amounts to 99.85 per cent, Village President Lambert Althaver said, and is a credit to Mrs. Barbara Marshall, the clerk-treasurer when the taxes were due.

Name winners of window contest

The winners of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce sponsored window painting contest were determined Tuesday evening and Lynn Atwell was awarded the first prize for her work on the windows of Cass City Floral. She received $15.

Second prize of $10 went to Janet Koepfgen for her Halloween decorations at Wood Drugs and the $5 third prize was awarded to Marsha Parrott for her creation at the Ben Franklin Store.

Mrs. Ruth Kelley, Chamber

representative in charge, reported that many merchants signed for the program whose windows were not decorated.

There were more windows available than students to work on them, she explained, and it was left to the art department at Cass City School and the students to select the window of their choice.

Elect Walpole college drive president

Cass City is well represented among the officers of the newly reorganized Citizens' Advisory Committee for a community and vocational college to serve Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties.

Meeting Thursday at Cass City High School, W. E. Walpole was named president of the new group. H. Dale Cubitt of Bad Axe is vice-president; Miss Karen Stoeckle, Bad Axe, secretary; and Richard Drews, Cass City, treasurer.

Walpole, the new president, has stated that he feels that a new community college for the area is the single most pressing need for the growth and development of the Thumb.

Walpole, Drews and Cubitt were candidates for election to the college board when the proposal was defeated June 12.

Immediately following the defeat, Walpole and other candidates began to analyze the results in an attempt to see why the vote was negative.

In the meeting Thursday, it was suggested that the executive committee be enlarged so that a better liaison between the boards of education of the three intermediate districts and the citizens' committee could be maintained.

The executive committee in the previous arrangement was superintendents of the various schools.

Many mishaps plague Cass City drivers

A rash of property damage accidents were reported during the week by county law enforcement officials and one driver died from injuries suffered in an earlier crash.

Dead is Thomas F. Russell, 62, of Port Huron who was in a car-truck accident involving a Cass City driver. Russell crashed into a compressor that had broken loose from a pickup truck driven by George S. Cole, 56, Oct. 9.

He was hospitalized at Yale Community Hospital and later in a Port Huron hospital where he succumbed Friday.

SIMILAR ACCIDENTS

Two similar accidents were reported Friday to the sheriff's department.

Cass City Patrolman W. R. McKinley investigated a hit and run accident on page five.

Halloween night Work completed but.... Charges snag dump's start

It was a quiet Halloween in Cass City. Although scads of kids were out trick and treating and gangs of older youths were on the streets, there was no malicious damage to property.

The worst offense reported was a fire in the middle of the road, five miles south and two and a half miles west of Cass City. Chief Nelson Willy said that three bales of straw had been dragged into the middle of the road and ignited.

In the village there was the usual soaping of windows, a limited amount of machinery moved onto the streets and a few pumpkins smashed. Other than this it was a quiet night.

Several programs arranged by authorities may have helped keep mischief at a minimum. The firemen distributed 600 bags of free popcorn and the free show at the Cass was filled to overflowing.

The Chamber of Commerce window decoration contest was well received.

New deputy joins county sheriff's forces

Tuscola County Sheriff Hugh Marr announced this week that a new deputy, Bruce Tait, 42, of Caro has joined the department.

The new officer will work in the office of the department during a training period, Marr said.

Prior to joining the department Continued on page five.

Moonlight sale set Thursday

The retail division of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce will present a special sale next Thursday, Nov. 9, for three hours only.

Called Moonlight Madness, stores will close at 5:30 p. m. and reopen at 7 p. m. The stores will be open until 10 p. m. featuring outstanding values.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other routine business was transacted by the trustees. The council officially appointed

Although everything is ready for the opening of the new Sanitary Landfill dump it is likely to be several weeks before the facility will be in operation, according to a decision reached Tuesday night by the Cass City village council in its regular session at the Municipal Building.

Before opening, the council wants to establish a policy for charging for the use of the facility by non-village residents.

In a lengthy discussion, the council looked at ways to get back the cost of operation that is figured at about $3,800 yearly when depreciation is included.

Presently the total cost of the work on the dump has been $12,800, but trustees feel that this amount will soar to $25,000 after necessary equipment and other work has been paid for and it is on this cost that annual dump operating figure is computed.

George Dillman presented a committee report that showed some tentative figures for charges, but they were tabled after examination because of the anticipated complications in collection.

It was decided to schedule a meeting with Elkland township officials in an effort to arrange for a mutual sharing of the cost on a population basis. Using this yardstick, the village would pay two-thirds and the township one-third of the cost.

Gary Stine, who operates the garbage collection business in the community, reported to the council that he had 72 accounts outside of the village. The first thought of the council was to have Stine collect a monthly fee from these customers and turn it over to the village.

However, Stine says that his collections range from once or twice a year to almost every week and that a monthly charge would not be fair to spasmodic customers.

The entire matter now waits for the scheduled meeting with the township board.

OTHER BUSINESS

Other routine business was transacted by the trustees. The council officially appointed

Mrs. Ruth Hoffman as clerk-treasurer and accepted the resignation of Mrs. Barbara C. Marshall, former clerk-treasurer who has left the community.

Trustee D. E. Rawson reported on the PEP drive and said that he felt that it would be possible to collect the money necessary for the village to acquire the 9.2 acres in the southeast section of the village as another park site.

The council looked over an option agreement, but no action was taken. It is likely, Rawson continued, that some $3,000 will be received from a government program to help with the project.

The council also nixed a request by the Chamber of Commerce to help pay for the Christmas display materials used on Main Street.

The village furnishes the labor to erect and take down the displays, but has ruled that the Chamber must pay for any other cost.

Kenny Fisher home now

The Marvin R. Fishers of rural Bad Axe brought their little son Kenneth home Monday from St. Mary's Hospital in Saginaw.

Two weeks ago the 16-month-old boy suffered severe head and body injuries when he walked onto highway M-53 and was hit by an automobile.

Although he is in a cast from his waist down, and must remain in it another four weeks, Kenny is reportedly taking the mishap in stride. Mrs. Fisher said that he was always a good baby and has not changed.

Then she laughed. "He even pulls himself around in that cast."

Blood bank due at hospital Nov. 3

The Northern and Northeast Michigan Blood Bank of Bay City will be at Hills and Dales Hospital Friday, Nov. 3, from 2 till 7 p. m.

Anyone wanting to donate blood towards an acquired account or to establish a new personal account can do so at this time.

What's the idea? Says Cass City in fall-out C D quiz

Residents of Cass City certainly do not expect their small village to be the target of an atomic bomb. But if it is ever under attack, they will be as nearly ready as Geraldine Glaspie can make them.

Mrs. Glaspie is the first link in a chain designed to determine just how well prepared area homes are to survive such an attack.

As far as Gerry is concerned, it is done with a questionnaire and a tape measure. The Cass City housewife has been hired by the U. S. Department of Commerce, Bureau of Census, as an official Census Enumerator.

She has been schooled in the exact method of measuring the outside dimensions of a house and supplied with a government steel rule. Her eye detects the kind of roofing and siding and she has learned the procedures for assembling other data to be recorded on the questionnaire.

It sounds easy. It was not without its pitfalls in the opening days of the campaign. The biggest stumbling block was the general public's lack of knowledge regarding the program.

Every household of one, two and three family structures within the village limits is being included in her survey. The questionnaire contains the name of the head of each household and the number of persons living in each home, or in each apartment in a building. It also requires the type of building structure and whether or not there is even a partial basement.

Typically, the question most often asked of Mrs. Glaspie was the one by John Palmer of 4453 Leach street, "What's the reason for the survey, and that it was ordered by Governor Romney, Palmer then asked, "What difference does it make?" Her reply was that actually, the Civil Defense Department is concerned with the amount of protection against radiation fallout resulting from an attack upon a large city such as Detroit. Palmer was reassured that all information is held in confidence.

Questionnaires are assembled from the entire state, the information analyzed by electronic computer and the results furnished to state and local officials.

Every family that lives in a house with a basement will receive a specially prepared Civil Defense booklet outlining the amount of fallout protection provided in that particular basement. It will even indicate the corner in which to seek shelter. A general information booklet on protective measures that can be taken will be sent to those in houses without a basement.

ARMED WITH A TAPE AND a questionnaire Mrs. Grant Glaspie takes the measure of another house in her survey for the Civil Defense Department.

THE SNOW CAME earlier this year than it did in 1966. A fairly heavy blanket covered the Thumb Friday but was quickly dissipated. Last year the snow came down the day after Halloween and was a true winter blast. The storm lasted for several days and swamped service stations with winter change overs and wrecker calls.

Hempton switches and still stars

A player who spent his first two varsity years establishing himself as Central Michigan University's greatest pass receiver in the school's history, is spending his senior year as a runner and blocker, and the transition has been made effectively.

Wally Hempton, a two-year letterwinner who prepped at Cass City High School, is playing the same position for Coach Roy Kramer's Chips this fall, but his duties have been drastically altered.

Under former head coach Bill Kelly, Hempton's role was that of being strictly a pass receiver. When Kramer took over this fall he installed the I-Formation, with the emphasis on the running game.

In the first six games this year Hempton has carried the ball 33 times from his flanker position, a total that is more than his first two years on the Chip varsity combined. Hempton, a physical education major, has developed into one of the Chips' leading rushers, averaging almost five yards per carry and has scored three touchdowns.

Along with his strong running performance, Hempton has done an excellent job of blocking, an assignment not always visible to the average fan. Leading most of the Chip running plays, it's his assignment to help clear the hole ahead of the ball carrier. So far this fall the Chips have been averaging 60 rushing attempts per game and almost four yards per carry, showing that he is doing his new job well.

Kramer is high on his praise of Hempton and said, "His unselfish attitude has made him a real leader on the team. He has successfully made the adjustment from pass receiver to blocker and runner, and is one of the best blockers on the team."

He is married and has two sons. The elder boy is 22 years old and is in police work in the South.

In other activities, Marr said that Deputy Bill Bliss of Cass City is slated to go for training in use of equipment to determine whether suspected drivers are intoxicated.

the ball in the air as much as they did in past years, Hempton is still one of the favorite pass receivers of quarterback Gene Gilin.

He ranks second on the squad in pass receiving behind end Greg Hoefler. Everytime Hempton catches a pass this year, he establishes a school record, both for receptions and yards gained. In his sophomore and junior years he rewrote the Chip record book, surpassing Walt Beach, who took four years to set them the first time.

Tied in with the success of Hempton's new role this season is the Chip won-lost record. Posting a 5-1 record in the first six games marked the best start of a CMU team since 1958.

run accident on Bay City-Forestville road, a half mile west of McElowney road.

Robert Richard Blazer of Unionville told McKinley that a 1966 white Chevrolet was crowding the center of the road and bumped his vehicle.

The car spun out of control and went backwards into a ditch. Blazer was not injured. The right rear fender and trunk lid of the car were damaged. The other car in the crash did not stop.

The similar accident Friday occurred in Millington. Clair Sheffer, 37, said that a car went by him very close and he had to drop off the shoulder of the road, hitting a guard rail.

Friday morning a Bauer Candy Co. truck, traveling south on M-24, ran off the road and tipped over in a roadside ditch.

The driver of the truck, Orville Hill of Caro, was uninjured. The truck was reported totally wrecked.

Alfonso Waskiewicz, 35, of rural Cass City demolished his pick-up truck when he lost control Saturday on Bevans road, three-quarters of a mile east of Burman road in Kingston township.

Driving alone Waskiewicz said that the road was slippery and he lost control of his truck and rolled over.

Cars driven by Edward J. O'Henley, 23, of Cass City and Esther Phoebe Murray, 49, Bad Axe, collided at the Atwater road intersection on M-19 in Huron county.

O'Henley told Officer Ringveit that the Murray vehicle drove in front of him as he entered the intersection.

No injuries were reported.

Mission week set at Catholic church

A special mission week has been scheduled at St. Pancratius Church in Cass City Sunday, Nov. 5, through Friday Nov. 10, the Rev. Peter J. Pijnappels, pastor, announced this week.

The special services and lectures will be conducted by the Rev. Richard D. Payne, a Paulist Father with many years of experience, in missionary work.

There will be functions in the morning and evening. Complete details of the program will be revealed by Father Payne in his Sunday morning address. Evening services will start at 7:30 p. m.

Although the mission week is primarily geared to a spiritual rejuvenation of St. Pancratius parish, anyone interested in learning about the Catholic faith is welcome to attend any part of the program, Father Pijnappels said.

Father Payne makes the question box an interesting part of the evening lectures. . . . answering any questions concerning Catholic beliefs, worship or history.

Noted singers

to appear here

Tuesday night

The Rev. Rex E. Hubbard, a radio and television personality from Akron, Ohio, will make a personal appearance in Cass City next week.

The program will be held Tuesday, Nov. 7, at the Cass City High School, beginning at 7:45 p. m. It is being sponsored by the Cass City Laymen's Club, a comparatively new group which is interdenominational.

Hubbard is founder and pastor of the Cathedral of Tomorrow church located in Cuyahoga Falls, suburb of Akron. It is claimed to be the largest church in the world built in this generation. Its interfaith services have made it the "Church in the Home" for millions.

Every Sunday morning services in the Cathedral are broadcast via radio and television throughout the North American continent and are beamed around the world by short-wave radio from stations in the Philippines, West Indies, Panama and the Bahama Islands. The program may be seen locally on TV Channel 5 from 8:30 to 9:30 a. m.

There is no admission charge for the Tuesday night program but a free will offering will be taken.

Hawks bow 34-0, face Eagles next

Despite a 34-0 loss to the Lakers last Friday, Coach John Bifoss said that the Hawks played an over-all good game on defense in a conference clash at Cass City Recreational Park.

A driving rain and a muddy field just about eliminated any chance that the Hawks' offense had of moving the ball against the potent Lakers.

And while the chances for better weather are much brighter for this week's game, the chances for a victory are not.

For Cass City will journey to Frankenthuth Friday to take on the league leading Eagles who can cop an undisputed Thumb B Conference Championship with a victory over Cass City.

Another incentive for the Eagles is that they are after a new school scoring record. As might be expected the miserable playing conditions in the last game were responsible for several fumbles and misplays which the winners were quick to capitalize on.

The Hawks fumbled and had a pass intercepted for touchdowns and set up another marker with a second fumble.

But there was nothing fluky about the first Laker score. Dave Clabuesch rammed off tackle, broke into the clear and went 40 yards to score. Per Lindquist kicked the extra point.

The first of the cheap scores came in the second period. Jim Holadnick picked up a fumble and ambled into the end zone. Lindquist again converted the extra point.

An 11-yard jaunt by Jim Rachej netted a second touchdown in the period and Lindquist again booted the extra point. The Lakers were ahead 21-0.

The Lakers turned the game into a rout by scoring once more before the half. This time Carl McArdle went 25 yards on a pass interception and Dennis Kern passed to Dave Clabuesch for the extra point, the fourth in a row for the winners.

School confabs

set for parents

Parent-teacher conferences are scheduled for kindergartners Thursday and Friday, Nov. 2-3, and also Monday and Tuesday, Nov. 6-7, at the Willis Campbell Elementary School.

Conferences for grades one through four will be held Nov. 6 and 7.

The fifth and sixth graders will have teacher conferences at the new high school, as the grades are not in the elementary building this year.

Need help for Cub program

Cub Scouting in Cass City this year is proving more popular than ever, Cubmaster Clyde Wells reported. Some 60 boys have signed to enter the program.

And the big influx of boys poses a problem, he continued. We will need four new dens this year and must have more den mothers.

Former Cubs can help the program, Wells continued, by selling or donating used uniforms.

Den mothers and Cub leaders will attend a training session Saturday, Nov. 4, at Buena Vista High School in Saginaw.

6 million lost in county funds

Road modernization in Tuscola county, amounting to $6,417,000, under scheduled construction has been postponed, announced the State Highway Commission.

On Oct. 26, the commission approved a $265 million cut-back in Michigan's highway construction program for the next five years.

Tuscola's projects postponed by the commission at least until after 1972 and their estimated cost are:

Relocation of nine miles of M-24 from Caro to Unionville, $3,229,000, and reconstruction of 14.2 miles of M-25 from Unionville to the west county line, $3,188,000.

Nearly 30 per cent of all dairy cows exhibited ketosis symptoms during the first two months after calving, a recent Michigan State University study revealed. terment in Elkland cemetery. Dr. Marion S. Hostetler, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, officiated.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

In the cause of beauty

By Marion Hostetler

Limb by limb, Dean Cooper and Jim Reagh have been dismantling a huge gnarled box elder tree that has for many years shaded the back yard and garage at Laura Reagh's farm west of town.

Even though the tree was in perfectly sound condition, one of its longest limbs was twisted off by a strong wind some time ago, and it seemed wise to take down the rest of it, lest a branch crush the roof of the garage or break the electric line that goes to the barn.

There isn't much that can be done to keep a tree from dying of old age. Some diseases can be controlled, although so far there doesn't seem to be any practical cure for Dutch elm disease.

One thing that does bother me is to see a tree killed unnecessarily by improper pruning.

Right Wrong

If a limb is cut off close to the trunk, the bark will eventually cover the scar, and the tree will be nearly as good as new. Satisfactory healing is encouraged by painting the bare wood to keep it from rotting. When a limb is cut off so as to leave a noticeable stub, the bark is never quite able to cover it over. The exposed wood gradually softens and decays, leaving a hole in the side of the tree. Rainwater, seeds, bacteria, and insects all go to work in the opening, until finally the center of the trunk rots away, and a strong wind will blow the tree down.

It is undoubtedly easier for the man with the saw to leave a stub, but if he would take the time to make another cut from below, so as to remove the stub, the life of the tree might be doubled. Since I don't have a chain saw, I use a pruning saw with a flexible Swedish blade and a bow-shaped back, and I find I can cut much closer to the trunk if I reverse the blade (so that the teeth are facing the inside of the bow and the limb is between the blade and the bow).

Like nearly all the elm trees in the vicinity, the great spreading elms at the Fred McEacherns' have fallen prey to the Dutch elm disease, and will probably have been felled by the time you read this.

Although this will make a tremendous difference in the appearance of the home, I don't think the change will be ruinous . . . because the place was properly landscaped in the first place by the original owners of the house, Mr. and Mrs. Bird, parents of Mrs. McEachern.

The grounds include all these essentials of good landscaping: (1) a large stretch of unbroken lawn, (2) a graceful curve (in this case, a driveway), (3) foundation plantings to tie the house down to the ground, (4) beds of flowers, (5) a secluded nook, and (6) several trees and shrubs that vary in size and shape.

The Basil Quicks enhanced the appearance of their back yard by planting a curved border of assorted flowers in front of the vegetable garden.

If you want to make a flower bed with an irregularly curved border, just throw a garden hose carelessly on the lawn, and follow the curves it makes.

Harold McGrath was the first farmer to phone in and say that he still owns a workable set of the hog tongs I mentioned last week. Says it takes a strong grip to hold a hog still while you put a ring in his nose, because the hog tends to resist the procedure.

I suppose the African princesses who wear rings in their noses submit more willingly to the puncturing of the proboscis, since it's all in the cause of beauty.

Zolton Ferency should have heeded this comment by Bernard Baruch: "A political leader must keep looking over his shoulder all the time to see if the boys are still there. If they aren't still there, he's no longer a political leader."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Shevchenko Jr. of Bay Port and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arlington Fritz of Owendale. The bride was given away by her father.

The bride's dress was fashioned by her mother and was of white velvet. The round neckline and wristpoint sleeves were edged with crystal sequins and banded with white maribou. The natural waistline had a narrow band of white satin and the gown featured a full floor-length skirt. The cathedral-length train was of chiffon edged in crystal sequins and hung from the shoulders. She carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with a white orchid.

Maid of honor was Miss Marie Misco of Ubly, cousin of the bride. Her dress, which she fashioned, was of old gold color and had an Empire waist from which fell the floor-length taffeta skirt. The bodice was chiffon over taffeta and had a square neckline and long, full sleeves caught at the wrist by a narrow taffeta band. The dress was accented by a floor-length train which extended from the back of the waist. Her bouquet was of bronze pompons with sprays of dried wheat.

Bridesmaids were Miss Carol Sturm of Elkton, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Karen Irion of Sebawaing, cousin of the groom. Their dresses, which they fashioned, were identical to the maid of honor's, but in olive green. Their bouquets were of gold pompons with sprays of dried wheat.

Junior bridesmaids were Miss Barbara Fritz of Owendale, sister of the groom, and Miss Terry Shevchenko of Fayetteville, North Carolina, cousin of the bride. Their dresses, also styled by them, were identical to the other attendants', only apricot in color. They carried bouquets of yellow pompons with sprays of dried wheat.

Flower girl was Kathy Shevchenko of Bay Port, sister of the bride. Her dress was identical to the bridesmaids'.

St. Agatha GAGETOWN

This year the Junior High of St. Agatha was determined to get a better realization of the importance of Columbus Day, Oct. 12. To accomplish this, the following goals were made: 1) to develop an appreciation for the hero - Columbus, 2) to know more about Columbus, and 3) to have his presence felt.

In a program, presented to the Intermediate and Primary divisions, phases of Columbus' life - his childhood, family, interest in boats, adventures, etc., were presented in reports, poems and illustrations.

Deborah Bohan wrote a playlet telling about Columbus' request for men, money, and supplies. Another play, written by Sharron Rabideau, told of his journeys. Among some of the other projects was a poem, written and recited by Kathy Lorenz and Kathy LaFave and a mural, depicting Columbus' first journey and his stay in America, was displayed and explained by David Rabideau, Danny Andrakowicz, and Greg Hatch.

Everyone benefited from the Junior High's effort, research, planning and presenting their program. In the future everyone, especially the Junior High students, will honor a man, not just a name, on Oct. 12.

Deford

The second graders at Deford have been collecting seeds and learning about ways that seeds travel.

They are also getting ready for Halloween. Everyone has made a pumpkin man for the room's bulletin board. Along with Mr. Pumpkin, they have been writing and drawing about Halloween.

C. C. H. S.

It's a conspiracy! Why did we get our report cards on Monday this marking period instead of the preceding Thursday as usual? Uh-huh! They knew, mind you, the teachers knew that we only had three days of school this week, and they knew if we got our report cards Monday, when our parents saw them, they would make us stay home all day Thursday and Friday to study! I'll bet they planned that at the beginning of last summer.

Well, even if they didn't have a conspiracy, at the rate they "piled on" the homework, they must have known what the results of our report cards would be!

Students unite! Stay home and watch TV!!
On Wednesday, a number of students took a Michigan Competitive Math Test. I guess it was kind of hard, because whenever I asked how it went, I'd get such answers as "Oh Brother!", "Forget it!", "Yeah, I only got three done," and somebody else would add, "Don't knock it, I didn't get any!" Well, so much for that test!

During the lunch hours on Wednesday, the sixty-seven "Peramos", our school's annual, were handed out to those who had ordered them last year. Throughout the rest of the afternoon, everywhere you looked, somebody was leafing through an annual. The students enjoyed it, but I don't think I can say as much for the teachers.

Wednesday night, the JV football team played Caro. And they won! Alright! The score was 24-13. Larry McClorey made three touchdowns, one for 50 yards, one for 60 yards, and one for 20 yards, and Dennis Clara made one for 5 yards.

Well, our vacation is all over. But cheer up! As of Monday, Oct. 30, only 24 more days (counting Saturdays and Sundays) until Thanksgiving Vacation. That's only 18 more school days! (18 too many).

CLUB NEWS

The GAA met after school Tuesday, as usual, for a practice session. The volleyball game is supposed to be sometime in November.

The Pep Club also had a short meeting Tuesday.
A practice debate was held at 7 p. m. Tuesday in the library.

After school Wednesday, the newspaper staff met. It sure takes a lot of meetings to run that newspaper!

The FHA's regional conference wasn't last Saturday, Oct. 21, but Saturday, Oct. 28. I made a mistake last week. The girls left by bus Saturday (the 28th) at 8:30 a. m. from the school.

TID BITS

HALLOWEEN!!! Tuesday, October 31, 1967! What a way to blackmail our teachers!

I think Cass City and Laker High should have had a snow ball fight Friday night instead of a football game.

The two teams made up for the snow, however: Laker's players were wearing gloves and CCHS had a campfire. (Hot coals in a barbecue grill). Cass City's cheerleaders were clad in safety patrol raincoats (bright yellow), jeans, and slush-boots.

Education helps, but no amount of learning takes the place of natural ability.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I was reading this piece by one of them Washington column writers that has got me shook up considerable. If your readers ain't heard anything about it yet, they also was going to be mighty disturbed in this matter.

The U.S. Department of Commerce is already making plans to take the 1970 census. And for the first time in history they ain't going to appoint census takers to go from house to house. Instead, ever family was going to get a 20-page questionnaire and if they don't fill it out and mail it back, they was liable for 60 days in jail or a $100 fine.

This column writer reported they was going to mail the questionnaire out to citizens in New Haven, Connecticut, for a trial run to get the kinks out of it. This feller reported he had got one of these questionnaires official through his Congressman. It was a heap worse, he said, than the income tax returns.

First off, he allowed, if you wasn't pritty smart it would take a month's hard work to fill it out. Furthermore, he said if the head of the household was a little on the shaky side he could have a nervous breakdown afore he got it back in the mail. He said it was red tape at the worst and a invasion of privacy.

Them 20 pages, he reported, has got dozens of entries, numbers, circles, little boxes and spaces. He quoted verbatim some of the things, like "Answer questions 26 through 35 on everyone born prior to April 1953 including housewives, students, or disabled persons as well as part-time or full-time workers." And another place they got "Please list below all persons who stayed here overnight on Tuesday, April 4, except those you have already listed in column 1, page 2."

GETTING UP NIGHTS MAKES MANY FEEL OLD

Common Kidney or Bladder irritations make many men and women feel tense and nervous from frequent burning or itching urination night and day. Secondly, you may lose sleep and have Headache, Backache and feel older, tired, depressed. In such cases, CYSTEX usually brings relaxing comfort by curbing irritating germs in acid urine and quickly easing pain. Get CYSTEX at drugists.

And in this list you was supposed to tell if they was single or married, give full names, race, date of birth, home address and Zip Code.

In them 20 pages you was supposed to report on the number of bathtubs, washing machines, garbage disposal units, color and black and white televisions, automobiles, if you went to college, how many in the family was working, how much they earned last year, and income from rents and investments.

In one place, this feller reports, they say "Be sure you have filled a pair of pages on each person listed in col. 1, and pages 6 and 7 should be filled on the person listed on line 1, pages 8 and 9 on the person on line 2, etc. Please notice we need answers to questions 21 through 35 on ever person prior to April, 1953, even though they may not appear to apply."

I think, Mister Editor, you had ought to write to our Congressman and get a copy of this census form and print it now so's your readers will have three year to fill it out. We already got too many nervous breakdowns around here.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

One For The Road

Four opinions of new math

By Dan Marlowe

Three people in education have sounded off to me recently about the New Math being taught in our schools.

All were opposed to it, and their vehemence surprised me.

The first is a retired individual who has been engaged in the teaching of remedial reading for thirty years; the second is an active teacher; the third is an active administrator.

The long-time teacher of remedial reading makes the flatfooted statement that New Math is going to do to arithmetic what the "look-see" method did to reading, only the results won't be apparent for awhile, and will be covered up when they are.

The active teacher believes that New Math can never serve as a substitute for the multiplication table, and that it and a number of other new scholastic nostrums are dust in the eyes of parents and taxpayers to make them think they are getting something for their educational dollars.

The administrator believes that New Math has attempted to take ten steps immediately when five would have been more than enough; that teaching methods hadn't jelled sufficiently when it was inaugurated; and that because this is so constant changes now require school systems to buy "new" books with scarcely more than new covers and a few addendums or corrections on the average of every three years, again a burden to the parents and the taxpayer.

Educators are used to catching it from all sides, of course. One of our major magazines took out after them recently by claiming that education itself has suffered because educators have no standards of quality, no frame of reference, since they are themselves the products of a reduced scholastic standard.

Another magazine attacked the concept of "developing the whole child" which has been education's rallying cry in recent years, claiming that rather than developing the exceptional abilities a child might have, the system results in lopping them off, chiseling away anything that keeps the individual from fitting neatly into the groove.

I find these latter complaints overstated, but about New Math I have my own doubts. If there is anywhere now that New Math is taught alongside Old Math, which I doubt, I would dearly love to see a matchup between an old style and a new style sixth grader on a proposition such as multiplying 225 x 375.

I keep thinking back to post-World War II Japan when the American Army of Occupation was still in residence. Speed contests were arranged between G.I.'s using the fastest electric adding machines and Japanese clerks using abacuses--the little colored beads strung on wires--used in their country for hundreds of years. After a few such contests, when the adding machine won it merited a headline in Stars and Stripes. Not a fit comparison?

Perhaps not, but... I still have my doubts.

Michigan Mirror

Auto accidents can happen to you - Statistics prove it

Four Mackinac Bridges could be built for the cost of accidents on Michigan's highways during 1966 alone. This loss amounted to $415 million, less than one fourth the cost of Michigan's famous bridge.

There is no way to measure the grief, sorrow and pain involved with the 2,296 people killed or the 156,700 who were injured in 302,000 automobiles last year.

If you think: "It can't happen to me," you should also be aware of your statistical outlook. According to figures supplied by Michigan State Police, your chances are these:

One out of every 3,571 people in the state was killed last year in an auto accident.

One of every 523 was injured.

One of every 7.4 motor vehicles was involved in an accident.

One of every 9.2 licensed drivers was involved in a traffic accident.

Facts are stubborn things - also very well concealed.

Ketolactia, a forerunner to ketosis, signals the onset of ketosis, mastitis, and urogenital diseases within 14 days -- 75% of the time -- say Michigan State University dairy scientists.

A 10-year trend of 1956-66 shows little improvement in safe driving behavior of Michigan's five million motorists. While 1966 indicates the number of licensed drivers is up 37%, the number of accidents increased by 53%. Vehicle miles traveled increased 55% in 10 years, injuries increased 156%. Motor vehicle registrations are up 30%, deaths jumped 32%.

Keweenaw, at the northern tip of the UP, was the only county not recording a traffic fatality last year. Forty-five counties recorded increased fatalities; 30 had decreases and eight had no change.

Guaranteed loans to college students, administered by the Michigan Higher Education Assistance Authority, passed the $10 million mark for the first time in the program's five-year history.

Some 2,000 such loans were guaranteed by the state in September, the largest number ever processed in one month, according to Ira Polley, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

"Students in the larger metropolitan areas are still encountering difficulty in obtaining loans through the larger city banks, but youths in the rural and suburban areas have had good success," commented Polley.

"The tight money conditions of 1966 when lending institutions could not extend funds at the maximum six percent interest required under the student loan program seem to have been relaxed a great deal this fall," he said.

Since the program's inception in November, 1962, MHEAA

Loans which carry the 100% faith and credit of the MHEAA must be negotiated through one of the Michigan banks, credit unions or savings and loan associations which have signed participating agreements.

Loans totaling $783,360 have been repaid. Students have a maximum of 10 years after graduation or withdrawal from college to repay the loans.

Around The Farm

Drug in milk
is punishable

By Alfred P. Ballweg

The dairyman who permits antibiotics to get into his market milk is due for more than a "slap on the wrist" treatment. This is also a concern of veterinarians who may use antibiotics for treatment of a diseased cow (not only for mastitis) and fail to warn the owner of milk withholding time, or even if he does provide a warning the owner puts the cow back in the line too soon. New Michigan regulations provide that if antibiotics are found in milk, a second milk sample from the farm will be checked, and the milk must be held until test results are obtained (6-12 hours). If no antibiotics are present, the milk is accepted and the case is dropped. If antibiotics are present, the milk must be dumped. Now, here is the serious part for the dairyman--when a third sample is examined, and if antibiotics are present, because there have already been two violations, charges against the farmer will be initiated in court. It then becomes the producer's responsibility to prove that his milk is free of antibiotics.

When antibiotics are given to cows, by mouth, in the uterus, in the udder, or by injection, the farmer must keep milk from that cow out of his market milk. If he treats his own cows without veterinary advice, he must follow the directions on the label as regards withholding. If a veterinarian treats a cow, the farmer should be informed of any withholding time necessary. Many drugs are cleared by the FDA for non lactating and non "red meat" producing animals. However, these drugs are often used, in violation of the label directions, in food producing animals, and while they may cure a disease, they can also cause economic loss because of milk or tissue residues.

REMODEL OR REBUILD

With a number of dairymen now thinking about expansion of their business they eventually get to the question: Should I rebuild or should I remodel? Every farmer thinking about expanding or building should visit a number of different modern farm facilities.

Once you have decided to expand, there are several factors to consider when trying to figure out whether to expand the present setup or build entirely new facilities.

Some farmers plan a different site and remodel the old facilities for calf and young stock housing. But if you expect to level them, it will mean much work and hauling of fill material.

Modern water wells cost from $1,000 to $3,000. An increase in the size of your electrical service may also be needed. This can cost from $500 to $1,500.

After the facilities are built, the dairyman must have more cows. This means another expense: buying cows.

Carefully budget future income and costs so they can determine expansion costs and arrange financing in advance. In this way, the dairyman is less likely to get part way through the job and then find he has to skimp because of a lack of resources.

We harvested our Tuscola county soybean variety test plot on Friday, Oct. 20. According to Stuart Hildebrand, Crops Specialist from Michigan State University, our soybean test plot was one of the best in the state of Michigan for 1967. All of the varieties with the exception of one had an opportunity to uniformly ripen.

The variety plot was located on the Ben and Harland Hobart farm in Elmwood township. Varieties included in the test plot were Chippewa 64; A-100 which is an experimental variety; Hark; Experimental A-5 and A-7; Harosoy 63; Amsoy, and Traverse. Yield data results of the test plot will be available sometime during the month of January. According to the overall appearance of the plots variety yields should be reasonably good for 1967.

The purpose of this variety demonstration which included several varieties of white navy beans was to (1) observe the performance of soybean varieties in the Gagetown area of Tuscola county, and (2) compare yields of soybeans with those of white navy beans for comparative income possibilities.

Don't depend on luck unless you're willing to work hard to bring it your way.

If you are average, that means you are as close to the bottom as you are to the top.
