

Season opens Saturday

County deer kill reported on rise

If there is good tracking snow, deer hunters in Tuscola county are expected to bring down as many as 200 of the wily whitetails.

This number would approximate that taken in the 1966 season and is 25 more than the kill in 1965, stated Harold Tubbs, game biologist for the Michigan Department of Conservation.

Personnel at the field office in Caro estimate there is at present a herd of 1200 in the county, and each year a sizeable increase is noted. The animals are roaming out from the marshes into farm woodlots, said Tubbs, making it rather difficult to obtain an accurate count.

Three years ago hunters killed an estimated 150 and steadily increased the kill to 200 last November.

Each year state biologists visit all the locker plants to make a comprehensive analysis of the health and approximate age of the deer. This is done much the same as with sheep by observing the condition of a deer's molars, antlers and hide.

The number of deer taken in Tuscola during the 1967 season will also depend upon how many unsuccessful hunters return from the north woods and try to fill their licenses locally.

In the county there are several state game areas open to hunters and all are clearly marked with State Land signs. Near Cass City the game area's northern border begins at the intersection of Countyline and Elmwood roads, and lies on both sides of the Cass River in Sections 1 and 2 of Novesta township.

The Deford game area is interspersed with more private farms than other public lands in the county. The main acreage is west of Deford proper, although there are some on the east of town and south of the Deckerville road.

South of Caro there is the Tuscola Game area on both sides of M-24, and near Wah-jamega may be found the Vassar game lands on the north side of M-46.

Tubbs stated that he has a supply of county maps outlining the hunting areas, which are available for the asking at the field office. He said, too, that they are always glad to have hunters come to the office, located about one-half mile south of Caro on M-24, and they will point out all the game areas.

The Chronicle has a supply of these same maps at its office on Main street, Cass City, for any readers desiring one. There is no charge.

Game Biologist Tubbs asks that lucky nimrods fill out the charts and tags left by the conservation department at all local locker plants to enable a more complete recording of this year's animals.

Hunting pressure is anticipated at 100 hunters per square mile fanning out to eight or less in the lighter populated game areas.

Early paper, extra copies next week

Because of Thanksgiving holiday next week the Chronicle will be published a day early. The holiday marks the start of the traditional Christmas selling season and the Chronicle will publish its annual pre-Christmas shopping edition in cooperation with the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

The Chronicle will publish extra papers for this event. Because of the shorter work week and the larger papers it will be necessary to advance all copy deadlines.

Advertising must be in the office this week end to assure early deadline delivery schedule.

News copy will also be on the advanced schedules. Post offices will observe regular holiday schedules on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 23.

Mail will be picked up from deposit points on normal holiday schedules, but there will be no regular window or City or Rural delivery services.

Special delivery service will be available.

From the Editor's Corner

Any former member of the armed forces must have got a chuckle when he read the story the other day about the GI who spent 18 months on furlough when the army goofed up his papers.

Staying at home for 18 months, working at a regular job, and drawing an allotment for his wife while waiting for a telegram telling him where to report and then finally going back to "duty" when it's time to be discharged is a classic... and what a tonic to every former dogface!

Any GI who has received the coercing, prodding, snarling army treatment and told to hurry, hurry, hurry... only to arrive and then wait and wait and wait has GOT to believe that this is poetic justice. Now that he's back the army doesn't know whether he's eligible for discharge or not... but the soldier says he plans to get a lawyer if he's not let loose. I hope he wins.

If he does, it should do as much for the servicemen's morale as a visit from Bob Hope at Christmas.

While returning from a business trip to Indianapolis, we traveled on a new section of freeway. On this freeway each mile is marked by a pretty green sign (I think it counts the miles from the Indiana-Michigan border but I'm not sure). I've seen these signs on other highways... marking the miles from major cities.

There must be a reason besides this for marking every mile of the road, but I don't know what it is and haven't talked to anyone who does.

It just can't be another way of spending the taxpayers' money without rhyme or reason can it?

Sometimes there are delayed reactions to contests and advertising. But can you believe that a prize won last New Year's was just collected this week?

The free gift, offered in the Chronicle's first baby contest, was picked up from Briggs' Studio and was a free photo of the new baby.

It's not quite as strange as it seems... the proud mother wanted to wait until the new baby was several months old before the picture was taken and Jim Briggs said that it was a sound idea and he was happy to oblige.

DEFORD PARENTS listen attentively as Supt. Donald Crouse explains the details of the proposed Deford hot lunch program.

For hot lunches

Deford protests new program

The Cass City School district is determined to operate its hot lunch program on a break even basis and Tuesday night the results of scheduled attempts to increase efficiency at Deford ran point blank into a group of irate Deford parents who struggled to keep the program the way it is.

The uproar has been caused by the district's plan to transport pre-packaged food, cooked in a central kitchen at Cass City, to Deford and close the Deford kitchen.

Supt. Donald Crouse attended the meeting and passed out sheets showing that the Deford cafeteria was losing money steadily. It is necessary to maintain a ratio of one cook to 200 pupils to run an economically sound program, Crouse said.

Whether we use this program or a central system and transport meals in thermo containers, we just can't afford to operate a kitchen at Deford, he said.

After the explanation, many in the group evidently remained unconvinced. Among the most vehement was Everett Field, who said bitterly, "our kids are going to take what Cass City kids don't want... that's the way it's been ever since we joined the system."

Mrs. Harold Field voiced the biggest objection of most of the parents when she said she was afraid the "taste will be bad under the new system". The parents were united when they pointed out that they felt they had one of the finer noon lunch programs and that they just didn't want to give it up.

Supt. Crouse pointed to Lake Fenton as a school in Michigan already using the program and said that the superintendent there was pleased with the program.

The Fenton superintendent reported to the Chronicle that Lake Fenton runs a "closed campus". Students are required to either eat at the cafeteria or carry their lunches. They are not allowed to leave.

He reported that about 44 per cent of the eligible students are eating at the cafeteria. The lowest percentage is in the high school, the largest in the elementary school. The school that has prepackaged food ranks between the two. Mrs. Anna Lowe, Cass City cook, reported that between 56 to 60 per cent participation is considered very good for hot lunch programs.

When discussing the program, Crouse said that the new system can be tried without any capital investment and dropped for another transporting system if necessary.

He said that a trip to Lake Fenton school is planned with the cooks and that he would welcome a carload of Deford residents to come along and inspect the operation.

It is very likely that they will do so.

4 criminal cases in Circuit Court

Four criminal cases were heard Tuesday in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Two men were arraigned, one sentenced and a motion for bail approved by Judge James Churchill.

Pleading guilty to two counts of driving with a revoked or suspended driving license was Albert James Plaine of Caro. Judge Churchill ordered a pre-sentence investigation and sentence will be passed Nov. 28.

Clayton Powell Jr. of Traverse City pleaded innocent to feloniously disposing of personal property which was under a chattel mortgage.

Ball was set at $200. Martin Hutchinson of Cass City was sentenced to two years' probation with the first two months to be spent in the county jail for forgery and uttering and publishing. He cashed two $25 checks and signed the name of Olive Hutchinson on them. Credit was given for time served awaiting trial and Hutchinson is now free on probation.

In addition to the probation, Hutchinson was fined $150 and ordered to pay costs of $150 and make restitution of $75, all at the rate of $30 per month.

Robert Lee Keinath who was previously found guilty of breaking and entering the Harmony Hill Recreation in Caro was released on $5,000 bond this week pending his appeal of the verdict.

Ready For The Big Blast Off? It's travel and adventure time in Cass City. The world's most accomplished guides and fabulous vacation spots seen for just $1.00 per show for 6 shows. Sponsored by Rotary Club. Tickets available at Wood Drugs or either bank.

THE SEVEREST CRITIC of the proposed program was Everett Field, who claimed discrimination against the Deford school.

Avoid injuries in minor mishaps

It was a week of minor traffic mishaps in Tuscola county and the crashes reported to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department were for property damage as drivers and passengers suffered only minor injuries.

Rosemary Kirchner, 30, 4417 Woodland, Cass City, and Veronica Michels, 18, rural Sevierance Road, passenger, escaped injury in a two-car accident Monday night, Nov. 6, at 11:10 p. m. Myrl M. Baudoux, 63, and Selma Gaudon, 70, both of Saginaw, were also uninjured.

According to the report by Patrolman James Jezewski of the local police department who investigated, each car struck the right side of the other. The mishap occurred on M-81 near the Spence Road intersection. Mrs. Kirchner told police she saw the other car coming toward her sideways from the west and drove her auto into the left lane in an attempt to avoid hitting it. The road was covered with ice and both cars were traveling approximately 20 mph, the drivers said.

A Deford man, John Anthony Warford, 25, was a passenger in his own automobile at the time it was involved in a collision Friday night, Nov. 11, shortly after 11:00 o'clock. None of the four persons was hurt. The Warford auto was driven by Edna Lydia Smith, 23, rural Deford, and driver of the other vehicle was Tim Fred Anthes, 24, St. Clair. His passenger was Sharron Anthes. Deputy William Lawrence issued Edna Smith a ticket for driving to the left of center and improper display of license plates. She stated to investigating officers that Anthes' car lights blinded her. The accident happened on M-46 (W. Sanilac Road) in Dayton township.

Deputy Sheriff Iseler investigated an accident in Unionville at the intersection of Bay Road and Center Street about 10:00 p. m. Nov. 13. Mike Singer, 42, Unionville, had stopped for the stop sign when his car was struck from behind by the car driven by Manuel Southgate, 80, also Unionville. Southgate told Deputy Iseler he tried to stop and his brakes failed. The sheriff's report states a rear brake line broke and fluid was on the highway. No one was hurt and no ticket was issued.

Alex Cherniawski, 17, English Road, RFD Deford, told Deputy Sheriff Horwath that a car struck his as he started to make a left turn to enter Ross Road from W. Sanilac Road (M-46) Friday evening about 9:40. The left front end of his stationwagon was slightly damaged but Cherniawski was not hurt. Police are looking for the vehicle described by Cherniawski.

Liner sells gun for Harry Lenda

"Good results," said Harry Lenda, bossman at the IGA Foodliner, as he canceled his ad for a .32 special deer rifle. I sold the gun Thursday morning before noon, he reported. The ad read: For Sale - Like new .32 Special deer rifle. See H. Lenda at IGA Foodliner, Cass City. Reasonable. Or call 678-4330 after 7 p. m.

Union Thanks service slated

The annual Union Thanksgiving worship service will be held at the Novesta Church of Christ at 8:00 p. m., Nov. 22.

The Rev. Harold Knight, pastor of Mizpah United Missionary church, will give the address. Special music will be provided by members of the Cass City Methodist church.

Rev. David Altman is minister for the host church which is located about three and one-half miles south of Cass City.

Computer age at school

The computer age has caught up with Cass City High School. Monday night the board authorized a pilot system for the board that will have all of the forms connected with payroll and the checks issued to the staff by a computer owned by the school's auditor.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that the cost of the program will total about $2,000 per year, but that the expected savings in payroll should at least balance out this expenditure. "We feel," he said, "that the

Teachers laud curriculum study

What's the most pressing need in the curriculum at Cass City? What is the most urgent problem that faces educators at the school? Where do we start to improve programs for the children?

These were the questions bandied about Friday at the first curriculum study day ever held in Cass City Schools.

And the school's three principals reported to the school board Monday what the teachers themselves believed to be the problem areas after an all-day session at the school where ideas were tossed back and forth in teacher assemblies and action groups.

A revised language course, both English and foreign, topped the list of areas where teachers felt that attention is needed in the curriculum.

The most pressing question that cries for an answer, the session revealed, is "What to do with the child that isn't capable of doing the regular school work".

While none of the answers have been reached yet, most of the teachers and the principals felt that the new teacher study concept was nothing but good. Mrs. Jackie Freiburger, grade principal, reported that an informal survey she conducted showed that 21 teachers felt that the plan was good while 11 failed to see any merit in it.

Arthur Holmberg, high school principal, said that one of the principal benefits of the study was that it lets the individual teacher take a long critical look at the work they were doing and evaluate it in comparison with the other teachers in the school.

Bob Stickle, middle school principal, said that the exchange of ideas was one of the biggest benefits of the day. It lets the teacher in the elementary school know what's going on in the high school building, he said.

It's much too early, the principals agreed, to come up with any solutions to the problems as presented. Our job now, they said, will be to formulate specific areas of study for the next meeting in January.

The principals are still evaluating the results of a survey held in conjunction with the first study and will use it as a basis for future programs.

Most of the teachers said that they felt that science was in pretty good shape. Besides English, the teachers pointed to reading, junior high counseling and sex education as study areas that should receive attention.

Chest drive at 50 per cent of goal

Harold Isard, president of Elkland - Novesta Community Chest, this week reported that about 60 per cent of the envelopes of the volunteer solicitors have been received and $3,970 collected.

While the amount already donated is considerably below the record $8,200 needed, prospects are bright for reaching the goal.

The local Chest has the enviable record of never having missed reaching its quota, says Willis Campbell, the perennial chairman of the successful drives.

While more than half of the envelopes have been collected, two of the largest contributing areas have yet to report. The business and the industrial sections' donations have yet to be reported by the solicitors in charge.

Authorities urged all solicitors who have not yet turned in envelopes to do so at once so that the drive can be completed.

Board debates policies

School frowns on skiing, smiles at golf

Skiing as a part of the regular curriculum appears to be dead at Cass City High School while golf appears very much alive, judging by the discussion about the two sports held Monday evening at the regular meeting of the Board of Education.

Trustee Donald Koepfgen brought the discussion before the board to get a decision about skiing. Last year, Stuart Atwell had offered to teach the course free if the school decided to add it to the sports schedule.

Some of the reasons for not offering skiing were that there was no member of the faculty competent to teach and carry on the activity if Atwell would be unavailable in a couple of years, the uncertain weather conditions in the Thumb, the cost of equipment and the fact that only Caro and Vassar have teams to enter into competition at this time.

Golf on the other hand, it was revealed, is now offered at every Thumb B Conference school except Cass City. In previous years, it was not offered to Cass City students because there was not a golf course available without transporting students.

However, when the proposed course in Cass City is completed, facilities will be available right next door and when they are it is likely that Cass City will compete in the Conference.

Another sport that the coaches like and authorities are taking a long look at is cross-country. No decision was reached.

To charge or not to charge, that is the question... but the Cass City Board of Education has yet to come up with an answer.

Trustee Don Koepfgen reported to the board Monday that the dancing classes in the school gym that are held without a building charge has caused comment from residents.

In a previous session the board said if the instruction was for the kids, facilities should be free. The dance classes are now being offered from 3:30 to 7 p. m. and mothers of the students pay 75 cents per lesson or more to send their children. Contrasted to this is the fact that a $5 charge is made to members of the community when they used the gym in the evening.

Many board members said that they felt that a change in the overall policy should be made, but were reluctant to change the charge after they had told the dance instructor that the gym would be free. However, it may be that in future years the policy will be changed to initiate a charge for profit-making ventures.

OTHER DECISIONS

The board also wrestled with other policy making decisions Monday. They discussed use of the new school for dance programs and similar events. A decision will be reached in December... but don't look for any startling changes from Concluded on page 6.

THIS IS HOW L/Cpl. Art Bean looked just before going on a mission in Vietnam when he was injured for the second time.

In Vietnam action

Bean injured again

Mrs. Charles Damoth of Little Road, Cass City, learned Sunday that her son, L/Cpl. Arthur Bean, 21, had been wounded for the second time in the fighting in Vietnam. Bean was wounded Nov. 9 in the left thigh from hostile rifle fire in the fighting near DaNang. He was treated at the station hospital and medically air evacuated to the naval hospital at Kouska, Japan.

He had written his wife, the former Helen Mulrath, who lives at 4181 South Seeger, that he was going on a mission and would not be able to write again in the near future.

In March, 1967, Bean was wounded in the right knee and was hospitalized in Guam.

Three Tuscola persons elected to State Farm Bureau posts

Tuscola County Farm Bureau members and delegates brought honors to the area at the 48th annual meeting Nov. 7 through 9 held at Michigan State University.

Elected to leadership positions in the state's largest farm organization were Mike Satchell of Caro and Mrs. Clare Carpenter, Cass City.

Mrs. Carpenter was re-elected vice-chairman of the Michigan Farm Bureau Women. Never before has the vice-chairman been eligible for re-election. Satchell was elected director of the Michigan Farm Bureau Board. He was master of ceremonies at the Young Farmers banquet later in the convention.

Some 800 women and guests heard Richard DeVos, president of Amway company, speak on "Selling America" and participated in honoring Marge Karker, former co-ordinator of women's activities, Mrs. Jerrold Topfing, Eaton Rapids, was chosen to head the committee.

Ward Hodge of Snover was among those honored with distinguished service to agriculture. The other two were Gene Worth, Escanaba, and Charles Davis of Ingham county.

Highlighting the convention was the banquet at Lansing's Civic Center when nationally known lecturer, author, farmer, Kenneth McFarland, spoke. His topic was "Americanism -- a Desperate Need."

Alfred Goodall, Cass City, and Satchell were named to the committee for policy development whose duty it will be to prepare more than one thousand resolutions received from counties for delegates' consideration. For the first time in Farm Bureau history a woman was chosen to head this committee. She is Mrs. Andrew Jackson of Howell.

First it was Halloween, now Thanksgiving, soon it will be Christmas and New Years! There is always a holiday theme on which to center art, activities, and sometimes even studies.

The kindergarten has made turkeys and bowls of fruit in art. The first and second graders are busy making things for Thanksgiving, too.

Mrs. Gray's room had the showcase this month. The scene is for harvest and Thanksgiving.

Believe it or not, Thanksgiving doesn't influence everything. The second graders are learning to count from 100 to 150. The fifth graders are making large charts in their Social Studies class. They have just completed a unit on the south-eastern United States.

The students got their school pictures back this past week and by way of the grapevine, I have heard that most of them were very good.

On Friday, Nov. 3, the students saw a film entitled, "If Bicycles Could Talk."

On Monday and Tuesday of last week, Mrs. Cameron substituted for Mrs. Gray in the fifth and sixth grades as Mrs. Gray was ill.

Deford

Well, Deford has Thanksgiving "on the brain," too. The kindergartners have been enjoying themselves making turkeys, Pilgrims, and Indians.

C. C. Jr. High

Monday, after school, the 8th grade girls had cheerleading tryouts. The new eighth grade cheerleaders are: Mary Powell, Diane Asher, Karla Stine, Mary Beth Esau, Sheryl Doyen and Linda Zawilinski.

Likewise on Tuesday after school, the seventh grade girls "tried out". The new seventh grade cheerleaders are: Gail Miracle, Mary Eshelman, Patty Rabideau, Karen Hahn, Chris O'Dell and Linda Koepgen.

On Wednesday about 70 Junior High boys left during the 8th hour to go to Caro and play football. Our boys were defeated 32-0.

The eighth grade cheerleaders got their first chance to cheer. What a way to start a cheerleading career!

The Junior High football team is divided into four sections, or smaller teams. They are: Team A, B, C and D.

Thursday night at 7:00, there was an All-Stars game. Teams A and D, the "Red Hawks," played teams B and C, the "Blue Hawks." The seventh grade cheerleaders cheered for the "Blue Hawks" and the eighth grade cheerleaders for the "Red Hawks." The whole lot of them must be All-Stars. The final score was 0-0!

C. C. H. S.

Well, just to start the week off right, we had our November assembly. Mr. Robert L. Hammond, of the Michigan Alcohol Education Foundation, spoke to us on alcoholic beverages.

At 2:30 Monday, the Varsity and Junior Varsity debaters and timekeepers left for Millington, for their first debate. Karen Holm and Richard Ross of the Varsity debate team, and Jan Gaspie and Sue Koepgen of the JV team are to be congratulated for their victories.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council met first hour Tuesday morning. Again some of the major topics of discussion were the Clean-In and No Taxation without representation.

Tuesday night the JV football team played North Branch. Our boys won by a fantastic score of 32-0! Alright guys! The touchdowns were scored by Larry McCloyre, Scott Guernsey, Marty Zawilinski, Marty LeValley and Mike Sherman.

Thursday morning, all Varsity basketball candidates had a meeting. The freshmen and sophomore candidates met after school Thursday.

Well, Friday was the day of rest. It's all over, but now there are only 8 more school days until Thanksgiving vacation!

CLUB NEWS

Tuesday, after school, the Spanish club met. A business meeting was held. The trip to Detroit, supposedly for Saturday, the 11th, was cancelled.

The GAA is having its problems. With the basketball season starting, we have no gym to practice in! Last week we held a practice session on Wednesday.

The candy has arrived and the sale is on!

The newspaper's typists and proof-readers are still at it. They've met twice this past week.

The Pep Club's executive board had a meeting after school Thursday. Plans for basketball season are under way.

TID BITS

John Maharg, Mick Miracle, and Gary Vollmar received honorable mention on the Thumb B Conference football team. Congratulations!

Some people think that Grand Central Station is crowded, but it doesn't even come near to being as crowded as Cass City High School's third floor between classes!!!!

It has been going around that Christmas Vacation this year is going to be longer than usual! (I hope that doesn't mean homework over vacation!) Sometime around then, the new school is to be dedicated. ALRIGHT!

Why is it that everytime we have a shortened week, the teachers decide that it's a great time for tests? You sure have to pay for one day's vacation!

21-day European jaunt unique experience for pair

It has been said that people are the same the world over except for the 104 different languages spoken. Perhaps. Customs are certainly different, concurred two local ladies who have just returned from three weeks in England and the Continent. One example is the prevalence of beauty shops for men overseas. Said Helen Agar, owner of a beauty salon for women in Cass City, "They have contests in men's hairstyling. It is the first time in my life I ever saw competition in styling men's hair. It was fantastic." According to Helen, more men in Europe, and particularly in London, wear their hair long than here in the States.

Mrs. Agar was one of 68 spectators from the United States who attended the world competition show held in Brighton, England, and the European contest held in Paris.

Her traveling companion was Mrs. Helen Stevens, owner of a nursing home in Cass City. "I got a good education and did not attend any classes," she said. "The trip was an education in itself."

Their 21 days were so chock full of happenings it will take them weeks to tell about them. They saw glamorous personalities, known internationally by not only those in the beauty business but ordinary housewives and school girls. Vidal Sassoon, the man famous for styling movie stars' coiffures, was one of the representatives. Mrs. Stevens remarked that she would surely hate to be responsible for paying the city's electric light bill, as they viewed the sight from overhead when their plane rose over the New York Harbor at 9:30 p.m., Oct. 3. They crossed the Atlantic to Amsterdam in eight hours but lost five hours' sleep in the crossing. It took them a couple of days to recuperate from the loss of sleep and to adjust to new surroundings, the ladies reported.

Another dissimilarity pointed out by Helen Agar is women's dress sizes. She had allowed herself two hours to shop in Paris for a new dress, but could not find her size. After the shops were closed, she discovered that her petite size ten is a size 38 in the Parisian shops.

The two Helens also shopped in London, Brussels and New York. They visited historic places such as the Louvre, Napoleon's Tomb, Notre Dame, and the museum of Rodin who created eleven statues entitled "The Thinker," one of which stands in front of the art building in Detroit.

Mrs. Agar enjoyed the unique experience of having her portrait done by a hopeful young artist while she "sat" under an umbrella on the sidewalk of Montmartre at 78 Rue les Cassette.

It was business combined with pleasure for Mrs. Agar. She made the trip specifically for the purpose of learning advanced methods and skills in her profession.

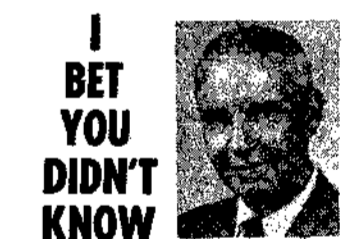

After staying overnight in Amsterdam, it was on to London's Piccadilly Hotel where classes were held prior to the world competitive show. In addition to watching and listening to the contestants, hearing the decisions of the Committee of Wise Men, Helen spent many hours practicing the things she learned. Five full days were devoted to sessions on the Island of Majorca after the completion of both events. These were taught by winners and topnotch German and American hairdressers.

Americans placed four out of the six champions in the world competition at Brighton but the Festival of Paris was won by the German stylists. Contestants in the French show were from almost all of the countries of Europe. Australia, Africa, Asia, Germany, France, Ireland, the United Kingdom and American continent sent representatives to the international competitions.

On the Island of Majorca, off the coast of Spain, the local hairdresser was subjected to a frustrating time. She had received a model bust to use in practicing styles learned in earlier classes, a gift from the Pivot Point Beauty College of Advanced Hair Design in Chicago. She is a graduate of the school. Five other Americans had been presented similar models which had been manufactured in Germany.

Spanish customs officials on Majorca demanded $8,000 for the six busts before they would release the gifts. Finally, they agreed to let the owners take

SPORTS FANS!

Here's a real oddity you may not have noticed about the race in pro basketball last season. . . . Of the 10 teams in the National Basketball Association, only three were able to win more games than they lost! . . . The only three who had records over .500 in the final standings at the end of last season were Philadelphia, Boston and San Francisco.

Can you guess which player in National Basketball Association history has won the Most Valuable Player award the most times? . . . Answer is Bill Russell who has been selected Most Valuable five different times -- in 1956, 1961, 1962, 1963 and 1965.

Can you imagine a football player scoring 100 points himself in one football game? . . . Did you know that such a feat was once accomplished? . . . Back in 1916, Leo Schlick of St. Viator College in Indiana scored an even 100 points against Lane College. . . Schlick had 12 touchdowns and kicked 28 extra points in that game, which his team won 205-0. . . By the way, scores that high were not unheard of in 1916. . . That same season, Georgia Tech, for example, beat Cumberland 222-0.

Hostetler's Hodgepodge

Sitting atop of world just meditating

By Marion Hostetler

"Don't judge everybody by yourself" used to be a grade-school retort to anyone who made an insulting remark about another person. And yet how can we judge others, if not on the basis of our own experiences?

I recently fell into the trap of supposing that everyone's experiences were like my own. When I heard that Chet and Bessie Muntz had bought a place near Rose City, I supposed they had bought a hunting cabin. . . merely because my only experience with housing near Rose City was in a log cabin. Later I learned that the Muntzes had bought a thoroughly modern home on a main highway nine miles north of Rose City. I'm sure they'll consider it a good investment if they have as relaxing a time as our family had in that log cabin.

It happened several years ago, when I had been of some little help to a family who had been having some difficulties. They kindly offered to let us use their cabin for a week of our summer vacation. Located on the banks of the Rifle River, the cabin was almost entirely surrounded by a state forest. There was no telephone and no electricity. We had kerosene lamps for light at night, but what this amounted to was that we went to bed early. We cooked on a wood-burning kitchen range, which our children thought was a great invention, since they had never seen one before. The well had been declared unsafe, so our drinking water came from a pump in a state camping area half a mile away. The most exciting events of the week were looking for raspberries and watching people glide down the river in canoes. Aside from that, we just fished and communed with nature.

When it comes to communing with nature, Hindu holy men really take it seriously. One of them may sit quietly under a tree for twenty-four hours, watching night turn into day, listening to the sounds of the woodland creatures, and thinking of himself as a part of the universe. A grandmother from another part of Michigan told me about an experience she had last summer while on her way to Expo with her husband and several of her children and grandchildren. They had rented some sort of camper in which there was room for nine to sleep, and a couple of others slept in the car. "Lying awake in the camper one night on our way to Montreal,

I had an experience of peace and happiness such as I have never known before. Suspended between the cares of home and the excitement of the fair, completely surrounded by my dear ones, I seemed to have found my proper place in the whole scheme of things. As the old song says, I felt as if I were 'sitting on top of the world.' Maybe it was just the mother hen in me, but it was an experience I'm sure I'll never forget."

Speaking of sitting on top of the world, Tom Proctor has it made. I'll bet he has the only one-way parking space in Tuscola county. Located at the south-east corner of Woods Drugs, it is so situated that he can drive in from the alley, park, and then drive out into Seeger Street without having to back up at all.

The man who replaced the heating element in our electric water heater said he has to do that more frequently in Cass City than in any other community in the county, and he thinks it's because Cass City water has the most mineral in it. Do you suppose it would save soap and heating elements if our water were softened a trifle more?

Stories about traveling salesmen don't usually find their way into this column, but here is a true one about a drug salesman who calls on Dr. James Ballard.

It seems this man has eight children. He has plans drawn up for a house that consists of seven bedrooms, six baths, a kitchen, . . . and that's all. He says he can't afford any luxuries. My idea would be that he could cut it down to two bathrooms (Ladies and Men) and then he could afford to build a family rumpus room.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:
The session at the country store Saturday night was took up mostly with bankers and hogs. On account of me usual keeping a little note at the bank, I don't want my banker to get no bad ideas and thinking I was putting the two together.
But Zeke Grubb reported he had saw where a column writer named E. W. White had reported from New York that all banks in the country was soon going on the automatic.
This feller said the Federal Reserve System had put in computers and was notifying banks they couldn't handle no more checks if they didn't have that "series of magnetic ink numbers" at the bottom. He went on to say he wasn't agin machinery in general, that he was strong agin them bank computers wearing the pants and making all the decisions.
Josh Clodhopper was agreed 100 per cent with this feller, said he could recollect when his Pa would give a farmhand a check wrote on a paper poke and the feller would take it to the bank and git it cashed.

I ain't so fur to the right, Mister Editor, that I think banks had ought to handle checks made out on paper pokes, but I ain't so fur to the left neither that I'm in favor of banks gitting crazy and going 100 per cent on the automatic. Maybe you would have a few words to say in this matter, Mister Editor.
And it was at this point that Ed Doolittle brung bankers and hogs together. Ed said he had just received his Farm Journal magazine and they was some mighty interesting things in it about hogs. They claimed from 13 to 53 per cent of all hogs in the country had stummtick ulcers.
And the Farm Journal experts blamed most of it on the hog owners. It warned buyers to see how hogs reacted to the owner afore they took his hogs. If the farmer has crowded them in tight, narrow quarters, made 'em fight fer position, step on each other to eat and drink, disturbed their rest and treated 'em rough, you could expect them hogs to have ulcers.

Clem Webster said he didn't want to git quoted on the matter on account of his old lady might hear about it, but he was of the opinion a heap of married men, maybe 13 to 53 per cent, had ulcers fer the same reason. They was constant gitting nagged, disturbed and treated rough by their old lady.
Personal, Mister Editor, I git smarter as I git older and I ain't got no comment on bankers, hogs or wives. They say things was now gitting so mixed up a doctor will even tell you if they ain't nothing wrong with you.
Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

- Better rust protection. The same molecular film protects metal surfaces against corrosion — in engine parts as well as the entire gasoline distribution system.
- Better exhaust emission control. Works on exhaust emission devices, like Positive Crankcase Ventilation just as it works on the carburetor — cleans and keeps clean, reducing the need for expensive maintenance.
- Better ignition. A special compound in Premium 500 suppresses pre-ignition and sparkplug fouling caused by combustion chamber deposits. Car performance is noticeably improved.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The High School band gave a patriotic concert. Price of admission was a 25¢ or more War Stamp. Among the selections were Star Spangled Banner, Yankee Doodle, Battle Hymn of the Republic, Marines' Hymn and Caisson Song (arranged by Joseph Maddy, founder of the National Music Camp at Interlochen) and Go, Cass City High School.

Capt. Lee Wallace of Calhoun spent the week end and until Thursday of the following week with his mother and sister, Mrs. George Wallace and Jean.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hall were elected Worthy Patron and Worthy Matron of Echo Chapter, OES for 1942-43.

Out of approximately 300 votes cast by students of the Cass City schools in a mock election, 214 were for Hoover, 71 for Roosevelt, 7 for Thomas and one for Foster. One ballot was spoiled which speaks well for the training the young people had in preparing their tickets.

'good old '20' days
 By Alfred P. Ballweg

My column this week is made up of items or tidbits taken from newspaper clippings dating back to 1924 and 1925 of various activities carried on by the Tuscola Cooperative Extension Office.

Average milk production of 7,176 lbs. in Tuscola No. 1 Cow Testing Association.

Tuscola County No. 1 Cow Testing Association has just finished its first year's work, and the tester, Eldon Bruce, has submitted his report to Michigan Agricultural College. Records show that there were 228 head of cattle completing the test with an average of 7176 pounds of milk and 262 pounds of fat. Elmer Chapman of Deford had the high herd in butterfat production with an average production of 340.8 pounds. V. J. Carpenter of Cass City had the high herd in milk production averaging 10,303 pounds milk.

Fritz Mantey of Fairgrove won first place on his Wisconsin pedigreed barley at Farmers' Week Grain Show.

Three Tuscola county farmers received ton litter medals from MAC this week. All litters were Chester White and fed by W. R. Kirk, Fritz Mantey and Fred Rohlf, all of Fairgrove.

1924-25 Future Bean Market in Growers' Hands. Farmers are advised not to worry over lowered bean price. Michigan beans, best in quality, are priced low because of the flooded market. Regarding the bean situation, "I do not think farmers who have been holding back their beans need to get scared at the bad drop in price during the last 10 days," said F. E. Kelsey, manager of the Farm Produce Company at Cass City. There is every indication that every bushel of beans in Michigan will be needed before a new crop at around $6.00 per hundred. A number of the jobbers in the state are advising farmers to sell at $5.40 and less per hundred, but according to Kelsey it would be a mistake to do so.

A. J. Hannah, Extension Poultry Specialist from Michigan Agricultural College, spent two days last week in the county inspecting poultry demonstration farms in the county.

Some say it cannot be done and others that there is no interest at present in purebred livestock, yet E. A. Rohlf and Sons of Akron have sold 37 head of registered Holstein cattle.

Many Tuscola farmers in Arabela and Tuscola townships have been recently cut off from sending milk to Flint on the fluid milk price equivalent to condensary prices which they refused and instead have organized the Tuscola "Milk Products Company". This company intends to purchase or build a small plant in Tuscola village where they will be able to make butter, cheese, sell sweet cream or whole milk as market conditions warrant.

The Cass City Calf Club held their last drawing Saturday at Cass City. This year's members getting Holstein calves are Ernest Goodall, Arlan Hartwick, Clare Carpenter, Arthur Battel, Watson Spaven, Maynard McConkey, Ralph McFavish and Norman Carpenter. Charles Bigelow will have a Hereford calf. Willis Campbell, Agricultural Teacher of the Cass City High School, will again act as local leader and the Cass City State Bank is again financing the club members.

At its session this week (April 1924) the County Board of Supervisors voted 16 to 7 to have Tuscola county placed on the list of counties in which dairy cattle are to be tested for tuberculosis and all infected cows eliminated. Serving on the Agricultural Extension Committee at that time were Hascall, Noble and Osborn. W. R. Kirk of Fairgrove served as Board chairman.

KC's initiate 37 candidates Sunday

The Bay City Knights of Columbus Council 414 was host at the district initiation Sunday, Nov. 12, in their new building in Bay City.

Participating councils were Linwood, Auburn, Bay City St. Stephens, Essexville and Caro. Thirty-seven candidates were initiated and dinner was served after initiation.

Attending from Caro Council were John Koepf, L. J. Dillon, Harlan Stock, Alex Cherniawski, Paul Megge and Lawrence Wood.

Speakers were Earl E. Smith, State Advocate, and Walter Graveline, Boysville Diocese chairman. District Deputy Daniel Piotrowski was toastmaster.

Milligan serves Ferris fellows

Alan Milligan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Milligan of Cass City, is now serving as a resident assistant in one of the 22 dormitories at Ferris State College, Big Rapids.

Duties of a resident assistant include that of guidance and aid to fellow students, especially those new to college, along with a responsibility to assure that conditions conducive to study exist in his particular assigned section of the residence hall.

One For The Road

Now hear views of anti-pill faction

By Dan Marlowe

It seems that there is hope yet for the human race, because in reaction to the Pill, a group out in California has formed The Unplanned Parenthood Association.

"We feel that we're a necessary response to such groups as The League for Total Birth Control," says Mr. William G. Mackenzie, the group's founder. "There are too many militantly do-good organizations in the world which seem dedicated to solving permanently the world's problems within a single generation. Our aim is simple: to avoid the possibility of the elimination of the human race."

"And who can deny the force of our program?" Mr. Mackenzie asks rhetorically. "For ages, Unplanned Parenthood was all that preserved the species. For a majority of the population Unplanned Parenthood was a way of life until very recently. Surveys show that even today 85% of those alive are the results of 'happy accidents', or to put it another way, we are here as the result of misplaced confidence in the time of the month, excess of emotion over caution, or one too many cocktail parties."

"Unplanned Parenthood hits right at the heart of the problem of the diminishing species," Mr. Mackenzie says earnestly. "It acts as a stimulant to marriage, possibly the greatest, and as a preservative of marriage. We all know that it's the children who keep many mothers and fathers married."

Some mothers and fathers, indeed, may even be married to each other?

"We have no statistics on that. The thing that some of us are unable to understand," Mr. Mackenzie continues, "is that today Unplanned Parenthood is so roundly condemned and widely abhorred. The typical husband's response to any hint of the subject, in fact, can be summed up in a single word: 'Goodgriefyou'rewhat?!'"

"This is because so little effort has been devoted in recent years to promoting Unplanned Parenthood, we feel," Mr. Mackenzie goes on. "On an organized basis, that is. We believe that we're filling a vacuum. We expect to promote our group until it has a highly desirable image. We are now preparing slogans for a billboard campaign which will extoll the virtues of our stand, slogans such as 'A Real Life-saver!' and 'Watch Us Grow!' And we're prepared to be totally ecumenical in our membership."

Asked to comment upon the reaction of the birth control groups to his organization, Mr. Mackenzie is more than willing. "We're shaking them up," he says cheerfully. "After all, when we get the message across that it's more fun to step on the accelerator without worrying whether the light is red or green, who's going to stop us?"

Yes, indeed; it seems there's still hope for the human race.

Cut up those badly worn and torn turkish towels for polishing silver, brass, and copper articles about the house.

Tells of behavior theory

Dr. Margaret Jacobson recently detailed a theory for behavior based on human needs when she spoke in Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties.

Using a system devised by A. H. Maslow, Dr. Jacobson described the hierarchy of basic human needs which motivate individual and group behavior.

The physiological and survival needs are strong motivators and must be met first of all.

Next come the safety and security needs, the love needs, the esteem needs, and the selfactualizing needs. This latter need involves becoming the best self one is capable of being.

Dr. Jacobson pointed out that many of us fail to reach the highest level - because of using up all of our energy to meet needs at a lower level.

"The needs are neither isolated nor self contained", claims the specialist, "but it is believed that one usually cannot move from a lower level to a higher level unless one has some minimum satisfaction on the lower level."

Following Dr. Jacobson's presentation, some 1000 Extension study group members and others will learn about this and other aspects of social-psychological development from leader-teachers who heard the Michigan State University Cooperative Extension Service family life specialist.

Dr. Jacobson will return to the Thumb during the first week in January to discuss "Family Values". Interested persons may contact home economists Judith Schroeter or Ann Ross at the Extension offices for details of the lesson on Values.

Plan proposed to minimize Michigan's court problems

Michigan judges could be selected with a minimum of political involvement under a "Michigan Plan" amendment to the 1963 State Constitution proposed by a citizens' group. Patterned after the "Missouri Plan," now used in 12 states, the proposal calls for judicial candidates to be nominated by a bi-partisan panel of lawyers and laymen.

Such plans call for seven panel members: three attorneys appointed by the state bar association; three citizens appointed by the governor; and a judge who serves as chairman. When a vacancy occurs on the bench, this panel screens possible replacements then puts forward a slate of three or more whom it considers the best qualified candidates. The governor fills the position from the recommended slate.

The appointed judge serves for three years. He is then required to stand for election on his record only and without opposition. For example, voters in Missouri are confronted with this simple judicial ballot: "Shall Judge X of the Blank Court of Missouri be retained in office? YES, NO (scratch one)."

Before each election, lawyers conduct a poll within their profession on the candidates' qualifications for retention. Results receive wide publicity in local news media. Newspapers also publish biographies, record of reversals, and conduct in office.

Voters then decide whether to retain the judge on the basis of qualification and performance rather than popularity, political activity or a famous last-name.

If retained by voters, the judge serves until he dies, retires or resigns. If voters do not approve his tenure, another slate of candidates is offered by the panel and another three-year appointment is made by the governor.

Coupled with the proposal for bench selections is machinery for removing or disciplining judges for misconduct or malfeasance in office. A commission is established to investigate complaints about the courts at all levels. Upon recommendation by the commission, the Supreme Court may hold a public hearing and remove a judge.

Any attorney, public official, litigant or private citizen can report a judge for a disability or dereliction. If the commission staff finds that the complaint has merit, it immediately investigates.

Such a program has been working well in California since 1960. Called the Commission on Judicial Qualifications, the group there is composed of five judges, two laymen and two lawyers. In seven years of existence, the commission has investigated more than 400 complaints, induced 30 judges to resign or quietly retire and recommended one removal.

Resignations and retirements have strengthened the courts, but the power of investigation is also a prod and stimulus to judges to conduct themselves as the office demands.

Michigan needs such a program as now exists in Missouri and California, the citizens' group feels. Sponsored by the Michigan Citizens' Committee for Judicial Selection and Tenure, the League of Women Voters of Michigan, and the American Judicature Society, the group will attempt to obtain 350,000 signatures on petitions by next June to get the proposal before voters in the November, 1968, election.

At a recent conference in Grand Rapids the citizens' committee pointed out that all state judges except the Wayne County District Court Judge are elected by popular vote.

Edward L. Cushman, conference chairman, said, "If we are going to attract the high quality of judges I know our state can produce, we have to assure our judicial candidates that they won't be knocked around like a political football every six or eight years."

****

An editorial in the Kansas City Star sums up the proved benefits of such a plan: "A judge doesn't have to borrow and spend money to conduct a campaign. He is not forced to make political promises to men who control votes. He does not have to answer to a political boss, nor does he need to accept campaign contributions from lawyers who will practice in his court. It is by far the best plan yet devised to keep the bench out of partisan campaigns."

The citizens' committee said it will enlist "maximum participation" by individual citizens and organizations throughout the state to support the enactment of the proposed constitutional amendment.
