FROM THE ditor's Comer

Nearly all of you at one time or another have been exposed to the TV and movie version of the young reporter buried in the small town and just dying to get to the big city daily where the real newsman and the action is.

Four years ago the Chronicle had one of the big city staffers working for 10 weeks while the Free Press was on strike. He is now a regular bylined writer .most recently covering the auto strikes.

He recently helped us out with information for a church project for my wife by supplying some information from the Free Press' morgue.

One paragraph in a personal letter included with the requested information read: "The ten weeks I spent with you people on the Chronicle are still among the best of times I have had here in Michigan these past four years. My best regards to all who might remember."

Not everyone feels like Stan Putnam does, but a good many people in every occupation would be in communities like Cass City if the job opportunities were available.

A lot of cold, hard, tedious work goes into the traditional Thanksgiving dinner. The scene is a family of four gathered with bowed heads around a table ladened with food but somebody had to prepare all those goodies, especially the fowl in the

Oh, sure, everybody knows mom or grandmother works hard to cook the turkey, duck or other delicacy that highlights a holiday feast but no doubt she stuffed the store-bought with already prepared stuffing from a box. She also baked the frozen pies or opened the can of plum pudding for Three or more decades ago, it was father who went out in the cold and ran down the biggest of the flock he had carefully fed for weeks ahead of time and with his sharpened axe cut off the fowl's head on a block of wood at the woodpile. It would be hard to find a man today who gets his family's Thanksgiving meat in such a manner. Who would believe it of a woman? There is one woman out on East Kelly Road who has been doing that sort of thing more than 20 years, She is Mrs. Lillian Otulakowski, a five-foot. 135-pound, bundle of seemingly boundless energy who speaks with a delightful accent almost Donning a heavy shirt, snow boots and scarf, she went out to the geese yard to hook one of the honking, noisy birds that seemed to know his head was destined for the knife. It looked like an easy task for her to get her crook around the leg of an 11-pounder. It was for potential customer but Mrs. Otulakowski said that she keeps one or more in her freezer to cook for her children when they come to visit,

Lillian Gorecki was born in Oboré, Poland, near the Roiurze monastery and came to the United States in the year 1912 with a younger sister and two brothers. When asked the year of her birth, she turned her face away in hiding and waved her hand in a gesture of 'no' and then answered, "I will tell you but YOU can't tell it."

Again waving her hand, this time in a wide circle, she said, "All my neighbors for miles and miles around know me and some want to know how old I am, I won't tell them so we can't put it in the paper." The hours she keeps and the work she accomplishes are enough for any woman 20 years her

The four have kept in close touch all through the years and all lived in Detroit until the Otulakowskis moved to Tuscola county in 1944. Committee set to boost new college plans

Another step towards a second vote for a Thumb Area Community College was taken Thursday evening when a new steering committee was organized in a meeting held at Bad Axe.

The new committee is composed of both educators and citizens of the community. The previous steering committee was composed of educators only and was a larger group than 10-member committee named Thursday.

The committee includes the intermediate school district superintendents of Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties; Supt. K. William Pietscher, Bad Axe; Supt. Asa Fleck, Deckerville; William Snoddon, Sandusky; George Frye, Vassar; W. E. Walpole, Cass City, and William Ruppel and H. Dale Cubitt, both of Bad Axe.

Officers named by the committee were: Chairman, Pietscher; vice-chairman, Cubitt, and secretary, Fleck.

The committee issued a request to the citizens' group to re-study the college proposal and to make changes to strengthen the proposal before returning it to the intermediate board of educations involved.

The boards would then submit the new proposal to the State Board of Education and ask for authorization to hold the election.

County license bureau fees, hours explained

"Many people appear baffled about driver's license fees," said Deputy Helen Watson of the Tuscola county license bureau.

The change took effect October 1 and costs have increased 50¢ except for duplicates and corrections.

The new rates are: original operator's license, $6.00; renewals, $4.50, and chauffeur's license, $4.00. Duplicates remained at $1,50 and corrections, 50¢.

Between 200 and 250 driver's licenses or renewals are issued each week by the local bureau. The office is open from 8:30 to 12:00 noon every Saturday, said Mrs. Watson, but for renewals only. Many teenagers go to the office on Saturdays expecting to get their first license and are disappointed to learn that rules established by the Secretary of State will not allow their obtaining one.

New yule trim set for village

All new decorations are scheduled to be erected on Main Street the week end of Nov. 30 by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce and the village, Chamber President Dick Drews announced this week.

The decorations are slated to arrive any day now and will include a new decoration for the Seeger-Main Street square and new wrappings for the utility poles in the business district. The decorations for the main intersection will include a large candle and will be changed from any previous decorations. The wrappings are also new.

Present plans call for the Chamber to add to the decorations as money becomes avail-If funds are available this

There will be no charge for services rendered at the Clinic.

Clerk swamped by auditor's copy requests

The Tuscola County Clerk and his staff had additional work this week in connection with a request by state auditors for detailed information covering expenditures of the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility.

The request necessitated searching the files in the Clerk's office and making copies of every warrant, numinvoice and icelled ber, check relative to each new item of moveable equipment installed in the county facility since the beginning date of its construc-

RETAIL DIVISION

Meanwhile, members of the retail division of the Chamber announced plans for the Christmas season. A money drawing will be held every Saturday afternoon when $50 will be given away if the ticket holder is present. $25 will be given if the winner is not present. Every Saturday afternoon the traditional free movies will be shown for children 12 and under. The free shows start Saturday, Nov. 25, with the final show slated Dec. 23.

Another traditional kick-off is the pre-Christmas shopping edition of Cass City merchants. This week the annual shopping edition of the Chronicle lists Christmas specials and gift ideas for every member of the family.

SPORTS FANS!

By H. M. Bulen

Here's a football oddity about Ohio State, . . Did you know that, oddly enough, Ohio State has not played a football game against any other college from Ohio for more than 30 years! . .Last time that Ohio State played another team from Chio was way back in 1934!

Did you know that five of today's big league pro football teams had different nicknames when they first started?. . . The Washington Redskins original nickname was Braves. . . The Chicago Bears' first nickname was Staleys because they were sponsored by the Staley Starch Co., of Decatur, Ill. . . The New York Jets started as the Titans. . . The Kansas City Chiefs' franchise originally was in Dallas where the team's nickname was Texans. . .And the Pittsburgh Steelers began in 1933 as the Pirates and didn't become known as the Steelers until 1940.

Only one college in history has ever won all of football's major bowl games -- the Rose, Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Gator Bowls. . . Can you guess which college this is?. . . The only school that's turned this trick is Georgia Tech.

plants of all kinds. "I love to grow flowers and I love music and people," she said. She watches television in the evening "but not until the work is done." In the spring she spends hours gathering morels and in the fall she looks for the wood mushroom. Explaining three different ways to cook mushrooms led to cooking in general and this prompted her daughter Lilly to say, "Mother, tell how you make czarnina." At first, she kept saying, "You take the duck itself and cook it." Finally, after a lot of questioning, she revealed that the duck's blood was the basis of the dish she was describing.

Her daughter and two youngsters were spending the day and Lilly was helping her mother dress ducks. Lilly said, "If you didn't know what czarnina was made from, you would be like the neighbor that ate it here one time." He had been invited to dinner and was served czarnina. After consuming two bowls of the soup and about to allow himself to be persuaded to accept a third, he said to Mrs. Otulakowski, "Lilly, I don't know how you make this but it is the best soup I ever tasted." She then told him it was 'blood soup' and the man gently laid his spoon beside his plate and said, "It was wonderful but no more thank

Dear Mister Editor: The fellers at the country store Saturday night was gitting the benefit of some of Ed Doolittle's wisdum. He reported a expert in the U.S. Department of Commerce had figgered they was putting out too much fancy language from the various Guvernment agencies. He said it was running at about 1.6 cents a word at the present time. Farthermore, said Ed, some Congressman from Illinois was advocating they set up a school fer teaching Guvernment employees how to write simple English folks could understand. This Congressman claimed it would not only help the "image of Guvernment bureaus* but would also cut down on the "cost per word.

This feller, said Ed, had give out a statement he had saw from the U.S. Department on how to git better race relations. Ed brung the statement along to the meeting, Mister Editor, and I copied it down fer your readers. It says:

"Action-oriented orchestration of innovative inputs, generated by escalation of meaningful dialogue, focusing on multilinked problem - complexes, can maximize the vital thrust toward a nonalienated and viable urban infrastructure."

W. Campbell Elementary

The kindergarteners met some real live turkeys last week! They all took a trip to Mr. Iseler's turkey farm. It was cold and nippy, but with the excitement of doing something different, they didn't seem to notice it.

In the kindergarten room, many signs of Indians can be found - Indian drums, Indian bands, and Indian pa-

Mrs. Howarth's third grade room is planning a puppet play and an Indian play. They are also making paper sack turkeys.

Mrs. Frederick's and Mrs. Kuntz's third grade class also took a trip last week. They went to Sommer's bakery. They have been studying about foods in their social studies class and were pleased to see some of the things they've been learning about. They were also very delighted about the treat they received before leaving the bakery.

"The Best Gift in the Basket" turkeys out of paper sacks and is a Thanksgiving play being presented by the following fourth graders, to their classmates: Mari Elliot, Mary Stilson, Lauren Althaver, Diane Guinther, and Bryan Turner.

What ever happened to the Pilgrims?! All you ever hear about in connection with Thanksgiving any more is turkeys and Indians! Without the Pilgrims there probably wouldn't have been a first Thanksgiving! It was their idea to thank the Lord for their blessings, and they were the ones that got the turkeys in the act. Why, if it weren't for the Pilgrims, we probably wouldn't even associate turkeys with Thanksgiving!

C. C. Jr. High

All last week the eighth graders were planning for their first Junior High dance, which was held Friday, Nov. 17, 7:00 p. m. to 10 p. m. A lot of students attended, and for some it probably was their first

After school Monday the varsity football players had a meeting, which was probably their last for this year.

At 9:00 a. m. morning, Bonnie Heilig, Linda Bartle, JoAnn Yens, Janet Asher, and Mary Doerr left for Saginaw to visit the Saginaw Business Institute. They were shown the different classrooms and the girls' dorm. They returned about one that after-

Tuesday afternoon, during school, Mrs. Starmann's student librarians went to Akron-Fairgrove to a library conference. Those attending the conference were: Kaye Spencer, Lorraine Smith, Vivian Englehart, Muriel Nicol, Ellen Morgan, Judy Marshall, and Eric Approximately 200 student librarians from different schools attended. Talks were given by the district officers, a film was shown, and a band was present for the entertainment. After dinner, the students listened to a book review.

On the way home, between Caro and Cass City, the students from C.C. were caught in a "blinding" snow storm and didn't know which end was up! Wednesday, Anne Bulen, Dave Sherrard, Kally Pine, Fred Ryan, and Mary Sue Burns, left for Marlette at 9:00 a.m. for the monthly "Thumb B" student council meeting. Wednesday night the debate team had a practice debate. CLUB NEWS

Well, the GAA had its last two practices last week, on Tuesday and Thursday at 8 p. m. A lot of girls turned out for these last couple meetings, and we have five times, with eleven on a team. Our teamwork has improved a lot - I hope it shows at Lakers Tuesday, Nov. 21!! The newspaper is still in need of typists. This drawback is really slowing them down.

SWEAT Shirts TID BITS --Recently the Algebra H

classes took a test on rational numbers. The results were really sad news, so Mr. Bass gave the students another chance. But. . . .! It wasn't as nice as you may think! He didn't tell them the scores of their first test. They could either take the new test or keep their old score. So if you thought you did well on the first test, you wouldn't take the second, therefore keeping your old score, but if you thought you did poorly on the first test, you wrote the second test and took that score no matter what. The sad part is, not very many were very good

Even though we haven't had too much snow, last week buses 19, 23, and 15 were late. Riding a bus does have its good points! The JV basketball players

Only three keglers were able to post "200" scores. D. Wallace hit 224, Willy 212 and M. Helwig 202.

Wallace still leads the league with a 620 series and single game of 247. Team scoring honors are held by Walbro with a 2706 series and L & S Standard Service holds down the single game spot with 965.

Dick Hampshire subbing for Harris increased his single game scoring by two pins each as he rolled 145-147-149.

Locking barn after horse is stolen

By Dan Marlowe

The newspapers are still busily furnishing plots for suspense writers.

There was the recent story about the successful $670,000 gold bullion robbery in Canada. This one had all the fictional elements of the Big Caper. It was so carefully planned and so slickly executed that it went undetected for more than two hours. Three airline employees were unloading a shipment of 12 wooden crates of ingots from a Transair plane for transfer to an Air Canada plane at the Winnipeg International Airport when an Air Canada dock. Two men--a "slim" youth and his "beefy" associate, both wearing white coveralls and Air Canada parkas--presented properly filled out freight documents, loaded the gold onto their truck, and drove away. The whole affair didn't take five minutes, and nobody paid them any attention.

Truck pulled into the loading

The two men didn't drive the truck very far, merely to an unused airstrip near the old terminal building at the airport, where they transferred the wooden crates of gold bullion to another vehicle. What vehicle? No one knows. Another truck, possibly. An airperhaps. Then they abandoned the Air Canada truck, and in the best fashion of the fictional Big Caper, disappeared into thin air. Police from the suburb of St. James, where the airport is located, joined with the Winnipeg city police and the Royal Canadian Mounties in the immediately launched investigation, but no agency reported any newsworthy progress. U.S. Customs authorities and the FBI were also alerted on the theory that the predators might have headed into the United States with the gold, A major highway links Winnipeg and the U. S. border, only 60 miles away, where it meets Interstate Route 29 at the Minnesota-North Dakota Line.

Authorities admitted that with a two hour head start the bullion appropriators might well have been across the border before hastily implemented road blocks and carand-truck searches were instituted. They admitted also that if the bullion transfer had actually been made to an airplane that the pair could have been 500 miles away at the time the loss was discovered.

All branches of the Canadian government took a particularly dim view of this form of free enterprise because the ingot shipment was being flown from mines at Red Lake in northern Ontario to the Canadian mint at Ottawa.

Gold bullion is hardly the most negotiable of the currencies of the world, but the brains which could plan the caper in the first place could undoubtedly provide for its conversion to something which spent a bit more easily.

Meantime new and stringent transfer-of-merchandise procedures have been instituted at all Canadian airports, in another classic instance of locking the barn after the horse has vanished.

WHY NOT MORE BEEF FEED-This question has been asked off and on many times since I came to Tuscola county, and each time I have never really been able to come up with a common concrete answer. Here we have all the potential assets for feeding many more beef cattle. We have surplus corn, capabilities for producing high yields of corn silage, unused barns, barnyard and winter labor supply.

The answer is not always a case of feed, housing or labor, so maybe the closest summation is that there is no real desire, want, or need to go into a beef feeding enterprise. If this is the broad answer then the question is, "Why is there no desire, want or need?"

From comments received, I believe one or a combination of the following facts retard the growth of our county's beef feeding program.

First, our county's agriculture is not oriented to beef feeding enterprises and especially to the annual 365-day operations we generally associate as necessary for success. Beef feeding can be a slack-seasononly operation. Second, cash crop operations have been developed to such a specialty that livestock programs of any type have not heen included generally for at least one generation. Therefore, it is not only difficult to begin a livestock enterprise again but, also the desire to learn all over, increase indebtedness, take the risk or change the cropping program to produce the feed necessary.

A third possible reason which we do not outwardly acknowledge as preventing beef feeding enterprise developments is the closeness to and availability of off-farm jobs in near industrial

Perhaps this third idea is the real reason after all, because without this source of off-farm employment more of our farm operators would be supplementing beef feeding for these off-farm jobs.

I once heard an economist say that a farm operator who relies on off-farm income to meet his economic needs is facing a certain end to his farming business. Very seldom do we see a person working off the farm as a means to acquire sufficient equity to go into a full-time farm business. The opposite is the usual procedure with the farm business taking the back seat. Thus growth needed in the business will not occur and the business becomes a hobby or dies, In agricultural areas where industrial facilities are not present, farm operators must concentrate on farming as their sole support. They are forced

By Don Kebler to change, improve, make necessary growth, develop and keep their business. They don't have other sources of income and still farm. However, we do have this source of outside income so many farm operators avail themselves to them and don't use their offseason farm labor supply for extra farm business activities. To go into a winter beef feeding enterprise one needs to like beef and remember it takes one ton of corn silage plus 75 pounds of ground shelled corn to produce 100 pounds of beef of grade Good, Another way to figure this is that one acre of 95 to 100 bushel shelled corn per acre yields can finish 2 1/2 to 3 head of beef per acre. This is about 1600# of beef on about $85 per acre cost in feed produced. For operators who have mow barns, not now being used for livestock feed storage and housing, about the only new improvements needed are sliage storage and feeding equipment to put them into a beef feeding program. One can safely pay off and realize a profit from a beef feeding program if his building, machinery, equipment, etc. initial costs are $75 per head fed or less. Another way to look at this is that over a 10-year period of time a beef feeder can figure on 20 and 30 dollars income per head feed above all cash costs and asset charges. This is providing he grows his own corn, feeds it as silage and ground shelled corn, buys and sells wisely and doesn't jump in and out of the beef feeding business.

If you are not raising corn, extra machinery will be needed but you may be able to make more beef dollar profits than bean, barley or oats dollars by growing corn instead and selling the corn in the form of beef. Besides this, corn stalks or the manure produced from corn silage feeding builds soil tilth, structure and fer-tility. Small grains and beans alone will not.

As a descendant of John Carver, who sailed on the Mayflower in 1620, to Rev. David Altman, pastor of the Novesta Church of Christ, Thanksgiving has a personal quality. in the near future. The hassle at Northern Michigan University where some students and some faculty people refused to attend classes to demonstrate their objection to an administration decision is only one feather in a big of controversy. The "strike" dissipated in the face of an apparent not-so-empty threat from a legislative committee to close down the university altogether.

issue. It must be dealt with

Michigan Miv or

Teachers' strikes at the local level made a serious problem earlier this fall. Those are settled now. But another fall is coming. elimination of local school boards is the aim of one militant teacher union. According to Thomas Hill, Michigan Federation of Teachers, the local boards serve no function and should be destroyed. Since there is bound to be those who disagree violently with this concept, it is possible a battle can take place that will shake many communities to the roots.

Parents and taxpayers might take new interest in the idea that the school system really belongs to them because it is their children who are being educated and it is they who pay the bills.

If they insist on expressing this concern and control through a local school board of elected representatives, they might resist to great degree the thought that any group of employes should take over the responsibility of running the local school.

Teacher organizations hold that they have the student's interest at heart just as much as parents do; and that they are in the best position to know what will help students most, This may be true, but there are those who are concerned the teachers will help themselves too much in the process.

The record of some school boards supports the position the militant teachers take. Many to modernize the system; certainly slow to pay teachers salaries a community can be proud of. Some have been slow to demand teaching of a quality they can be proud of too.

A more moderate position is taken by Michigan Education Association, an older, larger organization than the Federation. MEA wants professional educators to have a good deal more control of the system, but not at the expense of eliminating the boards. The official MEA position is that their members will obey laws in their battles with school boards and others. The official position of MFT is that they will disregard laws which interfere with their goals.

Success of teachers at the local level in recent strikes has not been lost on some college professors. It can be expected that some of these might decide the strike is the best way to win the points they think are justified.

The issue may not be resolved in the near future, but it will be live, hazardous and important. If pressures connected with the school issue can develop a more basic interest among the parents and taxpayers, if the teachers are not too unreasonable or too adamant in their demands, it is possible a better education will result for young people of the state.

FRUIT OF THE VINE

A gallant effort to thrive is underway by a relatively small segment of Michigan farmers. Even though Michigan is third in the production of wine, it is a long way behind California and New York. Grape growers are fighting to gain the market for their product they think it deserves.

In March, 1966, after prodding from a young MSU Ph.D., Sigmund H. Schanderl, the Michigan Wine Institute was revitalized. Dr. Schanderl had come from California where he was active in wine production and was anxious to build both the quality of Michigan's wine and a market. Frank Koval was named to head the Institute which set up headquarters in Lansing.

Snob appeal of imported wines is now the biggest problem the Michigan product faces. Michigan-produced wine can be sold for less because of a tax differential of 4¢ per gallon compared to 50¢ for imported wine, and because transportation costs are lower.

Koval has held wine tastings where people rated unlabeled wines. In some instances, he reports, the Michigan-produced wine was rated best.

There is much room for progress. Per capita consumption of wine in Michigan has been increasing, but sales of Michigan-produced wine has not increased accordingly,

So grape growers in southwest Michigan, where soil and climate conditions are right for the hybrid plants which produce the finest wines, are joining in this new campaign to increase acceptance of their product.

He found his man here in Cass City

By Marion Hostetler

This week I received two interesting and unexpected pieces of mail. One was from an otherwise unnamed "Ypsilanti Reader" who sent the front page of the Huron Valley Ad-visor (*A happy collection of ads and ends"). The cover girl was a Golden Burmese cat, and the caption indicated that National lanti Reader thought I'd be outraged at the silliness of devoting a week to cats, or whether he thought I was such a cat lover that I'd be happy about it. I have tried to make it clear that it's our daughter Betsy who is the cat lover in the family -- not myself.

Or maybe Y. R. thought I'd be interested in the ad on the other side of the sheet--about engagement rings "shaped to fit her finger better." There was a big picture of a sleeklooking finger-shaped diamond ring, which, with a matching wedding ring, cost only $200 a set. It looked quite impressive. . . and then I noticed in small print on the other side of the ad: "Diamonds enlarged to show detail." In other words, the kind of ring you can really buy for $200 contains a stone that's considerably smaller than the one in the picture.

Dear Y. R.: You gotta watch those city slickers.

The other mail was from Mrs. Scott Cheeseman of Salt Lake City, a family friend for lo, these many years. She sen back all the Christmas cards we had sent her since 1943. She said she had enjoyed receiving them, and she had enjoyed saving them, and now she would like to give them to one of our grandchildren.

We have put a family picture on our cards nearly every year Cat Week began on Nov. 5. since we were married. We I don't know whether Ypsi- saved a set for each of our children, but certainly not for the grandchildren, so Cora's gesture was much appreciated.

We began doing this when our first child was six months old. It looks as if Margaret was holding up a greeting card much larger than she was. Actually, the card was firmly anchored to the floor, and she was clutching the edge of it to keep from falling down.

A later card showed the children hanging letters on a clothesline to spell Merry Christmas. Another time they were lighting a candle, and I drew curls of smoke on the negative so as to spell "Christmas Greetings." The most professional looking one I took shortly after buying a Voigtlander camera that took 9 x 12 cm. sheet film. It shows three oldest gathered our around a manger, costumed as Mary, Joseph, and a shepherd. So much loving care went into the production of these cards that I thought everybody would like to see them, so I asked our editor what he thought about printing a selection of them in the Chronicle. He gently reminded me that other readers would not have any of the emotional involvement which makes them so interesting to me. But if you have time to stop at the house, we'll be glad to show them to you.

Several days ago John Hoffman, a Ferris State College student whose home is in Pontiac, was hitchhiking with a friend of his. A stranger gave them a ride, and after he had let them out of the car John realized that he had left a traveling case in the back seat.

He had learned from their conversation that the driver lived in Cass City, that he had been attending a coaching clinic at MSU, and that he had lived in Africa for a while. With those clues to go by, John asked his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Bedford of Elkton, to see whether they could locate the driver and the case. They drove to Cass City one afternoon and learned that the coach from Africa could be other than Richard Scoville. It didn't take long to locate him, and they were happy to find that he did indeed have the case. While they were here the Bedfords stopped at one of our excellent bakeries and did some Christmas shopping at one of our well-stocked gift shops. Best of all, these longtime friends of ours stopped for a good visit at our house, So John's bad luck was our good ****

The census bureau says the population of the United States reached 200,000,000 at 11 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 20 . . . and it's still growing.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert J. Balwinski are making their home at 7511 DeVries Dr., Lorton, Va., following their marriage Oct. 7.

Mrs. Balwinski is the former Vera Mae Wright of Alexandria, Va., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Wright of Cass City. The groom is the son of Mrs. Theodore Balwinski of Bay City and the late Mr. Balwinski.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Les J. Fullencamp at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Falls Church, Va., at 11 o'clock. The altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and white mums.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride approached the altar wearing a slender column of silk faille in an arched Empire line gown, accented with Venice motifs on the three quarter - length sleeves and bodice. The removable watteau chapel train was scalloped and trimmed in Venice motifs. Her matching silk faille headpiece of roses and a small bow trimmed in seed pearls held her fingertip silk illusion veil. She carried a cascade of white roses. Mrs. Carolyn J. Makin of Alexandria, Va., matron of honwore a moss green silk saki A-line gown, with candlelight bodice and bell sleeves with matching veil and flowered moss green headpiece. She carried a cascade of bronze daisy pompons and yellow spider mums.

Cecil Booth of Woodbridge, Va., friend of the groom, served as best man.

Ushers were John Finn of Flushing, Mich., and Terrance Cavanaugh of Bay City, brothers-in-law of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a brown lace over beige taffeta dress with matching accessories and a corsage of yellow carnations.

The groom's mother chose a turquoise crepe and lace dress with brown accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

A reception buffet was held at the Village House, Cypress Room, for some 60 guests. For her going-away out-fit, the bride chose a lime green coat and dress ensemble with brown accessories and a corsage of white roses from her bouquet.

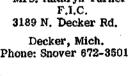

The couple left on their honeymoon to tour the Eastern Seaboard.
