After closed door parley

Grid coach Bifoss fired by board

After meeting in a closed door parley Monday night following the regular meeting open to the press and public, the Cass City School Board in a unanimous vote fired John Bifoss as head football coach at the school.

Bifoss refused to take the easy way out and resign. I was asked to resign, he said, but I would have known and so would have my kids that it really wasn't so.

I feel, he continued, that I did the best possible job with the material that was at my disposal. I gave my all and feel that I was doing my job.

I was fired because I wasn't winning, I guess. Cass City's 1968 football record was one win and one tie in nine games.

Coach Bifoss isn't sure just what his future plans will be except that he plans to continue coaching.

Whether or not it will be at Cass City will depend on the availability of coaching positions at other schools. Bifoss is a tenure teacher and can return to Cass City to teach if he desires and can also coach Junior Varsity and other teams.

Bifoss said that the new coach will take over a team that loses only five regulars and will be in a position to move up the Thumb B Conference standings.

In the open meeting of the board there was little business other than routine affairs.

At the request of the superintendent, Lyle Clarke, vocational director, attended the meeting and an attempt was made to change the vocational agriculture course.

Five recommendations of the State Department of Education were revealed to the board and Clarke was asked to comment on them.

He told the board that he hadn't seen the recommendations before coming to the meeting and was not in a position to comment.

He said that implementing the program would require money and additional time allotments for the instructor.

Basically, the plans call for:

- The establishment of land laboratories with experimental plots.

- A small nursery for practical experience in ornamental shrubs and experimental sod plots.

- Ornamental horticulture course added to the curriculum.
- Nature trail established in the woods next to the school.

Board members expressed interest in reviewing the program. Clarke was asked to study the suggestions and then report at the next board meeting with his recommendations concerning the proposals.

SUMMER BAND PROGRAM

The board approved a five or six week summer band program at a cost of $100 per week for 25 hours of instruction from Band Director William Ferguson.

Whether the parents, the school or both parents and school will pay the cost will not be determined until after the election for extra operating millage.

The school is still paying bills connected with the construction of the high school. The district is holding $20,000 final payment to the general contractor until a retaining wall is okayed and until the floor of the balcony of the gym is sanded level.

While the general contractor waits, Davaney Plumbing and Heating will receive $414.31 extra, the board decided, for the installation of three fire dampers in the ventilation system not in the original specifications.

Aleksink safe after emergency plane landing

"I was flying along and all of a sudden it quit! It's really happening!", thought Daniel Aleksink, 33-year-old Cass City student pilot, when his single engine plane began to balk.

"It died right down to nothing," he said. Aleksink was at 2,000 feet. Alone. "It was sort of a scary feeling," he said.

Alone with a balky, useless engine. It was Friday, Feb. 7, at 5:30 p.m. and he was four miles inland from Saginaw Bay and headed north from Tri-City Airport. As he neared the earth, his radio conked out.

Between an idling prop and his ability to glide the single engine craft using calculations based on a "glide ratio," he brought the craft to smooth landing. A smiling, happy Daniel Aleksink opened the cockpit door and got out.

Aleksink doesn't yet have his pilot's license for commercial flying. With 45 hours of flying, he is in training with Air Flite, his air school. School representatives praised him saying he did "a fine job of handling the situation."

Aleksink hasn't yet determined what malfunctioned in the engine. "It was definitely a starvation of fuel," he said. He reported it was about 25 degrees at the time.

Asked if he had second thoughts about flying, he said, "I love flying. . . safer than driving. . . only way to go" (to your airfield that is).

"The ice was smooth, but it could have been real choppy," he said. The Bay is largely aglaze, but in some places the ice is rough terrain. For Aleksink, however, the instinct of beginner's luck guided him to safety.

JOHN BIFOSS

FROM THE Editor's Corner

The gavel sounded for the final time Thursday and the last traces of a once thriving business dedicated to public service became a building for sale.

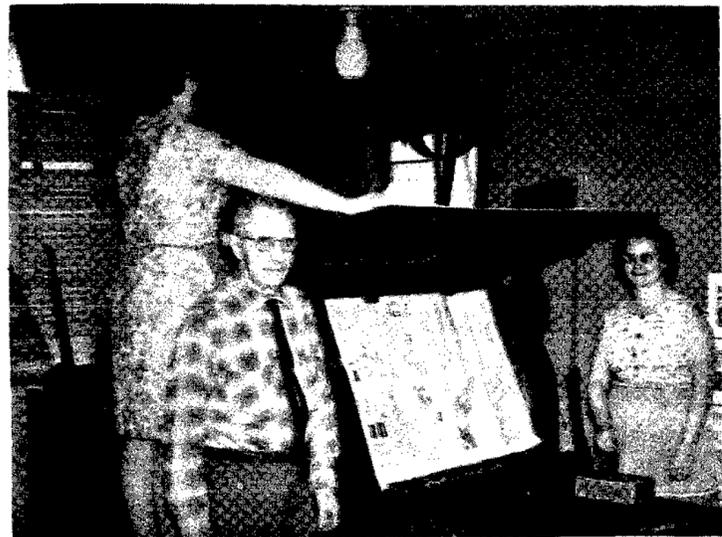

The personal property of the Cass City Hospital went on the auction block to satisfy creditors.

In a span covering 40 years, the hospital had cared for the needs of generations of Cass City area families.

Thursday afternoon and Friday trucks and cars carted away the hospital equipment, the office furniture and the moveable appliances. Late Friday night the building was semi-deserted.

One of the spectators at the financial bloodletting was Mrs. Bertha Hildinger.

Concluded on page three.

ANOTHER EDITION OF the Enterprise rolls off the press. Feeding the press is Mrs. Marguerite Caswell. Watching are Mrs. Dorothy Hudson and Leland Ensign.

A MIGHTY PRETTY VALENTINE . . . we mean the purebred Boxer puppies, of course. One of these pups is sure to go big with that certain someone who has everything. For these are not run of the mill canines, but registered Boxers worth over $125 each.

Holding the prizes is Brenda Wagner, 17, a senior at Cass City High School. She is the daughter of the Fred Wagners of Cass City.

Businessmen optimistic

Kingston Enterprise: no exposes, no worries

In today's high cost labor market there are very few newspapers in communities with 456 persons and fewer yet which are owned and operated by a woman.

An exception is the Kingston Enterprise, published by Mrs. Marguerite Caswell who has been at the helm of the 550 circulation weekly for a decade.

Mrs. Caswell never had a burning desire to get into publishing . . . to be an editor . . . a writer . . . and isn't the least bit concerned about printing an expose about Kingston, its people, its activities. They are my friends, she says simply.

Mrs. Caswell is in the newspaper business because "you have to make a living and you might just as well make it in your own home town."

Making a living in a paper as small as the Enterprise means that you do most of the work yourself and depend heavily on commercial printing or "job" work.

"We haven't been out of job work in five years," Mrs. Caswell said proudly.

But what about the long-term prospects for a newspaper in Kingston? Mrs. Caswell isn't

The Enterprise goes on today as much as it has throughout its 55 years of service to Kingston.

worried. She says that the paper hasn't changed too much since she took over a decade ago.

But while the Enterprise hasn't changed, Kingston and its business conditions have.

One of the changes, according to Robert Parker of Parker Brothers, an appliance and furniture store, is transportation enabling young families to stay in the Kingston community, yet drive to work outside the community. Parker claims business has jumped 50 to 100 per cent each of the five years he has owned the store.

Alfred Ballweg, Tuscola County Agricultural Agent, notes that farming in the eastern section of the county is diminishing, but that the area is showing a marked increase in small farms.

Ask $50,000 for defective car

Mr. and Mrs. Thaddeus T. Savicke have filed suit for $50,000 in Tuscola County Circuit Court against Ford Motor Company and Burton-Moore Ford, Inc., alleging negligence in the manufacture and maintenance of a 1967 Ford.

The Savicke's contend that after returning their car to the garage for maintenance work on the tie rod and steering mechanism, they later suffered injury, hardship, and loss of income as a result of an accident in which they contend a defective tie rod and steering mechanism to be the cause.

The accident occurred July 14, 1967 on M-81.

Kingstonites are also proud of Kingston Krome, a light industrial plant hiring 30 persons, and of the new high school presently under construction.

We passed a $1 1/4 million bond issue on the first try for our school, they are quick to remind visitors to the community.

There is a reason why the community is changing and the Enterprise isn't.

Mrs. Caswell stumbled into the publishing business, or, more accurately, married into it. She took over when her husband died in 1955; later buying out her father-in-law.

Today the Enterprise is truly a family operation. Mrs.

Dorothy Hudson, a sister, is the only other full time staff member. Their father, 72-year-old Leland Ensign, tinkers with the machinery and Art Caswell, 19, lends a hand when home from Central Michigan University.

The Enterprise goes on today much as it has throughout its 55 years of service to Kingston.

Mrs. Caswell predicts that it will continue just like it has.

I would like to see a change . . . have a little more time off from the business, she said, a little time away from the presses, a little time away from the reporting, a little time for relaxing.

But a little time off from a little paper is hard to come by.

25 prizes (count 'em) for queens in local contest

There are prizes galore waiting for 25 lucky ladies from the Cass City area in a contest announced this week by 25 merchants in the village.

The contest features a prize for the queen as selected in each of the participating stores on the basis of votes cast in the store.

In addition, a $25 bond waits for the queen of queens that will be selected from among the 25 store winners.

The contest starts today and is being held under the auspices of the Retail Division of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce.

Chairman Keith McConkey

said that there is nothing to buy and no obligation for going to one of the stores with "the hearts on the door" and voting for your favorite "queen."

A queen, McConkey explained, can be sister, daughter, mother, mother-in-law or grandmother . . . any woman who is 16 years or older.

The queens will be selected from among the entries at each store Friday, Feb. 28, at 4:30 p.m. It will not be necessary to be present to win.

Stores offering gifts where interested persons can register candidates are:

Talk of the Town, McConkey Jewelry and Gift Shop, Fort's, Bulen Motors, Ben Franklin Store, Cass City Chronicle, Thelma's Grocery, Wood Rexall, Cass City Oil and Gas and IGA Foodliner.

Completing the list of co-operating merchants are:

Erla's Food Center, Craft-Clara Lumber, Inc., Gamble Store, Auten Motors, Cass Theatre, Ryan's Men's Wear, Sommers' Bakery, Gross and O'Harris Meat Market, Kritzman's Inc., Albee Hardware and Furniture, Western Auto Associate Store, Schneberger TV, Appliance and Furniture, Mac & Scotty Drug Store, Cass City Floral and Thumb Appliance Center.

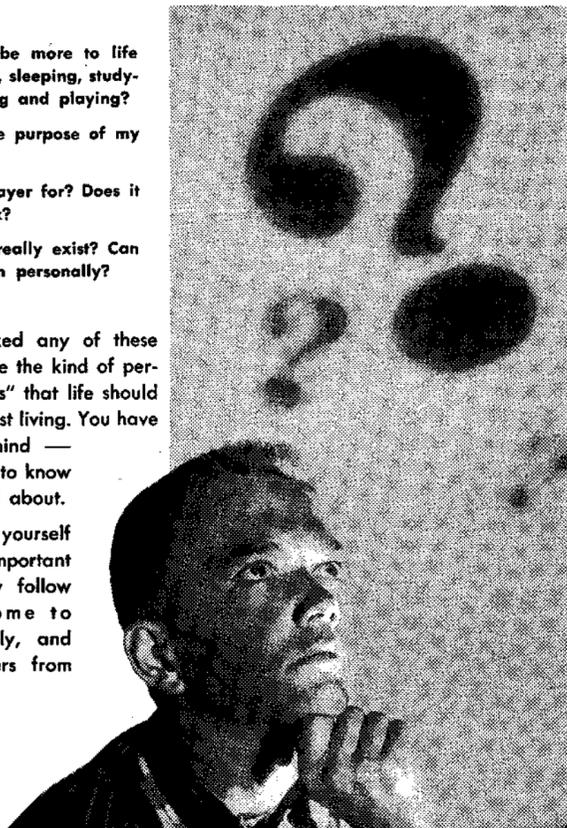

Your inquiring mind

CHECK THE FOLLOWING QUESTIONS THAT YOU MAY HAVE ASKED YOURSELF:

- () Can there be more to life than eating, sleeping, studying, working and playing?
- () What is the purpose of my life?
- () What is prayer for? Does it really work?
- () Does God really exist? Can I know Him personally?

If you checked any of these questions, you're the kind of person who "knows" that life should be more than just living. You have an inquiring mind — one that wants to know what life is all about.

You've asked yourself some pretty important questions. Now follow through. Come to church regularly, and get the answers from God.

Mrs. Gene A. Trisch

Sutton Methodist church was the setting for the 7:30 p.m. candlelight ceremony Saturday, Jan. 25, uniting Harriet Janice Gyurko and Gene Aaron Trisch in marriage. The church altar was decorated with baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and candles.
Mrs. Judy Titus was the organist and Mrs. Kathleen Putnam sang "I Love You Truly" and "The Wedding Prayer."
Rev. Willis E. Braun read the rites for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Gyurko of Caro and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Trisch of Caro.

phone operator. The groom is employed at Consumer's Power, Saginaw.

The bride wore a gown of ruffled val lace and peau satin featuring a raised neckline, long sleeves with ruffled cuffs and a fitted bodice complemented with Lilliputian satin buttons and a satin cummerbund. The flared A-line skirt fell to floor length with a removable satin tubular train of chapel length. A bonnet pillbox headdress held secure a bouffant veil of bridal mist illusion and she carried an arrangement of white sweatheart roses, ivy, streamers with lover's knots and a white Bible.

Approaching the altar in red chiffon velvet dresses, princess styled with white Venetian lace at the neckline and down the front panel of the skirts were Linda Sue Russell of Cass City, maid of honor, Carol Ann Gyurko of Caro, sister of the bride. The flower girl was Susan O'Dell of Caro, niece of the groom. Matching headdresses completed their ensembles and they carried white fur muffs.
Roger Allan Trisch, brother of the groom, was best man and groomsmen were Keith Beecher, both of Caro. Ushers were James Trisch and Gary Bennett of Caro. Jeffery O'Dell, nephew of the groom, was the ring bearer.

A rehearsal dinner was held at the home of the groom's parents.
Guests were greeted at a buffet dinner served in the church parlor immediately following the ceremony.
After they return from a week's trip to Niagara Falls and eastern states the couple will live at Caro, where the bride is employed as a telephone operator.

Rabbit tracks

BY JOHN HAIRE

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Residents living on South Oak away from the immediate business district have it made if they like it quiet at night. Wednesday after the light snow the road was completely barren of any sign of traffic at 8:30 a.m. My trail was the only break in the blanket of white that stretched from shoulder to shoulder of the street. A hunter would probably have called them hare tracks.

A pun is the lowest form of human wit.

In these days of naked women, lewd scenes and filth in movies, a story fit for family consumption still can pack 'em in.

"Hellfighters" starring John Wayne played to a full house at the Cass Saturday night and there was not an illicit assignation in it.

Could it be that saturation has been reached and the public feels that a nude Jane Fonda isn't much different than a nude Zsa Zsa Gabor?

Horace Eulen deserves his place on the school board. Not only does he watch over the school's fiscal and operating policies, but he also keeps a sharp eye on the superintendent and the spelling.

Honest now, could you spell deductible? In a card presentation prepared by the school to explain the need for more money the word was spelled deductible and sharp-eyed Horace caught it at once. . . and he was the only one who did.

Supt. Don Crouse just couldn't believe it until he looked it up in the dictionary.

Perhaps the first tenth of a mill of the extra operating millage should be for a special spelling course.

Sign me up!

Too little and too late. Regular readers will recall that the family, almost took the Turbo Jet train in Canada on a recent trip, but deferred the outing for a later date.

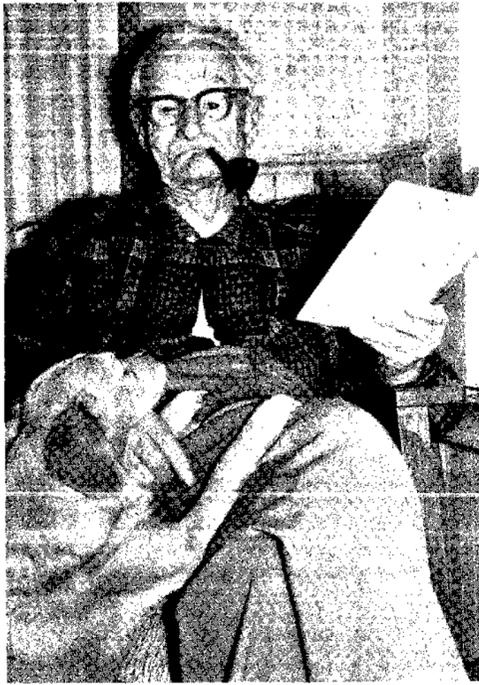

Dick Hampshire reports that he wrote to schedule a similar ride only to find that the train is no longer running.

That noise you hear on West Main Street is Rayford Thorpe grinding his teeth. A week ago there was little activity at Little's Funeral Home and the boss, his wife, Rayford and Lyle Richardson all were available.

This week the Littles are basking in Caracas, Richardson is gone and Thorpe is in charge.

But instead of waiting he's working, handling all the details of three funerals.

We plan to publish this nonsense on an irregular basis. Translated that means whenever the writers have the time and the paper has the space.

WILLIAM PENFOLD quietly sits reading, smoking, and thinking. But not for long; Feb. 23, a family party will honor his birthday. Feb. 26, he will be 100 years old.

Supervisors let bids for police cars, gas

Fiscal matters occupied the attention of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors Tuesday in the courthouse in Caro. The board granted contracts to Burton-Moore Ford, the low bidder at $5,090.00 each for three police cruisers for the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department. Low bidder for gasoline for the Sheriff's Department was Texaco at a cost of 16.4 per gallon for an estimated 15,000 gallons of gas monthly. Supervisors recified a $5,000 oversight in the budget for the Department of Social Services by granting $5,000 for child care. In previous years, the money was included as part of the department's over-all budget. Authorities decided to keep it separate this year. During the change in fiscal accounting procedure, the item was left from the budget. In other business, the supervisors reiterated a previous resolution asking for a State Police Post in the county and recognized the 50th anniversary of the American Legion. Chairman Harold Johnson proclaimed the week of March 15 as the one for the formal recognition of the Legion and asked "all citizens, business houses and organizations to join in commending the good works of this organization."

ORDINANCE NO. 68

AN ORDINANCE TO REGULATE THE USE OF SNOWMOBILES WITHIN THE VILLAGE OF CASS CITY AND TO PRESCRIBE PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION THEREOF.

The Village of Cass City ordains:

Section 1. No person shall operate a snowmobile on any street, alley, public right of way or municipally owned land within the Village of Cass City except in compliance with the following regulations:

(a) Snowmobiles shall not be driven in excess of 15 miles per hour within the Village of Cass City.

(b) Snowmobiles shall only be driven between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 10:00 p.m. on Sundays through Thursdays, and between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 11:00 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays.

(c) Snowmobiles shall only be driven on property owned or under the control of the snowmobile owner, on other privately owned property with the consent of the property owner, or on village streets and alleys.

(d) Snowmobiles operated on village streets shall be driven along the extreme right side of the street or roadway in the proper lane of traffic.

(e) When two or more snowmobiles are driven together on village streets, they shall be driven in single file.

(f) Snowmobiles shall not be driven on Main Street between Brooker Street and Ale Street, nor on Seeger Street between Garfield Street and Huron St. except for purposes of crossing said streets or for access to the nearest cross street.

(g) Snowmobiles may be operated in village parks or on other municipally owned property, and on all of Main and Seeger Streets within the Village of Cass City, during periods of emergency when so declared by the Village Chief of Police, when travel by conventional automotive equipment is not possible, and for special snowmobile events of limited duration which are conducted according to a prearranged schedule under permit from the Village Council.

Section 2. No person under 16 years of age shall operate a snowmobile within the Village of Cass City.

Section 3. No snowmobile shall be operated in the Village of Cass City unless it has at least 1 headlight, 1 taillight and adequate brakes capable of producing deceleration at 14 feet a second on level ground at a speed of 20 miles an hour.

Section 4. No person shall operate a snowmobile in the Village of Cass City:

(a) At a rate of speed greater than is reasonable and proper having due regard for conditions then existing.

(b) While under the influence of intoxicating liquor or narcotic drugs, barbitol or any derivative of barbitol.

(c) During the hours from 1/2 hour after sunset to 1/2 hour before sunrise without displaying a lighted headlight and a lighted taillight.

(d) Unless it is equipped with a muffler in good working order and in constant operation to prevent excessive or unusual noise and annoying smoke.

(e) While transporting thereon a bow or a firearm unless the same be securely encased.

Section 5. The following words, as used in this act, shall have the meaning given them in Section 1 of Public Act 74 of 1968 (CL'48, §257-1501):

(a) "Person" means an individual, partnership, corporation, the state and any of its agencies or subdivisions, and any body of persons whether incorporated or not.

(b) "Operate" means to ride in or on and to control the operation of a snowmobile.

(c) "Snowmobile" means any motorized vehicle designed for travel primarily on snow or ice steered by wheels, skis or runners.

Section 6. Any person who violates the provisions of this ordinance shall be punished by imprisonment in the County Jail for not more than ninety (90) days or by a fine of not more than One Hundred ($100.00) Dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment together with costs of prosecution.

Section 7. This ordinance shall become effective twenty days after its adoption.

Enacted by the Village Council of the Village of Cass City, Cass City, Michigan, on this 11th day of February, 1969. On roll call - vote was Yeas 7 Nays 0.

Cass City's offense sours, 2 more games lost

A strong, well-balanced green and white only to miss good shots from 10 feet or closer. In the horrendous first half, Cass City cashed just 19 per cent of its field goals. For the night, the Hawks hit 14 of 59 for less than 25 per cent. Terry Brinkman hit a career high of 15 points in the game. The Pioneers were remarkable from the free throw line hitting 20 of 21 attempts in one stretch.

It was one of the coldest shooting first halves in recent memory for Cass City basketball teams and as a result the Red Hawks were buried under an avalanche of points Friday night at Laker High, 77-35. Oddly enough, the Hawks played creditable in the first half against the hard charging

Hayes wounded in Vietnam

Kenneth Hayes, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hayes, has been injured by enemy shrapnel in S. Vietnam near Saigon.

The Hayes family received word Feb. 1 in a letter from their only son that he had been hit in the lower abdomen area and was hospitalized at Camp Rahn Bay in Vietnam.

Mrs. Jim Hayes reported they were "slightly shook" when they received the letter. They had as of Monday received no confirmation from U. S. government officials. He was hit Jan. 27.

Kenneth wrote his parents that he was not injured seriously and that at the time of the letter-writing, he was "feeling better". He has been awarded the Purple Heart.

EDITOR'S CORNER

Mrs. Hildinger went forging ahead with her time, talents and money long after more sophisticated investors turned their backs on the facility which became an anachronism in the swiftly changing medical field with its octopus-like strangulation from insurance companies and governmental red tape.

The hospital made a valiant effort with the backing of a good many residents who were grateful for the care they had received.

For over a decade the hospital struggled to stay a step ahead of the government and the insurance companies.

As rapidly as they met new more stringent regulations, others were added. In 1966 with the help of a fund drive a new wing was completed and new, more sophisticated equipment installed.

But the steady pressure of accredited, insurance approved Hills and Dales took its toll of the available patients and operation costs continued to soar.

The end that persons close to the hospital scene had predicted when Hills and Dales was built was apparent to all a year or more ago.

The Midland Bank that holds the first mortgage on the building will, in the terms of a representative of L. M. Kopylov Co. of Detroit, take a bath. . . It's likely that the $40,000 second mortgage owned by Mrs. Hildinger will be lost.

Even though the auctioneer claimed that the sale returned 170 per cent of the estimate Thursday, the proceeds of over $17,000 for the personal property and the $35,000 bid for the building will hardly make a dent in the $100,000-plus first mortgage of the bank.

Paradoxically, while the Cass City Hospital is dead, talk now swirls around another building for the aged or chronically ill. But discard thoughts of saving the Cass City Hospital.

The rules that effectively regulated it out of business as a hospital will keep it from becoming a convalescent home. It cannot be resurrected.

A sunny disposition convinces any man that today is the best time of the year.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Eulen

Here's one to bring back some memories for you . . . Here were the All-America college basketball players of exactly 5, 10 and 20 years ago . . . The All-America of 5 years ago had Bill Bradley, Walt Hazzard, Cotton Nash, Gary Bradds and Dave Stallworth . . . The All-America team of 10 years ago was Jerry West, Oscar Robertson, Bob Boozer, Bailey Howell and John Cox . . . And the All-America of 20 years ago had Easy Ed Macauley, Alex Groza, Tony Lavelli, Ralph Beard and Vince Boryla . . . How many of those names do you remember?

Here's one that's hard to believe. . . In all the years that baseball has been played in the National League, there has been only ONE season in which there were no 20 game winning pitchers! . . . The only season in the NL when there were no 20-game winners was 1931.

Here's an oddity. . . When Montreal originally built its hockey arena in 1924 it cost 1.5 million dollars -- but when they just REMODELED it last summer, it cost 9.5 million dollars!

One For The Road Free-midnight snacks to last for one year

By Dan Marlowe

Contest giveaways are still increasing daily in the mailboxes of the country's citizens. Despite the fact that the Federal Trade Commission has hinted that some giveaways are essentially lotteries, there is little doubt that promotional giveaways will continue to play an active part in the marketplace until declared illegal.

It's a misnomer nowadays to call them "contests". Gone are the days when it was necessary to tell in 25 words or less why a product was the best. Today's sweepstakes demand little more than the mailing in of a card.

Prizes range from phenomenal to futile. A man in Connecticut won $5000 a year free flying for himself and his family (wife and three children) anywhere in the world for the rest of his life. On the other hand, winners of a tire-company contest in New Orleans discovered that their prizes consisted of $1.50 discounts on the cost of mounting snow tires. In this century it has snowed less than half a dozen times in New Orleans.

Companies that organize the giveaways grope constantly for more sensational ideas. More than $100,000,000 in cash and merchandise was given away last year. One company gave a first prize equal to a day's tolls at San Francisco's Golden Gate Bridge. It amounted to $13,000. Another company gave away one share of every stock listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

A beer company gave away a Caribbean island on which was hidden thousands of dollars worth of gift certificates. Another gave away a bathtub filled with currency. More whimsical was the company which awarded its first prize winner a gallon of anti-freeze. Only in the fine print of the award did it appear that a Rolls Royce was included with the anti-freeze.

Some "lucky" winners have regarded their prizes with mixed emotions. These included the installation of a phone booth in the winner's home; a pinball machine and a jukebox for the livingroom; a cigar-store Indian; a stuffed lion; a year's supply of midnight snacks; and an English title giving the winner the legal right to call himself a lord.

But the "big" prizes predominate. A month's vacation at a French Riviera chateau with a full retinue of servants; $100 for life each month; payment of a year's taxes of all kinds. Possibly the ultimate is a soft drink company's giveaway in which the first prize is not one automobile, but seven, one for each day in the week. Each, of course, will be a different color.

Not everyone is happy with the giveaways, since ultimately it is the consumer who must pay for them, but there's no question they're here to stay until outlawed.

Something for nothing? It depends upon whether you're a lucky winner or not.

SCHOOL MEETING

campaign for four extra mills for operation of Cass City Schools will come Feb. 23 when the second annual open house is slated at the High School.

Meanwhile, all departments have created a film strip to show what's what in the district.

Narrating to anyone interested will be the entire administration heads: Mrs. Bernard Freiburger, elementary principal; Robert Stickle, intermediate principal; Art Holmberg, high school principal, and Donald Crouse, superintendent.

The board also authorized the purchase of three new school buses. A bus will be purchased from each of the three local car dealers on the basis of 10 per cent over invoice cost.

lab and "local tips" were providing leads.

The second group of raiders rammied the clinic door open, apparently with the aid of their car, Palmateer said. He reported car tracks close to the door were discovered.

Palmateer reasoned that "a lookout man had spotted someone coming and the group left real fast."

Dr. MacRae said a combination of several phenobarbital pills (stolen in the first raid) and liquor was very dangerous.

Palmateer said the psychological effect of the phenobarbital was generally a relaxing feeling, "that it made you forget your worries." Other pills stolen were diet pills for pregnant women that were discarded by the raiders and later recovered by authorities.

Investigation is continuing.

Joe B. Sieland, 19, of Caro, has been charged with armed robbery for the hold-up of Barrow's Grocery Store in Wilmot Friday, February 7. Richard Farnum, 19, of Vassar, has been charged with possession of stolen property in connection with the burglary.

Sieland was released on $2,000 bond, and Farnum, $200 bond.

The couple escaped with $180 from the cash register. Clerk

Milliken's budget outlays up for critical review

CLOSE SCRUTINY

Michigan's legislative leaders promise close scrutiny of new Gov. William Milliken's first executive budget of $1,510,600,000.

"We'll give it item-by-item examination," said Chairman Charles O. Zoller of the Senate Appropriations Committee. "It is one of the most important spending plans in state history."

Milliken, who assumed the often crushing responsibilities of the Governor's office four hours after sending the budget to the Legislature, said the vast fiscal blueprint could be responsibly financed without new or expanded taxation.

The budget was balanced, at least on paper, and it contained the smallest fiscal year-to-fiscal year rise in expenditures, 11 per cent, in five years.

Coupled with federal funds and restricted state monies derived from highway user taxes and other special levies, it would push overall state spending beyond $3 billion.

It is keyed to a $70.3 million surplus, a $77.7 million growth in state revenues and continued economic prosperity for all income groups.

Specifically, the increase in spending over the current fiscal year is $150 million. The budget calls for cuts in some traditional programs but leaves room for increases in others.

Public education costs, up $96.5 million from the current fiscal year, would comprise more than half the total outlay. Social services and mental health account for 28.7 per cent and $432.9 million.

Most noteworthy new programs are $5 million to start construction of a new State Capitol, $1.5 million for a state-supported community school project and $1.1 million for slum-area job training.

"This is not a year for standing still, or for retrenchment," said Milliken. "Nor is it a year for massive new spending."

On the receipts side of the ledger, Milliken's budget is based on $558.7 million flowing forth from the state personal-income tax, $368.2 million from the sales-use tax, and $596.5 million from all other revenue sources.

The new budget makes no provision for tax aid to Michigan's 1,000 parochial schools. Milliken said the Legislature must find new revenue sources if it enacts such a program.

The budget covers the 12 months beginning July 1. The figures and programs finally agreed upon will be the result of negotiations between a Democratic-controlled House and a Republican-dominated Senate.

Already the lines for a stormy appropriations battle have been drawn--with Republicans announcing stout opposition to new spending and Democrats mapping plans for higher outlays.

office, they actually lose some strength in the State Senate, as Milliken had the power as presiding officer of that body to cast a vote in event of a tie.

He lost that right when he became Governor.

When Milliken stepped forward to take the oath of office, he became only the fifth lieutenant governor in Michigan history to ascend to the governorship through a non-elective route.

As the new leader of the state's nearly nine million citizens, he will be in charge of vast, complex, confusing government machinery--one which brings both misery and glory.

His stewardship ends two years hence, unless he decides to seek and win outright election to the office in 1970. Some observers say his candidacy is a certainty--but they're not predicting the election outcome yet.

In a sentimental letter of resignation, Romney said his six years in office was a "privilege and valued opportunity. I leave . . . secure in the knowledge that much has been accomplished . . . and with full confidence that a solid base has been established for continued public interest government."

The mid-term "change of the guard" has a number of interesting facets.

There will be no Lieutenant governor until a new one elected in 1970 takes over Jan. 1, 1971. The constitution makes no provision for filling such a vacancy. And while Republicans will retain control of the executive

Pair at 4-H science confab

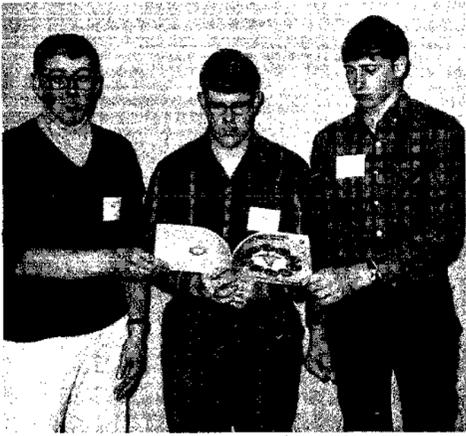

David Little and Tom Russell, members of the Cass City Livestock Club, and leader Bob Carpenter spent Feb. 6-7 at a 4-H Veterinary Science Conference held at Camp Kett, near Cadillac.

The objective of the state-wide workshop was to build confidence in leadership and a review of materials used in studying animals, health and diseases.

The resource staff included specialists from Michigan State University, Dr. Larry Johnson, dairy; Dr. James Dalley, Veterinary Science, and Jake Wamhoff, 4-H youth program.

Also assisting were Dr. Donn Blevins from the Upjohn Company and several 4-H Youth Agents from various counties throughout the state.

Mr. Bernard Jardot, Tuscola county 4-H Youth Agent of Caro, accompanied the local representatives to the two-day conference.

Plan 4-H weather project series

BY BERNARD JARDOT

How often do you think about weather? "Once in a while" might be your first answer. Yet actually, whether we realize it or not - we think about the weather all the time. It affects what we wear, how we live, what plans we make and even how we feel. In general we are aware of the weather whenever it changes suddenly or upsets our plans.

With this in mind, we have developed a series of 4-H projects on weather. The weather projects have been designed to help our young people develop a better understanding of how and why the weather changes around them.

Weather is a fascinating study that can be adapted to every age level. While the youngest 4-H members can learn about the elements that make up our weather, older youths can apply this knowledge in many useful ways such as weather forecasting, making the home more comfortable, protecting plants and crops from weather extremes or safeguarding themselves from violent weather conditions.

The 4-H weather project has been divided into five work units, each progressively more difficult. The 4-H leader or teacher may start their members at which ever unit level she finds her students' interest or abilities to be.

The first unit explains and demonstrates basic principles of weather. In this unit, our youth discover how the four basic elements - sun, air, water and earth - influence the weather. Each principle discussed is demonstrated by an experiment. Even older youths starting their weather study at a more advanced level may want to review or refer back to these fundamentals.

The second unit includes instructions for building a weather station. Although designed to follow the first unit, this unit is very flexible and can be adapted to any special weather interest that our members might have, individually or as a group. In this unit, the members should build the following weather instruments and know how to use them: Barometer, Hygrometer, Anemometer, Wind Vane and Rain Gauge. In addition they should build a shelter for their instruments and keep daily records of the weather.

In Unit III the members learn how to read a weather map and recognize continually recurring weather patterns. By the end of this unit, the member should understand air mass analysis, high and low pressure systems, warm and cold fronts and how to use the weather map.

Units IV and V have been developed for more advanced members who are interested in undertaking individual, as well as group projects and who are ready to apply what they learn in ways that can benefit themselves, their families and their community. The content, purpose and approach of both Unit IV on "Severe Weather" and Unit V on "Air Pollution and Fallout" differ significantly from the other three units.

Instead of looking up and out from the earth's surface, we now look down from above to study the upper levels of atmosphere and the winds aloft to see what influence these have on the weather below. This new perspective clarifies many weather phenomena - especially violent storms, and sets the necessary three-dimensional frame of reference for and consideration of air pollution and fallout.

As we move from the jet age to the space age, so must our educational study programs change. Our new series of weather projects are a good example of what we can do to look toward the future.

The program is suitable to all youth that have an interest in the sciences and its relation to our weather. Also the projects can serve as a study of possible future careers. The project may be carried by itself or as part of other project areas. Both boys and girls from 9 to 19 years of age whether they live on a farm, in the city or are rural non-farm are eligible to participate.

The youth interested in this type of activity like to plan and help develop their own programs as much as is possible. With this in mind, this series of project units has been so developed to allow the individual to select many related activities to participate in - also the group may select an advanced group project.

There may be science classes or clubs in our local schools that would find the weather project an excellent group project to undertake. They are welcomed to use our 4-H materials and to organize their own weather club.

If you are interested in starting a new weather project or club, do not hesitate to contact your local club leader or stop in for more information at the County Extension 4-H Office.

Kingston IGA

sold by Burns

after 30 years

The John Burns IGA has been sold by Mr. and Mrs. John Burns of Kingston. It was purchased, in a three-way partnership, by Orville Zorn, President; Larry Zorn, vice-president, and Terry Hogan, secretary. It will operate as Zorn's Food Market Inc. The Burns have owned and operated the store, at three different locations since its start, for 30 years. They presently own another outlet in North Branch.

The Zorns own outlets at Marlette and Mayville stores. Orville Zorn said it was his intent to "carry on and hope people will accept us." The new supplier will be Abner A. Wolf, Inc. of Detroit.

News From District Court

Harvey John Francis of Deford paid total costs and fines of $27 for excessive speed of 45 in a 35 speed zone in the village of Cass City.

Michael J. Stewart, of Caro, paid total fines and costs of $22 for a traffic violation of excessive noise in Cass City. He was ticketed by Cass City officer Jim Jezewski.

Suzanne Doris Bierlien of Vassar was issued an excessive speed summons for 65 in a 35 speed zone in Denmark Township. She was assessed a total of $20 fine and costs.

Patricia Ann Uhl of Cass City was ticketed in the village for 53 in a 35 MPH speed zone and fined a total of $30 fine and costs.

Gary Howard Haebler of Kingston was ticketed for 70 in a 55 MPH speed zone and fined a total of $30 costs and fines. He was ticketed by Sandusky State Trooper Thomas Likent.

John Edgar Pecure of Vassar was assessed a total of $20 in fines and costs for failure to stop in an assured, clear distance ahead.

Leo August Heineman of Kingston was ticketed for 65 in a 55 MPH speed zone. He was assessed a total of $20 in fines and costs.

James Michael Pomey was served a sheriff's office complaint for driving on a revoked license. Officer Paul Megge served the complaint when Pomey became involved in a mishap with another auto occurring on Bradleyville Road in Denmark Township. Pomey would have been eligible to re-apply for renewal for his driving license within a few days.

BY JIM FITZGERALD

You probably think I am the only newspaper columnist who didn't sell the Saturday Evening Post when he was a boy.

Or perhaps you think I am an original thinker who doesn't write about the things everyone else writes about.

Wrong, both times. There's a long list of things that paid scribblers always turn to when they can't think of anything else. Boyhood nostalgia is at the top of the list. And there's nothing more nostalgic than reminiscing about the depression days when a runny-nosed little boy had to sell 10 Saturday Evening Posts a week or his dad would put him in a bag with 10 kittens and throw the bag into the St. Clair River (I remember once when Mother tried to use Dad's bag for collecting coal along the railroad tracks. He wouldn't let her. "That's my bag," said Dad, thus becoming the world's first hippie).

Anyway, I did sell the Post and I am going to write about it. I'd have done it sooner but I've been in a slump.

You've probably heard that even the greatest writers go through dry spells in which they moan that the Muse has deserted them. A Muse is any of 9 Greek goddesses which inspire creative artists. That sounds pretty classy and I wish it applied to my slump. The truth is that I suffered a small paper-cut on the tip of my typing finger and then, like a fool, I swiped a handful of popcorn from my son's bag. That's pouring salt on the wound (I may have coined a phrase there).

When I was about 10 years old, I sold the Post for my cousin, Bobby Smith. He was only a couple of years older but already he was a neighborhood foreman for a magazine distributor. Bobby was one of those kids that a guy's mother was always pointing to and saying, "Why can't you be like Bobby? He has 2 paper routes and 10 magazine routes and an Essex dealership. And you won't even get out of bed in the morning."

That's the kind of a cousin I had to have, boy. He was a real nice kid but gee, he was always working and putting money in the bank and buying his mother presents. One Christmas, I remember, he gave her a new coat. I gave my mother a clay ash tray I made in school - and I gave it to her in front of Grandma who didn't know Mother smoked. Boy, Merry Christmas.

Mother thought I would become more like Bobby if I sold magazines. But it never worked.

I was the world's most reluctant salesman. I would ring neighborhood doorbells only because Mother was watching out the window. My sales pitch went like this: "You don't want to buy a Saturday Evening Post, do you." I was always right.

Each week I'd pick up 10 Posts from Bobby. A few days later I'd bring back 10. The day he suggested I retire was when I brought back 11. A woman had browbeaten me into buying back a Post she'd bought downtown. One of the cartoons was dirty, she said (I never did find which one and I looked for 6 hours.)

I went back to my wastrel life but Bobby kept hustling. That kid worked hard at dozens of jobs until the day he was drafted into World War II. He was killed in the Battle of the Bulge.

I always associate the Post with Bobby and the 1930's when a nickel double-feature could turn a boy on for weeks. Those were days of simple pleasures, one of which was reading the Post, starting from the back and ending up with Alexander Botts, the incredible tractor salesman.

Those pleasures seemed to disappear sometime during the war. I guess I became more sophisticated. Maybe I simply grew up, or grew bitter. Anyway I quit reading the Saturday Evening Post. I guess I don't really know why.

But I think it had something to do with the fact that the most patriotic pictures Norman Rockwell painted could never make me understand why cousin Bobby, age 19, had to die.

Career starts at 53 for Mrs. Lorentzen

Second in a series

Fifty years of hoping. Fifty years of waiting. The dream of a career in nursing care. To eye twinkling Mrs. Lafey Lorentzen of 4455 Pine, that dream when she reached 53, finally came true.

Born in Melhoid, Canada, she had pondered her career since girlhood. The modest income of her parents at the turn of the century did not permit a formal education. "My parents couldn't put me through," she said.

Her father was a brass tradesman and farmer. When the hot steam from the brass foundry impaired her father's health, the family farmed for periods in Port Huron, Burnside, and finally in Shabbona.

Her husband was a pioneering road builder. Paving the way for Michigan's early homesteaders and travelers, he "ran truck" and helped build roads in Detroit, Imlay City, and in this area. While her husband built roads, Mrs. Lorentzen received boarders. She easily recalls packing their noonday lunch as they departed for work each morning.

When in 1931 her husband died, Mrs. Lorentzen found new independence. A local doctor, Dr. Donahue, discovered she was interested in nursing care. Her career began. She was hired at $25 per week in the midst of a deep depression.

At that time she had more than reached her 53rd birthday. Her job was healing the injured, tending the sick, and helping with newly borns. Mrs. Lorentzen's dream came true, after more than half a century of waiting and hoping.

Her memory is good. Her words come as easy as a high school English teacher explaining the term's format at the first classtime.

Mrs. Lorentzen does her own homemaking. She still uses the pink and white quilt she helped her mother make over seventy years ago, and she still crochets. Not bad for 91 years young.

MRS. LORENTZEN, 91, displays a quilt she helped her mother make over 70 years ago.

4th quarter motor funds distributed to counties, villages

The State Highway Commission has started the distribution of fourth quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections to area counties and incorporated cities and villages.

Henrick E. Stafseth, state highway director, said net highway fund receipts during October, November and December totaled $86 million, an increase of 29.5 percent compared to the same period of 1967.

Under this formula, the Highway Department will receive $39,579,589; the counties $29,254,479, and the cities and villages $17,208,517.

Tuscola County will receive $286,215; Sanilac County, $273,862, and Huron County, $259,895. Cass City will receive $6,669, Caro $11,747, Gageton $2,265 and Kingston $1,686.

The GREAT! Plymouth Sale

Fury III 2-Door Hardtop

Why Plymouth?

1. The GREAT! Plymouth Sale—Our specially-equipped Fury, Belvedere, Barracuda, and Valiant models are now costing even less. But our GREAT! Sale of the Year is only one of a lot of good reasons why you should consider buying a Plymouth. 2. Engineering—Plymouths are tight and strong because structural steel members, body braces, and sheet-metal panels are welded into a single, unitized shell. Unibody construction gives more resistance to the twisting forces of rough roads than body-on-frame cars. 3. Good Handling—High-chrome steel torsion-bar front springs combined with rugged multi-leaf rear springs make Plymouths better handling, better riding than other cars. 4. Durability—7-Step Dip-and-Spray Anti-Rust Treatments on all Plymouth exterior body surfaces and all inner and outer surfaces of lower body metal mean longer body life. 5. Beauty—All Plymouths are painted with super-hard Acrylic Enamel that retains a mirror-like finish with only cold-water washes. Acrylic Enamel means beauty that lasts. 6. Safety—Plymouth's big brakes give smooth, safe braking. They're bigger and heavier than brakes on most other cars. 7. Comfort—Head room. Hip room. Shoulder room. Leg room. And trunk room... loads of it!

That's why!

Church observes open house Sunday

Sunday, Feb. 16, the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd in Cass City will observe Open Housing Sunday.

The effort is being supported by 6,000 congregations in the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

The offering received will be used to counsel those in need of housing as well as make available loans to the same. Although this is a relatively new emphasis in the Lutheran body it was felt that faith related to such "touchy" subjects of life is a real witness to the love of Christ for those in need.

Each member of the Cass City congregation has been invited to participate in the support of this effort.

A special meeting of the Village of Cass City Council was held Feb. 4, 1969 at the Municipal Building for the purpose of discussing and accepting Ordinance No. 68, concerning the use of snowmobiles in the village, and Ordinance No. 69, concerning the establishing of a Parking Violation Bureau. All members were present.

President Althaver welcomed snowmobile dealers and owners and invited them to express their views of the Ordinance as read. A list of regulations which they had prepared was presented and compared and after extensive discussion the council agreed to work out a less stringent Ordinance for a trial period.

Village Attorney House read Ordinance No. 69 and explained the working of the Violations Bureau. Trustee Golding moved to accept the Ordinance and it was supported by Trustee Selby. Motion unanimously carried by roll call vote.

President Althaver presented a bid from Buelen Motors, dated Jan. 30, 1969, for a new Chevrolet Biscayne police car. The delivered price will be $3,010.00. Trustee Rawson moved to accept the bid and Trustee Selby supported the motion. Yes 6, No 0, - motion carried.

There being no further business the meeting was adjourned. Ruth Hoffman Village Clerk

Uh...What do you mean by free?
By Richard Haines

A nation-wide survey in 1963 asked 5,000 respondents in the U. S. what it was about their country they were proudest and 85% said, "Our free political institutions." This compared with 46% for Britains, 30% for Mexicans, 7% for Germans and 3% for Italians.

American, therefore, believe they are (very) free and they are proud of it.

I see. Uh. . . . What do you mean by free?

Freedom is given birth through tolerance. A culture's toleration of provocation varies from nation to nation, group to group, individual to individual.

An international survey shows the U. S. 7th in the world in tolerating dissent. Britain, France, Scandinavia, Holland, and New Zealand have a higher margin than have we.

These nations tolerate conflicting value-goal systems. Americans are only starting to. If freedom is toleration, then the traditional American ethic isn't what it's cracked up to

THE MEANING OF THE CROSS

It's a pretty thing. You can hang it around your neck on a gold chain. Use it to top a spire. In walls and windows, stone and statuary, crosses are everywhere.

Would you take a hangman's noose, guillotine, or electric chair and hang it, glided, around your neck? Gruesome, you say! The cross is an instrument of torture, of death. How macabre for people to sing "In the cross of Christ I glory..."!

But there is a reason for that song. Jesus lives! He said, "Whoever believeth in me, though he die, yet shall he live." The instrument of Christ's death has become symbolic of the promise of life. He died that we might live.

Life takes on new excitement when you know that God Almighty cares that much about you! The Christian can know freedom from guilt, from the depressing dullness of a meaningless life, from the fear of death. We invite you to come and learn about this life, and to share it with us joyfully!

Slate barley meet at Fairgrove Feb. 19

Tuscola County farmers interested in barley production, according to Alfred P. Ballweg, County Extension Agricultural Agent, are invited to attend a meeting Feb. 19 in Fairgrove at 1:30 p.m. at the J & H Restaurant. Present for this meeting will be a representative of the Rickel Malting Company, Detroit, and John Grafius and Mitt Erdman of farm crops department, MSU.

Cooperating in sponsoring this meeting is Virgil Nelson, manager of the Fairgrove Elevator Company.

According to many of our farmers, barley is a good crop to grow because it fits well into a cash row crop rotation, said Ballweg.

CITY WORKMAN Joseph Gruber of 6432 Church saws a huge elm tree on S. Seeger. The cutting is part of the city project to replace diseased and dead trees with new plantings. The city has budgeted $1,000 at $10 per tree with which to replace the cut trees. Village Engineer William Schram reports many residents have requested tree cutting and about 50 have been cut in the city. In background, Frank Guilds and Ed Anthes assist.

Tuscola Co. Archers to sponsor shoot

Tuscola County Archers will sponsor a shooting event starting next week at their clubhouse located on Brusee Road south of Caro State Hospital.

Shooting will begin February 17, 18, and 19 starting at 7 p.m. Thursday, February 20, the event will be open to Scouts, 4-H, and other groups. Friday, February 21, the event will be open to children at 6:30 p.m., and 7:30 for adults. Advertise it in The Chronicle.

Epilepsy related to brain waves

Epilepsy is a chronic condition characterized by intermittent loss of consciousness due to an abnormal electrical discharge from the brain.

Grand-mal epileptic attacks have a rather characteristic sequence of events, the major factor, of course, being the loss of consciousness and generalized stiffness of the body that is then followed by a relaxation of the body - lasting over a period, of say five minutes. After the attack the patient may be fatigued and sleep. By contrast, in the petit-mal (or what some people call minor or small seizures) there is just a brief staring and maybe twitching of the eyelids, occasionally a little moving of the head or arms. These petit-mal attacks are a specific kind of seizure with very characteristic brain-wave patterns. These are not simply small attacks - they are small to the eye, but they are not small in terms of the psychological implication in the brain.

There are several different kinds of episodes. In infants particularly, head dropping, or mild chronic seizures are very common; but this is largely confined to the infant group.

A psychomotor seizure implies some localization within the brain - an area of the brain damage - and thus probably indicates a certain permanent change within the brain.

On the other hand, a grand-mal seizure, which occurs in many children with fever for example, does not mean that they are going to be lifetime epileptics. They have seizures - will be subject to them for a certain period in their life when their body temperature is elevated, but may grow up to be normal adults without seizures.

Most of the time, in children, particularly, genetic factors play a role. Like many other medical disorders there is a tendency for recurrence in several generations of the family.

Brain damage as a result of birth injury, or things of that sort, is not a common cause but it is one of the causes. Then there is another group of rare episodes caused by bio-chemical disorders. Tumors are a rare, uncommon cause of seizures in children.

As children grow up and become adults and have seizures there is an inclination for most people to hide the fact that they have seizures so it's hard to accumulate any data on how common epilepsy is.

There is probably little that can be done to prevent the occurrence of primary epilepsy although many authorities would feel that if a child had a single seizure and were then put on proper medical care, it would reduce the probability of further seizures and probably also prevent a long-term epileptic state.

The generation gap between parents and teenagers is widening, and we need to help our adolescents across.

One of the reasons for this gap is earlier physical, social and mental development of teens. Many of today's adolescents are physically mature at 10, 11 and 12 years old. And they are more aware of worldly things as they have been exposed to the adult world through television, movies and books, at a younger age.

Many parents tend to use their own age of maturity as a measure for their present-day teens. When their adolescents date earlier and participate in many more social activities which were previously reserved for much older teens, parents become concerned.

Parents need to find ways of guiding behavior without directly attacking their children's images of themselves. Ultimately the goal of most parents is to have their children grow up to be mature men and women who can reason rationally.

If parents' whole message to their teens is "too young," teens may be left with a permanent image of themselves as boys and girls. These are the kind of young people who have a rough time adjusting to college, the service, or whatever trade they decide to follow.

Complete permissiveness on the part of parents is not good either.

Parents need to use judgment in dealing with their teens and learn to anticipate and accept some new privacy and reluctance on the part of their young people. It's part of growing up and crossing over the gap to the other side.

Pharmacy Services

There has been some public discussion recently about the price of prescription drugs. While drug costs have risen much more slowly than any other item in the market-place, there have been questions about why the prices vary from drug store to drug store.

Many of these comments suggest that today's drugs are furnished by some sort of machine, straight from the manufacturer. Many critics ignore the fact that a pharmacist and his services are involved in the dispensing of drugs.

Dr. Joseph D. McEvilla, professor of pharmaceutical economics at the University of Pittsburgh, recently criticized one writer on this point. "In discussing drug prices, particularly about what the patient should pay for individual doses, the author fails to recognize that these prices are influenced not only by the cost of the product to the pharmacist, but also by the charge for the pharmacist's professional services."

He points out that the wide variety of services provided by the druggist must be considered before computing the final charge to the customer. "Unfortunately, some pharmacists - like individuals in other walks of life - provide only the minimum services required by law. Others provide a myriad of services, some of which are not perceived by the patient."

Pharmacists - like other who offer individualized service - place varying values on their professional function. Also, the drug cost to the pharmacist is likely to vary widely. This is a complicated subject, but no pharmacist today need apologize for the cost of his valuable role in providing the community with a vital health service.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that much as it pained him to face it, he was full convinced President Nixon has give up on him. The first thing the Congress done when it went back in session, said Ed, was double the President's wages, and that don't leave no chance for a cost cutter getting appointed Commissioner of Agriculture or agent in charge of getting rid of Government agencies.

But Ed allowed he was like the old feller at the church revival. When the congregation found out he couldn't carry a tune in a bucket they tried to keep all the song books out of his reach. The old feller said he knowed he couldn't sing, but he shore did like to holler fer the Lord. Ed said he was going right on hollering fer the right and agin the wrong in this country fer his own enjoyment.

Besides, Ed went on, he wasn't shore the Democrats ain't made such a mess of this country that nobody can run it. Ed said he had saw where Mr. Nixon is working with a fisacle budget of $195 billion the newspapers says is "roughly in balance" if we keep that sirtax. "Rough" shore is the right word, allowed Ed.

Ed wasn't about to pass up a chance to mention Abe Lincoln, seeing as how this is the month fer his birthday. What old Abe used to say, allowed Ed, was that had promises is better broke than kept. Mr. Nixon never promised to do away with the sirtax, said Ed, and he figgered not making promises was better than breaking 'em or keeping 'em.

Farthermore, Ed allowed, this country has been jumping from the frying pan into the fire and back agin ever since Democrat Woodrow Wilson fixed up the League of Nations to keep the peace ferevermore. Ed said he could remember when we were allus at a "crossroads," where we had a choice of ways to go, but now the column writers keeps us on "the brink of disaster" from one day to the next, and the only way we can go is from bad to terrible.

If a feller expects to git along this day and time, allowed Ed, he's got to toe the line, keep his back to the wall, his ear to the ground, his shoulder to the wheel and his nose to the grindstone. He's got to keep his head level and his feet on the ground, all the time looking fer a cloud with a silver lining. And if you find a little bit of silver, said Ed, the tax man scoops that up.

Clem Webster put the stopper in the jug when he told Ed that under Democrats or Republicans, Washington reminded him of a zoo cause that's where the bull is shot, the buck is passed and everybody gets a bum steer.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

New fertilizers meet Saginaw Valley needs

By Don Kohler

I have watched and studied the steady changes in fertilizer usage over the last fifteen years.

For instance in the mid-50's most of the chemical fertilizers applied contained equal amounts of phosphorus and potassium and big sellers were 3-12-12 and 4-16-16.

Soil test results showed majority of our counties heavy textured soils being low in phosphorus and high to medium in potassium.

As this word began to be received by farmers on these heavy textured soils, they began using higher phosphorus to potassium ratio fertilizers.

The fertilizer manufacturers began to manufacture and supply more fertilizers with analyses as 5-20-10, 6-24-12, and 8-32-16 and markets for the earlier long-time used analysis decreased.

In this same period of time many of the heavy soils actually were so well supplied with potassium that even the newer fertilizer formulations were supplying more potassium in relation to phosphorus than was needed.

Back in 1959 Michigan State University was making recommendations on planting time fertilizer such as 15 pounds nitrogen, 60 pounds phosphorus and 15 pounds of potassium per acre for a possible 32 bushel navy bean crop on silt loam and clay loam soils. Additional nitrogen was also recommended.

A single mixed and bagged fertilizer to have met the recommendation would have been of a 1-4-1 ratio. But, who supplied it in quantity? The farmer couldn't readily purchase this fertilizer ratio so he used a 1-4-2 ratio and applied more potassium than recommended.

Gradually through the years and up to the present time, soil test results show many heavy soils in the Saginaw Valley to be both higher in phosphorus and potassium than five to ten years ago. Why this has occurred is explainable because farmers have been using higher amounts of higher analysis fertilizers.

For example, it is not too uncommon today to have a heavy soil testing high in both phosphorus and potassium where five to ten years ago it tested low in phosphorus and medium in potassium. A fertilizer recommendation today for an 18 to 23 ton sugar beet crop on the high phosphorus-high potassium test soil would be about 90 pounds nitrogen, 50 phosphorus and zero to 15 pounds potassium per acre. On the same soil tested five to ten years ago and having a low phosphorus and medium potassium level, the fertilizer recommendation for an 18-ton sugar beet crop would have been about 90 pounds of nitrogen, 160 pounds phosphorus and between 40 and 80 pounds of potassium per acre.

With this I throw out the question, "Can anyone afford to gamble $15 to $20 in fertilizer costs per acre and not spend 1 or 2 dollars for soil test?"

Rites held Saturday for Fred Bartell

Funeral services for Fred Bartell of Dodge Road, Cass City, were held Saturday at St. Pancratius Church. Rev. Peter Pijnappels officiated.

He died Thursday, February 6, at Tuscola County Medical Facility where he had been a patient for six months. He had suffered extended illness the past year.

He was born in Saginaw County July 11, 1889, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fred and Grace Schrams Bartell. He was employed at the Lufkin Rule Company in Saginaw for a number of years.

He was united in marriage to Miss Anna Zohnow in Saginaw, November 15, 1911, and moved to the Cass City area about 1950. Mrs. Bartell died March 7, 1958.

He is survived by one daughter, Mrs. William Donnelly of Cass City; one sister, Mrs. Louise Spargo of Saginaw; three grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

He was buried in the St. Agatha Cemetery, Gagetown.

Past city resident dies of grass fire

Jacob Anthes, 78, and past resident of Cass City, recently died as a result of a grass fire beside his home in Quitman, Arkansas, Sunday, February 2.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, February 5, by the Little Rock Olmstead Funeral Home. He was buried at National Cemetery at Little Rock.

Authorities said Anthes was burning trash in his yard when the fire spread to the nearby field. Anthes apparently attempted to fight the fire when it reached the field and authorities said he apparently fell while trying to escape the flames and was burned to death.

He was born in Cass City, the son of Martin and Lucinda Anthes. He served in World War I and after returning made his home in California until 1962, when he moved to Quitman, Arkansas. He was a retired real estate broker.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Minnie Phillips Anthes; two sons, Jacob Anthes and George P. Anthes of California; a daughter, Mrs. Aura J. Nava of Illinois, and four grandchildren. He is reported by relatives to have nephews and nieces in the Cass City area.

SHOW THE FLAG

These days when we read of the draft card burners, the general malcontents (the loud 1%), maybe it's time we (the quiet 99%) who are proud to be Americans should stand up and be counted, too.

We have American Flags for your windshield or window.

We'll be PROUD to give you one.

BULEN MOTORS

Cass City, Michigan

Join Oldsmobile's Great 88 Escape. Step into the big-car world without overstepping your budget.

Once you move into 88's big-car world, you've got yourself a lot of basic value.

But we don't stop there. We always put extra values into an Olds 88 that keep it way ahead of its price.

Like new guardrails built in the doors for added security.

And a new anti-theft ignition, steering and transmission lock system.

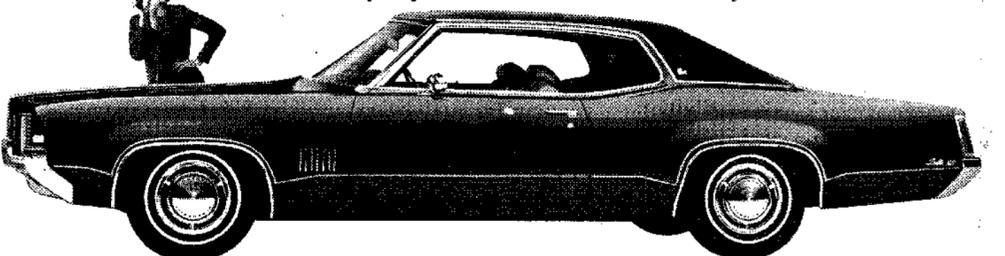

Even a pushbutton ashtray. They're little things that make the big things about an 88 that much more enjoyable.

The smoother, softer ride on its new, longer, 124-inch wheelbase.

The quiet comfort of that roomy, big-car body.

And the responsive Rocket V-8 engine.

Go let an Olds dealer show you: you're closer to Olds than you think.

Escape from the ordinary at your Oldsmobile Dealer's.

CREATING HOMEMADE VALENTINES has been the order of the day for students in the grades in the Cass City School District. Posing in front of the showcase, filled with valentines the southwest wing of Campbell Elementary School were: Duane Ertman, Melissa Eubank and Loren O'Harris.

A PAIR OF SCISSORS, some paper and an idea are all you need for a valentine, says Sally Masten from Mrs. Gray's room at Evergreen.

A DAB OF GLUE will do it claims Marie Luana of Mrs. Crawford's room in Deford. Mike Yax isn't so sure.

INTENT IS THE WORD of these students in Mrs. Hoadley's room at Deford. Cutting busily is Eddie Kloc with a valentine for someone special.

EVERGREEN SCHOOL'S SHOWCASE is assembled by Scott Snyder and Kim Heronemus.

AT DEFORD Linda Alcorn, Alan Pratt and Carl Nizzola obviously are enjoying making valentines . . . or is it having their picture taken?

TEACHER SAM WELLS at Deford lends a helping hand with a valentine project. Watching are Linda Sieradzki, Chris Zemke and Jerry Woodruff.

C. C. H. S.

On Monday and Tuesday of last week the juniors took the California Short Form of Mental Maturity test. This test gives an I. Q. score and was given primarily to add an extra test score to the files of students who aren't going on to college. Usually the student who doesn't plan on attending college isn't required to take any aptitude tests; therefore, this test score may be the only one of its type in his record and may be later used as a reference by a student's potential employer.

General Motors research-in action stage show, "Previews of Progress," appeared at C. C. H. S. last Wednesday, February 5, at 10:00 a.m. The forty-minute, non-commercial show seeks to encourage more student interest in science and engineering careers. It was presented by Previews lecturers, Larry E. Snoddon and John C. Eiden. (The Previews team that appeared here is one of seven two-man units now touring the country. About 1,500,000 students and adults will see the Previews this year.)

Included in the program were demonstrations of the making of "man-made" products -- synthetic rubber and foam plastic. Other demonstrations included an "air-bearing" platform, the uses of gyroscopes, the fuel cell, and the effect of safety belts on the outcome of automobile accidents.

CLUB NEWS

The Ski Club met directly after school last Tuesday. The group decided to go skiing at Sylvan Knoll on Feb. 16 and to Caberfae on the 22nd.

The G. A. A. had a sports session Tuesday evening from 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m. The club played volleyball and discussed various spring activities in a short business meeting afterwards.

A newly formed Drama Club under the direction of Mr. William Crouch met last Monday and Friday afternoons after school. The club has decided to present a short play for the school's open house this month. Friday officers were elected.

They are:
President - Lorna Kidney
Vice-president - Bill Spencer
Secretary - Carole Clarke
Treasurer - Bradley Uhl

Each year there are a number of students who do odds and ends for members of the faculty for a possible quarter of a credit.

Two committees established at the last senior council meeting met last week. A motto committee met Monday and under the direction of Linda Wright made a list of thirty or more recommended class mottos. On Friday a committee for the selection of the class color and flower met. Under the direction of Sandy Schuette this committee also made a list of suggestions to be discussed at the next senior council meeting.

IT RUNS ON LIGHT! Bruce McLeish demonstrates the Surveyor Lunar Roving Vehicle for fellow Cass City High School students Sue MacDonald and Jim Selby. Bruce powers the moon rover indoors with a 300 watt lamp for a sun as the machine converts sunshine into electricity and directs it over a surface similar to that we would expect to find on the moon.

SEAT BELTS SAVE LIVES! Larry Kidney, Diane Rabideau, and John Zawilinski examine a simulated automobile crash in which the passengers ride with and without the protection of their seat belts. This demonstration utilized the Impact Sled which has recently been used in automotive safety research and was one feature in the General Motors "Previews of Progress" science show which emphasizes the importance of science and engineering in the field of safety.

TOPS AT THE SOLO AND ensemble festival from Cass City High School were: Becky Parrott, Sue Koepfgen, Shari Geiger and Sally Geiger.

The sophomores' class rings finally arrived last week! However, this year the class, unable to decide, ordered two different styles of rings. The few students who ordered oval rings received them earlier in the year.

Cass City's debate team ended up with a total score of 6 wins and 11 losses this year under the direction of Mr. William Crouch. Their record made them eighth in the region.

Debaters this year were: Lorna Kidney, Lynnea Rabideau, Ral-nell Chisholm, Rick Ross, Carole Clarke, Bill Spencer, and Bradley Uhl. Those schools in our region to go to districts were Caro and Millington.

Saturday the District Solo and Ensemble Festival was held in Flint. Of the four events entered from C. C. H. S., three received a one rating and one received a two rating. Those receiving ones were: Sally Geiger, clarinet solo; Sally Geiger and Shari Geiger, clarinet duet; and Sue Koepfgen and Becky Parrott, piano duet. Becky Parrott received a two rating on her piano solo.

4-H'ers meet at Keith Russell home

The second in a series of veterinary science meetings was held Saturday evening, Feb. 8, at the Keith Russell home, for members of the Cass City 4-H Livestock Club.

An effort to determine the normal animal was discussed and the young 4-H'ers learned how to recognize abnormalities through observation.

The veterinary science project, led by Bob Carpenter, is designed to help develop an understanding of its broad scope as it applies to their animals, to their own personal health and phases of medicines with possible career exploration.

The next meeting, on Feb. 22 at the William Hacker home, will cover subjects on animal body temperature, pulse and respiration. Any boys or girls from age 9 to 19 interested in the area of veterinary science are invited.

To make ends meet today everyone will have to do more--more doing without.

Planners of new Capitol reject tradition for new

"BUILDING BATTLE"

Plans to build a new state Capitol could touch off a bigger political battle than the debate 122 years ago over moving the seat of government from Detroit to Lansing.

Legislators on both sides are taking firm stands, and as the plan unfolds it seems certain that others who want to retain the present Capitol, or are against a $50 million expense for a new one, will be drawn in.

After two years of closed-door huddling over the design, the joint legislative capital outlay committee recently unveiled the new Capitol plan.

Designed by the Detroit architectural firm of Smith, Hinchman and Grylls Associates, it contemplates a seven-level, four-building structure covering the equivalent of four city blocks.

Legislative, judicial and executive buildings would form a "troika" atop a massive all-purpose office structure four blocks west of the present Capitol. Total space would be 850,000 square feet.

breaking a smooth outside design at the four corners. The judicial and executive buildings would be smaller adaptations of this basic design with the all-purpose building spreading under all the structures like a massive underground control center.

Massive steps on each side of the project, described by the architects as "monumental stairs," would rise from the basic plaza level, crossing the interior courtyard to reach an upper plaza on which the separate structures for the Legislature, executive office and Supreme Court would stand.

There would be no traditional dome but a 185-foot tower with a glass-enclosed observation deck at the top would jut from a plaza area.

"We rejected the historical, traditional concept of placing the functions of government under a classical dome as out-moded and not suited to our times," said Sigmund F. Blum, one of the designers.

"Michigan is a progressive, dynamic state. The people richly deserve a Capitol which expresses those qualities."

The legislative building, with House and Senate chambers akin to the United Nations General Assembly Room, would be a large, shoe-box shaped structure, with cylindrical spires

The upper levels would include:

Senate and House chambers and galleries; legislative committee rooms; caucus rooms and service facilities, and an individual office suite for each legislator.

A courtroom for the Supreme Court, office suites for each justice, and offices and other facilities for court personnel.

The Governor's private office and ceremonial reception room, and offices and other work space for the entire executive office staff, including the Bureau of the Budget and other units of the Governor's office.

The buildings would be framed in reinforced concrete with an exterior of polished granite. There would be no windows in the upper structures.

Director A. N. Langfus of the State Building Division estimated it would take up to five years to construct the complex. He said the buildings would contain the most up-to-date heating, lighting, ventilating, air-conditioning and communications systems, including closed-circuit television. The all-purpose building would include a large auditorium and cafeteria and 20 elevators for easy access to the upper level.

The first Michigan Capitol was located at Griswold, State and Shelby Streets in Detroit. In 1847 state government was moved to Lansing following a stormy legislative session. The present Capitol was opened in 1878.

Opposition is expected from forces who want to preserve the 91-year-old Capitol for historical purposes.

Sen. Thomas L. Brown, R-Lansing, is expected to lead the fight against construction of the proposed plan. He said the present building could be rebuilt and enlarged for half the money needed for a new structure.

One thing that everybody agrees on is the deteriorating condition of the present state-house. Jumbled wiring, rickety elevators and dingy corridors abound.

A section of the fourth floor has been condemned by the State Fire Marshall, yet it is crammed with legislative offices from which escape would be difficult.

Conservation office offers trees, shrubs

Trees make your property more valuable -- and more beautiful. But these are only two of many reasons that the Tuscola Soil Conservation District makes trees and shrubs available to their cooperators, says Paul Findlay, District Chairman.

Although the ground may be covered with snow, now is a good time to order your trees. Spring is on the way so don't wait till the supply is gone as some varieties are limited.

The great variety of soil conditions in the Tuscola District requires that you plant the correct kind of trees for your soil. Soil Conservation Service technicians can help you decide which kind to plant. They may be used for windbreaks or reforestation.

The Tuscola District has for sale this year: red pine, white pine, Scotch pine, Austrian pine, spruce, and Autumn Olive. They also have the wildlife packets that proved so popular the last two years. These include shrubs beneficial to wildlife such as Honeysuckle, Siberian Crab, Autumn Olive, and Highbush Cranberry and either pine or spruce to make 125 plants in each package. Cost-sharing is also available from the Agricultural Conservation Program for tree planting under some conditions.

These trees may be ordered from the Conservation Office at 852 S. Hooper St., Caro, Michigan. Office hours are from 8:00 to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

GIRL SCOUTS

The Junior Girl Scouts presented a one-act play, "Pajama Party," for 70 parents, friends, teachers and Brownie Troop 641, Feb. 3 in the dining hall of St. Agatha's church.

The play was directed by Mrs. William Burrows. She was assisted by prompters Barbara Warrack and Cindy Bencheck.

The cast included Kathy Jo Burrows, Vicki and Kim Downing, Connie Seibel, Sandra Ziehm, Michelle Langlots, Connie Repshinska, Corrine LaFave and LouAnn Hendershot. Mary Goodell, who suffered a broken bone when she fell from her bike, was replaced by her sister Joan, who read her lines.

Following the play Mrs. Harold Koch awarded 80 merit badges, six signs of the arrow and 10 of the star in a court ceremony.

Receiving the star were the above six girls and Cindy Bencheck, Kathy Burrows, Mary Goodell and Barbara Warrack, who already had the arrow award.

Receiving star merit badges in 18 different fields were the ten girls above mentioned and Sue Havens, Sue Ann and Mary Hendershot, Michelle Langlots, Sue Ann and Dianna Rapson, Janet Rievert, Sylvia Vasquez, Joan Goodell, Patty Goslin, Ann Lenhard, Cathy and Connie Repshinska and Tena Kamrad. Lunch followed the presentations.

Mrs. Turner dies in Saginaw hospital

Mrs. Hattie D. Turner, 73, died Sunday, Feb. 9, in St. Luke's Hospital, Saginaw.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward LaFave, she was born Jan. 29, 1896, at Colwood. She and Henry Turner were married April 30, 1917, at Caro. He died Feb. 24, 1968.

Mrs. Turner is survived by a son, Garfield Turner of Cass City; a daughter, Mrs. Marjorie Markey of Saginaw, and three sisters, Mrs. Josephine Rabi-deau of Unionville, Mrs. Geraldine Carolan of Gagetown and Mrs. Mabel Day of Detroit. Requiem High Mass was solemnized Wednesday in St. Pancratius Catholic Church by Rev. Peter J. Pijnappels. Burial was in Caro Cemetery.
