Supervisors debating radios for ambulances

The Tuscola County Board of Supervisors has been debating the problem of ambulance service. They also expressed fears of private services becoming extinct, because of increased cost.

Radio purchases for the county's cars were favorably discussed by all but one supervisor, "I just can't go along with it," I can't see giving public funds to a private business," he said.

I think that point has a great deal of merit, said board chairman Harold Johnson. I'd be the last one to stoop to expedience, but this is necessary. "Somebody has to vote no, and I just can't see putting a radio on a coroner's car; this is a business."

"It's a lot better than to subsidize them for $100,000, like some counties do." Right now, we're short of ambulances, he said.

What happens, he said, is that they'll be returning, only to receive a message to make another run almost at a point where they were before - it's happened several times, said Johnson. It wastes time going back and forth, he said.

Other board members responded that the county was legally bound to assure citizens subject to accidents and disaster with ambulance service.

One board member said two ambulances are going out June 1.

The two ambulances are run by funeral directors Edgar H. Dinkel and Robert F. Schultz.

Contests in Gagetown spark village elections

Village elections will be held Monday in Cass City and Gagetown while the vote in Cass City is marked by no competition and yawning apathy, the sparks are flying in Gagetown.

Traditionally a hot bed of political unrest despite its size, Gagetown this year has competition for president and one of three trustee posts.

Richard Burdon, long active in village politics, is seeking to unseat incumbent Elery Sontag for the post of president. Burdon is a Republican and Sontag a Democrat.

Another Democrat on the ballot is Eugene Comment who is trying for one of the three open trustee posts. He will be opposed by three Republican nominees: Richard Downing, James England and Leroy Stapleton.

Unopposed for re-election are Leota Ashmore, for clerk, and William Ashmore, for treasurer.

A new state law, adopted in 1968, requires trained personnel for around-the-clock coverage with two full-time ambulance attendants on duty at all time. The law also establishes procedure for ambulance operation.

The increased operating costs incurred because of the new law, coupled with stiffer maintenance and insurance costs have made running ambulances unprofitable for funeral directors.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Russ Coleman has shaved his beard.

He didn't have it too long and it wasn't much of a deal to start with. Sort of as if the young Vietnam veteran didn't quite know whether a beard was worth it.

Russ turned 21 the other day and I was privileged to talk with him as he became of age at the bar provided at a wedding reception in Caro.

Russ isn't like the young you read about. Perhaps he's like the young you don't read about. No revolts. No draft card burning. No vehement objecting.

If there is anything unusual about him it's that he isn't too sure about anything.

Imagine that at 21.

Perhaps the war in Vietnam did this to him. Russ was a casualty of Vietnam action . . . so badly shot up that he will receive a lifetime pension for injuries he received in America's most unpopular war.

What are we doing over there, he asks. I certainly don't agree with (Art) Bean that we should send more troops over and enlarge the war.

I'd go again if I were called. But what's the good of it? Why was I fighting?

Uncertainty. Who can say whether Russ is typical of today's young? Despite the generation gap I have empathy with the young veteran.

Certainly, I haven't got any answer to his question. Making the world safe for Democracy and other flag waving slogans have always left me cold.

Even in what the over 40's like to call the BIG war when it was patriotic to be in service and no one even thought of criticizing our country's efforts, I was uncertain.

Only I never had the guts to say so. Especially if I were away from the base and talking with the home patriots.

I believed that the country's best economic interests were being served by our participation in World War II, but I could never bring myself to hate the Japs. . . the Huns. . . the Spicks. Or to feel that we were involved because of a clash of ideologies.

Timing of college vote worries school boosters

Since the original proposition for a Tri-county Community College was defeated at the polls nearly two years ago a group of dedicated citizens have been working to resurrect it.

This week their plans received another in a series of setbacks. Paradoxically, the latest setback would normally be regarded as a step ahead.

A spokesman said that a petition asking for a second election had been approved as submitted by the Intermediate School District boards of Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties.

The petition is exactly the same as the original submitted and approved before the original vote. It includes all of the school districts in the three counties with the exception of Crosswell-Lexington and Millington.

MR. AND MRS. JAMES EVANS (standing at rear) examine their new belongings for their return to Iquitos, Peru, where they work with a world-wide Baptist group initiating new churches. Dean Hoag (seated) was chairman of the local First Baptist effort to collect a list of selected items within a four-Sunday period. Ferris Ware, center, assisted. The Evanses are awaiting their papers to return to Peru, and they are not expected to return to the U. S. for 4 years. Besides these items, $200 was collected in cash.

What is concerning members of the citizens' committee is the timing of the election.

State spokesmen pointed out that the law requires that the proposition be placed on the ballot at the regular school election (June 9) if the superintendent of the district with the largest valuation (Huron) files notices with the various school districts at least 60 days before the election date.

Huron Director Morgan Balogh said that he will seek a legal interpretation of the statute that requires setting the dates as soon as the election notice is received.

Most observers agree that the voter climate at this time for propositions requiring millage is at one of its lowest ebbs.

Thumb schools are experiencing much difficulty in meeting rapidly expanding educational costs and the State Equalized Valuation of property was substantially boosted by the State Tax Commission this spring. Property owners are at the tax revolt stage.

The committee also fears that the June 9 election would not give enough time for proper organization of a campaign to sell the college to the voters.

The three proposals on the ballot call for establishing a community college; election of nine trustees, three each for terms of one, two and three years, and for a two-mill tax levy.

If the district is approved and the millage levy defeated, the law permits two more elections for the millage within two years.

Before the original proposition was submitted, it was suggested that the college be erected within a three-mile radius of M-53 and M-81, but the final decision always remains with the board of trustees, the official ruling body of the college.

Set 7 more county bridge load limits

The Tuscola County Road Commission has announced weight limits for seven bridges in the county. The seven additional bridges brings to seventy the total number of bridges with weight limits.

The bridges include the Carson Road bridge over the Southgate Drain, the Old State Road bridge over the Terry Drain, the Graf Road bridge over the Bach Drain, the Old State Road Bridge over the Northwest Drain, the Allen Road Bridge over the Allen Drain, the Hoppe Road Bridge over the Wiscoggin Drain, and the Zimmerman Road Bridge over the Wiscoggin Drain.

The weight limits vary from 3 to 10 tons.

Little damage in area barn fire

A mysterious fire broke out in the barn of widow Mrs. Eugene Le Valley six miles south of Cass City at Decker-ville Road about 5 a.m. Sunday morning.

The cause of the fire is yet undetermined.

The Elkhart Township Fire Department was called to the scene after a driver noticed flames and woke the family. Firemen estimated approximately $100 damage to the barn.

The barn has not been in use and housed only one piece of used farm machinery. It was the second Sunday in a row the fire department has been called to the scene of a fire.

Cass City and Uby Vo-Ag teachers mold different programs

Agriculture is the Thumb area's largest industry. The bridge between contemporary agriculture and what it will be in the future depends largely upon agricultural education today. An important part of this education is student training in the vocational agriculture program at high schools.

It is the vo-ag instructor that sets the format for the vo-ag program - what the students learn and how they learn it. The Chronicle examined the methods of the Cass City and the Uby programs and discovered unique differences in bridging the gap between contemporary and future agriculture, differences in vo-ag instruction.

The schools are of comparable size. Though Uby FFA's have fewer individual projects, they are strong in group activities - and the team spirit contrasts sharply with Cass City's more individual-oriented farm management programs.

In the focus of the programs are the instructors themselves. Uby's new first-year-teaching instructor, Jim LeCureux, is an aggressive young man with ambitious group projects. He is slight and earnest. He has an FFA chapter president he describes as a "good club leader."

Cass City's vo-ag instructor, Lyle Clarke, is a 15-year veteran who has brought coherence and continuity to the school's vo-ag program. He has a relaxed, yet spontaneous method and emphasizes the individual student and his role in a self-developed agricultural program.

One boy for example, Dave Milligan, will have over 30 acres of crops to match his several dairy cattle. Another, Dave Little, has 10 pigs, a couple of beef cattle, and will also have crop acreage this summer.

LeCureux came to Uby this past year and faced a dwindling FFA chapter and vo-ag program. One of his first moves was to acquire a tiny building, donated by a farmer, that was rejuvenated and converted into a chicken brooder.

Now, just weeks later, his chapter of FFA's is in a full fledged poultry growing contest to end in late March at a livestock judging contest at MSU. The pampered pullets will also be a delectable dish at the annual parent-son banquet in April and will represent a savings of the menu as well.

Cass City will also be participating in the MSU State-wide livestock judging contest. With the characteristic approach that "there has to be a need among the students," Clarke's FFA's will be judging livestock of the type they have as individual projects. Clarke expects to send about five teams judging dairy, dairy products, forestry, swine and sheep.

Clarke's approach is functional: "The kids have to be sold on it; they have to want to do it." He will soon conduct a survey of his boys to see if the chapters can start projects as a group to help those boys who don't have the opportunity to do so at home.

Clarke resented recent State FFA agent recommended programs for the Cass City vo-ag program without consulting him. The agent, after spending one day annually with the vo-ag instructor, recommended that experimental plots be established, a small nursery be built, an ornamental horticulture course added to the curriculum, and a nature trail in the woodlot next to the school.

But Clarke sees a plethora of problems in such projects. Yet their group will, regardless, continue their hopes for a school beautification project this spring. Uby also plans such a project.

And quite a few others. The village of Uby has turned over to the vo-ag department a 160-acre farm earmarked as a future site for a village sewage treatment plant. Village leaders have no intent, however, of using the farm for the earmarked purpose for quite some time and until then, Jim LeCureux intends to make the most of it.

Already, Geigl Chemical Corp. is experimenting with weed control sprays in a seven-acre test plot. There are two acres of sweet corn, five acres of hay and five acres of oats. The sweet corn acreage, he said, is expected to yield the FFA chapter $200 per acre in yields later this summer.

WSCS discusses careers

At the meeting of the WSCS Monday evening, Mrs. Edward Baker led a question and answer period on "The Status of Woman," the paper she had given at the February meeting. The discussion ended with the conclusion that each woman must realize that she is first a child of God, then a wife and mother and last a career for herself. These should be a guide line for her life.

The discussion was informal and was held because of the illness of Mrs. Stanley Kira Sr. who was to speak on Comparative Religions.

Mrs. Grant Hutchinson, president, reminded members

LWML meets

Mrs. Richard Eyer narrated a film "Survive", at the Lutheran Women's Missionary League meeting Monday evening at the Lutheran Church of the Good Shepherd.

It dealt with starvation in the world and with land use. Mrs. Frank Butler led devotions and the lesson on population growth.

Mrs. A. Klopp was a guest and Mrs. Milton Hofmeister and Mrs. Arlan Hartwick were hostesses.

Mrs. Field new band booster prexy

Cass City Band Boosters elected Mrs. Lanore Field president at a meeting Monday evening in the band room of Cass City High School.

Mrs. Marilyn Alexander was elected vice-president; Mrs. Florence Schell, secretary, and Mrs. Violet Wills, treasurer.

The eighth grade band, dressed in new blazers, entertained. The group will be playing in the Junior High Band Festival in Flint Saturday, Mar. 8, at Bryant Junior High School.

The band boosters learned that 35 uniforms are needed for the senior band and several projects will be slated to find money for them. The organization's funds were spent for the blazers. Appointed to the ways and means committee were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Guernsey.

The first project will be a candy sale starting Mar. 17. Club officials urged parents to attend the next meeting of the club Monday, Mar. 24, at the high school.

They called attention again to missing band uniforms. Parts of 10 are missing.

VO-AG PROGRAMS

Lyle Clarke's group doesn't rule out group activity. This summer Clarke hopes to promote interest in a week-long summer camping trip. "It's in their hands where they want to go," he said, with his usual policy of giving the boys almost full autonomy.

"We start different things every year," he said.

Both vo-ag instructors have hopes of starting co-op work training programs in their respective communities. Both believe the program would further educational objectives and both recognize potential problems in scheduling and supervision.

3 area youths slightly injured in Sunday crash

Three area youths injured in an auto accident early Saturday morning have been released from Hills and Dales Hospital.

Albert Cook, 23, of Cass City and John Alexander, 25, of Owendale were examined and released Saturday morning. Alexander suffered a sprained right shoulder and bruised right knee.

John Grey, 22, of Gagetown was hospitalized until Monday morning. He suffered a laceration of the forehead and a slight cut in the left shoulder.

Alexander was the driver of the convertible auto which Huron Deputy Larry Ringvick reported ran off the west side of the Owendale Road, traveling south, and struck a tree, 3 miles south of Owendale.

Alexander told Ringvick he thought one of the tie rods on the auto had broken. Ringvick said he found the tie rods intact and ticketed Alexander for careless driving.

The mishap occurred at 5:03 a.m. Saturday.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Bulen

In the weeks since the New York Jets big upset of the Baltimore Colts in the Super Bowl, a national sports service has taken a survey to find what the experts say were the other biggest upsets of all-time in sports history. . . . What do you think were the other biggest upsets? . . . Well, here are the ones the national sports service picked beside this year's Super Bowl. . . . Jim Braddock (a 10-1 underdog) beating Max Baer for the heavyweight boxing title in 1935. . . . Cassius Clay (an 8-1 underdog) beating Sonny Liston for the heavy title, 1964. . . . An obscure 20-year old ex-caddy, Francis Ouimet beating the great golfers of the world to win the U. S. Open in 1913. . . . Little Centre College upsetting Harvard which was then the big national football power, in 1921. . . . And the Braves going from last place in July to not only win the pennant but upsetting the supposedly invincible world champion A's in 4 straight games in the 1914 World Series. . . . Those are the sports upsets selected as the biggest of all-time.

Here's an odd one you may not have known about the great Stan Musial. . . . Stan, during his career, led the league in batting average, hits, runs, runs batted in, doubles and triples -- but he never led the league in home runs -- and that's especially odd when you consider that Musial hit 475 homers in his career, but he never won a home run championship.

Rabbit tracks

BY JOHN HAIRE

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Trivia department: It takes about one hour and 20 minutes to walk from the stop light in Cass City to Elmwood Road; east two miles to Crawford Road; north a mile to M-81 and then back to the stop light.

How do I know? I walked it Friday. If you're asking yourself, what is he, some kind of nut? The answer is yes.

Don't complain too much about the condition of M-53. Everything is relative. And if you relate M-53 to a couple of roads around Big Rapids we come up smelling like roses.

M-131 south of Big Rapids is about the same as M-53, except that it has numerous hills and curves.

But the real prize winner is M-20 that cuts across the state to Mt. Pleasant and Saginaw. This has to be Michigan's worst major state trunkline. Unless you've been over it, you just wouldn't believe the number of hairpin curves and blind turns. It must have been designed during the horse and buggy days and I wouldn't want to bet that even the horse didn't have trouble negotiating it.

If Dick Eria eats his own cooking, he comes by that midriff honestly. When the men want some really scrumptious food they don't ask their wives, they see Dick. He has always been the chief cook and sausage maker for Rotary shindigs and last Thursday he reached a new culinary peak at the White Creek Club when he and Ken Klinkman cooked for Ladies' Day.

Somebody mumbled something about corned beef and tenderloin simmered in wine sauces. . . but all I can say for sure is that Dick was big (pun intended) in the kitchen and my diet went crashing down the drain.

Here's another candidate for the Chronicle's super fan medal. Pin it on Ken Maharg who hasn't missed a home game (barring illness) since 1944 and has also seen an estimated 75 per cent of the games on the road.

Fritz Neitzel's humor really turns on Dick Haines, Chronicle reporter. The other day when he chased fire information he talked with Fritz for details. Fritz broke him up by reporting: I know for sure how the LeValley barn burned last Sunday. It was a bunch of "fire-fies and lightning bugs whooping it up."

Now if that doesn't turn you on, be charitable. . . would you feel like cracking jokes about a fire that roused you at 5:08 on a Sunday morning?

Deford

By: Rosemary Novak

Approximately one hundred people turned out for Deford's successful open house on Wednesday, Feb. 26.

The fourth graders have been using their creative talents a lot lately. They have made sculptures out of straws, a puppet stage and the puppets, and have been writing skits and presenting them to their classmates.

W. Campbell Elementary

By: Joel Palmateer and Jesse Groth

Chief of Police Carl Palmateer paid a visit to Mrs. Howarth's room last week. He spoke to the students about bicycle safety and what to do if strangers offer gifts. He also showed the students his handcuffs, gun, and bullets.

Mr. Palmateer plans on returning to Campbell Elementary later in the spring to show film strips to the entire school.

Cass City Intermediate

Seventh Grade Tournaments by Paul Bifoss Scott Hartel

The seventh grade tournaments were held at C.C.H.S. Monday, Wednesday and Saturday nights of last week. Cass City played on Monday and Saturday nights.

Monday Cass City played Marlette. Cass City won the game 47 to 29. High point man for Cass City was Tom Melendorf with 22 points. Burton was high point man for Marlette with 10.

On Saturday Lakers and Cass City fought it out for the championship. Lakers became champions when they defeated Cass City 45-28. High scorers for Cass City were Scott Hartel with 15 points and Tom Melendorf with 10. Leppien scored 25 points for the Laker team.

Mr. James MacTavish was the seventh grade team's coach this year.

The seventh grade class sponsored a concession stand in the cafeteria all three nights.

C. C. H. S.

The students in Mr. Peterson's physics class took a "field trip" to Cable and Walbro Corporations in Cass City last Tuesday.

At Walbro the students were first taken to see the IBM machinery, where Mr. Dick Wallace explained and demonstrated their use. Next the students witnessed the total process of producing carburetors which could be used in lawnmowers.

At Cable the students saw the entire process of coating copper wires with plastic, combining these plastic wires into cables, and using the cables to form useful products such as electrical cords.

Also on Tuesday a student council meeting was held. The council discussed twirp week, the talent show, and the student teacher basketball game, which is to be held on the same night that the G. A. A. girls play the women faculty. (The date is to be announced.)

Upon the request of the varsity club, the student council considered the problem of guys wearing letters or medals they didn't earn. The council, although unable to do anything about the problem, condemned its practice.

Approximately sixty seniors in Mrs. Wynes's College Preparatory English classes went to the Saginaw Library Thursday to do some research for their term papers.

When the two busloads of seniors arrived at the once quiet library, the students were directed into a stately research room where they were given a few pointers by the main librarian.

At twelve noon, after two hours of playing bookworms, the students climbed back in the buses and headed for MacDonald's for lunch. After lunch it was back to the library for an hour. During this hour the students gathered the material they wanted to check out and frantically tried to get notes on what they weren't allowed to check out.

Friday afternoon the final pep assembly of the year was held. Sherry Bacon, varsity cheerleader, gave a pep talk in which she asked for student support at Friday's game.

The senior members of the basketball team, Mic Miracle, Tom Gunther, Terry Brinkman, and Tom Kolb; Coach Wynes; the senior cheerleaders, Carla Calka and Lori Smith, and their coach, Mrs. Wynes, were all given special recognition at the assembly.

Again this week the Sophomores and the Seniors battled it out for the spirit jug, but the Freshmen won! The final score for this year is:

11-1
10-5
9-1

CLUB NEWS

The French Club had a meeting after school Tuesday. Our two girl exchange students from Chile, Carmen and Geraldina, attended the meeting and spoke to the group about their homeland.

The G. A. A. had a short business meeting after school Wednesday. The student-teacher basketball game was tentatively scheduled for Thursday, March 13.

The Drama Club had a short meeting after school Thursday to assemble the play scripts for those who planned on trying out for the play.

TID BITS

The Senior Motto Committee met again last Wednesday to search for more possible mottoes. The class council will narrow the list to approximately five and the class will choose the final motto.

Mrs. Goodall's sixth grade boys' gym class demonstrated gymnastic techniques during half-time of the Varsity basketball game Friday night.

"HARVEY" has been chosen for this year's school play, which is scheduled for the week end of April 18. Part tryouts were to have been held Tuesday and Wednesday.

The play will be directed by Mr. William Crouch. (Should be good!)

Debbie Spencer, Ron Crandell, Sherry Turner, Bill Spencer, John Novak and Carla Calka, all students at C.C.H.S., wrote essays which appeared in the Youth Forum page of the Saginaw News last Sunday.

Letters to Editor

March 2, 1969

Dear John Haire,

Many thanks for the favorable mention of ONE ENDLESS HOUR in your column. It is sincerely appreciated.

French rights have already been sold to Gallimard for their Serie Noire suspense line, and I'm getting nibbles from Germany and Sweden.

I'm just finishing up another book with the same principal character (working title: FIRE-BALL) which will be on the stands this fall. This one has a background of Key West, the Guantanamo Naval Base, and Havana, Cuba. It involves the attempted recovery of U. S. Government cash sent to Cuba pre-Castro.

All best,

Set meet on tax protest

Caro, Michigan
March 3, 1969

Dear Editor:

Will you please print the following in your public letter box? Citizens in Tuscola county in the Thumb of Michigan have decided that they should protest property tax. They propose that property owners withhold payment of property tax up to three years, and invest this money at the highest interest rate. The consequences of this action would be disastrous to local and state government.

Citizens feel that this possibility would make our lawmakers aware of the desperate state of many property owners, and would influence them to effect necessary changes. This could be used as a bargaining tool. This cannot be done by one person, but requires the combined participation of all citizens of the state.

We urge all other counties in the state to set up a similar organization, with the plan to ultimately have a state-wide coordinating organization. We will be glad to discuss methods of organization with any county group.

We hope many counties will be represented at the meeting of action of this type March 12, 8 p.m., at the Caro Gun Club, located 1 mile south of Caro on M-24, east on Gun Club Road 1/4 mile, on south side of road, away from the road about 1/8 mile.

It is important for everyone to attend this meeting, since news media from various parts of the state will be present, and it is important that they be impressed with our determination. Write 617 W. Lincoln St., Caro, Michigan for information.

Sincerely,
Dr. John Karpovich and Charles Gussell, Co-Chairman, 3450 W. Caro Rd., Caro, Mich.
Mrs. Don DeVerna, Publicity Agt. Pro-Tem.

Says land tax inequitable

Deford, Michigan
March 1, 1969

Dear Editor,

In regards to the article you used concerning students at Ferris U. and the farmers in Tuscola county, I feel I have to write.

The analogy of a student protest with that of the farmers threatening the holding back of taxes is not the analogy that should be used. The comparison of the Boston Tea Party and threatened tax withholding would be much more accurate.

College students uprisings are idealistic and moral issues, whereas the farmers plight is well known, but unfortunately often ignored. Approximately 6% of the people pay very close to 50% of the real estate tax, plus an above average increase scheduled for the 1969 tax year. It is very disturbing that the tax can be increased without any balance of power on the peoples part. After all, the government is supposed to be the people.

Another example, are the government representatives elected by the people; as soon as elected, sit down and raise their own salaries as much as 41% in the last few months. Mr. Editor, I realize that a story or article which is argumentative can stir much interest and comment, especially within a certain segment of society.

In closing, I might add that I am in sympathy with the farmers on the western side of the county. Unfortunately, farmers do not command the attention nor the conciliatory results of students or Negroes.

Sincerely,
Just another farmer,
Ronald G. Hampshire

Don't wait for your next house to enjoy electric heat. You can afford it right now. Honest.

DREAM HOME YOUR HOUSE WITH ELECTRIC HEAT.

"This big old farmhouse of ours has electric heat," said Albert Foego of Plymouth. "We heat both floors—nine big rooms—and the cost is cheap. Runs us only a little over $300 a year."

EDISON

UP AND IN went this toss of Uby's Carl Roth as the Bearcats rallied to win the Class C tourney opener Monday against Sandusky.

Uby-Marlette advance in tight well played C tourney games

Maybe next year.

The Cass City Red Hawks bowed out of Cass City's District Class C tourney Tuesday night, losing for the third time this season to the Marlette Red Raiders, 72-68.

But the Hawk performance brought visions of better things for Cass City in the 1969-70 season.

This will be small consolation for the seniors who played their last game Tuesday. Tom Guinther, Terry Brinkman and Tom Kolb have ended their high school careers.

But the play of the underclassmen who battled Marlette to the wire before bowing should improve Cass City's record next season.

Especially strong performances were turned in by Tony Davis and Joe Hillaker. Davis has come into his own at the tail end of the season.

Tuesday he shot well, passed well and played aggressive defense. Hillaker as usual swept the boards for Cass City and led the team in scoring with 26 points. Davis scored 17.

In the final analysis two factors were responsible for Cass City's defeat.

The Hawks lost the ball four times to the Red Raiders' pressing defense and the winners converted an astonishing 28 of 31 free throw tries.

It was a great game for the casual fan. . . or the Marlette rooter. The tide of the game ebbed and flowed all the way and the final verdict was in doubt with as little as 35 seconds left to play.

The teams played on nearly even terms in the first half. Cass City was sparked by some good corner shooting from Davis. At the end of the period

Marlette led 20-18.

In the second period, many Hawk fans were probably resigned to another defeat as the Red Raiders pulled ahead helped by two quick buckets from Cass City turnovers caused by the Raider press. At the half the score was 34-27.

But in the third period and the early part of the fourth quarter, the tide changed. Cass City came out strong and started whittling away at Marlette's margin.

With 3:42 left in the period, the score was tied at 39-39. Both teams started burning the moshes and by the end of the period, Cass City had forged in front, 50-49.

Cass City had the momentum and early in the fourth quarter it looked as if the club were going to score a major upset. Robbie Alexander scored three quick buckets in the opening moments and Hawk fans went wild as Cass City's margin suddenly had ballooned to seven points and a Hawk victory was plainly visible.

But as suddenly as the streak started, it collapsed and Marlette took over. Three minutes later the lead had vanished and Marlette had forged ahead.

The Raiders moved five points in front about three quarters of the way through the period, but Cass City charged back to within two points, 68-66, with 1:21 left in the game.

Marlette hung onto the ball until fouled and then calmly converted charity tries as the desperate Hawks tried to salvage a victory in the waning seconds.

A bright spot for local rooters is that the Hawks who played

Tuesday will be back next year. Coach Jim Wynes will have Hillaker, Davis, Marty Zawilinski and Alexander as a nucleus to build around when the cage battles are resumed next season.

Uby wins

Uby marched to the semifinals of the Class C district tourney at Cass City Monday night with a come from behind victory over Sandusky, 66-59, at Cass City High School.

With the victory, the Bearcats won the right to play Deckerville Wednesday.

The game was closer than the final score indicated. With less than two minutes to play only three points separated the two clubs.

But when Sandusky went into a gambling press, Uby held its poise and scored key baskets to widen its winning margin.

In the first period, Sandusky took advantage of some defensive lapses by Uby and moved quickly in front.

In a see-saw game, the Redskins left the floor at intermission with a 39-31 advantage.

In the second half, Uby made some defensive adjustments and shut off most of Sandusky's baskets.

Myron Wruble did some yeoman work on the backboard to pace the comeback of the Bearcats.

In the third period, the Orange and Black moved within a point of the Redskins only to slip back by three points as the period ended.

But Coach Richard Holdship's charges really took charge in the last eight minutes.

Early in the period they took the lead for the first time since the opening moments of the game. Hitting with consistency the Bearcats moved into a seven-point lead midway in the final quarter.

The Redskins came roaring back to move back into contention to set the stage for the heroics in the final two minutes of the game.

Hawks drop final game to Marlette

Cass City dropped its final game of the year in a tourney preview at Cass City High School Friday as the visiting Marlette Red Raiders staged a last half rally to win, 68-62.

The Hawks started strong and rushed into a 16-10 first period lead and it was an exciting game for three periods.

In the end it was Cass City's inability to cope with the press that sent the team to its 15th defeat in 16 outings.

A bright spot for Cass City was the outstanding game played by Junior Tony Davis. Davis passed well, scored well and was aggressive on defense.

He posted his best scoring night of the year with 15 points. Reliable Joe Hillaker was the only other Hawk in double figures with 11 points. He also kept Cass City in the game with 19 rebounds.

Terry Brinkman was aggressive on the boards for Cass City and was missed when he sat out about a quarter and a half because of fouls.

There wasn't much difference between the two teams, except in the turnovers that enabled the Red Raiders to score several cheap buckets. The visitors connected on 27 of 74 tries while Cass City hit 19 of 63 shots at the bucket.

Cass City had guarded hopes of an upset in the first quarter with a tight defense and better than average shooting.

Marlette turned the tables in the next period with an 18-13 advantage to move within a point of Cass City. The teams battled on near even terms in the third period. Marlette scored a basket in the closing seconds to lead at the end of three quarters by a single point, 46-45.

But in the final period, the visitors moved steadily ahead and with a 22-7 margin led the game with a 16 point lead with four minutes left.

The box score:

Tell area pupils at 2 Universities

Michigan State University this week released statistics concerning students at the institution from the Upper Thumb. Tuscola county has 220 pupils at the university and 40 graduates. There are 401 alumni living in the county. Sanilac has 157 students; 25 graduates, and 288 alumni. From Huron county 234 students are attending. There are 26 graduates and 272 alumni.

Slightly fewer students from the three counties are attending Central Michigan University. CMU records indicated that Tuscola is sending 188; Huron, 173, and Sanilac 140 pupils to Mt. Pleasant.

Central Michigan authorities report that 97 per cent of the school's students come from Michigan. Wayne county sends 1,025. Tuscola county ranks 12th in the number of students attending. Huron county ranks 18th and Sanilac, 18th.

Marriage Licenses

Marriage licenses granted or requested during the past week at the Tuscola County Court-house include:

Robert Clare Hascall, 28, of Vassar and Karen Jean Hascall, 26, of Mayville.
Paul Edward Leyva, 19, of Gagetown and Beverly Ann Maxwell, 19, of Pigeon.
Maynard Homer Fackler, 29, of Mayville and Gail Rosina Young, 31, of Vassar.
David Wayne Tuls, 24, of Caro and Bette Clayton Kolbe, 25, of Northville.
Douglas Dwain Don, 19, of Fairgrove and Peggy Lee Janisee, 19, of Akron.
Raymond Chumblor, 31, of Bad Axe and Dianne Elizabeth Legue, 21, of Vassar.

Sentence several in circuit court

The following were sentenced March 4 by Tuscola County Circuit Judge James Churchill. John Wesley Metzger of Holly was sentenced $400 fines and costs for breaking and entering with intent to commit a larceny at Frutchey Bean Co. at Vassar. He was sentenced to the county jail for four months with a credit of four days for time served while awaiting trial. He was placed on probation for four years.

Ronald Beikengruber of Frankenmuth was sentenced for larceny from a motor vehicle, $400 in fines and costs and received a jail sentence of six weeks in the county jail, with a credit of four days for time served while awaiting trial. He paid restitution of $280.94 and was placed on probation 24 months.

Three men were sentenced in court for non-support: Donald Rohde of Mancelona was found in contempt and sentenced 30 days in jail or until payment of $509. Bobbie East was found in contempt and sentenced 90 days in the county jail, or until payment of $1,000. Daniel Ozbart was also found in contempt and sentenced 10 days in the county jail, or until payment of $100. Ervin Walrod of Gagetown reported to the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department when he discovered school gym supplies at the intersection of Carson and King roads.

TB skin tests slated for pupils

Next week, Cass City students in grades 3, 4, 5, 6 and 9, 10, 11, 12 will have an opportunity for a tuberculin skin test on Monday and Tuesday, March 10 and 11.

Parents are urged to sign the consent cards for all eligible students so they can take advantage of this opportunity to protect their health, Dr. Rowe said.

The tuberculin test is a simple, harmless skin test - just a "pin prick" on the forearm. The arm will be examined two or three days later to determine whether or not there has been a reaction to the test. Chest X-rays will be advised for reactors to show whether or not any harm has been done to the lungs.

"If It Fitz..."

About those 4-letter words

BY JIM FITZGERALD

The first newspaper to give me a by-line, thus pulling the plug on the flood of 4-letter words, is still causing the same kind of trouble, 19 years later.

I refer to the State News, the student newspaper at Michigan State University. It is currently under attack by the state legislators in charge of counting the letters in words. This committee of lawmakers is not to be confused with the committee in charge of stamping out nudity on the campus.

And neither committee should be confused with the small band of legislators who don't have time to protect student morals because they're busy trying to figure out how more kids can get better educations, or perhaps how mentally retarded youngsters might be rescued from cruddy dungeons. It is not easy to solve these problems and still afford pay raises and a $40 million office building for all legislators, no matter how stupid.

I don't subscribe to the State News, so I don't know which 4-letter words it printed. But Rep. James Brown (R-Okemos) said the newspaper is "bankrupt in morality" and run by a bunch of "filth peddlers." Brown is a friend of mine and formerly published a fine newspaper. I respect his ability to recognize filth when he sees it.

Jim Brown was an MSU journalism student the same years I was there. I wish I could be a devil and report that he used to write dirty words on campus statues, but I can't. The truth is, all I can remember about Jim in those days is that he had hair then. And I'm certain he doesn't remember my student days at all - not even the State News article I wrote about artificial insemination as practiced in the MSU cattle barns.

My first paragraph went something like this: "There are a bunch of cows running around this state who don't know who their dads are. Their mothers don't know for sure, either."

And I went on from there in the fashion of most sophomore writers in search of attention. It turned out to be pretty daring stuff for MSU, 1950. A couple of professors went to the News advisor snarled some reasonable words in my ear. I got the message which was watch it, wise guy, or you'll be out of a job. No legislator had to demand an investigation.

That's how it should be handled today. Some of these college editors may be nothing more than dirty little boys with their first crayons. They should be canned. But most young editors, I suspect, are simply a bit ahead of their time. They are using words you might hear in the movies and on TV and read in thousands of books and magazines. Words commonly used by a large segment of our population when they ask you to pass the butter. But these are words not yet accepted in our newspapers. Not even when used as quotes from a public, newsworthy speech, as in the case of the State News.

So there is a problem. But it is nothing requiring breast-beating speeches from legislators who turn on with the TV lights. The voters elect university regents. They also hire ex-newspapermen to advise student publications. Let these people handle the problem which, when measured by the limited circulation of college papers, doesn't rank far ahead of panty raids. And let the legislators concern themselves with the tasks more befitting their salaries, if not their abilities.

A charge often made is that students should darn well behave because taxpayers are subsidizing them. Many of the kids couldn't afford college if working citizens didn't pick up part of the tab. I wouldn't argue with this. But I wouldn't say something about playing ball in greenhouses.

It has been demanded that the State News be kicked out of the Michigan Press Association (MPA) because of the dirty words. If I were Edward Brill, State News editor, I'd inquire into the relationship between MSU and MPA. The association sells a clipping service, thus making it a profit-making business. And for umpteen years the MPA has enjoyed rent-free offices on the MSU campus. I learned this from an MPA officer just last month.

Why should taxpayers subsidize the MPA?

Which is a question that might bring forth some 4-letter words from editors older than Brill.

Catholic Women's Council meets

St. Pancratius Women's Council met Monday evening, March 3, President Mrs. Tom Herron opened the meeting with a prayer.

The council paid the balance of $400 on the new gas furnace at the church.

Officers will be elected at the April 7 meeting. Candidates are: vice-president, Celia House and Ann Rogers; treasurer, Elsie Hahn and Delores Tuckey; and secretary, Chris Erla and Marion Brown. A rummage sale will be held April 18-19.

The group decided to attend a play at the Fisher Theatre and have dinner in Detroit sometime in April.

The over 90's

Tough Frank Lester: a fighter still ready for the next bell

THE BELL is in good condition, but then it's only 83 years old. That's young when compared to Frank Lester who is 101 and still kicking the gong around.

Fifth in a series

Today many young men can hop in their car and take off for the week end, and in the course of that week end travel several states.

Perhaps one of those states would be Pennsylvania, and perhaps one of those roads would be a road that Frank Lester, age 101, would have driven over in the 1880's or 1890's.

Because Frank Lester was just a boy when "Pennsylvania" road builders sought him out because "I knowed enough to drive oxen and could drive them good." With the help of a Pennsylvania uncle, Frank Lester then helped pioneer roads through Pennsylvania mountains for 50¢ a day.

He grew up in the early Michigan village of Memphis and he was one of 10 of a farmer's children. Frank Lester was the oldest and he's the only one surviving.

Much of his vision has left him, and he can't hear very well any more but he has plenty of energy and character to make up for it.

"Maybe I was too mean to die," he said. One thing, he's as tough a century-old man as you'll ever see.

"I used to wrestle for money," he said in a voice so strong it leaves little room for doubt.

And the fact that he's nearly 102 years old doesn't bother Frank Lester, because in his day he was the champion finger puller "and haven't been pulled out yet."

And if you take on his challenge, he'll let you pull him, chair and all, right across the floor a bit, before YOU give up.

"All my life I've been a fighter," he said.

And what kind of a diet does a 101-year-old fellow like that have? Shredded wheat. Shredded wheat for breakfast, shredded wheat for lunch, and shredded wheat for dinner.

You can have turkey and all the trimmings, Frank Lester still wants his shredded wheat. Plenty of milk and sugar by the tablespoon, but always shredded wheat.

For Frank Lester it appears that vigor, thrift, and clean living is paying dividends. He's never smoked and seldom drank. No cancer for Frank Lester. You can tell he loves it that way the way he'll be a 'hummin' and a singin' over the washbowl lavatory.

When he returned to Michigan from Pennsylvania, he cleared forests from what is now the Eldon Bruce farm near Kingston. There he farmed for many long hours for many days and despite his hard work, became known in the Kingston community for his jovial and vivacious personality.

One of his last jobs was as night watchman in the village of Kingston. Perhaps if he were still there, Kingston would be safer by day as well as night.

But for now he's glad spring is coming. "I don't like that cold," he said. "When it's spring, I'll be farming... in my mind."

If you tell Frank Lester you're a Republican, "... oh, be 'ya?" "That's too bad."

Mr. Lester lives with Mr. and Mrs. Byron Neff, his daughter and son-in-law near Kingston and Wilmot. He has two sons, Donald and Lee, and three daughters, Mrs. Byron (Marguerite) Neff, Mrs. Cecil (Phyllis) Lester (no relation) and Mrs. Hazel Larson.

What's Frank do in his spare time? What does any red-blooded American boy do? "When the weather's up to it, I got some women over in Kingston I like the looks of."

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

An estimated 25 Cass City women descended on a special meeting of the council to protest the village's removal of trees to make way for curb and gutter on two streets approaching Main street.

Mrs. Barbara Joan Henriksen from St. Clair county has been employed as Tuscola County Home Extension Agent.

From a long list of candidates who were seeking the post as superintendent of Cass City Schools, the school board selected Donald Crouse, 32, of Forest Hills Public Schools,

Grand Rapids, to replace retiring Willis Campbell.

Approximately 2,500 pounds of boneless hams valued at $2,000 were destroyed in a flash fire at Eria Meat Packing Company.

Mrs. Russell Ayres, Mrs. Richard Eria, Mrs. Lloyd Bryant, Mrs. James Husa and Mrs. Pat Rabideau were awarded certificates following completion of a four-day Girl Scout leadership course at the Darbee School at Caro.

TEN YEARS AGO

Lynn Atwell, 7, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Atwell of Cass City, won the seven to ten-year-old competition and her time was a second better than the winning time in the group that included 14-year-old skiers at the meet held at Grampian Mountain.

Cash Asher, a frequent visitor to Cass City who makes his home in Texas, has an article published in the January issue of Texas Game and Fish Magazine.

Mrs. Martha "Grandma" Osburn, Tuscola County's oldest resident, will celebrate her 103rd birthday during March.

Bill Johnston was elected president of the Cass City Lions Club.

Twenty-one scouts spent the week end at Wanigan, a cabin at Camp Kiwanis near Frankenmuth, Assistant Scoutmaster Jim MacTavish announced.

Linda Lebeda, Christa Dornay, Robert Kerr and Russell Parrish will enter the Great Lakes Regional Invitational speed meet at Arcadia Roller Rink in Detroit.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Fritz entertained at a birthday dinner Dr. and Mrs. I. A. Fritz and Francis Fritz and sons, Jerry and Tommy. Dr. I. A. Fritz was 83 years old.

Little interest was taken in the village election with only 21 citizens visiting the polls. Elected were president, Walter L. Mann; clerk, Cameron M. Wallace; treasurer, Ernest Croft; assessor, Chester L. Graham.

Mrs. Orson A. Hendrick, 87, long time resident of Ellington township, died at her home.

Melva Elaine McConnell, 10, received a package containing a hula skirt and all accessories necessary for a complete Hawaiian costume from her uncle, Carlton C. Keilitz, who is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Montague will celebrate their 51st wedding anniversary with an open house at their home in Novesta township.

Mrs. Joseph Young of Gagetown is confined to her home, due to injuries received when she fell on the ice.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Michigan buyers of baby chicks will benefit from the National hatchery code under which sellers of day-old poultry are required to meet certain conditions which are to the buyer's advantage, according to J. A. Hannah, National administrator for the code and formerly poultry specialist at MSC.

George M. Abke of Columbia township, while visiting the Caro courthouse on business, suffered a heart attack and died.

Ruth Schenck, daughter of Mrs. Alma Schenck of Cass City, will be the valedictorian of the class of 1934 of the Cass City High School. Marie Papp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Papp of Decker, was named salutatorian.

Two men from Detroit are awaiting trial at Sandusky on charges of armed robbery of William Langenburg, Argyle storekeeper.

Mrs. A. A. Ricker will represent the Cass City Evangelical church at the state conference of that denomination at Detroit.

Gifford chapter has annual party

Gifford Chapter 369 OES of Gagetown held its annual card party Saturday evening with 90 attending from Bad Axe, Uby, Caseville, Kawkawlin, Cass City and Caro.

High prize for women went to Mrs. Eugene McIntosh of Bad Axe and low prize for women, Mildred Lauria. High prize for men went to Eugene McIntosh and low prize for men, George Jetta. Door prizes were awarded to Mr. and Mrs. John Zimerski, Don DeLong and Francis Withey. Traveling prize was won by Archie McLachlan Sr.

Committee for the party included Worthy Matron Mable Hendershot, assisted by Juanita Withey, Onalee Rapson, Vivian Strause and Cecil Loomis.

Agent's Corner

Good housing important to family

By Mrs. Ann Ross

Extension Agent

Housing may date back to the days of caves and other primitive dwelling, but only recently has man seriously begun to understand that man's housing is related to his social and psychological behavior.

We are beginning to prove the effects of housing on such aspects of life as security, group cohesiveness, identity and group conflict. As research continues, we may be able to relate housing to creativity and life fulfillment.

There is a close relationship between good housing and good health, from the standpoint of protection and sanitation.

Housing maintenance affects the practices that go on within the home.

Housing facilities affect the child-rearing practices. If storage is provided - children can be taught to use it. Where there is limited storage, how can one learn "a place for everything and everything in its place?"

Location of housing units in relation to other units and to needed services is a factor in formation of friendships - because of the opportunity for interaction between neighbors.

Housing has much to do with whether a family's values will be fulfilled.

Adequate housing can contribute positively to the development of a proud sense of belonging and caring.

One of the most important ways to help families build a satisfying life is to help them in choosing liveable housing. Because housing "shows up" in the behavior of family members.

Girl Scouts plan open house

An open house honoring the 57th year of Girl Scouts will be held March 16 at the Intermediate School gym from three to five in the afternoon. All troops from Cass City, Gagetown and Deford will have displays and perform activities. The event is free to the public and refreshments will be served.

In other Girl Scout news, the Brownie troop, with Mrs. Tom Herron and Mrs. Hank Nolan, decorated cookies for the State Hospital for Valentines. The troop had as a special guest, Mrs. Arie VanderMeer who showed slides from Holland in observance of Thinking Day.

The Junior troop, with leaders Mrs. Don Erla and Mrs. Scott Kelley, were to have met Wednesday, March 5, with the Business and Professional Women's Club to perform skits, working toward a dramatic badge.

Troop 113, Mrs. Charles Tuckey, leader, also worked on a printing badge when the girls made prints on headscarfs they made.

Several of the leaders attended a training course in crafts in Bay City. The group included Mrs. Tom Herron, Mrs. Don Erla, Mrs. Bob MacKay and Mrs. Bill Kritzman.

Also in Bay City attending a class in recruitment of volunteers were Mrs. K. I. MacRae and Mrs. Dick Greenwood.

A gift of money was given to the Girl Scouts with which three marching flags were purchased.

FIRING LINE DNR shooting blanks in deer kill stand

By Richard Haines

The state legislature permits the Conservation Commission to authorize an antlerless hunting season on three criteria:

- 1) crop damage
- 2) food shortage
- 3) road, or car kill

There has been virtually no crop damage in recent years. Local conservationist Jim Geilhart reports one isolated damage claim made by landscaper William J. Strand, south of Caro who reported damage to seedlings and shrubs three years ago. He no longer plants that type of shrub.

On the second point, the entire Thumb area is abundant in deer food, and area sportsmen, conservationists, and even biologists are quick to concede the point.

The third criteria for authorizing an antlerless hunt is "car kill", or accidents caused by deer. Geilhart believes the car kill rate is increasing because not all law enforcement officers report them, and that non-insured drivers may not report them at all. In recent years, the car kill has been between 50 and 90 killed in Tuscola county, according to Geilhart's local statistics.

However, if it is the responsibility of the Conservation Department to determine more accurately the number of deer being killed by cars, then they should peruse police accident reports themselves and make an educated guess of the number being killed but unreported.

If the Conservation Department contends the antlerless hunt is needed, then it is their responsibility to accurately determine the number being killed.

Then, they must not only show that this number is increasing, BUT THAT THE PUBLIC FINDS THAT INCREASE INTOLERABLE. Asked if the public finds it intolerable, biologist Jim Nederveld said, "I don't know."

When folks call Geilhart griping about the proposed antlerless deer hunt, he refers them to Nederveld.

An example, and I believe a representative example, is that of Harold Copeland, whose car was hit by a deer recently and the Chronicle ran a picture of him and his damaged car. Copeland stormed our office afterward properly scolding me for not making it explicit in the caption that, despite the accident, he was still fiercely opposed to the antlerless hunt.

Most remain opposed because it would inevitably decrease the herd population in the year of the antlerless season. Dave Arnold (referred to me by Nederveld) also conceded that point. "Though not necessarily," he said. To that I would add that 10 to 1 it WOULD necessarily.

He then followed that the antlerless season would, because of the car kill, for example, preserve the take for the legal hunter.

Preserve what take? Preventing the birth and life of 100 fawns by killing their "antlerless" mothers before they're born isn't preserving a damn thing.

Then Arnold said that we should be able to "afford" an antlerless season. I think it's quite obvious that whether or not we can "afford" one is not the question, the question is whether or not the present deer population NEEDS TO BE DECREASED.

After all that, Arnold said, "Well, we're only PROPOSING the antlerless hunt." That's right, they are, and that's why we're talking about it.

The "proposal period" is just an opportunity for a flitty PR job. It's a true chance to document their case for an antlerless hunt and so far they haven't begun. Yet they're proposing it.

Game official Robert Strong, in his recent presentation to the District United Conservation Club, gave no evidence whatsoever, connoting a need for a decrease in the herd population.

What the state legislature doesn't recognize as legitimate criteria for allowing an antlerless hunt is the boundary and number system for issuance of doe permits.

Smaller boundary areas with many imaginary lines through the woods makes effective enforcement of the law difficult. In other words, the Conservation Department publicly admits that the doe permits have corrupted hunter morality.

The larger boundary system and proposed antlerless hunting will disperse the hunters more evenly and provide more equitable hunting, they contend. However, the purpose of the Conservation Department is deer management, not herd decrease where it isn't warranted. I don't call an unnecessary decrease herd management.

And a decrease is unnecessary in the Thumb area, at least on the evidence served by the Conservation Department to date.

Herd management folks often scoff at the sacredness area hunters hold for the fairer sex of the deer species. Other species of game hold no such sacredness, they contend, why should deer?

Until a herd decrease is warranted, I believe the doe should remain sacred. When a man can hold in his hands, a loaded gun within gunshot of a doe and not shoot, we should admire the man as much as he should admire the doe.

When a man gives the doe a sense of worth as such, he gives himself a sense of worth. That's sportsmanship.

My first challenge goes to Jim Geilhart to stand above his comfortable position "in the organization", even though he once told me he'd "be the last to do that."

Geilhart is articulate and I respect him. But I believe that if he is going to be worthy of the badge he wears, he should find the courage within himself to represent himself as a true conservationist, - and a man who puts courage above comfort, sound facts above personal security.

My second challenge goes to George Lapp, president of the Cass City Gun Club, and his organization. These are the people who really care about conservation, and sometimes the only people.

I challenge the Cass City Gun Club and their affiliations to resist the proposal and to prepare a court injunction against the proposal, to be implemented when the proposal is adopted.

It's fine to smoke pipes, stand around and drink beer, and attend meetings, because I enjoy it myself. However, it's not a time for complacency and I hope the Gun Club will rise to the crisis.

My third challenge goes to the Conservation Department in Lansing. I challenge them to show cause why the proposal should be implemented in the Thumb area, and I publicly ask them the following questions:

1) To show evidence of crop damage and signed complaints of property owners supporting a decrease in the deer population;

2) To show evidence of a severe food shortage in the Thumb area and that deer are presently starving for lack of food.

3) To accurately document the car kill in Tuscola county and the Thumb area and to show that the increase in car kill (if there is an increase) is, and has, reached intolerable limits, as evidenced by the public at large.

Until the Department of Conservation can document its case, they haven't got one.

One For The Road

Pro bank robber demonstrates art

By Dan Marlowe

Many of my friends know that a bankrobber once identified with one of my books and eventually involved me with the FBI.

By the time that little misunderstanding was straightened out, I had met the bankrobber and a few of his friends.

He was an unusual bankrobber. After each bank job, he would return to his home town and funnel his ill-gotten gains into legitimate businesses. He set his friends up in business with himself as silent partner. When the bankrobber was finally caught, these partners were subjected to a severe bouncing around from the FBI, but were eventually cleared.

"But didn't you wonder where all the money was coming from?" I asked one of these partners, an otherwise hip character.

"Listen," he replied earnestly, "if the word banks had even been mentioned, I'd have run so far so fast that atomic fallout couldn't have caught me. But he had a good story. He said he was making the money running guns into Cuba."

"And you didn't happen to think that was illegal?"

He shrugged. "Not like heisting banks." He considered for a moment. "There was one thing, though, that probably should have tipped me off. When we set up the business together -- a printing shop, equipped with the newest and best -- we needed office furniture. At the store where we ordered it, the owner tried to sell us a safe. 'You couldn't give me one of those tin cans,' my partner said. He looked scornfully at the row of safes against the back wall. The store owner heated up, naturally. 'Those are good safes,' he insisted."

The ex-partner shook his head, remembering. "My partner didn't say anything. He just walked to the nearest safe, rubbing the tips of his fingers on his pants legs like an old Jimmy Valentine movie. Then he started manipulating the dial with his ear to the tumblers while the owner stood there smiling. In 16 minutes he opened the safe. 'An accident!' the owner screamed. My partner went down the line of safes, and in 9 more minutes he opened 4 more safes. We walked out of the store with the owner almost in a state of collapse."

"And the incident didn't indicate anything to you about your partner?" I asked.

"Oh, sure, it should have," he admitted. "Hindsight. But it seemed like a stunt. It was a stunt."

"But if he had the capability --"

"Yeah, I know what you mean. I already knew he had the nerve. I probably should've started lookin' over my shoulder right then."

I meet such interesting people in my line of work.

Rev. Kidney to speak at service

The theme for the annual World Day of Prayer service is "Growing Together in Christ." The message will be given by Rev. J. E. Kidney, pastor of the Cass City Missionary Church.

The service, sponsored by the Cass City Council of Churches, will be held Friday, March 7, in the Novesta Church of Christ starting at 1:30 p.m.

a prayer for everyone

"Tonight, I want you to ask God to bless everyone in the whole wide world."

"On World Day of Prayer, children in every corner of the globe, grown-ups too, will pray that God will make this world a better place."

"Remember last summer at camp when you called out at the edge of that cliff and your echo came answering back? Well, imagine all the people in the world calling out at once in prayer. Imagine how big the echo would be, and how much it would please God to hear it."

"You are lucky because you live here in America, because you have your Church and the right to attend it. So tonight, thank God for things like that, darling, even if you don't entirely understand them. And when you've finished... ask Him to bless everyone."

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Well, here it is March and across the country farmers and ranchers is getting started on a new year. I got to thinking about how ever year they are fewer people left on farms. I saw some figgers where farm households has dropped from four million to less than three million since 1960, and families that don't live on farms has went up nine million to more than 57 million.

Making a living off the land is gitting as hard as climbing a fence leaning towards you and kissing a gal leaning away from you. It ain't hard fer a farmer to face his problems, because they're everywhere he looks.

I see by the papers where food prices has went up another three per cent. But didn't none of that hike trickle back to the feller that perduced the food. It all went fer what them Department of Agriculture experts call packing, processing and marketing.

It looks like a pure shame to me, Mister Editor, when the Government has to make laws agin packing air in artificial ice cream when we got so much surplus dairy products in this country. I saw where some stuff being sold fer ice cream is up to 60 per cent "overrun," which means, air, and most of the rest is everthing from seaweed to salt make from antifreeze chemics. All the time the Gov-ernment is spending $3 billion a year in farm price supports and filling warehouses with surplus foods.

Incidental, Mister Editor, the fellers at the country store Saturday night got a report from Zeke Grubb on how much a feller eats. Zeke had saw some figgers that show a average American will eat 150 head of cattle, 2,400 chickens, 310 hogs, 225 lambs, 26 acres of grain and 50 acres of fruits and vegetables by the time he is 70 year old. In a average year, he will eat 20 pounds of candy and wash everthing down with 75 gallons of soft drink.

You take that average American and multiply him by 200 million and you've got a powerful big job fer farmers and ranchers. The thing that might save us is that the fewer farmers we got the smarter they git. I saw where some farmers now is planting corn with airplanes and they can plant 10 times faster than with a 10-row planter.

I don't know where it's going to end, Mister Editor, but I see this scientist perdicts during the next 20 year the world will need more food and consumer goods than has been used in all history up to now. And half of the goods we got now wasn't even invented 10 year ago.

Things is moving powerful fast. I was telling the old lady the other day man is the only animal in the world that will work himself into a early old age jest so's he can relax and enjoy his old age.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Mrs. Curtis Cleland

Murill Shagena called at the Glen Shagena home Friday. About 25 neighbors surprised Mr. and Mrs. Don Tracy at their farm home Saturday evening after an evening of cards and visiting. Mr. and Mrs. Tracy were presented with a floral centerpiece. A potluck lunch was served. Cohostesses were Mrs. Robert Brown and Mrs. Curtis Cleland. Mrs. Ed Sasnoski and son, Joe McIntyre, of Kinde were Tuesday visitors at the David Sweeney home. Mrs. David Sweeney and Paul visited Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Sweeney at Lansing and Mr. and Mrs. John Garey and Mrs. Jim Walker at Saginaw last week. Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Lapeer and family and Steve Timmons were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Lapeer and Charlene Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Shagena were Saturday evening visitors at the Virgil Champagne home. Mrs. Fritz Van Erp of Ivanhoe called on Mrs. David Sweeney Saturday. AROUND THE FARM

Yule tree farm making money

By Alfred P. Ballweg

I had an opportunity this past week to visit the Christmas tree farm of Cleve and Pauline Proffer, located in Section 36 of Junata township. Ten years ago this 40 acre tract of land consisted of scrub brush and quackgrass. At that time it no doubt was hardly considered productive enough to pay the taxes. Today it is one of the top Christmas tree farms of Tuscola County. It has also become a beauty spot of the area because it joins with another Christmas tree farm belonging to Ed Kort-hals.

How did this all come about? Cleve Proffer was a career man in the U. S. Army for a number of years. He then decided to buy what is now the Christmas tree farm. His dream of owning a small farm had come true. He decided to put the land to its best use and planted his first Christmas trees in April of 1957. This first planting consisted of 5,000 trees, 2,000 of which were Austrian pine. The other 3,000 were Scotch pine and from these he harvested about 2,500 in the fall of 1964. His plans are to plant about 5,000 trees each year and harvest the marketable trees from these 5,000 tree plantings as they reach maturity in about 7 to 8 years.

Cleve and Pauline learned that Christmas tree farming was not swivel-chair farming as some had thought. Like any other farming to be successful it needs good management that produces a quality tree and one that will sell. There are many management problems involved in Christmas tree farming but one of the most important is a thorough job of insect control and shaping the growing tree. The insect control program starts with a spray in mid-April or early May. Aphids are also a problem most years and this year for the first time the Proffers will spray about April 1st. The pine shoot moth is pretty well taken care of by shearing and spraying for sawfly control.

Shearing or trimming on the Proffer tree farm gets under way about July 4th each year but not usually until the tree gets to be 3 or 4 years old. As a rule the Christmas tree is ready for market at about 7 years.

This is not a full-time job of growing Christmas trees for the Proffers. If it were it would involve a much larger acreage. They have an outside market for all of their trees in the Pontiac and Detroit area.

Experience as a career man in the U. S. Army, Christmas trees, a gravel pit and hard work on the farm have combined to make this a profitable operation. They are completing a new home started three years ago. Nearby the old gravel pit will some day serve as a trout pond.

I would say, a job well done for starting out with a piece of sandy soil covered with quackgrass and scrub brush.

What this country needs is a car that's afraid of high speed.

OFF AND ON

Diplomacy's the art of knowing when to speak your mind and when to mind your speech.

Behind the Counter Volunteers

Most hospitals, large and small, rely heavily on the work that is done by their volunteer staffs—women from the community who help out once or twice a month, relieving the medical and nursing staffs of many chores.

One major source of these recruits is among the "retired" mothers, who have raised their own families and whose children have left to set up their own homes. These women are particularly valued in the pediatric wards, where they can provide the "tender loving care" a youngster needs in a sometimes-scary hospital.

While volunteers can give no medical care (other than some first-aid, or perhaps taking temperatures), they take on many other jobs. Some help children keep up with their school work; circulate books and magazines through the wards; act as receptionists and record-keepers; or just sit and talk with lonely patients who see few visitors.

At a time when hospital costs are skyrocketing, volunteer services take on an added value. These women usually pay for their own uniforms, buy their own lunches, and provide their own transportation to and from the hospital. There is no "pay"—except for that sense of personal satisfaction that comes from helping others.

NEIL SWEENEY of rural Uby, father of 15, was startled Friday when one of his children ran into the house and yelling "the house is on fire." Sweeney quickly grabbed a nearby hose and doused the fire to contain it until the Uby Fire Department arrived. Sweeney speculated sparks from the chimney ignited the wooden shingle roof leaving a gutted corner near the rooftop, and water damage to the upper floor of the farm house. Extent of damage to the roof's skeletal structure was undetermined.
