Deford poverty office unvisited in 7 weeks

By RICHARD HAINES

war-on-poverty office has brought a mixed reaction but no results in the minuscule village of Deford.

Using the vacant Novesta Township Hall, Tom Jones, family counselor and U of M grad, is utilizing the efforts of Cass City volunteer Mrs. Darold Terbush in opening a part-time office.

Jones is a grad of Cass City High School.

Mrs. Terbush has kept the office open seven weeks between the Thursday morning hours of 9 and 11. The office is, Jones said, part of the "out-reach effort," to allow low-income families "to meet us on their own grounds."

But so far, not too many families have visited the office. As a matter-of-fact, none have. "I hope some week somebody will be in," Mrs. Terbush said. Publicity is needed, said Jones.

Such county offices have been established in Vassar, Millington, Columbiaville, Decker-ville, and Owendale. Township, fire, Rotary and American Legion halls are being used, Jones said.

A small gain at the Deford office has been the support of urge defeat Rev. Verne Blankenburg of the Kingston and Deford United Methodist Churches who are of parochiaid contacting local churchgoers for families to refer to appropriate agencies for job opportunities, housing needs, transportation, and health

But skepticism tinges the effort to date. One such skeptic is 23 year in service postmaster George Jacoby who said "there are plenty of jobs for people who want to work."

Asked his expectations of the new agency, he said, "I don't think there's a necessity for it." Jacoby said be sees a stream of welfare and ADC checks go over the post office desk and he scoffs at the idea of fighting poverty. "They should have to work just like the rest of us," he said.

Jones counters that rural poverty is spread out, "that's why a lot of people don't recognize rural poverty," he said, "and it's passed on from generation to generation."

Rev. Blankenburg, a new minister to the area since last June, is more sympathetic. He feels it "could really be some-thing beneficial." "There are several families in the area being neglected," he said, "and it's good to know someone cares about them."

Jones says the poverty agency, with its home office in Caro, intends to utilize community resources such as employment opportunities for low income families. The job is to match the two, he said.

"Task Force Representatives" do this work, he said, but there is only one in the county. We need 3 or 4 more, Concluded on page 6

Presbyterians

The session of the First Presbyterian Church of Cass City has passed a resolution opposing parochiaid, it was announced this week in the church's bulletin.

The session urged church members to contact State Senator Alvin DeGrow and State Rep. Roy Spencer expressing the opposition.

At the same time, the session voted to urge more help for public schools even though it means an increase in state

Mike at home: talks and walks

by RICHARD HAINES

10-year-old Michael Corl's left leg wiggles a little when he stands on his new crutches. But no less than two months ago, doctors said little Michael was in a tenacious fight for his life, never mind the possibility of losing his left leg A happy moment about two weeks ago was when Mike returned home to his family, sisters, Sandy, 9; Glenda, 12; Sue, 13, and Charlene, 19, and their grandmother, Stella Babina.

Mike, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Corl of Deford, was hit by a vehicle when driving a snowmobile onto a road Jan. 4. He suffered a skull fracture, a compound fracture of the lower left leg, a cracked pelvis, and a developed malfunction of the muscle of his right eye. He was listed at Saginaw's St. Mary's as in very critical condition for a period of 19 days while in an intensive care

Mike uses the word "smash" to describe the tragic accident and follows it with low tones about not wanting to snowmobile

With virtually total loss of memory, Mike's recovery has been miraculous and his big brown eyes somehow signify he's going to make it.

It was about two weeks after the accident that the 10 year old fourth grader mumbled his first word. The word was "no." To Mr. and Mrs. Corl, though, the word was a beautiful, "yes" His left hip "scratches" and his left ankle "stings", but he remembers ... he talks... he walks, . . and he has hopes of going back to school this fall, "though I might miss a grade." But to his family, Michael

The Cass City Lions Club talent show is entering its fourth year and Ron Keegan, chairman, announced this week that interest appears greater than Already we have 10 groups entered and will have 15 outstanding acts for the show again this year when the curtain rises Saturday night, April 26, at the Cass City Elementary School, Keegan reported.

The groups will be vieing for $155 in prizes. First prize is $50. There are six prizes ranging from the $50 first prize to $5 for sixth place.

Tickets are on sale from any Lions Club member. A sure winner from the annual event will be the Lions sight conservation program.

Proceeds from the event are used to help finance the sight program and the annual talent show is the principal fund-raising effort of the club.

I can hear critics saying now that two wrongs don't make a right. . . and I agree. But that doesn't make it possible to pass a law that will stop people from eating or from Prohibition proved this and it is being proven again and again and again every day of the year right here in Cass City and the Thumb.

You can't buy liquor by the glass in Cass City, but Cass City drinks plenty of liquor by the glass. They do it in the cities, in their homes, in Gagetown, in Ubly and since a referendum this spring they now do it in Caro and Unionville.

And it's inevitable that the same freedom will come to Cass City within a very few years.

Traditionally, the village is the dryest in the county. Every Sunday closing vote, every liquor referendum vote finds Cass City leading the no vote by a healthy margin.

But each vote finds the wets sneaking closer, and as the town grows, the gap will continue to close and a referendum will finally fell this bastion of the drys.

And when it does someone will receive a subsidy of $25,-000 or so. For he will be handed what will amount to an exclusive liquor franchise at very little cost, . . a franchise that can be sold and has a very real cash value.

When liquor by the glass comes to Cass City the most unfair part of it all will be the person with the connection who will reap the harvest.

But when the vote goes against the drys they won't really have lost any ground, When there is a liquor by the glass store on the corner in

Cass City, it will be used by essentially the same people that are drinking now. You could have a string of bars stretching without break between here and Saginaw and Another petition will be circulated to owners on Oak in attempt to get a majority to okay the curb and gutter.

Trustee Rawson frowns on committing funds for several years without some provision for the extension of Ale street through the Donahue subdivision to provide another access road to the new high school. The school has a right of way option to build a road if it desires. Besides roads, the majority of the remainder of the meeting was used to air complaints by residents. Harold and Tom Craig appeared to protest the refusal of a building permit for a new building in southwest Cass City and were partially successful.

B. A. Calka represented the planning commission and said that the planners felt that the line should be held and the residential zoning in the area followed.

The Craigs presented petitions signed by all but two of area property owners okaying the new building. Trustees indicated that they would probably view the application with favor if all of the property owners signed. It will mean rezoning the area. The new building would replace a current structure, beyond repair.

Mrs. Evelyn MacRae appeared to protest the condition of the Scout rooms used by the Girl Scouts. She said that they were always filthy,

> The council agreed and will attempt to have the cleaning completed on a regular schedule and keep a close check on the groups using the rooms.

Here's a little sports quiz for you . . . Everybody has heard of heavyweights, lightheavyweights, welterweights, middleweights and lightweights in boxing, but it's surprising how few fans can tell you the exact weight limits for each of these divisions. . . Can you? . . . A heavyweight is anyone over 175 pounds . . . Lightheavyweights are from 161 to 175 pounds. . . Middleweights from 148 to 160 pounds. . . Welterweights, . And lightweights from 127 to 135 pounds.

How great a golfer was Bobby Jones? . . . Here's one statistic you might be interested in . . . In the years from 1923 until he retired in 1930, Jones played in 21 major tournaments, such as the U.S. Open, British Open, U. S. Amateur and British Amateur -- and in those 21 tourneys, Bobby finished 1st or 2nd in all but four!. . . No other golfer in history has ever come close to that percentage of success . . . And in the last 9 U.S. Opens he entered, from 1922 through 1930, he finished 1st or 2nd in 8 of them!

Here's quite a baseball oddity. The 1968 Oakland Athletics LED the American League in team batting -- yet, they wound up in 6th place in the final standings of the league! . . . It proves that having the best hitting team in a league doesn't winning a lot of Library board re-elects officers

The monthly meeting of the Cass City and Elkland Township Public Library was held Tuesday forenoon at the library after a one-week postponement.

Mrs. Robert Keating presided over the meeting. All officers of the board were re-elected for the coming year and include Mrs. Keating as president; Mrs. Charles Tuckey, vice-president, and Mrs. Esther McCullough, secretary-treasurer. The other board member is Mrs. K. I. MacRae.

The board authorized the purchase of several new books, including a new atlas.

Librarian Mrs. Arthur Little reported that circulation for the month of March was 1132 and that $30.09 was collected in fines on overdue books,

Kingston union rift part of teacher power struggle

A personal power struggle is the hotbed of a seething rift separating teachers at the Kingston Community School.

"R's just politics," said Mrs. William Miller, a veteran teacher of long standing.

About two weeks ago, a new group emerged independent of the MEA of which Mrs. Miller is president. Led by Mrs. Lawrence Opperman, the teachers

It will be three years, however, until another vote can be taken, said Mrs. Opperman.

Asked if the teachers were dissatisfied with past negotiating achievements, "that's what the vote indicated, isn't it?" said Mrs. Opperman.

Asked if negotiations are going well now, Mrs. Miller said, "that's the big question."

Board President John Fox said the board has not yet met with either group and that if a legal rift developed, his board would be bound to negotiating with the legal group.

Mauro Bastos, a Cass City exchange student, says that the poor don't mingle with the middle class and the rich won't socialize with the tradesman.

Bastos, who is probably upper middle class (his father is a doctor) says that the situation must be changed. Like the young across the globe these days he wants to change the status quo.

Bastos is one of three from South America. . . seems more concerned about the problem than the other two students in Cass City on the same program. But that's not bad. One of three is a better average than you'll find in the United States. . . or in Cass City.

Think now... who was the Senior Citizen of the Year 1968, .. or the year before that, Stumped you,didn't I? Be consoled. No one else can remember either. But the Cass City Rotary is buying a memory prod. The club is buying a plaque which will list each winner and the year of the triumph for a permanent record.

Close your eyes and stand on the corner of Main and Seeger for a moment. Pretend you want to cross. It's frightening. Alger Freiburger does this several times every day with his seeing eye dog.

When drivers fail to observe the law, it's downright terrifying. Freiburger said that he has been narrowly missed several times in recent weeks. In Cass City and other small towns traffic doesn't always wait for the pedestrian when making a right turn with the light. The driver turns, the pedestrians wait . . who wants to argue just because they are right? Only the blind because they have no other choice . They can't see you turning. None of us wants to make it any tougher for the afflicted than it already is. It's probably a case of not putting ourselves in a blind man's shoes. Think about it . . . especially the next time you start to tool around an intersection.

Al Freiburger will appreciate it.

Now if you are not a fan join me in downtown Wilmot and we'll salute the causes and damn the music together.

Jones said clothing, heating, and health problems occur and some youth even have low blood

His office defines low-income as anything below $3,000 annual income and he said 19.9% of the county population qualifies.

Jones said Cass City was at an advantage because of its many light industries. His job title is "family counselor" and he has counseled about 10 Cass City families since his start with the agency about last

He said the agency "hasn't been concentrating on" Cass City. Asked if he anticipated an increase in the office's efforts in the future, he said,

"Yes, I imagine so." He said most of the office's efforts have been in the Vassar-Millington vicinity but only because they had received more referrals from the community than from other county areas.

This was why community support was necessary, he said, and he outlined his hopes for a "Citizen Corp" in the Deford area which would volunteer their services for the office's work requirements.

Banquet to fete athletes

The annual athletic banquet of Ubly Community Schools sponsored by the Ubly Com-munity Club will be held Tuesday evening, April 8, at 7:30 p.m. in the cafeteria.

The banquet is open to the public and tickets may be purchased for $3.00 apiece from Lambert Jaroch, E. Alfred Lowell, Duncan McIntyre and Mark Tenbusch.

The program will include the presentation of the most valuable player award and most improved player award in football and basketball. Other awards will be presented by coaches, Gerald Herp and Richard Holdship, Cheerleading awards will be given by Mrs. Connie MacAlpine.

The guest speaker for the occasion will be Morley Fraser, football coach, baseball coach, and associate professor of physical education at Albion College. The title of Mr. Fraser's talk will be "The End of the First Quarter". In charge of banquet arrangements are Fred Maurer, Fred Ruthko and Mark Tenbusch.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I'm not shore a "think break" is a good idee. I saw by the papers where a sycologist in England said it would do a feller good to stop and jest think a few minutes ever day. Mister Editor, I tried it the other night and it wasn't no time til I quit thinking and started worrying.

I recollect you said onct that papers like news out of the ordinary, like when man bites dog. It's gitting to the place any good news is out of the ordinary, so I figger the papers is printing all they can git.

> When I started thinking, I thought where this butcher had reported to police he had wrapped his $50 ring up in a order of steak. I figger with the price of meat, the customer that got the ring jest about broke even. You don't hear a feller say any more he's as sound as a dollar. That used to mean you was in the pink of health but if you're no sounder than a dollar today you're half dead. Like I said, Mister Editor, when I got to thinking things got to looking worse and worse.

Fer instant, I saw another study of conditions in colleges has showed that parents are happy their younguns in college still drink whisky as their favorite recreation. It ain't so much the parents is happy about them drinking licker as it is they're glad they ain't taking drugs. That ever student ain't on drugs is about the closest you can come to good news from the colleges these days.

It used to be people in this country was like the flea that thought the dog he was on was the best dog in the world, but them protesters is changing that kind of patritism. They live off the dog, while they holier that the field mice in the hay and the termites in the barn timbers has got a better deal.

This country is gitting so turned around Zeke Grubb's preacher said he is thinking about rating all his sermons X fer mature audiences only, to git folks back in the pews. On top of everthing, the price of haircuts is going up agin. The less hair a feller has got the more it cost him to git a trim. It looks like that's the way the country is going, you git less) and less and pay more and more.

Well, Mister Editor, Ireckon by this time you've decided they ain't no April Fool like a old April Fool. I'll jest tell you the only thing I got out of my "think break" was that I give my teeth a good picking while I was worrying. I think tooth picks ought to be passed out at ever "think break." That, way, folks can think they are gitting someoun fer their effort

4 lettermen to lead Hawks in Thumb B track

High School thinclads are looking for another upset season. Last Year the Hawk track team was chalked off by most observers as an also-ran and then surprised the experts by placing second in the Thumb B Conference and winning many of the other meets during the year. If Cass City repeats with upset victories this year, it will be with just four lettermen and a host of promising nonletter winners. Before the track year started last spring, Coach Watson could count 10 lettermen, but none were big point winners.

This year the squad is thinner in experienced, proven material. Backbone of the squad is expected to be Jim Selby and Tom Robert Watson's Cass City Guinther, co-captains. Selby was the Conference champion in the two-mile as a junior, but will probably shift to the mile for the good of the team, 4 Watson said. If he runs the mile the Hawks can also count on him for a leg of the mile relay.

> Guinther was runner up in the high hurdles last year and is working hard to be ready for the top spot in the event this

Mic Miracle and Scott Guernsey are varsity letter winners back to help the squad. But missing will be several boys who helped pile up the points in Don Hostetler, Larry Hartwick and Dennis Stine have been lost via graduation, Gary Vollmar is not out for track this season.

Watson is looking for a strong effort from several boys who have not earned letters. Seniors Terry Brinkman and Mark Strace have shown marked improvement. Junior Bruce Mc-Leish has looked stronger as the pre-season practice pro-

Several underclassmen promise to help the Hawks this year and in the future. Watson said that Sophomores Mike Sherman and Harv Fredericks and Freshmen Craig Guernsey, Wentworth, Louie Salas, Smith and Ken Barker looked good in opening workouts.

Of course, there are also printed it on the blackboard,

This is fair warning to lock up the kids and to be careful where you look. In the last paragraph of this column I think I will print the most notorious 4-letter word.

I mean that dirty word which was coyly described in a Detroit court last week as "the vile term for sexual intercourse.*

My mother just exclaimed "HE WOULDN'T DARE" - and then quickly peeked at the last paragraph to make sure. She ignored my warning and got what she deserved. Don't you make the same mistake. If such words offend you, you shouldn't be forced to read them. They shouldn't sneak up on you in your family newspaper. You might well expect to read them in 9 out of 10 books sold in your family drugstore. But not in a column written by that sweet editor who hardly ever says even damn or hell.

But what about the kids? you ask. That's what everyone asks. "I don't care for myself," says Rep. Bigmouth, who wants you to understand he's really one of the boys, "but we can't have our youngsters reading this filth."

Which strikes me strangely. I swore a lot more as a teenager than I do now. When I was 18, during World War II, if a guy didn't use that intercourse term think we could have won the war without it.

Things can't be much different today. It is the youngsters who are printing the 4-letter words which are making their parents nervous for fear the youngsters will read them. Try that on for sense.

When some campus rebel uses 4-letter words in a speech,

Tulips For a King

The lake is green today. Sparkling waves ripple across its surface, borne of the same gentle breeze that ruffles through my tulips. I walk among them, filling my arms with beauty, listening to the murmur of early morning.

Soon I gather up baskets of orange and scarlet, pale pink and lemon yellow and burry to the church in the

My beart is full. I'd come to this church, some months ago, burdened with sorrow. Here, I'd found comfort and purpose in the life and teachings of God's Son. Since then, I'd been bappier than I ever thought possible.

Now, in the stillness, I whisper a long-ago paean, "Hosanna to the Son of David!" And I lay blossoms gently among palm branches, as though in His presence.

Attend your church. Find the joy and happiness you've been seeking. Sing bosannas to the living Lord.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul E. Leyva and Beverly A. Maxwell of Pigeon were married Saturday, March 15, at St. John Lutheran church at Pigeon, Rev. Phillip Press officiated at the seven o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Maxwell of Pigeon and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Leyva Sr. of Gagetown.

The bride, wearing an A-line dress and carrying red roses on a white Bible, was escorted to the altar by her father. Matron of honor was Judy Leyva of Vassar, sister-in-law of the groom, and bridesmaid was Barbara Burzyck of Elk-They wore gowns of identical A-line style in varying shades of blue. Their bouquets were white and blue carnations.

Food fads and food misinformation affect our health, our weight and our pocket books. There is much misinformation today regarding diets.

In comparison to other sciences nutrition is young. Research in this field is taking place very rapidly. Most of us over 30 years of age did not hear about nutrition when we were in school unless we chose it as our field of study. Fadists are capitalizing on todays lack of nutritional knowledge. They are selling products and fiving much misleading information to the public, thereby lining their own pocketbooks.

Throughout history megical properties and health living qualities have been attributed to food and handed down from one generation to the other. Some of the beliefs of earlier days are respected today because they were based on thuth even though these were not proven scientifically until many years later. For instance, fruits and vegetables were considered healthful foods, lemons, limes and potatoes prevented scurvy which we may not need. If a and many herbs used as well balanced diet is eaten every remedies in the past are still day, most people do not need employed in the science of medicine today.

One of the fads that may af- in the treatment of certain fect our health is this idea of substituting a candy coated pill case; they should be prescribed and a cup of black coffee for a good breakfast, Breakfast means just what it says, to break fast. While we have been sleeping our bodies continue to use up energy. Most of our work will be done between breakfast and the noon meal, A good breakfast gives us a feeling of well being. Some people who are trying to lose weight feel that skipping breakfast is a good way to do it. Actually, this is a very poor way because it may increase appetite for the next meal or an inbetween meal snack so that before the day is over they end up eating more food.

There is also the belief that only young children need milk. Both children and adults need milk, a quart per day is recommended for children and a pint for adults. The child needs more than the adult because of growth but an adult continues to need milk to maintain normal mechanical functions of the body. Milk is one of our most available and economical foods. Perhaps there are more miracle diets relative to overweight than to any other condition. We hear of the grane. fruit-egg diet, the banana diet, the high protein diet and the elimination diet. What good does it do to lose a pound a day on one of these wonder diets if at the end of a short time you return to your previous pattern of eating? Who could stay on one of those fad diets indefinitely? They become monotonous. Even more important, many are inadequate for nutritive requirements. Also, individuals on the wonder diets become so irritable that they are urged by their family to give it up. Let's face it there is no easy way to reduce and no safe way is easy. Food supplies calories, calories supply muscular energy to keep us alive and active. When we eat more calories than our body uses the excess calories turn to fat. In some of these "wonder diets," the idea is developed that meat can be used freely in the reduction diet, with no fear of adding calories. This is not true, meat is an excellent food, a good source of protein yet it does provide calories and on a reduction diet it supplies

There is no single food that is the answer to losing weight. If you need to watch your weight the problem is not just one of losing weight but continuing to keep the pounds off. Therefore weight control becomes a way of life and means a permanent change in the pattern of eating.

diets are the no diet wonder drugs for reducing. Much of the advertising of these drugs is through the mail. At least one Congressional committee and three Federal agencies have given special emphasis to this

Self-Treatment

There's a medical maxim hat runs: "The doctor who that runs: treats himself has a fool for a patient." The non-physician who treats himself is often in even more serious trouble.

I'm not talking about ordinary first-aid, or self-medica-tion for a cold. After all, there are some things you don't need to bother a doctor about.

But there are many medical problems that grow worse when neglected, or not properly treated. Prolonged pain, for example, may be a warning symptom; a lingering rash or occasional bleeding may show that something else is seriously wrong. Several weeks of self-treatment in such circumstances is just plain foolish.

For example, a Denver man was in such pain that he chewed, daily, 10 tablets of a gum containing aspirin. He numbed the pain—and devel-oped mouth ulcers as a result.

Or take do-it-yourself ear piercing. There are small de-vices with sharp points, now on sale, which are supposed to pierce the ears within a few days as they are worn. According to the American Medical Association, these can increase the chance of infection and the development of scar tissue.

You may not realize all the possible hazards, but a doctor won't pierce ears if there is any type of rash or infection, or if small cysts are present in the ear lobe.

"ATTITUDES CHANGE"

Public attitudes toward abortion law reform are changing in favor of removing some of the ancient restrictions, say two state Senators.

To reflect this sentiment. Sens. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, and John E. McCauley, D-Wyandotte, are sponsoring a nair of bills in the legislature to liberalize the abortion law.

measure would give One women the right to legal abortion for any reason, including family planning, provided the operation was performed by a licensed physician in an accredited hospital.

The other would not go that far. It would limit legal abortion to cases where the mother's physical or mental health is endangered; where pregnancy results from rape or incest; or there is reason to believe a deformed child will be born. Bursley and McCauley said they offered the bills together to give lawmakers a choice between going part of the way or all the way down the abortion reform path.

Presently the life of the mother must be in danger before abortion in Michigan is legally permitted. The Senators say this is unrealistic.

The Catholic Church teaches that abortion, under any circumstance, is the same as murder in the eyes of God.

* FEWER AND BIGGER

Farms are fewer, larger and more productive in Michigan, says Dr. Karl T. Wright, MSU agriculture economist, Heestimates there are now about 80,-000 farms in the state, a drop of 16% from the last official census in 1964.

The amount of land tilled is dropping too. Figures indicate that 18 million acres under production in 1940 dropped to 13.6 by 1964. Wright expects the reduction to continue to 10 million by 1980.

Michigan's record is similar to other states. There is a general decline in the number of farms with farms growing larger.

Efficiency in farm machinery permits bigger profits, but a farmer must have large amounts of land to work if he is to realize benefits of new methods. New techniques and careful management produce much more food and profit per acre than ever before, but they leave no room for small farmers who continue the methods of the old family farm.*

More than half of Michigan's small farmers have other means of employment. Wright says the 56%, mostly in the lower part of the state, work at jobs in addition to farm work.

Johnson is a wiry, retired gravestone salesman and inscription writer who inherited the business from his fatherin-law. When he retired recently, he was still using the same small building his fatherin-law used that's been standing since 1912.

But the business grew slowly and solidly and when the total number of cemeteries served were counted, they numbered over 125.

I recently asked Harold if we could have dinner together. In his bullish Oldsmobile Toronado, he said, "Let's go to a nice, quiet place . . . where we can talk."

So, nestled in a quiet corner down at Norms, a nice place that's also quiet, I pressed Harold for the major changes that have taken place in the last decade.

He spoke softly and I had to lean over the table and concentrate to hear. It was like getting really inside in-formation, that, if not serious, at least was important.

"The county's responsibili-ties have increased," he said. He added that Michigan income tax was designed to rejuvenate programs on the local level, "but at the same time they pushed a lot of new responsibilities on us.*

Johnson said the Lansing boys don't always understand the problems of the county people. He said they don't always do very well in getting the pro-grams "to suit, I mean fit," the counties, correcting himself with traditional Republican philosophy.

Johnson is cautious, but he's also colorful. In fact, cautious is one of his favorite words, and he uses it often in describ-
