AROUND THE FARM

Urban dwellers pollute with sprays

By Don Keblor

All of the available insecticides, herbicides and fungicides are not dangerous chemicals.

There is a wide selection of approved and safe chemicals recommended and safe for the home lawn and garden enthusiast, farmer, forester, etc.

These chemicals if applied according to the recommendations are safe and the known dangerous chemicals are not needed.

New chemicals are constantly being developed by industry to meet certain needs and they are not released until proven safe as per direction of use.

We hear about D.D.T. chlor-dane and other hard chemicals as being dangerous and with a long duration of potency. Along with this implications have been made that commercial farmers are the biggest users of these hard chemicals. Be it true or not, my many years in Tuscola county have not brought to evidence this as factual. Our cash crop farmers are not users of these hard chemicals as to my knowledge.

For several years now our dairy operators have not used any of these known dangerous chemicals either. Had they been guilty of this the residue of these chemicals would have been found easily in today's milk tests. Milk with chemical contamination of any source is not allowed to be marketed.

Pine plantation owners used to apply D.D.T. as an insecticide for European pine shoot moth and pine sawfly control. In the past few years they have safe insecticides such as Sevin, Methoxychlor and Dimethoate to substitute for D.D.T.

Your Extension office has recommendations and uses of chemicals for controlling fruit, vegetables, livestock, shrubs, trees and household pests. All of these chemicals, if used according to directions, are judged to be safe.

One school of belief is that far more unsafe chemicals are unknowingly being used by the individual home owners than by the commercial farmer. There is hardly a home owner who does not use insecticides or fungicides in his garden, backyard or on some of his flowers, shrubbery or lawn. Besides this outside use the home owner finds a need for insecticides inside the house at times.

All in all there is a great quantity of these insecticides, herbicides and fungicides being used by all of us each year. Who of us is the biggest contributor to the pollution problem as far as these chemicals are concerned is not determined.

We can eliminate this avenue of contamination and pollution if each of us stops pointing the finger of guilt at the other person and begins to know our chemicals, and use only those to be known as safe.

Use computer for soil tests

Farmers will be able to "talk" to a computer and get soil tests analyzed March 24-26 during Farmers' Week at Michigan State University.

Touch-tone telephones installed at MSU will be hooked into a computer at the University of Michigan. Farmers bringing a soil test and information on what crop they will plant can have the data punched on the phone and then hear the computer respond with fertilizer recommendations.

MSU Soil Scientist Dr. Eugene Doll says the free service will be offered from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the Stadium Concourse each of the three days.

IT WAS NATIONAL Girl Scout Week and area girls celebrated the event with an open house Sunday at the Intermediate School. Fluoride clinic set in Sanilac

Parents who wish to enroll their children in the Sanilac County summer topical fluoride program must act this week, say authorities of the county health department.

The clinic costs $4 for a program of four visits. At the first the teeth are cleaned and a fluoride solution applied.

Fluoride is applied at each of the next three visits. Tests indicate that it reduces decay by about 40 per cent as compared to 60 to 65 per cent reduction with fluoridated water.

Agent's Corner

Do you have ailing feet? If you do, you are not alone. Many of today's deformed and ailing feet are the result of yesterday's misfitted shoes.

Shoe designers haven't always considered the normal position of bones, muscles and ligaments of the feet. They also haven't taken into account the great variation of shapes of feet among individuals.

When buying shoes one cannot buy by size alone. Feet vary not only in total length and width, but also in the length from the heel to the ball joint. Two people may have the same length foot while one of them has a longer length from his heel to his ball joint.

It is a good idea to have both feet measured every time you buy and always try on both shoes. See how they fit while walking, standing and sitting.

The main support point is at the natural bend of the toes right across the ball of the foot, which means the widest part of the shoe should fit the ball of the foot. It is important to check this when trying on shoes.

Choose shoes with enough space between the end of the toe and the tip of the shoe to allow sufficient free movement of toes. This avoids compressing the foot from heel to toes. To prevent ones toes from touching the end of your shoe, allow about 1/2 - 3/4 of an inch extra length.

The heel is another important area to consider. The shoe should fit snugly at the heel and not slip as one walks. Neither should the shoe heel cut into the heel tendon.

Most authorities say two inch heels are the absolute maximum for any foot. Broad and low heels give more body support and make walking easier.

A good fitting pair of shoes may save you time that you might have spent soaking your feet in warm water.

Richard Thomas Lindow, 23, of Bridgeport and Susan Rose Galsterer, 18, of Birch Run.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Here's a twist on the man bites dog story. Stan Kirm says this is true and he has two witnesses to prove it.

The other day when the county dog catcher was in town picking up strays, swears Kirm, two of Cass City's stray dogs were chasing him down the street.

My basketball photography would be a lot better if it were some team other than Cass City that I wanted to picture. This was especially true in those close games held in the tournament last week.

The trouble is that I get so hepped up about the game and I root so hard for the home team that I forget to snap the camera.

It's a poor pace that Cass City, the pacesetter, is setting with the Chamber of Commerce sign at the corner of M-81 and M-53.

It was designed to show the way into Cass City only it is now so weather beaten that it's almost illegible and doesn't do much for our image...to say the least.

I felt like a seer Sunday when I read, in one of the dailies, that a spokesman for the Michigan Education Association union said Michigan can stop recruiting teachers from out of the State. The supply has caught up with demand, he says. I predicted this about three years ago when the union first started boosting teachers' salaries.

But after I thought about it for a minute, my ego was slightly dampened. After all, just last year Junior High Industrial Arts was cancelled because no teacher was available.

The truth is, I guess, that there are plenty of teachers for most subjects with a shortage in selected areas. Still, it's a lot better today than it was three years ago.

I still feel that in the not too distant future administrators will have a wide choice of applicants to fill open positions.

The board of education moved to Deford Tuesday for its regular monthly meeting. Next month it goes to Evergreen. The reason for the traveling road show is to give electors in Evergreen and Deford a chance to visit and look over the board in action.

Only four or five visitors from Deford attended the Deford meeting. About a dozen visitors from Cass City, each with a special interest, were on hand.

All of which proves nothing except that the neighborhood school is too far away for a casual visit and that distance is no barrier if there is any motivation for attending.

Ed Retherford was in town over the week end. He teaches in Alpena when he's not fishing. Ed reports that he has caught enough Steelhead trout and Coho salmon to start a fishery in Thunder Bay River.

Now I've fished them both a few times and still have my first trophy to beach. Steelhead especially are tough to catch. But it does help when you have ready access to a good river and the desire to get up every morning before school starts to fish.

Ed doesn't expect to have another banner season like this one. The reason? He's getting married this spring.

I guess I'll have to get in all the fishing I can right now before it's too late, the genial coach said with a grin and a sigh.

Letter to Editor

Praise due for better school program

Dear John:

When some interested citizens started on a fund raising campaign last fall to preserve extra curricular programs in Cass City Schools that were to be dropped because of lack of funds, the approach was on the basis of keeping the type of programs we had in the previous year. It seems evident to me at this point that the programs provided in the Cass City Schools are far superior to those which we had last year in many areas. Part of this is due to new teaching and coaching personnel. Part of the improvement is also due to increased student participation.

Cass City lost the district tournament championship game Saturday night by one point and some fans were quick to fault the players and/or the coaches. I feel, however, that the accomplishments of the basketball teams, the football teams, bands, and of the student body in general, do not justify criticism of this kind. How many people are aware, for instance, that the high school students raised all the money necessary to pay for student buses to away games?

Rather than criticize, I think we should all join in complimenting our school board, our school administration, its faculty, its staff, and the student body for the tremendously improved programs which have been provided this year.

This letter may sound like a sales pitch for more funds for this program or that, but it is not. It is the statement of an attitude and a feeling that has been expressed privately on many occasions. It seems appropriate to express this feeling in a public manner.

Yours truly,
L.E. Althaver

Opportunity sometimes looks much bigger going than coming.

It's give and take in this modern world, with too many people trying to take.

It's worthwhile remembering that every day is the beginning of a new year.

Breathe deep-It's good for you

Recent research has given new insight in the function of the normal lung. It's been found for example that when a normal person lies on one side, not only does more blood flow take place through the dependent lung, which is to be expected, but also somehow this lung receives greater ventilation than the upper lung.

Furthermore, they have found that as the lung ages, its ventilation becomes more unstable because of its lost recoil. This provides a key to understanding why the post-operative care of the elderly patient is critically centered around his ability to take a deep breath and the encouragement he may be given to do so.

Recumbency alone has been found to be disadvantageous and this is another reason why elderly patients are being encouraged to move about. A prolonged period of recumbency or shallow ventilation may be enough to set the stage for infection and this complication can more easily be avoided than treated.

Studies of this nature are also assisting in developing techniques for transplantation surgery of the lungs, which in the future, may offer doctors the only practical way of bringing relief to patients whose lungs have been destroyed by the lung disease called emphysema.

Emphysema is most simply described as an over-inflation of tissue with air or gas. The term is used mainly in connection with over-inflated lungs. It is commonly found among persons who either have difficulty with their breathing as in asthma or in one of the lung diseases which used to go with dusty occupations like mining, or milling or grinding. If the disease is of long standing, emphysema can cause permanent replacement of the elastic tissues in the lungs with scars and once this has happened, the process cannot be reversed.

Being unable to breathe is one of the worst agonies a person can suffer and sometimes allergies partially trigger acute emphysema even making it necessary for a tracheotomy to be performed. In the tracheotomy, the trachea or windpipe is cut and a cannula with a balloon at the end is inserted into the windpipe and then the patient is placed on a respirator which does his breathing for him.

Today, there are clinics available in which the functionality of a patient's lungs are measured and he is trained in the proper techniques of breathing to combat his respiratory difficulties. It's important also that an analysis be made to find out what the patient is doing with the oxygen which he breathes. Such testing would determine what percentage of the oxygen gets through the lung into the blood stream and also how much carbon dioxide is getting out of the lungs. Other tests determine the amount of air left in the lungs.

Some doctors who are researching in the field say there is "nothing to lose," and probably something to gain, by putting patients with chronic obstructive lung disease on a program of graded exercise training. Doctors doing the tests found that they were helping the patients and keeping them alive longer by improving their ability to withstand stress of inter-current disease. The optimum maintenance exercise program has not yet been determined upon, but apparently 15 minutes of an exercise at high tension twice a day seems to be the most effective.

There is no problem too big or too complex in this life if we all act together.

What you think of yourself really means something-if you are able to prove it.

Is your home going to turn into a desert this winter?

In wintertime, people in houses with flame-type heating wake up mornings with that stuffed-up feeling. With hoarse, dry throats. Furniture dries out and starts creaking.

Sound familiar? You bet it does. The best way to stop it is with electric heat.

You see, electric heat isn't a dry or drying heat.

So you usually don't need a humidifier. The moisture from bathing and cooking is all you need for natural comfort.

An Edison-Approved Electric Heating Contractor will be glad to tell you all about comfortable, moisture-retaining electric heat. He'll figure your operating cost, and there'll be no obligation. And right now, your contractor's offering a $100 trade-in on your old heating system. Call him for an electric heat survey, or mail the coupon below.

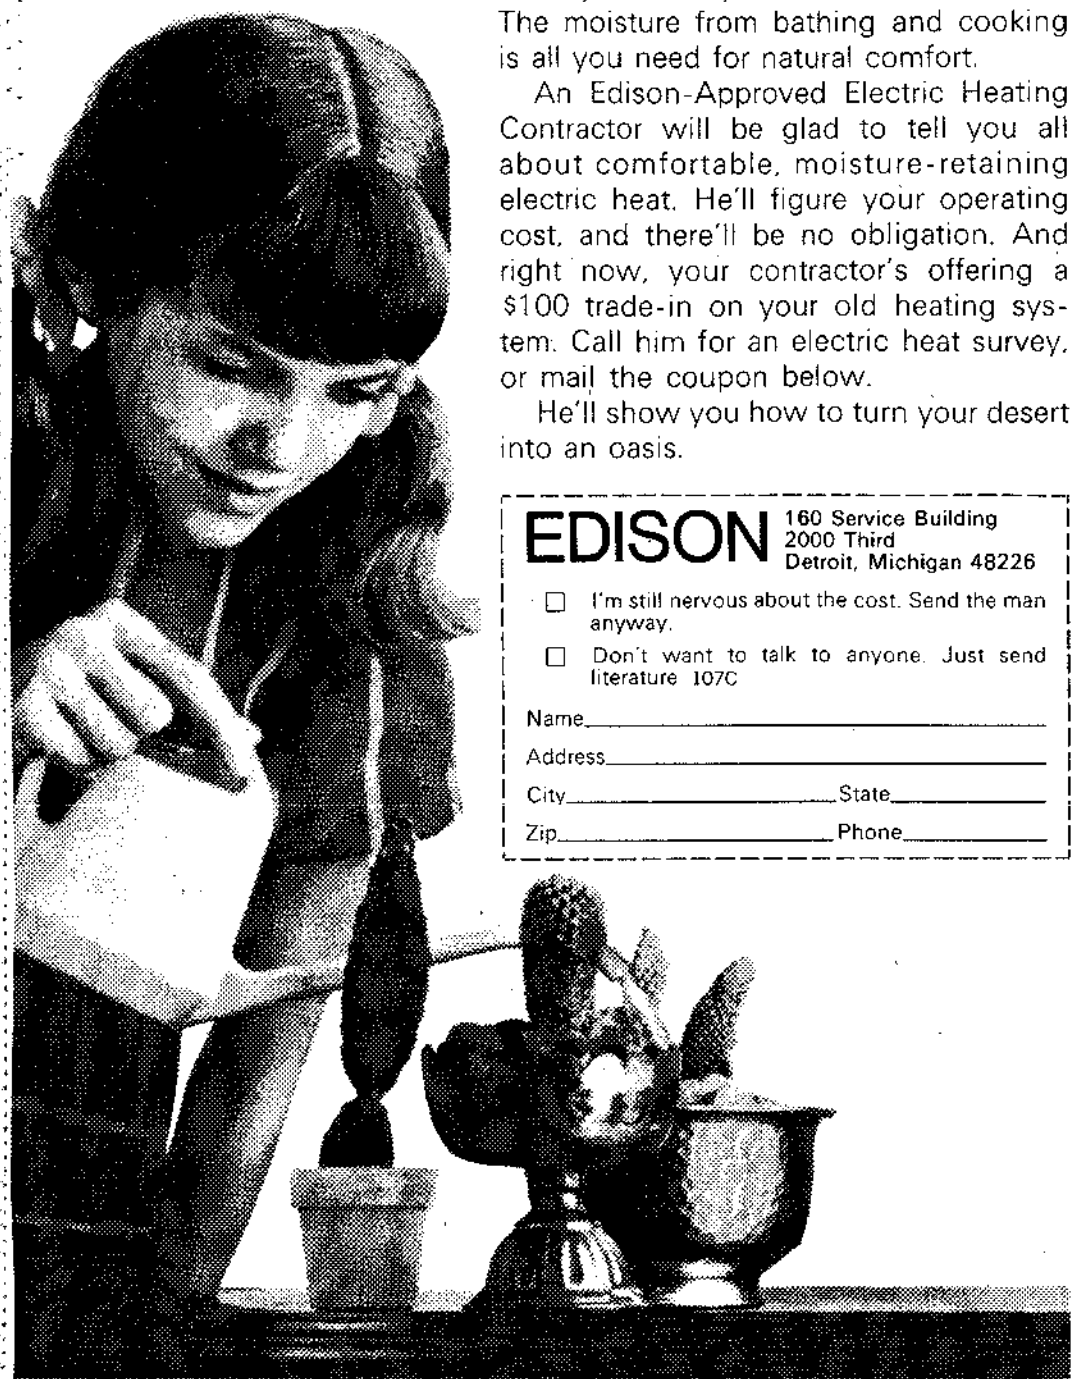

He'll show you how to turn your desert into an oasis.

"If It Fitz. . ."

She's a gorgeous candidate

BY JIM FITZGERALD

It all began when I was overheard to say: "Lenore Romney is nothing but a stand-in for Gorgeous George. If her name were Lenore Klutz she couldn't get nominated for dog-catcher. Her Senate candidacy is just as phony as when George Wallace had his wife elected Governor of Alabama. Lenore has displayed no qualifications. Her main talent is to shrilly echo Gorgeous George when he makes big noises trying to awaken people's morals. A vote for Lenore is a vote for George and you'd better believe it."

This angered several women in our neighborhood. The angriest was Susie Klutz. She decided to become a candidate for the U. S. Senate, not just to save the country but also to show me that a Mrs. Klutz could get elected. "Of course," Susie said, "I'll expect the support of the entire neighborhood. Campaigning costs money. We can raise funds by having Tupperware parties."

But some of the other gals decided if Susie could, so could they. There were suddenly 4 candidates not counting my wife who wanted to run but couldn't because I locked her in the basement.

"Fine," I said. "All 4 of you girls run in the primary election. That's what primaries are for. The candidates are picked by the people, not by political bosses. That's the democratic, American way. Oh say can you see? Please hand me that flag."

But Susie's husband, Elmer Klutz, objected. "We can't have a primary battle," he said. "It would divide the neighborhood. These women would exhaust their energies and funds fighting each other. The bitterness would carry over into the general election. Whoever won the nomination would get no help from the losers. And besides, there wouldn't be any Tupperware left."

"We must get together and agree to support just 1 of the women," Klutz said.

Well, the Klutzes have the only swimming pool in the neighborhood. Also, people look up to them because Elmer refuses to work or play on Sundays. He just stays home and sits on his roof so people can look up to him.

A neighborhood meeting was held to select a consensus candidate. The 4 hopefuls were allowed to speak for 20 minutes each (The meeting was held in the Klutz kitchen so the oven timer could be used.)

Two of the women spent their 20 minutes explaining that they'd changed their minds and urged their supporters to switch to Mrs. Klutz. They said they'd known Susie for 10 years - as long as their husbands had worked for Susie's husband - and they knew she'd make a fine candidate.

The 3rd candidate, Maggie Schmidt, gave the best speech. She got a standing ovation when she said all gas stations shouldn't give double stamps on the same day.

It had been agreed that the consensus candidate would have to get 75% of the votes cast. The first balloting was 53% to 47% favoring Susie. This surprised most everyone, including Maggie. She quickly withdrew from the race, explaining she had just discovered that standing ovations made her nervous. Especially when Elmer Klutz was the only one who didn't stand.

On the next ballot, Susie still didn't get 75% of the vote. But she got a few more than before. Elmer Klutz stood up and said, "That's an acclamation if I ever heard one. I move that we make it unanimous-Susie Klutz is our candidate for the U. S. Senate."

The motion was seconded by the Klutz maid who wanted to use the oven. It carried by a voice vote in which most of the noise was made by the Silent Majority.

Everyone went home saying "Gee, we got a Gorgeous candidate."

TCARC seeks new members, tells progress

The Association for Retarded Children in Tuscola County, organized 10 years ago, reviewed its achievements as it co-operated in a membership campaign with the national association now underway and continuing through March.

Authorities recalled how there were no facilities for the retarded 10 years ago. Now there are special education classes in most schools in the county.

There is a trainable center at Darby School with four classrooms and a day care center for the more severely retarded.

These programs, started by the TCARC, are now funded by the Intermediate Board of Education and the State Mental Health Department.

Last year the Conner School on Riley Road, south of Caro, was purchased, revamped and put into operation to provide training for older retardates to enable them to work under sheltered conditions.

Rock and gem skills are now being taught and items made at the school are for sale to the public.

The TCARC next regular monthly meeting is Thursday, Mar. 19, at 8 p.m. at the activities workshop on Riley Road, one mile south of Caro on M-24 and 1 1/2 miles east.

All persons interested in the program are invited to attend. Membership in the Association is not limited to parents of retarded children.

New members are now being actively solicited, authorities said.

Abortion reform erases party lines

Abortion reform is one of those topics which come before the legislature which results in complete erasure of party lines.

There is support for and opposition to various shades of revision of current laws in both political parties.

In the end, it becomes a matter of conscience for each individual lawmaker. There is no party line.

A poll taken recently among the members of both the Michigan House and Senate would indicate the lawmakers don't even do much talking with one another on the subject. It indicates the lawmakers drastically underestimate the strength of the sentiment for abortion law reform in both houses.

More than one half of the legislators responding in both houses said they could vote for some form of abortion law revision. But less than one fourth of them think a new law actually will be passed.

In answer to the question: "Would you vote for some form of abortion reform?" 55 per cent answered affirmatively; 22 per cent said they definitely wouldn't and the remaining 23 per cent were undecided.

But when asked "Will some form of abortion reform be passed this session?" only 24 per cent answered yes; 40 per cent said no, and another 36 per cent said they didn't know.

Perhaps the safest conclusion to draw from the poll, in terms of what will happen, is that there are quite a few things that could happen.

Whatever the legislature finally does do, it has a number of abortion bills to pick from—ranging from a slight loosening up of the present century-old law to complete and absolute repeal.

Three of the bills have been waiting in a Senate committee for a year. Five others were introduced earlier this session.

The Senate Health, Social Services and Retirement Committee, headed by State Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe, R-Deerborn, held 14 public hearings on abortion reform throughout the state last year and early this year.

Mrs. Beebe, a strong advocate of abortion law reform, lost her fight last year when the Senate narrowly rejected an abortion reform bill.

She hopes her efforts meet with more success this year and says the poll would tend to indicate success is possible.

When asked why so many lawmakers would say they will vote for some form of a bill while being dubious about passage of one, she pointed out the fact the issue is one involving an individual decision.

"Possibly, it's because the legislators know they are for it in their minds, but haven't stopped to assess the fact that many of their colleagues share their feelings," she said.

And another reason for this is that abortion reform is a very individual thing," she said. "Many legislators are for reform, but they don't know what form it should take yet."

The eight bills being considered can be divided into three general categories:

—complete repeal. If passed, these bills would eliminate any mention of abortion and criminal consequences from the entire body of Michigan law.

—permissive. A bill recently introduced by Sen. Gilbert Bursley would allow a woman the right to a legal abortion in a licensed hospital, clinic or doctor's office for any reason during the first three months of pregnancy.

—moderate revision. These bills would revise the present law to allow abortions if it is shown that continuation of the pregnancy could pose serious threats to either the physical or mental health of either the mother or the unborn child.

Whatever the eventual outcome of the issue this year, it is sure to be occupying a great deal of public attention in the coming months.

And while the outcome isn't sure there is one thing that is: the final decision will come after much soul searching on the part of every legislator who casts a vote on this emotionally-charged and highly complex issue.

lengthy course is not needed. Ensign receives $1,500. Dean of the township supervisors is Elmer Conant of Ellington township. This schooling is a good thing, he feels. The job is changing rapidly and needs an educated approach. Conant feels that the job will eventually end on a district or county level. We must have better trained men, he says, but the training is too much for supervisors who aren't in heavy valuation townships. As supervisor, Conant receives $1,380. Conant can take a dispassionate view of the situation. Unless he is drafted to fill a void he plans to end his public career this year.

Maynard McConkey, Elkland supervisor, is ready, willing and able to attend the school whenever and wherever it happens to be.

McConkey says that it is almost inevitable that assessing will move to the district or county level in the future.

He feels that a better educated approach to assessing is good, but is in accord with the other township supervisors who feel that a personal knowledge of the area is essential to doing a good job for the people.

The whole plan is so indefinite now, Gail Parrott, supervisor from Novesta township, said that it's hard to say what will be done. I've nine years' experience now, but have no objection to going to school.

A lot would depend, of course, on where the school is held, he says. We haven't even discussed the expense involved in the township yet. It appears that the State wants persons qualified to assess in other townships, Parrott noted.

Parrott now earns $1,200 yearly, plus $200 car expense.

He applied the brakes and the vehicle spun around in the road and turned over.

He was uninjured.

She says that she was on M-81 travelling east when a car in front of her turned into Sherman's Restaurant. While trying to avoid a collision with the car ahead she turned into the car driven by William Matthews of Decker, travelling west, she claims.

Pirates stage last minute rally; Hawks miss tourney title by point

The Cass City Red Hawks 11 long years Saturday when they bowed to Harbor Beach High School, 56-55, in the final round of the Class C district title for the school in tourney in Cass City.

It was a game between two evenly matched teams, well played and hotly contested from the opening whistle.

Harbor Beach came out gunning in the opening period. The Hawks, obviously tight entering the championship tilt, were guilty of numerous turnovers and were quickly behind. At the end of the first period, the score was 18-10.

The Hawks countered with a rush in the second period. Marty Zawilinski spearheaded the attack with some fine ball handling and passing. Cass City flowed right by the Pirates' pressing defense.

The Senior Cass City guard set up Joe Hillaker with key passes and scored himself on driving lay-ups.

During the Hawk rally Don Nowiski, six-foot, four-inch center for the Pirates, picked up three fouls and was pulled from the game until the third period.

During this period and for awhile after he returned, the game belonged to Cass City. The team charged from a 31-30 halftime deficit to a lead that reached as much as seven points.

But like they did against Sandusky the previous game, the Harbor Beach Pirates refused to fold.

Cass City clung tenaciously to its slim lead throughout most of the final period. The margin shifted from five to two points.

With less than three minutes left, Cass City was in front by three points and went into a controlled ball offense.

A turnover and the Pirates bounced down the floor and scored. With a minute and 20 seconds left, the Hawks lost the ball and Harbor Beach scored to go in front for the first time since the half.

With 23 seconds left, Harbor Beach stole the ball and Nowiski was fouled. He whipped in both shots and the Pirates had the game locked up.

When Cass City raced down the floor, the Beachers were careful not to foul and Scott Guernsey scored the final basket unhampered as the final whistle blew.

It was the last chance for a tourney victory for three Seniors who started for the Hawks most of the season. Playing their last game for Cass City were Joe Hillaker, Zawilinski and Tony Davis.

Hillaker netted 19 to lead Cass City. Richard "Zike" Miller added six and Rob Alexander hit for 11. Most of Alexander's buckets came in the last half. Zawilinski added nine points. Nowiski led all scorers with 21 points.

DECKERVILLE GAME

Cass City rode into the finals of the tourney with a victory over Deckerville.

The win was a tribute to the defense. Spearheaded by Miller who played his best game of the tourney, Cass City was a decisive 52-42 winner in the Wednesday night fracas.

The only time that Deckerville was ahead was in the opening period when the losers ran off five straight points following the opening whistle.

But Hillaker canned a short shot to break the ice and the Hawks came roaring back to win.

By the end of the first period, Cass City was in front 14-10. The margin remained the same at the half.

In the third period and the first four minutes of the final quarter, Cass City poured on the coal and it was all over when the clock showed four minutes left.

By this time, the Hawks were in front by 13 points and Coach Fred Hurlburt was able to use his bench for the first and only time in the tourney.

Hillaker took some excellent feed passes and turned them into points as he showed the JOY REIGNS FOR Harbor Beach and their fans immediately following the school's one-point decision over Cass City Saturday. Just visible with his back to the camera is Tournament Director Robert Stickle who is presenting the tournament trophy to the winners.

RICHARD "ZIKE" MILLER saved what was generally considered to be his best game of the year for the tournament when the Hawks bested Deckerville in the semi-finals. He beat Deckerville's Rex Thayer (42) for this basket.

THROUGHOUT HIS cage career Senior Tony Davis' pet shot was a short pop from the corner. He hit again on this one Saturday in the finals of the C tourney against Harbor Beach.

Owen-Gage cops district title Friday night

Owen-Gage capped its last half surge Friday night by coming from behind to whip Sebewaing and cop the District Class D toga at Caro.

The Bulldogs vaulted to the title with a clutch performance in the closing minutes of the game and won 69-64.

Owen-Gage gave away a little in rebounding strength, but made up for it in accurate shooting. Gary DeVore led all scorers with 32 points, but the Owen-Gage victory was a team effort.

Owen-Gage, with three sophomores in the line-up, promises to be a league powerhouse for several years. They were 15-3 during the season and tied for the championship in the Western Thumb Loop.

The game Friday was as close as the final score indicated. The score was knotted at 24-24 at the end of the first quarter and the Indians were in front by a point, 33-32, at the intermission.

In the last half, first one team then the other would forge slightly in front. There was never more than six points separating the teams.

Going into the final moments of the game, Sebewaing was in front by a point. Owen-Gage forged in front on a field goal and then DeVore made a clutch bucket when he stole the ball under his own basket and scored to put his team in front by three.

When he was fouled twice in the closing seconds by the Indians who desperately tried to get the ball back, he converted all four tries to salt away the victory.

Dale Karr contributed 16 points to help the winners to victory. Ken Gremel hit on outside jumpers for 25 points to keep Sebewaing in the game. Brad Erwin netted 17 and Dan Weinlander had 16.

Little Hawks split doubleheader Friday

Cass City's fifth and sixth grade basketball teams split a double header Friday night at Cass City High School.

The fifth grade was swamped by Deckerville, 32-3, while the sixth grade roared back to a 51-24 decision in the nightcap.

Cass City's only field goal by the fifth grade was by Dan Erla in the first period which ended in a 2-2 tie. Mike Lowe ended the young Hawks' scoring with a free throw.

Deckerville shook off its game jitters and went on to a one-sided victory.

The sixth grade jumped into a 12-3 first quarter lead and were in control throughout the game. All 22 players saw action.

The sixth grade exhibited a close man-to-man defense and were in front at the half, 28-4.

Charles Bliss led the scoring for the Red Hawks with 17. Clark Hillaker netted 13. Others to score were: David Zawilinski, 12; Rick Tuckey, 7, and Tom Smentek, 2. The Hawks made 15 of 32 free shots.

The fifth and sixth graders were coached during the regular season by Dean Jardine. Most of them will participate in an intramural program with seventh and eighth graders on six teams who will play throughout March.

Planning vital for 4-H clubs

One of the most important aspects of organizing any 4-H club program is the planning of what the club will do.

At one of the early club meetings - leaders, parents and members should cooperate in planning a program for the coming year. This may mean the setting of meeting dates and what is to be emphasized at each meeting.

A good club program includes a variety of events. There may include such things as - lectures, tours, trips, demonstrations and clinics. A well-balanced program includes some events in each of the areas of education, recreation and social.

The first step in developing a club program is to decide on the change you wish to bring about in the members themselves. The next step is to determine how the material will be presented. The final step may be the evaluation to check the members' progress. To be competitive a member's project need not always be judged but may be member evaluated.

MORE COWS PER MAN

One man can milk 35 to 45 cows per hour with a good milking system, says a report by Michigan State University agricultural economists.

Behind the Counter

Eye safety

Housecleaning and gardening can sometimes become such involving activities, we forget or ignore safety precautions. This is the warning of the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness, which reminds us that more than 40% of the accidents causing vision impairment in the U.S. occur in the home.

"We must remember that aerosol cleaners and paints, garden chemicals, solvents and tools are often fascinating objects to young children," said Dr. John W. Ferree, executive director of the society.

"They want to get into the act, and our accident files tell us with tragic repetitiveness the results in serious eye injury and blindness." He suggests giving a child his own chores, replacing potentially hazardous substances with harmless ones.

The society recommends you wear all-purpose safety goggles when cutting lawns with power mowers, burning trash, pruning bushes, spraying with insecticides or using chemical fertilizers.

Trash fires were high on last year's list of accident causes leading to eye injury. Glass bottles and empty spray cans may explode when tossed into a rubbish fire, showering fragments of glass and metal that can blind those standing nearby. The danger is multiplied if the container still holds some combustible powder or liquid.

According to the latest data from the National Health Survey, eye injuries are the leading cause of vision impairment in persons under 65.

ONE FOR THE ROAD

Good water makes good bourbon

By Dan Marlowe

The making of fine bourbon whiskey has been a prime pre-occupation of the residents of Bourbon County, Kentucky since 1789.

In England, where bourbon is the new "in" drink, it is often sipped after dinner as though it were a fine cognac. Although bourbon is considered a sipping whiskey in this country, too, it has never achieved quite that distinction.

To make a good bourbon, plenty of good corn grain is needed along with iron-free water that has filtered through limestone. For that reason most of the industry's distilleries are built along a single limestone belt that runs from Kentucky to the Illinois-Indiana corn belt. Bourbon is also distilled in California, Georgia, Virginia, and Pennsylvania.

Bourbon is, by U.S. law, a straight whiskey made from a fermented mash of not less than 51% nor more than 79% corn grain. With 80% corn in the mash, it's corn whiskey; with less than 51% it's something else, a blended whiskey, perhaps, or a rye whiskey, since rye is the "small-grain" ingredient in all bourbon mashes.

The more corn grain in the mash, the lighter will be the body of the whiskey. Americans tend more and more to favor light bourbons. The 100-proof bottled-in-bond bourbons account for less than 10% of today's bourbon sales.

The bourbon lover who buys the more popular 86-proof bourbon for its lightness may be missing a bargain, however. The Bourbon Institute's executive director claims that all bourbon should always be diluted half-and-half with water. 100-proof straight bourbon will paralyze the taste buds. A 100-proof bourbon, with its 50% alcohol, has more character when diluted half-and-half than its 86-proof cousin.

A few distillers advertise their process as "charcoal filtered," which means that during the distilling process the whiskey has been filtered through charcoal to remove what some distillers feel are undesirable elements in the brew. Other distillers claim vehemently that the process also removes valuable flavor elements.

Ostensibly there is a difference between "sour-mash" and "sweet-mash" bourbons. But sour-mash is simply bourbon that includes in its ingredients a little leftover mash--fermented but not distilled--from the distiller's preceding batch. It slows down the fermentation process and makes it easier for the distiller to maintain a continuity of taste in his bourbon.

And how did it all begin? Incredibly enough, the credit goes to a Baptist minister, Rev. Elijah Craig, who first concocted a batch in his flax-mill in famed Bourbon County, Kentucky.

Annual DHIA meeting set

"Flaking Corn" for the dairy cow and "Dairying in California" will highlight the Tuscola County Dairy Herd Improvement Association annual dinner and meeting. The county-wide activity will be held Thursday, March 19th. All dairymen and wives of the county are invited to attend the 12:00 noon dinner and afternoon program to be held at the Wilber 4-H Memorial Building at the Caro Fairgrounds.

The afternoon program will feature a program on the new process of "Flaking Corn." Neil Allison representing J. P. Burroughs Company of Oklahoma and Stu Dalton of Central Soya will present the topic. A colorized slide narration of "Dairying in California" will follow. The dinner is sponsored by an elevator in Gaytown. All dairymen and wives planning to attend should make reservations at the Extension Office in Caro.

Mrs. Lewis Dies in Kelso, Wash.

Mrs. Annie Lewis, 81, died Feb. 19 at her home in Kelso, Wash. Funeral services were held Feb. 23 in Kelso.

Her husband, the late Jim Lewis, was a native of Holbrook and the family had spent several summers visiting in the area. The Lewises had been in Washington 40 years where he operated a lumber mill. Mr. Lewis died in 1947.

Surviving are a son and daughter, Charlie Lewis and Mrs. Ruth Axelsson, both of Kelso, Wash., and several nieces and nephews from the Holbrook area.

Jimmy weighs a full ten pounds only when he's full of formula. But to his daddy, he's the weight of the whole world when its time for that 2 A.M. feeding. What a chore it is, but it allows plenty of time for thinking:

What kind of man will Jimmy grow up to be? What kind of father will I be to him? How can I keep him from following the wrong crowd? How can I help him to value the worthwhile things? How can I give him a solid foundation for life?

The responsibility that parenthood places on people is a heavy weight. A sensible man can't take it lightly. But the Church can help him bear it wisely. In church he will discover those enduring values, something against which to measure his own standards--and, as he finds these things for himself, he will pass them on to his son.

The church can't rear your children for you, but it can help you as you do the job. It's a champion weight-lifter.

SMOKE FILLED ROOM

The trouble with conventions is that everything is fixed before the delegates arrive.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ed Doolittle told the fellers at the country store Saturday night that this talk about what this country needs is a depression to pull us back together makes about as much sense to him as a bunch of fellers sitting around joking about the good old days when they was prisoners of war. Them that's wanting a depression ain't never had one, was Ed's words.

What got Ed riled was this statement he had saw in the paper by this feller that said the country was falling apart cause the people had forgot how to work. Life is too easy and success comes too easy. What this feller was saying was that when nobody had nothing, everybody scratched harder. And with everybody in the same boat nobody had time to rock it, so we all got along better.

Ed said he was strong again all the Government handouts, but wishing fer hard times to cure what ails the country ain't far from chopping off yore head to git rid of a toothache. They is a heap of difference between working to keep from starving to death and taking pride in yore work, was Ed's words, and he allowed that some folks in this country has got them mixed up.

Course, went on Ed, it is bad when a feller that tries to do a better job gits slapped down ever time he stands up. Ed had saw where this carpenter was fired cause his work was of "unnecessary high quality." It would be a rare thing these days, allowed Ed, if a feller got fired fer pore quality work.

Clem Webster reminded Ed that the last time the bottom fell out was when the Republicans was running things. He said he was worried the Nixon Administration didn't know the difference between putting brakes on the economy and putting skids under it. Clem said he reckons the Republicans will come up with a depression of strength, like the Democrats use to talk about them deficits of strength.

Course, went on Clem, he never had to worry about nothing back when he was on the job. He said his old lady took care of his money and her ma took care of his business, so all he had to do was work.

Right now, went on Clem, they is such a need fer people in all kinds of trades until some colleges is offering classes in odd jobs. People is showed how to paint walls, trim fruit trees, fix plumbing and make general repairs. One of the trades where the demand is biggest, Clem said, is blacksmiths, and colleges is offering this training too.

They is some serious problems in this country, allowed Ed, but starting new problems ain't the way to fix the old ones. Our trouble is that we has got to the place we want everthing fer nothing, but tearing down everthing and leaving nothing ain't the way to make us appreciate what we got.

Yours truly,

AAUW to study "Woman on Campus"

"The Woman on Campus," an exploration of various women's roles in the contemporary college and university world, will be the focus of the March 18 AAUW program. The faculty woman, the black woman, the career-oriented woman and the woman in the multi-versty will be the roles enacted by Mrs. Roy Tuckey, Mrs. Bill Wallace, Mrs. Mike Weaver and Miss Linda Isbister. The "role-players" will serve as provocateurs for small discussion groups. Members are urged to read the material provided by Dr. Fitzgerald at the February meeting in preparation for the discussion.

The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. H. T. Donahue at 8 p.m. with Mrs. Delbert Rawson as cohostess.
The Cass City Branch is assisting the Gavel Club with their Theater Night April 11 by furnishing refreshments during intermission. Anyone wishing to help April 11 should contact Ann McDaniel or Holly Althaver. Tickets will be available for Branch members at the March meeting for $1.50.

Representatives of the association announced that Rembrandt's paintings are on display this month in special exhibit in Detroit.

Locally, the AAUW will present an art show, "Different Looks in Art," April 18. This is to include the many forms of art and the association is interested in obtaining various forms such as jewelry, sculpture, etc., as well as paintings. Any type of art which is not done from a kit will be eligible for display. A committee will make the final decision. Anyone interested should contact Holly Althaver.

The future of our country depends on the sound, sane thinking of all its citizens.

"...the insatiable curiosity...to explore the unknown..."

COL. EDWIN ALDRIN

The men who have gone to the moon and back have explored space in a very real sense. They have spent years in training and educating themselves to exploring the unknown. Their intelligence, experiences, mental and physical conditioning have equipped them—to a large extent—to cope with the potential hazards they may encounter.

Our young explorer does not have this equipment and still must face the hazards of his world. His "planets" are located in the kitchen, the bedroom, the bathroom—places where medicines, furniture polish, drain cleaner, and dishwasher detergents are stored. The child does not have the training and education necessary to cope with potential poisoning hazards. For his protection, your intelligence and experience are his only equipment.

resounding reasons
why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

- 1 Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.
- 2 Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.
- 3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.
- 4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.
- 5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field.
- 6 Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.
- 7 A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.
- 8 Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.
- 9 Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.
- 10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?
