

Voter okay pushes school over 1st financial hurdle

With the first hurdle past, authorities at Cass City High School are anxiously eyeing Lansing to see if the five-mill operating tax renewal resoundingly passed Saturday, 865 to 188, will be enough to meet the costs of the district.

For the five mills will be enough for a full school program only if the education bill written by Rep. Roy Spencer, R. Attica, is adopted into law this year.

Under Spencer's formula Cass City would receive $540 per pupil in total local and State tax revenues. If the formula remains as it currently is the total revenue per student drops to $476.

That's a difference of $64 per pupil and based on this year's enrollment would leave the schools some $123,000 short of meeting next year's estimated requirements.

Since a mill in Cass City raises about $24,000 it follows that the school would have to come to the voters in the June election and ask for about 5 mills for a full program.

However, it is extremely likely that there will be an increase in State funds next year. It is unlikely that it will be as much as the Spencer bill proposes. School administrators are unanimous in saying that they need an early decision to plan next year's curriculum. But if the Spencer bill does not make it through the Senate it won't be because Spencer and William Ryan, D. Detroit, aren't trying.

The pair have been stumping the State trying to drum up interest for the bill. Ryan endorses the bill because it includes a parochial provision and Spencer accepted the provision to get Ryan's support in pushing the bill through the House.

Most observers feel that the big stumbling block to the plan will be financing it in an election year. To pay the State's share of the cost would require an increase in the income tax and many politicians are fearful of endorsing any new tax in an election year.

Off-the-record, persons in charge of the purse strings are fearful that a plan that provides a new flow of money into all school systems will cause a sharp boost in teachers' salaries as the richer districts "float" in money under the new plan.

These people are stumping for some type State-wide plan to regulate salaries rather than the present, play one district against the other, system.

About 100 persons from the Upper Thumb, mostly educators, were in Cass City last Wednesday to hear Spencer outline the fine points of his plan.

He said that there has been confusion state-wide between the plan first proposed and the one adopted by the State.

His plan has been outlined here in regular school meetings preceding the vote.

Financing at the State level calls for an extra .9 of one per cent state-wide income tax. Each school district would raise 10 mills of local property tax for which the State guarantees $420 per pupil.

For every mill between 10 and 20 raised the State adds $30 per mill per pupil to a maximum of $720. An alternate to raising property tax would be to raise an income tax. Each one per cent income tax would equal five mills and also bring $150 per pupil from the State.

An interesting feature of the Spencer plan is that the school board of any district could raise up to a two per cent income tax without a special vote...although taxpayers would have the right to initiate a referendum.

There is also a provision for the State to pay more than 30 per cent of capital outlay and debt retirement costs in all districts.

3 jury trials heard in circuit court

Three jury trials held in Tuscola County Circuit Court during the week resulted in verdicts against the defendants.

The cases were heard before Judge James Churchill in Caro.

Wednesday, April 15, Milton Shields was found not to be a sexual psychopathic person. Shields came to trial from Jackson Prison where he is serving a life sentence for felonious assault with intent to murder and for rape.

If he had been found to be a psychopath he would be treated as an ill person rather than a criminal.

Thursday Raymond Mater of Applegate was found guilty of uttering and publishing for writing a check for $321.40 with insufficient funds on the Carsonville State Bank.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered before sentencing.

Friday a jury found Dennis Zeplin, Cass City, guilty of indecent and obscene exposure before a minor girl, 13 years old.

A pre-sentence investigation was ordered and sentence will be passed May 18.

Arraignments and sentences were heard Monday before Judge Churchill.

Daniel Arthur Kukulski was placed on probation for four years for stealing a tool box and other items from a car owned by Maurice Molnar. The first two months of the sentence will be served in the county jail.

In addition he was ordered to pay a fine and costs of $400, reimburse the county for attorney fees of $225 and pay $400 restitution at the rate of $50 per month.

Robert Colosy, Mayville, was placed on three years probation for stealing tires from Robert McKee. He was ordered to pay fine and costs of $400 and make restitution of $159 at the rate of $25 per month.

Ray Lee White asked the court to reduce his bail from $1,500 as he awaits trial on an uttering and publishing charge. The request was refused.

Cass City winner in science quiz

Cass City Science Quiz Team will be on television Sunday, April 26, competing against Sanford. Team members Joann Eskilsen, Greg Hampshire, Charles Tuckey and Louis Papp, won the contest and will be competing again at a later date.

REP. ROY SPENCER makes a point Wednesday, April 15, as he explains why he thinks his school plan should be adopted. He was speaking at Cass City High School.

Valuations jump in area townships

Area townships all reflected the general valuation increase of Tuscola County, according to a report of the County Equalization Director accepted by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners last week. Total valuation of the county as previously announced is $188,286,902.

The valuation jump was marked by a sharp increase in personal property taxes in Elkland and Elmwood townships.

In Elkland personal property jumped from $2,190,800 to $2,420,900 and in Elmwood the increase was from $119,700 to $136,400.

Most townships in the area are assessed at State required 50 per cent of cash value. However a factor was used in Gifford township.

Supervisor Quentin Howell openly questions the value placed on land in his Gifford township and assessed accordingly. It was figured at 44.68 per cent of State assessed valuation and a factor was used to bring his township's taxes to the required 50 per cent.

County to seek $175,000 yearly for bridges

A meeting of township supervisors and Tuscola County Commissioners was held Tuesday night to discuss money to rebuild bridges in the county.

It was agreed, according to informed sources, that the county would seek $175,000 a year for five years in the primary election in August.

Although there will be no mills mentioned on the ballot it is expected that $175,000 on the county's equalized valuation will cost in the neighborhood of .9 of a mill.

SANILAC COUNTY

Evergreen and Greenleaf townships followed the Sanilac county trend with an increase in assessed valuation over 1969, according to a report issued this week by the Sanilac County Equalization Department.

County-wide the new equalized value jumped nearly 9 per cent with an increase of $12,383,691 to a total of slightly over $150 million.

Both Evergreen and Greenleaf increased less than the county average.

In 1969 Evergreen's valuation for real property was $2,307,750 and personal was $145,700 for a total of $2,453,450. This year's tax spread showed real property at $2,369,750 and personal at $148,100 for a total valuation of $2,517,850.

Greenleaf's personal tax valuation dropped this year from $109,500 to $100,800 but real property increased from $1,880,600 to $1,918,900 and total tax was up slightly from $1,990,100 to $2,019,700.

Real property in the county represents 87 per cent of total value. Agricultural property accounts for the largest portion of the tax base but is dropping. Three years ago it represented over 50 per cent of total county valuation as compared to 44.5 per cent today.

A breakdown of the tax base in the county is:

Agricultural $66,321,074 or 44.5%
Commercial $13,178,308 or 8.8%
Industrial $12,625,639 or 8.7%
Residential $48,932,683 or 32.8%
Utilities $7,047,079 or 4.7%.

Select Auvil for Chemists' student medal

Steven R. Auvil has been selected to receive the student award of the Michigan Chapter of the American Institute of Chemists at the meeting of the Chapter Saturday at Detroit Boat Club at Belle Isle, Detroit.

Auvil will be presented a suitably inscribed bronze medal at the meeting and Rep. Weldon O. Yeager will speak. His subject title is "Michigan-Today and Tomorrow."

The award is one of a host of honors that Auvil has earned at Michigan State University as an all-A student. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Auvil of Snover. He is married to the former Pamela Gee and the couple has two sons, Steven Jr. and Dennis.

JAMES BAUER offers his congratulations to William Audley Rawson (right) for his selection as Cass City's Citizen of the Year.

RICHARD WALLACE presented the plaque symbolic of selection as junior citizen of the year to Miss Sally Geiger. Watching are her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Geiger.

Citizen of year awards go to Rawson and Geiger

The highlight of the year for the Chamber of Commerce annually is its banquet when the citizen of the year and the junior citizen of the year are selected and feted.

Audley Rawson's long service to the community was recognized as he was selected for the honor by ballot vote of the most recent five previous residents to receive the award.

The presentation was made by James Bauer, last year's winner, who recounted Rawson's long career of public service.

Rawson was born in Marlette in 1893 and is a graduate of Marlette High School. He attended the first short course offered by Michigan State University.

He farmed in Elkland township and was township supervisor from 1931-36. He was a State representative for 8 years and a State Senator from 1943-47 for Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties.

He retired to become a lobbyist for Michigan Insurance Co., a position he still holds.

In this position he was instrumental in arranging a loan from an insurance company to the Cass City Development Corporation that enabled the community to build the first Walbro building and bring the industry to the community.

In 1960 he established the Rawson Charitable Trust. In 1962 he established college scholarships for deserving Cass City students. Already 12 students have used the funds and there are four students attending colleges or universities at all times with the aid of the Damage heavy in one of 3 fires

Three fires, highlighted by a $16,500 blaze at Ziembra snowmobile sales on M-53, were reported in the area during the week.

The Elkland Township Fire Department assisted the Marlette Fire Department when a building owned by Steve Ziembra burned Sunday morning at 2 o'clock destroying the building, five new snowmobiles and parts and equipment.

Saturday a rubbish fire at the farm occupied by Mrs. Albert Viney of rural Cass City went out of control and caused a grass fire that burned an estimated 40 acres. The farm is owned by Mrs. Arthur Little.

The roof of the home of Harry Bohnsack on South Cemetery Road caught fire Thursday morning. The fire department was called to keep the blaze under control.

community for construction of a new library slated to be built this summer.

Attending the banquet to honor their father were his four children. They include Ralph, Clara, Mrs. Elsie Fessler and Dr. Delbert Rawson. Also present were a host of dignitaries including State Treasurer Allison Green and State Senator Alvin DeGrow.

Prior to the presentation of the citizen of the year award, Dick Wallace presented the junior citizen of the year award to Sally Geiger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ron Geiger.

This award is presented to a senior girl on the basis of scholarship, leadership and character.

Miss Geiger is the valedictorian of her class. She is the student council president and also president of the youth fellowship of her church.

She was a member of the homecoming court and plans to attend Central Michigan University after graduation.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I watched a Bogart movie the other night on the boob tube and enjoyed every minute of it.

There's darn little that can top Bogey in a mystery unless it's John Wayne in a western.

When these guys play the lead you know what to expect...settle comfortably back in your seat, the good guys are going to prevail.

That's for me. Recently the movies have been disappointing. The other day Paul Newman took it on the chin as Butch Cassidy and before that William Holden was dispatched in a pool of blood in "The Violent Ones".

If we can't depend on the heroes to win in the end in the movies, what's left for the silver screen?

One thing is sex. That not only is one thing, that's THE thing. The skin flicks are the big box office draw these days. In Lapse a drive-in has been raided twice for showing pornographic movies. The owner has a chain that shows nothing but "adult only" shows based on lewd sex appeal and he reports business is booming. After being raided twice it's almost a sure thing that business will continue to be great in the weeks ahead.

These shows that leave nothing to the imagination aren't nearly as enticing as the shows that do. Lauren Bacall's line to Bogart in "Casablanca" when she leans in the doorway and says, "If you want me all you have to do is whistle. You know how to whistle, don't you? All you do is pucker up and blow" and then heads for her hotel room is as sexy a scene as ever was.

I wonder how many times I've seen it? A half dozen anyway.

And that brings up another point. A good show is worth seeing again and again. My wife can't understand this. She's seen it once, she's seen it and, brother, that is all.

She can't understand why a good movie is like a good book: something to be enjoyed over and over. Of course I have an advantage. A year after I see a show I have trouble remembering what it was all about. I often go to a movie thinking it's brand new only to suddenly realize after it's half over that the reason it was vaguely familiar was that I'd already seen it.

Besides cowboy and Indian shows, there are the musicals. Musicals are really fun if they are good like "The Music Man" and "My Fair Lady"...the difference between them and my favorites is that a mediocre western is fun...a poor musical a disaster.

More often than not the way to really get burned is to attend a show because it won an academy award. Over the years, movies winning this award more often than not have been dreadfully boring.

I suppose that's because movies to me are for escapism. I want to be entertained and leave the problems of the day at the ticket window.

Movies with a message leave me cold...unless the message is that good triumphs over evil, the boy gets the girl and the cowboy is still on his white horse, bloodied but unbowed. If I want it like it really is why go to the movies?

Report minor road mishaps in area

Two minor accidents involving area drivers were reported during the week by the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department.

Mrs. Wendell John Samson, 26, of Bay City was shaken up in a two-car mishap on M-46, about a quarter of a mile east of Lee Hill Road Sunday afternoon.

A car driven by Larry James Hartwick, 20, attempted to pass a car driven by Wendell John Samson, 26, of Bay City when an unidentified car in front of the Samson car attempted to turn. Hartwick told police that he did not see turn signals operating on this vehicle.

He slammed on his brakes to avoid a collision and his car fishtailed into the Samson vehicle.

Russell D. Coleman, 22, of Cass City reported that a deer ran into the left side of his car as he was driving Monday evening on M-81, near Schwegler Road, east of Cass City. The deer was killed.

Do you put a higher price on an Olds than we do?

Our own surveys indicate that quite a few people think an Olds costs a lot more than it really does. Result? Many people buy an ordinary car and end up with a lot less car and value for their money.

It's so unnecessary, too, because Oldsmobile has many models that are priced right down with so-called low-priced cars. See your Olds dealer. He'll prove that you're closer to Olds than you think.

Cutlass S: The sporty Olds—one of nine Olds models priced under $2995*—right down with a lot of low-priced names. But Cutlass really widens the value gap with standard features like these: Regular-gas Rocket V-8 □ Nylon-blend loop-pile carpeting □ Foam-padded seats □ Deluxe steering wheel □ Bias-belted tires □ Door side-guard beams □ Recessed windshield wipers □ Hidden radio antenna.

New Chamber officers recognized

McConkey takes reins

Rodney Krueger, retiring president of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce, reviewed highlights of the year before turning the reins of the Chamber over to Keith McConkey Tuesday night at the annual banquet of the organization held at Cass City High School.

The financial report showed that Krueger and his board kept the Chamber in good financial condition by turning over a balance of over $500 to the new regime.

He pointed to the new family welcome kits that were inaugurated this year by the Chamber and told about new community brochures that will be issued later in the year.

He introduced McConkey who then recognized the nine new business owners in the community during the year.

Also recognized were the new board members. Elected were: Ron Geiger, Clare Mellendorf, Keith Murphy and Paul O'Harris. They replace Mrs. Ruth Kelley, Roger Marshall, Dick Wallace and Ferris Ware who completed their terms.

Other members of the board of directors are: Don Erla, Dick Hampshire, Krueger, McConkey, Art Randall, Bill Repshinska, Bob Tuckey and Mike Weaver.

Guest speaker for the evening was Al LaGuire who entertained with jokes woven around local topics, businesses and personalities.

Things I've had to live this long to learn:

That a tregnum is a 2-quart bottle of Scotch whisky (and no "e" in the whisky, please.)

That a green goods man pushes counterfeit money.

That the world's oldest musical instrument is the flute, dating back to Magdalenian times, circa 18,000 B. C.

That in the parlance of the underworld a "third rail" is an incorruptible official.

That a snowbird is a migratory individual who moves south to escape the winter in the north.

That the greatest snowfall ever in a 24 hour period was 76 inches in Silver Lake, Colorado.

That the bacteria Micrococci radiodurans can withstand atomic radiation 10,000 times that fatal to the average man. (Them little bugs are not only always gonna be with us; they're gonna be here when we ain't.)

That a cider barrel is another name for an ocean-going tugboat.

That a guess-stick is a slide rule.

That a waime iron, in certain circles, is the electric chair.

That the phrase to jumpsalty means to become totally enraged. (Who, me?)

That the worst traffic jams are in Tokyo, Japan. Only 9% of the city area is roadway, compared to 43% in Washington, D. C.

That a single ounce of gold can be drawn into a continuous wire strand 43 miles long. (Which is about the only way money can be stretched these days.)

That to step off the carpet is to marry, i. e., to finish walking down the aisle.

That in the parlance of the police Safe and Loft Squad, a skylight burglar is a rafter creeper.

That a Rocky Mountain canary is a burro or a donkey.

That the most widespread radio program is The Lutheran Hour which is broadcast in 59 languages.

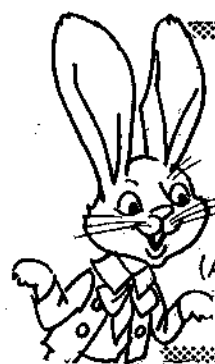

That an easy make is just what you think it is.

That a bull buster is a cop fighter.

That to yentz is to cheat. (Yiddish.)

That the longest movie ever shown is THE HUMAN CONDITION which was made in Japan. It lasts 8 hours and 50 minutes, excluding two breaks of 30 minutes each.

(But you've sat through some that seemed longer, haven't you?)

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

The first annual family-player basketball banquet Thursday marked the official end of the high school cage season this year.

The loudest applause of the night was received by Coach Fred Hurlburt when he casually remarked that he hoped to be in Cass City for many years.

It was a spontaneous gesture in tribute to Hurlburt's work at the school in creating a winter sports program for students of all ages.

According to Mrs. Esther McCullough, a good sheep dog is a respected citizen in Scotland. She reports taking a picture of "Nell of Colloclun" when visiting last summer.

She remembered the dog but not the owner. On an off chance that the really excellent picture she snapped would find its way to the owner she sent a letter and picture addressed only to "Nell of Colloclun, Best Sheep Dog in Scotland, near Inverness" and the letter was delivered less than a week after it was mailed.

It's certainly an unusual spring. The regular trout season opens Saturday. Ordinarily, five days before the opener the weather is balmy, the sun is out and folks are going around in shirtsleeves.

Then the night before the season opens, it switches and the week-end weather is like the weather was Sunday and Monday: cold, damp and terrible.

The school vote Saturday exploded one theory about millage elections. The thought was that in every election there are a certain number of no votes regardless of the issue.

When an issue passed, these observers said, it was because the "yes" votes increased while the "no" votes remained constant. Under this theory there was certain to be 500 votes against passing school taxes.

In the light of Saturday's election a better analysis would seem to be that a very small portion of the voters will vote for or against any issue while the rest judge each proposition on its merits as they see it.

Audley Rawson, Cass City's citizen of the year, has not held a political post for many years. But it was easy to see why he was elected Representative and Senator when he strolled to the podium to accept his deserved accolades Tuesday night.

Audley's personality radiated from the speakers' table and you could feel his close communication with his audience after the opening routine.

He was interesting, humorous and gracious. Telling of the deals he contrived as supervisor to bring the first hard surface county road to the Cass City area delighted the crowds and the just right blend of sincerity and humility he displayed when receiving his award could serve as an object lesson in how to accept plaudits.

Rawson is an old pro and he hasn't lost his touch.

Name 3 to Scout Camp Rotary staff

Three Scouts from Cass City have been named to the camp staff at Camp Rotary for this summer.

Brian Althaver will be a Senior Patrol Leader for a provisional troop at camp for half of the summer. Brian is going in front of a Board of Review for Life next week. Stanley and Bob Carter will be splitting the summer working at Camp Rotary this summer as kitchen aides.

In addition to the Cass City Scouts there are several boys and adults from Caro also working on the staff of 30. The main emphasis of the camp this summer is Conservation but the program will include all Scout skills and fun.

Troop 294 from Cass City will be attending camp July 12-18. James L. MacTavish is the camp director this summer.

SPORTS FANS!

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Bulen

We'd like to pass along a quote we saw recently from a prominent sports figure...He said that when a boy comes home after playing a ball game you shouldn't ask him, "Did you win?" but rather, you should ask, "Did you have fun?"...He says, "There's a time and place in life when you're ready for different things and we should not make kids afraid to lose. Let them know that sports should be enjoyed as well as played to the hilt."

John Denti, who set many Olympic records in his career, once walked from the Atlantic Ocean to the Pacific Ocean in 9 hours!...How did he do it?...He did it in the Panama Canal Zone where the distance from the Atlantic to the Pacific is short enough to make such a feat possible.

Ever wonder what's inside a golf ball?...Did you know that many of the best balls have a small sack filled with liquid in the center and that liquid is usually either a silicon or, in some cases, castor oil!

MEA backs drive to kill aid to parochial schools

DRIVE UNDERWAY

Supporters of public schools have joined forces to place a constitutional amendment to prohibit parochial aid on the November ballot.

A total of 30 organizations are working on the drive. They call themselves The Council Against Parochial Aid (CAP). To succeed they must gather more than 300,000 signatures by May 28. The signatures must all come from Michigan residents who are registered voters at the time they sign the petition. The proposed amendment would bar financial aid of any type to either parochial schools, parochial school teachers or parochial school students. It would not, however, bar transportation of private or parochial school students in public school buses.

One of the biggest backers of the drive is the Michigan Education Association (MEA), which has thrown all its resources behind the effort. A recent issue of "Teacher's Voice," the MEA's weekly publication, urged the association's 80,000 members to both sign a petition calling for a vote on the issue and to help circulate the petitions.

On its front page, it featured a sample petition and illustrated exactly how such petitions are to be signed. The sample petition contained the signatures of both MEA Executive Secretary Terry Herndon and his wife Mary.

The illustration also tells all the legal restrictions on the signing and circulation of petitions to make sure MEA members go about the procedure correctly.

MEAs also held three sessions around the state in early April "to underscore the significance and urgency of the petition drive."

Those attending the meetings in Gaylord, Marquette and East

Wixon Club slates annual china show

The annual show sponsored by the Wixon Club of Caro has been scheduled at Caro High School Cafeteria Saturday, May 2, 1-9 p.m., and Saturday, May 3, 1-6 p.m.

Called Symphony on China it will feature a display of china painting and water colors by Gladys Galloway and her students.

Several of Mrs. Galloway's original designs have been pub-

Lansing were schooled in the procedures involved in conducting a petition drive.

Bitterly opposed to parochial aid all along, MEA said it will oppose any program for school reform or school aid which includes a penny for private or parochial schools.

Part of the group's opposition has been an argument that parochial aid already is unconstitutional, but it and the other members of CAP have decided not to take a chance Michigan's courts might uphold any parochial aid appropriation under current laws and nail the thing down for good.

SMOKING DOWN

Smokers across the country have been quitting or cutting down on their habit in ever greater numbers in recent years and Michigan is no exception.

A report issued by the Treasury Department shows cigarette sales were off 27 million packs during the first six months of the current fiscal year. The total sales were $79.8 million, compared to more than $80 million in the July-December period of 1968.

This resulted in a drop in revenue from $42 million to $40.8 million for the six month period.

The biggest drop came in the month of December, when revenues were off 9.69 per cent to $6 million while the smallest drop came in November, when revenues were $6.6 million—a drop of only 1.34 per cent from the previous year.

GAP SHOWS

Former Gov. G. Mennen Williams came face to face with the generation gap recently in Lansing.

Williams arrived late for a Democratic Party fund raising function at a downtown hotel. The man who governed Michigan longer than any other man, sporting his trademark polka dot bow tie, flashed his ticket at the door and started to go in.

The young woman smiled sweetly at Williams and suggested he might want a name tag to wear.

"What is your name?" she asked the former six-term governor.

Christian Scientists announce lecture

Thomas O. Poyser

A solution to the problem of living easily with others in today's overcrowded world will be presented at First Church of Christ, Scientist corner of Lincoln and Pearl Street, Caro, at 8 p.m. April 30, 1970, when Thomas O. Poyser, C.S.B., a Christian Science lecturer from Dallas, will discuss "Are People Your Problem?"

Poyser is a teacher of Christian Science as well as a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. He graduated from the University of Michigan, with a degree in engineering, and served in World War II. He was awarded the Bronze Star for service in the United States Army Air Corps.

Photographers, sightseers and other visitors find delight in the more than 150 scenic waterfalls in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Fort Wilkins at Copper Harbor in Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula is the only wooden fort east of the Mississippi with its original buildings still standing, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

Cass City second in opening track meet Wednesday

Cass City opened the 1970 season last Wednesday in a triangular meet with Vassar and Marlette at Cass City Recreational Park.

The Vulcans ran away with the lions share of the points, picking up 71 1/2 points on their way to victory. The Hawks were second with 45 1/2 points and Marlette, third with 33 points.

There were some bright points in the meet for Cass City and also a little gloom. Harv Fredericks suffered a broken toe and still managed to pick up a third in the 220 and 100-yard dashes. He will be lost for the season.

Scott Guernsey took a first in the long jump with a distance of 19 feet, 3 1/4 inches. His brother, Craig, finished third, Dan Calster also leaped over 17 feet, but failed to place.

Calster picked up valuable points for Cass City in the high jump with a leap of 5 feet, two inches good for a tie with Barnes of Vassar for first place.

Coach Bob Watson said the mile relay team of Craig Guernsey, D. Vollmar, D. Heronemus and J. Selby did a fine job winning the event in 3:53.5.

Freshman Curt Strickland turned in an impressive performance, Watson said, by finishing second in the two-mile behind last year's conference champion, Broughton of Marlette. Strickland trailed the winner by just .6 of a second. Bob Ross provided a surprise by finishing second in the 120 high hurdles. The only double winner in the meet was Shelp of Vassar who copped the pole vault and the 100 yard dash.

Other point winners for Cass City included: Larry McClorey, third in the shot put and second in the 220-yard dash; Selby, a second in the 880-yard run; Smith, tie for fourth in high jump and pole vault;

Stickle, third in two-mile; Esheiman, fourth in two-mile; Guernsey, third in 440, and Guernsey, second in the 180-yard low hurdles.

The Kirtlands Warbler Management Area near Mio, Michigan is the only place in the world where the Kirtlands Warblers nest, according to the Michigan Tourist Council. Permits to visit the area are free.

What happens to soil nitrogen?

By Don Kehler

What really happens to soil nitrogen has been a most common question asked by our farm operators.

First of all let us see how nitrogen is lost entirely from the soil and go from there. Crop removal takes a big share of soil nitrogen erosion of top soil by water and wind and a very small amount of leaching into the subsoil can occur.

What happens to the remaining soil nitrogen not lost or removed? To answer this we need to be familiar with what we call the nitrogen cycle of soils.

Soil nitrogen can be of several chemical forms. They are ammonia, nitrous oxides, nitric oxides all in water solutions which can also go off into the air as gases. We have organic and inorganic nitrogen containing salts and nitrogenous materials in decomposing plants and animal remains. All of these sources of nitrogen can be in our soils and none are constantly stable or in the same percentage to each other in any soil.

The form of nitrogen of first interest to the farm operator is the form we call nitrate nitrogen. This is the form of nitrogen used by growing plants. All the other forms and supplies for plant usable nitrogen must be changed to nitrate nitrogen. The primary and most important changes of soil nitrogen to plant usable nitrogen are the soil bacteria or microorganisms. These organisms and other larger forms of soil living insects consume the soil organic and inorganic food materials and convert these materials into usable plant food nutrients under ideal soil conditions. Under non-ideal soil conditions of excessive moisture, low temperatures and compaction, a different type of microorganisms consume these soil nutrients and convert them to forms that plants cannot absorb into their roots.

With this brief explanation, I hope to convey the idea that a soils supply of plant usable nitrogen compounds level is constantly changing especially during times when a soil temperature is 50 degrees to 55 degrees F or above. Good soil tilth, structure, drainage, nutrient and moisture levels, organic matter supply and lime will insure a more rapid release of plant usable forms of nitrogen.

Conditions different from this will retard the release and reduce the supply of plant usable forms of nitrogen regardless of total quantity of nitrogen containing compounds in the soil.

So one can have a large total supply of nitrogen containing compounds in his soil, but due to poor soil physical conditions insufficient quantities of the plant usable nitrogen can be supplied.

RENT-A-BEE SERVICES GROWING RAPIDLY

Michigan fruit and vegetable growers are getting a lot of mileage out of rapidly growing rent-a-bee services provided by beekeepers throughout the state.

Michigan State University specialists say that charges depend on distance beekeepers must transport hives, difficulty of hive placement, time of year and number of times hives are moved from field to field.

Beekeepers are urged to provide strong colonies to growers, because one strong colony will send out as many bees as two or three weak ones. Generally, one colony per acre is enough for most crops, but growers use two or more with blueberries.

JOE COOPER and the calf without eyes that is rapidly becoming a family pet.

Researchers are at work trying to perfect paper and plastic containers for soft drinks.

Blind calf rapidly becomes favorite of Cooper family

The Max Coopers of rural Cass City are feeding 11 bull calves at their farm. The animals will be cared for until they reach the 200 pound class and then sold as feeders.

Nothing unusual about this until you take a close look at one of them...he has no eyes. The blind calf was born on the Ronald Hampshire farm, Kingston. It rapidly became a pet of Mrs. Hampshire who fed the cripple.

It's amazing how quickly he overcame his handicap, she says. It wasn't long before it knew who I was when I came to feed and starting licking his nose when he heard me.

Mrs. Hampshire thinks that the calf may have also been born without a voice. I never heard it bawl, she explained. On the other hand, she swears that he has a tear duct. I saw a big tear roll down his face one day, she noted, and the calf does have eyelids.

A few days ago the sightless calf was sold to the Coopers who take the young bulls from the Hampshires and feed them.

The Coopers report that the calf is doing fine and is already a pet of the family.

It's not likely that we will be able to sell him, she says, and will have to feed him for ourselves.

Already the kids are giving out lots of static.

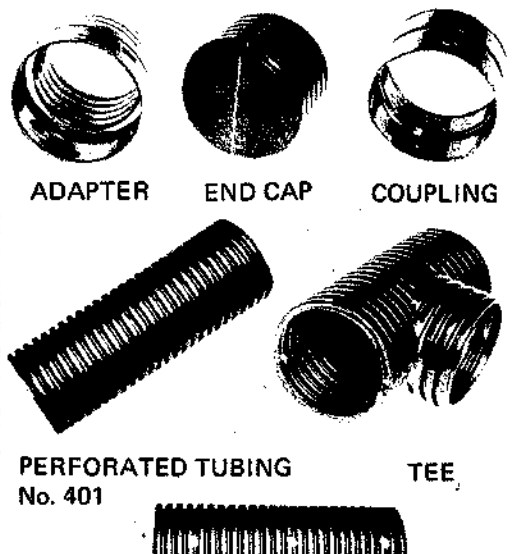

You see, already the blind calf has become a family pet and the children just can't bear to think of him as part of the family's dinner.

Light frosts usually kill beans, tomatoes, peppers, cucumbers, egg plant, okra, sweet potatoes, squashes, pumpkins, muskmelons and gourds, according to horticulturists at Michigan State University.

Reduce Land Improvement Costs with light weight, easy to use

"ADS" Corrugated Plastic Drainage Tubing and Fittings 100 - Year Guarantee

ADS No. 401 TUBING is specifically designed for land improvement use. Every third valley in the corrugation is saw cut at three equally spaced points for positive water inlet. Total inlet area is over 1.25 square inches per foot. Tubing will bend in a 10" radius for easy installation. Shipped in 250' coils approximately 60" in O.D., 20" I.D. and 24" wide. Each coil weighs approximately 70 lbs. Made from durable high strength polyethylene.

AVAILABLE IN 4" - 5" - 6" TUBING

ADVANTAGES

1. Light weight and ease of installation allow reductions in the time and labor required for installation.
2. No breakage in shipment, in the field or in the trench.
3. Resistant to acids, alkalis and frost damage.
4. Joints will not open up or misalign.
5. Easily laid around curves and corners without costly fittings.
6. No fork trucks or special handling equipment needed for locating in the field.
7. No pallets or other debris to dispose of after completion of the job.
8. No waste, can be cut to exact length required.
9. Eliminates need for tar paper to cover up misalignment gaps.
10. Allows water to seep in or out every 1 1/2 inches of run for better uniformity in drainage or leech bed application.
11. Light weight and ease of loading and unloading offer many advantages in picking up, delivering and getting to the field.

Tell tree pick up days in Sanilac

The Sanilac Soil Conservation District announces tree pick up days Friday and Saturday, April 24-25. These trees and shrubs will be at the 4-H fairgrounds in Sandusky. Persons that ordered trees ahead of time may pick them up either of these days. Anyone wishing for trees or shrubs may go to the fairgrounds these days and purchase anything left over.

Many kinds of pines will be available plus several hardwoods including white birch, mountain ash, hard maple, cottonwood, and tulip poplar. Besides the trees, two berry producing shrubs will be available. These are autumn olive and multi flora rose. These produce excellent wildlife berries all winter.

The Sleeping Bear Sand Dunes in northwestern lower Michigan are 480 feet high and are the world's largest moving sand dunes, according to the Michigan Tourist Council.

More than 5,000 economic poison registrations have been reviewed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture laboratory since establishment of a cooperative agreement related to safe use of pesticides and other economic poisons a year ago.

The Inter-Agency Pesticide Review Agreement, initiated by the Agriculture department, provides an opportunity for other agencies to evaluate pesticides before approval for marketing in Michigan.

Agencies participating in the agreement with the Michigan Department of Agriculture are the Department of Natural Resources, Department of Public Health, and the Water Resources Commission.

B. Dale Ball, Director of the Michigan Department of Agriculture

Safe use of pesticide Ag goal culture said nearly 700 requests for review of labels have been received from the three other participating agencies.

About 25 product labels were referred to the Department of Natural Resources (about half involving dieldrin) which resulted in three objections that have been resolved.

The Water Resources Commission is reviewing all products carrying application to the aquatic environment. About 30 products have been referred, two objections were received and resolved.

The Michigan Department of Public Health has recently asked to review all labels and more than 600 have since been referred. Of about 70 objections to registration, 38 have been satisfactorily resolved and 32 are presently being studied.

The Inter-Agency Pesticide

Review agreement provides that each agency designates one scientist to act on its behalf in carrying out terms of the agreement, and submits a list of specific chemical formulations and types of uses it desires to review. Objection to a registration requires accompanying appropriate scientific evidence upon which the objection is based.

Agency objections and supportive evidence are reviewed by the Michigan Department of Agriculture, and any differences of evaluation are usually resolved through consultation with the agency representative or other scientists. Concluding step in the procedure is the decision of the Director of Agriculture, based upon appropriate scientific and administrative review, which is then reported to the agencies prior to final approval or denial of registration.

Mich. farmers get index of prices

The Index of Prices Received by Michigan farmers, as of last month, was 286 per cent of the 1910-14 average, according to the Michigan Crop Reporting Service.

The index declined one point from the Feb. 15 level.

Price declines for hogs, milk, eggs and onions more than offset increases for beef cattle, calves, apples, dry beans and potatoes.

Compared with March 1969, the index was up 15 points. Prices for meat animals, milk, eggs and potatoes were substantially higher than a year ago, but dry bean prices were lower.

The price of all dry beans averaged only $6.50 in March compared with $6.90 a year previous, and were the lowest for March since 1967 when the average price was only $6.20.

Hog prices averaged $26.10 in March, the highest since March 1947. Beef cattle at $26.30 were the highest for March since 1952.

During the month ended March 15, the Index of Prices Received by farmers across the nation also declined one point (1/3 per cent) to 289 per cent of its 1910-14 average.

Except for February 1970, this was the highest index since August 1952.

Contributing most to the decrease during the month were price declines for hogs, eggs, and milk. Partially offsetting were higher cattle prices.

The index was seven per cent above March 1969.

The Index of Prices Paid by Farmers for Commodities and Services, Interest, Taxes, and Farm Wage Rates was unchanged at 386, equaling the record high of the previous month.

The index rose 17 points (five per cent) during the last 12 months.

With prices of farm products declining slightly, and prices paid by farmers unchanged, the preliminary Adjusted Parity Ratio remained at 81 and the Parity Ratio at 75.

SPECIAL SPRING FARM SECTION

Fete 4-H'ers at spring achievement

BY BERNARD JARDOT

pearance project work:

Outstanding Tuscola County 4-H'ers climaxed their winter personal appearance and other projects work at the annual County Spring Achievement Program held on April 11 at the Caro State Home and Training School. All the 4-H members and leaders who helped make this event such a success should be commended on a job well done. Also the many parents who helped their children become a part of the 4-H youth program should be recognized. Special awards were presented by Bernard Jardot, Extension 4-H Youth Agent, to the following County Dress Revue Pin Winners in Personal Appearance project work:

SENIOR MISS: Minnie Sowden, Lella Ortnier, Patty Findlay, Laurie Cole, Donna DeLong, Sharon Clarke and Wendy Shannon.

JUNIOR MISS: Marlene Fisher, Kathy Clarke, Sue Keinath, Mary Freshney, Sue McLaughlin, Sally Loomis, Michelle Langlois, Cindy LaFave, Susan DeAnda, Linda Cole, Deane Yakes, Dianna Fisher, Shelley Brinkman, Eileen Bolzman, June McRae, Marie Hobart, Paula Mohr and Eileen Green.

The arts, crafts and other winter projects were also evaluated and special recognition was made to the following 4-H members: Anthony Barry, Robert Ringle, Neil Daniels, Cindy Keinath, Angela Barry, Janet Brown, Paula Mohr, Sandy D'Addazio, David Kurish, Bruce Weinzerl, Jim Harper, Lee Hergenrider, Cindy Hergenrider, Gregory Harper, Susan DeAnda, Gale Jackson, Greg Reddington, Brian Bean and James Koch.

The special Share-The-Fun Act Awards were presented to Cindy Robinson, Linda Klarich and Becky Loomis with the alternate award going to Carol Little.

The adult leaders who had a major role in the steering and planning committee for the Spring Achievement program were: Mrs. Lyle Clarke, Mrs. Clarence Wildner, Mrs. Rodney Shannon, Mrs. Muri LaFave, Mrs. Paul Findlay, Keith Russell, Richard Carpenter, Mr. and Mrs. John Wenta, Charles Gilkey and Lewis Harper.

BEEES AS POLLINATORS

Beekeeping in Michigan hit a low point of 104,000 hives in 1962. By 1969, the figure had risen to over 120,000—mostly because of the greater need for pollination of highbush blueberries and hybrid cucumbers. Michigan State University scientists say the 12,000 colonies used on blueberries have brought over $70,000 to Michigan beekeepers and much greater yields to growers.

Coming Auctions

POSING IN THEIR temperature controlled calf nursery on their Kingston farm are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Hampshire and one of their two sons, Ken.

For Ronald Hampshires

Unique operation produces top herd

The Ronald Hampshires of Kingston have a unique dairy operation.

It's unique in several ways. One is that it was again the top herd in Tuscola county in 1969. Another is the set-up that the family has built over the years to produce milk from the prize herd.

It could be the only dairy operation in Michigan that combines stanchions with a milking parlor instead of a pipeline milker.

The unusual set-up was a matter of expediency when first installed. Hampshire suffers a back ailment that makes bending down extremely difficult and since a milking parlor doesn't require any stooping the family installed one.

Although virtually forced into the hybrid system, Hampshire says that it has some advantages other than eliminating the bending.

The principal one is that it's possible to more closely regulate feed for the animals on an individual basis. Each cow is fed according to its production record.

Without the stanchions, this close check would be impossible. Another advantage is that it's easier to display the animals for possible sale with stanchions. See, Hampshire said, this is the mother and these four cows next to her are her daughters. It's easier for a dairyman to judge them this way.

In 1969, when Hampshire's herd led the county the cows produced an average of 15,217 pounds of milk with 583 pounds of fat. When the record was compiled the Hampshires had 28 cows. With a recent addition to the barn there are now stanchions for 48 cows. There are 40 cows milking and the family expects to have the herd to the new capacity shortly.

Two other facets of the operation merit attention. One is the nursery. Calves are immediately taken to the nursery in the barn which is temperature and humidity controlled. We haven't lost a calf since we installed the nursery, Hampshire said, and before we had it we lost several every year.

Another feature is a fully enclosed gutter cleaning system. We load our spreader under cover, Hampshire said, and we aren't bothered with waters freezing up and our machine hasn't been stopped once since we installed it.

The Hampshires farm 320 acres raising corn and hay. Ronald calls it a family farm, but not a one-man operation.

Mrs. Hampshire fills in where needed. Randy, 16, and Ken, 14, help with the milking. Randy takes care of the calves and does the bookkeeping. Ken does the milking at night.

While the progress on the farm is evident to even the untrained observer, Hampshire is only cautiously optimistic about the long term future for the dairy farmer. Prices are going to have to get better, he feels, and production will have to go up.

Many dairymen would be happy to have the production that the farm boasts now. But Hampshire looks at his neighbors in Sanilac county with 600-pound average herds and vows that his production has to come up to these standards.

To keep progressing, he constantly culling the herd. I like to see a cow have at least 450 pounds fat as a two or three year old, he explained, and aim to have more than I do producing 500 pounds at that age. When a cow is mature he wants 500 pounds or more as a minimum and aims for more producers like two cows in his present herd that have records of 734 pounds and 717 pounds respectively. Because he is a little skeptical about dairy's future, he doesn't know whether to be happy or not that his elder son recently decided to farm as a career.

I'm happy to have him, Hampshire said, and I just hope his decision turns out to be the right one in the years ahead.

What better way to clear out lawn weeds, than to do it easily, surely . . . and economically.
Scotts famous TURF BUILDER PLUS 2 does just that. A simple spreader application knocks out dandelions, plantain, clover, and a host of other non-grass weeds at the same time it fertilizes your lawn. The results are amazing — as weeds shrivel and disappear, the fertilized grass grows sturdier and greener, filling in those places where the weeds were. An extra-special bargain now!

DENNIS COOPER

"Inside Passage and Aleutian Islands"

Aboard a rugged fishing boat the Cooper brothers sailed up the Inside Passage to Alaska, passing along the way the beautiful old-world Victoria, Prince Rupert, and Ketchikan. Many humorous incidents occurred as they sailed through Puget Sound to the awesome glaciers, cataracts, and towering walls of rock in Alaska.
The 1,000 mile long chain of the Aleutian Islands was explored in its barren, windswept, remote state. This colorful and amusing film is made even more interesting by Dennis' narration.

Agent's Corner

By Mary Kerr

Extension Agent

"Convenience foods are 'in' and becoming 'in'er'", was the opening remark made by Miss Lysie Hutton, Consumer Marketing Agent, at a recent Extension lesson.

"A look at grocery shelves shows the trend toward more convenience foods. Some have been around for almost 100 years, such as canned soup, cake flour, and jelly. Frozen foods and mixes made their appearance around World War II. The newest convenience foods feature gourmet and foreign foods.

"When a homemaker uses convenience foods, she gains easy menu planning, simplified meal preparation, shorter cooking time, and time for other activities," according to Miss Hutton. "The homemaker often loses flavor, creative satisfaction and money by using convenience food items."

The cost of the built-in maid service need not be excessive. They may garnish a cheaper item or be an occasional dress-up for a meal.

Some convenience foods are less expensive than home prepared equivalents. Instant coffee, canned frozen orange juice, frozen limas, and canned or frozen peas are all less expensive than fresh products.

The future holds more possibilities for time and labor-saving foods. We can begin looking for finger foods for toddlers, sugar enriched with vitamins and minerals, cherry raisins, and blueberry tidbits.

Mrs. John Helwig

Miss Noreen Catherine Cregeur and John Helwig were married Saturday, April 11, at Most Holy Trinity Catholic Church, Smiths Corner.

The Rev. Fr. Joseph Karaba officiated at the 5:30 o'clock ceremony before an altar decorated with white potted mums.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Cregeur of Ubyl and the groom is the son of Mrs. Velma Helwig of Gagetown.

The bride wore a colonial style floor-length gown with high neckline and long puffed sleeves with cuffs. It was designed with an Empire waistline which was trimmed with daisies. Daisies also adorned the neckline and the long train folded into a bustle.

Mrs. Kay Rutkoski of Cass City was matron of honor and bridesmaids were Terry Duda and Cathy Scott, both of Bad Axe, and Judy Warack of Gagetown.

The attendants' floor-length baby blue gowns featured a high neckline, baby doll sleeves and trimmed with daisies. All carried arrangements of blue and white daisies.

Groomsmen were Herb Rutkoski of Cass City, Carl Duda and Earl Scott, both of Bad Axe, and Moe Winchester of Gagetown.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Farmers Hall in Ubyl. They left for a Northern Michigan wedding trip.

The newlyweds are making their home in Cass City where he is employed at Anrod and she is working in Bad Axe.

A tour of the Buick Assembly Plant, the Sloan Museum of Transportation, the Art Institute and the Planetarium will highlight three identical bus tours to Flint in May. The tours will originate in Bad Axe on May 6, in Sandusky on May 13 and in Caro on May 20 - with reservations due a week ahead of each tour.

The tours will include a noon luncheon and a visit to an enclosed shopping complex. They are sponsored by the County Extension Homemakers Councils.

The planning committee consisted of Mrs. Gerald Heilig, Ubyl; Mrs. Stanley Kohn, Sandusky; Mrs. Charles Wells, Vassar, and Home Economists Mary Kerr and Ann Ross.

For details about departure times, costs, advanced reservations, contact your County Cooperative Extension Service Office in the County Building, Bad Axe, or Federal Building, Sandusky, or Civil Defense Center in Caro.

Touring with the military

BY JIM FITZGERALD

When I read what U. S. Senator William Proxmire (D-Wis.) said about me, I felt too important to empty the garbage.

Are people your problem?

Is the world becoming too crowded for you? Almost wherever you go today, you find people. This sometimes results in problems — for you as well as for others. What's the solution?

It's certainly not avoiding people — even if you could. But you can avoid having problems with them! The key to solving people-to-people problems is understanding what people really are. The Bible reveals man as having a spiritual nature. How this can help you in your relations with others will be discussed by Thomas O. Poyser, C.S.B., a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. His lecture is entitled "Are People Your Problem?"

Come and bring your neighbor. Admission is free.

Proxmire obviously had me in mind when he complained loudly about the military spending $700,000 a year to "fly leading businessmen and community leaders around the country on free guided tours."

I went on one of those tours in 1968. I was a last minute substitution when the manager of a dime store got sick.

Proxmire charged the Pentagon was using taxpayers' money to brainwash Rotary-type citizens "to back its huge budget and to lobby for its weapon systems."

My flying tour included missile bases in Texas, New Mexico and Colorado. "This," said Proxmire, "was a thinly disguised attempt to sell influential citizens on the AMB, (anti-ballistic missile.)"

So that's what it was. I thought the purpose of the whole trip was to see the dog races in Juarez, Mexico.

There were 12 businessmen on our 6-day tour. We sat through countless lectures and demonstrations concerning the ability of the North American Air Defense Command to push buttons and thus blow an enemy, miles away, into small bits of metal and flesh.

"They use radar and tracking and computers to destroy targets thousands of miles away," I explained to the boys at the pool-room in my most sophisticated manner. With my usual modesty, I tried hard to cloak the aura of worldliness and importance which clung to me after my VIP tour (I always wear a sticker from the White Sands Proving Grounds on my forehead).

"Yeah," asked a stranger, obviously a spy, "but exactly how do they make the missiles hit the targets?"

"I'm sorry," I said, "that's classified information. But let me tell you about Juarez...."

This is a marvelous town for pudgy businessmen whose wives don't appreciate them. All of a sudden, an ugly newsman becomes Robert Goulet. The girls just won't leave you alone. Frankenstein could get 12 propositions in half a block. Every little boy has a lonely sister and every cab driver knows where there's the greatest party in the world and you're invited.

To make out like Errol Flynn in Juarez, all you must do is smile, make charming conversation, and bring your wallet. If there's money in the wallet, you can leave your teeth home and never open your mouth.

You can see what I remember most vividly, 2 years later, from my tour with the military. I can thank you taxpayers for my introduction to Sin City No. 1. But I can also assure Sen. Proxmire I wasn't converted into a Pentagon puppet.

I asked many of our military guides and lecturers the same question: "Does it bother you, maybe late at night, that your sole occupation is to perfect and manipulate machinery which has one ultimate purpose—to kill people?"

The usual answer was no surprise: "Yes, it bothers me but the Russians are doing it so we have to do it too."

Yeah, man. That's our world and who is going to change it? Only in such a world would the Very Important People flock for fun to a cruddy town like Juarez, with or without a military escort.

I think I'll empty the garbage.

Ed Wimmer to speak at banquet

Ed Wimmer, vice-president and public relations director of the National Federation of Independent Business, Inc., will be the guest speaker at the annual dinner of the Tuscola County NFO Saturday, Apr. 25.

The event this year is scheduled at Akron-Fairgrove High School starting at 5:30 p.m. Wimmer was a radio commentator for 12 years and is billed as America's most renowned advocate of father and son businesses.

His office is in Covington, Ky., and his home in Fort Mitchell, Ky.

Pay tribute to athletes at first annual basketball banquet

COACH FRED HURLBURT congratulates Marty Zawilinski after he was awarded the Red Hawk Award Thursday night. The award will be an annual affair and the Hawks' guard was the first to be honored.

Members of the various Cass City High School basketball teams were feted at the first annual basketball banquet Thursday night at the school.

Players and their parents heard Tom Balastere of Albion College explain the importance of the traditional virtues and said that each individual builds a wall in life with respect for parents, love, pride and desire.

But the highlight of the evening for the parents and players was the introduction of the Freshman, Junior Varsity and Varsity basketball squads.

Coach Fred Hurlburt introduced members of the varsity and told a little about each one. He also reviewed the season, telling how Cass City started strong, slumped and then came back with determination and desire to post a successful season.

Senior members of the team were especially singled out. Hurlburt said that Joe Hillaker was the one man on the team which he never could afford to take out unless the game was decided. He said that Tony Davis reached a high point against the Lakers and might well develop enough to be able to make the team at Delta College next year.

The highest accolade was reserved for Marty Zawilinski. Hurlburt awarded him the Red Hawk trophy. The award is new this year and goes to the player judged to contribute the most to the team in desire, hustle and team play. Hurlburt said that Zawilinski was especially strong for the Red Hawks on defense.

Roland Pakonen, JV coach, said the highlight of the season for his team was the victory over Frankenmuth. He said the boys showed marked improvement over the year and adapted well to the new system installed this year.

Tom Woody, Freshman coach, complimented his charges and remarked how dedicated that the boys were getting up in the morning to practice before school started. All but four boys stayed out the entire year.

Coach Hurlburt also credited Jim MacTavish for his efforts with the Seventh grade which won the area tournament for Cass City. He explained that MacTavish bought the team uniforms and treated them all for dinner after the tourney victory.

John Grenevitch was cited for his work with the eighth grade squad.

Carnations were originally exclusively pink but modern breeding has produced them in a variety of colors.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store was of a mind Saturday night that the way to bring a quick end to the mess in Vietnam is to let the Army investigate it. They was full agreed during the session that ever thing the Army investigates disappears, and what the Army don't make disappear the Congress does.

A bill was introduced and unanimously adopted to ask the Army to hold full scale investigations into pollution, inflation, old age, cancer and civilian crime fer starters. Clem Webster was named to head a committee to draw up more trouble spots that can use a looking into by the Army.

It were Clem that reported the way the Army is making a name fer itself by gitting rid of so many problems. Clem said he was special interested in the investigation of them sargents fer raking off profits at Army clubs, but they sudden disappeared. Clem said he kep looking in the papers fer word on this matter, and the other week he saw where one sargent was charged with stealing, right afore he disappeared agin.

The same thing happened when them Green Berray fellers was charged with killing somebody. Soon as the CIA got called in on the investigation, the whole business disappeared. Clem said he figgers them investigations is like plowing up a bed of snakes. The more you plow the bigger mess you got, so you try to cover em back up.

Ed Doolittle was agreed with Clem. Ed recollected that the Senate got powerful upset about the way Judge Fortas and Judge Haynesworth was picking up extra money, but they give their blessing to Senator Murphy making $25,000 a year serving as a adviser to a color movie outfit that even uses the senator's house when it has lobbying to do in Washington. Ed said it all depends on whose bull is gitting gored in this investigation business, and if you ask permission first.

Ed said he wants the Army and Congress to git together fer a investigation into what's going on in Laos, Tieland and Cambodia cause he wants the U. S. to disappear in them places double quick. The President said we ain't lost a boy in combat in Laos, but the State Department admits our people is disappearing cause of hostile action. And while we're at it, Ed said, let's find out how two doped up hippies can capture 15 men and a boat load of bombs and turn them over to Cambodia. We better not let the Army handle this one, Ed said, or Cambodia might disappear with our boat, bombs and men still in it.

Contrary, allowed Zeke Grubb, when we investigate drugs and crime they keep gitting bigger. Zeke said at least the Army don't have laws more to perfect the enemy than the GIs. Zeke said with civilian law looking out fer the crooks it ain't no wonder crime went up 11 per cent last year.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Mrs. James Grifka

Miss Elaine Marie Schroeder of Detroit became the bride of James Joseph Grifka of Snover Saturday, April 18, at St. Ignace Catholic Church at Freiburg. The double-ring ceremony was performed by Rev. Fr. Richard Seifferly at 11:00 a.m. Vases of white gladioli decorated each side of the altar.

Given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Schroeder of Harbor Beach, the bride chose a gown of white imported Chantilly lace with a Sabrina neckline trimmed with sequins and pearls. The tiered skirt had a removable chapel train. A crown headpiece held her bouffant veil and she carried a bouquet of white carnations centered with an orchid.

The groom's sister, Miss Kay Grifka, was maid of honor. Her light blue floor-length gown featured an Empire waist trimmed with white lace. A light blue crown headpiece with circle veil to match completed her ensemble and she carried a colonial bouquet of blue and white carnations.

Robert Gornowicz was best man. Ushers were Robert Peterson and Elmer Gwisdalla, brothers-in-law of the bride, and Richard and William Grifka, brothers of the groom.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Grifka of Snover. Mrs. Schroeder wore a light rose dress with gold accessories and Mrs. Grifka, a light beige dress with black accessories. Both mothers had corsages of white and pink carnations.

A reception for 400 guests was held at St. Joseph's Hall in Argyle.

Magnificent tapestries, sometimes taking years to complete, decorated the walls of many homes and churches in the Middle Ages. Woven with richly colored strands of silk and wool, they often pictured scenes from the Bible. To create a beautiful tapestry required patience ... skill ... devotion.

Today each of us weaves a tapestry — the fabric of our lives. We sit at a loom, wondering whether the pattern of our lives will be of bright rose, green or golden threads, or whether the events will show as somber, dark colors.

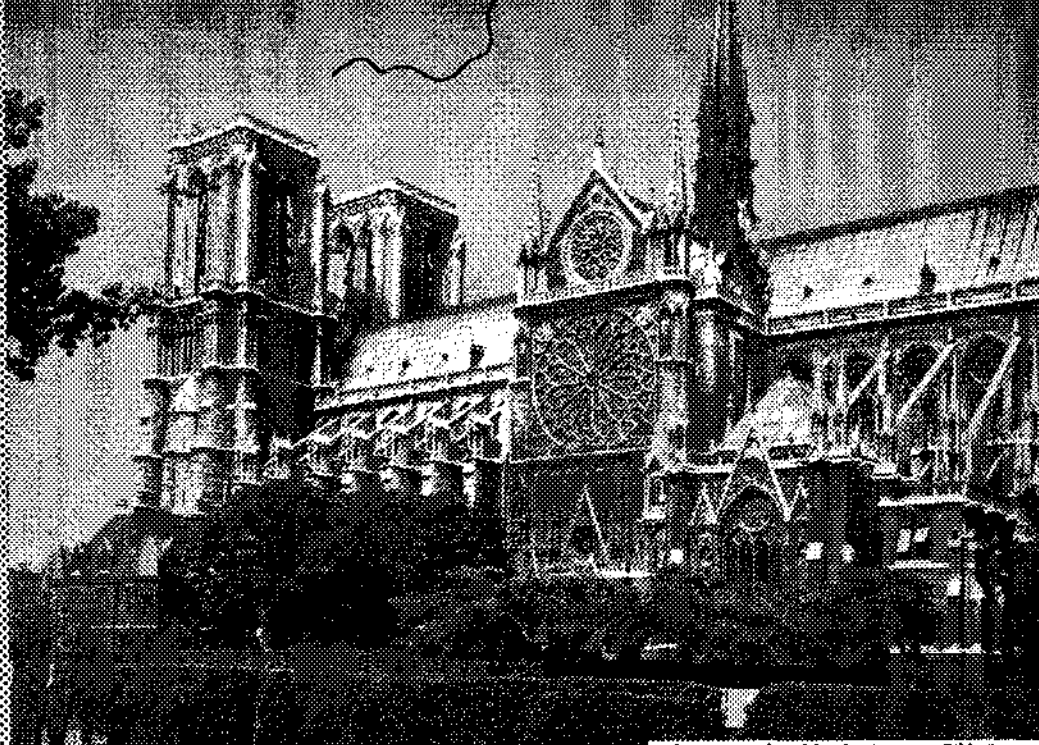

A weaver in the Middle Ages worked on the reverse side of his tapestry. By looking up at a mirror, he could see how the entire design looked on the right side.

When we look up to God in worship, we can see with clarity the pattern of our lives. Attend the church of your choice for perspective on your life's tapestry.

Exercise helps avoid phlebitis

A symbol representative of today's civilization might well be a pair of pants with the seat worn out. More people sit at more desks for longer periods or in front of televisions, or take prolonged airplane trips of 6, 8, or 10 hours or go on automobile trips in which they drive for 400 to 500 miles without getting out. These mundane facts are becoming more significant because of an increasing number of people coming down with phlebitis.

Phlebitis is a disease which is frequently not recognized. It is an inflammation on the wall of a vein. The veins are the blood vessels that carry the blood back to the heart. A roughening occurs on the wall of the vein with an inflammatory reaction. A little whitehead of thrombus is formed by blood platelets. The thrombus begins to grow by the accumulation of red and white cells. It builds and builds and finally there is a loose tail to the thrombus that is floating in the blood. Sometimes it fills up the entire wall of the vein producing a blockage.

The thrombus may form and go along the wall of the vein without actually producing complete closure but it does retard the blood flow and the tail of the thrombus may be lying loose in the vein and thereby able to break away. The thrombus can become quite long - one of the longest ever removed from a vein in a solid piece was 35" long. It had built up and extended and filled practically the entire venous system of a patient's leg.

The phlebitis can occur any place there are veins but the commonest areas are the veins of the leg and pelvis.

There are many things which cause phlebitis to occur:

Injury is one of the commonest. It happens sometimes in surgery. Pregnancy is a very common cause. Infection may produce it. It's very common in association with cancer and frequently phlebitis is the first sign of cancer.

If the loose tail of the thrombos is broken off it can be sucked by negative pressure up into the large vein that feeds it into the heart. If the thrombus is enormous, it may stick in the heart and it has caused death as a result. But, if it is smaller, it will go through the heart and out into the lungs and appear in different parts of the lungs as pulmonary emboli. A massive pulmonary embolus can cause death, but the multiple small ones which are commoner usually do not cause death if they are properly treated.

One late effect of phlebitis is the development of varicose veins. Varicose veins try to enlarge to carry the blood back to the heart in order to compensate. Although the original phlebitis can be very painful it may be rather subtle. Even varicose veins of enormous size can exist in individuals for many years without causing any appreciable pain.

Apparently nature did not supply us with a great excess in the number of arteries. But we do have an excess number of veins. So when one of the major deeper veins is closed, or they become varicose and are not functioning efficiently, the surgeons do a ligation and stripping and simply remove the unsightly veins. The deep veins that run up through the muscles can, in general, be forced into action and they can handle the situation. It's better on circulation and, of course, it's much less unsightly.

Drugs are sometimes used to reduce the risk of clotting and of thrombosis but they are not helpful in terms of repairing varicose veins. Surgery is the answer to that problem.

Doctors see phlebitis in infants on a congenital basis. But, in general, doctors feel phlebitis is due to the ravages of time and vocation. Sales people for example, have a greater tendency to develop varicose veins: women to a greater extent than the men. Men develop hardening of the arteries earlier than the women.

People can often spot phlebitis themselves. If there is a swollen ankle, some inflammation and a red streak along the femoral vein on the inside of the thigh and extending up to the groin, the person should not ignore it and should see his doctor very promptly.

People who travel for long distances or who are apt to be sitting in one position should avoid all tight garments. (Women should not wear girdles on long trips.) Secondly, they should get up and walk around periodically, once an hour or so.

Pres. Nixon has expressed himself as favoring the lowering of minimum voting age to 18.

For variety and interest in the home garden, try planting okra, endive, cos lettuce, butternut squash, white radishes, gold nugget bush squash, vegetable oysters, swiss chard, sweet potatoes and peanuts, suggest Michigan State University horticulturists.

Plymouth Valiant Duster 2-Door Coupe

The big difference between Duster & Maverick is not the $90.75

Duster has a bigger engine

Duster's standard 125 hp Six dusts off Maverick's standard engine by 20 big horses.

Duster has a longer wheelbase

Duster's 108 inch wheelbase is a full 5 inches longer than Maverick's. In overall length, Duster has 9 more inches. Add Duster's greater weight, and the result is a smoother ride, and more stable handling.

Duster has a 5-year/50,000-mile power train warranty . . . Maverick doesn't.

Chrysler Corporation warrants against defects in materials or workmanship to the first registered owner only, and will repair or replace without charge for parts or labor at any authorized Imperial, Chrysler, Plymouth or Dodge dealership, the engine block, head and all internal engine parts, water pump, intake manifold, transmission case and all internal transmission parts, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints, rear axle and differential of its 1970 Duster for 5 years or 50,000 miles and all other parts for 12 months or 12,000 miles, whichever occurs first, excluding only tires, normal deterioration due to wear and exposure, normal maintenance services and parts used in connection with such services, repairs required as a result of accident, abuse, negligence, racing, or failure to perform recommended maintenance services. Warranty repairs should be obtained from selling dealer unless he has ceased to do business as an authorized Chrysler Motors Corporation dealer, or the owner is traveling or has moved to a different locality and cannot return to his selling dealer.

Duster has bigger brakes

Bigger brakes mean more stopping power, and Duster's got it. Effective brake lining area for Duster: 153.4 sq. inches. For Maverick: only 106.0 inches. And if you like disc brakes or power brakes, Duster offers those too. Maverick doesn't.

THANKS

For the overwhelming and very gratifying vote of confidence in the April 18th Millage Election!!!

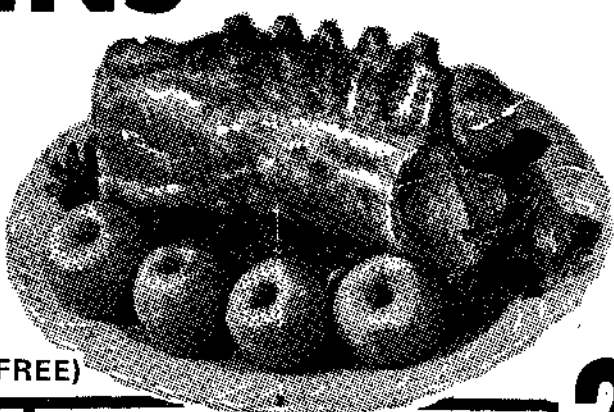

We hope this means future support for possible needed additional millage to run a full school program, should the pending bills before the legislature fail to pass.

THANKS AGAIN!
