Deering loss is $39,000

Wednesday afternoon, July 29, a lightning bolt hit a large tool shed at the Harold Deering farm, southeast of Cass City.

The shed burst into flame and was razed very quickly after being struck. Lost were 27 pigs and a large quantity of farm machinery including a self-propelled combine, two tractors, baler, chopper, 6 1/2 tons of dairy concentrate, load of wheat, 2-row corn picker, wagon, implement trailer, grain drill and corn planter.

Total loss was estimated at $40,000. Deering reported that the lightning hit and by the time he reached the nearby house to call the fire department flames were coming out from all parts of the building.

Deering credited quick work by the fire departments with saving a nearby granary and keeping gas drums from exploding.

Elkland township firemen assisted by departments from Caro and Kingston cooperated to keep the fire confined to the one building.

A six-year-old girl playing with matches apparently started a fire in her family's home Saturday in Greenleaf. Cass City Firemen received the call at 11:30 a.m. from Roy Hawkins of Jackson Road, occupant of the house. The blaze began in the attic and was prevented from spreading by an older daughter who dampened the blaze with a garden hose until firemen arrived. Fireman Fritz Nietzel reported some water damage to the building. The house is owned by Martin Davis of Detroit. Damage was estimated at $1,500.

Sixteen Cass City Firemen responded to a false alarm Friday at 5:25 p.m. at the home of Lester Kappen in Novesta. Kappen said he did not make the call.

It's sure that a survey would reveal sharply divergent views about the recent court decision that requires schools to furnish textbooks and supplies free.

It will depend for the most part on who foots the bill under the new arrangement. No one likes to pay taxes and the court ruling, of course, shifts more of the cost of education to property owners.

The court ruled only on the constitutionality of charging for books and services. Such court decisions do not always seem practical to the layman. But the school decision does.

The interpretation forces schools to do what they should have been doing all along.

In many instances, charges for books and fees were devices used to avoid asking for more taxes. Viewed in this light, the ruling that came down from the Supreme Court arrived at a propitious moment.

It comes at a time when most schools are more able to absorb the increased cost without returning to the electorate for more money.

The unexpected windfall in State Aid for 1970-71 has made most school districts financially well. It wouldn't have been surprising if Cass City would have been in a position to cut taxes this fall.

It's doubtful if any cut will be forthcoming now. But the threequarters of a mill the ruling is estimated to cost the local district should be easily absorbed without worrying about any cuts in the curriculum.

But heavy as the school tax burden can become, it's fairer to charge the new way than the old. For some families paying for books and supplies was a true hardship.

With several school-age children and a limited income, which way do you turn?

The Chronicle thought about dramatizing the problem by showing the savings that one low income family could earn by showing how much books and supplies would have cost before the court ruling.

But the attempt failed. The mother reported that the cost was great, but not her principal concern. I'd gladly pay the cost for the books and supplies, she said, if I could persuade my kids to go back to school. But they voting machines for the first time fared better, Elmwood township was the first to report totals to the county clerk's office. They were using voting machines for the first time and reported to the county clerk's office shortly after 10 p.m.

About 6,000 votes were cast Tuesday. The total was only about 32 per cent of the 18; 586 registered voters in the county. Elkland township fared better than the county average...probably because of the local contests here. 555 of the 1,437 registered voters went to the polls, representing about 39 per cent of the total electorate.

Possibly because of the hotly contested GOP campaign for state senator, 78 per cent of the vote Tuesday was Republican. The figure was up considerably over previous elections when the GOP percentage ranged around 65 per cent. However, it was less than the GOP total in 1958 (80 per cent) and 1960 (87 per cent).

The 32 per cent of the voters at the polls was about average for Tuscola county. In seven previous primary elections the vote total ranged from 22 to 40 per cent of the registered

In the only race for GOP nominations for county commissioners, Incumbent Shuford Kirk beat off a challenge by Jim Deming, 449 to 235 in District three.

In district two, Incumbent Ed Golding Sr. was without competition for renomination and polled 667 votes. A goof by the printers of

Hospital board asks for preliminary expansion plans

The Board of Directors of Hills and Dales General Hospital this week authorized Fred Wigin, an architect from Saginaw, to draw preliminary plans for an addition to the facility in Cass City.

Deering farm were saved.

The action is the culmination of several years of planning by hospital authorities.

Byron Landholt, administrator. said that the addition will provide 8 or 10 more beds, but added that increasing the bed capacity was not the primary concern in the remodeling and enlargement.

What we must have here, he explained, is a practical nursing station area of 28-30 beds. The addition will give it to us.

Another must on the list in the addition is a surgical recovery room and dressing rooms for doctors and nurses as well as an additional operating room, bringing the total to three in the facility.

More space for library, pharmacy, medical records and an expanded physical therapy department is needed.

A major expense in the project will be bringing air conditioning and humidity control to the laundry, kitchen and boiler room areas of the hospital. This improvement is required to conform with new health regulations, Landholt noted, and we have no idea yet how much money it will cost.

Whatever the final figure is, it will be substantial. The hospital has some $300,000 available for expansion and it is anticipated that more will be needed.

Most hospital financial experts say, Landholt reported. that we will have no trouble borrowing whatever funds we need to complete the project with payment coming from current operating revenues.

An indication of the skyrocketing building costs is apparent when considered in the light of the original cost of the entire facility. Just 10 years ago this month the hospital officially opened and at that time the entire project, including the 7 1/2 acre site, cost just under $1 million.

The addition of the wing could approach half of the cost of the original building. At that time, the cost was shared, with 45 per cent raised locally and 55 per cent furnished from a Federal grant. Chances are slim that Federal aid will be available for the remodeling. Representatives of Hill-Burton funds say that there is no need for additional beds in the Thumb.

However, a recently enacted law earmarking funds for various hospital needs, remodeling, new construction etc., could change this picture, Landholt said, but we aren't counting Target date for submitting the project bids is next April. That means that we will have to study the preliminary plans and come to a final decision by the end of the year, Landholt said.

We goofed!

Area growth rate clarified

The Chronicle's Mike Walsh was seeing double last week and as a result there aren't nearly as many more of you in Elkland and Indianfields Townships as we presented in the preliminary census figures last week.

The Chronicle said that there are 3,146 persons now in Elkland township and there are. We said that there are 7,089 of you in Indianfields township and But we also reported that more of you in Indianfields and, sadly, there aren't. In fact there are only 156 more in all of Indianfields township and 211 more in all of

there were 2,172 more of you in Elkland township and 3,726

Elkland township. If you haven't already figured it out, the reason for the wide discrepancy, is that in the Chronicle's 1960 census figures for the two townships. the total excludes the population of Cass City and Caro. The 1970 census figures for Indianfields and Elkland include the population of the two villages. Subtract the village's populations from the number listed as the population increase and the true growth figure emerges.

While an increase of 211 for Elkland township is a far cry from the 2,172 person increase reported erroneously last week, it really isn't all that bad. For 211 persons translates to a 20 per cent population boost

The optimistic view might well be that in the past decade the area has experienced an orderly growth that hasn't placed an intolerable burden on municipal facilities or crowded our schools past the point of no

On the other hand, it does rémove the northeast section of the county from the fast growth atea. This honor goes to the southwest section of the county, led by Millington township which gained from 1,685 persons to 2,339 persons.

Overall, the county increased just under 5,000 persons, about 11.5 per cent.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Have you ever seen the like of carrying on since the census folks started making their reports? Ed Doolittle allowed at the country store Saturday night that fer a country worried sick over gitting too many people too fast, we shore was crying a different tune these days.

Course, Ed went on, he can see why the head count is important to some folks, a politician fer instant. If you was in office or running fer office, Ed said, and you thought this county had 40,000 people and the census don't show but 35,-000, that could be the margin of victory right out the winder. Ed was of the opinion politicians that lost votes in the counting will have to git on the stick and win em back amongst this new crop of voters from 18 to 21 that is ripe fer the harvest in most states.

Clem Webster, that differs with Ed whenever he can see his way clear anyhow, said he was of the mind that politicians is going to find some rough going with the young folks. In the first place, Clem allowed, they is more set in their political ways than us older heads. And in the second place, he went on. they don't trust politicians in the first place.

Like the fellers said the other week, Mister Editor, things is going to be interesting between now and November. With all the hot air that will blow from Washington right down thru the grassroots, we ain't likely to see a break from summer heat after the elections, was Speaking of too few and too many people, Ed got the floor back to report where he had saw by the paper that this scientist had figgered out people is subject to the same laws of destruction as germs and all animals. This feller at Yale University declared that as the doubling time of the world population reduces, our chances of a future git lesser. The way we are going now, Ed said, we will have 28 billion people by the year 2036 and we'll be doubling ever 15 year. They won't be standing room on the Earth, Ed allowed, much less a place at the table fer everbody.

Zeke Grubb said he was worried about the world running out of food til he saw where these natives in New Guiney has learned to git nitrogen from the air they breath instead of from food. If we can do some serious work on this, allowed Zeke, and learn to live on air the only thing we'll have to worry about then would be finding air fit to eat and paying the taxes all the Guvernments high and low is shore to put Mister Editor, after listening to the fellers discuss the political kind of population agin the surviving kind, I can see why the populations of mental hospitals has been declining. The real bad cases ain't been caught.

Don't laugh; cry

BY JIM FITZGERALD

The movie "Patton" was ok and the star, George Scott, was magnificent. But I'm worried about the audience. They kept laughing in the wrong places. It reminded me uncomfortably of those 1940 war movies which always contained the same cliches: John Wayne was a Marine on typewriter duty in San Diego, working alongside 16 wellstacked broads. And he hated it. He wanted action. He wanted to kill Japs and Germans. He bugged his commanding officer for a transfer "to the front." But the officer refused, saying John was too valuable in the typing pool and couldn't be spared and besides, didn't he

Here's an oddity....When Arnold Palmer went to college at Wake Forest many years ago, he led their golf team to several championships---yet, he originally went to Wake Forest, not on a golf scholarship, but on a football scholarship!...And the football coach once told Arnie he was wasting his time playing golf!

Here's an oddity from baseball....A man could bat onethousand, and field perfectly over nine years of being a regular in the big leagues and still NOT be able to be elected to the Hall of Fame--because a little-known rule says no matter how good you are, you must play at least 10 years in the majors to be eligible for the Hall of Fame.

He had to knock a friendly platoon unconscious and take its place aboard a landing craft at Okinawa. And he had to make a wisecrack every time he socked a buddy, or bayoneted a Jap.

People stamped their feet and whistled when Big John showed those dirty Japs what was what, by God. From the safety of a theatre in Michigan, war appeared to be a glorious endea-

It isn't. Not at the front. It's blood and misery and stink and weariness. It's degrading and stupid and cold and hot and lonely and the total loss of your best friend. And any man who says he WANTS to fight, rather than help girls change typewriter ribbons, is automatically suspect. He's never been shot at. Or he's a phony, Or he's a little bit nuts.

General George Patton was part maniac. A pompous, posturing martinet who admitted he loved leading men into battle. He was worried sick that World War 2 would end before he killed enough Germans to become a national hero. When the Germans quit, he wanted to kill Russians. He was angered by any assignment that didn't pit him against the enemy, nose to nose, blood gushing. He thought he really was John Wayne.

That's exactly the way George Scott portrayed Patton in the movie. To me, it was an anti-war film. When Patton slapped a frightened soldier, or bragged about how many men he had killed, I cringed. I wondered how many more like him are left in the Pentagon. But all around me, people were laughing.

To much of the audience, Patton was a lovable hero, Oh, a

For awhile I thought about pulling out my two gray offenders, but the adage that says when you pull one out two grow back, changed my mind, I thought, too, about dyeing them. but the tediousness involved in coloring two hairs overwhelmed me. Besides, merely covering them up wouldn't change athing.

Finally I convinced myself that maybe it wasn't as tragic as I imagined. After all, I could be losing my hair. And I'd rather be the Man from Glad than Mr. Clean, any day.

a coach,....sort of. Coaching, of course, is a hobby with Auslander, one he's had for nearly 40 years. He spends several hours each evening training his team, making them trot behind his red Ford van or pulling a heavy wooden wagon through the pasture. Although there are only two members, the team is far from small. Both however are classified as light-weights, which means only that they weigh less than 3,200 pounds. "Like an athlete that's going out to run, you've got to train 'em," says the coach. And from mid-May until July that's just what he does .... with his two black Percheron pulling horses. Next week Auslander will be entering his two spirited animals in the horse pulling competition at the annual Sanilac County 4-H Fair, just as he's

19th Cliff reunion held at Caro park

The 19th annual Cliff reunion was held Sunday, Aug. 2, at the park in Caro with a potluck dinner at noon, There were 75 present.

Mrs. Cora Cliff, 79, was the oldest present and Edward Bilicki Jr. was the youngest, nine weeks old.

Ice cream was served in the afternoon.

Guests were present from Lapeer, Pontiac, Elkton, Owendale, Cass City, St. Louis and Caro. President is Mrs. Ted Powell may net him nearly $500. "Why, I wouln't take less than $1000 each for this pair of horses," he said proudly.

But it's clear that the money is hardly as important as the enjoyment. "It's a hobby," he said. "You've got to like it." He does. He's entered pulling competitions in Traverse City, Evart, Port Huron, Bad Axe, Croswell, Gladwin and as 12r away as Memphis, Tenn. Mrs. Auslander and 14-yearhorsemen. "It's a real honor," said Auslander beaming," and I'm proud of it."

"Like father, like son," would be an apt description of the younger Auslander horseman. Dale collects blue ribbons and trophies for his two quarter horses, like most people collect trading stamps.

In addition to caring for her modern farm home in Decker, Mrs. Auslander had been a 4-H club leader in foods for 17 years, and a handicraft leader for 10 years, as well as 4-H Council treasurer.

Parochiaid will bring no lasting rancor in Lansing

PAROCHIAID FORGOTTEN

The most bitterly contested issue in the Michigan Legislature in recent years has been the highly emotional battle over whether to give state funds to nonpublic schools.

The three-year controversy climaxed this year with passage of a $22 million allotment after the issue had divided every philosophical and political alliance coalitions of con-Strange servatives and liberals, Democrats and Republicans, and blacks and whites resulted with each side becoming more polarized in its position as the days progressed in the recent session.

Now that the dust has settled, however, most of the people who divided so bitterly over parochiaid are ready to forget the fight and move on to other

"I don't believe the parochiaid issue will have any lasting effect on the way legislators work together," said House Speaker William A. Ryan, D-Detroit. Ryan was the leader of the parochiaid advocates. "I think once everyone sees the plan in operation they will view parochiaid as just one more service to the people of Michigan." he said. "I personally think the whole thing was overplayed and people's fears will be eased when they see it in operation."

Even the defeated acknowledge the bitterness and the on and off the floor wrangling that marked the session which ended in July. But, one of the most ardent foes says, opponents hold no gradges against anyone and won't carry any over to future sessions.

"I have no animosity toward anyone and I think I can speak for the others who opposed parochiaid as well," said Rep. William Jowett, R-Port Huron. "I am proud of the stand I took and still do not believe this is the best thing for the state, but I will abide by the will of the majority." "We fought a good fight, but we did not win," he said. "It's time to move on."

Ryan also said the amicable attitude means parochiaid will not be a factor in this year's elections, something that was borne out in the primary campaigns around the state.

"I just don't think parochiaid will have that much effect on the elections," he said.

He said support or non-support of the concept will not hurt legislators at the ballot box except in extremely polarized

The expressions of amicability by opponents of parochiaid toward its backers do not mean the opponents are done fighting it, however.

The opponents did secure inclusion in the bill of a provision that the legislature seek an advisory opinion from the state Supreme Court on parochiaid's constitutionality. The court has agreed to consider the issue.

The provision also says no vate and parochial schools until the court has ruled. "Our last hope is with the court now," Jowett said. "It's in their hands and all we can do is wait for the ruling."

BOATS INCREASE

Michigan has the longest fresh-water coastline of any state in the country and, as one might expect, also has the largest registration of motor-

The U. S. Coast Guard says nearly 438,000 boats are registered in the state, according to the latest available statistics. Secretary of State's office says it expects that number to be above the half million mark by the end of the State boat registrations are good for two years and cost

Figures show that aluminum boats are the most popular, with more than 160,000 of them registered. The next most popular are plastic, which number more than 80,000. While it was once the most popular material, wood now ranks third with 70,000 registrations.

There are 22,500 hulls made out of steel with other types making up 19,000. More than 270,000 of those boats registered are under 15 feet in length while only eight are longer than 65 feet.

Louie Armstrong: he paid his dues

By Dan Marlowe

Excerpts from a jazz fan's interview with Louis Armstrong, world's premier jazz trumpeter and vocalist, on his 70th birthday:

"I believe I had a beautiful life. I didn't wish for anything I couldn't get, and I got pretty near everything I wanted because I worked for it. I don't keep nothing now I can't use, so everything I have I'm still enjoying.

"I don't grief for nobody or nothing. I don't bother nobody and they don't bother me. I respect the world and they respect me. It's all that's necessary.

"I was sick, you know. Something with the kidneys, and then it affected the heart. I was glad I didn't die. When you hit bottom like I did, I was ready, but you got to be glad for "So I cool it a little now, don't blow the horn. I don't have to do it. There's a lot of musicians they don't play nothing but their instruments, so when they get like that they can't do nothing. I can sing and never blow the horn again. "On TV they say to me 'Man, what you want to fool with the horn for anyhow? You paid your dues. What you trying to prove?' I just say I like to play the horn. "But I don't sweat it. Now

I live just for Louis Armstrong and Lucille, that's my wife. We don't have no big bills to pay and a whole lot of put-on airs like a lot of people. We live a normal, good life. It's enough. "Oh, I made all the usual mistakes and a few extra. I never was interested in the stock market, but I was sure interested in the craps market and the cards. I stopped that cause I figured it out. Every time I went to Las Vegas I lost my money. Even if I got lucky I can't catch the money back no way. So I put it down. I put it out of my mind.

"Now everything makes me happy. My wife, for one. After her, then I got to think. She call me 'Darling' when I'm a good boy. 'Darling' -- somethin' round in that category. She got other names for me I ain't goin' to tell you 'bout. But I mean not every day I don't get

"Music is music. It's two kinds--good and bad. You got to listen to all music to appreciate your own. The new music, it's got a tempo, a beat, and a lot of what they're singin' it makes sense. There's nothing wrong with it, but I wouldn't want to go through all that.

Not at my age,
"When I finally do go to the Gate, I'll play a duet with Gabriel. Yeah, we'll play 'Sleepy Tim Down South' and 'Hello, Dolly!' Then he can blow a couple for me he's been playin' up there all this long time, I'll het he wants to be remembered for his music just like I do.

"Then he'll take it from there whether I been a good guy or a bad guy. Like I said, I don't sweat it, Ol' Gabe, he's a horn man, too, you know.

"So that's the way it is, friend. I been there and back and I enjoyed all of it, I'll sing it beautiful for as long as I've got. After that, you'll have to play the records. And I hope they'll prove that Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong, he made his mark.' It says here that he did,

Key men in job switch at Walbro

Major realignment of sales and engineering responsibilities is announced by L. E. Althaver, Executive Vice-Presiddent, Walbro Corporation, Cass

City, C. Clark Boylan becomes Vice-President - Carburetor Sales; Victor M. Guernsey moves into the same post on fuel pump sales; Charles Tuckey assumes new engineering responsibility as Manager of Research and Development, and Kenneth Schneider is named Chief Engineer -- carburetors.

These changes took effect

Boylan and Guernsey will continue to report to Althaver: Tuckey and Schneider to Engineering Vice-President, D. N.

"This switch away from division of responsibility by markets and into responsibility by product lines is made necessary by the increasing volume, and complexity of sales in both categories." Althaver said. "It is expected to permit Walbro to develop Walbro carburetors and Autopulse and Dupree pumps; and to serve both OEM and Aftermarket customers for both those lines; more efficiently. It centralizes authority and responsibility, and should make it easier for present and potential customers to transact all business," he continued. Clark Boylan joined Walbro in 1959 as field sales representative; became OEM Sales Manager in 1964; and was appointed Vice-President and General Manager of the Allied-Walbro subsidiary when that was established in 1968.

"Vic" Guernsey came to Walbro in 1957 as Sales Office Manager. In 1964, he was made Aftermarket Sales Manager; and was promoted to Vice-President of Aftermarket Sales in 1968. He continues to have responsibility for all advertising and promotion.

Ken Schneider became a member of the Walbro engineering staff in 1965. He had been with Brown Carburetor Company of Connecticut. He has been closely involved in the development of the new carburetors now being used on chain saws.

"Chuck" Tuckey's connection with Walbro goes back even earlier. He joined the engineering department in 1957, and has headed the extensive R & D program which resulted in Walbro's successful entry into the snowmobile field.

Headquarters for all four executives will continue to be at the Cass City, Mich. address.

Seek members for harness racing group

How much we can do and just where the track will be located depends on where the interest in our new association is strongest, Milton Erard, Decker, president of the newly formed Thumb Pony Harness Racing Association, said this Right now we are leaning towards a location near Sandusky, but there hasn't been anything decided, Erard said. We've had a lot of volunteer help promised when we get under construction, he added. The second meeting of the club will be held Wednesday, Aug. 12, at 8 p.m. at the Harvey Stone home at 3236 Babcock Road, Lexington.

Erard stressed that new members are welcome and information can be secured from any of the officers. # OCEAN'S EDGE

Yesterday I saw the ocean for the first time. Jim and I had been invited to a house party at a cottage on the shore. Having recently moved East from the Midwest, I had anticipated nothing more on the drive down than a weekend of fun and games, swimming and dancing.

But I wasn't prepared for the ocean. Its grandeur and beauty stirred me. Today I walked along the beach for long hours watching the waves or searching the shore for shells, listening to the wonderful roar of the sea as whitecaps splashed around me.

Tonight as I stood at ocean's edge, the stars seemed near. Breakers crashing rhythmically sprinkled phosphorescence on the sand. For an instant I was caught within infinity. Sky, beach and tides contained me-in that moment I saw God.

I may never again achieve the clarity of that second on the beach, but someday I may. For this experience has awakened in me 2 longing to know more about God and the Truths the beauty of His world reveal.

The champion Catholics had less trouble with Cass City Missionary in their second outing of the week winning 7-3. Al Zawilinski hurled the victory. Phil Gray and Clark Erla hit home runs for the Catholics.

Long ball hitting was the rule of the night as Deford Methodist edged Church of Christ-Ellington, 7-5. Jim Kilbourn slam-med one for the winners and Ralph Zinnecker duplicated his efforts for the losers.

Cass City wins Babe Ruth title

in the Babe Ruth League an outstandingly successful one by tieing for the league championship and winning the post season play-offs last week at Ubly.

The champions were pitted against Ubly in the final playoff game, the same team they shared regular season honors

Cass City won, 9-3, behind the six-hit hurling of Eugene Salas, but the game was much closer than the final score in-

Ubly jumped off to a first run lead in the first and Cass City trailed until the fourth when they pushed across a run to tie. In the fifth, Cass City went ahead to stay with another run, but it was not until the sixth inning that the game was decided. Cass City rallied for four runs in the sixth and in the seventh added three more to salt away the win and the championship. Ubly scored once in the sixth and seventh but by then the game was decided.

Don Galbraith led the attack with two bases loaded singles and a sacrifice fly to drive in five runs. Other stickers for Cass City were Jerry Toner, 2 for 4; Al Pierce, 2 for 5 with three runs batted in, and Kip Hopper, 2 for 3.

The game was even closer than the final score indicated as both teams battled to the wire before the Mets rallied for the important victory.

Erla's prep for play-offs and exhibition tilts

Erla's tuned up for this week's play-off battles in the Ubly Recreation League by winning three games including a victory over Altes, the champions during the regular season.

Play-offs were to have started Tuesday night and continue Friday. In addition, Erla's have signed to enter the district tourney at Port Huron Aug.

Manager Don Erla announced this week that Erla's has scheduled a doubleheader with an outstanding team from Saginaw, Old Mill Tavern, Saturday night. The game will be played at Cass City Recreational Park with the first game starting at about 7 p.m.

The three victories Erla's posted last week moved the team up to second place in the loop standings. It was the first time that the Foodmen failed to cop the title in seven years. Tuesday, July 28, Erla's topped Smokey's Saddle Shop, 7-0, behind Al Bosch, Bosch struck out 11 and allowed three scattered hits. He did not walk a Jim LaRoche and Bosch each

Elwyn Helwig tossed the win for Erla's, allowing four hits and one run the rest of the way. John Maharg showed the way for Cass City with a home run, double and single. Helwig helped his own cause with a double and single. It was a close game until the sixth when the winners picked up five big runs to ice the contest.

Lyle Tuttle is tattoo artist

ONE FOR THE ROAD

By Dan Marlowe

San Francisco, California: Lyle Tuttle is a master in a vanishing art form.

In the tight little world of established tattoo artists. Tuttle is acknowledged to be one of the ten best. Operating from a small office (he calls it a museum) on the second floor of No. 30 Seventh Street, he estimates that he has applied 20,000 tattoos in his 18 years on the job. The world's tattoo parlors now number about 1,000, with perhaps 300 of these operated by acknowledged artists. And of these a mere handful are looked up to by their peers: Sailor George Fosdick in Portland, Bert Grimm in Long Beach, Charley Wagner in New York City, Tass Thomas in Chicago, Carroli Nightingale in Washington, D. C., and the man known the world over as Bruno of Paris.

And Lyle Tuttle. Tuttle's work is instantly recognized in the tattoo parlors of the men mentioned above, just as he recognizes their work. He was once called upon by the FBI to identify a body with a tattoo on its back, and was instantly able to name the tattooist, from Liverpool, England, a starting point from which the FBI was able to make positive identification later.
But Tuttle prefers to dwell upon less macabre aspects of his calling. He himself has been tattooed by more than 40 different artists of the needle, and his own body is one of his best advertisements. "Styles change in tattooing like in everything else," he says. "Nightingale in Washington has developed a new style. He strings symbols together in a sort of pop art that's beautiful. Bruno is the best man for flowers; small, delicate flowers you wouldn't Tuttle knows that you can't tell a book by its cover. "You'd never believe the people walking around with tattoos under their clothing," he says, "I've tattooed a lot of priests, and one nun. About 30% of my busigo for the big, body-covering art that the men do, but for small, intricate designs."

Hard rock singer Janis Joplin was a recent addition to Tuttle's list of satisfied customers, "I started off with a bracelet she wanted tattooed on her wrist, one of Florentine design. Then she decided she wanted a heart tattooed under her heart. Lately some women have been asking for their sign of the zodiac tattooed on one thigh or hip and a butterfly on the other.* But doesn't it hurt? "Not so much since the invention of the electric multiple vibrator needle. Although it's not entertainment, either. Women are tougher than men, although I worked on one wiry little guy for eight hours straight. He wanted a whole back piece."

Among famous personages who endured the tattooist's needle were King Edward VII of England, King Frederick IX of Denmark, Czar Nicholas II, Lady Randolph Churchill (Winston's mother), Admiral Bull Halsey, Glen Campbell, Barry Goldwater, Steve Allen, Pearl Bailey, and Eugene O'Neil. Why would anyone have himself/herself tattooed?

"It's like carrying your own art gallery around with you," Lyle Tuttle suggests. "If you have enough of it done right." The line forms on the right.
