Capsule Picture of 1970-71 school tax

NOTE: All taxpayers in the school district now pay the same tax rate for both debt retirement and school operation.

Most Cass City taxpayers will pay less school taxes in the 1970-71 school year than the maximum that was authorized in a millage vote in June.

The Cass City Board of Education in a split vote Monday decided to levy 2 mills additional special operating tax for the year instead of the 2 1/2 mills authorized.

Coupled with a .7 of a mill reduction in debt tax for most of the district the total property tax increase for 1970-71 over the previous year is 1.3 mills or $1.30 per $1,000 of equalized valuation.

Undoubtedly the reduction will be good news to most taxpayers...even though the amount of the cut was almost a half mill greater.

The discussion swirled around whether to levy 2 mills or 1 1/2 mills. Supt. Don Crouse said that he felt it might be possible to squeeze by with 1 1/2 mills, but said this figure would probably mean that the taxpayers would be asked for an increase next year.

At the 2-mill levy there will be ample funds to carry the school, and only a renewal will be needed to carry on a full school program next year, according to the best cost projections available at this time.

Voting for 2 mills for operation were Trustees Gerald Hicks, Art Severance, Don Reid and Elwyn Helwig. Holding out for 1 1/2 mills were Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn, Board President Horace Bulen and Don Koepfgen.

The reduction in operating taxes would have been about a mill greater if the school were not forced by Supreme Court decision to buy all students' books at an estimated cost of $20,000.

With the settling of the operating and debt levy, the school's total tax package can be reviewed.

The school will raise 2 of a mill for the 1964 bond issue; 3.7 mills for the 1965 debt and .7 for the 1966 debt. The total is 4.6 mills as compared to 6.3 last year for most of the district.

While most of the district will pay less for debt, former Evergreen and Stone schools district residents will pay more. Debt in Stone goes from .8 to 4.6 and in Evergreen from 3 mills to 4.6.

Total school taxes in the district for both operation and debt retirement in 1970-71 will be 20.6 mills.

School will start this fall the day after Labor Day, Sept. 8. The date was set at a previous meeting of the board. The complete school calendar is subject to negotiation with the teacher's union and will be announced after this year's contract is settled in talks due to start Aug. 26.

Contracts for four teachers were approved. They included Pat Specht, Senior High Girls Physical Education; Ruth Carlson, fourth grade; James Mac-tie, eighth grade science, and Father Leo Gengler, high school English.

Father Gengler is pastor of St. Pancratius Church in Cass City. He was a substitute teacher in the system last year.

The school board also accepted low bids for school vehicle insurance, fuel oil and gas. The cost was higher than the previous year.

Vehicle insurance was awarded to Harry Steele, Farm Bureau Insurance, for $1,877.77. There were three bids.

Gas for school buses will cost 24 cents, less 11 cents taxes, and for driver training, 32.15, less taxes. The lower of two bids was submitted by S T & H Oil Co.

Number four fuel oil will be furnished by Konrad's Service at the Intermediate School for 11.75 per gallon.

Number two fuel will be furnished by A. Janowiak, Standard Oil dealer, Uby, for 12.95 per gallon delivered to Cass City, Deford and Evergreen Schools.

Gridders meet coach Friday

Cass City High School football hopefuls have the opportunity of meeting the school's new head football coach at a meeting slated in the school cafeteria Friday at 10 a.m. Athletic Director Robert Stickle announced this week. All football candidates are asked to attend.

The new coach is William Lester Philbin, 31, of Maumee, Ohio. He was hired by Supt. Don Crouse Monday afternoon and his contract approved Monday night by the school board.

It is the second time in two years that the school has gone out of the state to hire an athletic coach.

Like Coach Fred Hurlburt who came to Cass City from Florida, Philbin is no stranger to Michigan. He comes to Cass City from Eastern Michigan University where he accepted a teaching fellowship while earning a Master's degree in 1969-70.

His coaching experience is primarily in Ohio. His first job was while still at Bowling Green State University. He was freshman football coach and his team failed to win (0-9).

He spent three years at Amherst Public Schools (1961-64) as head junior high football, basketball and track coach and in his final year was assistant varsity football coach.

He moved to Maumee Public Schools as assistant in football and wrestling in 1964-65 before landing his first head coaching job at Lorain St. Mary High School. He spent two seasons (1965-67) at St. Mary and his team posted a 16-2 record, including an undefeated season in 1966.

He moved for one season to Sandusky St. Mary High School, Sandusky, Ohio, where his team won four and lost six. In 1969 he moved to Warren Consolidated Schools as head freshman football coach with a 6-1 record.

When he takes the field this fall with his charges, the new coach is not likely to be any taller or heavier than most of his players.

He stands five feet, nine inches and weighs 140 pounds. He is married and before the football season is over the family expects its first addition.

Supt. Don Crouse said that Philbin appeared to be the best qualified of the various candidates interviewed. In the running for the job was Robert Watson who has been the asstant grid coach.

Watson was not given the head job this time because his schooling did not include coaching training and because he has not yet had full responsibility for managing a team.

Supt. Crouse told the school board that he hoped that Watson would accept the job as Junior varsity coach so that his progress as the head man of the team could be evaluated.

The report is that the new coach is intense and confident. When asked if he felt that football in Ohio was better than that in Michigan he said, "not when I'm coaching it."

Chronicle's 'new look' benefits readers, staff

The Chronicle came out in a new dress last week and many readers thought that part of their paper was missing.

It was all there, honest. An average number of pages and the usual features and stories.

What will be different now is that the Chronicle now comes to you in one section instead of two. It's possible for us to do this because of increased press capacity. The advantage of one section is two fold. First it eliminates the possibility of a section lost in the mail and second, it eliminates a tedious hand stuffing operation by the staff.

An added advantage to the reader and advertiser is that the paper is about an inch wider. We've been able to add more white space between columns and the advertiser, of course, receives more space without an increase in price.

We hope that you'll agree that the new "Chronicle" is better all around.

Family fights materialism

A need sent Jumps to India

Harold James Jump is a minister of the Seventh Day Adventist Church, which doesn't particularly distinguish him from most other clergymen. What does, however, is that for the last 14 years he has been conducting his religious work in India.

Mr. Jump, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Jump of Cass City, and his wife, Edith, are both missionaries in the Gujarat state of India. They are presently on a three month furlough, visiting with his parents.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Jump received bachelor degrees in liberal arts at Andrew's University in Berrington Springs. In addition, he received a masters degree in religious education.

What is it that would make a man want to spend his life's career thousands of miles away from his own country?

"I sensed a need, I guess," said Jump, "a need to uplift human beings, to benefit humanity. The major reason, of course, is to win people to Christ by acting as Christ's ambassador, whether through education, literature, hospitals or churches."

"When I see men of wealth, education, intellect, kissing a cow or bowing to an idol which they've made, well I realize that changing this is the challenge."

When the family returns in early September, he will assume the duties of District Leader for the church. He will be acting in a supervisory position overseeing the work of other missionary churches, schools and hospitals.

India, according to the Jumps, is a country of stark contrasts, where the ancient and modern exist close together in many aspects of life.

In their work, they must deal with almost every level of the caste system, India's social structure which exists despite laws to the contrary. It is not often easy to differentiate between the different classes.

"The rich people of India are very unassuming," said Mrs. Jump. "They are not ornamental, nor do they feel a need to show their wealth in the way they dress or the homes they live in."

Jump describes the Indian people as enterprising. "They are shrewd businessmen," he said, "with a keen sense of business affairs." This is coupled with an unending endurance for hard work.

This attitude is reflected in what Jump described as the biggest problem he has had to face as a missionary--materialism.

"The people are very independent, proud of their heritage and terribly hospitable, but their concern for security, financial security, is more important," he said. To own land, factories, or business firms, he said, is their first concern.

The Jumps have three children, Danny, 17, Suzanne, 16, and Jeanette, 14, all born in the U. S. All three attend school in Singapore and fly home to Gujarat only during school holidays. Jump said the children will return to the U. S. for college.

Edith Jump is an English teacher in an elementary school. Because her pupils are Hindus, Moslems and Christians, she said, various religious holidays often interrupt the school schedule. "There are some weeks," she said, "when we only manage two days of school."

Many of the same foods are available in India as in America, so Mrs. Jump has not found cooking a problem. The family prefers American-type meals because Indian food is highly spiced and very greasy.

Wheat is a very important part of the Indian diet. Mrs. Jump described a flat, pancake-like bread called "chapatti." It is eaten with a curry made with highly seasoned vegetables. Rice, too, is a staple item on the Indian menu.

Indian families, as opposed to American families, have very strong ties, according to the Jumps. The elder brother is the key member of the family, holding the most power and making the important decision. Parents select mates for their marriageable children, and the matter is handled like a business deal, for the mutual benefit of both families.

Dwaine Peters and son

Long hospital siege ahead for 2 area crash victims

BY MIKE WALSH

July 23rd an auto accident drastically altered the lives of the Dwaine Peters family of Cass City. Now, three weeks and two hospitals later, the Peters are still trying to recover from the effects.

For Peters and his 7-year-old son, it's been a difficult struggle, one that may not be over for years. Both are still in the hospital.

For little Dwaine the last three weeks at Hills and Dales General Hospital has been a series of uncomfortable probes and seemingly endless examinations. His injuries include a fractured pelvic bone and a broken leg. The treatment of both has been complicated by an infection in his leg only recently detected.

Monday afternoon Dwaine, looking frail but alert, was transferred to St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw. No one knows how long he will have to stay. Doctors say it depends on how soon they can stop and then eliminate the infection in his leg. When it is cleared up, a plaster cast will be applied for several more weeks.

He passes the long hours by watching television with the remote speaker clutched in his hand, or by reading. But for a usually active 7-year-old, a day in the hospital is an endless one and as he glances out of the hospital window it's obvious there are other things he'd rather be doing in other places. Mrs. Peters said it will be at least another month before Dwaine can go home.

"The accident was a traumatic experience for him," said Mrs. Peters. Dwaine hasn't seen his father since the crash and because Mr. Peters was almost immediately taken to Saginaw, Dwaine thought he had been killed. For the first couple of days at Hills and Dales he was in a mild form of shock refusing to eat or talk or allow anyone near him, including his mother. A telephone call from Mr. Peters, arranged as quickly as possible, assured the boy his father was alive.

Mrs. Peters divides her days between caring for her children at home and visiting her husband in Saginaw and her son at Hills and Dales.

Fortunately she has some help. "I'm very grateful to my neighbors," she said. "They've been extra good at helping out and caring for my family when I go to the hospital." In addition to Dwaine, the Peters have four other children ages 13, 10, 5, and 2 years.

Dwaine's father will be in St. Luke's hospital for at least two more weeks, undergoing physical therapy for a compound fracture of the leg and a possible whiplash. It's not known how long it will be before he can return to work. Nor is it known if he will ever completely recover. Mrs. Peters says it's still too early to tell if his leg has been permanently damaged. He may, she said, walk with a limp.

The driver of the car which slammed into the rear of the Peters' car was not insured. The Peters have uninsured motorist insurance. Mrs. Peters said the matter is now in the hands of her attorney.

The tragic accident occurred the night of July 23 when Peters turned his car onto Cass City Rd. off Schwegler Rd. and was struck in the rear by an oncoming car. The other car was driven by Mark S. Panknin, 22, of Caro. Panknin was hospitalized.

Rochelle Peters, 5, was also injured but was treated and released from Hills and Dales. She is now completely recovered.

Inflation hits barbershops, football fields

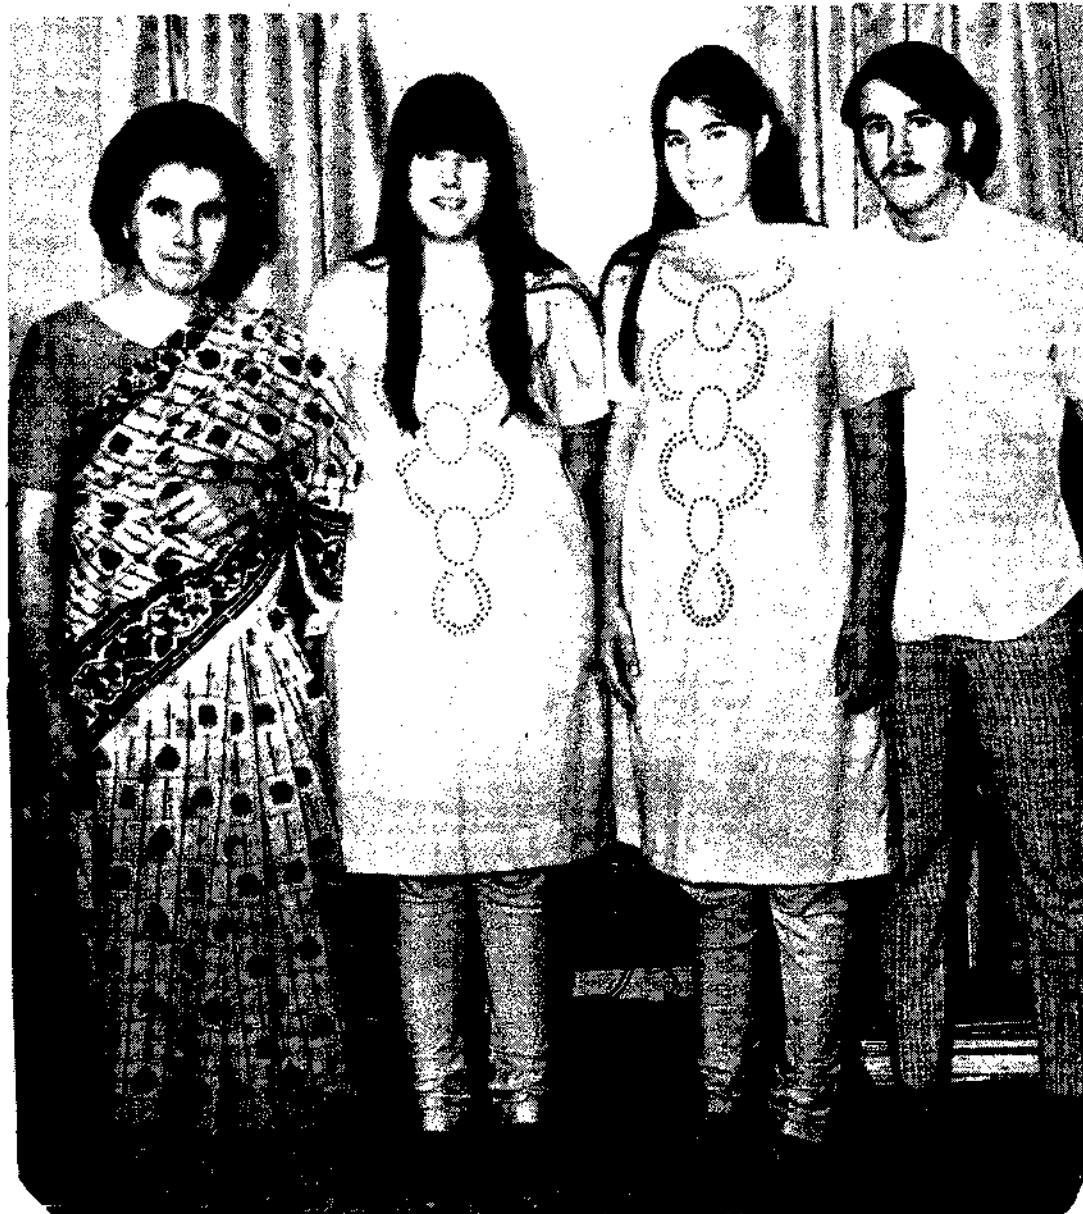

Inflation is hitting everything these days. Latest to feel the dollar pinch is Cass City High School athletics.

The Cass City School Board okayed a request by Athletic Director Robert Stickle for a boost in football ticket prices.

This fall the new prices will be 25 cents higher. Adult tickets will be $1.25 and children's tickets, 75 cents. Pre-school youngsters will be free.

Hairstcuts also climbed 25 cents in recent weeks, moving from $2.00 to $2.25 for adults and from $1.75 to $2.00 for children.

Spokesmen said that the new rates bring prices up to what other area schools and towns are charging for football and for barbershop services.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Freedom of choice for women in the form of legalized abortion is inevitable in Michigan and in the United States. We could use some of it right here in Cass City.

Many political analysts say the only question, really, is when the tide of the pro-abortionists prevails.

Quite possibly the time for a liberalized abortion law will be 1971. If so, it comes none too soon.

Just how strong is the anti-abortion force? Certainly, those that say abortion is murder are vocal and have a right to their convictions.

But to try to force it on the rest of us by law requires strong justification.

The results of last week's primary, in which Sen. Alvin DeGrow won re-election by a substantial majority, should indicate that perhaps his pro-abortion vote on the House bill helped his campaign more than it hurt.

EDITOR'S CORNER

Perhaps the biggest and best reason for abortion is that overpopulation is a haunting specter: the city mess, the traffic mess, the smog, the environmental foul-ups...these are terrifying problems.

But, like the threat of an atomic war, overpopulation is too vast, too horrendous, too devastating and far too complex for John Smith or his wife to think about.

It's like the war. Talk about 5,788 Americans killed in Vietnam and the regret is impersonal, almost academic. Show one American with his leg shot off or the side of his face covered with blood and the war comes zinging home. Right now, Bang.

And so abortion comes down to one mother, one baby and the social and moral rights involved.

One of the arguments is that legal abortion will lower morals. It's the same cry used when the pill went on the market and has yet to be proved.

Another is that abortion is murder. There can be no argument about this. Because abortion is murder or is not murder, depending on what you believe.

If you believe it is, an abortion law is hardly necessary except to force your belief on those who feel it isn't.

To me it's "murder" when an unwanted child is born in a family that is already a ward of the State or too poor to give even the basic comforts that most of us take for granted.

It's "murder" when the shotgun wedding takes kids out of high school and starts couples on can't succeed marriages and results in broken homes.

It's "murder" when the young father, ill equipped or not ready at all to assume responsibility, takes off leaving mother to earn the living and care for small children. Working nights and sleeping days.

If you've been around a couple of years or so, you know of cases like these in the Cass City area.

Ask them what they would do if there would have been freedom of choice and they could do it all over again.

CASS CITY VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on July 28, 1970 with Trustee Rawson serving as Pres. Pro-tem in the absence of Village President Althaver. Trustee Holmberg was the regular meeting on August 25, 1970.

A discussion was held on a proposal to seal coat certain streets not scheduled for blacktopping in the near future. The seal coating would preserve existing blacktopping. A motion was made by Trustee Albee and supported by Trustee Jones to appropriate up to $5,000 to apply seal coating to those streets that would benefit the most by such a treatment. Motion carried.

meeting. As no bids were submitted, a motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Albee to continue to advertise and to request that any bids be submitted by the next regular meeting on August 25, 1970.

The Park Committee reported that the Park Director Tom Spencer would be leaving the area on August 6, 1970. Tom Woody has been sought as replacement to complete the summer program.

A request was made to the council by D. Hampshire for a street light to be installed on Huron and Virginia Streets. It was the consensus of opinion that more than one family must benefit by such a light before it can be installed. Request was denied.

A motion was made by Trustee Christner and supported by Trustee Ross that the bills as reviewed by the finance committee be approved for payment. Motion carried.

There being no further business, a motion was made by Trustee Christner and supported by Trustee Jones that the meeting be adjourned.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Bulen

Here's a great question you can try on the kids....How can you throw a baseball with all your might and have it stop, and come right back to you, WITHOUT IT HITTING A WALL, OR A BAT, OR ANY OTHER KIND OF OBJECT?.. Surprisingly few people can come up with the answer.... Here it is....A ball will stop, and come back to you, if you throw it straight up in the air!

Here's an amazing story about an auto racing driver... Several years ago a driver named Art Arfons survived the fastest auto crackup of all-time....Arfons was driving over 580 miles per hour during a test at the Bonneville Salt Flats....His car went out of control and rolled over for 2 miles before stopping...Arfons staggered away from the wreck without any major injuries... And two days later he was planning his next race!

Any idea which big league baseball team has gone the most years without finishing in last place?.....Answer is the Dodgers....Many fans don't realize they have not finished in last place since 1905!...They've now played 65 consecutive seasons without finishing in the cellar.

Every morning at 5 o'clock, comedian Red Skelton gets out of bed and writes a letter to his wife.

They live in the same house. They probably even sleep together, just like us common folks. But Red still writes her a mushy letter every day. He probably has his own mailman and a stamp machine beside the bed.

Skelton calls the daily messages "Letters to Little Red." (He's Big Red, get it?). He says the letters are "his thoughts and ideas." They can include a short story or a musical selection.

Cynics may laugh at Big Red. Or sympathize with Little Red who is probably way behind in answering her mail.

But there is no denying that Big Red is a romantic guy. And there is no denying that women like to be romanced. Don't knock it if you haven't tried it. So I sat up on the edge of the bed at 5 a.m. the other day and wrote:

Dear Little Fitz:

Yawn. Red Skelton must go to bed earlier than I do. And I'll bet he doesn't have the trouble finding a pencil that I did. I finally found this stub in a paste jar which will be my excuse if this turns out sticky (ha ha, Honey). And I hope you don't mind my writing on this pillow case. The only paper in the house is in the bathroom but there's a funny little man in there, squeezing it (ha ha, Honey).

Well anyway, Honey, you're probably surprised to be hearing from me like this. But I wanted to give you my thoughts

(Any anyone else he can get to help)

We thought you should know....since R. M. Hunter lost his bid for the Republican nomination for township clerk, no less than three of his co-members on the board have made off-the-cuff remarks telling how good he was on the board.

The essence of their remarks was that Bob always protected the interest of the township and kept the records in A-1 order.

The quality that made him excellent as a watchdog of township expenses probably led to his defeat, one said. He was blunt, outspoken and took a firm position on the issues.

It was almost like a little world series Monday night at the ball park when the Catholics and the Trinity United Methodists played for the play-off title.

Tempers flared and rhubarbs were frequent. The Catholics were overjoyed when they won.

Before you say, it's only a game, let's remember that without fierce competition and the will to really want to win, the game is nothing.

There was a fine crowd on hand to see the championship tilt and the importance the players placed on winning made it worth watching.

Usually, relatively small contract lettings at Cass City High School draw little interest and few bidders.

Is it a sign of the times that there were seven bidders for a job estimated at about $15,000 Monday night and that representatives of many of the companies attended in person?

You have to believe it is, especially when the low bid was just slightly over half of the estimate.

The unluckiest bidder at the school Monday had to be Chuck Vaughn of Caro. He was second low bidder. Because of a foul up, he failed to secure a bid bond and tossed in $800 in cash to make his bid acceptable.

Because he was second, his bid and money will not be returned immediately. It will be held until contract details are ironed out with the successful bidder.

So right now he doesn't have the job or the money. Firms other than the three low bidders will have checks or bonds returned at once.

If Erla's had been able to see the name before it was selected in their recently concluded benefit drawing, they couldn't have come up with a better name.

That's what club members were saying this week after C. R. Hunt was the lucky winner.

Because when Hunt won, everyone gained with the possible exception of Hunt himself.

Hunt donated half of the winnings back to the softball team and said to give the other half to the Boy Scouts.

Two other prizes were awarded. Second place went to Tim Top of Detroit and third to Sam Gentilly of Lapeer.

Half of the money collected was redistributed in prize money.

Circuit Court cases

Probation sentence for Cook

Robert John Cook, 19, of Kingston, appearing before Circuit Court Judge James P. Churchill Monday, was sentenced on a charge of larceny from a building. He was given two years probation and ordered to pay a $200 fine and court costs of $200. He was also ordered to pay restitution of $159, to be shared with others involved in the crime. The others were not named.

In addition he was sentenced to 30 days in the Tuscola County Jail with credit for five days served.

Cook allegedly stole some automobile tires from Bob Mc-

Ke's Sales and Service in Vassar January 3.

Legal action against two Caron men, Edward Mark, 25, and Billie Nidiffer, 19, resumed in Circuit Court Monday. The pair is charged with the unarmed robbery of a 17-year-old youth June 12.

Mark stood mute at his arraignment and a plea of innocent was entered on his behalf. A $3000 bond is continued until a trial date is set. A request for dismissal of charges against Billie Nidiffer by his attorney was denied and the trial date is pending.

In further Circuit Court action Monday, Melvin R. Wheaton of Caro was arraigned on a charge of fraud for writing a bad check. The check was drawn on the State Savings Bank of Caro July 24. Wheaton was released on bond and further court action will be taken September 8.

DISTRICT COURT

In District Court this week a Gageton man, Douglas G. Gray was sentenced to four days in jail on a charge of being drunk and disorderly on August 10.

Also in District Court, LeRoy George Houck of Decker, was placed on a $1,000 bond following his arrest for driving with license suspended or revoked. It is his third such offense.

THANK YOU

I would like to take this opportunity to thank the voters of Huron, Tuscola, Sanilac and St. Clair Counties. If I am reelected in November I will sincerely try to justify the confidence you have shown in me.

To the hundreds of people that worked so hard for me, a very special "THANK YOU."

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

You wouldn't believe some of the wild ideas that was kicked around Saturday night at the country store. Then again, you might of, depending on how you feel about believing. They was wide disagreement amongst the fellers, Mister Editor, on jest what is believing.

Zeke Grubb's preacher sort of set the mood for the discussion when he stopped by the store for a few minutes. He was saying he is having a hard time keeping folks still long enuff to convince em God ain't changed, it's jest that everthing else has.

What the preacher meant was, we now live in outer space where we used to think Heaven is, we go inside our bodies and trade around parts where we thought the soul was, and our churches that we used to think was a haven of rest now is being used for everthing under the sun but fer rest and quiet.

Farthermore, went on the preacher, folks is called on to believe so much about so many things until they find it hard to pick and choose what to really believe. With all the transplanting of parts and messing around with genes, he said it sometime ain't clear to him who is who and what is what.

Zeke's preacher got his pipe tobacker and went on out shaking his head, Mister Editor, but the fellers set and mulled over his words. Bug Hookum said he never had give much thought to believing lately, but actual he was having a hard time believing these days. What it is, Bug said, is that usual things is so bad folks really don't want to believe em.

For instant, said Bug, he saw by the papers where up to 10 per cent of 62,000 school youngsters in Omaha was give drugs regular to keep em quiet. Bug said that was so bad in this day when everbody is preaching agin drugs til he couldn't bring hisself to believe it. It was like that man and woman that was in the papers a few months back fer leaving their little girl on a California freeway, and the little thing stood there holding the rail a hole night.

Bug says when he sees some-pun like that in the papers he forces hisself not to believe it. He keeps hoping it'll be like that report a couple year ago where this perfessor said six drugged students went blind staring at the sun, and two days later said he lied to scare the students out of taking drugs.

Ed Doolittle said he recalled where Mark Twain said onct that faith is believing what you know ain't so. Ed said he had thought about that saying a lot, special in recent years, and he has decided that in this day and time it takes more faith to believe what a feller knows is so.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

GROUND SOYBEAN FOR SOYBEAN MEAL

Ground soybeans are a satisfactory replacement for soybean meal in rations for milking cows, according to Donald Hillman, Michigan State University dairy nutritionist.

Urea should not be mixed with feeds containing raw soybeans, because an enzyme in the beans releases ammonia from the urea and causes the feed to become unpalatable, warns Hillman.

There's more than sugar in Michigan's MIRACLE BEET

Sure, it produces sugar... 170,000 tons in the past season... a tribute to the progressive sugar-beet growers in Michigan's Saginaw Valley, working hand in hand with the state's two processing companies. But that's only the beginning. The 1,431,339 tons of sugarbeets harvested in 1969 yielded much more than its principal product—sugar.

In cash, the crop and its final products added up to $42.9 million. Much of that money has already been plowed back into Michigan's economic cycle. Millions of dollars for payrolls, farm equipment, consumer goods, and in processor supplies. And, as always, in taxes paid to local and state government units... over $800,000 from the two Michigan processing companies alone. In short, the sugarbeet produces economic sweetening for our state, as well as flavor sweetening for our table, with Big Chief and Pioneer—Michigan Made Pure Sugar! Tall accomplishments from a humble sugarbeet... a miracle which repeats itself each year.

Battle compacted soil areas now

By Don Kebler

August is a good time to begin taking steps in your soil structure improvement program. To begin now is your step in the right direction for reducing those compacted soil areas and fields which rob you of crop profits.

It will not be difficult at all this year to locate these compacted poor structured soils because they are very much in evidence especially on those bean fields.

This evidence of soil compaction in these bean fields is emphasized by the pale yellowish green or dead bean plants. These symptoms were strictly the result of excess soil and or surface water not draining away fast enough.

Other indications of low and compacted areas can be seen on fields of small grain and other crops too.

So where does one begin his soil structure improvement program and how can it be accomplished?

Perhaps the first step is to fill-in and level the depression areas. This will allow surface water to flow from the fields and not settle into those areas. If we can prevent water from settling into these areas, then soil compaction from field equipment will be reduced.

After filling in or land leveling is accomplished, then we should incorporate good quantities of organic matter the deeper the better. This deep plowing of this organic matter will serve two functions. One-- it breaks up the compacted sub-soil and mixes this soil and organic matter to a greater depth. Secondly, this deep plowed mixture will start to produce a more open better drained soil.

What can be done this fall as far as growing organic matter producing plants? August rye seeding at rates of at least two bushels per acre is well recommended. This source of organic matter must be fertilized when planted and again when spring plowed. Don't plant any more acres into rye than you can plow in one week's time. Other organic matter supplying plants are domestic ryegrass, buckwheat and all legumes. Some even plant oats and corn to plow down when green.

If I really wanted to incorporate the greatest quantity of organic matter in the shortest time, I would seed rye in August, plow down this rye with some nitrogen fertilizer in the spring and plant to buckwheat. This buckwheat I would plow at full bloom in July and seed rye in August. This rye would be plowed down the next spring. This would give me three green manure crops in one cropping year's time.

Claim fertilizers not pollutants

Results from Michigan State University research indicate that only very small amounts of fertilizer move from farm fields into other parts of the environment.

Soil scientists who conducted the research measured drainage system flow and surface runoff in order to determine the potential hazards of polluting the environment with fertilizers. Testing took place on seven plots that contained all the major soil types found in Michigan.

The MSU scientists examined drainage and runoff samples of nitrogen, phosphorus, calcium, magnesium and potassium content. Nitrogen passed out of the soil more than any other chemical -- at a rate of less than 10 pounds per acre per year. Phosphorus was next with a rate of less than 1/10 pound per acre per year.

This experiment indicates that agricultural fertilizers make little or no contribution to water pollution problems in Michigan.

The best is the cheapest, but the cheapest is not always best.

Outline catastrophic effect of long-run inflation

Most people know that inflation has been chipping away at their paychecks for quite a few years at various rates.

But some calculations released recently by the Michigan Savings and Loan League are enough to give a jolt to even the least concerned person concerning what inflation can do.

League figures show that if the current 6 per cent inflation rate continues for the next 30 years, a family with an income of $10,000 per year today will need $57,435 to maintain a comparable standard of living in the year 2000.

The league based its estimate on a simple statistical calculation in which it adjusted a family's income upward 6 per cent each year on a compounded basis to keep pace with the rising cost of living.

In the first four months of 1970, the cost of living increase actually was slightly above 6 per cent per year.

"There is some complacency about the present rate of inflation," said the league in an accompanying statement. "But the American people ought to understand what the long-run, catastrophic effect of chronic and substantial inflation will be."

Tell area 4-H club winners at county fair

Authorities this week announced the winners of various awards for projects submitted by members of the Needles and Kettles 4-H Club at the Tuscola County Fair.

In food projects, Cindy Doerr, Sharon Clarke, Donna DeLong and Becky Loomis received honor awards making them eligible for the State Show.

Marlene Fisher, Dianna Fisher, and Carol Clarke received blue awards. Red awards were presented to Sally Loomis, Kathy Clarke and Mollie Butler. Melissa Eubank received a white award. Becky Loomis received a blue award for her canning project.

In Arts and Crafts, Carol Little received an honor award in the recreation division of performing arts. Margie Clarke received an honor award for leather craft. Kathy Clarke, a blue award, and Sharon Clarke, a red award in leather craft. The teen Junior Leadership Booth honor award was won by Margie Clarke. Junior leaders Sharon and Carol Clarke also received blue awards.

In horticulture competition: cut flowers--Sharon Clarke and Kathy Clarke, honor awards; Carol Clarke and Dianna Fisher, red awards; Marlene Fisher, white award.

For indoor gardens, house plants: Donna DeLong, blue award; Kathy Clarke, red, and Cindy Doerr and Elaine Cummins, white awards.

Vegetable gardens: Sharon Clarke, honor award; Marlene and Dianna Fisher and Kathy Clarke, red awards; Carol Clarke, white award.

For commercial gardens, Sharon Clarke, red, and Carol Clarke, white awards.

Clothing projects: honor awards to Elaine Cummins, Brenda Little, Carol Little and Carol Clarke; blue awards to Kathy Clarke, Marlene Fisher, Sally Loomis, Debbie Loomis, Mollie Butler, Cindy Doerr, Sharon Clarke, Donna DeLong; red awards to Melissa Eubank, Zan Eubank, Margie Clarke; white award to Dianna Fisher.

Sharon Clarke received an honor award and Carol Clarke, a blue award, for knitting. Becky Loomis and Carol Little performed in the State Share-The-Fun Festival held during the State 4-H Show.

In a breakdown of smallest items, the league said a $20 bag of groceries would cost you $114.87 at the supermarket in 2000. A $500 color television set would be priced at $2,871.72.

The $3,000 standard auto of today--and this is nowhere near a luxury car any more--would cost $17,230.35 in 30 years if the inflation rate continues.

For the prospective home purchaser, the shock is even greater. Under the 6 per cent inflation rate, a home costing $25,600 today--the median price of all American homes--would go for a whopping $147,032.

And the house price would not be the only shock.

Based on standard mortgage terms today, you'd have to come up with a $29,406.40 down payment in 2000 and take out a mortgage for $117,625.60. If mortgage interest rates stayed pretty much the same for the next 30 years, the monthly payment on a 25-year loan would be $914.43.

A further breakdown shows that under a 6 per cent inflation rate, a $10,000 income this year would be worth the same as $13,382 in 1975.

In 1980 it would be up to $17,908 to purchase the same things and by 1985 the amount would have risen to $23,965. In 1990 it would be up to $32,071 and in 1995 it would be $42,918.

The prospect is bad enough for someone who would be holding down a job during such a period. But for the poor unfortunate living on a pension or other form of fixed income, it could be disastrous!

"DISTINCTION RARE"

The Michigan Liquor Control Commission has a distinction which is quite rare in these times of rising inflation and increasing public payrolls.

In 1936 the commission, which controls Michigan's $1 billion alcoholic beverage industry had nearly 1,100 employees. Today, despite the fact its business has increased eight-fold since 1936, its total employees now number below 800.

The commission was created in 1933 following the repeal of prohibition. It controls the purchase and distribution of all alcoholic beverages--liquor and wine--that have an alcoholic content of 16 per cent or greater.

All dealers licensed to sell liquor and wine must purchase it from state stores. The commission operates warehouses at Detroit, Lansing and Escanaba and 90 other liquor stores.

In addition, it licenses 25,000 stores, restaurants, bars, taverns and private clubs where liquor, beer or wine is sold by the bottle or glass, and it enforces all liquor laws.

The commission's Detroit warehouse is the largest of its kind in the country. More than eight million cases of liquor and wine move in--and out--of the 144,000 square foot warehouse annually.

HISTORY REPEATS

Some people are writing the same old story on the new leaf they turned for 1970.

ONE FOR THE ROAD
Ely, Nevada: It's not New York City

By Dan Marlowe

Ely, Nevada:

White Pine County, Nevada, in which Ely is the county seat, contains 8883 square miles of largely undeveloped land. This is particularly notable since the entire population of the county is 11,000 hardy souls, leaving almost a square mile of territory for each.

Not that they use it. The city of Ely alone has 7500 residents, leaving the county's remaining 3500 residents scattered around the southern rim of the Great Basin in terrain consisting alternately of mountain ranges and sagebrush covered valleys. This is rugged country. It's also dry country since the average annual rainfall is less than 9 inches. The annual average temperature is 45 degrees, not so surprising since Ely is located at a height of 6400 feet.

Mining is the area's principal occupation. Copper mining in particular (Kennecott has a 5-pit operation located at Ruth, just a few miles from Ely), but also tungsten, lead, zinc, silver, gold, manganese, beryllium, molybdenum, and tellurium in smaller quantities. Almost half the county's workers are employed in the mines.

White Pine County has another distinction. It is the home of the world's oldest living things, the bristlecone pine trees. California held out for years for the redwoods, but it has now been documented conclusively that the gnarled forests of bristlecone pine are indeed in some instances twice as old as the historic redwoods.

A slab of a 4900-year-old bristlecone pine is on display in Ely. It was taken from the Humboldt National Forest. Few visitors see the forests of twisted pine trees without going specifically to see them. They grow at an elevation of 10,000 feet and upward, and their humped growth--in some cases exceeding 30 feet in circumference--testifies eloquently to their bitter but successful struggle for life over the centuries in the constant gale-force winds.

Numerous ghost towns abound in White Pine County. Some of the better known relics of the early mining boom camps are Hamilton, the earliest county seat; Osceola, named for the Indian chief; Ward, and the famed Cherry Creek.

Nearby mountains exceed 13,000 feet, and with hundreds of lakes in the area and so few people in residence, hunting and fishing conditions are ideal. Most of the county is in public ownership and there are few restrictions. Mule deer, antelope, elk, quail, grouse, chukar, coyote and mountain lion are at home in much of the county.

Ely, Nevada would never be mistaken for New York City, but for the individual who wants to get away from it all and find it as it used to be in the good old days, he could hardly make a better choice.

In $90,000 blaze in Caro

Twist of fate saves Nichols' machines

Because Saturday was an unusually busy day at Caro Honda Sales, owner Dallas Nichols of Snover was able to save all of the snowmobiles and motorcycles housed in the building that was razed in a $90,000 fire that destroyed his building and the next door Don Rushlo Service Station.

Ordinarily, Nichols said, we close at 3 p.m. on Saturday but I was around later because of business and was inside when the fire broke out about 3:10.

I don't know where all the people came from after the fire started, he recalled, but because they were on hand we were able to get all of the machines and a lot of tires stored on the second floor out of the building.

Nichols estimated that his loss was between $15,000 and $20,000, nearly all in parts and accessories.

The loss to Rushlo in the gas station was estimated at about $32,000 and for Allah Schrader, Caro, owner of the two buildings, the loss was set at $37,000.

It really helps that we all had insurance to cover our losses, said Nichols.

The fire embers had scarcely cooled when plans were underway to re-establish the two businesses.

Nichols said that he hopes to have his Caro Honda Sales open again next week sometime. It may not be in the same location. We're dickering right now for another building.

A new gas station at the North State Street location is already under construction. The 24x30 building is going up as a crash program so that the firm can start pumping gas again as soon as possible.

Fire departments from Caro, Mayville and Cass City battled the blaze over five hours and two Caro firemen were hospitalized. They were Keith Rick-wait of Caro's department, and William Fowler of Mayville's department.

Set new speed zones

Two new 45 miles-per-hour speed zones will be established soon on M-46 (State Street) in the Village of Kingston in Tuscola County, the Department of State Highways said this week.

The new speed zones, each two-tenths of a mile long, will be east and west of the existing 35 mph speed zone through the center of the village. The 35 mph zone extends west from Linden Street, on the east side, to just west of Railroad Street.

The new west side speed zone will reduce legal speeds from 65 to 45 mph past the new State Street School.

Representatives from the Village of Kingston, the State Police and the Highway Department agreed the new speed zones were necessary because of the school and commercial build-up in the area.

The new speed limits are authorized in a traffic control order signed by Henrik E. Stafseth, state highway director, and Col. Fredrick E. Davids, state police director. Enforcement will start as soon as signs are posted.

Week-end live steam show set

Whooooo-eeee! There goes the steam whistle and it's time once again for the grain-threshing --- and the log-sawing --- and the flour and cornmeal-grinding, and all the rumble, roar and excitement of the old days of steam!!!

The Saginaw Valley Live Steam Association will meet for its Fifteenth Annual Convention at the Tuscola County Fairgrounds at Caro, Mich. on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 14, 15 and 16.

This Association is made up of men from all walks of life who are steam buffs and who wish to share their knowledge of, and love for, steam and the many uses to which it was put around the turn of the century. There will be ten large state-inspected steam tractors in operation, as well as grain separator, saw mill, straw baler, shingle mill, veneer machine, Baker fans and other machines demonstrating the power and versatility of steam power.

For those who enjoy model engines there will be many of those on display; their proud builders and owners always ready to chat and compare notes and experiences.

A highlight of this year's convention will be Sunday afternoon. As a change of pace the Sheriff's Posse of Tuscola County will give a riding exhibition in front of the grandstand.

Cass City area drivers hurt in crashes

Several accidents involving Cass City area drivers were reported this week by various police officials.

In a collision Sunday involving two cars at the intersection of Riley and Froede Rds. five people were injured, three of them seriously.

Taken to Caro Community Hospital were: Thomas O'Neal Collins, 34, and a passenger, Lucille Collins, 28, of Cass City, Barbara Lynn Pretzer, 19, of Kingston, Wanda Kay Pretzer, 2 months, and David Lee Pretzer, 2. The Pretzer children sustained only minor injuries.

A spokesman for the hospital said Tuesday that both Thomas and Lucille Collins were listed in fair condition. Barbara Lynn Pretzer, the spokesman said, was discharged from the hospital Monday.

According to Tuscola County Sheriff's report the Collins car, traveling west on Riley Rd., failed to yield the right of way to the southbound Pretzer auto, on Froede Rd.

Nancy Leigh DuRussell, 18, of Cass City received only minor injuries Sunday when she lost control of her car on E. Mayville Rd. in Dayton township. Miss DuRussell told officers the car veered off the road when she glanced in her rear view mirror. The auto skidded 75 feet and came to rest in a roadside ditch.

A Decker woman, Jacqueline Ann Heronemus, 25, escaped serious injury Friday when she lost control of her auto, striking a road name sign post. She was traveling east on Milligan Rd. in Elkland township when she failed to make the curve where Milligan Rd. joins Buehly Rd.

Investigating officers said there are no curve signs posted in the area.

Two Cass City youths, 16-year-old Robert Lee White and a passenger, Danny Mills, 15, were not injured Saturday afternoon when the car in which they were riding left the road and hit a telephone pole. White, the driver of the auto, traveling north on Cemetery Rd. near Elmwood Rd., told officers that the car careened off the road hitting some loose gravel.

Another Cass City youth, Thomas Gerald Gould, 19, was not injured when he lost control of his car in an attempt to avoid hitting a dog, Wednesday. Gould was traveling south on Hurds Corner Rd. when he swerved to avoid the animal and skidded on the soft shoulder of the road.

CASS CITY ACCIDENTS

Two separate auto accidents in Cass City Aug. 5, involving four cars, occurred just one minute apart according to accident reports.

The first happened at the intersection of Garfield and S. Seeger streets at 8:07 a.m. Carl A. Crow, 38, traveling east on Garfield allegedly failed to yield the right of way and pulled into the street in the path of a northbound vehicle driven by Betty Ball. Both drivers are residents of Cass City. No one was injured.

The second mishap occurred at 8:08 a.m. at the corner of Main and Maple streets. Driver of one car Cynthia Susan McClorey, 17, and two of her passengers, Greg Frank, 9, and Kevin Frank, 7, were taken to Hills and Deles Hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

The McClorey car had been heading east on Main street when a car driven by Lucille Evelyn Sommers, traveling south on Maple street allegedly failed to yield the right of way striking the side of the McClorey car.

All were residents of Cass City.

School athletic field bid below estimate

Authorities at Cass City High School were surprised and delighted with the low bid of $8,500 for preparing the surface for the athletic field at the school at the meeting held Monday at the school.

Seven bids were received and Riedel Construction Co. of New Baltimore was the low bidder. His bid was just over half of the estimated cost set by Don Williamson, engineer.

The work includes moving about 19,000 cubic yards of dirt in an area approximately 650 by 1,100 feet.

Riedel was $3,430 under the second low bidder, Charles

Pitches at Tiger Stadium

Rob Alexander: too excited to be nervous

by JOHN HAIRE

Some things are too big, too vast, too important to become excited about. And for a 16-year-old athlete who has spent most of his tender years sharpening baseball skills, pitching at Tiger Stadium last week was like that. I was too excited to feel anything, said Robert "Rob" Alexander as he recalled his Thursday morning pitching stint with an all-star American Legion team at Tiger Stadium. When you've been there as a fan you can't help thinking about how it might be if you were ever good enough to get on the field. When you come as a player even sitting on the bench is a thrill, says Rob, when the bench is part of the visitors' dugout in the stadium or the bullpen down the right field line. After all, how many padded benches are available to the average ball player? And you can't help thinking about the countless guys who have suited up in the majors when you see the spiked floor in the dugouts or take a drink from the fountain.

It's like one player said, "when you lean over to take a drink it's like rubbing noses with the 'Hawk' Harrelson," said Rob with a soft chuckle as he recalled the incident. Tiger Stadium has been called antiquated by new stadium boosters and some of the Tigers are saying that the field is in the worst condition that they can recall.

Denny McLain and Mickey Lolich might complain about the height of the mounds, the live baseball and the shrinking strike zone, but to a young sandloter getting his first look, everything is just about super perfect.

It's the best mound I ever pitched on, says Robbie simply. It's sloped off better and the way it's built you seem to be almost on top of the batter.

But then Rob has an advantage. American Legion ball players aren't about to loft a handle hit out of the park. For good is your fast ball, says Robbie.

They'll tell you your strong and weak points. In his favor, according to the scouts, are his size, his youth and his fast ball.

His weaknesses include throwing from the stretch and following through while pitching.

They don't want you throwing curves in high school, Rob confided. The important thing is the fast ball. I've had several scouts time it with a stopwatch, but no one will tell me just how fast I am.

One thing sure, Robbie feels, is that he's faster now than he was last year or even last spring in high school.

There are a couple of good reasons for this. One is that Cass City's prospect is still growing. He's now six feet, one inch plus and weighs about 210. Last year he was about six feet and weighed about 190.

The other is that in the spring Rob had trouble getting loose and never did throw as hard as he could.

It may be that baseball's gain is football's loss at Cass City High School. Unless he has a change of heart when the crisp days of autumn arrive, Robbie, a veteran grinder, will not be out for football this fall.

I'm going to concentrate on my marks, he said, and be ready for basketball and baseball seasons. Rob is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alexander and comes from a baseball family. His dad was one of the better area sandlot players and he saw to it that his son got off on the right foot.

He was my coach all through league play in Cass City until I was 13 years old, Rob said.

Right now, Rob isn't thinking too much beyond high school. After graduation his course is uncertain. If they come up with enough money, the youngster says straightforwardly, I'll sign and not go to college. If they don't I'll go on to school and wait and see what happens.

The entire Thumb will be waiting with him.

Erla's gird for Class C softball tourney

All the pitchers are having troubles these days. First it was Mickey Lolich. Then it was Denny McLain. Now it is Al Bosch in the Ubyl Recreational Softball League.

And for Bosch to lose is an even greater surprise than the poor seasons that the Tiger mound aces are experiencing.

For it's been seven years since Bosch lost any game that counted. But Smokey's Saddle Shop turned the trick in the post-season play-offs at Ubyl last week. The Horsemen topped the Foodmen, 3-2, and then went on to win the play-off title. Altes won the regular season toga.

The winners roughed up Bosch in the first inning combining a pair of hits with an error that was good for three runs. Bosch hurled shutout ball the rest of the way but Erla's never could catch up.

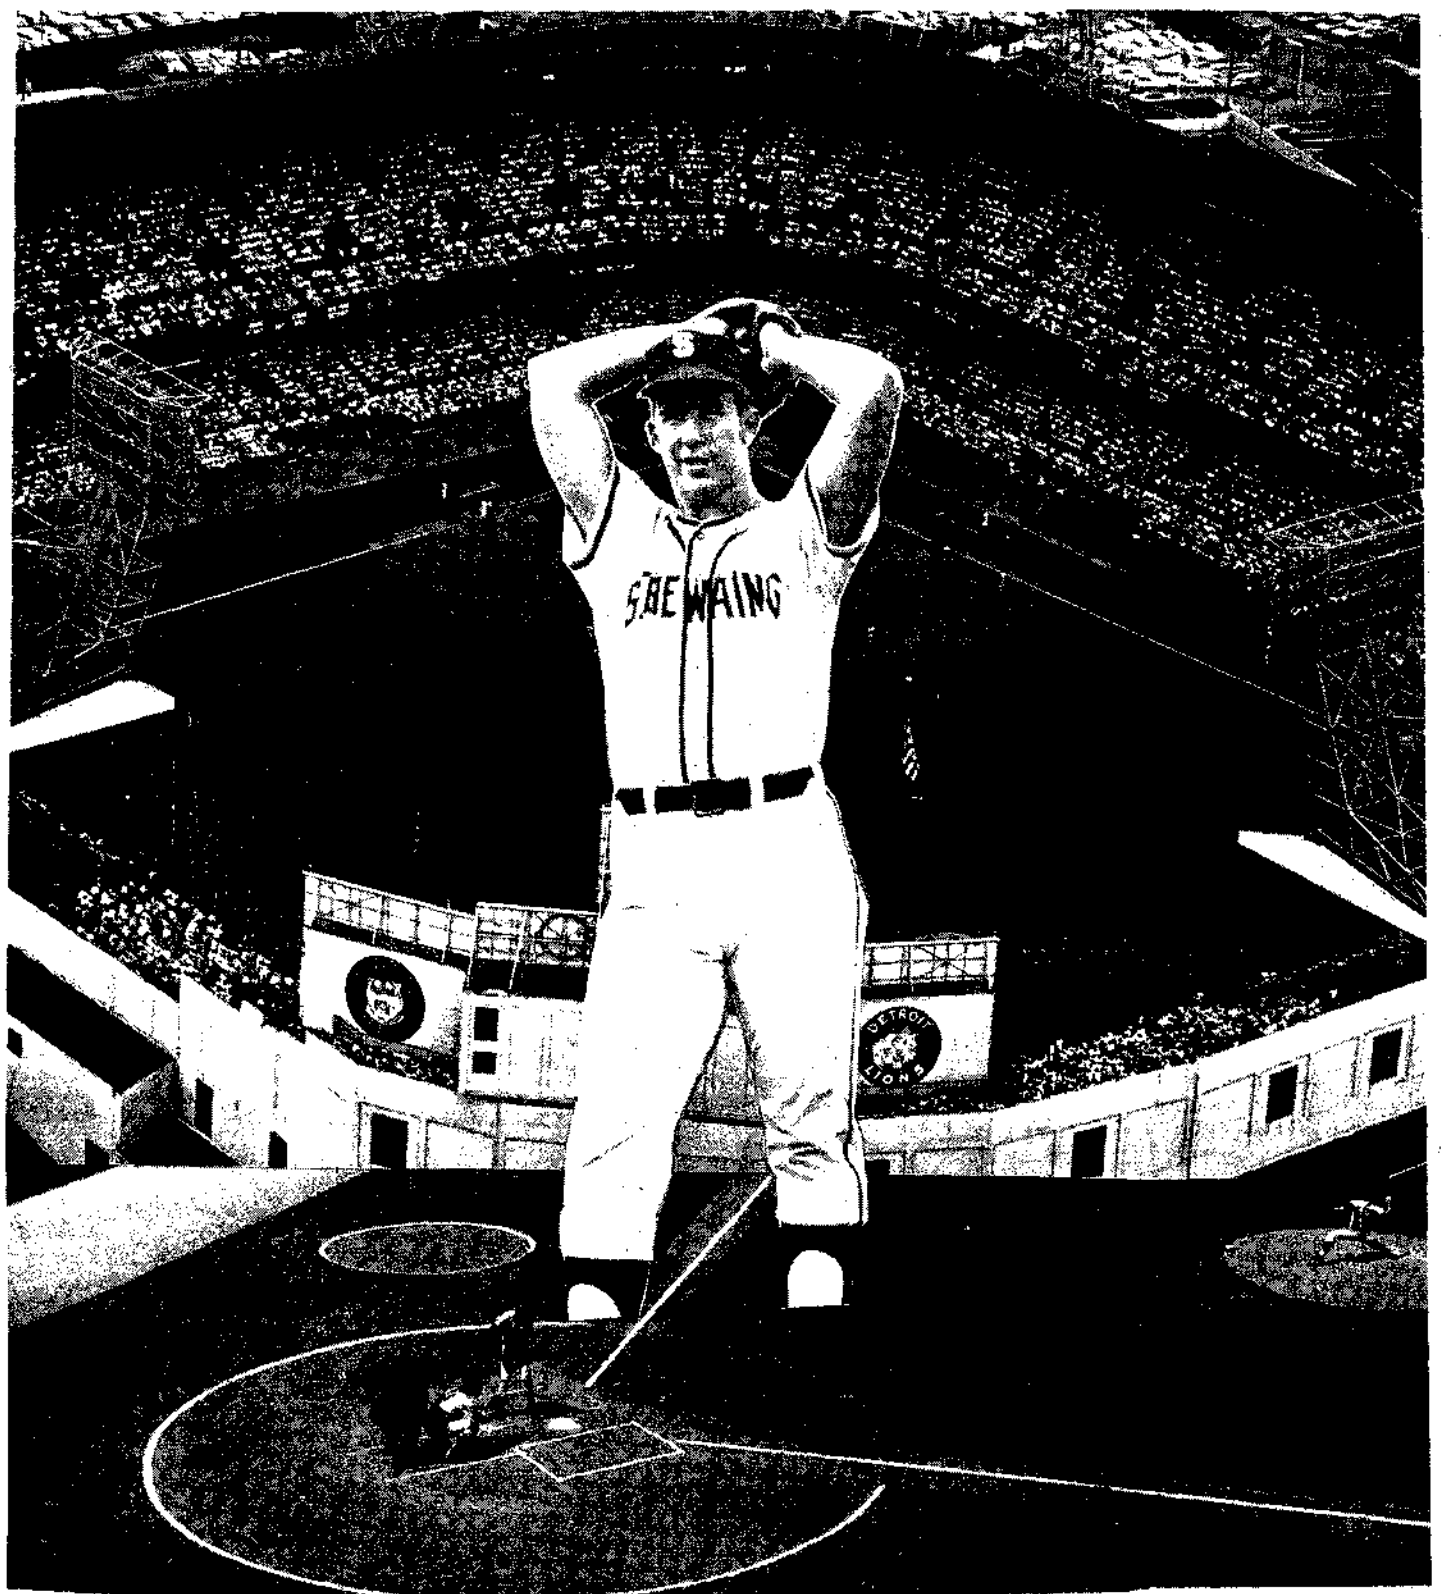

The Foodmen put together four hits good for two runs in the fifth, but could not come up with the big hit in the inning and left the tying and potential winning runs stranded.

With the regular season over, Erla is turning to the State Class C tourney in Port Huron. They will meet some old foes. Altes from the Ubyl League is entered. Erla's will face the Kentucky Colonels, a team they meet every year, sometimes winning and sometimes losing. Another close game is in prospect. The games will be at 8:15 p.m. Friday at Pine Grove field. It is a two-defeat and out tourney. If Erla's win they play at 6 p.m. Saturday and if they lose they play at 8:30 p.m. Saturday. The finals are Sunday, Aug. 16, starting at 6:30 p.m.

Manager Don Erla is hoping that his team will function harder in the play-off like it did in the first game of the double header exhibition tilt with Saginaw Old Mill Tavern Saturday night.

Bosch was letter perfect as he limited the visitors to three hits and shut them out, 2-0. Wally Hempton led the attack with two hits in three tries.

In the nightcap, Jerry Hillaker was the victim of some shoddy support as the Saginaw nine posted a 6-4 win. Dan Erla mopped up after taking over in the third. G. Berg limited Erla's to just three hits as he whiffed 10 while going the distance for the victory.

TURNABOUT

Folks used to wonder what Grandpa Brown and I had in common. He must have been close to eighty when I was just a kid. But I remember him as one of the best friends I ever had.

He was a wonderful old man, with a simple, native wisdom. We used to go fishing together, and he would talk to me about God and Faith and Love. I remember he said people shouldn't wait until they're in trouble before going to Church. "When you're happy," he told me, "take time out to offer a prayer of thanks."

The Church had acted as a balance for him during good times, and a bulwark during bad times.

Down through the centuries the Church has made great Christians out of unassuming people. They in turn have transmitted the blessings of the Church to oncoming generations. I hope I can bring Grandpa Brown's faith and wisdom to others, as I was impressed by him.

Catholics cop Church League play-off crown

Form prevailed right to the end in the Cass City Church League as the Cass City Catholics, regular season champions, won the play-off title with a victory over Cass City Trinity Methodists Monday at Cass City Recreational Park. The score was 4-2.

The game pitted what many observers considered the two teams in the league with the best personnel, although the Methodists trailed 2 teams in the final league standings.

The Catholics did what they had been doing all season to win. They combined good pitching by John Maharg with excellent fielding and enough hitting strength to get by and register a victory. The Methodists were at full strength for the game although they played all but the first inning without the services of Fred Hurlburt who left after allowing a run in the first inning.

The Catholics scored enough in the first four innings to pile up a comfortable lead and win. Paced by lusty three-baggers by Turner and Clark Erla they turned a total of five hits spread over six innings into four runs.

The lead looked as big as a mountain as Maharg was coasting along with a shutout until the last inning. But he hit Paul O'Harris and then Rick Lorentzen and Duane Cubitt followed with solid doubles to the outfield fence to score a pair suddenly the tying run was at the plate with just one out.

But Maharg rose to the occasion and snuffed the threat by retiring the next two hitters and the Catholics added the play-off championship to their loop crown.

The Catholics won their way to the finals by defeating Church of Christ in their first game and then topping Shabbona which won its first game against Colwood United Brethren.

The Trinity Methodists also won twice on the way to the finals. The runners-up knocked off the Cass City Baptists in the first game and then topped Deford Methodists who earned their way into the semi-finals by topping the Gageton-Fraser Presbyterians.

Representing the Catholics at the championship game were:
