ONE FOR THE ROAD

This movie tells it like it is

By Dan Marlowe

Regular readers of this column will recall that I'm not a movie-goer.

It may come as a surprise, then, that I'm going to recommend a movie for you to see.

Not all of you. After all, there are few movies being made today which can be recommended across the board to all segments of society. The movie I'm about to recommend has an "R" rating, and deservedly so. Not so much because of sex, although there's a little of that, but because of violence.

The movie is DARKER THAN AMBER, made from one of the books in John D. MacDonald's Travis McGee series. Rod Taylor plays the lead, Theodore Bikel is his sidekick, Meyer, and Suzy Kendall is the most prominent of the ladies with whom Taylor becomes involved. The movie doesn't stick en-

Agent's Corner

By Mary Kerr
Extension Agent

Mother's old admonition to "mind your P's and Q's" may soon take new meaning for her grown-up, food-shopping daughters. The P's and Q's of the original statement referred to pints and quarts. The wise food shopper pays attention to cost per pint, quart, ounce, or pound to get the best value for her money.

At present there are about 8,000 different items in a big supermarket, and 2,000 are being added every year. These items come in a staggering number of different sized packages. There are over twenty-five different can sizes alone.

Different sized packaging makes price comparisons exceedingly difficult unless the food shopper is a whiz mathematician. The dilemma is heightened when items are priced in multiples, such as the same product priced at two for 39¢ and five for 99¢.

The new Unit Pricing system is being explored as a means of telling customers how much products cost by the pint, quart, ounce, pound, etc.

Various methods are used to flag the per-unit prices. Some stores use gummed labels, computer-printed and attached to the shelf facings. The label information includes the name of the item, the price per unit, the size of the package, and the total price.

Interest is spreading, but most leading food retailers and consumer spokesmen feel that such a measure should be investigated more. Until Unit Pricing is adopted, it is up to the consumer to figure the unit cost to get the best value.

VILLAGE COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

A special meeting of the Village of Cass City Council was held on October 5, 1970 at 7:00 p.m. at the Municipal Building. All the trustees except Arthur Holmberg were present.

The Village Attorney presented to the council the redraft of the sample ordinance for the position of Village Superintendent.

Select needlework for display

It was moved by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Christner that the ordinance for creating the position of Village Superintendent be adopted. Roll call vote: Yea-5 Nay-0. Motion carried.

After some discussion it was moved by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Albee to establish a tax-free community pool fund, and if at the end of ten years of annual review the possibility of creating a pool is not evident, that the donation may be applied to pool promotion or used for major capital outlay within the recreational program. Motion carried.

It was moved by Trustee Christner and supported by Trustee Jones that the $1,000 check donated by the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest for the community pool fund be approved. Motion carried.

There being no further business, a motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Ross that the meeting be adjourned.

JV's post win over Sandusky

It was a banner week in football for Cass City High School. Without a victory during the year, the varsity and the junior varsity each posted wins in Thumb B Conference play last week.

The JV's won on Thursday with a 20-6 decision over Sandusky.

Randy Kelly scored on a 73-yard jaunt in the first period and Mike Frederick capitalized on a Redskin fumble when he went 10 yards for another Hawk score in the first quarter.

Kelly scored the third Hawk touchdown in the third period when he broke loose for 25 yards on a paydirt jaunt.

Curt Strickland passed to Scott Hartel for a two-point conversion. Sandusky scored in the second period.

Coach Roland Pakonen said the defense played a fine game to help the club to victory.

Volunteers to help DNR expand law enforcement

The Department of Natural Resources' law enforcement program, unable to keep up with the surge in recreation and environmental problems, will gain an important boost in mid-October when 538 volunteer deputy conservation officers are activated for field duty.

The unpaid deputies, having undergone formal training to earn their conservation officer commissions, will number 128 in the Upper Peninsula, 216 in the northern Lower Peninsula, and 194 in the southern Lower Peninsula.

Most of them will be assigned to work directly with regular officers on peak-period patrols. In freeing regular officers from teaming together on these patrols, the volunteer "minutemen" will enable the DNR to expand its law enforcement coverage by an estimated 50 per cent during critical times.

Some of the members of this new auxiliary force will serve as nighttime radio dispatchers, recover road-killed deer, investigate damage control complaints, and carry out other non-enforcement chores which have increasingly tied up the DNR's regular corps of officers.

Most of them, however, will work on patrols, with an average of three being assigned to each of the DNR's regular officers. The volunteer deputies will be empowered to issue citations for conservation law infractions when on duty with these officers.

Each volunteer has pledged to work for the DNR at least 80 hours a year, and the Department's Law Chief John A. Angulim lauds every one of these men for this commitment.

"They're giving up some pretty precious recreation time of their own to help in a cause they believe in, and bail us out of a very difficult situation," observes Angulim.

The "difficult situation" he talks about is a DNR law force far below its strength of 1953 trying to shoulder the vastly expanded field duties of the 1970's. The officers' heavier workload includes increased stream patrols for steelhead and salmon fishing action, stepped-up surveillance of pollution problems plus dredging and filling projects, and added duties to enforce land-use restrictions in state game areas.

Angulim believes that next week's activation of the 538 part-time volunteer deputies will close part of the gap in helping regular officers to cover more of the outdoor scene.

In addition, the DNR is in the process of signing on 17 new regular officers to fill some of the existing vacancies in its law enforcement ranks. The new men, top-scoring candidates from a field of 1,200 applicants, are taking physical examinations this week and are expected to be in uniform and on the job within the next two weeks.

WHEN A LOCAL insurance office needed repainting the agent took the occasion to say hello to his secretary when he painted "Hi Helen". It was fleeting fame for Mrs. Helen Avery for a couple of days later the paint brush removed all traces.

Polega fined for passing bad checks in village

Duane Polega, 18, of the Bad Axe area, was sentenced Monday to 6 months' probation and ordered to pay a $50 fine and $150 court costs on charges of obtaining money under false pretenses. Polega appeared in Tuscola County Circuit Court before Judge Norman A. Baguley on the charge, reduced from an original charge of uttering and publishing a bad check at a Cass City business Dec. 16, 1969, in the company of two other young men.

Polega entered a plea of guilty to the reduced charge pressed by Assistant Attorney General Leo Maki in the illness of Prosecutor James P. Ep-skamp. Polega was also ordered to pay $33 restitution as his share of the $100 check.

Bezemek asks hearing in theft charge

Gerald Bezemek, 21, of Cass City was arraigned Monday afternoon in District Court on a charge of unlawfully driving away a motorcycle belonging to Edward Mitchell of Owendale. Bezemek asked for a preliminary hearing on the charge and was placed on $500 cash bond by District Judge Richard Kern.

Bezemek was arrested by State Police from the Bad Axe post on Monday for the incident which is alleged to have taken place Sunday, Oct. 4.

LOCAL MEMBERS AT DISTRICT P&BW MEET

The fall meeting of District 11 of the Michigan Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was held at La-peer Sunday, Oct. 4.

Attending from Cass City were Mrs. Verna MacRae, Mrs. Grace Nemeth, Mrs. Geraldine Fischer and Miss Katie Crane. Mrs. MacRae, district director, presided at the business meeting.

Miss Marva Shear, past district director and State Foundation Chairman, spoke to the group and a report of the national convention in Hawaii was heard.

It was announced that the spring meeting would be at Sherwood Forest Country Club at Gagetown, Bad Axe will be the host club.

Arrest Richards on Rands tip

John Rands, Cass City Police Officer, took part Wednesday, Oct. 7, in the arrest of a rural Bad Axe man, Carl Douglas Richards, 30.

According to authorities, Rands stopped Richards and questioned him when he stopped him driving in the area and saw a bulge under his coat. It later was identified as a loaded 38 caliber revolver in a shoulder holster. Richards told Rands that he was a State Police officer. Rands followed Richards into Huron County where Richards was arrested on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor.

Richards was before Judge John Shubel, entered a plea of innocent, and will be tried. No decision has been rendered on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon.

Thane charged with theft

Bruce D. Thane, 17, from Wilmot is in the Tuscola County Jail facing charges of breaking and entering with intent to commit larceny.

Thane is charged with entering the "White Creek Club", on Dodge Road west of Deford. The club is operated privately by a number of area residents, and the entry was committed early in July according to the warrant and complaint entered in District Court. Thane was arrested Thursday, Oct. 8, arraigned the following day before Judge Richard Kern with bond set at $500. He is jailed in lieu of bond. Thane, 17, was in control of Probate Court before being turned over to the higher court on breaking and entering charge. Other charges have been preferred against Robert Crosby of Froede Road, Kingston, connecting him with the same crime.

ADULT PROGRAM

was presented by Watson. While the advance work has been completed, it still remains to be seen if adult education will work in Cass City.

It will be necessary for about 15 persons to enroll in any class before it is practical to begin, Watson said.

Persons interested in any course offered are asked to call the school for complete information and advance registration.

Time is short because class enrollment must be completed by Oct. 23, Watson said.

Persons interested in other courses, Watson said, should call the school, if enough interest is shown, courses not offered now can be added to the adult education program.

Huron-Tuscola group to elect officers

The Huron-Tuscola Holliness Association will meet Thursday, Oct. 15, at the Elkton Missionary Church.

The Rev. Jessie Booth is the speaker at the two o'clock service and the Rev. Dick Scott will address the group at 7:30. Election of officers will follow the afternoon service and a potluck meal is scheduled at 5 o'clock.

A little less speed and a little more courtesy in your driving will help save lives.

Soil district maps recreation potential of area

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District with the assistance of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors has published an Appraisal of Potentials for Outdoor Recreation for Tuscola County, according to Paul Findlay, District Chairman. It was prepared by the U. S. Soil Conservation Service, Michigan Soil Conservation Districts, Michigan Soil Conservation Committee, Cooperative Extension Service, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, Michigan Department of Natural Resources, Farmers Home Administration with cooperative efforts of many individuals, organizations and agencies. Appreciation is expressed to everyone who helped in the compilation of this report.

The twelve recreation developments analyzed are: Vacation Cabins, Cottages and Homesites; Camping Grounds; Picnicking and Field Sports; Fishing Waters; Golf Courses; Hunting Areas; Natural, Scenic, and Historic Areas; Riding Stables; Shooting Preserves; Vacation Farms; Water Sports Areas.

The rating for each of the recreation developments in this series was determined by the following key elements: Climate; scenery; natural areas; historic areas; soils; existing waters and potential impoundment sites for water; wildlife habitat and populations; distribution, age, occupation and income levels of human population; proximity and access of local roads and tourist routes; rural ownership and land use patterns.

Some of the recreational areas and enterprises considered have a high potential for future development, while others have a low potential primarily because much of Tuscola County is agricultural, according to Cyril Jacot, Acting District Conservationist.

The appraisal is a guideline for planning the future recreation developments for Tuscola County. Other uses for the appraisal are: Improving the long-range program of the Tuscola Soil Conservation District; publicizing and promoting outdoor recreation in the county; and planning by local county and township governments, planning commissions, civic groups, and promotion agencies. Information contained in the appraisal will be useful to Soil Conservationist, County Agents and planning consultants in assisting landowners and others in the district, and to bankers and other lenders in evaluating financial needs and risks for recreation developments. Information will be helpful in developing regional and State outdoor recreation plans, identification of specific project proposals for public recreation areas and will serve as a guideline to more efficient and profitable use of certain natural resources, thereby improving the economic status of individual landowners and the community.

Accident round up

4 injured in 2 area crashes

Four persons were injured in two of several accidents on area roads or involving area drivers, according to reports from various police agencies.

Roger N. Smith, 16, of Hurds Corner Road, Cass City, was injured Friday evening when he lost control of the car he was driving on M-81. The car rolled over on the south side of the highway, 2 miles west of Cass City. Smith was taken to Hills and Dales Hospital where he was treated for his injuries. Sheriff's deputies reported that the youth skidded on wet pavement just east of Crane Road. His was the only personal injury accident at the week concerning Cass City residents, but there were three others confined to property damage.

Two of the accidents occurred in the Cass City area Saturday.

Leonard James Emmons, 22, of the Cedar Run Road, Gagetown, lost control of his 1964 model car at 5 a.m. at the intersection of Walsh and Hoppe Roads. The car left the road at the intersection and flipped over. Emmons was uninjured but the top and rear window of the automobile were damaged. Emmons received a citation from Tuscola County Sheriff's Deputies charging him with failure to stop in a sure, clear distance.

Cars driven by James David McCreedy, 17, of East Dickerson Road, Unionville and Leslie Stuart Merchant, 18, 5449 North Cemetery Road, Cass City, collided at the open intersection of the Cedar Run and Elmwood Roads at 5:38 p.m. Saturday. McCreedy was heading east on the Elmwood Road with a passenger, Ken Marker, 16, of Dickerson Road, Unionville. Merchant was driving north on the Cedar Run Road. The front of Merchant's car and the right rear door of McCreedy's vehicle were damaged.

Linda Sue Hall, 20, of Gagetown and Frank Enderle, 25, from Owendale, were seriously injured early Sunday morning when the automobile in which they were passengers went out of control on the Caseville Road and rolled over. The car was being driven by Charles Pistro Jr., 26, of Pontiac, formerly of Gagetown. According to the State Police from the Bad Axe Post, Pistro said he fell asleep as he headed south at 2:30 Sunday morning, five miles south of Pigeon. Linda Sue Hall was taken to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon in a semi-conscious condition while Enderle was rushed to Saginaw General Hospital with a compound fracture of the left ankle and possible fracture of the right ankle.

Pistro received abrasions and lacerations and was treated at Scheurer Hospital. The car is a total wreck.

Seek rural leaders for study program

Young rural leaders in Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and LaPeer counties are being sought by Michigan State University to help shape the future of Michigan's rural communities. They may be local government officials, educators, businessmen, professionals, farmers, farmers' wives, laborers, or others interested in developing the potential of rural Michigan. From the names received, a group of up to 35 will be chosen to participate in "New Horizons", a three-year public decision-making study program. Purpose of the program is to provide rural Michigan with the kind of competent leadership it is going to need in the future. Program participants will receive approximately 150 hours of classroom instruction over the three-year period. Classes will be held once a week for eight weeks during the months of January and February. Subject matter will be drawn from such areas as political science, economics, resource development, sociology, and education. In addition to classroom instruction, there will be a special traveling seminar to the Michigan legislature. Optional trips throughout the state and to Washington, D. C., have also been planned. Individuals selected to participate will be awarded three-year fellowships. The fellowships will defray most of the program cost. Each participant will be asked to contribute $60 a year, or a total of $180 for the three-year course. Persons wishing to nominate one or more individuals in their community should send names and addresses to the Tuscola County Extension Office in Caro c/o Bill Bortel. In order to be eligible, a nominee should be between 25 and 35 years of age. He should also have demonstrated some leadership potential, and be interested in the improvement of his community. Nominees will be contacted and encouraged to complete an application. A selection committee will screen the applicants at a later date.

Natural gas ban felt in village

Southeastern Michigan Gas Company has notified all its commercial and industrial customers that large additional commercial and industrial loads required by either existing or prospective customers will not be available. In a letter from Cecil A. Runyan, president, to all commercial and industrial customers, it was pointed out that the natural gas shortage is a shortage of additional supplies and emphasized the word "additional."

Robert J. Thomson, vice president. "The restriction does not at this time apply to residential customers nor to small, incidental increases for all other customers."

"The current shortage of additional supplies is generally attributed to excessively tight price regulation in the production fields. This unrealistic pricing regulation discouraged exploration for new gas reserves. It will take some time to reverse this situation," said Mr. Thomson. "Southeastern's major supplier has estimated that the earliest possible time would be in three years."

AROUND THE FARM

Proper diet prevents milk fever

Dairy cows are sometimes stricken with a mineral disturbance in the blood called milk fever or parturient paresis. Parturient meaning at freshening or giving birth, and paresis meaning paralysis. The malady also occurs in women and other species.

When milk fever occurs the level of calcium and phosphorus in the blood drop below normal. Thus, the disease is primarily a calcium and phosphorus imbalance. The thyroid and parathyroid glands secrete hormones which control the levels of calcium and phosphorus and when these glands fail to work properly milk fever results.

There is considerable evidence the ratio of calcium to phosphorus in the diet during pregnancy and just prior to calving strongly influences the incidence of milk fever in dairy cows.

When the level of calcium in the diet is too high relative to the amount of phosphorus cows are more likely to be stricken with milk fever. The optimum ratio appears to be about 2.3 parts calcium to one part of phosphorus. There is also some evidence that if there is not enough calcium in the diet and the ratio is 1:1 or less the incidence of milk fever may be high.

It has been observed that when dry cows are fed alfalfa as the only forage, half or more of the cows may develop milk fever. Alfalfa and most other legumes contain about 1.5% calcium and only about 0.25% phosphorus or the Ca:P ratio is about 6:1. In some cases it may be 10:1 according to our data. If milk fever is a serious problem then a dairyman should limit the amount of alfalfa fed to dry cows and replace it with some grass hay or corn silage. Also, he should select a mineral supplement that contains very little or no calcium but a liberal amount of phosphorus.

Monsodium phosphate contains no calcium but 22% phosphorus so is first choice as a mineral supplement to narrow the Ca:P ratio towards 2,3 to 1.

Corn silage has a 1:1 Ca:P ratio; therefore, when corn silage is the only roughage fed to dry cows the mineral supplement should have about 2.5 parts Ca:1 part phosphorus. It may contain 30% Ca and 12% phosphorus. When 10 to 15 lbs. of alfalfa are fed with corn silage the mineral supplement can be 1:1 or 1.5 to 1 such as dicalcium phosphate.

Since forages do vary considerably in Ca and P content from farm to farm it would be desirable to have the hay or haylage analyzed for calcium and phosphorus content where milk fever is a serious problem. Then one can formulate a mineral supplement that balances the forages exactly as needed.

Court to settle 134-year old dispute

Legal hassles have a way of dragging over quite a few years. But the states of Michigan and Ohio may be settling a record of some sort with a dispute they are presenting to the United States Supreme Court.

The dispute is 134 years old and involves 200 square miles of water and bottomlands of Lake Erie between Michigan and Ohio.

Normally, the area wouldn't attract that much attention, but geologists say it is rich in deposits of gas and oil, and that has perked up interest in both states.

The dispute started back with the "Toledo War" -- a difference between Michigan and Ohio over where the boundary between the two states should go.

It was resolved by giving Ohio the land it was claiming as the northern part of it but which Michigan said should be made the southern edge of Michigan. In return for agreeing, Michigan received what is now known as the Upper Peninsula.

The final boundary was laid out by a captain named Talcott in the U. S. Corps of Engineers in 1836.

The quarrel now involves which way the boundary extends when it reaches Lake Erie. Ohio claims that it takes a 45 degree turn north and angles out into Lake Erie to the Ontario border.

Michigan says, however, that the line follows the same direction out into the lake as it does between Ohio and Michigan until it hits the Ontario line.

A retired federal judge, Albert B. Maris of Philadelphia, has been appointed by the U.S. Supreme Court to hear arguments in the case and make a recommendation.

VOTING TIME

Despite the large influence which labor wields in Michigan, the state is one of a minority of states which have no legal requirement that workers be given time off to vote on election day.

Many employers allow such time off and many contracts with unions call for it, but there is no legal requirement involved.

This means Michigan is in a minority, since 30 of the 50 states require employers to give time off to vote. In 19 of those states, employers are barred from making a deduction from the worker's check for the time off, also.

The polls will be open from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m. in Michigan as usual on election day. Those hours also, as usual, will mean no liquor sales.

ROADS HELP

The State Highway Department says it deserves part of the credit for the drop in highway traffic deaths in Michigan this year.

It says it has been making the state's highways safer to drive on through a variety of methods.

"We believe that accelerated engineering efforts to provide clearer roadsides and safer highways are a major factor in this dramatic saving of life," says department safety engineer H. H. Cooper.

One of the programs involves the removal of trees from along major routes. Cooper said a recent study by the department showed a one-year reduction in car-tree fatalities from 28 to eight in areas where roadside trees were removed.

He also said the department is continually reducing the potential for rear-end collisions with the addition of passing lanes, turning lanes and provisions for left-turning vehicles

Your action man in Lansing keeps in touch back home

Rep. Roy Spencer doesn't go on junkets. He comes back home to the district every week end to meet with the officials and the voters. He keeps in touch with the problems back home and he takes care of those problems. He's a representative who hasn't forgotten who he represents.

And when he's in Lansing, he's making a record we folks back home can be proud of. Look over these highlights of his past 10 years as our state representative:

- Honored by capitol newsmen as "an outstanding leader."
- Honorary degree Michigan Practical Nurses Association.
- Distinguished Service Award - Michigan Hospital Association.
- Honorary lay membership - Osteopathic physicians and surgeons of Michigan.
- Award of Merit - Michigan Agricultural Conference.
- Endorsement by organizations ranging from the Detroit Board of Commerce to the Teamsters Union.
- Cited by Official Michigan Magazine as a "skilled legislator who gets on well with both political parties."
- Recognized statewide for his efforts to bring equality in education and in school taxes.

-Supported by Michigan Farm Bureau for his efforts to assess agricultural land on agricultural use.

-Won an extra circuit judge and an extra district judge for Lapeer and Tuscola counties.

-Introduced and secured passage of amendments to the state income tax which return over $45 million additional money every year to the counties, townships, cities and villages.

-Co-authored this year's school aid act which will bring an increase of over $1 million a year to the schools of his 78th district.

Without extra aid, additional property taxes would have been levied, or school programs reduced.

Let's keep Roy Spencer as our Action Man in Lansing.

Tests show rank of school, pupils

Cass City students think more of their school than the average student in rural Michigan but attach less importance to achievement in the school.

These were two conclusions drawn from tests administered to last year's fourth and seventh grades.

The results of a single testing may not be significant, Supt. Donald Crouse told members of the school board Monday night when he disclosed the results.

Test results indicate that the fourth grade scored significantly higher than the seventh grade. In basic skills achievement, the fourth grade was consistently above the average and the seventh grade consistently below.

The fourth grade was above the average in vocabulary, reading, mathematics and exactly average in English expression.

The composite basic skills achievement score was 51.51 as compared to the average of 50.71 and the top score of 54.86 and the lowest score of 46.24.

On the other hand, the seventh grade was consistently under the average in the same basic skills. Their composite achievement score was 49 compared to the average of 50.40.

Cass City's teacher-class load was among the heaviest with an average of 29 pupils in classes. The average was 24.31 per class.

In other areas the school compared well. Teachers were well above average in experience. The percentage of teachers with masters' degrees is just under average and the salary was well above average.

The school's operating expense per pupil was 490 as compared to an average of 535 and instructional expense per pupil was also well below the rural average.

The tests were issued on an optional state-wide basis and the schools were classified as either rural or city.

WOW! Hawks rally to post giant upset over Marlette 14-12

SECOND EFFORT HELPED the Hawks Friday against Marlette. Richard "Zike" Miller shook off a couple of tackles and went for a first down on this play after taking a pass from Fred Harbec.

Football took a rosy tinge for Cass City High School this week as the players, fans and coaches basked in the glow of a tremendous upset victory at Marlette last Friday, 14-12.

It was the first victory of the year for Cass City and the first time the team was able to score.

The victory changes the complexion of Friday's homecoming encounter with Vassar at Cass City Recreational Park.

Prior to the upset win the game was rated a toss-up between two losers. Now Cass City has moved into the role for their homecoming encounter against the Vulcans, who are in the Thumb B Conference basement.

Before the game Cass City fans were asking and getting a spot of 30 points as grid pundits looked at the way Cass City was soundly whipped by Sandusky, 34-0, as Marlette took Vassar by a similar score.

But there was little resemblance between Cass City's team last Friday and the one that played Sandusky.

A team meeting called early in the week ironed out problems and the Hawks came to play when they took the field against the Red Raiders.

In the first half it looked like it might be more of the same old story for Hawk supporters.

It was early in the first period when Jeff Schwenenger raced 75 yards to paydirt and the Red Raiders appeared off and running.

The offense was unable to come up with a sustained drive although the team was running the ball better than it had in previous games.

In the first quarter Cass City moved from Marlette's 40 to the 18 in 10 plays before the drive was stopped by a fumble.

In the second the Hawks moved to the Marlette eight-yard line only to be stopped again.

When the Red Raiders got the ball they were able to pick up ground in large chunks. A sustained drive was capped by a touchdown toss from Jerry Smith to Mike Hewitt to cover the final 17 yards.

For most of the first half, Marlette dominated the game. For most of the second half, Cass City dominated.

The Hawks scored their first touchdown in the third quarter with a drive that started on their own 37-yard line and moved to paydirt in 17 plays.

A couple of pinpoint passes from Quarterback Fred Harbec to End Richard "Zike" Miller were keys in keeping the drive alive. Gene Salas knifed over from the one.

Then, midway in the final period, a tremendous punt by Scott Guernsey set up the winning touchdown for Cass City.

Guernsey punted inside the 10-yard line and the defense held. Cass City regained the ball on the Marlette 26 and moved in to score in seven plays. Guernsey scored from the one.

When Harbec tossed complete to Guernsey in the end zone on the try for extra points, Cass City had the vital two points that resulted in the victory.

There were heroes galore for the winning Hawks:

The entire defense that rose up when needed to stymie Marlette's attempt to win the game in the dying moments of the game.

Harbec's passing, a sore point in previous games.

Top receiving and extra effort running by Miller.

Guernsey's play on offense where he averaged 6 1/2 yards per carry and on defense where he led the team in tackles with nine.

Tell plans for gala Home-coming

The traditional festivities that mark Cass City High School's annual Home-coming have been completed, students in charge reported this week.

The theme is "Cartoon Characters Come Alive" and the various class floats are expected to be created with the theme in mind.

Home-coming events will kick-off with the traditional snake dance at 6 p.m. Thursday. The students will wend their way to Cass City Recreational Park where a pep rally will be held.

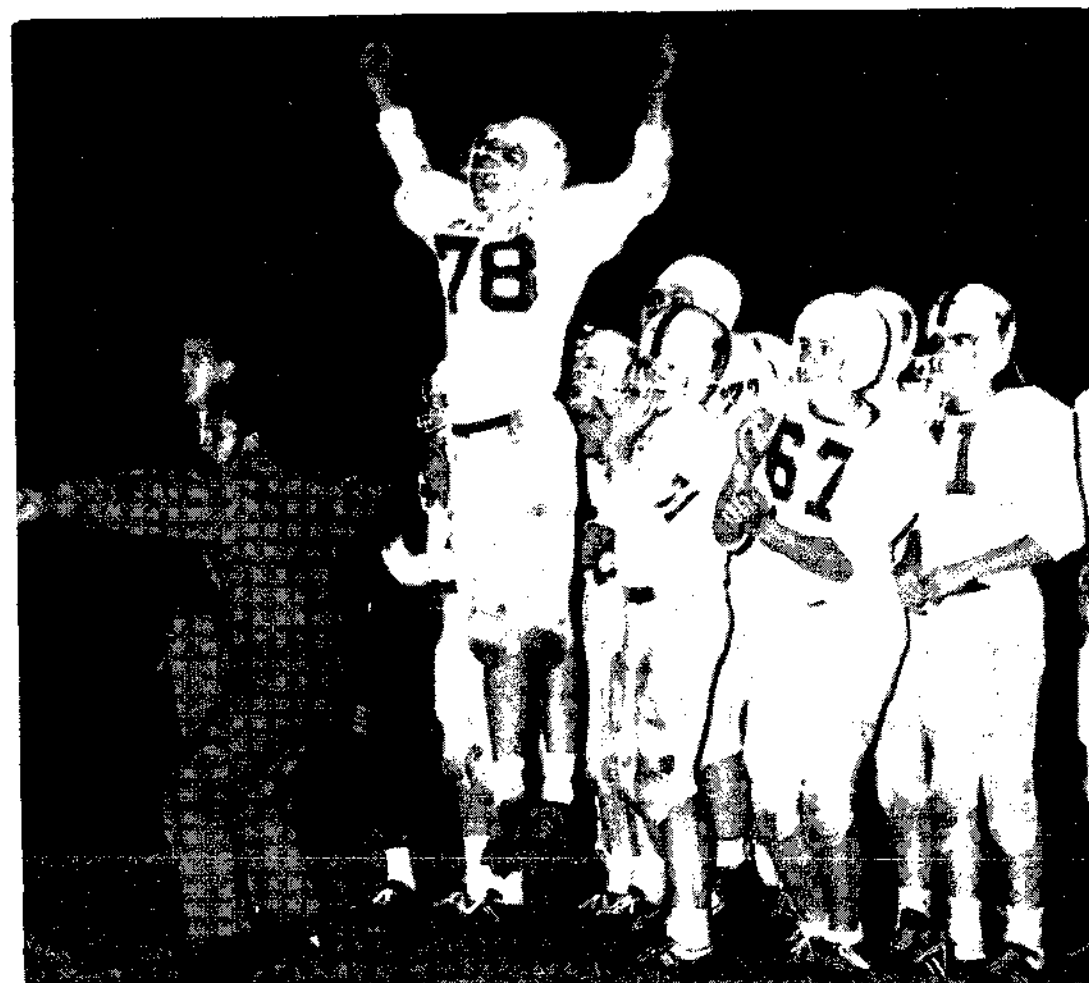

Following the rally the junior varsity football game with Marlette will start.

The floats will be on parade preceding the football game Friday against Vassar at 7 p.m. Between halves the queen will be crowned and float awards presented.

Concluding the celebration will be a home-coming dance at the high school cafeteria featuring the "Mystic Cycle" from Mt. Pleasant.

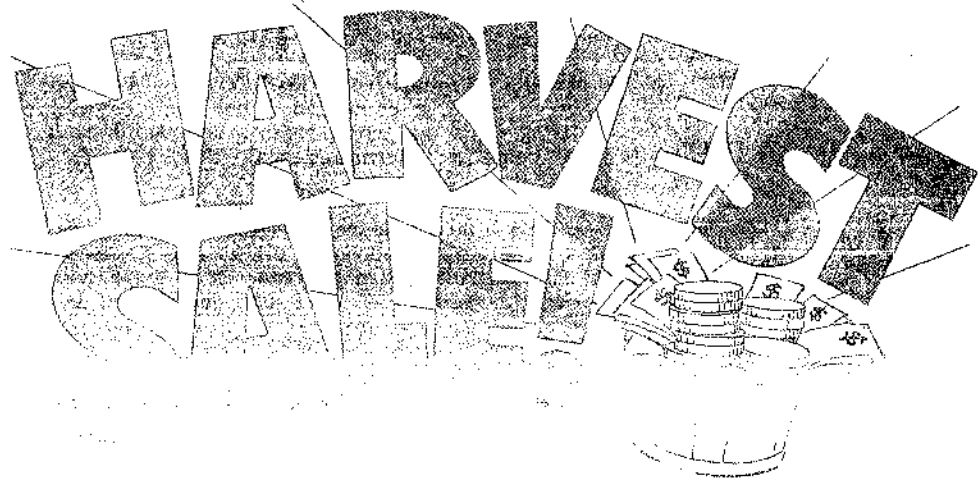

PAUL CLABEUSCH and the Hawks on the sidelines were jubilant when Cass City scored its first touchdown of the season Friday.

WHEN CASS CITY pushed over the tying touchdown the coaches and the players really celebrated. That's Paul Bliss (78), a one-man cheering section, jumping for joy.

"If It Fitz. . ."
Storefront reporters

BY JIM FITZGERALD

TV is full of shows about lawyers who work for free and doctors who make house calls to neighboring countries on Hondas after midnight. But whatever happened to the brash reporter with the flask of gold who used to save the world while wearing a hat with the brim turned up?

The newspaper profession is obviously being ignored by TV producers. Something should be done about it and I am just the clown to do it.

My show will be called "The Young Storefront Reporters". My 3 reporters are a Negro woman, a male Indian teenager, and another young man whose nationality cannot be immediately determined because of all the hair hanging in his face. He is my wild-card character.

At any time during the series he can get a haircut and reveal himself to be a Jew or an Arab or a Viet Cong or even a conservative Republican, whatever seems politically expedient at the time.

These 3 reporters work for a wise, kindly, older (but still sexy!) editor who has ink in his veins. This was discovered during World War 2 and he was thrown out of a Red Cross blood bank on his ear.

This wise editor knows everything but he does not force his will upon young Indian, Negro and Wild Card. He lets them make their own decisions and go their own way, as long as they report back to him 1 minute before each commercial.

"It's the only way," the wise editor explains, "These youngsters must have their freedom to do their thing. And besides, this way they do all the work."

I will play the part of the wise old editor.

A typical plot might concern this young girl who comes into the newspaper office to buy a year's subscription. But it costs $5 and she has only $3. This is a young person with a problem! Indian, Negro and Wild Card leap to her assistance. They really do leap, right over the subscription counter, knocking their wise, kindly editor flat on his ink-stained pants.

Besides being $2 short, the subscriptionless girl also has some minor problems. She's pregnant and unwed. She's on heroin and has VD. She ran away from home 4 years ago and her millionaire parents have not yet noticed she is gone. They have been too busy selling Establishment taffy at the PTA Fair.

And there's a busted string on her guitar.

It would spoil things if I told you how Indian and Negro and Wild Card solve this girl's problems. But you can be sure they get the job done before the wise old editor is back on his ink-stained feet. For details, watch your TV listings.

However, to keep you eager, I will let you in on the ending. Most of the doctor-lawyer shows end with the heroes running down a street. But no one ever knows why they are running. On my show, you'll know.

Indian and Negro and Wild Card are running after a Red Cross bloodmobile which, by mistake, has accepted some of the editor's blood.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ed Doolittle got to talking afore all the fellers got settled at the country store Saturday night, and it was plain from the start that Ed was still worked up over Clem Webster's charge the week afore that the Republicans was making a bigger mess of everthing than the Democrats.

Ed, that allus perduces newspaper clippings for evidence to support all his issues that he thinks can stand supporting, waves a handful of evidence to show the plus side of the Republicans. Ed, fer a start, said the post office change had come about under Nixon, and he allowed if the corporation idee ain't better, it shure can't be worse.

We got boys coming home from Vitnam, said Ed fer another instant, and it looks like Nixon was right about his Cambodie plan.

Ed said he weren't prepared to debate inflation, cause in all his years of reading he never had come to understand over-heated economies that cool too quick, or bears and bulls in the market, or why a feller that could git more credit than he could use one day can't borry a dime the next.

Farthermore, went on Ed, the differunces between the two biggest political parties actual is our best hope. It might be like Bug Hookum said, that we got problems too big to handle, but it's ter shure, claimed Ed, that by keeping a sharp eye on one another, the two parties is giving the problems a look from all sides.

This column writer said the country is divided today as never afore, Ed reported, and even in the Civil War folks jest had to choose between two sides. Now we got so many angles to so many issues till the same feller might be your friend on one and your enemy on the next. Where can you find two Americans, ask Ed, that agree on how to git out of Vitnam, ways to fight inflation, what to do about student riots and dope pushers, birth control, air and water
