2 injured at scene of Cass City school bus crash

Two Cass City persons were injured and a busload of students from Cass City High School stranded in a wreck as winter's worst blizzard struck the area Tuesday bringing all activity to a grinding halt.

The injured were Cass City Police Chief Gene Wilson and Cass Bartnik who were on the scene of the bus-crash accident on M-81, about 1 1/2 miles west of Cass City.

Wilson and Bartnik were run over by motorists unable to stop as they

Seek citizen aid at library

Authorities at the new Rawson Memorial Library are asking the aid of area residents in an effort to stop the vandalism that has occurred at the new facility in Cass City.

The latest in a series of incidents occurred over the week end when a rear door was smeared with black paint and an obscene four-letter word written on the wall of the building.

Previously, a book drop had been damaged, an outside spotlight destroyed and a door lock jimmied.

Mrs. Esther McCullough, a member of the board, was distressed by the senseless damage to "a beautiful facility donated to the community".

The best chance to stop this type of vandalism, authorities said, is to have persons in the neighborhood watch and report the vandals when they see it occur.

Area Salmon run to stop at Caro

It is not likely that local anglers will be fishing for Coho or Chinook Salmon in the Cass River near Cass City, according to authorities of the Department of Natural Resources in Caro.

While plans call for nearly a half million salmon to be planted in the Cass this spring, the best guess is that they will be dumped into the river at Frankenmuth near the river's outlet into the Saginaw River.

If these plans are followed it would be virtually impossible for mature salmon to wend their way up the Cass past Caro when they return in two or three years, the DNR men at Caro say.

The reason, of course, is the dam at Caro. Unless it were opened, it is not possible for the fish to get past it and in the fall, authorities say, if the present pattern is followed the dam will be closed at this time. DNR officials do not expect the dam at Frankenmuth will halt upstream spawning runs.

The DNR has announced that 250,000 Coho and 200,000 Chinook will be planted in the Cass. Qualified observers have called Saginaw River one of the potentially best rivers for Chinook, although the effect of pollution makes the release an experiment.

The half million Salmon to be released makes the plant the largest in tributaries of Lake Huron which will receive a total of 2.1 million fish.

Other near-by areas to receive fish will be Sanilac, 50,000, and Port Hope, 50,000 Cohos.

Lake Huron is the last of the Great Lakes to receive significant plants of Salmon because it was the last of the three lakes to receive lamprey treatments. Control is now great enough so that the planting is practical, DNR officials said.

approached the accident area. Apparently neither man was seriously injured. However, the extent of Bartnik's injuries will not be known until X-rays are evaluated, members of the family said. Wilson suffered no broken bones.

He was still a patient at Hills and Dales hospital Wednesday, but was expected to be released soon, probably Thursday, reliable sources said.

Wilson was struck by a car driven by Dr. William DeYoung of Saginaw who was following another vehicle. The unidentified car hit Bartnik and did not stop. Police are looking for the hit and run driver.

Identification of the car is difficult because of the blinding snow that at times virtually obliterated vision.

The bus accident occurred when a car was halted in the road in front of the bus which was headed west. According to one student on the bus, the driver, Mrs. Louise Brown applied the brakes to the bus and it slid on the slippery road. Unable to stop, she attempted to go around the car. Approaching from the west was a car driven by Denise Rasmussen, Sebewing.

The right front of the bus hit the approaching car. Miss Rasmussen, her two sisters, Janet and Nancy, received minor injuries.

Steve Dillon, one of the bus passengers, said that the impact sent books flying around the bus but did not jolt any of the passengers out of their seats.

The authorities were notified by three students, Ken Marker, Jim McCreedy and Rick Dillon, who walked to the home of William Bliss to telephone.

The accident occurred at about 9:10 a. m. as the children were being returned from school and a relief bus picked up the students at about 9:50 a. m., according to Miss Joan Russell, another passenger.

Most school authorities were caught unaware by the storm as it moved in about 7:30 a. m. and steadily grew worse throughout most of the day.

Unionville-Sebewing and Owen-Gage were the first to close shortly before 8 a. m. and Cass City and Kingston were closed at 8:20 and the students started on their return home.

Other schools closed throughout the day. Vassar was apparently the last school to close at 1:30 p. m.

There was a school bus accident in Huron county as a Sebewing bus driven by Fay Nimitz struck a semi-trailer truck on M-25 and Stine Road.

No injuries were reported and students were taken to near-by homes until relief arrived. A Vassar school bus was in a minor accident at M-15 at Cantrall Road.

The blizzard caused a raft of minor accidents. Tuesday afternoon 24 were reported with only one minor injury. Side roads were impassable and M-81 and M-46 were blocked at

Kilbourn hurt on snowmobile

Snowmobile accidents continued to take a toll among area residents. Tuesday at 3 p. m. Jim Kilbourn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Kilbourn, was treated at Hills and Dales General Hospital for severe injuries to his leg and for facial laceration.

Kilbourn was a passenger on a snow machine driven by Allan Hartwick, Deford, which ran into the back of a pickup truck near Deford.

The driver was thrown clear, but Kilbourn was pinned under the snowmobile.

In Wells township, Kari Larson, 11, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Larson, suffered a compound fracture of the leg when the snowmobile she was riding stalled at the rise of a hill on M-46, west of Kingston, and was rammed by another machine coming over the crest.

Kari was a passenger on a machine driven by Carol Shaver, 23, of Milford.

Blizzard stymies machine repair at Chronicle

You'll notice something different about the Chronicle this week and, believe it or not, it was indirectly caused by Tuesday's blizzard.

Readers will easily note three different type styles in the paper and see some of the copy with ragged right edges.

Emergency measures were required when our machine various times. The problem was compounded by the visibility which was so poor that the Tuscola County Road Commission ordered all plows off the road after two near accidents.

In Sanilac county on M-53, near Burnside Road, south of Marlette, Sandusky State Police reported 22 cars and a number of tanker trucks involved in an accident blocking M-53 from the south. A car hit a snow bank and the other vehicles piled up behind it.

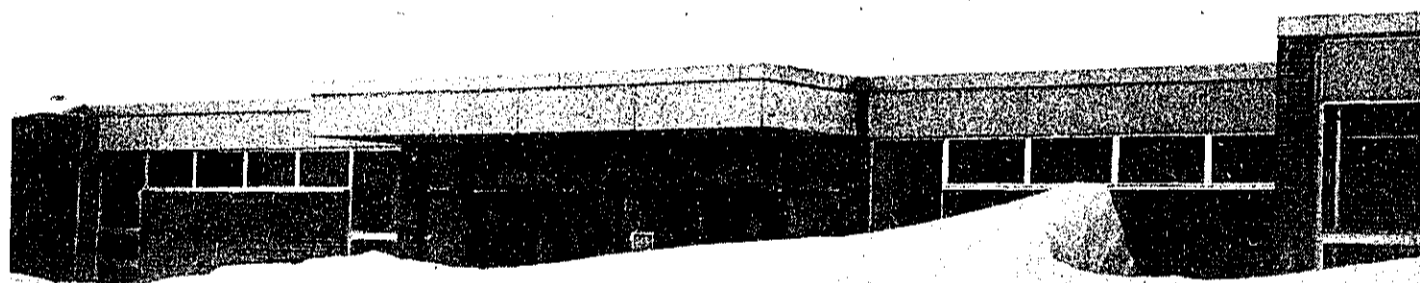

The blizzard conditions prevailed over all of southern Michigan and while the snowfall was estimated at only 2 to 4 inches, they were pushed by winds that gusted from 40 to 60 miles per hour.

THE CASS CITY SCHOOL bus was damaged by the collision Tuesday morning, but the students were uninjured.

THE CAR ON the left is about 10 feet off the road following the accident involving the Cass City School bus. Everything was obscured by the wind driven snow.

SCHOOL CLOSED Tuesday and Wednesday, and Thursday opening was in doubt because of huge drifts like this one blocking the front door of Cass City High School. However, Supt. Donald Crouse reported that school will be held Friday, a day originally scheduled to be a holiday for the students.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

There are a million and one cures for the common cold. I know because all but a couple have been suggested to me.

I've only had one cold this winter. . . It started in November and I've still got it.

Sometimes having a cold can be worse than the flu. At least with the flu you have a chance to go to bed and stay there.

With my cold everyone, including my wife (especially my wife) feels that it's not all that bad. They don't say it but the impression lingers that they feel that the cold is caused by complications that stem from not cleaning the garage, not shoveling the sidewalk and not checking to see why the cold draft seeps through the bedroom window. (It's probably caused by the storm window that still nestles securely in the garage.)

Personally I sort of feel that recovery has been complicated by my diet. It's a lack of nourishment, that's what it is.

There are guys that go along with this. James Molnar, the manager at Sherwood Forest Country Club, in Gageton, is one. He feels that what I need is liquid nourishment. . . . shots of bourbon with straight water for a chaser to take care of all my miseries.

But I discount this sage advice. . . after all, he does sell the stuff. . . and he might be prejudiced. Anyway he had a cold this winter, too.

A favorite recipe for curing colds in the Haire family is to take a mentholated salve and rub it over your chest, nose, throat and any other exposed areas before you go to bed.

I've never known this to have any effect on a cold other than to take your mind off it while you suffer from the medication.

But then what does? An antibiotic will help with the flu and penicillin helps cure pneumonia. Those cough medicines, throat lozenges, antihistamine and decongestant tablets bring, to quote the ads, fast temporary relief. . . but you can't take them all winter, can you?

There are a million and one cold cures and almost as many methods used to keep from coming down with one.

Cold shots, flu shots, hot water at bedtime, cold water at bedtime, a hot breakfast, a cold breakfast, no breakfast, heavy underwear, light underwear, exercise, no exercise. . . everyone has a pet formula. . . and a cold.

There are a selected few who coast by all winter without a semblance of the sniffles, Alger Freiburger is one. This is his sixth year without one, he says.

And his formula is no secret. He's glad to tell you about it and gloat. He was a devotee of the vitamin C cult before it became the current cold cure-all that is the in-thing today.

Since I started with those vitamin C tablets, colds have just disappeared, Alger says, and they will for you, too. Please pass the oranges.

Balls determined hemophiliac children will lead normal lives

Walk into the home of the Roger Balls in Cass City and everything looks normal. It's an average neat, well cared for home with an attractive mother and three small children doing things that children of their age do in homes everywhere.

And that's the way the Balls want it to be. . . even though two of the children suffer from comparatively rare Hemophilia.

Hemophilia is the disease that keeps the blood from clotting properly and 3 1/2-year-old Tony and year-old Sean suffer from it.

And while the Balls go to great lengths to see that the children have a normal home life, the disease has been of dominant concern to the parents.

It caused them to move from Saginaw to Ann Arbor so that Tony could be close to University Hospital for treatment and has required that Mrs. Ball keep a weather eye out for Tony and Sean.

Hemophilia is a comparatively rare disease and little is really known about it. I didn't even know what it was, Mrs. Ball said, before I took Tony to the doctor and tests showed why he suffered such pain from small bruises.

Contrary to the common conception of hemophilia, the biggest worry is not that the children will cut themselves and bleed to death. The biggest heartache is caused by bumps and bruises.

When Tony wakes up in the morning with an ugly painful bruise that will not heal. . . that's the worst part of being hemophiliac.

This one on his wrist, Mrs. Ball said, as she lifted Tony's arm to disclose a walnut size bump, is nearly better now but it was much worse when we discovered it one morning. He did it in his sleep and we don't even know how it happened.

Since the Balls discovered that Tony was afflicted they have learned to judge the seriousness of the bruise by looking at it.

Many times packing the spot with ice will suffice and there will be no need for a flying trip to the doctor for a change in the anti-hemophilic globin formula for the boy.

When it is, the family must go to Deckerville. That's because the disease is so rare that most doctors don't store the proper medicine to cure it, Mrs. Ball explained.

As far as I know, she added, Tony and Sean are the only cases in the Thumb and I only knew of one other case in Saginaw when we lived there.

There may have been more, because some people try to hide it, she explained, although I can't imagine why.

Hemophilia is a disease that nearly always strikes men. It is hereditary and women are the carriers, Mrs. Ball says that as far as she can tell no one in her family has ever had the disease.

That's probably why the family didn't discover that Tony suffered from it until he started walking around.

For this is the period when the child naturally received more bruises. Little Sean is at this stage now, but the Balls are prepared for it.

Yet, there is relatively little that can be done.

Constantly warning them about being careful could very well give the kids a complex, Mrs. Ball said, and everyone in the field warns us against it.

All you can do really, is let them learn for themselves what they can do and then care for them when they are suffering.

There are three types of hemophilia and the Ball children have the most severe. But with the proper medication, bleeding is controlled and operations, if necessary, can be performed.

There is nothing that medical science knows about now that can cure the condition, but it is possible for afflicted persons to lead a nearly normal life.

And the Balls are determined that Tony and Sean will lead one.

TWO OF THE THREE children of the Roger Ball family, Cass City, are suffering from hemophilia. Tony, left, one of the three-year-old twins, and baby Sean are afflicted while Stacey, right, has escaped the disease. Mrs. Ball tells the story this week.

"If It Fitz. . ."

Is he the father?

BY JIM FITZGERALD

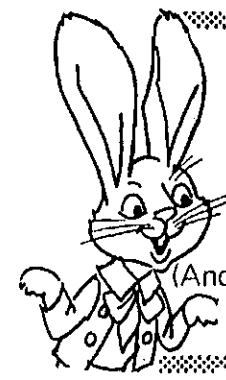

I'd forgotten the pure pleasure of watching a nude girl take a bath.
 (I haven't forgotten how to make you read beyond the first paragraph though, have I?)
 Anyway, the girl is 17 months old. Her name is Michele and she is my granddaughter. She is also my wife's granddaughter but only when she cries or needs changing. Michele is spending a week with us while her young mother tends at the bedside of her husband who busted his knee playing college football (I always warned her that young marriages are risky but there you are).
 It's been 9 years or so, depending on your criteria, since a baby lived at our house. It's hard to say exactly when our youngest child ceased to be a baby but I remember getting suspicious when he began changing his own diapers and heating his own bottle.
 Michele's visit has reminded me of all those things I'd forgotten. . . .
 I'd forgotten how it feels to hear a baby cry at 3 a. m. It took me a few seconds to remember what to do. What you do is push your foot softly to the south. If this doesn't work, you kick more firmly. Finally, your wife wakes up.

You then tell her the baby is crying.
 I'd forgotten about that spot on a baby's neck, up under the chin, not far from the ear. That's where you nuzzle a baby. It feels just great.
 I'd forgotten the crunchy sound of cookie crumbs underfoot.
 I'd forgotten how your heart stops, and then pounds in instant panic, when you hear a baby scream and the sound of a small body going bump, bump, bump. "My God, she's fallen down the basement stairs!" (She fell only 2 steps; her doll went the rest of the way. Whew!)
 I'd forgotten to look before I sit. Have you ever sat on an abandoned popsicle?
 I'd forgotten a grown man can somehow enjoy eating his dinner while watching a kid with a runny nose stick her face in a bowl of chocolate pudding.
 I'd forgotten that the most beautiful babies have fat stomachs and no behinds and, once they get walking fast, it is a fact of gravity that they are going to fall down, bam. I'd forgotten that adults are supposed to look the other way when these falls occur. This somehow is supposed to make the baby think she is not hurt.

I keep forgetting and picking the kid up and kissing her sore spot and mouthing silly "there-there-baby" words that I'd hate to have overheard in the Alibi Bar.
 I'd forgotten how grand it feels to return home from work and be greeted by a little kid who wants to climb up your legs and stick her fingers in your nose. I'd forgotten that babies don't watch TV and you don't have to knock on their heads before you say hello.
 I'd forgotten the goofy pride of taking a baby into a restaurant and having strangers look at her and smile. I react modestly to such attention, bowing from the waist only after repeated applause. Inside my fat head I am hoping everyone will think I am the father, not the grandfather, for gosh sakes.
 And I'd forgotten the marvelous innocence of a small baby; the trust and the dependence and the eagerness to love and be loved. I'd forgotten that some smart adult like me must teach babies how to hate and who to hate. I hope everyone else forgets, too.
 Having a grandchild is Onward and Upward.

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

After reading in this column of trivia last week that he wasn't going to tell me anything, Duane Chippi this week changed his mind. He now has a little item of interest to report. In fact 11 items. The Chippi family lost the family dog awhile back and decided to do without. . . . until a stray mongrel made an appearance and wormed its way into the family garage and hearts, Duane says.

Then just recently a litter of 10 pups arrived. Now the Chippis have 11 dogs and no place to park their car.
 There are 10 pups available free to anyone who wants one. Just come over and pick yours out.

This has to be a record. General Telephone dispatches a man from Owosso at regular intervals to pick up coins from pay phones. The other day the transmission went up on a '71 model vehicle and it was impossible for the car to be driven forward. The car balked in Caseville and the driver normally spends the night in Cass City before completing his route the next day back to Owosso.

Undaunted, he set his flashers blinking and backed up from Caseville to Cass City. Although he was stopped in Cass City, he went the entire 31 miles without getting a ticket.

When asked why, he said he was looking for a place to park. He found one: the car was taken to Bulen Motors for repairs.

Gary Christner is an accountant, councilman and snowmobiler. . . not necessarily in that order.

A couple of weeks ago at the coffee table, Gary remarked that snow machines don't cost all that much to keep up. He went on to explain that nothing had ever gone wrong with his old one.

He bought a new 1971 machine bigger than his old one, naturally, and brought it back to the dealer to seek minor adjustments for better performance.

While at the dealer's the machine was run over by a tractor.

That 10-8 cage victory by the Upper Peninsula's Mattawan over Parchment in eight overtimes, that received plenty of ink in the big Detroit dailies and other papers state-wide, has a Cass City flavor.

The coach of the winners who devised the strategy comes from Cass City. He is David Binder, who graduated from Cass City High School and played basketball here. His mother is Mrs. Lois Binder.

I haven't yet seen the newest trend in women's clothes in Cass City: hot pants. Perhaps there aren't any. But as sure as women are women they will be here soon.

Anyway, the Chronicle would like a picture of the current fashion. Just call and I'll take this picture myself. In some ways my devotion to duty is amazing.

Economists at Purdue University figure a family of four can eat well spending $146.70 a month on food.

This figures out to $13.10 a week for a teen-age boy, $5.70 for a child from one to three years of age, $8.40 for children six to nine, and nearly $10 for children nine to 12. The 12 to 15 year olds consume between $11 and $12 worth of groceries a week. Dad? His food costs amount to $11.30 a week. And Mom? Her bill is $9.80.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

They are some pritty rough weather around the country right now, Mister Editor, and for some reason winter was on the mind of some of the fellers at the country store Saturday night. The session was give mostly to bits and snatches of fact and fiction, but they might of been a few grains in the chaff.

There was Ed Doolittle, fer instant, that allowed this is the time of year fer the hot stove league in ever sport. Practical speaking, it is a time to say instead of do and folks allus is more likely to join in til it comes to the doing. Sitting around in the store, Ed said he recollected that Thomas Jefferson found time to invent while he was writing and saying all them things that made him famous. Ed said Jefferson invented the swivel chair, and sitting and talking being the relaxing sport it is, he figgered the swivel chair went a long way to undoing all the good old Thomas done. You give a man a swivel chair, said Ed, and he feels the call to set hisself up as the head of everthing. You walk in a bank and see the feller swinging way back in his chair and turning slow from one side to the other, and you may as well go look somewhere else fer help.

Zeke Grubb was agreed with Ed that dealing with a feller in a swivel chair is like dropping beans in the top of a moving bottle. You can't pin down a man that keeps swinging ever which way. Furthermore, said Zeke, he was of a mind that taking swivel chairs out of offices of all politicians would go a long way to gitting them to stick by their promises instead of swinging from one excuse to another.

Clem Webster said winter reminds him of the story of the feller that had a houseful of younguns. When he was ask why he kept having em, he said it was on account of the train. He said the freight rattled by his house ever morning at 4 o'clock and it was too early to git up and too late to go back to sleep. Clem said January is that train running through the year. It's too late to do all the things we didn't git done last year, and it's too early to git started on this year, so we jest set and talk, was Clem's words.

Talking about fishing, Zeke said he was reminded of the feller that claimed his catch was so big that a picture of the fish weighed 40 pound. Ed got Zeke on the board of directors of the liars club some years back, and the fellers was agreed fer good reason. Zeke's fish story brung to Ed's mind the feller that told the judge he got caught fer speeding cause he was in a hurry to git to his mother-in-law's house.

Like I said, Mister Editor, the session was used fer catching up loose ends. I shore hope the world can hold out a hole week without their advice.

Yours truly,
 Uncle Tim

It's amazing how many heavy-weight champions of the world in boxing history have had either first or last names beginning with the letter "J". . . It's odd how many there are -- John L. Sullivan, James J. Corbett, James J. Jeffries, Jack Johnson, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Jack Sharkey, James J. Braddock, Joe Louis, Joe Walcott, Ingemar Johansson and Joe Frazier!

There was once a race horse named "Win-Em-All" who raced in various races around the country, and one year didn't win any!

Of all the competitive sports, which one has the most people participating in it? . . . Answer is bowling. . . Latest estimates show that about 40-million Americans or about 20% of the population bowl on a frequent basis.

ONE FOR THE ROAD

NATO security edgy after theft

By Dan Marlowe

Newspapers are one of the finest sources of story material for fiction writers.

Occasionally the factual story they report is so bizarre that any sensible fiction editor would turn down a manuscript of such a "story" as too improbable. Exactly this type of situation is unfolding in West Germany right now, and any self-respecting suspense fiction writer would promptly title it "The Case of The Missing Sidewinder."

A Sidewinder, for the uninitiated, is a U. S. air-to-air missile which is 9 1/2 feet long and weighs 165 pounds, an item substantial enough to preclude a hip-pocket operation when its theft is planned. Nevertheless Communist agents managed the liberation of a Sidewinder in a manner so casual as to defy belief if it were not part of a documented court record.

The theft took place at a North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) base near Neuburg, Germany. Three men drove up in a car to the air base and parked near a fence enclosing a building in which Sidewinders were stored. Two men climbed the fence, broke into the building, and carried out a Sidewinder which with the help of their colleague they lifted over the fence and placed in the car. The 9 1/2 foot length proved awkward so they smashed the car's rear window to permit the nose of the missile to stick out. This was then covered with a bit of carpeting, and the trio drove off. Eventually they sent the Sidewinder to Moscow via ordinary air freight.

The ease with which the affair was managed hinted strongly at collusion by highly placed officials. Delving into the matter, the West German federal prosecutor found several wormy apples in the barrel. There is increasing concern over the possibility of a major spy scandal. Four officials have committed suicide in the past few weeks, and a retired admiral under investigation on spy charges was found shot to death in still unexplained circumstances.

The body of the most recent suicide, a senior clerk in the defense ministry, was found on the shore of the Rhine River between Bonn and Cologne. Defense officials still contend that his death wasn't connected with security matters, but those in charge of security aren't nearly so sure.

The three men who stole the missile are under arrest, although one has been identified only as Mr. X. The other two were a West German airline pilot and a Polish mechanic. The same men stole two navigational devices from the American - designed F-104 Starfighter last year and shipped them to Moscow as "tourist luggage." One device was carried off in broad daylight from a display at the Hanover Fair, again hinting at official connivance.

Like the bulk of an iceberg, seven-eighths of the affair almost assuredly continues to be hidden below the surface. Nevertheless NATO security forces are bound to be twitching nervously these days, wondering how many other spies have penetrated their bases.

And Mr. X and Company stand ready-made as protagonists for a fiction writer's next spy novel.

To avoid disappointment learn to expect the unexpected.

Mini college to answer varied questions

Are you able to take perfect pictures? or do you have trouble centering your subject? Do you select the background with care? Are there teenagers in your home who seem to speak a different language? or are the communication lines between you and the teenager free and clear? Are you confused by terms such as straight-life, term insurance or endowment life?

Area residents will have an opportunity to get the answers to these varied questions and many more at Mini-College Day, to be held Saturday, Feb. 13, 1971 at the Cass City Senior High School.

Everyone attending will be able to choose to attend any two of the five classes offered.

The class "Photography" may interest you if you want to learn how to take good pictures. Mr. Richard Carson, reporter-photographer for the Huron Daily Tribune in Bad Axe is the instructor for this class.

Dr. Eugene Peisner, Extension Specialist, Department of Family and Child Sciences, Michigan State University will teach the class "Parent-Teen Communications".

The class "Life Insurance" will be taught by E. Leon Harris, C. L. U. Mr. Harris is currently an instructor at Delta College.

Other classes offered include "Design Dimension in Fabrics" and "Enforcing Michigan Food Laws".

A very interesting Luncheon Program will be presented by Mrs. Janice Herron a hair stylist.

BETTER HEALTH

No evidence of male menopause

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

I often read of aging men who are supposed to be going through the change of life, but I could never believe that there is such a change in men. For one thing, they don't have the shrinkage of the sex glands that women have with their menopause. In a woman, the menstruation stops and the woman can no longer become pregnant. Her ovaries become atrophied (shrunken) and no longer produce ova, the tiny eggs that when fertilized by the male's spermatozoa, develop into a baby. Men have no equivalent shrinkage of their testes. Most of them retain a desire for sexual intercourse and remain fertile into their 70s and perhaps their 80s. Their testes keep making the spermatozoa that can fertilize a woman's ova. Some women, when they stop menstruating, have almost no distress at all. Perhaps they retain enough ovarian function to keep them comfortable. I have seen many such women who came into my office to tell me of typical menopausal symptoms when they were 60 or so. My impression then was that when their ovaries shrunk, they still supplied some female hormone, or perhaps the adrenal glands supplied a hormone that kept the woman comfortable.

I have talked to many men who around the age of 50 became a bit depressed and perhaps more interested in sex than they had been in their 40s, but my impression after long chats with such a man was that his depression was due to questions that arose in his life, in his home or his business. So often in his 50s a man gets to wondering if he is doing the work that he should be doing or wants to do. Dissatisfactions with his boss and perhaps his wife are often very disturbing.

Some psychologists have faced these facts and have wondered if perhaps the so-called menopause in men was due to the two problems that come up when the man's business though very successful has begun to bore him, or when the children have gone to school, and the man and his wife have been alone. I have talked to a number of men dissatisfied at age 50, when they had made a fortune. They told me they wanted much to change and stop just making money. They would like to use their time and skill being of some service to their fellow-man and their country. Many told me, "I have made my pile; I don't want to make any more; now find me something interesting and worthwhile to do."

FEMALE HORMONE

I was glad when some two years ago at a national meeting of obstetricians and gynecologists, the men agreed that they really didn't have enough evidence so that they needed to worry about producing cancer with female hormone. As a result many physicians are now recommending that women with a severe menstrual "storm" keep taking female hormone for the rest of their days. It can keep their tissues in a youthful state. One of the best things the female hormone may do is to keep the woman's spinal bones from losing so much lime that her upper spine can collapse enough to give her a "buffalo hump". In another 20 years nearly all women over age 48 may be taking a little female hormone each day.

One reason why I do not fear giving female hormone is that if a substance which "commonly produces cancer in women" had been given to hundreds of thousands of them from about 1940 to 1970, there ought to be a rise in the curve for the incidence of cancer—one of the curves that has just been put out by the United States Census of 1970. I consulted these curves and to my great content I found that some of the curves for women, instead of going up, had gone decidedly down. For instance, the curve for cancer of the womb has gone way down, perhaps because of the Pap smear (examination of cells in mucus taken from the neck of the womb) which has warned women in time that cancerous or precancerous cells were beginning to grow in the necks of their wombs.

The fact that the curve could be altered by the taking of a certain drug was shown me very clearly by looking at the curve for the mortality from cancer of the lungs in men in America. That curve has shot up spectacularly; in women it is just beginning to go up. Yet another reason why it seems obvious to me that female hormone given to women will not cause cancer is that all normal women have been full of female hormone (made in their ovaries) from the age perhaps of 14 to the age of 48. Strangely, no one seems to have thought of that.

In the old days doctors used to give female hormone mainly or entirely by hypodermic injections, but for years I have been giving the drug by mouth and it works perfectly well that way.

New system for assessing farms

By Don Kebler

Recently an article appeared in the newspaper telling the Tuscola county people of a newly revised system for evaluating agricultural use properties for tax assessing purposes.

This system was developed by your County Equalization Department Director, Mac O'Dell, with the assistance of Cyril Jacob; Work Unit Conservationist; and myself. This new system will be explained to the farm property owners of Tuscola county at any one of these four different meetings to be held:

February 18, 1971 - Akron Elementary School Auditorium, 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

February 18, 1971 - Vassar High School from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

February 25, 1971 - Cass City High School auditorium, 1:30 p. m. to 3:30 p. m.

February 25, 1971 - Kings-ton High School from 7:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m.

Each meeting is purposed to familiarize the people with this new system which applies a soil productivity factor to the previous system used. With this system some farms could have an increase valuation and some a reduction. However, the system should give a greater equitability because of the soil capability and productivity factors applied at assessing time. These meetings are for the public and working with us to bring these meetings to the public are the members of the Tuscola county National Farmers Organization and the Tuscola County Farm Bureau.

Final preparations are complete for this winter's Estate Planning and property transfer shortcourse. The two sessions are scheduled for Feb. 19 and 26 at the Wilber Memorial 4-H Building from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. A $2.00 lunch will be served by the 4-H Mothers' Club. Advance reservations with meal fees must be made by those interested by Feb. 17. Make check payable to the Extension office. The first session is geared for both farm and non-farm people, both husbands and wives. The second meeting both farm and non-farm people can attend but is more designed for the farm families. If you attend this is what will be presented by Extension Specialists, an attorney, Judge of Probate, Trust Officer and an insurance representative: Why develop an estate plan? What is your estate? Who gets what at your death and how? How do inheritance and estate taxes effect your estate? What is probate? How can you build an estate? How can you transfer an estate? Trust tool in your estate planning, life insurance in your estate plan, and How can you transfer the farm business? Inquire at or send reservations to your County Extension Office, Civil Defense Center, Caro, Michigan, 48723.

New Clubs—leaders needed

BY BERNARD JARDOT

Most 4-H members who belonged to 4-H clubs 10 years ago would have a hard time recognizing most of the typical 4-H clubs today. Certainly, during the past few years 4-H has become more flexible, with things like year-round programs, short-term intensive project groups, TV series, special school groups, and several self-determined projects. For instance talks and demonstrations are seldom about calves and pigs, for it is not at all unusual to witness a demonstration on how to make pictures or how to operate a camera.

The variety of projects is more widely noticed in the newer urban clubs than in the older established rural clubs. 4-H club work has changed, as have the times and the people. Young people need clubs, friends, recognition, responsibility and the chance to express themselves. They need to enjoy life in one of the most wholesome of all ways - that of meeting and fellowship with other young people of high standards and ideals. 4-H has changed so that urban young people are granted equal opportunity to receive what rural 4-H young people have enjoyed for years.

As we reach out to serve more youth, we'll need many more leaders - adult and teen leaders. The big difference will be in the variety of leaders, advisors, resource people, teen leaders, committees and training programs involved in 4-H. Quality and worth of 4-H during the 70's will depend largely on how well we plan for change and continuity. 4-H's future strength lies somewhere in between.

List 2 new threats to corn crop

Southern corn leaf blight (SCLB) and yellow leaf blight (YLB) are the most recent threats to Michigan's 1971 corn crop, notes Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Agricultural Agent.

Corn leaf diseases in Michigan are a complex of four distinct diseases - SCLB, YLB, northern corn leaf blight and eye spot. Controlling only one of these diseases does not solve the total problem.

Planting seed with normal cytoplasm is the best means of combating SCLB in 1971, states Bill Bortel. Cultural control such as rotation and fall plowing is not very effective. For effective chemical control, the fungicide must be on the leaf when the fungus germinates. This involves prohibitive spraying costs for corn growers.

Control of YLB with fungicides does not appear to be economical either. However, plowing helps hold down the disease. The fungus overwinters in corn plant residue, and if residues are left on the surface, the disease readily spreads to young corn plants. Adequate nutrition and healthy, extensive root systems should also help in YLB reduction.

SCLB, YLB, northern corn leaf spot, smut, stalk rot and lodging, ear rot and other corn diseases were among the topics discussed at Tuscola's corn clinics last week.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

A new owner will enter the Cass City business scene March 1 when Ferris Ware, 33, takes over the Western Auto Store in the village.

Mike Swedo, Evans Products Company official for the past year, has been named plant manager, replacing Jerald Stroupe, plant manager for the past six years.

Stanley Wills, Greenleaf Township Supervisor, announced that he was retiring from the board after 25 years of service to the people of the Sanilac county township. An estimated $100 damage was caused in an early morning fire at the James Jenkins home on Garfield Street.

The Village of Cass City expects to have more money to spend this year than ever before in its history, but a tentative look at the budget at the council meeting revealed that there may not be enough to do everything that the village would like to accomplish in 1966.

TEN YEARS AGO

Officers elected for the Ladies Aid at the Novesta Church of Christ were: Mrs. Albert Englehart, president; Mrs. Clark Zinnecker, vice-president; Mrs. Charles Peasley, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Leo Ware, devotional leader, and Mrs. Mack Little, publicity chairman.

Ten members of the Art Club met with Mrs. Albert Whitfield following a chicken dinner at the Fraser Presbyterian Church.

Bonnie Copeland, Mary Lou Crawford, Bill Dobbs, Linda Hulien and Tom Jones were among some 90 musicians from high schools in Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac counties selected to play in the Tri-County Honors Band at Sebawaing.

Maxine Loney, who underwent an eye operation, returned home from St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw.

Jacqueline Jamieson had as guests at a pajama party Cathy LaRoche, Janet Russell, Jane Laurie and Kerry Armstead.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Village trustees, in a special session voted to submit to voters the proposition of bonding the municipality for the purpose of purchasing and installing a water softening plant in connection with the village waterworks.

Capt. William N. Spencer, on terminal leave until Feb. 14, when he retains his commission in the reserve corps, has been visiting his parents in Cass City and expects to leave soon for San Francisco, Calif., from that point he will go to Manila where he has a position with the Philippine Air Lines as first pilot.

Those who attended the debating tournament at Michigan State College at East Lansing were: Marjorie Kettlewell, Bill Benkelman, Isabel Martin, Wilbur Silvernal, Shirley Hudson, Gene Mercer, Albert MacPhail, Joe Jones, Bill Sangster, Don Anker and debating coach at Cass City High School, Norwood Eastman.

All three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Gruber, who have been serving in the Pacific theater of war, have been discharged and returned to civilian life.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ottaway, former residents of Grant township, will observe their 60th wedding anniversary at their home in Sebawaing.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

John McGregor, who lives four miles north and one-half mile west of Deckerville, suffered a paralytic stroke four years ago and has been crippled since that time, passed away some of the time by keeping a record of the number of callers he had. The grand total for four years was 10,861.

Several Methodist families here have received cards from Rev. and Mrs. George Hill, who have been spending the time since last October in England, Mr. Hill's native land.

Henry Tate and son Bud returned from Onaway after spending several days there because of the serious illness of Mr. Tate's mother.

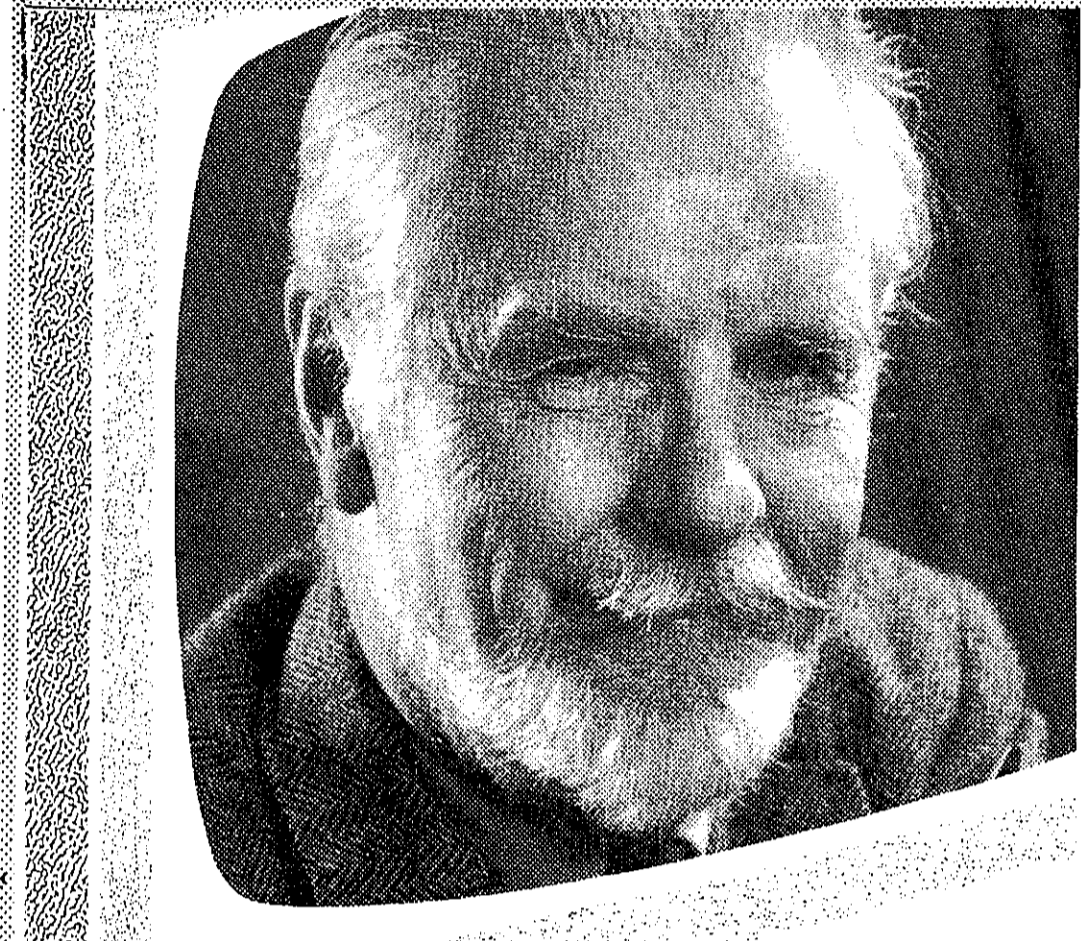

John A. Day of Cass City has been appointed chairman of the finance committee for the 1936 Junior Prom at Michigan State College.

The young people of the Methodist church held a party in the parlors of the church in honor of Miss Edna Whale, who expects to leave to make her home in Pontiac.

Someone to thank

"God is a product of man's imagination," announced the dignified intellectual who occupied our TV screen. "God isn't dead," he argued as our children watched. "He was never alive!" Mary and I felt that Christian children such as ours should realize that not everyone believes in God. Perhaps, knowing this, they could better understand the state of the world. We would encourage and answer their questions as best we could, confident that God would not allow their faith to be destroyed. Later, before I tucked Kristen into bed, she clasped her hands and closed her eyes. "Dear Lord," she prayed, "Thank you for Mommy and Daddy. Thank you for Zoomie (her goldfish) and Toddy and my new dress..." She stopped suddenly, and I raised questioning eyes to her. "Daddy," she said anxiously, "that man on TV doesn't have anyone to thank!" Do you have Someone to thank? Come to church this Sunday.

Reader submits views about education

Editor's note: This article is reprinted from the Wall Street Journal and was submitted by W. E. Walpole, president of Walbro Corporation, who notes that he feels it contains many worthwhile ideas.

Kenneth C. MacArthur, headmaster of Hackley School, Tarrytown, N. J., writing a letter to parents of children who are about to enter school:

Over the past several years all schools and colleges have been greatly beleaguered on all sides. Students, particularly, have been questioning the old order and advocating sweeping reforms. While the freshness of their views has offered all education many useful suggestions, the vehemence and force with which they have sought change has often been disruptive.

First of all, an educational institution at any level cannot be a pure democracy. Students can and do offer a most valuable resource of ideas—last year's curriculum study project is an excellent example. They cannot and should not, however, be asked to have the maturity and judgment of adults, and they cannot act as disinterested deciders of their own educational priorities or their own code of conduct. We also take issue with the student argument that the sole criterion for judging the merit or necessity of any part of a school program is academic relevance. There are many aspects of a strong school program that simply cannot be judged on a basis of their scholastic input. Acting with reasonable decorum and having reasonable manners for example, may not help one intellectually, but learning and practicing to respect the rights and feelings of others should be as inescapable a part of education as learning about arithmetic, logarithms and sonnets. Let us hope that we are not to become a mere training ground for the college lecture room.

It is well also to remember that the secondary school is dealing primarily with adolescents. This is in no way intended in any derogatory sense. Adolescents are wonderfully full of energy and enthusiasm, and they have a marvelous sense of wonder. They are also at a time in life when to question and to challenge is, for most, a need. It is also a time of great turbulence and growth. In order to grow in a healthy way adolescents need order and limits. They may challenge these limits, but they still need them, and the adults must be willing to set reasonable limits.

The school needs to be an orderly, civilized society, centered around an exciting intellectual experience. However, it must be understood that in order to create such a society each individual must give up

Koepfgen's herd most improved

Donald Koepfgen, Cass City, reported the most improved dairy herd in Tuscola county, according to Bill Bivens, DHIA fieldman. This 63-cow herd showed a yearly increase per cow of 1,414 pounds of milk and 63 pounds of butterfat.

Others in the top five were: Lloyd Waiz, Vassar, 30 cows with 1,259 pounds of milk and 28 pounds of fat increase; Clare Carpenter, Cass City, 66 cows with 1,229 pounds of milk and 37 pounds of fat increase; Nelson Davis, Mayville, 33 cows with 1,144 pounds of milk and 8 pounds of butterfat increase, and John Graham, Cass City, 112 cows with 1,134 pounds of milk and 39 pounds of fat increase per cow.

The top milk producers in the county in December are at the Loomis Brothers farm, Cass City. The 56-cow herd produced an average of 45 pounds of 3.2% milk per cow.

Others in the top five were: Ronald Hampshire, Kingston, 46 cows with 44 pounds of 3.5% milk; Wilford and Dick Leix, Millington, 85 cows with 40 pounds of 3.8% milk; Donald Doerr, Cass City, 64 cows with 40 pounds of 3.7% milk, and Donald Koepfgen, 88 cows with 40 pounds of 3.7% milk.

The county average of herds under DHIA tests was 34.1 pounds of 3.66% milk per cow. Michigan's average of tested herds is 33.6 pounds of 3.83% milk.

The average for all herds tested and untested is 28.5 pounds of milk in November.

Panels in Tuscola and Sanilac counties will learn about job opportunities and how to apply for them and how to finish high school, if they attend meetings open to the public in Sandusky and Caro.

The Caro meeting will be held at the Civil Defense Center Wednesday, Feb. 3, and the Sandusky meeting at the Farm Bureau meeting Tuesday, Feb. 2. Both meetings start at 10 a. m.

Panel members at Sandusky will be Mrs. Dorothy Krupp, Michigan Employment Security Commission; Andrew Atkins, principal of Sandusky High School, and Mrs. Ann Ross, extension home economist.

In Caro the panel will include Charles Kramer and Karl Oehmke of the Michigan Employment Security Commission; Elton Gingrich, principal of Caro High School, and Mrs. Ann Ross.

The Employment Security Commission representatives will tell the local job situation, the training offered in their office and how to apply for work through their office.

The principals will tell how adults can finish high school.

Mrs. Ross will discuss whether it makes "cents" to have two incomes.

Long distance phone rates boosted 3%

Customers of General Telephone for long distance calls are paying an average of three per cent more for long distance calls following a long distance rate increase granted to AT&T by the Federal Communications Commission, T. A. Saunders, Gen-Tel president, said this week.

The new rates apply to all interstate long distance calls including calls originating from non-Bell companies such as Gen-Tel which services the Cass City area.

The increases will be varied depending on the time and nature of the call. Most expensive will be day calls with operator assistance.

Night rates will remain substantially the same and directional rates for station to station calls up to 245 miles during the evening and night periods will be reduced.

Council meeting rescheduled to Monday night

The regular meeting of the Cass City village council was cancelled Tuesday because of the snow storm and was immediately rescheduled for Monday evening at 7 p. m.

Council meetings are held at the Municipal Building and regular meetings are held the last Tuesday of every month.

SERVICE DELAYED

for setting news broke Monday evening. Normally service is just hours away at Saginaw but the weather effectively stymied the service.

The copy that is 2 columns wide was set on an IBM machine and many one column stories, set on the linotype machine which was retired for use on the paper about five years ago.

Weather permitting, things will be back to normal next week.

6 cases in Circuit Court

Six criminal cases were heard in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday in Caro before Judge James Churchill. Four of the cases were continued for periods of two weeks.

Two pleas of guilty were accepted by the court.

Carol Frederick Yens, 18, of Kingston pleaded guilty to larceny from the Kingston elevator. The original charge had been breaking and entering, a felony.

When it was reduced to simple larceny Yens pleaded guilty. A presentence investigation was ordered and sentence will be passed Feb. 22. The bond was continued.

Robert Elston, formerly of Caro, pleaded guilty to probation violation for failure to make payments to the court under the terms of the original sentencing.

Judge Churchill continued the probation under the same terms after Elston paid $100 and agreed to pay $25 a month in the future.

Franklin J. Spencer, 19, of Cass City was placed on three years probation, with the first 90 days spent in jail, and ordered to pay court costs and make restitution of $260.

Spencer was sentenced by Judge Arthur M. Bach in Huron County Circuit Court in Bad Axe. Time served awaiting sentence since Nov. 24 will be allowed and Spencer was ordered to pay $5 a month oversite fee during the probationary period.

Restitution ordered included: Elton Sportsman's Club, $45; Baker's Koin Car Wash, Bad Axe, $115, and Mark Flannery, Bad Axe auto dealer, $25.

Villarreal bound over to Circuit Court Friday

Samuel Villarreal, 59, of Phillips Road, Kingston, was bound over to Circuit Court on a charge of murder Friday after a preliminary hearing in Tuscola County District Court. His $10,000 bond was revoked.

Villarreal is charged with shooting his common law wife with a 12-gauge shotgun Sunday, Jan. 3.

The hearing started in the early afternoon and the murder suspect was bound over when the hearing ended at 5:45 p. m. County Prosecutor Leo B. Maki is handling the case for the State and Clinton B. House is the defense attorney.

Harvey slates office hours

Congressman Jim Harvey today announced plans to hold office hours in five county seats in the Eighth Congressional District.

The Congressman is scheduled in Bad Axe, Thursday, Jan. 28, where he will be at the Courthouse from 2:45 to 3:30 p. m., and in Sandusky at the Courthouse from 4:15 to 5:00 p. m.

Friday, Jan. 29, Harvey will be at his Port Huron office at 409 Fort Street from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m., and Saturday, Jan. 30, will hold office hours at the Courthouse in Caro from 9:00 to 9:45 a. m.

"I will be happy to see everyone who stops in," Congressman Harvey said. "No appointments are necessary, and as usual, constituents will be seen on a first-come, first-served basis."

Spencer survey shows electors split on abortion

Rep. Roy Spencer, of the 78th district, including Cass City, has received approximately 1,000 returns from an opinion survey letter mailed to constituents in his three-county district recently.

According to the survey results, area residents have firm opinions about meetings open to the public, environmental protection and preservation, agricultural land tax assessment, regulation of snowmobiles and equal educational opportunities for all school districts regardless of wealth.

However, they are fairly well split on control of schools and universities, teacher wage negotiations and changing of the State's abortion laws.

While the survey questionnaire blanketed the area, the results do not necessarily reflect accurate estimates of the feeling of the electorate because no attempt was made to secure a scientific sampling return in the district.

The results show the opinions of voters interested enough to fill out and return the questionnaire.

The survey results:

Should our voter registration laws be changed to allow the elected precinct delegates of each political party to register voters within their individual precinct?

Backers predict passage of legal abortion bill

For the third year in a row, members of the Michigan Legislature are going to come face to face this year with the emotionally charged issue of abortion reform.

A bill to revamp the Michigan laws governing abortions died each of the last two years in the Senate. But the votes which killed the bill came only after highly charged debates which left combatants on both sides of the question limp when they ended.

Gone from the Senate floor this year is the lawmaker who stood at the center of the abortion reform fight the past two years—State Sen. Lorraine Beebe.

Mrs. Beebe, the only woman member of the upper chamber, was defeated in a bid for reelection largely because of her beliefs on the abortion reform issue since she lived in a heavily Catholic district.

From becoming an "abortion mill."

If a bill of some sort does make it through both houses, it can be expected to be signed by Gov. William G. Milliken, who has come out in favor of a proposal along the lines of the Bursley bill.

To date, 22 other states have liberalized their laws within the past three years to varying degrees.

The biggest change was made in New York, which now allows a woman to have an abortion for any reason, and does not require that she be a resident of the state. The other changes range down to one approved in Mississippi which allows abortions to save a mother's life and in cases of rape.

which has an enrollment of 31,388.

Also in the top 30 in the nation is Wayne State which ranks 26th with an average enrollment of 22,370.

The figures released by the educational journal, "School and Society," put the State University of New York in the top enrollment slot with 209,375 students.

They also showed eight of the schools in the Big Ten Conference are in the top 20 schools in terms of size, with only Iowa and Northwestern missing. The largest Big Ten school is Wisconsin, which has 52,108 students.

At Marlette Friday

Hawks blow lead; bow to Eagles

The Cass City Red Hawks will take on one of the co-leaders of the Thumb B Conference Friday when Marlette will host the local quintet and on the basis of previous scores, the Red Raiders rank as prohibitive favorites to add another loss to the Hawks' record.

Cass City will be coming into the game after losing three straight, two of which they led at the half. The last loss was to Frankenmuth and the Eagles rallied to win after falling behind in the first 12 minutes of the game, 22-8.

Cass City played some of its finest basketball of the season while running up its early lead and then did an about face and played some of its worst for the remainder of the game.

The Hawks not only were unable to find the basket, but were guilty of bad passes, inability to catch the ball and other turnovers that allowed Frankenmuth to quickly turn the game around.

The Hawks raced into the lead behind the drives of Paul Bliss and the rebounding and shooting of Rob Alexander. Alexander, slowed all year by illness, played probably his best game of the season in the early going before becoming tired.

Cass City's weakness in every game this year has been in rebounding and the problem was compounded Friday.

The team played virtually all the game without Richard "Zike" Miller who suffered an ankle injury and when he made token appearances he was severely handicapped.

While it isn't apparent from the results, close observers can see improvement in the team's play. Freshman Scott Hartel has shown steady improvement since joining the varsity after the holidays and Bliss has become a more steady guard.

Craig Guernsey has provided unexpected strength while filling in for Miller and Alexander is gathering strength as the season progresses.

But the team's weakness before the year started was rebounding and it still is. The club also appears to be hurting for a good outside shot to loosen up opposing defenses... especially when Miller is not out front.

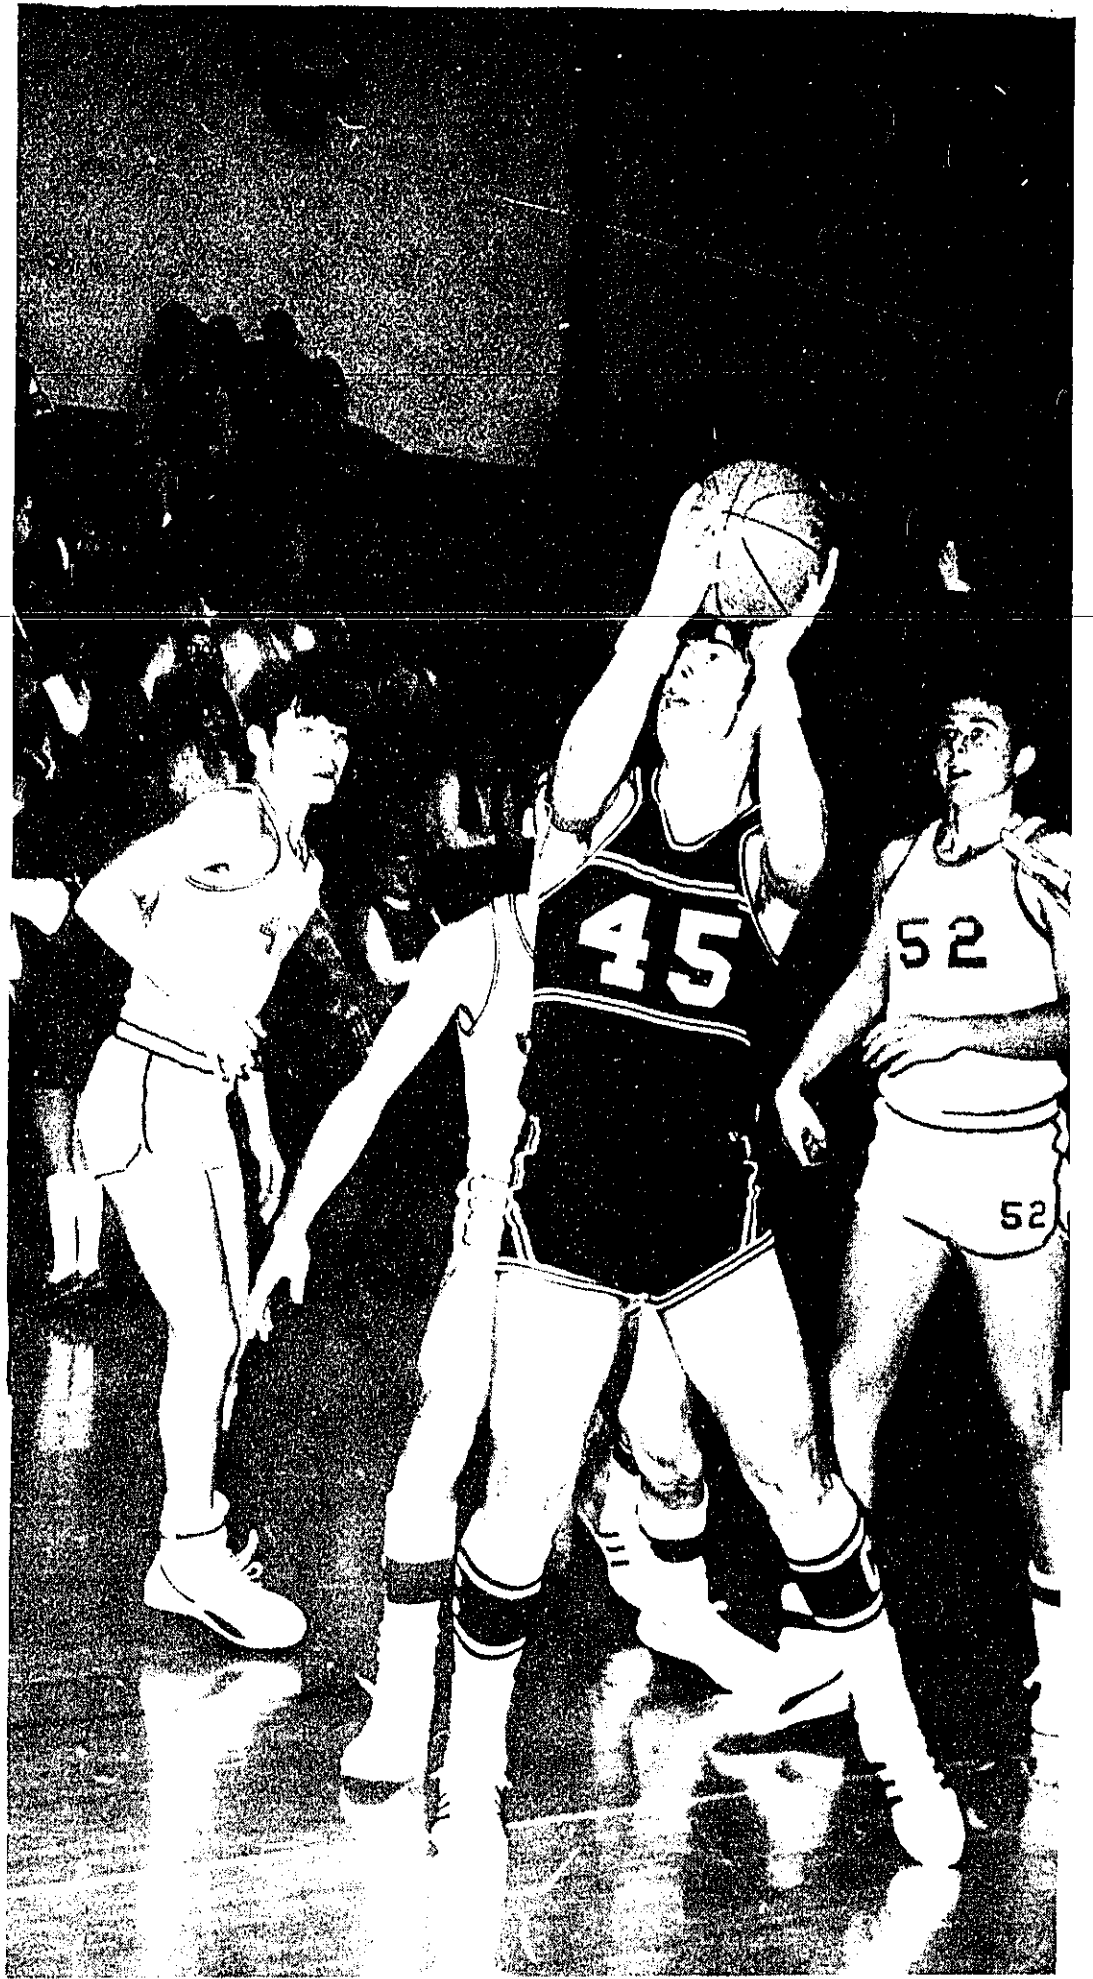

After Frankenmuth started to close the gap in the second quarter and trailed by just a point, 25-24, at the intermission Hawk fans could see the handwriting on the wall. By the end of the third quarter, the visitors were in front 36-32 and an 18-8 last period margin salted away the game.

Cass City was able to convert only 13 of 41 shots for a 31 per cent field goal average while the Eagles connected on 20 of 56 for 35 per cent. Neither team was especially effective from the free throw line. Cass City converted 15 of 26 for 58 per cent while Frankenmuth netted 14 of 29 for 48 per cent.

Alexander was the only Hawk in double figures as he netted 14 points on six field goals and 2 of 5 charity tosses. Bliss counted eight points and Hartel made seven. Russ Hurford collected 13 for Frankenmuth and Joe Prahm and Dan Vitany garnered 10 each for the Eagles.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Frankenmuth Junior Varsity turned the tables on the Hawks in the preliminary. In the first game, Cass City won a close decision over the Eagles. Last Friday Frankenmuth rolled to a 53-41 decision.

ROB ALEXANDER snags a rebound and is ready to score early in the first quarter against Frankenmuth in Friday's game.

SOME OF THE DONKEYS made it to the school Tuesday for the scheduled Lions donkey basketball game. However, the game was cancelled to be replayed Friday the only day available. Lion members were reluctant to play on a night when the high school team plays away, but agreed to the game because of the tickets already sold. The donkey bus was pictured parked at the school Wednesday morning.
