Mrs. John J. Hunter

The First United Methodist Church in Constantine was the setting as Janell Sue Davenport became the bride of John Joseph Hunter Saturday, Jan. 30. Rev. Adam Chyrowski, pastor, and Fr. Marvin Teller of St. Joseph Catholic Church, White Pigeon, Mich., performed the double ring ceremony at 2:00 p.m. The altar was decorated for the occasion with baskets of yellow carnations and white gladioli.

The organist was Miss Barb Wagner.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Davenport of Constantine, chose a floor length white crepe A-line gown. Chantilly lace traced the Empire waist bodice and gathered the sleeves into shirred lace cuffs. Lace edged the take-away train which flowed to chapel length. A Juliet cap trimmed with crystals and seed pearls held the full finger-tip length veil.

Mrs. Fred Edinger of Big Rapids attended her sister as matron of honor. Kathy Messner of Constantine and Jo Ann Gamble of Chicago, Ill., were the bridesmaids. Deborah Hunter of Saginaw, sister of the groom, was the junior bridesmaid. They wore floor length avocado green crepe dresses fashioned with Empire waists, long full sleeves and Peter Pan collars accented with royal blue velvet boleros. Headpieces of tapered velvet completed their ensembles and they carried yellow roses pinned to blue velvet muffs.

The couple will make their home in Traverse City following a week's wedding trip to Miami Beach, Fla. Both are graduates of Ferris State College. The groom is presently employed as assistant manager with the F. W. Woolworth Co.

The groom's parents were hosts at a rehearsal dinner Friday, Jan. 29, at the Oriental restaurant, Three Rivers, Mich.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

If finding a penny brings good luck, Joe Gruber had to be the luckiest guy in town last week. He found about 15 of them while emptying the meters on Main.

What happened was that fumble fingered drivers dropped them in the snow trying to feed the meters and didn't bother to look for them. When the snow melted last week end they came to the surface and were easily visible.

And this should tell you something about our inflation. A penny isn't even worth looking for anymore.

The cold weather persists, persists, persists. . . .and so do the problems that it brings.

It has made it nearly impossible for plumbers to keep up and some folks are getting desperate. One of these is Phyllis McIntosh who has a leak in a toilet that keeps her water pump running most of the time.

She has been waiting, waiting and waiting and this week in desperation ran an ad "Plumber wanted" at the suggestion of the plumbers of one local concern trying to work their way from under an impossible overload.

Our resident expert on fishing in Saginaw Bay, Anrod foreman Al Ricker, says that fishing for perch around Bay Port these days is plenty unrewarding. I've never before seen the time when you could spend a week end fishing and not hit a school at least once. But right now guys are staying out for a couple of days at a time and coming home with four or five small perch, Ricker says. There have been a few pike around . . . maybe more than usual, he adds.

But fishing in general has been so lousy that Ricker didn't even bother to go out last week end.

Anyone who knows Ricker will tell you that when he doesn't fish, conditions have to be about as bad as they can get.

I write this trivia from a new office (4 walls with paneling) and it blocks my vision of Main Street and sometimes that isn't all bad.

It eliminates girl watching (which is good for my work schedule but bad for my morale) and it also closed out the school kids crossing Main Street on the way to and from school.

Watching these kids can be nerve racking. The other day two children started to cross the street and saw cars coming and stopped about a quarter of the way across.

One car passed between the children and the curb and another between them and the center line. . . the kids weren't shook at all, but I imagine the drivers were. I know it took a few minutes for all of us in the office to return to routine.

It makes a point for some sort of better control in the village as advocated by Mrs. Bernard Freiburger, Willis Campbell school principal.

"If It Fitz. . ."

Love Story is sorry

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Some day when I weary of being an editor and a smartie columnist, I will retire to a big-city penthouse from where I shall drop upon an admiring world the most erudite critiques of movies, plays and books ever written, each one containing multitudes of sentences even longer than this, God help us all.

By way of practice, the subject for today will be Love Story, the soggy movie that became a soggy novel, thus proving that Kleenex can float upstream. Usually, the book comes before the movie. But Erich Segal, the Harvard professor, who wrote both, reversed the procedure for reasons you can hear him explain on the Johnny Carson show most any night.

Not to be outdone, I saw Love Story before I read it. The most surprising thing was to discover it took longer to watch the movie than it did to read the book. I finished the book in an hour. And I don't think it took Segal much longer than that to write it.

That's right, I think it's a lousy book. The movie was entertaining enough, because it featured some attractive people. But the book reads as if it were written by a high school sophomore on the back of his lunchbag as he rode to school on the bus. Yes, I know Love Story has led the best seller list for months and countless TV personalities have praised it and Segal is making enough money to buy Harvard and move it to Hollywood.

But it's still a "banal book" to quote from the prestigious National Book Committee which refused to consider Love Story for this year's fiction award no matter how many book sellers nominated it. This was an admirable action for which I send 3 hoorays to the committee members although they may hesitate to accept congratulations from a guy who always thought Saul Bellow was a glassblower's tool.

Love Story, in case you've been hiding out in a museum, is the tale of a rich young man who gives up the family fortune for the love of a beautiful but Italian girl who swears a lot and dies soon after the wedding. The movie and the book are exactly alike except for the ending.

As the book closes, the hero forgives his father for being Establishment and they weep in each other's arms. But in the last scene of the movie, the hero rejects his father and goes off to sit in the snow without his coat.

It's easy to explain why the movie is rougher on Old Dad. It is currently fashionable for film heroes to put down their elders. If Wallace Beery were alive today, Jackie Coogan would spit in his eye. The idea is to make the young people happy because they buy most of the movie tickets. Old people don't have time for movies because they're too busy counting their money and violating the civil rights of their children.

Anyway, the theme of Love Story is the same in book and movie: If you love someone you never have to tell them you're sorry, no matter what you did.

Erich Segal is a bachelor.

Hard tasks mastered early in life will make tougher problems easier to master later on.

Life is a tough battle—ambition will help, but it takes ability to reach the top.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET
YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Bulen

Here's a basketball oddity . . . The man who's played in more National Basketball Association games than any other player in history, was never supposed to play pro basketball at all. . . He is Dolph Schayes who holds the all-time NBA record for most games played, 1,059—but before he started his career, Schayes was advised he wouldn't make it as a pro because he wasn't strong enough!

*****

One of the real oddities of the recent pro football season was that George Blanda won the Most Valuable Player Award --and yet he was not even a regular! . . . Blanda played second-string behind Darley LaMonica all year. . . That may be the first time in sports history that a man who couldn't make the first team all season won the Most Valuable Player Award.

*****

Did you know that basketball star Pete Maravich used to practice so much as a youngster that he would take over 1,000 shots at the basket a day, EVERY DAY. . . Maravich estimates that in his lifetime he's taken over 1-million practice shots. . . It's possible that Pete has shot more baskets than any man who ever lived.

Over 2,000 dealers, wholesalers and manufacturers attended the three-day show.

MSU compares corn hybrids

Highest yielding corn hybrids in Michigan State University's 1970 trials produced 30 bushels more per acre than the average of all hybrids tested.

Results are now available from your Tuscola County Cooperative Extension Service office, announces Bill Bortel, Tuscola county extension agent.

MSU Extension Bulletin 431, "Corn Hybrids Compared in 1971", provides information on yields, moisture content at harvest, lodging and a blight rating for 267 hybrids sold in Michigan.

The bulletin also contains hybrid selection recommendations considering the blight situation.

To get a copy of this bulletin, contact your County Cooperative Extension Service office in Caro.

Highway fund receipts down in 4th quarter

Reflecting the downturn in the economy, the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund collections were down 1.9 per cent for the first time in recent years, the State Highway Commission announced this week, as it revealed fourth quarter 1970 collections.

The fund includes money collected from state taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel and license plate fees paid by motorists.

The money is divided among counties, 34 per cent; Department of State Highways, 46 per cent, and incorporated cities and villages, 20 per cent.

Huron county's share dropped from $262,950 to $255,729. Sanilac county's share in 1969 was $281,370 as compared to $275,900 in 1970, while Tuscola county dropped from $290,910 to $284,388.

Local villages' share of the fourth quarter were: Cass City, $6,696 down from $6,884; Caro, $11,760, down from $12,096; Gagetown, $2,232, down from $2,303; Kingston, $1,670, down from $1,719; Owendale, $1,728, down from $1,783, and Uby, $2,847, down from $2,929.

People down on their luck find lots of arguments to prove it.

It's impossible for any man to make a big hit until he learns to strike out for himself.

Tell personal appearance 4-H project goals

BY BERNARD JARDOT

Being an individual and using your own resources for creativity, self expression and "doing your own thing" to express that individuality defines the emphasis of the 4-H Personal Appearance Project according to Bernard Jardot, Extension 4-H
Youth Agent.

Today, the program in Personal Appearance means more than constructing a garment to wear, adds Mr. Jardot. It involves experiences concerning aspects to consider when purchasing and maintaining ready-to-wear garments as well as the home-sewn ones. Emphasis is placed on the basic elements and principles of design as related to personal appearance and the individual, on the responsibilities of the consumer in the acquisition and use of clothing and knitting, and an awareness of how personal appearance projects can better
help a member to understand himself and others. In actuality,
a personal appearance project
may be self-determined!

Experiences are chosen by the member in accordance with his interests, abilities, skills, and values. Members have an opportunity to express creative talents via the 4-H experience!

Girls interested in joining a 4-H Personal Appearance group should contact the County Extension Service office. Women who would like to volunteer as
a personal appearance project
leader also are urged to contact the Extension office.

BETTER HEALTH

Skin cancer and sun go together

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

I have often written here that skin specialists tell me how they hate to see people sunning themselves by the hour on a beach. They know that strong light damages the skin and makes it more likely for cancer to develop.

Now I read a report from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, that a research study showed that cells from a mouse, when grown and irradiated with ultra-violet light, developed changes which suggested a tendency to cancer.
Colonies of cells grew which were abnormally clustered and growing in a manner typical of tumor cells when grown in culture in a test-tube. No such colonies were found in cells
which had not been irradiated.

People who have spent much time in the sun should be on the look-out for any changes in their skin. I have had to be particularly careful, because as a boy in Hawaii I spent years in the sun, and perhaps as a result, in my later years I have had to have many small beginning cancers burned off my facial skin with a bit of acid or an electrode.

Many skin nodules of old people are made of fibrous tissue and are harmless. I am afraid of a nodule which perhaps ulcerates a bit, partially heals, and then ulcerates again.
If it does not heal in a few days, the person should go right away to a skin specialist and have it checked.

HAIR TURNING WHITE OVERNIGHT

We have all heard stories of persons who, because of some great sorrow or shock or fear, had their hair turn white overnight. I have often wondered how that could possibly happen. Now I think I have found an explanation. In the British journal, "Modern Geriatrics," there is a picture of a man who had a sudden whitening of his hair over the left half of his scalp. It came in a few days. The doctor who saw the patient says that the whitening was caused by the shedding of his pigmented hairs
and the retention of white hairs.
He had a disease called ALOPECIA AREATA, which means loss of hair in just certain areas of the scalp, not all over. The author said, "In the greying patient, a severe attack of alopecia areata can cause the person to go white almost overnight. The first hair to re-grow in alopecia areata is often white or partly pigmented (colored) and may remain so."

LONELINESS: A DISEASE

Many a time when I have seen an elderly patient complaining of a number of vague symptoms here and there and I have been unable to find any obvious or discoverable disease, I have asked the person, usually a woman, what she has done with her life since she was retired from the business office in which she had worked for years, and sometimes I learned that the woman has done nothing, and has no friends.

A woman whom I saw a year ago told me that she was living alone in one room, and she was seeing only one old friend occasionally. She had never married but had worked all her days as a bookkeeper. After studying this woman and talking to her friend, I found that the friend felt as I did that the patient's trouble was due largely to her almost complete loneliness with nothing interesting or worthwhile to do, and nobody interesting to talk to.

I begged her to go out and perhaps help the YWCA, the USO, be a Gray Lady at the hospital, or do something of this type where she could be useful, "could help people, and have people to talk to. This was the one treatment that might do her some good. My patient didn't take kindly to the idea;
she apparently had always been a "loner", and she apparently was going to stay that way. But until she does something to make herself feel that life is worth living, I fear she will continue to suffer from the aches and pains and discomforts that come to a person who is unhappy and lonely and has too much time to think about herself.

Plan tour to grain pits

AGENT'S CORNER

Women are leaders

Mrs. Margaret Ross - Extension Agent

An out-of-state tour has been planned for the Tuscola county farmers and agribusinessmen to the grain pits in Chicago Feb. 23 and 24. Plans are to leave Caro by bus and visit the Anderson Grain Terminal in Maumee enroute to Chicago. All interested men wishing to accompany the tour and to learn more about marketing commodities, contact your Extension office in Caro, state Don Keeler and Bill Bortel, County Extension Agents. Considerable interest has been generated for this tour and we are anticipating a full bus. We would appreciate all reservations by Feb. 15. The cost for transportation and lodging is $32.00 per person.

They say that one of our greatest resources for the 70's is the untapped leadership from women. Who says so? Many civic and government leaders are voicing these thoughts in whispered comments and in forceful speeches.

This idea set me thinking. Are we just discovering women's leadership? Are we rediscovering women's leadership? Or are we looking to their leadership because leadership is so desperately needed in our time?

Mrs. Vader dies at local hospital

Mrs. Carrie M. Vader, 73, of Caseville, a former Cass City resident, died Thursday, Feb. 4, at Hills and Dales Hospital.

She was born April 8, 1897, at Omer, Mich. Her parents were the late Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson. She was married to Ivan Vader in Cass City April 8, 1914.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Lyle Smith of Detroit; a son, Harold C. Vader of Greenbush; five grandchildren, and eight great-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Saturday at 2 p. m. at the Shetler - Bussema Funeral Home, Pigeon. Rev. Allen Stark of Calvary Baptist church, Caseville, officiated. Burial was in Eikland cemetery.

All three, it seems. We are beginning to discover for the first time that women can do certain things for which heretofore we considered them inadequate. For example, women are now leaders in business, in finance (take Sylvia Porter), in law, in Civil rights movements, and in religious groups. Cynthia Wedel is the first woman president of the National Council of Churches.

We are also rediscovering women's leadership ability. This generation has forgotten about the Suffragette movement, but in its day, it made contemporary student protests seem tame. Today's women still respond to the oppressed.

But perhaps the reason we are now pointing to women with increasing hopefulness is that our present dilemma requires total commitment from all adults — of which about half are women.

A TIME FOR LEARNING

These are the wonderful years, when there is so much to learn — and hours enough in which to learn it.

Youth has an unquenchable thirst for knowledge; also the desire, the capacity and the energy to absorb — if given even a little encouragement. But today, perhaps more than ever before in history, youth does need guidance.

Be sure the young people in your life have the opportunity to examine the whole picture. But in their search for the stars, don't let them forget the miracle of this planet upon which they live and its Creator.

Let them know their church.

AROUND THE FARM

Outside pressure affects farmers

By Don Kebler

Farm operators have always considered themselves the personification of free enterprise but they really are not. Many outside factors place business pressures on our farm operator which restrict his free enterprise system.

What are some of these restricting factors which place the farm in the same business light as any other business? Credit which provides 50 to 70 per cent of the total assets. Some creditors even insist on profit sharing. Custom services who contract to supply a needed service also limit a farmer's freedom. Marketing milk, sugar beets, pickles, potatoes, etc. is not free enterprise in the true sense. The government also restricts decision making through farm programs, inspection grades and tolerances. To list a few more, how about new zoning laws, air and water pollution, new income tax laws which close the door to agricultural tax manipulations and farm labor laws?

As it looks to me and as I have reiterated many times, the commercial full-time farmer who will be in business down the road will need to have a top-notch business record keeping system.

These farm businessmen will need and use records to fit in these free enterprise restricting factors to assist rather than restrict their business prosperity.

Before these operations can really move to take complete advantage of these free-enterprise restricting factors, they must set their business house in order. They must have a complete, precise and accurate record system like Telfarm. The compiled income tax and more importantly the type-of-farming business analysis and comparison data are foundation blocks to total success.

We all know any business is on troubled waters that maintains only what it has accomplished. To follow this precept leads to liquidation voluntarily or involuntarily. To accurately know the level of your farming operation compared to other like operations is the Telfarm system goal. Once this comparison is known the farm operator has the stepping stones to make decisions of greatest advantage.

Farm operator - managers using Telfarm to its fullest are making correct business decisions and prospering. Telfarm is not for everyone but it is for that operator who wants to build and have a profitable business. For these farm operator-managers, Telfarm enrollments are now being made at their County Extension Office for the 1971 year.

Jehovah's Witnesses slate convention

David Szekely, presiding minister, has announced that the semiannual convention of Jehovah's Witnesses will be held Feb. 12, 13 and 14, at Western High School, 600 Beck Road, Walled Lake.

The main purpose of the assembly is "to provide a three-day program of beneficial Bible instruction to aid Jehovah's Witnesses in their preaching and teaching ministry."

The theme for the assembly will be "Implanting of the Word" and will be emphasized by Bible talks, demonstrations of techniques and experiences in the ministry. One of the highlights will be a baptism ceremony for new ministers.

Mr. Szekely also announced that Angelo Catanzaro, District Supervisor, has been appointed to serve as convention chairman and principal speaker. Catanzaro will deliver the main discourse, "What Is Behind The Spirit of Rebellion?", Sunday at 3:00 p. m.

The convention is sponsored by the Watchtower Bible & Tract Society of New York and will be attended by delegates from 17 congregations of Jehovah's Witnesses that make up the organization's Michigan Circuit No. 2.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Zeke Grubb's preacher stopped by the store Saturday night, and he gave the fellers a preview of his Sunday sermon. He said he was going to talk on the state of the nation, which he allowed was constant confusion. He said the hole country is like wimmen.

Wimmen is allus confused, the preacher said, cause they can't never make up their minds. I didn't say, but that struck me as a powerful good reason. Anyhow, Mister Editor, he quoted some Scripture about honoring and obeying and how wimmen down deep want their men to boss em around.

Not being a woman, I couldn't argue about their reasons, but all the fellers was general agreed about the state of confusion. I think the real reason wimmen git confused is that they want to go dressed and undressed at the same time. Fer instant, I see where long pants is being wore in place of them no-skirt skirts, but now wimmen is leaving their middle naked and the men is talking about how sexy the belly button is. It looks like wimmen is jest taking turns covering up and uncovering different places.

Clem Webster was of a mind that the country is in the same fix. He allowed that fer a while the Nixon Administration figured slowing down inflation was the No. 1 job. They now has slowed down everthing but inflation, and they is going back to tried and true Democrat spending to pump everthing up again, was Clem's words.

Clem said he had saw by the papers where President Nixon now is looking to the same economic ideas that Democrats has used since FDR. That's the kind of thinking that can git the SST built so the Government can spend money to make jobs for all them folks laid off in the airplane making industry, said Clem. He went on to say he couldn't see much advantage in buying airplanes overseas when we can build em here and make jobs, but Clem said he hated to think the SST was jest another make-work deal like the old WPA.

Practical speaking, Mister Editor, I figger the Nixon crew has realized you can't tax a feller's income if he ain't got one. Them politicians is learning that a man that can't find work will turn on em a heap quicker than one that won't work. So I figger they'd better deal with unemployment now and them little problems as they can git to em.

As fer the wimmen folks, it was full agreed among the fellers that they and inflation is here to stay and we had better make the best of em. Personal, about the only thing in this world I ain't confused about is that they ain't no understanding wimmen, but I'm agreed with the feller that said fer what little they eat he wouldn't be without one.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Weather Road Enemy

WASHINGTON —
Studies show weather is the worst enemy of good highways. Soaking rains, frost, heat, and rapid temperature changes break up highways — even — those where traffic is light.

ONE FOR THE ROAD Moon shot could affect space program

By Dan Marlowe

At the time of writing this column the Apollo 14 astronauts are in the 45th hour of their flight to the moon.

They have survived a harrowing docking crisis, and at the moment Houston is leaning toward giving them a "go" for moon landing.

It may well be that this will be the last of the spectacular
"moon shots" with U. S. space-men aboard. The climate of public opinion seems to be changing in regard to these manned probes of the lunar surface.

There were always individuals who felt sincerely that the billions spent on space exploration would have been far better invested in seeking solutions to domestic problems.
Now the numbers of these individuals are increasing, for what seem to be two different reasons which together form a compelling argument.

First, there is the rather common feeling now that we've been there, that we've done it before. That the current flight is in essence repetition, although the scientists would argue long and loudly on the point.

And second, there was the Russian unmanned probe late last year which proved that many of the U. S. accomplishments on the moon could be duplicated by mechanical means. Why risk men's lives unnecessarily when it has been clearly indicated that current scientific resources can cope with lunar exploration without the use of men, runs the familiar argument.

There is a feeling that we were first, that we did it, that we landed a man on the moon,
so why prolong it now with such tremendous expenditures of money and scientific effort
when with a tightening economy
a number of priorities must be re-ordered?

The space community in Houston is well aware of the current apathy toward their long-range program, and is understandably upset about it. The space community depends upon Congress for its funds, and Congress responds to the people's will. If the current flight of Apollo 14 is a failure, Congress would more than likely take a long, hard look at the total program.

Even if the flight is successful, there is danger—in Houston's eyes—that public opinion will not support future
flights on such an elaborate scale. Failure would almost guarantee this, consequently there is more pressure than usual on Houston to make sure this flight is successful.

This could mean more of a chance-taking attitude with the lives of astronauts Shepard, Roosa, and Mitchell than was the case on previous probes.
With an entire industry's future
—and space exploration is an industry—perhaps resting on the success of the current mission, the shades of variance in decision-making in regard to "go" or "no go" tend to become blurred.

By the time most of you read this, the astronauts if successful will have splashed down the day before.

Let's hope the decision-
makers give them every possible chance to make it without risk-taking that might provoke failure.

Enter innocent plea for Villarreal

Samuel Villarreal, 59, was arraigned in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday afternoon accused of first degree murder in the shotgun slaying of his common law wife Tillie January 3. Villarreal, represented by Cass City Attorney Clinton House, stood mute and had Judge James P. Churchill enter a plea of innocent in his behalf.

Villarreal allegedly shot Mrs. Villarreal in the left side of the abdomen with two 12 gauge shotgun slugs near their farm home on the Phillips Road. Mrs. Villarreal died at Caro Community Hospital about 6 p. m. that night.

Prosecutor Leo E. Maki filed a motion asking that Villarreal be evaluated mentally by the Center for Forensic Psychiatry at Ypsilanti. The motion asks that Villarreal be committed to the custody of the Center for Forensic Psychiatry of the Department of Mental Health for the performance of a psychiatric evaluation concerning his competency to stand trial.

Such commitment to be for the period deemed necessary for the examination by the director of said center, not to exceed sixty days from this order.

Defense Attorney Clinton House may contest the motion and Feb. 22 was set as the date for Judge Churchill to hear arguments on whether or not Samuel Villarreal should undergo the examination.

Prosecutor Maki said that most of his argument will lie in the transcript of Villarreal's preliminary hearing before Judge Richard Kern, when he was bound over to circuit court without bond.

In other court action Roy C. Johnson of Vassar stood mute on a charge of assaulting a police officer. Ernest Dean Gotwalt, on an identical charge, had his arraignment delayed two weeks.

Fred Lynn Henderson, 19, of Kingston, stood mute when charged with possession of marijuana. An innocent plea was entered in his behalf and his $500 bond continued.

Ice closes county schools, cancel events

The freezing rain that turned the world to ice Thursday night brought another snow day to youngsters in every school district throughout Tuscola county and to school districts in adjoining counties. Most of the basketball games were played Friday night on the grounds that if spectators wanted to take the chance to attend they could do so.

On Monday Kingston, Owen-Gage, Mayville, Unionville-Sebewaing as well as North Branch had no school while Caro, Akron-Fairgrove and Marlette warned their students that the buses would not travel on some of the roads.

Tuesday Kingston and North Branch still had no school. Both are essentially the same kind of terrain, hilly, high crowned roads that were covered with ice with too few miles traveled on main roads to take a chance on opening school.

Wednesday morning North Branch and Kingston were back in operation though with bus travel slightly limited. Many Cass City buses were unable to meet normal schedules and arrived late to school.

Chile exchange student at Walsh home

Silvia Cornejo Rojas (Chicoca), an exchange student from Santiago, Chile, arrived Jan. 29 at Ann Arbor. Chicoca will be living with Mr. and Mrs. Michael Walsh and family of Cumber Road, Uby. Chicoca will attend school at the Uby High School and she will be a senior there. Chicoca's reasons for wanting to come to the United States are to learn the English language and learn our way of living.

She has four sisters and one brother, 10 to 19 years old. Her father is the Colonel of the Police Force in Santiago and her mother is a school teacher.

When Chicoca returns to Chile she will continue her education at the University in Santiago in Civil Engineering. She will be returning to Chile sometime in June.

County leases building for social welfare

Tuscola Board of Commissioners have agreed to lease with an option to buy a 4,500 square foot building from Andrew Tallman of Caro for use by the Tuscola County Social Welfare Department. The building formerly housed Craig Motor Rebuilders and is adjacent to the Caro airport.

Total cost to county taxpayers will be $70,000 at the end of five years with portions of a $925 rental price to be applied towards the purchase of the building if the county's option is exercised.

Principal terms of the transaction as outlined by William Tuckey, chairman of the building and grounds committee, are:

$70,000 purchase price including $40,000 for present building and $30,000 for remodeling.

A five-year lease with an option to renew.

A rebate of a portion of the monthly rental towards purchase of the building, if desired. 20 per cent in first and second year; 15 per cent in third and fourth year, and 10 per cent in fifth year.

The remodeling will include carpeting of the room with petitions with paneling for 28 rooms of various sizes. New heating and air conditioning units, remodeling of outside of building and adequate parking for the Department of Social Service personnel.

The social welfare department has been in the courthouse basement and has been crowded because of high unemployment and new welfare programs. The courthouse has also become cramped because of the new district court and expanded services.

Tuckey reported that the building remodeling can be completed within 90 days.

Meanwhile, the board will be considering what departments should move into the vacated area to relieve the congestion there.

Clendenan cited for YFC works

Ray Clendenan, Thumb area resident, received the nationally coveted President's Award at the National Convention of Youth for Christ International. The award is one which is rarely given. It was based on Clendenan's service to YFC on the local, state, national and international levels. Among his activities cited were Director of local YFC chapters in St. Clair Co., the Delta area (Saginaw, Bay City, Midland) and Thumb areas during the past 12 years. During this time Clendenan groomed ten young men who are presently conducting their own YFC effort throughout the state and nation.

Clendenan spearheaded the development of Teen Ranch in Marlette and remains administrator of the project. He has also served as administrator of a similar Ranch project in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Clendenan is responsible for training YFC leaders in other areas outside U. S., such as 1962, Caribbean; 1963, four countries of South America; 1968, in Jamaica and British Guiana. During the month of March he will repeat the training program in southern France via assignment of the Overseas Director of Youth for Christ International.

EDITOR'S CORNER

No convert will get into the larger size before the first season is over.

But usually that first phase lasts up to a year and that first machine really takes a beating. Snowmobiling is where it's at, brother.

After a few drag races in a neighboring field, the action switches to safaris and trips over the back roads and trails . . . the farther off the beaten trail the better.

But there are only so many miles and so many local area trails and in the second season most have been covered.

When this happens the snowmobiler is usually in his third season and has reached true "old pro" status. They have seen it all. An occasional jaunt to the frozen tundra of Michigan's north country seems to spur jaded appetites occasionally. . . but only occasionally.

The old pros usually go one of three routes. They become snowmobile racers. They become snowmobile racing spectators or they become snowmobile conversationalists.

I know more conversationalists than racers. If the temperature is a degree too cold or too hot, if snow is too deep or too shallow, or the snow crust is too thick or too thin, it's back to the shack.

If you happen to be a betting man you pick up a little easy loot by checking the snowmobiles in the parking lot and betting that the only time they move is when the trailer that hauls them takes them home again.

I'll admit that these sage observations could be tempered . . . even changed. . . by more extensive research. I'm willing to try.

What corner table do you suggest?

hears pupil

safety report

A discussion by the Cass City School Board Monday about the proposed aids for student safety walking to and from school indicates that more meetings will be needed with village representatives before many of the suggested proposals can be implemented.

Mrs. Geraldine Priesskorn who represented the school along with Willis Campbell School Principal Mrs. Bernard Freiburger reported the results of a meeting with the village police committee.

Besides the okay for painting of crossing areas at selected corners, no definite progress has been made on safety measures that include walk, wait signs at Seeger and Main, hiring of crossing guards, flasher school warning signs on North Cemetery and removing snow from sidewalks.

The hang-up of course is deciding who will pay the bill. It appears that the school is willing to help with part of the program, as will the village, although neither has said how much.

Supt. Donald Crouse told the board he would like to base a judgement on a wider survey among other communities to see how the problem is handled.

Mrs. Freiburger is expected to contact many more schools and communities to find out how the majority operates.

Meanwhile, another meeting will be arranged between the school and the village to hopefully come up with a program that will work.

Hawks lose despite top-notch play against Hatchets

Although the Cass City Red Hawks lost for the second time this season to the Bad Axe Hatchets last Friday, local fans were treated to a fine performance at the Cass City High School gym.

The score was 82-74 and many observers felt that the Hawks looked better losing to the Hatchets than they did winning the previous game from Vassar.

Rob Alexander turned in his second stellar performance in a row as he hit 50 per cent of his shots and netted 28 points. Sophomore Paul Bliss turned in what may have been his finest performance of his career as he directed the attack and chipped in 23 points.

Although the Hatchets were in front all of the way, Cass City was never out of the game until the final moments. With about three minutes to go the margin was just five points.

At the end of the first quarter, the score was 18-16 and by intermission the Hatchets had lengthened the lead to 42-33.

The lead varied between 10 and six points throughout the third quarter and just when it seemed that the visitors were going to wrap up the game, the Hawks rallied to keep the pressure on.

The Hawks were hurt in the last quarter by the loss of Scott Hartel who fouled out. Hartel is showing steady improvement in the pivot. Against Bad Axe he netted 11 points and picked off six rebounds.

In the final analysis, Bad Axe won the game with a devastating fast break and more accurate free throw shooting.

The Hatchets hit 49 per cent with 33 of 67 shots from the field. The team's percentage was helped by several lay-ups coming off the fast break.

Cass City shot a respectable 41 per cent, converting 30 of 72 shots.

The Hawks really suffered at the free throw lines. They netted just 14 of 30 tries for 48 per cent. Many of the misses came when a bonus foul shot would have been awarded.

Bad Axe had only 27 shots from the foul line, but netted 16 of them for a 59 per cent average.

The Hawks are on the road for the next two games. Friday the team plays at Sandusky. In the first game between the two clubs, the Hawks racked up an upset victory.

Since then the Redskins have been playing well and the Hawks will need to be at the peak of their game to register another victory.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Cass City Junior Varsity turned the tables on the Bad Axe JV in the second meeting between the two teams. The Hawks won 53-46. The game was close all the way and Cass City won in the last quarter. The team featured balanced scoring and Randy Wright was credited with 19 rebounds.

PAUL BLISS leads Hawk attack.

Seventh grade keeps winning

The Seventh grade kept its undefeated record intact Monday night with a 46-38 victory over Marlette.

The Hawks broke open the game after taking the lead in the opening quarter, 7-4. At the half it was 34-7 with Cass City leading.

Dave Zawilinski hit for 18 and Chuck Bliss added 13. Others to score were: Dave Romig, 5; Tom Smentek, 3; Clark Hillaker, 3; Ken Lowe, 2; and Rick Tuckey, 2.

The 8th grade also defeated Marlette the same night, 56-29. Everyone on the squad saw action and 12 players scored. At the end of the first quarter the Hawks were in front, 19-8.

Jerry Toner led the scorers with 15. Others were: Joe Zawilinski, 10; Jim Root, 8; Rick Damm, 7; Kim Hill, 4; Ben Hennessey, 2; Dan McEndorf, 2; Dave Eberline, 2; Don Karr, 1; Bill Bader, 1; Charles Walsh, 2; Ed Stoutenburg, 2.

The ability to swim is not required for new recruits but by the end of Recruit Training, every Navy "Boot Camp" graduate has learned to swim.

Separate fires destroy two area homes

Fires, breaking out within a space of 24 hours, destroyed the mobile home of Richard Bilicki, near Kingston, and the frame home of Rex Fritz, near Owendale, last week.

The fire at the Bilicki mobile home broke out at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday afternoon and completely gutted the building with Kingston Fire Chief John Barnden placing the loss at $2,000. The cause was not determined.

The Fritz home, a mile and a half east and a mile north of Owendale, went up in flames about 4:00 a. m. Thursday.

The Gagetown Fire Department under Chief Charles Wright, assisted Don Gunsell and the Owendale department, but the house could not be saved. The loss was estimated near $10,000.

Kingston airs problems of sewer finance

Wednesday night the Kingston village council was to have met with village residents to discuss the need for sanitary sewers and the possibilities of gaining support of the county Department of Public Works in placing the full faith and credit of the county behind the bonds necessary to develop a sanitary sewer system.

The Kingston village council has developed a program estimated at $425,000 to meet state requirements and the needs of the village. Of the total $197,000 would come from national or state grants and $228,000 from bonds of the village.

The council has not been unanimously in favor of the project. One member voted against the plans and another abstained. The Department of Public Works, comprised of commissioners Floyd Ducker and Charles Woodcock, road commissioners Alton Reay and Grover Laurie and drain commissioner Leslie Lounsbury, have decided not to back the bonds because of local opposition to the plan.

The Wednesday night meeting was to air the situation before village residents.

Plan new attack on drunk driving problem

Drunk driving is getting more attention. Michigan's Department of Public Health is spearheading a new attack on the growing problem.

The project, being conducted in cooperation with federal authorities, will set up alternatives for punishments such as fines, jail sentences and license revocations. Instead of these, a drunk driver may be referred into educational channels, with a comprehensive follow-up.

The department says it is participating in the project because statistics show that despite the punishments now being meted out, large numbers of drinking drivers continue to drive while they are drunk.

Severity of the problem is shown in statistics from the year 1969, in which 56,400 persons lost their lives in highway fatalities in the United States.

Of that total, more than 30,000 of the fatalities occurred in accidents in which drinking was involved. And about 20,000 of the deaths involved drivers with previous drunk driving records and what the department calls "excessively" high blood-alcohol counts.

For the same year, Michigan recorded 2,487 fatalities, which means that well over 1,200 persons died here that year in accidents involving a drinking driver.

In addition, the Governor's task force on drinking drivers reports that in the entire 331-223 motor vehicle accidents reported in Michigan that year, "the most common single factor consistently identified" was the presence of alcohol in the bloodstream of at least one of the drivers involved.

The new project will cost more than $180,000 over a nine month period and will be run at the local level.

Thus far, arrangements for conducting of such a program have been completed with local health departments in Kalamazoo, Kent, Muskegon, Oakland and Macomb counties.

"The center operating element will be alcohol information classes for all drunk driving offenders," explains program coordinator John T. McConnell. "These will give an opportunity to identify the people who need comprehensive help for actual alcoholism."

"They'll be referred to the appropriate treatment and rehabilitation channels," he said.

To get the program on a working basis, operators of it will have to work out agreements with local courts and law enforcement officials in setting up procedures for automatically referring drunk drivers to the project.

In addition, they hope to educate the community as a whole about the nature of the drunk driving problem and about what the community can do about it.

And finally, McConnell says, "The project will give us a chance to develop a realistic profile, a genuine description of just who are the high risk drinking drivers so that ultimately, we may be able to get at them before, instead of after, they hurt or kill someone on the highway."

SAVINGS SOAR IN 70

Despite the sluggishness of the economy and the two month long General Motors strike, Michigan savings and loan association did a land office business during 1970.

The Michigan Savings and Loan League says the total savings in its 68 member institutions grew by $480 million during the year, surpassing the previous record set back in 1963 by 62 per cent.

At the same time its members lent more than $700 million, also a record high. The previous high was $633 million set in 1968.

The year also saw the first loan by a savings and loan association for a mobile home and league spokesman Donald F. Wall says he expects "this type of lending will increase each year for some time in the future."

Despite the rises, however, the league says there still are problems facing the construction of new housing in the state and Wall says "We need a national commitment to end inflation if this country's citizens are to be properly housed."

Avoid injury in 2 accidents

Monday, two property damage accidents involving Cass City area residents were reported. Mildred Emma Bordner, 62, of Sebawaing, swerved to miss a dog while heading northeast on M-25 near Thomas Road at 11:45 a. m. Her car left the road in the accident.
