

TOM GRETZ - a boy and his dog are separated.

Gretz give-away snafued; Tommy's pup is missing

There are lots of dogs around the farm of the James Gretz family of Decker these days . . . so many that the family would like to give away two or three.

But for six-year-old Tommy Gretz there is a dog shortage. A ONE dog shortage. It's the pup from the last litter that the younger son in the family has adopted for his very own.

The dog, "Huskie" was taken after a bizarre string of coincidences.

It all started last week when the family advertised in the Chronicle to give away three of the 10-week-old pups.

After all there were five pups left from the litter and that's too many for most any family.

But one of the pups, the largest of the litter and a pretty black and white, was adopted by Tommy and the family. He wasn't on the free list.

But after the ad appeared, someone came to the house while the family was away, found the dogs running around the yard and promptly picked one to take home. It was "Huskie," of course.

The Gretzes have a clue. A lady with two children stopped at a neighbor's and asked where the pups were available.

The family feels that they may have picked up the pup for their children without knowing that it was one the family wanted.

The Gretzes would like to exchange one of the other pups around the house for the one that Tommy has adopted. They'll be happy to drive to Huskie's new home to pick him up, they say.

"It's a lot of fuss just over a dog," James Gretz said.

But he really didn't mean it. Any father of a six-year-old boy with a dog will know that he didn't.

20 tabbed for service in March

Twenty Tuscola county young men will be tabbed for the Army in the March draft call according to figures released Tuesday in Lansing. The men will be part of a total of 1,969 men taken from the state and while the total figure is one of the lowest in the last few months, Tuscola county's share is comparatively high.

Huron county loses 11 men, and Sanilac county, four.

Selective service officials say that lottery number 100 will continue as the maximum number authorized for induction and the call for March will be filled with men born in 1951 whose numbers are less than that and from men under age 26 who were reclassified as available for induction during 1971.

Median homes cost $12,800

Hard to believe facts emerging from census

You'd be surprised what Big Brother knows about you and the places you live today as the official reports of the 1970 census have been fed into the computer which has spewed out facts and percentage figures galore.

Some of the figures are not only surprising, but downright hard to believe.

For instance, the census claims that the median value of owner-occupied houses in Tuscola county was $12,800 as compared with $8,400 in 1960. Median rent was $69 per month, just $3 more than the $66 paid in 1960.

Even considering that half are supposedly over these figures and half below, most home owners and tenants would probably challenge these figures as being lower than today's median figures.

Here are some of the other statistics about the county that were released this week by the bureau of the census:

Tuscola county's official population in the 1970 census was 48,603, up 12.2 per cent from the 1960 figure of 43,305.

The 1970 census counted 48,122 white persons in Tuscola county, 99.0 per cent of the total; 346 Negroes, and 135 persons of other races. In 1960, 99.2 per cent of the population was white.

The census showed 4,645

Cass City's reputation as a "dry" community will be tested again Monday when village electors will be asked to approve the sale of liquor by the glass within the village limits.

The battle lines are drawn and both the "drys" and the "wets" are campaigning hard for their positions.

Jay Lee Smith and Jack Kappen are pointing to economic benefits to the community as reasons for the approval of the sale of liquor while persons opposing point to increased safety from the drunk driver as a reason for voting to keep Cass City without liquor by the glass.

Kappen reports that there have been some 125 new voters registered in the village. I counted them and about 100 are persons that we took to the clerk's office to become registered.

We will see that these people get to the polls Monday, Smith promised this week.

The proposed vote over liquor sales has dwarfed the regular election of trustees at Gagetown and Cass City.

However, a large vote and great interest has been generated by the battle for village president in Gagetown.

Incumbent James England faces a stiff test from Elery Sontag. Sontag is a former village president who lost to England by a single vote a year ago. It promises to be a spirited election in the tradition of elections in Gagetown.

Other than this there is no competition. Republicans Don Wildman and Leroy Stapleton and Democrat William Stapleton are unopposed for trustee. Others unopposed are: Mrs. Leota Ashmore, for clerk; William Ashmore, for treasurer, and Don Wilson for assessor.

In Cass City all is serene on the candidate front. None of the incumbents face competition.

The slate includes: Lambert Althaver, for president; Arthur Holmberg, Bernard Ross and Mrs. Gladys Albee, for trustees; Mrs. Celia House, for clerk-treasurer, and Mac O'Dell, for village assessor.

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN—THURSDAY, MARCH 4, 1971

Fifteen Cents

FOURTEEN PAGES

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Unless Detroit's celebrated winter trade with the Washington Senators results in a pennant next fall for the Detroit Tigers, all I can say about it is . . . photo!

If you know a baseball from a grapefruit . . . or maybe even if you don't . . . you already know that the great Denny McLain was traded for four guys named Joe.

If you have to be specific, the only real Joe was Joe Coleman . . . but what's the difference when the other guys are Jim Hannan, Ed Brinkman and Aurelio Rodriguez?

Quick now, just what position does Jim Hannan play? See what I mean?

And can you imagine yourself as a senior citizen telling the youngsters that back in 1971 I saw Jim Hannan pitch for the Tigers.

Jim who?

I know, I know. . . certainly, McLain's a ding-a-ling. . . until he steps across those white lines and toes that pitching mound.

Certainly, you're right when you say I don't want my boy to emulate the personal standards that Denny's shown.

I think it's possible to appreciate what McLain is without relating his personal life to his professional career as a baseball pitcher.

And I think it's possible even for a young boy growing up.

It might even be a good experience for him. Sooner or later along the way he's going to learn that life is not a series of blacks and whites . . . but of greys. Light greys, dark greys, medium greys and all the shades in between.

I'd hope that the McLains would be the first step in this lifelong educational process.

That right here he will start to learn: That the best scholar is not necessarily the best citizen; that the racist white can be a civic leader; the war hero the peacetime bum; the industrial tycoon, the family failure; the racist black, the family man.

All of us have a black (or grey, if you prefer) side.

All heroes are a little tarnished if you can get close enough to see the rust.

But if the image is dulled a little, is that reason enough to not look for the gold that's underneath?

I'd feel I've done a successful job with my son if someday he'll look back at 1971 and say to his son: Denny McLain? I saw him pitch when he won 31 games for the Tigers back in 1969. A great, great baseball talent. A great competitor, a great pitcher.

A winner on the mound and a loser off it.

Freak M-24 accident kills Gerald Langmaid Saturday

A former Decker area resident, Gerald Langmaid of Lake Orion, was killed in a freak automobile accident Saturday. Langmaid was driving north on M-24, about 5 miles north of Lapeer, when a camper hooked to a car approaching from the south came loose and was blown by driving wind onto the hood of his car. The camper was being hauled by a car driven by Norman Hammett of Columbiaville. Both men were alone, according to troopers of the Lapeer State Police Post.

Langmaid obituary on inside page

The victim was taken to Hurley Hospital in Flint where he died Sunday morning.

In another accident Raymond Ulrich, 78, of Oak Beach Road, Port Austin, became the first accident fatality in Huron county.

Ulrich had been visiting a friend and was walking home on Oak Beach Road to get a tractor after he ran his car into a ditch.

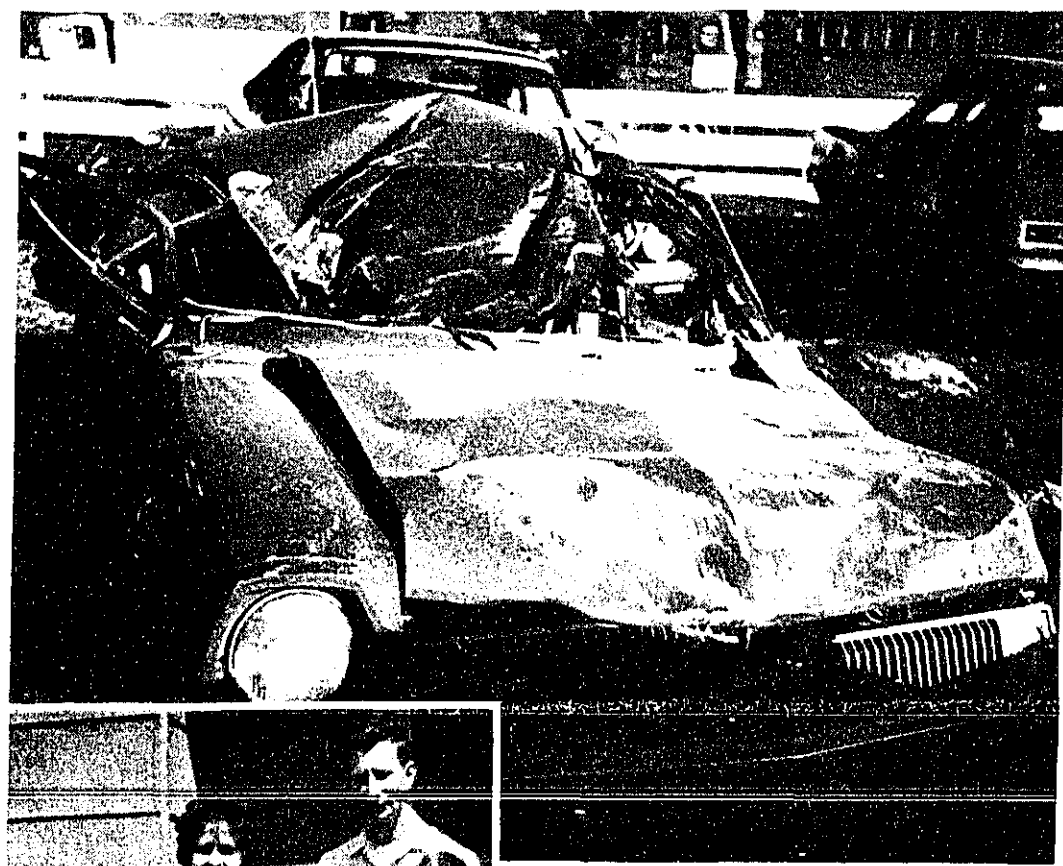

Wearing dark clothing, he was not seen by Amelia Meagher, 62, of Port Austin Road and was struck by the car she was driving, State Police at Bad Axe reported.

The accident occurred 3 1/2 miles west of M-53 and two miles north of Kinde.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Clarence Jenereaux, 34, of Deford was admitted to Hills and Dales Hospital in Cass City with possible back injuries when the milk truck in which he was a passenger turned over on the Sebewaing Road at 6:15 last Friday afternoon. Jenereaux was riding with Elmer Carl Nitz, 42, of Cass City when the Nitz truck went off the south shoulder of Sebewaing Road as the truck headed east 2 miles east of Owendale.

Shirley Ann Chumbler, 24, of Bliss Street, Uby, received serious back injuries last Wednesday afternoon when a left rear tire on her car blew out throwing her car out of control and flipping it over. Miss Chumbler was heading south on M-19 near the Atwater Road when the car crossed the center line, struck a snow bank and overturned. She was taken to Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe and then transferred to Saginaw St. Mary's Hospital where she was placed in the intensive care ward with back injuries.

THE SMASHED ROOF and hood of the car owned by Gerald Langmaid indicates where a camper smashed in the accident that killed him. Inset is a recent picture of Mr. Langmaid and his family.

Board appoints 8 to serve on vocational school committees

The Cass City Board of Education has appointed an eight-man team to serve as an advisory committee in the drive to establish a vocational-technical school in Tuscola county.

The committees and the members, with chairman listed first, are: public information, Lloyd Severance and Stan Guinther; finance, Lambert Althaver and William Ruhl; facilities, Arthur Holmberg and Wayne Dillon, and curriculum, Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn and Mike Weaver. Alternates are Dr. Ed Scollon and Mrs. Sue Hoag.

Meanwhile, the Intermediate Board set Aug. 23 as a target date to present a vocational center proposition to the voters. The board will meet with the architects at the Mar. 8 meeting and cost and curriculum studies have been started.

THE GALE WINDS Saturday afternoon caused thousands of dollars worth of damage in the Cass City area. Television antennas, roofs, trees and small buildings tumbled before the wind's blast. Among the hardest hit was the engineering building at Walbro Corporation. The roof was literally lifted from the building. Workers said that you could stand in the building and look up to the sky Monday morning. Some of the pieces of the roof are visible in this picture. Other pieces stretched for 300 yards and more.

Youth arrested on pot charge

Kerry Dean Snider, 18, of 4587 Pigeon Road, Elkton, and Kenneth David Hewitt, 23, of South Moore Road, Bad Axe, were placed on $1,000 bond each as they waived examination to Huron County Circuit Court on charges of possession of marijuana.

The two were arrested by Bad Axe State Police early Sunday morning in Elkton. Both placed the bond required on Tuesday afternoon.

The State Police took the two into custody, allegedly finding marijuana cigarettes after smelling smoke when they questioned Snider and Hewitt about whether or not they were lost.

Ultimatum for Reese teachers

The Reese Board of Education Tuesday night issued an ultimatum to striking teachers, saying that if they did not return to their jobs by 8:30 a. m. Friday they would consider the position vacant.

The move in effect is to fire the teachers for what the board considers to be an illegal strike.

Only teachers with a valid medical excuse will be considered still hired, the school board said.

Rayford Thorpe says that he has been waiting and waiting for the Chronicle's Memory Lane column to tell about the time he was president of the Cass City Community Club. Well for Rayford and for all the rest of you who have been breathlessly waiting, Thorpe headed the now defunct club in 1956.

It's not true that the year after he was president the club folded. A strong club, it lasted one more year after he was finished with it.

Going somewhere? The new 1971 Michigan maps have arrived for free distribution. Our supply is limited and will be distributed on a first come basis until exhausted.

If you miss out here they are available free by writing: Maps, Michigan State Highway Commission, Lansing, Michigan 48904.

Brad Owen, editor of the Vassar Pioneer Times, called to ask where we learned of the new Tuscola county census figures, reported two weeks ago in the Chronicle.

I was out of the office and when I returned the call he had already contacted the Bay county clerk who has the figures for Tuscola county.

What is especially odd about this is that Tuscola figures are available from Bay county, but had not yet been received by Tuscola County Clerk Elsie Hicks.

The Chronicle basement has become a veritable treasure cove. In our big clean-up program an old pendulum type "store" clock was uncovered.

It's got to be 50 years old. The brand name on its face says "Ingram" and Mrs. Marilyn Schott, our resident expert on antiques, says that it is worth between $50 to $100.

I was already to celebrate this windfall with a night on the town when my eldest came marching home from Michigan State and confiscated it for her hope chest.

Another antique discovered is a hand paper baler. How old? Heaven only knows. . . but anything as old as this just has to be worth something doesn't it?

Besides these two jewels, the Chronicle has several other antique machines floating about the office. But they aren't for sale. We use them everyday.

Poor Harry Little. He has to leave Hills and Dales General Hospital this week after he busted a leg trying to uproot a tree stump while driving his snowmobile over the week end. But when he comes home, things will return to normal. Edith promises and Harry will be just another husband around the house.

1 fool escapes

BY JIM FITZGERALD

I'd rather be right than Vice President. But on the other hand, I'd rather be Vice President than a fired caddy. Vice Presidents receive better treatment when they get out of line.

Golf fans saw it on TV, during the Bob Hope tournament. While the world watched, 2 men made fools of themselves. One of them was Spiro Agnew.

I am proud to say that, during the past 2 years, I have been the only columnist not to take a potshot at Agnew, the most potshotted public official in history. He didn't even arouse me when he attacked newspaper writers. I enjoy being attacked. It gives me delusions of importance. And just because a man is Vice President, he shouldn't forfeit his inalienable right to send nasty letters to the editor.

But now Spiro has finally bugged me into responding. I cannot remain silent while he abuses the power of his office with a golf club.

By all standards, Agnew is a lousy golfer. When he hits the ball, no one knows where it might go. He should tee off at 4 a. m. on drizzly mornings while the rest of the world is safe in bed. But Spiro is a ham. He is also a celebrity chaser. He can't resist playing in those "star studded" tournaments where spectators surround the tees, oohing and aahing at the likes of Arnold Palmer and Dean Martin.

And when the Vice President of the United States phones Palmer and says, "Let's get up a 4-some for TV tomorrow" - what is Arnie going to do, tell Agnew to go take some lessons and call back in 2 years? No. Arnie is going to agree and make a note to reserve 15 extra golf carts for a battalion of Secret Service men.

So there is Spiro, hacking away. In the Hope tourney, his first drive went directly sideways and hit a woman on the arm. Spiro gallantly kissed her sore spot. A Democrat might say it was too bad she wasn't hit in a less romantic section of her anatomy.

Incredibly, Spiro swung again, and again he hit someone standing almost behind him. This time, no kiss. The struck spectator was hustled off to the first aid tent. Agnew finally had the good sense to give up and move on down the fairway. With the 2 Mulligans, plus being a breath away from the Presidency, he probably took a 6 on the hole.

Now, about that 2nd fool: At the close of the tourney, Bob Hope was awarding Palmer the winner's check. Suddenly, a man leaped onto the green and began mugging and yelling for the TV camera. He was a recently fired caddy with a labor grievance. 50 husky men immediately landed on him and dragged him off to a hospital "for observation."

All the caddy did was jump and yell and yearn for TV exposure. Agnew hit 2 people for the cameras. He could easily have killed them, or injured them badly, as any experienced golfer will tell you. Spiro was lucky he didn't have to kiss a split skull. He certainly should have known better than to drive, especially twice, while surrounded by people.

But the caddy was immediately incarcerated while Spiro hung around for another day, beaming and taking bows while onlookers flinched.

I wouldn't say the wrong fool was impounded.

But if it's true that Nixon

Friday funeral

for Mrs. Badder

Mrs. Vina May Badder, 65, died Tuesday, March 2, in Hills and Dales Hospital after being hospitalized two weeks.

She was born in Onaway May 18, 1905, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. David LaForest.

Russell Badder married her July 1, 1939, in Ohio. Former residents of Selenawing, they moved to Cass City three years ago.

She attended The Missionary Church of Cass City.

Surviving are her husband; a daughter, Mrs. Barbara Hatmaker of Cass City; two sons, Vernon Jones of Center Line and Russell Badder Jr. of Unionville, and 13 grandchildren.

Others are: three sisters, Mrs. Edward Schuit of Inkster, Mrs. Minnie Getzmeier of Onaway and Miss Emma LaForest of Detroit, and one brother, Thomas LaForest of Wayne, Mich.

Funeral services will be held at Little's Funeral Home Friday at two o'clock. The Rev. J. E. Kidney, pastor of the Missionary Church, will officiate and burial will be in Elkland cemetery.

SPORTS FANS!

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By H. M. Bulen

Here's a little oddity from golf. . . The U. S. Open last year was won by a Britisher, Tony Jacklin--while the British Open was won by an American, Jack Nicklaus.

There's an unusual brother act in sports today that many fans aren't aware of. . . In baseball last season, Alex Johnson led the American League in batting, while in football in 1970 Ron Johnson finished 2nd in rushing in the National Football League. . . Many fans don't realize that Alex and Ron are brothers, and it may be the first time in sports history that two brothers did so well in two different sports the same year.

Here's an oddity about Ralph Houk, the manager of the Yankees. . . Although Houk was a player in the big leagues for 8 seasons and got into 2 World Series, he never hit any home runs, and never stole a base during his entire career!

4-H plat book

now available

The new 1971 Plat Book of Tuscola county is now available at the County Cooperative Extension Service Office or from any 4-H member.

The book, sponsored by the Tuscola County 4-H Council, contains maps of all the townships in the county. Each map identifies roads, lakes, and rural property owners.

Funds acquired from the sale of the Plat Books will be used to support 4-H activities in the county.

The Extension Office is located at the Civil Defense Center, Caro. Many area business offices will also be selling these books for the Tuscola County 4-H clubs.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

With this war to shorten the war picking up in Louse, the diplomats and statesmen at the country store Saturday night allowed as how gitting out of Vietnam is like spitting agin the wind fer distance. Its another case of the hurrier we go the behinder we git, and I can't help but think about Brer Fox trying to git loose from the tar baby ever time I read somepun about Louse being the way out of Asia.

Clem Webster spoke on this subject during the session, and he was asking how you tell the difference between a invasion and a incursion. The Nixon Administration is calling what we're doing in Louse a incursion, Clem allowed, but it looks to him like we're jest gitting stuck deeper in quicksand.

Clem, that actual has stood up fer President Nixon onct or twict, said he reckoned that is like a deficit of strength that President Kennedy use to talk about. When you go in debt on purpose it's strength, and when you invade so you can withdraw it's incursion, was Clem's words.

Talking about deficits, Clem reported where he had saw where this column writer says Nixon's next budget will run $20 billion in the hole, nearly double the $1 billion that turned into $10 billion this year. Clem was of the mind that they ain't going to be a heap of surplus in Washington to send back to the states if things go like this feller is predicting.

Furthermore, Clem said, Nixon is taking credit instead of blame fer his budget being bad in the red. The way he tells it, a balanced budget would stunt the economy growth, but a deficit stimulates it. Clem said he had saw where Nixon had come around to a spend the country back in shape way of thinking, but this was the first time he had ever heard a Republican President sound like a New Deal Democrat.

That brought Ed Doolittle to his feet, but when he got the floor he allowed he hadn't done his homework as good as Clem. Ed allowed that Clem is bad to complain about the heat in the summer and the cold in the winter, and he recalled that back when President Johnson was spending money like a drunk trying to drink himself sober Clem was even sneaking into the Republican corner on money matters.

General speaking, Mister Editor, I would agree with Ed that the average American is gitting more wisy wasy all the time. He use to be a pritty solid feller, but he's been bamboozled, pushed and punched around so much till nowadays he's got a lot of give in him.

Like the feller said, it's hard to tell if the early bird gits the worm or the early worm gits the bird.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

College week

grants available

The Michigan Division of the Woman's National Farm and Garden Association is offering a number of scholarships for College Week For Women, June 15-18, 1971 at Michigan State University.

College Week for Women is an educational event, through class offerings, campus tours, exhibits, luncheons and opportunities galore to meet new people. It provides the homemaker with knowledge, new experiences, and new ideas to contribute to her personal enrichment, to her quality of living and to her leadership development.

The scholarships will be awarded to worthy homemakers who might not otherwise be able to attend. The scholarships cover the week's campus costs.

Special consideration will be given to young homemakers with pre-school or young school age children who have never attended college week.

All young homemakers interested in applying for this scholarship should contact one of the following "Thumb" Cooperative Extension Service Offices in Sandusky, Bad Axe, or Caro.

SPONSORED IN COMMUNITY INTEREST BY

THE CASS CITY STATE BANKAROUND THE FARM*Know soil before selecting fertilizer

By Don Kebler

Every so often someone asks me, "What is the best fertilizer to use?" When this question arises, I really do not know the answers because there are many questions I need answers to also.

So then I start asking questions regarding soil texture, crop to be grown, prior crop history and yields, and soil test results.

If I have all these questions answered the fertilizer recommendation is relatively easy using published fertilizer recommendation guidelines.

Without this information I am put in the same position as the farm operator as a fertilizer use guesser. This fertilizer guessing is like gambling, as the chances of winning are real slight.

Some of the guess risk could be reduced if we remember that light textured and organic soils have a fast leaching rate and potassium leaches rapidly on these soils. Heavy textured and organic soils tend to have a lower phosphate level and a higher potassium level. Potassium doesn't leach readily from our area silt and clay loam soils.

Alkaline sandy loams over clay, silt loams and clay loams with p-H of 7.2 or up have a condition which fixes the trace elements manganese, zinc and boron. Organic soils are low in these trace elements too. Crops needing these trace elements can suffer if these elements are not added to the fertilizer.

Efficient labor use planning determines the rate analysis, time and type of application method you decide to follow. Will you broadcast part or all before plowing, sidedress or plowdown supplemental nitrogen or apply all fertilizer at planting time?

Will you use liquid or dry fertilizer? Generally dependent on handling, and price advantages if the same analysis fertilizer is applied at the same time, rate and in the same manner it doesn't make much difference whether liquid or dry fertilizer is used. The same holds generally true for nitrogen carriers and their application.

What about lime materials? Acid soils restrict the uptake and response of growing crops to the fertilizer available.

In conclusion I wish to convey the message that it is impossible to select the best fertilizer without knowing many soil factors some of which are mentioned above. Have this information and the best fertilizer and fertilizer practices for your particular needs and situations can be determined far closer than by guessing. I don't guess, I recommend a good soil test to be sure.

AGENT'S CORNER Students caught in busywork maze

Mrs. Margaret Ross - Extension Agent

Today's high school students are telling us that they are caught in a maze of "busywork" without having a chance to learn to reason. In their busywork they are given facts without understanding the issues.

And maybe some of this "busywork" expectation is carried over to later life, especially among women.

The important issues in a community relate to the physical, mental and spiritual well-being of the people. Is health care available? How healthy are the people? Are there jobs with adequate pay? Are there child care facilities? Is there opportunity for quality education throughout life aimed at the whole person? Is life and property protected? Has a community made realistic plans for its development? Are priorities established? Is there cooperation and respect between communities? Is there a participating democracy with equality of opportunity?

But how many people are really involved in these matters? Too often women may be "busy" with commendable but less significant activities on the busywork level.

Hopefully the younger generation of today's women are seeing that "bake sales" are not enough. No longer can they scatter themselves thinly over the community in menial jobs.

Our older Thumb women started libraries, organized PTA's, initiated 4-H work, put up road signs, helped develop an arboretum, studied legislation, and helped their men build community centers.

To do comparable things today means participation on planning boards, becoming involved with city and county councils, studying legislation, and organizing on a broader basis. Some communities are doing it. Is yours? Hopefully so. It's more meaningful than busywork.

Kirkpatrick's of Kinde named '71 dairy couple

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Kirkpatrick

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood (Guy-deane) Kirkpatrick of Kinde in Huron county, have been named the Outstanding Young Dairy Couple of 1971 by Michigan Milk Producers Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Kirkpatrick earned the title in competition with 11 other young dairy couples selected by MMPA districts throughout the state. The Kirkpatrick's represented MMPA's District 9, which includes Huron and Tuscola counties in Michigan's Thumb.

Runners-up in the competition are Mr. and Mrs. Robert (Cynthia) Hoffmaster of Hopkins in Allegan county.

The Outstanding Young Dairy Couple program is an annual MMPA event designed to develop future leadership in the association. The Kirkpatrick's and Hoffmaster's will be introduced and officially recognized at the MMPA annual meeting March 23 on the Michigan State University campus at East Lansing.

To be eligible for the competition, a couple must be engaged in dairy farming and an MMPA member. The husband must be between 21 and 35 years of age.

A three-man panel of judges also evaluates the couple's leadership and community activities and their farm operation.

Kirkpatrick, 34, has a bachelor's degree in business administration from Eastern Michigan University and worked for a number of years with the Federal-Mogul Corp. in the Detroit area before deciding to return to dairy farming in partnership with his father about five years ago.

The Kirkpatrick farm includes 690 acres with a 130-cow dairy herd.

Banquet to fete top dairymen

"Recognizing the Dairy Industry of Tuscola County" will be the theme of the Tuscola County Dairy Dinner to be held Thursday, March 11. The Sacred Heart School in Caro will be the scene of recognition as all county dairymen, agri-businessmen and wives are welcomed to the 12:00 noon dinner and excellent program. Dairying in Tuscola county is the second major industry, second only to dry beans. Over $6 1/2 million annually is poured into the county economy through milk sales. There are 345 Grade "A" dairy farms providing these milk sales, states Bill Bortel, County Agriculture Agent.

The program will feature a talk by the colorful, enthusiastic Rev. Keith H. Hayes of Mason. His short, snappy talk titled "Sense and Non-Sense" will be seasoned with wit and humor. There will be the presentation of nine trophies to outstanding dairymen in the county. Tickets are on sale with many dairymen throughout the county and at the Extension Office in Caro.

Idle young men are sometimes needy old men in the making.

YOUNG SCIENTISTS

Michigan State University will host more young scientists than any of the other 251 American educational institutions taking part in the National Science Foundation's summer undergraduate research participation program.

Wm. Ware, 85

dies Tuesday

Funeral services for William Ware, 85, will be held at three o'clock Thursday at Little's Funeral Home.

Mr. Ware died Tuesday, March 2, at the residence of his son Leo, where he made his home. His wife succumbed Feb. 6.

Born in Elmwood township Dec. 13, 1885, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. William R. Ware.

He and Miss Gertrude Deming were married in Cass City Sept. 26, 1906, and the couple made their home in Evergreen township.

Besides his son, he is survived by five grandchildren and 15 great-grandchildren.

The Rev. Howard Woodard will officiate, with burial in Elkland cemetery.

ONE FOR THE ROAD

How about a state lottery?

By Dan Marlowe

There is a possibility that Atlantic City, New Jersey, may become known as Las Vegas East.

Last December the State of New Jersey followed the lead of New Hampshire and New York State and instituted a state lottery. There had been some indication that the voters were in favor of it, since the referendum legalizing it passed by a four-to-one margin, but sales have been so much higher than predicted that the legislators who pushed for the adoption are looking very good.

During the first sales period, from December 16 to January 7, more than 14,000,000 tickets were sold at fifty cents apiece. That is the equivalent of two tickets for each man, woman, and child living in New Jersey. Prizes range from $1 to $50,000, and weekly drawings are held.

New Jersey was desperate for more revenue, since the state has no income tax. The state relies on a sales tax and unusually high property taxes for most of its revenue. The lottery hasn't provided an instant panacea, but its success to date has New Jersey legislators looking at other gambling areas as untapped revenue sources.

Among proposals are legalized casino gambling, sports pools, and off-track betting. New York State legalized off-track betting almost a year ago but has yet to see it tried out due to the foot-dragging tactics of the established race-tracks. Casino gambling refers to forms of gambling other than horse-race betting and lotteries.

Among the strongest opponents against the creation of more legal gambling are law enforcement officials. Both the state attorney general and the superintendent of state police have come out against the proposal. Both men feel that a certain element goes with gambling which would require strong new enforcement laws. But a state senator is pushing for the establishment of a casino-type operation in Atlantic City which he claims could bring as much as $200,000,000 a year into the state treasury.

From time to time there have been rumblings of the creations of dog tracks for pari-mutuel betting. About the only thing the thoroughbred racing tracks and the trotting tracks combine upon is their distaste for this proposal which would cut into their action, they feel. A state lottery is much less controversial, and it has several successful proponents basking in windfall revenue to prove that it's possible.

Such figures are enough to give even the most moralistic legislator pause. With revenue sources drying up rapidly, a new golden goose is obviously needed. Michigan needs new sources of revenue as much as any state. Since New Hampshire, New York, and New Jersey have now proved that a state lottery works as a revenue producer, it seems only a question of time until such a proposal falls upon fertile ground in the Michigan Legislature.

Lansing may never become known as Las Vegas Midwest, but in view of today's tight tax dollar the Legislature might do well to take a long look at the almost painless revenue-producing properties of a state lottery.

FOR CASS CITY PROGRESS VOTE "YES" PROPOSAL "1"

SPIRITS BY THE GLASS

IN ADDITION TO BEER AND WINE

DON'T BE MISINFORMED

YOUR "YES" VOTE WILL IMPROVE OUR CITY

HERE ARE RESULTS OF A STUDY BY MIDLAND'S CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN '66 BEFORE THAT CITY APPROVED LIQUOR BY THE GLASS

A survey of city officials in other Michigan cities that approved liquor by the glass in the past five years clearly indicates that passage of the Proposal would not create an increase in drinking, related Police offenses or create a down graded community condition. Here is a brief summary of their replies:

QUESTIONS ASKED: With relation to liquor by the glass has there been

	ANN ARBOR	BATTLE CREEK	CADILLAC	COLDWATER	HIGHLAND PARK	HOWELL	YPSILANTI
.. ANY INCREASE IN CRIME?	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
.. AN INCREASE IN DRUNKEN DRIVING?	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
.. AN INCREASE IN JUVENILE PROBLEMS?	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
.. AN INCREASE IN MORAL PROBLEMS?	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
.. A NEGATIVE CITY EFFECT?	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO	NO
.. A FINANCIAL GAIN TO THE CITY?	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES	YES

The Chamber also has on file statistics taken from the police records in these cities indicating that drinking related incidents have shown no increase, and in some cases reflect a decline since liquor by the glass was adopted.

The Chamber board of directors believes that the economic and social climate of today's society is extremely different than at any time in the past, and more dramatic changes are coming at an even swifter pace. Midland can not avoid being in competition with other cities for future commercial and industrial growth. A progressive community climate - WITH FULL FACILITIES is essential if we are to successfully attract the caliber of people that will provide, and fill, the job opportunities that must come to Midland.

Passage and adoption of this liquor by the glass proposal will put an end to local-option and permit Midland to move forward as have other progressive cities in the State of Michigan.

A "YES" VOTE IS RECOMMENDED - MIDLAND CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Missionary church slates evangelist

Special services are scheduled Friday through Sunday, March 5-7, at the Cass City Missionary church, on Koepgen Rd.

Rev. Elliott Pamp of Battle Creek, evangelist, will be the special speaker. The services will be held each evening at 7:30 and Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. Mr. Pamp is an American Indian who is particularly concerned with presenting the gospel to his people. The public is welcome to the services, according to Pastor J. E. Kidney.

To be widely read is not a cure for narrow-mindedness.

Mr. and Mrs. Lynwood Lapeer and family were Saturday forenoon visitors at the Gaylord Lapeer home.

Elwin Richardson and Mrs. Nelin Richardson went to Bad Axe Saturday to get Mrs. Elwin Richardson, who had been a patient for a few days in Huron Memorial Hospital in Bad Axe.

Mrs. Lynn Spencer spent Monday and Friday with Mrs. Albert Ainsworth at Carsonville.

Mrs. Jack Tyrrell, Rita and Judy spent Saturday forenoon in Cass City.

Twelve members were present when the Greenleaf Extension group met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jim Hewitt. Mrs. Don Tracy and Mrs. Jim Anthony gave the lesson on "Communication in Marriage." Mrs. Curtis Cleland showed slides of past meetings. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lynn Spencer March 22. A dessert lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim McCartney of Alma and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cleland and family of Cass City were Saturday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cleland and Judy.

Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Jackson were Sunday supper and evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Reynold Tschirhart, Jean and Carey Deachin.

Earl Schenk visited Joe Schenk at Hills and Dales Hospital in Cass City Tuesday.

The 500 club met Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Ross.

Mike Schenk spent the week end in Jackson where The Fever Band played at Northwestern High Friday evening and at the Landa-Kaj Alpha Fraternity house in East Lansing Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dybilas spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. James B. Sweeney.

Mrs. Gloria Clark and four sons of Bad Axe, Timmy Hodges of Saginaw, Terry Cariveau of Bad Axe and Mrs. Hubert Hundersmarck and Davie were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Schenk and sons.

Gaylord Lapeer was a Sunday forenoon guest of Mr. and Mrs. Manly Fay Sr.

Evangelist slated at Deford church

Jim Jones, United Methodist evangelist, will conduct nightly services at the Deford United Methodist church March 7-11. Each service will begin at 8 p. m.

A full-time evangelist since 1966, Mr. Jones has also served as pastor in the North Carolina Conference of the United Methodist church.

Special music for the meetings will be provided by Bob and Daisy Tibbits of Owosso.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Over 260 persons from 37 towns attended the Cass City Zonta Club's first annual Antique Show and Sale at St. Pancratius Social Hall.

The Rev. Robert J. Searls, columnist for the Chronicle, was honored recently at a session of the Methodist Camp Commission by being named an honorary member of that body.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Holcomb celebrated their 21st wedding anniversary at a family dinner at the New Gordon Hotel.

Charles Peasley and son Ray went to Metropolitan airport, Detroit, to meet Pvt. Charles Peasley, who was arriving home on furlough from Fort Lewis, Wash.

Donald Copeland was surprised when 17 friends came to help him celebrate his eighth birthday.

TEN YEARS AGO

Dick Erla was elected president of the Cass City Rotary Club.

Announcement was made this week of the purchase of Frantz Super Market in Cass City by Bob McArthur.

Sara K. Hunt, a Rollins College student from Cass City, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Hunt, has been honored by membership in Libra. This is the highest honor a Rollins woman may receive.

Mrs. Jennie Martin celebrated her 92nd birthday when 23 relatives and friends attended a party at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Donald Mill-jure of Gagetown.

Attending the men's conference of Michigan Evangelical churches in Ann Arbor were Rev. S. R. Wurtz, Maurice Joos, Hugh Connolly, Leonard Damm and Don Buehrly.

The Philip Reed house on Woodland has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Miller of Mt. Pleasant.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

No school busses have been operated out of Cass City for a week and School Superintendent Willis Campbell, who lives a little over a mile from the school, has been snowbound at his country home.

Stanley P. Kirn Jr., EM3c, was met by members of the Cass City with them to spend a week's leave.

A. J. Murray, 4-H member of Cass City, was a guest at a banquet held at Lansing by the Michigan Livestock Producer's Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lounsbury entertained a large company at dinner in honor of the 81st birthday of the latter's mother, Mrs. Nelson Perry, and the birthdays of Mrs. Leslie Lounsbury and Linda Goodall which are in February.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Dorothy Holcomb and Hester Kitchen have tied for valedictorian honors in the class of 1936 at Cass City High School. About 200 men and boys attended the Father-Son banquet program which featured Harry E. Cecil, a magician. Arthur Atwell was chairman of the program.

Dynamiting by WPA workers is having its effect on the river at Sebawaing, according to officials in charge of the flood prevention project in that Huron county village. Ice and snow were blasted for three days the first of the week and much has been carried out of the channel causing the river level to go down considerably.

Eugene B. Schwaderer of Cass City was honored by being elected president of the Mich-

donate $50

to missionaries

Fifteen members of the Baptist Philatheas class met in the church basement Tuesday evening, Feb. 23, for their monthly party.

Table games were played and a lunch was served. Gary Melendorf, vice-president, conducted the business meeting. Clyde Wells presented devotions.

The group voted to donate $50 to the William Carmichael family, who will return to the mission field in the Mali Republic soon.

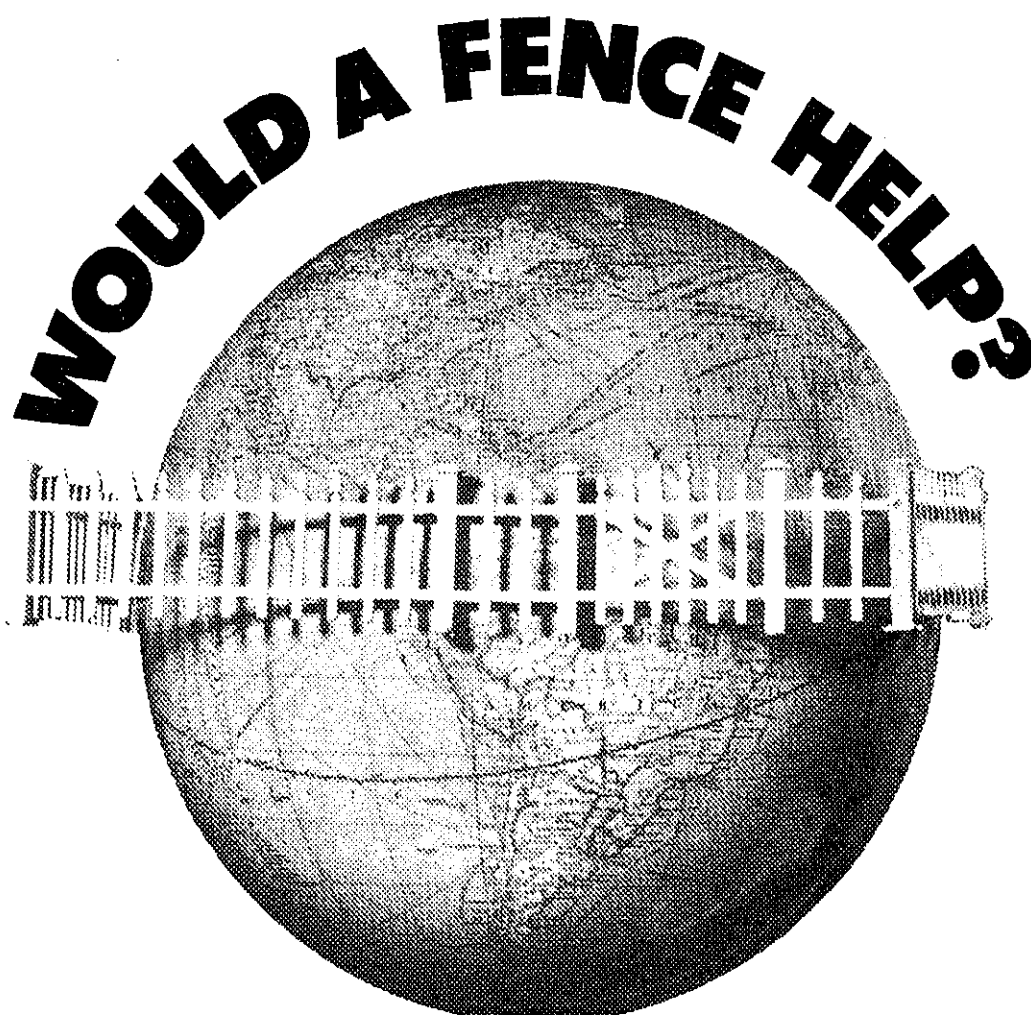

The next meeting is scheduled March 23 at the Clyde Wells home.

If we could build a fence around the world, would we respect our limitations and live happily with one another? Would we stop wars? Probably not!

You can fence in physical objects but not the minds and hearts of mankind.

Nor can we be forced to live in peace. Peace comes through practicing love, faith and tolerance—an understanding of God and His Church. Then, remember World Day of Prayer. Determine not to build a fence around yourself, or around anyone else. Instead, enlarge your horizons through the common voice of prayer.

What better place to start than in the Church?

Deford girl to appear in college play

Carol Walkiewicz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Walkiewicz of 6115 Chapin Road, Deford, will appear in the upcoming play, "What's U.P.?", to be presented at Lake Superior State College, March 5, 6 and 7.

"What's U.P.?", an original musical revue researched and written by students at LSSC, is based on history, anecdotes and the natural surroundings of the Upper Peninsula of Michigan.

Carol was graduated from Kingston Community Schools and is a freshman at LSSC.

Smaller Tax Packages

Changes made in the 1970 forms and schedules result in a smaller tax package for most taxpayers. The basic package sent to 50 million people late in December was 24 pages compared to 32 pages last year.

The 24-page package contains the Form 1040, schedules for itemized deductions and for reporting dividend and interest income, the tax tables and instructions. Taxpayers who have capital gains to report, and income from other sources such as pensions, annuities, rents or royalties received a 40-page package. Some 17.5 million taxpayers are in this category.

About 10.5 million taxpayers, mostly farmers and businessmen, received a 56-page package containing the additional schedules they will need.

Mailing of tax packages are based on taxpayers' filing status for the preceding year. If an individual's status has changed and he requires schedules not included in the package sent him, he may request them from his nearest IRS office.

Harley Keating dies at Detroit

Harley Forrest Keating, 81, of Detroit died Tuesday, March 2, at his home.

Born in Cass City Jan. 29, 1890, he was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edward Keating.

He and Miss Stella Door were married in Detroit July 1, 1916.

A retired salesman for Allegheny Steel Co., he was a member of the Friendship Lodge F & AM of Detroit and a member of the United Metropolitan Methodist Church.

Besides his widow, he is survived by two sons, Eugene Keating of Grosse Pointe Woods and Edward Keating of Naperville, Ill.; six grandchildren; three great-grandchildren; and a sister, Miss Caroline Keating of Detroit.

Rev. Ben Whaley of Caro will conduct the funeral services Thursday morning at 11:00 at Little's Funeral Home. Burial will be in Elkland cemetery.

Indianfields to hold public zoning meet

Indianfields Township Zoning Board plans a public hearing March 8 at the township hall concerning the possible rezoning of land on which the road commission wants to develop a new, centrally located, complex.

The complex, if it becomes a reality, would be located on the Wireline Road and M-24, a few miles south of Caro, but some opposition had developed earlier in the year among area residents who would be in the neighborhood of the road commission's new home.

The 40 acres of land acquired by the road commission from the Department of Natural Resources is zoned residential and some sort of change would have to be made to accommodate the road commission.

Universities join to help in corn leaf blight fight

Financial aid to victims of crime would be paid from state funds if Attorney General Frank J. Kelley and some members of the Legislature have their way.

Proposals introduced in both houses of the Legislature would give crime victims up to $15,000 in financial aid. Kelley, a major supporter of the legislation, recently sent letters to all 148 legislators urging them to make the issue "a top item of governmental concern."

"Presently, we make special efforts to take care of those convicted of crime by providing them with training, medical care, dental care, and other social services," he wrote. "However, we leave the victim to take care of himself."

Now under consideration are laws which would pay actual expenses caused by crime but not covered by insurance.

Lost earnings while the victim is unable to work or support his family if he were killed would be included, with payments limited to $100 a week.

The program would be administered by a compensation board of three members, who would hear claims from victims of crimes and would decide whether they deserved compensation. Financing would come from the state general fund.

Among the conditions imposed upon any payments would be:

--the crime would have to be reported within 48 hours.
--the victim, including policemen, would have to suffer personal injury or death as a result of a crime.

--the victim and his assailant could not be members of the same family nor could they have a close or intimate relationship with each other.

--no payment would be made if the victim's conduct contributed to the infliction of his injuries.

--no payment would be made if the out-of-pocket loss was less than $200 or if less than three weeks' earnings were lost.

A spokesman for Kelley said there is no way to estimate how many persons would qualify for compensation.

He estimated first year costs for setting up a program would be about $500,000.

Since 1966, New York, California, Hawaii, Maryland and Massachusetts have enacted crime compensation laws similar to Michigan's proposed law, and they have paid out a total of $1.8 million to 1,000 claimants.

BLIGHT FORMS BOND

Michigan's two largest universities are joining forces to combat the new diseases which are endangering Michigan's number one agricultural crop -- corn.

Michigan State University and University of Michigan are working on means to identify southern corn leaf blight and similar diseases much earlier than they now are detected. MSU plant biologist A. H. Ellingboe explains MSU will "supply the necessary knowledge of plant biology and corn diseases. The U of M will supply the needed technology and knowledge in remote sensing."

The joint project is aimed at "fingerprinting" the various diseases so they can be identified as early as possible by a device which measures the radiations given off by various animal species, diseases, and plants.

"Our problem is first to identify the true 'signature' of healthy corn under various growing conditions and second to identify the 'signature' of corn that has southern corn leaf blight," Ellingboe explains.

"When the experiment is completed we hope to have a means of detecting leaf blight before farmers can see it in the field," he said. "This would make corn protection programs easier and would prevent chemical treatments in areas where there is no disease threat."

LONG LINES FEARED

The same frustration his predecessor, James Hare, in dealing with license plate buyers is bothering the new Secretary of State, Richard Austin.

Hare yearly pleaded with car owners not to wait until the last minute to buy their license plates, and yearly he lost.

"I hate to keep harping at people to get their plates, but I also hate to contemplate the shoving, tugging matches and the raveled nerves if they wait until the last minute to buy their 1971 plates," Austin said recently.

"But if business doesn't perk up soon, last-minute buyers will find themselves in the most colossal lines in history if they wait to buy plates just before the March 31 deadline."

Human nature being what it is, they'll probably wait anyway.

BETTER HEALTH

Vasectomy: more popular today

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Voluntary sterilization is becoming more and more popular today, for both men and women. The little sterilization operation, either on the man or the woman, is the surest, safest, and most convenient means of avoiding an unwanted pregnancy.

In a recent article in the New York Times, Jane E. Brody said that two million Americans of childbearing age have, with this means of sterilization, found complete freedom from pills, diaphragms and other contraceptive devices, as well as from unwanted children. A simple operation which can often be done in 30 minutes under local anesthetic in the doctor's office, if well performed, can leave a man permanently sterile. Each year now, well over 100,000 persons ask for such a sterilization.

In men, the operation is very simple; it is called a VASECTOMY -- the vas deferens, meaning the tube that carries spermatozoa from the testis up to the base of a man's bladder, ecto, meaning out, and -tomy meaning cutting. If the vas is well cut, the man's semen will be free from spermatozoa, which join with an ovum (tiny egg) in the woman, to form the embryo, or beginning of a child. Without spermatozoa the man can have sex as well and as happily as he did in the past; he will notice no difference, and the only change will be that no pregnancy can result.

It is extremely important that the man know that with vasectomy there is no castration, and his testicles, his manhood, his desire for sex, and his enjoyment of sex will all be unchanged.

The operation on a woman, as performed in the past, was a big one, because the abdomen had to be opened. The two fallopian tubes, that run out from each side of the top of the womb toward the ovaries, are cut and tied off. Today, with a new type of operation called "culdoscopy," the doctor can perform the task through a culdoscope, or lighted tube, which he pushes up through a little hole made at the top of the vagina, thus saving much time and expense.

After a man has had the operation, there should be no sex between the man and his wife until a microscopic examination has shown that there are no more spermatozoa coming from the man's testes. It is wise also to have a few examinations of the semen to make sure that the tubes have not opened up, as they do in rare cases.

In those cases in which neither the man nor the wife has shown fertility, by having a child, the doctor might begin by checking the man's semen for spermatozoa, and the woman's tubes, to see if they are open. He can test the woman by injecting some CO2 gas through her vagina, and her womb, and into her tubes.

Many people fear the sterilization operation, even when perhaps the wife has a very serious disease and a pregnancy would endanger her life, or when the husband has lost his ability to work, and could not properly care for and educate another child. Some of these people wonder if after the operation a better day might come, or a new marriage which would cause desire for a child, could the tubes be opened up again? Surgeons can open them up, but they cannot guarantee that they will work so perfectly that a pregnancy would result. People thinking of having the operation should be very sure that they will never want more children.

I read that the Blue Cross, in more than 30 states, will pay the hospital expenses for sterilizations that are done for medical or socio-economic reasons. In four states, Blue Cross pays only for those operations considered a medical necessity. In 35 states, Medicaid programs pay the bills for needy patients.

The Association for Voluntary Sterilization, with offices at 14 West 40th St., New York, N. Y. 10018, has a list of 1,600 physicians here and there around the country who will be glad to perform the slight operation.

Anyone who may feel outraged at me for telling of this work ought to read about the conditions in a place like Calcutta, India, where because of the tremendous overpopulation, every morning many people are found lying dead on the sidewalks, where they went to sleep because they had no home; many died because they were starved, others, because they had some illness and there was no doctor or hospital to help them.

Experts tell us that disaster can well come even to us in wealthy America in the next 50 years if we keep doubling our population at short intervals. Already we have people who are hungry and do not have proper homes or schools or jobs; if we will stop and think for a moment we will see how great the problems must be when a population is doubled, and thousands of houses must be built, much more food must be grown, many hundreds of new schools will have to be built, new teachers will have to be found and trained, and thousands of new jobs will have to be created.

In "Science News," there is an article saying that there are about 17,000,000 persons of all ages in the United States who are suffering from the pains of arthritis. There are several types of joint pain that can be recognized, from the very mild fibrositis, that does not cause any deformity of the joints and only makes occasional aches and pains, to the severe rheumatoid arthritis, which cripples the body and is a wasting disease.

As we all know, Aspirin is the most common pain-reliever that is used; some doctors give for a while cortisone, or cortisone-like drugs, or gold salts, but these treatments have their dangers.

In a recent column, I wrote about the new group of drugs called the PROSTAGLANDINS, potent chemicals that were recently discovered, and are now being studied, because they promise to be of help in a number of diseases. Some men at a meeting in Washington of the Arthritis Foundation, said that these new drugs may be particularly useful in the treatment of arthritis. Prostaglandin E1 is now being used for some arthritides.

Another substance which seems to be working beautifully in many cases is the amino acid histidine, which is lacking in the blood of some arthritics. Histidine is given in doses of about 3 grams daily, in capsule form.

It is much to be hoped now that these discoveries will be confirmed by other men. I hope also that my readers will not write and ask me for the prostaglandin drug or the histidine, because I haven't any. I like to write about new discoveries, even when they are in the experimental stage and not yet available to the public, because I like to give encouragement and hope to persons with diseases like arthritis, for which for many years we have not had any really satisfactory treatments.

Dr. Alvarez explains some of the symptoms and treatments of arthritis in his booklet, "Arthritis and Rheumatism," which you may have by simply sending 25 cents and a stamped self-addressed envelope along with your request for it to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

In India, thousands of sterilization operations are being performed at government expense, because the people are too poor to be able to buy contraceptive pills or devices.

Because of the immediacy of this problem, Dr. Alvarez is offering his readers his booklet, "Psycho-Sexual Troubles of Men," which explains some of the difficulties faced by a person who has lost interest in sex. If you would like to have a copy of this booklet, simply send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope along with your request for it to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Director of nursing

New office to unsnarl red tape for Mrs. Larner

WHEN MRS. ANN LARNER moves from the closet she uses as an office, she has ambitious plans for improving the service under her direction as director of nurses at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Final rites held Wednesday for Gerald Langmaid

Gerald Frank Langmaid, 38, of Lake Orion succumbed Sunday morning, Feb. 28, from injuries in an auto accident.

A former Cass City area resident, he was born in Kingston Nov. 10, 1932, the son of Fred Langmaid of Caro and the late Mrs. Langmaid. His mother died in January.

He married Marjorie Stahlbaum in Cass City June 9, 1956, where they made their home. They have resided in Lake Orion for nine years.

Langmaid was a graduate of Cass City High School, the class of 1951. He was a member of the American Legion Chief Pontiac Post No. 377, having served as sergeant in the US Army during the Korean war.

Besides his widow and father, surviving are: a daughter Nora and three sons, Gerald, David and Ronald, all at home; two sisters, Mrs. James (Marjorie) Johnson of Cass City and Mrs. Jerry (Freda) Hamilton of Ortonville, and four brothers, Arnold and Donald, both of Caro, Lloyd of Waterford and Robert of Minneapolis, Minn.

Funeral services were held

Wednesday afternoon at Little's Funeral Home. The Rev. Mark Caldwell, pastor of the Sashabaw United Presbyterian Church at Clarkston, officiated.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery and committal services were under the auspices of the Tri-County American Legion Post No. 507 of Cass City.

Trouble-makers don't care to get ahead if they can get even.

FINANCIAL CURB

The fellow who pays cash for his wants soon gets into the habit of not wanting much.

One of the hazards of the position of director of nursing at Hills and Dales General Hospital is that the director can become so snarled in red tape that she can no longer function properly.

This hasn't happened at the hospital, but both Mrs. Ann Larner of Caro, director, and Administrator Byron Landholt agree that under present conditions more time is spent book-keeping than will be necessary when the hospital is expanded this year.

Warm and friendly Mrs. Larner paused for a moment Tuesday and talked about what her new office will mean in terms of her job in the hospital and about her plans as director. Currently she is in a former closet in the medical ward . . . just large enough for her desk.

When the expansion is complete she will be moved downstairs into a 16x18 foot office.

And flanking her desk will be two others. One will be used by the assistant director of nurses and the other by a secretary.

The secretary will handle the records for Mrs. Larner and her assistant . . . and allow more time for supervision.

Mrs. Larner is new at her job in Cass City. She has been in charge for only a couple of weeks. But she has some definite ideas about what she can do to contribute to a more successful hospital.

"I plan to take a long look at the total job," she bubbled, "and keep in close contact with my shift supervisors."

With some of the bookkeeping gone, Mrs. Larner expects to have time to visit the patients as well as confer with the remainder of the employees to make sure that things run as smoothly as possible.

Included will be visits to the hospital during all shifts. It's the only way that I can become close to the members of the staff that don't work days, Mrs. Larner said.

The new director came to the hospital in December 1969 as in-service director. She has been a resident of Caro since August of '69.

She became familiar with the hospital when she was hired to teach two classes for nurses' aides under a program sponsored by the OEO.

SCHOOL MEETING

bus chassis specifications were authorized. They will skyrocket the cost of the units to the school by $1,800.

The changes are required by the State and the most expensive of them will be addition of air brakes.

In a session closed to the press and the public, a hearing on re-employment upon retirement for two teachers was discussed.

No action was taken and the entire situation will be reviewed in the board's open regular session Monday, Mar. 9.

Caro school okays 3 mills for 1 year

The Caro Community School passed a three-mill millage renewal with little trouble last week in the first school millage vote of 1971 for Tuscola county.

The question of three mills for one year received 517 yes votes against 176 no votes and will return $93,000 to the Caro school district, based on the present valuation.

In the meantime, the Reese school district is well into its second week of a strike of 45 teachers.

The administration and education association negotiating teams met for three hours Friday afternoon going over the budget, but early this week there was no indication of when school would start or when negotiations would resume.

In early Europe, a gentleman was defined as one who had an aristocratic background, wealth and did not have to work.

Mrs. J. Miljure dies in Royal Oak

Mrs. Joseph Miljure, 84, died Sunday, Feb. 28, in William Beaumont Hospital, Royal Oak.

Mrs. Miljure was a former resident of the Bad Axe, Cass City and Owendale areas.

The former Elizabeth Bewick, she was born Jan. 6, 1887, in London, Ont.

She and her husband were married Dec. 20, 1910, in Detroit. They observed their 60th wedding anniversary in 1970.

Mrs. Miljure is survived by her husband; two sons, Donald Miljure of Cass City and Douglas Miljure of Detroit; three daughters, Mrs. Dolite Miller of Royal Oak, with whom she and her husband resided in recent years, Mrs. Dorothy Sheldon of Royal Oak and Mrs. Genevieve Neubig of Novi, Mich.; 13 grandchildren, three great-grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Mary Stuart of Detroit.

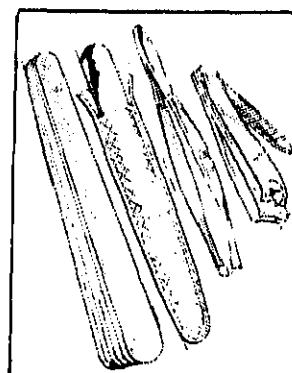

Rev. Russell H. McKenzie, rector of St. Margaret Episcopal Church, Royal Oak, was to officiate, with burial in Rose-lawn Park cemetery.

Trash Monster

Visitors Anthony Thomas (left) of Akron, Ohio, and Joel Bower, Chelsea, Mich., feed the "Monstro-horribilis" of the Michigan State University Museum. The trash monster, "excavated" during a dig at local dumps, is seven feet tall and weighs 300 pounds. It was built of 500 cans, bottles, plastic containers, a shopping cart, blinking lights and other assorted trash. The Museum notes: "Monstro-horribilis. Range: Thrives in areas inhabited by man. Growth rate: Governed by our carelessness. This monster is dangerous and must be exterminated."

Mr. John Haire, Editor
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Mich. 48726

Mr. Haire:

I felt you deserved a favorable comment on your editorial of last week. In a town where much is phony, a candid but honest opinion on the racial problems is most refreshing. Remarks such as: "If you like the niggers so much, why don't you go and live with them?", only denotes the ignorance of someone who would utter such a statement. Even one of our local ministers made a comment, "We don't have any of 'them' here!" It made me wonder if he was the head of a church or an order of the Klu Klux Klan. No, the black race is not all perfect, either is any other.

Unlike some I have lived in a racially troubled city and to find out why we had problems I became involved. I attended meetings where only white hands raised were recognized. Oh! yes, I could see why we were having disorder.

"All men are equal", Americans say, but few really feel a commitment to that statement or utilize its significance. How true the statement, "Bigotry dwells the soul by shutting out the truth." As scarce as truth is, the supply has always been in excess of the demand.

I believe you are liberal in your opinions, that's what makes "The Chronicle" good reading. Of course "liberal" to many here is allowing themselves to view "Mod Squad" on TV. I imagine you do encounter unfavorable response to such an editorial but it takes an open mind to see both sides to every issue and many should be very gratified that the editor of the Chronicle is both liberal and open minded.

Mrs. Lloyd Karr
dies after long illness

Mrs. Maude E. Karr, 81, died Monday, March 1, at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility, where she had been a patient three years.

Mrs. Karr was born at Gagetown, May 19, 1889. Her parents were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Ottoway. She was married to Lloyd Karr Oct. 19, 1910, at Gagetown. Mr. Karr died Dec. 5, 1970.

Mrs. Karr attended the United Methodist church.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Harold (Wanda) Huffman of Saginaw, and three grandchildren.

Funeral services were scheduled Thursday at Little's Funeral Home, with Rev. Ira Wood, pastor of Salem United Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in Elkland cemetery.

memo to advertisers

SEEING IS BELIEVING

How do you believe something you can't actually look at—like the audience for your advertising?

You know that some people out there buy and read our paper—but how many, where do they live, where do they shop for their copies, and how much are they willing to pay?

Best way we know of to "see" a circulation audience (and be sure it exists) is through the facts and figures of the reports of the Audit Bureau of Circulations.

No problem to look over our circulation audience—just ask to see a copy of our latest ABC audit report.

THE CASS CITY CHRONICLE

The Audit Bureau of Circulations is a self-regulatory association of over 4,000 advertisers, advertising agencies, and publishers, and is recognized as a bureau of standards for the print media industry.

Parents ignore
Girl Scout
laws here

March 1, 1971

To The Editor:

"A Girl Scout's honor is to be trusted." "A Girl Scout obeys orders." I'm sure all the scouts know the Girl Scout laws, but I wonder if their parents do. It's Girl Scout cookie time again and I'm fuming again. I believe in Girl Scout cookies and I always buy more than our diet or budget can afford.

What's bugging me is the mothers and dads of the girls that deprive them of their "Scout's honor" by soliciting orders from their friends and co-workers a week before the girls are supposed to start their campaign. I just don't think it's fair to the kids who are obeying the rules, going door-to-door, or at least have the incentive to take their own orders by phone.

I don't have a girl in scouting, so I have no personal axe to grind, and I don't begrudge the organization any money they can collect from selling cookies.

But it seems to me that it defies all the principles scouting is supposed to instill when Mom & Dad sell the cookies and daughter wins the honors without lifting a finger.

Register
deadline near for tots

The Cass City Pre-School Nursery has set the final date for application for the fall session.

Mar. 1 an application form and parents' letter was sent to all mothers who have attended any of the nursery meetings. Any other mothers wishing an application form or information should contact Mrs. Lynn Albee or Mrs. Richard Wallace.

The deadline for application is April 1. A non-refundable registration fee of $5.00 is required. As class size will be limited to 20, applications will be taken on a first-come basis. If there are more than 20 applications, but not enough for two classes, a waiting list will be compiled.

Any child who will be between the ages of three and five in the fall is eligible. A child who will be three during the '71-'72 school year can be put on the waiting list.

Proper arrangements
key to good pictures

Books have been written — and speakers have spent countless hours — in attempting to explain photographic composition.

But it all boils down to the simple fact that a picture succeeds, or it doesn't, by whether or not the photographer has found, or created, a pleasing arrangement of his subject matter.

Someone else taking the same picture might have approached it from a different angle — and composition — and been just as effective.

Because individuals differ in their tastes the composition that pleases one viewer might be "wrong" to another. And, since even the experts who admit to knowing "all of the rules" do not always agree, who is to say which of two effective pictures succeeds best by composition?

So, the photographer who is serious about making better pictures needs only to be aware of the importance of how he places his material in the "frame" of the picture — and always try to make the viewer see the picture he sees.

Most photographers would be well advised to approach the "rules" of composition as "guides" to what has proved to be effective for generations of artists — in whatever medium — because the original artists simply arranged their material by instinct. The rules have been written much later by the experts who analyzed successful pictures.

The key to good composition is the "center of interest," the most important single feature of the picture you want to make. Is it the eyes — or the hairdo — in the portrait? Is it the smile, or the hands, of the playing child?

Is it that spot of light on the side of a farmer's home at sunset, or is it the cows coming home from the pasture? The photographer must decide.

The pictures which fail, both for the photographer and his viewer, are those in which there is no real center of interest which stands out, or in which there are so many different points of interest that the viewer is confused.

The real "center of interest" is the one spot in the picture to which the eye jumps first. That spot of red-coated spectator standing on the edge of the road looking out over the mountain lake will grab first attention. In a monochrome picture the same thing will happen if the figure is completely black or white — the point of greatest contrast in tones.

The skilled photographer uses this knowledge deliberately. He may have someone along to stand in an exact spot wearing a red coat. He makes you see that figure. Then you become the one standing there looking at the beautiful view, picking out places for special study and thoroughly enjoying the picture. But that one "center" dominates.

But the so-called "center" is rarely in the center of the picture which you can soon discover for yourself by the study of pictures others have made which appeal particularly to you. So, do like the rule makers do — study pictures, in the newspapers, magazines, art galleries, on television and in the movies, to see how the material in the ones that appeal most to you has been arranged.

Tourney time: Hawks face Hatchets Thursday

CASS CITY SCHOOLS had an undefeated championship team this year. It was the Seventh grade which capped a perfect year by winning the Seventh grade tournament held last week in Cass City. The stellar play proved expensive for Coach James MacTavish who treated the squad to pizza after the banner year was over.

Share ideas in county 4-H workshop

Tuscola County 4-H Foods Leaders will have a special workshop Thursday, March 11, from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. at the Civil Defense Center in Caro and in Sanilac county this special workshop will be held Monday, March 8, from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. at the Farm Bureau Building in Sandusky.

The first part of the program will feature three foods leaders sharing teaching ideas they have used successfully in their 4-H Clubs. The leaders participating are Mrs. Glen Harrington of Akron, Mrs. Henry Airgood and Mrs. Keith Green, both of Caro. Other foods leaders will have an opportunity to share their ideas.

The Sanilac leaders participating are Mrs. Clair Auslander of Decker, Mrs. Clarence McQuarrie and Mrs. Donald Dale, both of Marlette.

Miss Mary Kerr, Thumb Extension Home Economist, will show some of the visual aids available to foods leaders. She will also share several games and learning ideas with the leaders.

All 4-H foods leaders, Girl Scout and Brownie leaders, and anyone interested in becoming a foods leader are urged to attend.

DNR to release 1,000 pheasants in Huron county

Approximately 1,000 Korean pheasants will be released by the Department of Natural Resources from their winter holding pens in central Huron county when spring break-up arrives in March.

The birds, penned and fed since last September in Sheridan and Lincoln townships, are the first set for release under an experiment to see if they can make the grade in areas where the state's own ring-neck pheasants have waned.

DNR wildlife men report that plans for the initial releases are "right on schedule," and they add that the adult, full-plumaged birds soon to be freed are in "excellent condition" despite the rigors of this winter.

An additional 500 Korean pheasants are scheduled to be turned loose in each of the two townships during the springs of 1972 and 1973 to bring the DNR's release total to 3,000 birds under its three-year experimental stocking program.

DNR wildlife biologists say it will take about 9 years to tell if the experiment is successful, and they will carry out pheasant surveys during that period to measure the results.

6th grade rallies to top 5th grade

The sixth grade basketball team defeated the fifth grade Friday in a close game, 33-32 as the sixth graders came from behind to win.

The fifth grade bounded into a 14-5 lead at the end of the first period. The sixth grade closed the gap to 19-15 at halftime and took the lead in the last half to win.

Rick Selby tossed in 17 points for the sixth grade. He was followed by Mike Lowe with 11, Dan Eria, 2, and Kurt Little 1.

Jeff Hartel poured in 19 for the fifth grade. Clarke Haire added 9, Mike Richards, 4, and Ross Ridenour, 1.

Each minute of the day the federal government pays interest on the national debt of about $39,000, says the House Appropriations Committee.

Undefeated 7th grade ends banner season

Cass City's seventh grade basketball team capped an undefeated season Saturday with a 45-30 victory over Sandusky in the finals of a tournament held in Cass City.

The win was the tenth in a row for the Junior Hawks.

Most of the wins were easy during the year, but the Hawks were forced to come from behind to whip the Redskins. The final score was 45-30.

The Hawks trailed by a basket at the end of the first quarter, rallied for a six-point lead at the intermission and were ahead by only three points at the end of three periods.

But a big 16-4 edge in the final quarter put away the victory.

Dave Zawilinski netted 14 points to lead the way, followed by Clark Hillaker and Chuck Bliss, 10 each; Ken Lowe, 5, Dave Romig, 4, and Tom Smentek, 2.

For the year Zawilinski netted 200 points. Hillaker had 110 and Bliss 98. Lowe scored 80, Smentek, 51, Romig, 29, Sherman, 24, Kendall, 7, Tuckey, 4, Howard, 2, and Speirs, 1.

Hillaker snagged 118 rebounds for the year. Zawilinski had 107. Chuck Bliss shot 58 per cent from the free throw line.

Coach James MacTavish said the 30-boy team was very coachable and "true champions in every respect."

The team celebrated the season with a banquet at Sherman's Restaurant.

Forget about what happened in every previous game. Forget about the two times that Bad Axe defeated Cass City during the regular season. Forget about the 5-12 regular season record.

For it's District Tournament time and every team goes into the post season competition all even again.

It's a new season. The chance for the also-rans to make it a great season and a time for the champions to prove that they can do it all once more.

For Cass City the moment of truth comes Thursday night at 7 p. m. at Laker High School when Coach Fred Hurlburt's charges meet Bad Axe.

A win over the Hatchets and the upset of upsets the following night against the Lakers would turn a dismal year into a great one for Cass City.

Such a happy ending is unlikely, but it's possible and that's what makes the annual spring classic so exciting to fans and players alike.

The Hawks lost their tourney tune-up last Friday as the Caro Tigers bombed Cass City early and late to win almost as they pleased, 86-69.

It would have been better for Cass City fans if the evening had ended immediately following the Junior Varsity game.

For the Cass City JV's topped the Tigers in double overtime, 55-54, and came from six points behind in the final two minutes to win.

The Hawks were given life when Caro missed two free throws after time had run out on the clock. Curt Strickland scored 19 for Cass City.

It was the final game for the JV which ended the year with 8 wins and 9 defeats. Team members were: Al Romig, Dale Auslander, Tim Stickle, Kim Glaspie, Bob Ross, Gene Salas, Drew Guernsey, Kurt Freiburger, Curt Strickland, Mark Posluszny and Randy Wright.

It was a happy ending for the Junior Varsity. But the Tiger varsity made Caro fans forget about the defeat.

With Kirk Sutherland and Mike Putnam showing the way with deadly shots from the top of the key, it was simply no contest.

Still, all hope didn't fade until the third period when Cass City made numerous turnovers and Caro capitalized on nearly every one.

While the Tigers had a comfortable margin at the end of the first period, 21-13, and stretched it to 44-33 at the half, it was in the third quarter that the game turned into a rout.

When Caro flooded the floor with reserves in the early moments of the fourth quarter, the visitors had stretched their lead to 30 points.

Sutherland poured in 26 points before going to the bench midway in the final period and Putnam scored 15 to lead the Tigers.

Alexander hit for 22 and Bliss added 17 for Cass City.

DDT Supplies Bound for Disposal

This pile of DDT-laden compounds represents only part of such supplies which have been taken off Michigan's retail market and are now being readied by the Department of Natural Resources for pollution-free disposal. Stored at DNR field installations throughout the state are nearly 32,500 pounds of dry compounds, 3,000 gallons of liquids, and about 8,700 aerosol cans containing DDT which have been seized by State Department of Agriculture inspectors under Michigan's general sales ban on the toxic chemical. Ervin Parker, the Department's district business executive at Jackson, here checks some of those DDT compounds before they are pooled into containers for safe handling and disposal. The materials then will be consumed in a commercial incinerator which burns with such high intensity that it breaks down DDT. The facility includes scrubbers in its stacks to prevent any poisonous vapors from escaping into the air. It will take several months before all the DDT stored at various DNR field stations can be inventoried and "packaged" for shipment to the disposal plant. This project adds important thrust to the DNR's continuing efforts to purge DDT supplies from the Michigan scene. Since 1968, it has been instrumental in disposing of 13,650 gallons of liquids and 2,000 pounds of dry powder containing DDT which were collected from municipalities and public agencies in this state. --Mich.
