Hunt, Bulen, Strickland land coveted Citizen of Year awards

Before an estimated 200 members and guests of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce Thursday, C. R. Hunt was honored as Citizen of the Year and Cindy Strickland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Strickland, and Anne Bulen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bulen, were feted as co-junior Citizens of the Year.

The awards highlighted the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce at Cass City High School Thursday night.

Hunt became the ninth Cass Cityan to receive the award. It was presented by Audley Rawson, last year's honored resident, Rawson outlined Hunt's service to the community before introducing him. He recalled some of his early history.

Hunt moved to Cass City as a boy from Sacramento, Calif. He served several years as president of the village starting in 1960 and was a councilman for several years.

He is a past president of the Rotary Club and was a member of the Cass City Gavel

He has been active in Scouting for many years. In recognition of his long service he has been granted Scouting's highest award, the Silver Beaver,

Hunt was also always very active in any local civic project. When Hills and Dales General Hospital was built, Hunt was one of the 17 families to make room-sized donations ($5,000 or more) to the facility.

He could also be counted on to donate his construction equipment for the community's benefit. Hunt's earth moving machinery was a familiar sight around the Cass City Recreational Park.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Annually following the Chamber of Commerce banquet, I'm tinged with regret following the selection of the Junior Citizen of the Year.

I always feel that it's a harsh decision. . . picking out one (or this year two) Senior student at Cass City School for public accolade.

And this of course, has nothing to do with who is selected. It's been my contention that regardless of who wins, the line between the winner and the losers is so thin that making the choice is bound to leave doubts among the backers of the candidates that lose out.

And, contrary to the selection of the citizen of the year, the kids have only one chance. You make it as a Senior student or you just don't make it at

I was talking about this again the other day with Vic Guernsey who is a Journalism grad gone on to better things.

Vic still has a little newspapering nostalgia (probably because he's been away from it long enough now to forget the hang-ups) and we talk about such earth shaking things as this quite frequently.

Anyway after rapping a bit about this pet theory of mine, I've changed it.

I still feel that many potential deserving junior citizens are passed by. . .but I've decided that it isn't all that important. That important to the

Certainly the winners are thrilled and probably will glow a little as they grow older and remember the day when they were honored.

But the ones who didn't win will probably forget the whole affair in a day or two. . . if anyone feels more than momentarily piqued it will probably be the parents. It's the nature of youth to shrug it off. Why worry about yesterday when there is a world of tomorrows ahead?

It's that same confidence, that same assurance that moves kids to try everything from new businesses to social revolt.

Youth steps in where adults fear to tread. So what if they fail more often than they succeed?

The ones that do succeed are the shakers and movers in our society. . .and for the ones that fail there is always tomorrow and another opportunity, another challenge.

So if the adults will remember that there can only be one Junior Citizen picked it's full speed ahead in the years ahead. It won't bother the kids one way or the other.

Free trip details revealed

Chamber President Keith McConkey announced this week that plans for honoring the area mother who wins the Chamber's free contest now in progress have been completed.

The lucky mom and the guest of her choice will board an American Airlines flight from Detroit to New York May 14 and return May 16.

While there the couple will enjoy an all-expense paid tour of the city. In addition, mom will be given $50 spending money, courtesy of the Chamber.

In case the lucky winner can't make the trip, the Chamber has rounded up $150 in gift certificates that can be used in any store in Cass City as a consolation prize.

Union disputes board decisions

A good share of the first negotiating session called Monday at Cass City High School to hammer out details of a master contract for the coming school year was devoted to a dispute over interpretation of the present contract.

Involved is payment of three teachers who missed school for various reasons, Chief Negotiator Dorland Kuntz asked that the teachers be paid under the emergency provision of the master contract. The provision in question says at the discretion of the superintend-

Supt. Don Crouse refused to pay unless the union would agree that the payment would not involve a precedent. In other words if the teachers were paid in the three specific incidents under discussion, it would not mean that other teachers would necessarily be paid on the same

Dorland R. Kuntz, moved up to the chief negotiator's spot to replace retired Jim Mac-Tavish, presented 11 issues to Al Luce, school negotiator, and Supt. Donald Crouse and the usual opening verbal sparring

The union has been trying to get the school to agree to up to 3 days off for personal business. . . .that is time off without approval of the administration and with full pay,

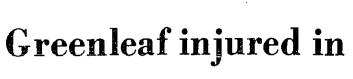

It's a bargaining item carried from year to year. It has always been the school's position that these are vacation days. The CCTA did outline what it expected in the way of insurance benefits this year. Teachers are asking for full coverage health insurance and $10,000 term life insurance. Kuntz said that he was not ready yet to present wage proposals to the board and asked that the board present a proposal. In past years, the school has always waited for the union to present its demands as a starting point in bargaining. The real nitty gritty bargaining will begin when it does.

"Retired" John Graham eyes new career in Honduras

John R. Graham of rural Caro looks, acts and reacts like most any successful Tuscola county farmer. . . and he should. He has been one for all of his 62 years and is widely known for his innovative dairy operation on Jacob Road. It's probably that he still considers himself one. Certainly, he doesn't look at all like what he is right at this moment and what he plans to be for the better part of the next three years...an ambassador of good will in Latin America. While Graham will give you all kinds of details of how he happened to be drawn into this unique situation. . .the real reason is really very simple. Graham has sold his farm business to his two sons and is "retired" and drawing social security. John Graham retired and drawing social security makes about as much sense to those who know him as hitching a race horse to a milk wagon. Graham plans to spend 8 months of each of the next three years helping to develop agriculture in underdeveloped British Honduras, soon to be known

"accident prone" when opporfunities for service present itself. At a casual lunch with William Bortel, Tuscola County Agricultural Agent, and Dr. Jake Wamaff, of Michigan State University's extension service, he became committed to a program called Michigan Partners of Americas, that stems from the Alliance for Progress with Latin America signed in 1964.

The program is dedicated to helping underdeveloped nations in South America.

British Honduras, preparing rapidly for independence, is a fertile field for aid and has a special need for Graham's special farming talents. Graham just returned from his first trip to Honduras and He's getting started on his long range program right now. He returned home with a guest. Wayne McDougall, 18, who will be observing the Graham's farm operation for from three to six months.

We'd like to have Wayne learn about artificial insemination, Graham says, so that he can go back and start a dairy farm in the country that will have access to the finest dairy producers available. One thing, Graham feels that the citizens have going for them, is that many are already working hard for relatively little the United States Constitution reads in part as follows:

Miss Linda Marie Hahn and Michael Edward Baranek, both of Bay City, exchanged wedding vows April 24 in St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Cass City. The Rev. Fr. Leo Gengler performed the three o'clock ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Hahn of Cass City and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baranek of Bay City.

Escorted by her parents, the bride approached the altar wearing a floor-length gown of white silk organza fashioned with imported Peaud' Angelace gracing the stand-up neckline, cuffed Edwardian sleeves and modified Empire bodice from which fell an A-line skirt extending into a lace motif accented chapel train. A matching lace and floral bandeau held her bouffant English illusion veil and she carried a single white rose with satin streamers.

Miss Jeanne Hahn of Detroit was her sister's maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Gerald Baranek, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Baranek and Mrs. Richard LaPan, all of Bay City.

Bay City.

Yvonne Hahn of Cass City was flower girl. She and the maid of honor wore maize organza butterfly print gowns, fashioned with white Venise lace gracing the stand-up neckline and Empire bodice from which fell a gathered A-line skirt. They carried a single yellow rose.

The bridesmaids' gowns were lime green organza with white Venise lace on the stand-up neckline, cuffed bishop sleeves and bolero styled bodice with a softly gathered A-line skirt. They also carried a single yellow rose.

Best man was Paul Beujewski and groomsmen were Gerald Baranek, Joseph Baranek and Harold Sy, all of Bay City.

Mrs. Hahn, mother of the bride, chose a rose colored knit dress with sequin accents. A corsage of pink sweetheart roses and carnations completed her attire. The groom's mother wore a navy and white knit ensemble and her corsage was red sweetheart roses and carnations.

About 400 guests attended a reception for the couple at the American Legion Hall, Union-ville. A buffet dinner was served following the ceremony.

The newlyweds took a wedding trip to the Southwestern States and are making their home in Bay City, where she is an LPN at General Hospital and her husband is employed at Chevrolet.

Any theory is interesting, but accomplishment's convincing.

If my roving reporters (spies) have it right, my campaign for a clean-up of the former Cass City dump received a serious set back a couple of weeks ago.

One of Cass City's well intentioned residents was the cause. In a surge of spring madness he went through his house disposing of debris with reckless abandon.

When he finished there was a pickup load waiting to be hauled away. Careful inquiry revealed just where Cass City's landfill was and he proceeded to go directly not to the new, but the old dump. The chain was down and he went in and unloaded. It was the first deposit at the abandoned site in several Cass City High School has adopted an "unlimited" dress code. All the students have to do is keep within the bounds of decency and anything goes.

The first couple of days there were some girls in hot pants and tight jeans. . . . but we'd be willing to bet that after the novelty wears off the students will return to wearing about what they did all year.

To me, the new ruling makes a lot of sense.

Now he's living at New Port Richey in Florida, but even from a distance he can still get in his licks. I sent him a renewal notice for the paper and he penned a succinct note asking me why the renewal doesn't include the zip code along with the Chronicle's address. . .and why don't I throw the current batch of forms away and get with it? Knowing Neil I read this with a chuckle. Besides even if it hadn't struck a responsive chord I would have forgiven him:

Once again, it's rusty red water time. The village will be flushing hydrants Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, May 11-13. The dirty water won't hurt you if you can stomach it, but it will stain clothes in the washer.

When you see that rusty water running out the tap use it as a reminder that it's the start of clean-up, fix-up time in Cass City. The official starting date is May 15. By that time we should have clean water again.

"If It Fitz. . .'

One time I yanked the cord just once and the lawn mower

started, THE VERY FIRST TIME! Wow. I felt like the phone the director of the high school band and ask him to start a parade. Great occasions should be celebrated properly.

I would push my roaring mower

(it's self-propelled, but only downhill) at the rear of the parade, among the Blue Star

Mothers, so as to not drown out the drums and bugles up

But I decided against the parade, mostly because it would have required that the mower be switched off so the band director could hear me on the phone. It is my policy to never turn off the mower on purpose.

It's like having a car with a bum battery, When I park the mower, I let the motor idle

while the grass grows. I'd probably let the fool thing run from May until September, fueling

it in flight like an airplane with no landing gear, but no chance.

The mower regularly gasps and heaves and shudders and quits flat on its own with no help from mortal man. I suspect

it is offended by my grass which smells from a lack of chlorophyl. Clorets don't help.

All of which is my backhanded way of admitting I made a mistake last summer when bought a lawn mower, the first one Pve ever owned, And now it owns me. I have $200 invested in the miserable thing and, by God, I'm going to get my money's worth out of it if it costs me $2,000 in energy,

In all fairness to the manufacturer, I should point out it is not his fault. It is mine,

Machines and tools that work for everyone else never work for me. Screwdrivers fall apart in my hands. The only time I ever pound a nail solidly is when I'm driving it into the wrong wall. Once I had to ask a stranger how to put the hood up on my own car. He was a aspirin and repair bills.

My first inclination was to world's leading machinist.

Pull the cord and swear forgotten to prepare the stupid thing for storage last fall, But really, how do you know when to drain the gas and store it?

One day you can hear the grass growing. The next day the storage shed is snowed in and there's no way I can get to that mower without shoveling which is against my religion.

So, ignoring past mistakes, pressed ever onward. "Remove spark plug," the manual demanded. How? Thanks to the TV ads, I know what a sparkplug looks like. But I bloodied my knuckles and still couldn't twist the lousy thing loose. I'm sure some tool was needed but the manual didn't say which > "Use a 3/8 inch diameter dowel." Now I know what I want for Christmas. Where does an alien go to shoot himself?

I trucked the mower back to the store for resuscitation. In a few years it will be able to make the trip by itself, blindfolded. When John the hardware man did business with me, he didn't lose a mower, he gained a dumbo-in-law.

To go Onward and Upward. "just yank the starter cord once." You bet.

Cass City Gavel Club will pre- (through the aid of special Council for the Arts and the

The three short plays by Company. The program will be Pulitzer Prize-winning Amerseen at 8 p. m. at Cass City from poet Edna St. Vincent Milauthor Terrence Rattigan and Russian literary giant Anton Chekhov are joined in a twohour program of tragicomedy, drama and farce.

Edna St. Vincent Millay in her tragicomic fantasy "Aria da Capo" uses theatrically historical Commedia dell' Arte and Pastoral characters and her own skill with language to portray some of the "games people play." What starts out as a farcical contest between two "jet setters" ends up as a life and death contest between two simple shepherds who decide to play a friendly game of private property.

Terrence Rattigan's poignant drama "The Browning Version" is the story of a defeated schoolmaster. A tyrant in the classroom, he lets his wife and colleagues tyrannize his private existence. Through his relationship with a young pupil, the audience catches a glimpse of his actual profound humanity. Students and their teachers should particularly enjoy "The Browning Version".

Anton Chekhov, author of such great plays as "The Cherry Orchard" and "Uncle Vanya", has produced in his one-act "The Boor" a farce about Russian matrimony in particular and humanity in general. What happens when a mourning widow meets a maddening but attractive man should prove delightful entertainment!

The cast of "Triple Play" includes Ralph Beebe, Bonnie Gallup, Sharon Jensen, John Reid Klein, Robert Porter and Chester Smith, This company of young professional actors was selected by The University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program at nationwide auditions. All have had extensive background with theatre organizations around the country and are currently graduate students in theatre at The University of Michigan.

The presentation of "Triple Play" in Cass City is made possible by the Gavel Club and a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, the state agency which encourages support for the various performing and visual arts throughout the state. The Horace H. Rackham Fund of The University of Michigan also has provided additional support

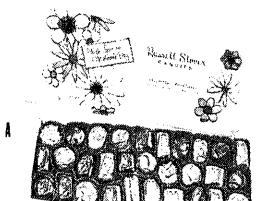

The cast will actually present two performances May 13. Prior to the evening performance, the cast will present "The Magic of the State," a 1 1/2hour program tracing theatre through the ages. It is slated at 2 p. m. and will be offered free to students at Cass City for the 1971 tour.

She has received the Daughters of the American Revolution good citizen award and is the vice-president of the ski club.

She is a member of the FHA and was student council vice-president as a Junior. She was a summer exchange student to Sweden and a member of the JV and varsity cheerleading squad as a sophomore and junior. She plans to attend Alma College.

Miss Strickland ranked 23rd in her class and was also very active in various class activities. She served three years as a varsity cheerleader.

She was Thumb B student council president and president of her class as a Freshman and Junior. She was a member of the student council for 3 years.

She was a member of the Homecoming queen's court for three years and was elected queen in 1971. She was elected to both the Junior and Senior National Honor Society. She is a member of the French club and the Ski club, She plans to attend Michigan State University.

The two junior citizens were introduced by Chamber President Keith McConkey who was toastmaster for the evening. McConkey told members of the successes the Chamber enjoyed during the year and members were presented with a brochure describing the Chamber's activities.

Prior to the presentations, Dick Erlaintroduced Monsignor Hugh M. Beahan of Grand Rapids

Monsignor Beahan, a noted speaker, lived up to his advance billing by entertaining the crowd while getting across his message that love and sharing is really what living is all about.

New businessmen and new members of the board were introduced by McConkey. The new board members are: Bob Buttery, Jim Ware, Roger Little, Lynn Albee and Ed Bergman.

Akron soldier falls in Vietnam

Christopher Vollmar, 22, son of Mrs. Dan Nowland of the Akron area, has been listed as Tuscola county's latest soldier to fall in Vietnam. The specialist fourth class was killed April 24 on a combat mission near the trouble spot of Khe Sanh. Vollmar has a brother, Dennis, on duty at Fort Knox, Ky. The body was to be returned to the Briggs Funeral Home in Akron.

kind of hand he is holding.

I think I begin to understand now why some poker players wear dark glasses.

Dr. Eckard H. Hess told a convention of the American College of Medical Hypnotists that the pupils of the eyes are apertures in the iris which normally expand in dim light or darkness, but contract when the light is brighter. But for some unexplained reason, Dr. Hess went on to say, the pupils also grow larger when the eye beholds something pleasant, like a full house or four of a kind.

And they get smaller when what's on view is a bobtailed flush or a busted straight.

Dr. Hess, who teaches at the University of Chicago, then broadened his examples significantly. A normal man's eye pupils, the good doctor indicated, may grow to twice their normal size when the eye registers the presence of a nude woman. And a hungry person's pupils expand when he sees food Quite so. I haven't felt hungry lately, but. . . .

A careless young lady in front of a picture window could in fact create a good bit of eye-dilation. As could a minibikinied beauty on the beach, or-in this day and age--a miniskirted miss seated upon a low couch.

Dr. Hess states that the eyepupil reactions seem to provide a kind of window into the brain so that "all the world is able to see inside."

Lo, the poor poker player.

Dr. Hess theorizes that eye-pupil research may help doctors to determine the progress of patients treated for various physical and psychiatric problems.

And he mentions that the principle had already been applied to determine the effectiveness of an advertising commercial or a new television

It could always be worse, of course.

Instead of eye-pupil dilation,

Ulcers come from mental strain

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

In my 25 years at the Mayo Clinic, I saw probably a few hundred patients with duodenal ulcer, and I became greatly impressed with the fact that practically always, when I could get the patient to talk to me frankly, I learned of some heavy nervous strain, either at his office or in his home, and whenever I could help a patient to get rid of his strain or annoyance, I immediately relieved his ulcer pain. An ulcer is a cup-shaped, eaten-away area in the mucous lining either of the stomach (a gastric ulcer), or of the duodenum, the first 12 inches of the small howel. The duodenal ulcer usually forms in the first two-inch-long segment, just beyond the stomach. An ulcer in the stomach is seldom larger than a quarter, while in the duodenum, it is seldom larger than a dime. Anyone who has seen, as I have, how the mucous membrane lining of the bowel, normally a pinkish color, becomes dark red and swollen when a person gets angry or frightened or worried, will understand why some people can develop an ulcer if something goes wrong in their lives. Interestingly, four times as many men as women develop ulcers.

I remember that back in 1912 I had an interesting, friendly patient, a university professor who had made a valuable invention. So long as the invention worked well and money poured into his bank account. he had no hunger pain (typical of ulcers), but every so often his invention, placed in some factory, would fail to work well, and then, threatened with financial ruin, he would get a flare-up of his ulcer. This happened half a dozen times during the two years in which I knew him well,

Another patient with a very severe ulcer for a time was incurable, because his millionaire father was disgusted with an only son who preferred to spend his time playing polo, rather than being interested in his father's big business. Several leading stomach specialists had failed to help the lad. Then the war started in Pearl Harbor and the young man immediately joined the Marines, and for the next few years fought his way up those awful beaches in the South Seas, Interestingly, under war conditions, with many dangers, bad living conditions, and poor food, he had absolutely no trouble with his ulcer. When he came to see me afterward and I asked him about this, he said, "I was well because my father couldn't get at me. As soon as I got home and my father started scolding me, I got my pain back again."

When I first started practice in San Francisco, a friendly tailor came to me with an active ulcer, and following the custom of that day, I put him in a hospital and gave him the then usual "Sippy" cure, consisting of a rest, a soft diet, and an alkali to neutralize the acid in his stomach. During his time in the hospital he was comfortable. After he left, I didn't see him for three months and he didn't pay his bill, so one day as I passed his shop, I dropped in and asked him how he was. He told me that the pain was worse than ever; it had come back the day he got home and discovered that while he was in the hospital his shop manager had decamped with his wife, his bolts of cloth, and his list of customers. After that I never again routinely sent my ulcer patients for a long hospital stay; instead, I tried to cut down on the patient's distress over some annoyance.

For years, it was the custom to operate on an ulcer patient and cut out the ulcerated area of the stomach or bowel. But when about one in five of my ulcer patients came back after an operation -- with a new ulcer, I rarely turned over an ulcer patient to my good friends the surgeons. I did not blame these able, dedicated men for the several poor results, because, as one of America's most brilliant surgeons said to me, "The trouble is that no one yet has designed a really good operation for ulcer." Recently, some of my surgeon friends have told me that they have quit operating on an ulcer patient unless he has complications, like an obstruction of the outlet of the stomach, or a perforation, or a bleeding, or symptoms that are not controllable with medquestionnaires to 247 patients with ulcer and got unswers from 181. These answers showed, just as I would have expected, that the patient usually had trouble in the home or the business office; also, there were many patients with ulcer who smoked too much or drank too much alcohol. The doctors' comments on the bad effects of emotion brought to mind the troubles of an old school-mate of mine who had always been perfectly healthy until, in his 40s, he got a bad ulcer pain when he learned that his much loved wife had a cancer of the breast. When she was operated on and seemed to be well, he got well. Then the cancer came back, and his pain became so severe that a surgeon operated on him and cut out his ulcer. For a while he was better; but when it became clear that his wife was dying, he developed a second ulcer. After she died, he remarried, and again he was free of symptoms, and his ulcer apparently had healed. Then suddenly, the ulcer came back in full force. I asked him what had gone wrong, and he said, "My former wife's sisters are fighting with me bitterly over her will, and it looks like we're in for a long court battle." It was obvious that until he could settle the law suit, he would have trouble with his ulcer. All I could do was to advise him to settle it as quickly as possible, and meanwhile, as soon as he would start to feel pain, to take a bit of food. If you would like more helpful information about stomach or duodenal ulcers, send for your copy of Dr. Alvarez' book-"Ulcers of the Stomach and Duodenum." Adversity has its place-stern economic necessity often brings men to their senses.

Two strikes slow economy of county

Economic problems continue to beset the county as the National Farmers Organization moved to withhold hogs and corn from the market place and a Caro business went out on strike. The farmers' move came Monday when NFO official, Ray Brinkman, announced what is being termed a "marketing vacation" and is scheduled to be a nationwide move except in areas where large supply contracts are in operation. The action is the result of hog and corn prices which far mers feet are very low. There has been no indication as yet on the response of farmers but a meeting is set for Thursday night at the Reese High School at 8 p. m.

Saturday at seven a. m., 44 members of Flint local 282 the printing pressmen's Union walked out of the Midwest Rotary Maniforms Company of Caro after working a month without a new contract with the firm.

Midwest Rotary Maniforms prints business forms and contract negotiations between the company and union broke down Friday night. Economic issues are the key with the union and company, reportedly far apart on wages and hospitalization.

Cass Cityan beat by pair of thugs

Larry Ussery, 24, of Cass City is recovering at Hills and Dales Hospital from the effects of a beating received Tuesday when he was accosted by two youths after leaving work at Martin's Restaurant, according to a report issued by John Rands of the Cass City Police Department.

The incident occurred on M-81. The victim stated that two boys jumped him from behind, knocked him down and beat him with their fists and kicked him with their feet. One of the subjects had boots on. Cass City officers took the beaten man to Hills and Dales Hospital where he received medical attention for his injuries.

The two youths that are in custody, one is 18, the other 16. Police Chief Gene Wilson said a petition will be filed with the probate court this morning on the juvenile. A criminal warrant will be asked on the 18-year-old.

Criminal arraignments heard

Set murder trial date for Villarreal

Tuscola county Circuit Court is moving swiftly to give Samuel Villarreal, 59, of Kingston, his trial on a murder charge as quickly as possible. Villarreal is charged with the murder of his common law wife, Tillie, 57, early in January on their farm southwest of Kingston. He is accused of firing two 12 gauge shotgun slugs into her lower abdomen

. . .the slugs recovered from a spot where they lay an inch apart. . .during a family quar-

Judge James P. Churchill ordered a pre-trial conference to include himself, Prosecutor Leo Maki and Defense Council Clinton House May 17. The trial was set for June 8 at Villarreal's arraignment Monday afternoon.

Villarreal spent nearly 60 days at the forensics center at Ypsilanti by order of the court undergoing extensive mental examination. The forensics center, in its report on Villarreal's sanity, determined that the elderly farmer can stand trial at this time but that his mental state will probably deteriorate rather than improve and the trial should be expedited. With that in mind Judge Churchill announced that the Villarreal trial will be the priority item on the calendar.

Villarreal, at this time, is declared capable of understanding the charges made against him and understanding his position in regard to those charges.

In other actions before

Churchill Monday: George Kelly, 27, formerly of Cass City and more recently of Pontiac, will have a hearing Friday on a charge of probation violation. Kelly's original probation was given on a conviction of carrying concealed weapons and the charged violation is one of falsifying a report to the probation officer, Gerry Polk. Roy Jobson, 20, of Vassar entered a plea of guilty to a charge of simple assault, reduced from a charge of assault of a police officer. He will be sentenced June 14.

Joseph Kaplaniak, 40, of Caro stood mute on his arraignment on a charge of assault with intent to commit great bodily injury less than murder and indications were that he would ask for a jury trial.

Phillip Thompson stood mute on his charge of breaking and entering a dwelling place at Shay Lake. Fred Lynn Henderson, 19, of the Kingston area, pleaded guilty to a charge of using marijuana, reduced from a charge of possession of marijuana and he will be sentenced Clinton Spencer, 20, of Cass City, entered a plea of guilty to a charge of attempted lar-ceny from a building, reduced from a charge of breaking and entering a dwelling place on the Deckerville Road, He is to be sentenced June 1.

Garetys to attend national conference

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Garety will be among the more than 200 families attending the First National Conference of Foster Parents in Chicago, May

The couple, who reside at 3133 Peck in Muskegon Heights, will represent the interests of the hundreds of other foster parents in that area at the conference. It is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the Christopher Society, the Child Welfare League of America and other organizations concerned with the welfare of children. Raymond Garety was born at Cass City and lived in the Cass City and Akron area, He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Garety of 2502 South

Jefferson, Saginaw. Mr. and Mrs. Garety, who have four children of their own, have been entrusted with the care of four more by the Department of Social Services since they were licensed last

Theme of the Chicago conference is "A Common Cause Better Service and Care for Foster Children," and will include group sessions organized and chaired by foster parents from all over the country as the first forum of its kind for exchange of ideas on a national scale.

Key speakers for the threeday conference are Dr. Edward Zigler, director of the Office of Child Development of HEW in Washington, and Stephen P. Simonds, commissioner of the Community Services Administration of the Social Rehabilitation Service, Washington.

The National Foster Parents group hopes that this will be the first of a succession of annual conferences which will improve both the communication and services between agencies, public and private, and foster parents.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

It was perposed and passed unanimus Saturday night at the country store that whereas, forthwith and hereafter the first week in May is National Gripe Week. Zeke Grubb, that come up with the motion, was quick to tack on a amendment that Gripe Week in no way was to take away a feller's right to gripe whenever he pleases.

Zeke give his reasons fer setting aside this week fer gripes. First off, with folks recovering from Federal Income Tax Day we has got the strength to git off some good gripes, and plenty of reason to fresh in our mind. Farthermore, allowed Zeke, there allus is kind of a lull between spring and summer, and we griping without working up a Clem Webster was of a mind that Gripe Week will catch on all over the country. He had saw by the papers where twict as many people want to git out of this country than did two year ago. Clem said this poll said 10 per cent want to live somewhere else, and Clem figgered at least 90 per cent is mad, but is trying to stick it

The way Clem worked it out, 10 per cent is about all that is supporting the Guvernment, and the rest is living off it. We got them that makes anywhere from $200,000 on up a year that don't pay no tax at all, and we got them that won't work and git paid fer it. Trouble is, went on Clem, that 90 per cent is as unhappy as the 10 per cent, either cause their living standard is higher than there tax-free $200,000, or cause their welfare paymunts ain't big enuff,

When folks can sue and make New York City put em up in a hotel that's costing taxpayers $450 a week, and out in the country 137,000 farmers and ranchers can draw $3.7 billion fer not farming, we are awful turned around, was Clem's words. On top of all this, Clem said, he had saw where they is talk about bringing back the old CCC camps and the WPA.

Carrying on with the griping, Ed Doolittle joined in to say he was most concerned about that 10 per cent that works, pays taxes and wants to go to Australia. Onct they git over there, the 90 per cent left here will apply fer foreign aid from Australia.

Actual, said Ed, the 10 per cent has got to much invested to leave. What they don't pay in taxes is withheld from their wages fer all them fringe benefits and retirement plans. The only way a working man can expect to spend any of the money he's made is to live so long he draws it back in social security and paid up holidays. Final, Mister Editor, Bug Hookum griped about the three day week being talked about now. He said that's jumping out of the pan in the fire, cause jest as shore as a feller's work week is cut back, his old lady will find more things fer him to do around the house.

Yours truly, Uncle Tim

Mothers would, if they could, show their children all that there is to see and give them everything-time for fun, time for play-new clothes, new toys, a television to watch cartoons, endless red kites and bright yellow balloons and, later, skis and sports cars. Yet, in this eagerness to show and to give, aren't they in danger of overlooking some of the most important things of all? Pour on nitrogen for top bean crop

By Don Kebler

Not everyone who has applied extra nitrogen to navy beans are convinced it doesn't do any good.

I stopped at Clifton Metcalf's last week to see if he would be interested in having a nitrogen rate test plot on one of his navy bean fields. Clifton was interested in the proposed plot but felt there might be other bean producers who could benefit from the plots more thanhe. He immediately explained this comment by telling me that both he and his brother, Harold, have been applying extra nitrogen on their navy beans for several years now. This practice is common for them as they see favorable yield results warranting use of extra nitrogen.

There are more bean producers than normally believed in the county who are adding extra nitrogen to their bean crop - navy and colored.

There are perhaps as many more who are not using at least forty pound total nitrogen per year on their beans. Some of these operators don't apply up to this amount of nitrogen for various reasons. They say extra nitrogen causes erratic and delayed maturity or they have tried extra nitrogen and noticed no yield differences.

First of all, nitrogen does not delay navy bean plant maturity, erratic germination and emergence of bean seedlings cause our spotty delayed maturity. We had field plots with no nitrogen, 30, 60 and 90 pounds per acre. Maturitywise, there was no difference in time. Yield-wise, as the nitrogen rates increased so did the bean yields. I always question the accuracy of nitrogen or any other test when no check strip is left in the field to compare the test strip or area with. Entire field tests with no check strips give us nothing to compare against. This situation has been the usual and when I ask the farmer what he compared the nitrogen rate test against he usually says nothing.

Perhaps the best effects of nitrogen applications on navy beans will be on fields where corn stalks are plowed down for beans. Small grain stubble without a legume could use extra nitrogen for bean yield increases on that plowed under

Far more supplemental nitrogen will be used this year on navy beans on last year's corn and grain fields. Twelve to twenty pounds of planting time nitrogen per acre on these plowed under plant refuse will not be sufficient for the high bean yields you desire.

Many a parent finds it hard to believe all the things he expects his children to.

Install officers

for Sanilac extension council

"Underprivileged People" was the topic of a talk by Extension Home Economist Virginia Ortiz at the Sanilac Extension Homemakers Night held recently in Sandusky. Mrs. Ortiz, of Lapeer, gave statistics to show how the underprivileged are both present and

About 180, including guests from Huron, Tuscola and Lapeer counties, attended this annual event.

Home Economist Mary Kerr installed the 12 members of the 1971-72 Extension Council as follows: Mrs. Rolf Wischman, chairman, Mrs. Carl Peterson, vice-chairman; Mrs. John McKernan, secretary; Mrs. George Krause, treasur-er, and Mrs. Lynn Spencer, Mrs. Kenneth Wadsworth, Mrs. Jack McLean, Mrs. Jack Boegner, Mrs. Charles Custard. Mrs. Orla Pritchett, Mrs. Clark Auslander and Mrs. Neil Muir, as council members.

Outgoing Extension Council members are Mrs. William Macklem, Mrs. Harvey Petsch, Warren McVittle, Mrs. Callender and Mrs. Howard Stock.

Mrs. Macklem presented pens with the Extension emblem to members who had served in Extension for 25 and 35 years.

Mrs. Joe Redhouse, Melvin, won the scholarship to College Week for Women at MSU. Alternates were Mrs. Louis Kovack, Sandusky, and Mrs. Donald Wood, Marlette.

Home Economist Ann Ross commended the group for their outstanding study program this year which included Community Development, Improved Homemaking skills, County and State Educational tours, Community Service and many Leadership Development activities. She noted that membership had increased this year.

County agency fights child abuse cases

A boy with bruises and a broken arm is brought to the hospital, and the mother eventually admits she beat the child. A neighbor learns that some children are left alone over the week end in the home of or fuel. A police officer investigates a complaint that small children are playing outside at midnight and finds there is no adult home to supervise them.

These are actual cases which a family friend, with no food have occurred in Tuscola county. The Michigan Department of Social Services estimates that 1,200 cases of child abuse will probably be reported in 1971, a 50 per cent increase over the previous year. In the area of child neglect, 1,800 cases were reported to authorities in just 2 months in 1970. Why this rising number of abuse and neglect cases? Some experts say better reporting is the reason. Others indicate that parents are not accepting the responsibilities as they were two decades ago. Regardless, when such cases are reported, the parents tend to minimize the importance of what happened even though they rarely deny all responsibility. In cases of child abuse, they usually admit something happened, but they argue perhaps that the bruises on their child resulted from an "accident." Similarly, the parents' reaction to neglect charges is usually "yes, but. . . . there was no food, we have no money." "Yes, the children were left alone, but my sister was supposed to look in on them."

There are now steps that can be taken by anyone, not just an official, in order to report not only obvious cases of child abuse and neglect, but potential situations. The Tuscola County Department of Social Services advises that effective immediately protective services to all children in Tuscola county will be available on a 24-hour a day basis. This new crisis intervention program has a primary goal of assuring that children are protected from physical or emotional harm and that parents, where possible. are assisted to function adequately in providing such care.

The goal is to be achieved by providing specialized, intensive immediately available social services in a rehabilitative and nonpunitive manner. When any type of complaint is received from any interested person that any child is neglected, exploited or subjected to cruelty, it is the Department of Social Services' responsibility to make an initial investigation within one working day. It is emphasized that any person in the community can make the complaint when they feel the situation

However, more insidious types of neglect should be reported such as lack of proper supervision, lack of proper guidance or moral care, lack of proper and balanced emotional investment.

Marlowe novel best paperback

Dan Marlowe's suspense novel, FLASHPOINT, was selected as the best paperback original of 1970 by the Mystery Writers of America at their annual awards dinner held at Essex House, New York City, April 30.

(Rev. Dec. 70)

The award, given annually for a suspense novel embodying both impact and perception, is the most prestigious of its type in the English-speaking world.

The book is one of a series featuring the character Earl

Drake, a semi-reformed bank robber, and was published by Gold Medal Books, a division of Fawcett Publishing Co.

FLASHPOINT is the 17th suspense novel to come from Marlowe's typewriter. Two more have been completed, and a contract signed for another.

Craftsmans fair set at Caro High

Wayne Dillon, head of the Industrial Education Department at Cass City High School, announced that Saturday, May 8, a Craftsmans Fair is scheduled at Caro High School.

The Fair is co-sponsored by the Michigan Industrial Education Association and the Detroit News. On display will be projects from over 75 schools that have been built in Industrial Education Classes.

Usually this fair is held in Bay City or Saginaw but it was decided to give the people of the Thumb an opportunity to look at the fine work done by the students. Cass City's Industrial Education students have been working for this fair all year, and would appreciate any people in the Caro area on Saturday to drop by and view the displays. It's from 12-3 at the Caro High School Gym, and admission is free.

Cite C&O for fires in county

The Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad has been cited twice within the past week by the department of natural resources for starting grass fires in the Mayville-Vassar area.

The company, according to the DNR, is responsible for keeping their right of way clear of grass and brush so that sparks from the locomotives do not set grass fires. The problem, according to a DNR official, is that the railroad chose to spray the brush and grass with fuel oil to cut its growth and the fuel oil went up like a tinder box in section 26 of Fremont township just northwest of Mayville Monday afternoon with sparks from a train allegedly setting it off.

Fire departments from Mayville, Vassar, Caro and the DNR worked much of the afternoon in putting out the blaze. The case will be heard in district court.

Police seek drugs missing from hospital

Officer Gene Wilson of the Cass City Police reported a drug was stolen from Hills and Dales Hospital Tuesday, April

Byron Landholt, the hospital administrator, reported that someone had taken Methadrine from the hospital cabinet. It was stolen during the third shift.

The drug was reported missing to the police the next day. Wilson said someone had entered the surgical section and used matches to find the cabinets in the dark. There were burnt matches found on the floor and under the drug cabinets.

The cabinets were locked with a cable type bicycle lock. The wire was cut and the locks were removed to the basement burner.

Methadrine isn't manufactured any more because it's abused by drug users.

Commissioners offer building

Tuscola County Commissioners have made a new attempt to acquire a state police post in spite of Lansing's budget problems, by offering the state police the temporary use of space in the new social services building on highway M-81 just west of Caro. The building, formerly known as Craigs Motor Rebuilders, is being refurbished into a suite of more than 20 offices. If the state police accept the offer, made in a resolution last week, they will have a central location, easy access to a major state highway, and access to the Caro airport while they evaluate a permanent location. Tuscola county has been at the top of the list for a new state police post but a tightening of the budget belt in Lansing has endangered the project.

Hawks vs. Vassar in first state baseball tourney

Drawings have been completed for district 31 in the State baseball tournament to be held for the first time this

In Class B there are 15 teams. The opening round will be played sometime between May 17 and 27.

Each team paired will select mutually agreeable dates. Cass City will host Vassar.

The tourney is divided into two brackets. If Cass City defeats Vassar they meet the winner of the Sandusky-Essexville Garber game May 29.

In the bottom half of the bracket the Lakers play Marlette and Millington plays Saginaw Eisenhower.

In the top bracket, Harbor Beach faces Buena Vista; Caro faces Bad Axe, and Saginaw Carrollton plays Frankenmuth, Croswell-Lexington drew abye.

All winning teams then play May 29 and the four survivors play in the semi-finals June 5 at Garber High in Essexville. The district finals will be at Garber at 4 p. m., also June

The State baseball tournament is new in Michigan this spring and is experimental. In many cases it will conflict with commencement activities and school authorities will be watching to see if the results warrant continuing the program

JV Hawks post easy victory

The Cass City JV Baseball team overwhelmed Sandusky Monday night 25-2. The little Hawks rapped out 19 hits in support of pitcher Mike Frederick, who picked up the easy Cass City jumped to a 5-1 lead in the first inning, and they were never headed. The Hawks continued to pull away, and the game was called after six innings.

Leading the onslaught was Cass City catcher Al Romig, with 4 hits. Dale Auslander and Chet Sieradzki chipped in with three apiece, while team-mates Randy Wright, Mike

Frederick, John Hacker, and Roy Sefton smashed two. The JV record now stands at 3-1. FARM MACHINERY

Thinclads top Lakers, Marlette

The Cass City High School track team won a triangular track meet Wednesday, April 28. The meet was at Cass City and the Hawks outdistanced Marlette and Laker High. The scores were Cass City 77, Marlette 57, and Laker High, 13. Hawk coach Paul Clabuesch was pleased with the performance, despite the cold rainy day. Cass City took seven firsts and six seconds to figure in 13 of the 14 events. The

You've heard the ad that tells "it's a running world" with all our business and hurry. How would you like to eliminate some of your extra steps around

Having two of one item is often very helpful. For example, a can of scouring powder in the bathroom and one in the kitchen is handy. You can do your dusting in half the time using two dust cloths - one in each hand, Try the same idea when you wash windows.

Sometimes rearranging supsteps. Wouldn't it be handier if dinner plates were on a shelf near the dining area and serving dishes near the stove? I enjoy baking because all my basic supplies are within fingertip reach - food supplies, mixing bowls, and utensils. Paring knives are handy at the sink for preparing vegetables, while the carving knife is better near the oven. Children can learn to help you save your steps. Have a plastic dishpan for each child with his name on it. When you sort clean clothes, put them in the dishpans. Let the children take their clothes to their rooms and put them away. If each child has a place to put school books, that can eliminate extra picking up. Some principles for saving steps are these: Have a place for everything; have everything in place; put things where they are used first and used most

Softball, baseball teams organize

Little League tryouts will be held Thursday, May 6, at Cass City Recreation Park at 6:00 p. m. Following the tryouts, team managers will draft players, Tryouts for Minor League teams, for boys who were not drafted on Little League teams, will be held Tuesday and Thursday, May 11 and 13, at 6:00. This also includes boys seven and eight years old. If the boy will be seven by Aug. 1, he is eligible for Minor League play. No boy can sign up to play for the Minor League later than Thursday, May 13.

One other sports note: any area church interested in enter ing softball league play should have a representative at an organizational meeting Monday, May 10, at the home of Lewis Tibbits, 6317 Houghton, at 8

Alexander fires Hawks past Sandusky, 1-0

Fireballing Rob Alexander struck out 19 Sandusky batters Thursday as Cass City took a 1-0 victory at Sandusky. The Hawks scored a run in the first and Alexander made it stand

The big righthander gave up only one hit, that on a misjudged fly ball, and simply couldn't be touched by the home team. Cass City scored its run on a walk, a steal, and a wild pitch that advanced Kip Hopper to third where he scored teammate Kim Hopper's single. Thanks to the heroics of Alexander, that was the ballgame. Cass City was helped by a two for three performance from sophomore centerfielder Louis Salas. He had a single and a double. For Alexander, the game marked his second great performance of the season, He had pitched a no-hitter against Bad Axe earlier in the season. He missed his second no hit game of the season when a fly ball fell safely between Hawk defenders in the sixth inning.

Cass City, now 2-1 in Thumb B Conference play, get a chance to improve on their overall record Tuesday when Mayville comes to town in a non-conference game.

Hawk golfers win 2 meets

The Cass City golf team won two of its three matches this past week. The team has shown improvement all significant season long. The victories were over Sandusky on Tuesday and Akron-Fairgrove on Thursday. Against Sandusky, the Hawks had a 22-11 advantage in match play. The top effort for the was delivered by Cass City's Jude Patnaude, who shot a 41.

Patnaude also paced the team past Akron-Fairgrove, with another 41, a score that enabled him to take eight of the nine holes from his Fairgrove opponent in match play.

Friday's meet at Marlette was the lone defeat of the week. The Hawks lost match play 18-13, enabling Marlette to underscore the Hawks by 11 strokes. Patnaude had another 41 to lead the Cass City effort.
