A storm, probably becoming the worst one of 1971 as far as damage is concerned, whipped out of the southwest about 7 p. m. Monday night, May 24, and sliced a path roughly ten miles long and half a mile wide damaging property northwest of Cass City and southwest of Gagetown.

The tornadic winds left few farms without some damage. It crumpled the garage of John Graven, 1860 North Sheridan Road, damaging two cars.

From there the storm moved northeast destroying the house, barn and a mobile home on the property of Clifford Smith on the East Dickerson Road. It demolished the barn and farm machinery of Ray Brinkman, on Jacobs Road, 2 1/2 miles northeast of Colwood, plowed a piece of plank into the brick siding of the home of Mrs. Anna Marker and lifted roofs at the Erwin Holmes residence on Colwood Road just north of the Cass City Road.

The center of the damage area seemed to be Colwood Road and Dickerson Road and estimates of loss were unavailable at press time as damage was being assessed on property all of Tuesday.

The crops, most of them just coming up, came out of the storm in better condition receiving anywhere from an inch to two inches of water depending on where in the county they were located. Tuscola county seemed to be the only county in the state that received damage from Monday's series of thunderstorms but other midwestern states, including Illinois and Indiana, spawned tornadoes in the humid weather.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

There was a time when playing on a school athletic team was important enough so that the athletes would make significant sacrifices to play.

There was a time when character building on the high school level, at least, was more than a catch phrase. It was an important adjunct to the program itself.

There was a time when an athlete could expect to be barred for being drunk and disorderly, shoplifting or cursing a teacher... and not for periods of a few weeks or a game or two, but at least for an entire season.

At Cass City High School today this is not true.

The school operates under the theory that it is wise, just and in the best interest of the school and the students to allow rule breakers another chance.

In practice, the elastic code has resulted in chance after chance for the good athletes in the system.

The kids all know it and that's probably the best reason.

THE PROGRAM THAT entices some 250 youngsters, ages 7-12, opened officially Monday when President James Johnson handed the game ball to Bill Francis, Tiger catcher. Shaking hands are the opposing pitchers, Joe Gruber of the Tigers and Phil Bader of the Yankees. Umpire Jim Mastie watches. The various baseball programs run practically every night of the week until mid-July under the direction of volunteers. . . .mostly parents. And, yes, there was a winner Monday. ## Atmosphere changes at school bargaining table

Chronicle news analysis

. . . .the current economic picture and the Reese 44 squabble hover over the board room bargaining table like a tornado funneling on the distant horizon.

every month and that teachers be required to attend school meetings without regard for time spent in public service obligations such as Cub Scouts, civic projects or previous personal appointments.

The school also wants flagrant disregard for these rules to be grounds for dismissal.

The union has taken the requests under advisement and will answer the requests, probably Wednesday.

It is an odds-on certainty that they will reject all or nearly all of these demands . . . at least until actual bargaining starts.

Last year the school bargaining team made few requests for changes in the master contract. . . merely taking positions on demands made by the union.

The 30 demands made by the school to the union are important in that it is an indicator of the change in the bargaining atmosphere this year.

A year ago the union was reiterating at every appropriate moment that teachers would not return to school without a contract.

This year this threat is not part of the negotiation picture.

While never mentioned, the current economic picture and the Reese 44 squabble hover over the board room bargaining table like a tornado funneling on the distant horizon.

With teachers waiting in the wings for jobs and a very big doubt about the effect of strikes by teachers until the Reese picture clarifies, the union is not in as strong a position as it has been.

The demands by the school and the general atmosphere at the bargaining table reflect the change.

Monday's meeting was brief. Other than the demands by the school, the union reiterated its position that the school calendar was negotiable and Al Luce, school negotiator, said that the school's position was unchanged.

It could be that bargaining this year will prove to be more strained than it has been since the two groups reached an impasse and a mediator was summoned in one of the early years of negotiations at the school.

Cass City Seniors set for final commencement swirl

Cass City High School's Seniors are busy preparing for final events in the Commencement swirl that will start with the annual Senior trip Sunday, May 30.

When the graduates return from the 3-day blast to New York City they will immediately plunge into final exams June 3-4 prior to baccalaureate services Sunday, June 6.

The Rev. Douglas Wilson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Cass City, will be the speaker and other members of the local clergy will participate in the service.

Following baccalaureate, the Seniors will promenade through the village June 7 in traditional swing-out ceremonies and then hustle back to school for commencement rehearsal at 9 a. m.

Commencement will be at 8 p. m. Tuesday, June 8, and the featured speaker will be Donald J. Carlyon, president of Delta College.

Carlyon was a supply pastor in small Methodist churches for five years while earning a degree from the University of Nebraska.

A World War II veteran, he became a business manager and instructor at the University of Kansas City following his graduation.

He is listed in Who's Who in the Midwest and in Who's Who in American Education. He is a member of numerous Bay City and Bay county civic and social organizations.

For Memorial Day

Traditional events set

Three traditional Memorial Day observances are scheduled in the Cass City area this week end, according to announcements of various organization authorities.

Two of the events will be Sunday and the annual parade and service in Cass City is slated Monday.

The program in Cass City will follow traditional lines starting with a parade at 10:30 a. m.

James Blades, village superintendent, said that the groups participating will form in the parking lot at West and Church Streets at 10 a. m.

Included will be the Cass City High School senior band, representatives of the American Legion, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Brownies, Cubs and Little League ball players.

Also participating will be the Gold Star mothers and veterans of foreign wars.

The American Legion Auxiliary will march and participate in the service that follows the parade. In the service at Elkland cemetery, the Rev. David Bushong, pastor of the Church of Christ, and the Rev. Melvin R. Vender, will handle the address and the invocation and benediction.

As usual, Jack Esau will be the master of ceremonies. A memorial wreath will be placed by a member of the Legion Auxiliary.

Refreshments will be served at the conclusion of the program.

The event is sponsored jointly by the village of Cass City and Elkland township. The township is represented by Supervisor Maynard McConkey while Trustee Gary Jones and Blades represent the village. The pair are assisted by Village Trustee Bernard Ross.

The Sunday memorial services will be at the Church of Christ and at Grant Cemetery, Owendale.

The Grant cemetery service will be at 2 p. m. Participating will be the Owen-Cage band, Boy Scouts, Brownies and Girl Scouts.

The Novesta service is also Sunday at 2 p. m. It will be held at the church. A potluck lunch will be served following the program.

Revenues to jump 20%

Higher water-sewer rates pegged to cost study

The cost of water and sewer service in Cass City will increase an estimated 20 per cent starting July 1 following the approval of rate increases Tuesday night by the Cass City Village Council. The rate increases were adopted after a lengthy consideration by the council of proposals submitted by Village Supt. James Blades.

The trustees used the proposals as guidelines and then modified them to lower the percentage of increase and slice the suggested raise for minimum users in the village.

The new rate structure as compared to the old is:

	Old	New
0 to 5,000 gallons	$4.00	$5.00
5,001-15,000 gallons	.45	.50
15,001-25,000 gallons	.30	.40
25,001-200,000 gallons	—	.30
over 200,000	—	.25

Sewer charges remain at 100 per cent of the charge for water. Computed at the estimated increase of 20 per cent, the new rate will net the village around $11,000 more than the $55,725.85 collected last year.

The raise will make the department self-sufficient.

Accompanying the rate increase were raises in special services offered by the department.

No longer will it be possible for home owners who leave the village for the winter or other extended periods to have their water turned off free. As long as service is run to the house, on or off, the minimum fee (now $10 a quarter) will be assessed.

In addition, if the home owners want the water shut off, there will be a $5 turn on and off fee.

Costs of water tap-in fees were increased from $100 to $200. Costs to water users outside the village were jumped sharply. A $10 per quarter flat charge was added on these residents, plus double the normal rate for water. Previously the charge was 150 per cent of the regular fee.

The council established the higher rates because trustees felt that persons living adjacent to the village receive virtually all village services, yet pay no village taxes.

Supt. Blades reported to the council that costs under the new rates will still be the lowest in the entire area of towns of comparable size.

He read rates from Caro, Vassar, Bad Axe and several other small communities to illustrate his contention.

Along with the change in charges will come a change in billing procedure. The quarterly reading of the meters will be abandoned and the homes divided so that part of them are read each month.

This way, Blades said, one man can do the work and the regular work schedules of the crews are not interrupted.

About 35 retirees were honored guests at a luncheon in Trinity United Methodist church at 12:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 26. Favors for each were made by the Junior Hi Youth Fellowship, under the direction of Mrs. Stuart Merchant. Grace at the meal was given by Mrs. Elizabeth Isaacs and Mrs. Harry Crandell lead group singing.

The remainder of the program was presented by John Graham, who showed pictures taken on a trip to British Honduras. Mr. Graham introduced the speaker, Wayne McDougall of British Honduras, who is the Grahams' guest.

Mrs. Douglas Comment of Gagetown.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Kenneth Maxon, chose a gown of white lace over taffeta, styled with a modified bodice on a floor-length skirt enhanced by a chapel train. A floral face-framer secured her illusion veil and she carried a bouquet of red roses and stephanotis.

Miss Elaine Peil was honor maid and the Misses Su Ann Comment and Gail Peil were bridesmaids. Miss Julie Kochanny was flower girl. They wore light blue gowns styled with Empire waists on floor-length skirts and carried bouquets of white and pink carnations.

Best man duties were performed by Michael Comment and groomsmen John Jordan and Richard Adams. John Comment and Thomas Hunter were ushers and Derrick Wetters was ringbearer.

The newlyweds greeted guests at a reception at Bertlands in Bay City. They will reside in Unionville.

If it's a trend it's a good one. In our block alone there were two house parties following the Junior-Senior prom and banquet. Having the kids at home is wonderful compared to having them on the road somewhere in a car.

Besides, I didn't mind the noise a bit. I slept at my mother's.

We don't feel a bit sorry for Cliff. After all as an old married man he should have long ago learned that there is just no way to win when you gamble with a lady.

The first of what I suspect will be a long line of endorsements for the proposed Tuscola County Career Center arrived at the Chronicle this week. It was a resolution passed by the Thumb Area Economic Opportunity Commission. The Commission says that it is cheaper to educate them now than it is to rehabilitate them later.

For the last two years now, in my own mind I have decided to skip some of the school-union negotiation sessions and come in later when settlement appears close or at least when there is meaningful dialogue about wages and other sticky questions.

But I've made them all so far this year and last year because the weeks the sessions are held it appears to me that not one blessed other thing is happening that I could report to make you want to buy a copy.

Men's Lib has reached Cass City before it did Lapeer. According to the Lapeer County Press, a group of boys wore shorts to challenge the establishment and were ordered back into long pants by the principal. (Cass City says shorts are okay).

Evidently the boys were just testing as they had the regular trousers stashed away and quickly donned them over the shorts and stayed in school.

The girls are allowed to wear hot pants at Lapeer, but not the boys.

Evidently the Lapeer boys don't yet realize that the law (court decision) is on their side.

State lottery to solve money problems

By Dan Marlowe

Some months ago I wrote in this space about the inauguration of the New Jersey State Lottery.

This lottery, in contrast to some of the state lotteries which preceded it, has been so spectacularly successful that state legislatures all over the country, legislatures with pressing tax needs, have been eyeing it greedily.

When the lottery began last December, the most optimistic predictions for revenue to the state ranged in the $15,000,000 a year category. But in actuality, the first 10 weeks of the program saw the state's educational fund enriched by a total of $27,000,000 with no sign of a dropoff.

The first week's play in the lottery should have been the indicator. It amounted to $7,000,000, the equivalent of $1 for every man, woman, and child in the state. Now it appears that a conservative $70,000,000 may be the eventual fruit for the first year's operation.

This would roughly equal the yearly take of New York's lottery which has been operating for some years. Some New York legislators are indignant that their lottery, with so many more people to draw from, is so easily matched—or surpassed—by its much smaller neighbor.

Part of the discrepancy can be explained by the simplicity of the New Jersey lottery which has contributed greatly to its popularity. In New York, lottery tickets sell for $1, $2, or $3, depending upon the variety of ticket sold, the purchasers must fill out forms and place them in a depository, and drawings are held only once a month.

In contrast, New Jersey lottery tickets sell for fifty cents at all times, the buyer receives a simple numbered ticket which he retains until the next drawing, and drawings are held once a week. Winning tickets receive $50,000 and there are lesser prizes.

The lottery has been so successful to this point that some New Jersey legislators are talking about making it a daily drawing, with the idea in mind of undercutting the illegal numbers racket which is very strong in New Jersey. With possible winnings so much greater, it would seem that their project is far from an idle dream.

Michigan has a legislators' committee which has been looking into the possibility of a state lottery. With the need for added state revenue so great, a long, hard examination of the New Jersey lottery would certainly seem to be in order. Or perhaps not so long.

Some states are going to jump, being pressed as badly as Michigan for untapped revenue sources.

The DETROIT FREE PRESS' Action Line recently conducted a reader survey on attitudes toward a state lottery, and a substantial majority of those responding were in favor of it.

Why should Michigan be last to explore this avenue?

Pass something to Mother

BY JIM FITZGERALD

When you sit down to eat at our house, you get to chew on a lot more than food.

And this is a good thing, says Dr. Dena Cederquist who is a nutrition expert at Michigan State University. Of course, she's never eaten at our house. We never feed strangers at our house, unless they are cats.

Dr. Cederquist bemoans the loss of the family dinner-hour. Today, people eat on the run, she complains, and that's bad—not only for your digestion, but also for your mind, personality and character.

"The dinner table was a place where ideas were exchanged, questions debated and where children learned to be part of a group," Dr. Cederquist says. It is a shame Dr. Cederquist is a woman. Otherwise, she might have married my wife and they certainly would have lived happily ever after. This would have left me a lonely bachelor, reading a newspaper as I ate my meals, with no kids fighting across the roast beef and no cats licking crumbs off my shoes. Under such miserable conditions I probably couldn't have survived more than 150 years before I died of a terrible ache in my side from laughing so much.

My wife likes to teach lessons in living at the dinner table. For instance, during a recent dinner I happened to catch sight of her through the flowers and candles in the middle of the table. She looked peaked and drawn. There was no food on her plate.

"Why aren't you eating?" I asked her.

"Because no one will pass me any food," she gasped, writhing in the last stages of malnutrition.

Synthetics affect farm products

By William Bortel

Almost all phases of agriculture have been, or will be, affected by the use of substitute products, many of them derived from sources outside of agriculture. At USDA's annual Agriculture Outlook Conference in February, economists William Manley and William Gallimore summarized the current and prospective market position of substitutes for a number of agricultural commodities. As a rural agriculture county, we should be familiar with the respective products and their substitutes.

Textiles - In 1969, 45% of total domestic consumption of broad woven goods was classified as man-made fabrics. This compares with 27 per cent in 1959. Many synthetics feature such advantages as permanent press and fiber strength. Natural fibers, however, have the advantage of lower cost and superior absorbent and insulating properties.

cheaper. Sale of filled milk, or mixture of vegetable fat and nonfat milk solids, has been restricted by law in some states. We are quite sure the cow will be with us for many years.

Meat and Poultry Substitutes - Adverse publicity about animal fat in the diet has been an important factor leading to interest in meat substitutes. Doubtlessly, the use of meat substitutes will expand in the future except in the institutional market. By 1980, vegetable protein extenders may replace 15% to 20% of the meats in meat-type food preparations, however, it will be a long time before the consumer grills a steak made from soybean protein.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Charles H. Seeley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis C. Seeley of Cass City, was one of 48 Michigan State Police Recruits to graduate as probationary troopers. Tax funds collected by the Federal government partially returned to Cass City as a grant under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act, Title I, for a reading workshop for all elementary teachers in Cass City and Deford.

Cass City exploded for six runs in the sixth inning and added six more in the final canton to whip Caro 14-5 in their final Thumb B Conference game of the year.

David Hostetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marion S. Hostetter of Cass City, was a volunteer participant in the Student Tutorial Education Program at Alma College.

Mrs. Edward Baker and Mrs. Bernard Freiburger were honored by the Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women at their May meeting in the home of Mrs. Richard W. Drews.

TEN YEARS AGO

Paul Holmberg of Cass City smashed the record in the 440-yard dash at the state track meet held in Ann Arbor. Holmberg raced the distance in 48.8 seconds, shattering the old record of 50.6. Cass City earned a sixth place in the meet.

The Women's Study Club held its final meeting of the season at the home of Mrs. E. L. Schwaderer in Cass City.

Michigan Bean Queen Mary Ann Hobart of Gagetown was on a 10-day trip to California with stops in Arizona, Illinois and Tennessee.

Cass City's track team walked away with their seventh straight Thumb B championship. The meet was held at Caro.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Mc-

Corey, Mr. and Mrs. Vern McConnell and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Little went to Mt. Clemens to attend a meeting of the seventh district association of American Legion Posts and Auxiliaries.

Daniel G. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Jones of Cass City, was accepted by the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Vassar office of the Michigan Unemployment Compensation Commission paid unemployment benefits to 613 unemployed people in Tuscola county for the week.

One hundred and twenty five guests attended a dinner honoring the Presbyterian Church's returned servicemen. Honored guests present were: Alex Tvo, Chester Muntz, John Batkey, Philip Doerr, Archie McCallum, Clarence Wright and George Cook.

Nine members of the Art Club were present when Mrs. G. W. Landon was hostess. The members worked on quilts which they were making for charitable purposes.

Miss Marjorie Myerholtz, was the speaker at the Presbyterian Guild program when Mrs. Willie Campbell was the hostess of the last meeting of the organization until fall.

Two 4-H Club members in Tuscola county have been awarded scholarships to Michigan State College. They were: Barbara Lou Prime, Akron, and A. J. Murray of Cass City.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Rev. Paul J. Allured, pastor of the Presbyterian Church, was elected president of the Christian Citizenship League at a meeting of the board of directors at the school.

The oil well on the Frank Opaka farm in Section 4, Grant township, ten miles north of Cass City, was pumping 40 barrels in three hours.

Main Street was the scene of considerable activity. The foundation walls of the Med-calf & Schrader gas service station were completed, the sidewalk in front of the Heller Bakery was repaired and Joe Diaz repainted his shoe hospital building a deep cream with green trimming.

The Woman's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Higgins. It was Mother-Daughter day, and Mrs. C. P. Bayless centered the lesson on that subject and closed with a beautiful candlelight service.

At a meeting of the Tuscola County Jeffersonian club, William Miller, justice of the peace at Cass City, was elected president of the society.

Village President George W. West appointed Rev. Charles Bayless representing the Community club; Frank Reid, the Rotary club, and Cecil U. Brown, the village, to serve as a committee on arrangements for the Memorial Day program.

Avoid excessive specialization in farm planning

In an era of farming specialization some farm operators can become too specialized.

Our farm operators no longer produce feed, forage, livestock and cash crops, they are either operating cash crop or livestock systems.

The cash crop producer who narrowed his crop selections in Tuscola county to navy beans, wheat and sugar beets increased his income risks more than the producer growing four different cash crops annually.

In other words a happy medium is not to put too few or too many eggs in one basket. Both cases have proved risky more times than not.

It has been good for our crop producers to include corn in their crop rotation, not only as a safer income risk spread but as a soil structure building crop.

I am not saying a move to more crop diversification will give a bonanza because one can move too far one way as not far enough. When one begins producing a crop when he is not totally familiar with it, a cultural needs there is a possibility of some failures. A professional farm operator will learn to economically produce a new crop with the same skill he used in producing his old stand-by crops.

Now that our county's corn acreage has increased to its highest level in at least the last sixteen years, this corn acreage will reduce the stress from ground otherwise planted to navy beans.

This reduced navy bean acreage could accomplish two things. It can help to reduce soil infestation of blight and bring a closer equilibrium between annual navy bean production and consumption.

Another cash crop which should be considered is the production of colored beans and this could well include dark red kidney beans. Colored beans will help to disperse the soil-borne navy bean bacterial blight organisms as this disease does not affect colored beans.

I just received information that Michigan grown certified and blight free dark red kidney bean seed is in sufficient supply so no bin-run seed need be planted. There is only enough certified blight free navy bean seed to plant about 20 per cent of our normally planted navy bean acreage. Kidney beans are competitive with navy and other beans also, plus the fact our Michigan grown Charlevoix kidney beans are earlier maturing than California dark reds. Also they are anthracnose resistant rapid germinating and have a 90% germination count.

Here is a good substitute crop to further reduce the risk of navy bean crop failure due to field contamination or having to plant untreated, non-blight free bin-run navy bean seed.

8 REASONS WHY OUR NAME IS ON THIS NEW LAWN MOWER

Why did we put International® on these new lawn mowers? Because they measure up to the quality of our popular Cub Cadet® lawn and garden tractors. And because our new lawn mowers deliver: 1 Mower handle height adjusts to fit shorts or 1 king-size.
2 Electric key start or cord-recoil start with 3 easy-start twin spark ignition. 3 3½-hp engine with all moving parts lubricated 3 by a protective oil mist-oil goes in with gas! 4 Finger-touch 6-position cutting height adjust- 4 ment—one to three inches. 5 Magnesium alloy deck—extra-lighter than 5 aluminum but stronger. 6 Extra-large muffler directs sound into grass—extra 6 quiet.
Horn-of-plenty up front fills bag fuller, packs grass in. 8 Complete parts and service. Come in. Choose 19 or 20-inch cut.

son why it may be time for a change.

A few years ago there was an inflexible rule instigated by John Bifoss, a former coach here, that serious infractions of the code removed athletes from competition for a full year.

It was changed after a presentation was made to the school board when it was pointed out, reasonably enough, that the purpose of athletics is to try to make better citizens of students and making an inflexible rule failed to take into account the individual circumstances, the home life and the conditions that may have led to the infraction.

It is an idea with merit and if I had been voting I would have agreed with the decision of the school board.

The theory is great, but in practice the results have been shy of the expressed goal.

Trying to keep a boy on the straight and narrow is laudable, but somewhere a line must be drawn. Of first concern is the entire program and its effect on the school and the rest of the participants.

Several parents have expressed serious second thoughts about the conduct code system today. . . guys who have gone all out for athletics in the community at every level for years.

It competing with other schools is no longer important enough to have a significant impact on enough of the players involved so that they strive on and OFF the field to participate, it is hard to justify the cost of the programs.

Should we forget about interschool schedules and develop intramural programs that a larger percentage of the student body can enjoy?

It's a drastic cure and one that the vast majority is not ready to accept. But there have been murmurs from a disenfranchised minority looking at the program today.

Maybe it's time for the school board to revise the guidelines again and devise rules more effective than the current ones.

We don't need the iron fist, but we do need a code with some teeth in it.

● He also noted that the president is the first chief executive in 120 years to be working with a congress 2-1 against him. In commenting on the problems of the moment the senator said:

● That the nation can no longer tolerate a railroad strike in either war or peace time.

● That the administration's effort to amend laws to deal with nation-wide strikes have been stymied by congress.

That the peace of the world depends on the credibility of the United States of America and that United States troops in Europe are the balance of power between NATO nations and the Warsaw Pact nations.

That the president is doing a magnificent job of pulling troops from Vietnam and that by this time next year there will be only 80,000 troops there.

4-H ACTIVITIES

Why not study scuba diving

By Bernard Jardot

Imagine you're in the South Seas searching for sunken treasure or exploring shallow sea gardens. Sound exciting?

You can come close by taking the Scuba Diving option at the 4-H Youth Exploration Days June 29 to July 1 at Michigan State University.

The diving option is one of 65 areas available for study during the three-day program. Each option involves three action-learning sessions, and in this case, participants will review all aspects of scuba diving. They will learn the use and care of scuba equipment and the necessary skills to enjoy a safe experience.

While at MSU, the 4-H'ers will tour campus and the State Capitol, and have their choice of recreational activities including swimming, tennis and other sports. There will also be leisure learning activities such as archery, karate, weight lifting and square dancing.

All participants will meet on the final day in the Spartan Stadium Concourse to demonstrate each of the different options. The public is welcome at this session.

Each participant in Youth Exploration Days was selected for his interest and commitment to a project or activity, a willingness to share new ideas with the club, ability to gain from the experience and leadership qualities.

Michigan tourists leave trail of highway litter

Increased awareness of the average American citizen about problems of the environment has had little effect on the litter dumped along highways, at least in Michigan.

Paul J. Marek, the Michigan Highway Department's chief maintenance engineer, says the spring thaws along the state's north-south highways "laid bare a monumental disregard for clean and attractive highway environment."

"It is rather obvious," Marek says, "that the huge growth in winter sports activity—such as skiing, snowmobiling and ice fishing—is attracting greater numbers of people from the southern part of the state to the north country. They have left a heavy trail of litter in their wake."

Evidence indicates that the litterers know they are doing something they shouldn't be doing, according to Marek.

He says the heaviest concentrations of litter usually are found "just over a crest or hill, or around a curve." That means, he believes, that litterbugs are dumping their rubbish in places not easily visible by following motorists.

Hardest hit, however, continue to be major metropolitan areas.

More than 20,000 truckloads of litter will be picked up from the state highway system and its roadside facilities in the one year period which started April 1, estimates Marek.

Expense of this pickup activity is paid by the taxpayer. During fiscal 1970 it cost just over $1 million to keep the litter off the highway system. Ten years ago it was less than a third of that.

The litter mess doesn't seem to have been affected by the placing of many litter barrels at freeway rest sites, roadside parks and roadside picnic sites all over the state.

In fact, these containers cause a new problem, since some Michiganders now are dumping their household garbage in these barrels.

Increased public concern may turn the tide on litterbugs, even though it hasn't done so yet. That is the hope of Highway Director Henrik Stafseth. "It is conceivable," he says, "that public concern for clean environment could result in a demand for more stringent penalties for violators of clean highway environment—unless the public, itself, halts wholesale litterbugs."

Current Michigan law calls for fines of up to $100 for violators and gives the judge the authority to put litterers on cleanup details rather than making them pay a fine.

BILLBOARDS MULTIPLY

Environmentalists appear to be losing ground at the same time they fight litter.

Recent testimony before the House State Affairs Committee, the State Highway Department reported that in the last year it has removed 70 illegal billboards from along Michigan highways. Unfortunately, at the same time it said more than 200 illegal billboards were erected during the same period.

The testimony came during a hearing on a bill introduced by Rep. Marvin Stempien, D-Livonia, which would put much tighter controls on the erection of billboards in the state.

Stempien's bill would control billboards by placing them at least 1,000 feet from the center line of the highway. It also would limit their size to 500 square feet and would require that any lighting of the billboards not impair the visibility of motorists.

The bill also would require sign owners to apply for an annual permit from the Highway Department for each sign and post a $50 bond at the time of the application. If an illegal sign were found, the department would give the owner of the sign and of the land where it was located 30 days to remove it.

If the sign wasn't removed, the department would do so and bill the owner for the expense involved.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I made the mistake of bringing up to the fellers at the country store Saturday night how everything is getting switched around these days, and the subject caught on like striking a match to see how much gas is in the jug. The feller that runs the store final said he was going to have to switch to sleeping days and working nights if we didn't wrap up the ball of yarn and go home.

Bug Hookum got the floor and kept it longer than anybody wanted him to, and Ed Doolittle went home with a handful of newspaper clippings he didn't even get to peruse as evidence. Bug was lit up about these claims lately of how worthless is all the medicines folks use.

This piece Bug had saw said Americans spend $1.8 billion a year on pain killer, mouthwash, laxatives and mouthwash that ain't worth a dime. Bug was wondering if copper bracelets for rheumatism and deodorants was put in the same class, and if buying all this stuff can be wrote off as a tax loss.

Actual, Bug allowed, it probable could be proved that whatever a man thinks helps him does. He recollected a while back where this scientist said vitamin C would keep you from having colds and everybody made a run on the stuff. But since the perimotion died down, Bug said, people probably have gone back to whatever cold remedy they think might do the job. Bug said he hopes nobody says a pint of carbolic took at the first sneeze will prevent a cold, cause sure enuff somebody would try it.

Science has switched so many things around, Bug allowed, till we can't be shore what is real and what ain't. Ever now and then we get reports where they is coming up with a pill that will take the place of eating, but Bug was of the mind that switch-won't work. They is to many folks that live to eat instead of eat to live, was Bug's words.

Ed final got to report where he had saw 20 per cent of the barbershops in this country was closing. He didn't get to go through his clippings on this matter, but he said it looked like more advertising for the papers. Some years back, Ed recalled, this big outfit that makes farm equipment quit running ads and invited barbers to their plant once a year for a feed and tour. The company figured barbers talking about their equipment was worth more than newspaper ads, but now they'll have to switch back to ads to get the word out.

Personal, Mister Editor, in all this turning around I ain't shore the busiest feller allus is to be admired. The bee and the musquitter is busy, but we praise one and swat the other. I recall hearing that a fanatic is one that loses sight of his objective and redoubles his effort.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

PIECES FROM THE SMITHS' barn were scattered in all directions propelled by tornado-like winds that appeared to strike in force only in the Colwood area of Tuscola county.

A CLOSE UP of what is left of what was a barn on the Erwin Holmes farm a few seconds before 7:30 p. m. Monday night.

Mother nature on rampage

A GIANT TREE at the Smith residence toppled over on a car parked near the rural farm home.

Village to test double seal street coating on Maple

The village of Cass City will experiment this summer in an attempt to improve the condition of gravel streets within the village.

The experiment will be to put a double seal coat and chip on Maple Street from Third Street to the south village limits.

The cost of the project will be around $1,600. If this method will last a few years, it will relieve some of the problems we have with streets not yet hardsurfaced, Blades explained, and at a cost we can live with.

Originally Blades had pegged the test road at about half the size that was approved by the council. It was changed after a suggestion by Trustee Dr. D. E. Rawson.

In the Tekell subdivision on Third, south of Garfield, it is impossible to get drainage, Rawson said, and we cannot curb and gutter this street.

Perhaps if the double seal coat works we can give these residents an acceptable substitute to curb and gutter, Rawson explained. Drainage in the area is no problem if you do not have curbs holding the water back, he added.

Another change in the previously projected street program was also outlined by Blades. Seeger Street had been scheduled for resurfacing and some $17,000 put aside in a sinking fund for the work.

However, after investigation, it was decided that the road would serve for six to eight more years if pot holes were patched and a seal coat placed over the service.

The cost of seal coat is estimated at $6,500 for the project as compared to the resurfacing which was estimated at $25,000.

Blades said that the hard surfacing of Oak Street from Garfield to Main and Church Street, east from Seeger, would probably be completed in August. The work will be let on bids.

The only road slated for new construction this summer is Garfield Street, west from Seeger Street to the railroad tracks.

It will be drained, curb and guttered and prepared for blacktopping.

All of the remaining gravel streets in the village will be brined this year, Blades said.

NEW CODES

Blades presented books with lengthy building codes, plumbing codes, fire prevention codes and housing codes for the council to look at.

Plans are underway to adopt them into law in the village. The housing code can be used retroactively to bring houses up to minimum standards, Blades said.

525 at Reese

teacher march

Saturday was a beautiful day for a demonstration with the sunshine, a cool breeze, and temperatures in the seventies. . . but it was also a beautiful day for many other things like golf, fishing, a trip north and only 525 persons showed up for the march on Reese.

The march and demonstration had been planned by the Michigan Education Association with teachers from across the state and other sympathizers with the Reese 44 striking, fired teachers holding a peaceful demonstration through the town.

The estimate of marchers came from Reese Police Chief Bill Thompson and the marchers, after moving through town, met for a rally on school property and heard several speeches before breaking up for the day. This week, in the meantime, was being devoted to the hearing in the Saginaw county courthouse into a charge of "unfair labor practices" brought by the teachers against the Reese Board of Education and Superintendent Bruce Dunn.

Name delegates to annual seminar

The Tuscola County Farm Bureau has announced the selection of Becky Loomis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Loomis of Cass City, and Michael Klinkman, son of Mrs. Edward Golding Jr. to participate in the Young Peoples Citizenship Seminar, sponsored annually by Michigan Farm Bureau.

Also chosen by a panel of judges to represent Tuscola County at Ferris State College, Big Rapids, July 19-23, were Dean Childs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Childs of Caro and Denise Harrington, daughter of the John Harringtons of Akron.

Becky will be a senior at the Cass City High School in the fall and was nominated by the North Elmwood Farm Bureau Community Group. Mike will be a junior at the same school and was nominated by the Cassland Community Group.

Approximately 200 high school juniors and seniors are expected to attend the five-day seminar which is devoted to developing an understanding of and appreciation for our American way of life, our system of self government and the two party political system.

The Seminar will feature such speakers as Dr. Clifton Gans, president of Harding College, Searcy Arkansas; Dr. John Furbay, world traveler, author-speaker of Forest Hills, New York; Dr. Benjamin Rogge, head of the Department of Economics at Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Indiana, and Larry Ewing of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Paul pleads innocent to drunk driving

Harold Paul, a former resident of Cass City, now of Pigeon, has been charged with drunk and disorderly and allowing a person under the influence to drive a car, following an incident involving an eight-year-old Snover boy, Michael W. Gerstenberger.

Paul and his brother, Jack Paul, of Pigeon were driving behind a Sandusky school bus on M-46 west of Arnold Road last Wednesday when Jack Paul ignored the flashing lights of the bus and passed it.

Michael was about to cross the highway when his brother noticed the car approaching and pulled him to safety. He suffered a bruised knee.

A witness reported the incident after noting the license on the car.

The car was located in Sandusky where Jack Paul had taken Harold Paul for treatment of an injured hand when the car door had closed on his hand.

Jack Paul is charged with driving under the influence of liquor and failing to stop and give assistance at an accident.

The Pauls have entered pleas of innocent. Trial for Jack Paul is set for June 10.

There were several other minor accidents during the week.

Kimberly Ann Wright, 5, Ubly, suffered minor cuts and bruises in a mishap Sunday at the corner of Bay City-Forestville Road and Koepfgen Road, two miles west of Gagetown.

The tot was a passenger in a car driven by Delbert Wright, 26, which struck the rear of a vehicle driven by Harry R. Parker, 76, of Cass City. Parker was attempting to turn right onto Koepfgen Road. Mrs. Grace Parker was shaken in the crash. No one required hospital treatment.

Terry D. Brinkman, 19, Cass City, escaped injury in a bizarre accident at 3:45 a. m. Sunday on M-25 at Caseville.

Brinkman told investigating officials that his foot became stuck between the accelerator and brake as he was attempting to shift.

The car whipped off the road, crossed the lawn of the Methodist church and knocked down a light pole.

Janet Mae Sherman, 36, of Lampton Road, Deford, suffered minor injuries Saturday at 3:15 p. m. when she lost control of a motorcycle on the Lampton Road, a quarter mile north of Severance Road. Mrs. Sherman, according to the sheriff's report, was heading north when the cycle hit loose gravel and went out of control. She was taken for treatment to Caro Community Hospital.

Dale Douglas Ashmore, 20, of Oak Street, Cass City, was involved in an accident Monday morning at 8:45 while heading northeast on M-81 southwest of the Deckerville Road. Ashmore, according to the accident report, had passed a pick-up truck and lost control of his car as he pulled back into his lane of traffic. The Ashmore vehicle flipped over.

Paul Edward Koch, 17, of Pigeon, backed into a drainage ditch on the Hereford Road north of Pigeon at 3:10 p. m. Sunday afternoon and was taken to Scheurer Hospital in Pigeon and transferred to Mercy Hospital in Bay City. There were no apparent injuries but Koch was held for observation.

Late last week on M-142 west of Thomas Road, Ennis Alton Haley, 16, of 4151 Sebewaing Road, Owendale, heading east on M-142, apparently fell asleep, crossed the centerline and sideswiped another car. Haley was the only one injured as he struck a vehicle driven by Carol Kathleen Forester, 36, of Elkton, and Haley was cited for driving left of center.

Fox awarded 11 county bridge jobs

R. J. Fox Construction Co. of Caro was awarded the contract for replacement of 11 bridges in Tuscola county at a bid price of $562,542. He was low among eight bidders.

Completion date for the entire project is September 1972. The work includes:

On Dickerson Road crossing Allen Drain one mile east of Wisner.

On Akron Road crossing Southgate Drain 3.5 miles west of Akron.

On Akron Road crossing Wisconsin Drain three miles east of Akron.

On Deckerville Road crossing Butternut Drain five miles west of Deford.

On Vassar Road crossing

Northwest Drain two miles west of Fairgrove.

On Vassar Road crossing Northwest Drain two miles west and one mile north of Fairgrove.

On Vassar Road crossing Branch #3 of the Northwest Drain, two miles west and 2.5 miles south of Fairgrove.

On Fairgrove Road crossing the Allen Extension Drain 1.7 miles east of Fairgrove.

On Gilford Road crossing the Hobart Drain one mile east of Gilford.

On Higgins Road crossing the Northwest Drain 2.2 miles south of Fairgrove.

On Bevans Road crossing the Butternut Drain west of Wilmet.

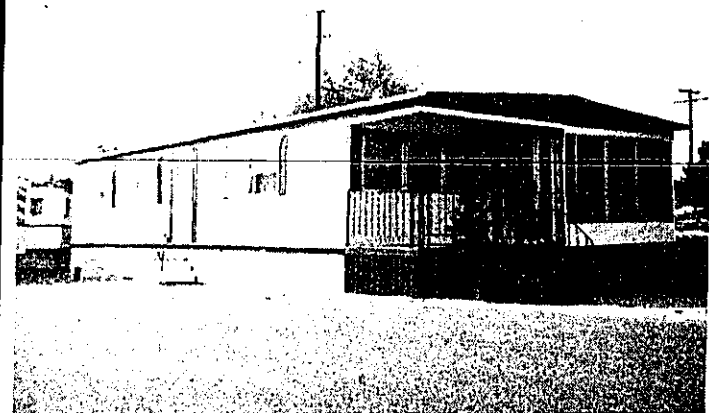

THE CLIFFORD SMITHS had just finished spending thousands of dollars remodeling their rural farm home when Monday's high winds literally raised the roof and blew it away. The Smiths report that everything was serene with only a moderate wind until a window in the house broke and then everything seemed to explode at once.

Extension offices offer 15 letters for child care

Mrs. Lennah Backus, Extension specialist in Family Life, has written a series of fifteen letters designed to help parents understand their pre-school children. These letters are available once a year upon request and are mailed weekly for fifteen weeks.

The letters, entitled "Dear Parents", are leaflets which discuss such timely topics as "Handling Misbehavior", "Questions Which Parents Ask" and "Helping or Forcing".

Comments from last year's recipients indicate that the letters are informative and helpful. One mother wrote, "Letter number one came the day after an especially trying day with my child. From the letter I learned that my child is not really hopelessly naughty but that we just have some times that are worse than others."

Another wrote, "I've appreciated each more than the one before and I'm sorry to see them end. You can be assured that they will always be close at hand."

Persons interested should write or call their request soon to Extension Home Economist Ann Ross at the Civil Defense Center, Caro; Federal Building, Sandusky or County Building, Bad Axe.

Visitors tops in Gavel Club golf tourney

The Gavel Club had a busy month this May, sponsoring a track meet, a theatre night, and Sunday, a very successful golf tournament.

The tournament was an 18-hole, two-man Bestball affair, which was attended by 38 teams from cities and towns all over Michigan. Represented were: Detroit, Flint, Davison, Swartz Creek, Freeland, Vassar, Caro, Marlette, Bad Axe and Canada.

Hatchets win, Cass City 4th in "B" track

Cass City finished fourth in the Thumb B Conference track meet held last Wednesday at Caro as the Hatchets of Bad Axe finished first in the mile relay, the final event, to edge host Caro by two points, 68 to 66.

Other schools finished in the following order: Vassar, 53; Cass City, 41; Frankennuth and Sandusky, tied at 32 each; Marlette, 16, and Lakers, 0.

Cass City's inability to score in the field events was costly again. Only Scott Guernsey who finished third in the long jump placed in the field events.

Kurt Strickland powered his way to victory in the mile run and Guernsey was second in the 880.

The Hawks picked up points in the 440-yard dash which was won by Gene Vollmar and in the two-mile where Tim Stickle finished second and Steve Selby finished third behind Zeph Putman of Caro.

Sets record

NEW SCHOOL record in mile was set Saturday at Michigan Center by Kurt Strickland running in the State track finals. Strickland's time of 4:38 eclipsed Jim Selby's record time of 4:39.4 set just last year. Despite the fine performance, Strickland failed to place in the meet pitted against the finest Class B runners in the State.

Minors ready to play

The Cass City Minor League baseball program for boys 7 years to 11 years was rained out in the opening game scheduled Monday at the Cass City Recreational Park.

The league is a preparation and training ground for the Cass City Little League program for boys 9 through 12.

The league program, this year, has expanded to include two new teams exclusively for 7-year-old players. In addition there will be the regular six teams.

The new teams for the 7-year-olds, called the Expos and Athletics, were created to absorb the tremendous increase in the number of boys in the Little League and Minor League program this year. In addition to the 16 or 17 boys on each of the regular Minor League teams, there were about 25 7-year-olds, Bob Hunter and Vic Guernsey will take the seven-year-olds and divide them into two teams in an attempt to teach them some fundamentals of baseball.

The new teams will be playing "tee ball". This is a new kind of baseball for Cass City that has been played in other communities successfully with young players. Instead of the pitcher throwing the ball to the catcher, the ball is placed on a large rubber tee and the batter knocks it off the tee and the ball is then played in the regular manner. The first game for the Expos and Athletics will be Friday, May 28.

Tim Anthes head Laker grid coach

TIM ANTHERS

When Tim Anthes, 30, brings his Laker football team to Cass City for the first time it will be almost like old home week. For the recently appointed mentor of the Elkton-Pigeon-Bay Port grid squad is a native of Cass City and a graduate of Cass City High School.

In his undergraduate days he starred at quarterback on the same gridiron where he will now be doing his best to defeat Cass City.

Anthes is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anthes of Cass City. Before winning the job at the Lakers he was head football and basketball coach at Port Huron Catholic which closed this spring.

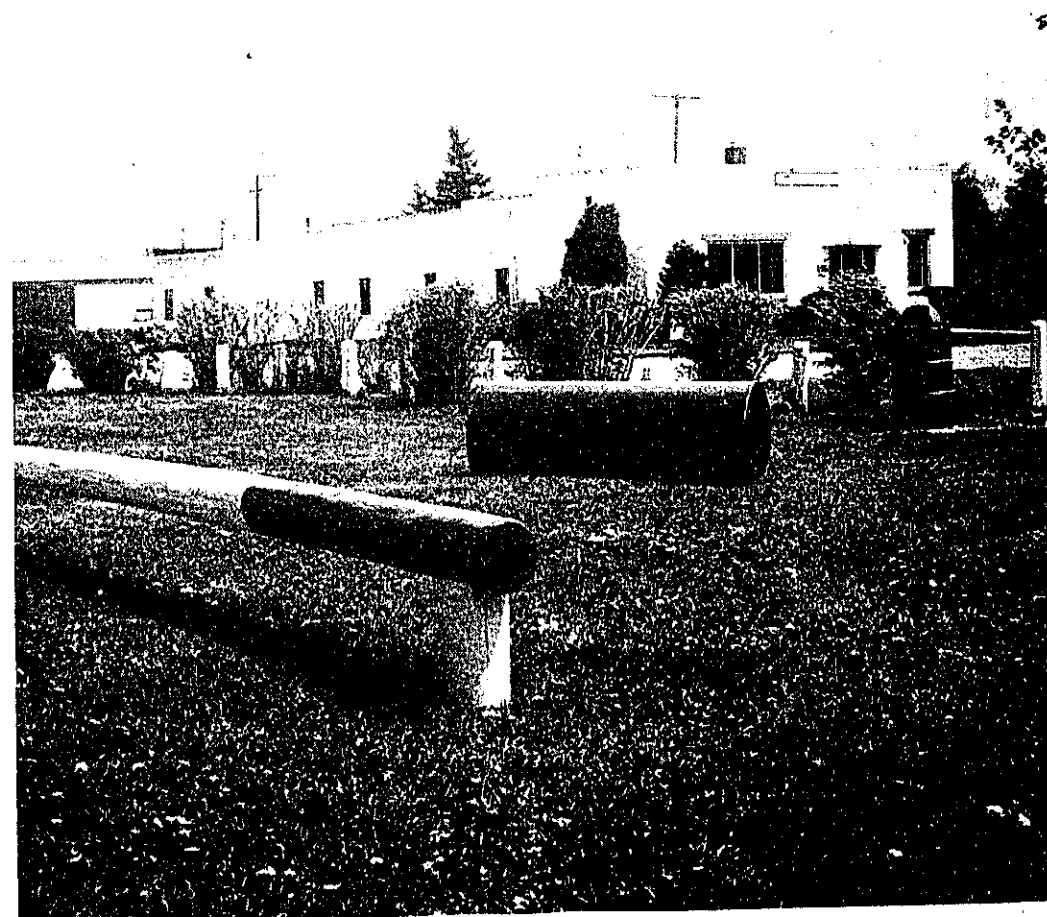

He worked as an assistant coach at Perry for a year after he earned his degree in physical education at Michigan State in 1964.

For Cass City, Anthes was an all-conference basketball guard as well as a top gridder.

THROUGH A COOPERATIVE EFFORT the Cass City Recreational Park this spring has additional playground equipment. Tires and drainage tubes were given to the village by Hunt Construction Co., while General Telephone Co. donated old telephone poles.

The equipment was painted by the village crew in bright yellow to capture and stimulate interest.

Perched on one of the new tires are Cindy Guernsey and Kim Coleman.

BRIGHT PAINT turned these telephone poles into walking rails. In the background is one of the tubes donated by Hunt Construction Co. Additions are also planned at Keating Park, the dormant park land owned by the village in southeast Cass City.
