Oil drillers to know Friday , if new well is producer again in Tuscola county. A' 100 foot derrick is supporting a drill three miles south and one west of Cass City on DeLong Road in Novesta town-

As of Monday afternoon the drill was 1296 feet deep. The foreman of the day shift, Jerry Burns, speaking over the noise of the drill which can be heard far away, said they expected to reach their goal of 3800 feet by Friday.

"We won't know if we hit oil until then," he said.

The Don Yohe Drilling Company of Armada began the round-the-clock operation Saturday, working for the Basin Oil Company of Metamora.

The land is owned by Mrs. Mary Albin of Caro. General Crude of Texas owns half of the mineral rights, and the railroad is listed as a leasee. The drilling site is near the Grand Trunk railroad.

The drill is digging down at about 90 feet an hour, but will begin to slow down as it goes through the shale layer and into the harder layers of rock, Burns said,

This is the first well to go up in the area since 1963, when Leonard Oil Refining of Alma drilled in the Novesta township dump on Severance Road, 4 miles south andthree-fourths mile west of Cass City.

They stopped the drilling late that year due to the frozen earth, according to Bill Zemke, a realtor who writes oil leases for the area. That was capped and nothing more done about it, as far as he knows.

Zemke said he remembered a well dug during the early forties on the Frank Woldan farm, also along DeLong Road, about one-half mile west of the present drilling operation.

He was a kid then, he said, and added that nobody knows

A meeting between Cass City School Counsellor Jerry Cleland and Mrs. Grace Nemeth has straightened out a misunderstanding that took Mrs. Nemeth before the school board

Cleland said this week that the meeting with Mrs. Nemeth indicated why her son was entered at Central Michigan University rather than Wayne State

Mrs. Nemeth was angry because her son wants a law career and was enrolled at

In the Tuesday meeting, Cleland explained that her son has school in Michigan had been accepting students with grade averages as low as this.

He said that he explained to Mrs. Nemeth that CMU would take students with a 2.6 (Baverage) and for that reason recommended that he apply.

He said that there is no cost for seeking admission to Central and that the money paid by Mrs. Nemeth was a

After the conference last Tuesday, Cleland said, it was decided that the student remain

CASS CITY, MICHIGAN-THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1971

Zemke added that about a year ago Shell Oil Co., which probably has the most acreage under lease in this area, went through the area testing for underground oil deposits with a sonic boom

The realtor said he has written leases for about 7000 acres in this area with 95 per cent in Tuscola county, concentrating in Elmwood, Elkton, Koylton, Novesta and Kingston town-

"There must be a hot spot north of town," he said, explaining he just wrote lease papers for 80 acres about 8 miles north of town.

"This guy is going to get $3 per acre the first year, and $1 per acre after that," he said. Most leases are for $1 per acre per year for ten years, with the owner of the land getting one barrel out of eight if oil is found on the property.

The major oil companies holding leases in this area are Standard, Basin, Mobil and

There is oil all around here, Zemke related, but said that due to the rock formation, it lies in pools and doesn't seep down to form one big source.

"The area doesn't have a big enough basin," he explained.

Oil drilling is controlled by the Department of Natural Resources, who issues approved permits upon payment of a $25 fee. Only one well can be drilled in a quarter section (40 acres). Provisions are made for the safe disposal of waste materials from the wells and removal of all physical property from the site upon abandonment.

THE FIRST SUCCESSFUL hunter to report this year was Ray Dearing, left. He bagged this trophy at daybreak hunting near Mushroom and Phillips Road. It was Dearing's first deer and the shot took off one side of the deer's rack. The shot was about 70 yards and the buck weighed in at 175 pounds. Helping hold the buck is Dave Dearing.

Work, not talent, makes artists, say Hartwicks

By Kit McMillion

Artists are born, not made, or so the saying goes. But not according to two young and talented artists in Cass City. Sharla and Susan Hartwick are both 19, almost 20, and very gifted. They modestly claim it's the result of work. "Anybody can learn to draw," said Susan forcefully, explaining that a person can learn to compose a picture and how to use the materials.

"I don't think talent has that much to do with it," she stated, but conceded, "It helps."

Her sister agreed and stated that a person needed determination more than anything else. Both girls have it. They are presently four months away from graduation from an Art Instruction home study course.

Their work area is in the basement of their parents', Mr. and Mrs. Leland Hartwick, home at 6653 Seed, A large table is fitted out with paper, pens, paints and an array of other artists materials.

They enrolled in September

There they work daily at completing the lessons, which include sketching, shading, figure drawing, nature studies, fashion and draping, and design. They've always been interested in art and said they were the only ones in their family

They began their artistic career when still very young--"Our mother would let us mess with finger paintings," said Susan -- and they took as much instruction as they could. Neither liked the course in high school because they weren't shown how to dothings, and they weren't allowed to copy things as models.

"People think that when you're an artist you can't copy, that you must take it from your head," said Susan in her quiet and controlled manner, "but you can't know what everything looks like."

They keep a file of pictures for just that reason so they'll know, for example, just how many webs there are in a duck's foot.

Sharla interrupted and urgently picked up a ruler and said, "It's one of the basic tools and they wouldn't let "I don't think people realize they haven't wasted any time in learning to draw or how to use their materials. Both girls' workbooks are filled with drawings and paintings, good to the inexperienced eye and to their instructors, judging from the high marks. They said they didn't have much time to work on outside projects, but did undertake one large endeavor--they made 100 dozen Christmas cards. "We began in August drawing various designs," said Sharla. The young woman explained how they made the frame for the silk screening and the troubles involved. Silk screening is a form of stencil printing whereby ink is forced through the mesh of a screen onto any desired sur-

said Susan. An amusing sidelight of the project was buying the envelopes. "I went to K-Mart and loaded up a cart with envelopes," said Sharla, laughing, "and everybody kept looking at me like was crazy or something." The girls are twins, although

Con-artist bilks dairy store of $10

Police are seeking a warrant for the arrest of a man who tricked a clerk at the Quaker Maid Dairy Store out of $10 Saturday.

Gerald Stilson, owner of the store, reported to police that a man came into his store and asked the clerk for a $10 bill in exchange for ten $1 bills. The man counted out the money, and as the clerk was getting the ten, he slipped back one of the ones. She saw him.

She counted the money again, finding it short. He gave her the other $1 and then said he wanted a $20 for the ten ones and the $10 bill she had in her hand. She gave him the $20. She was able to identify the man from a police picture.

A complaint of malicious destruction of property was filed with the police Saturday by William Kolacz of 6241 Garfield and Gerald Howard of 4442

Doerr Road. The report stated Kolacz's mail box stolen sometime during the night. It was found on the hood of Howard's car. It apparently had been thrown from a car and hit the right rear of Howard's car parked in his driveway, police said. Raymond Hendrick, 5318 Pringle Road, Decker, reported to Cass City police that 4 stereo speakers were stolen from his car while he was at a meeting at Cobo Hall in Detroit last week end. Chief Gene Wilson inspected the car and found a broken vent window and marks where a speaker was removed from the back window. The other three were not fastened. A tape player was half out of the car with only one bolt holding it. The complaint said the speakers were valued at $25.

Chief Wilson said he filed an insurance claim for a headlight that was removed entirely from the older police patrol car sometime Sunday night while it was parked behind the municipal building.

Vandalism to a police vehicle is a felony, not a misdemeanor, he said, adding he will prosecute if he discovers the thief. Damage was about $35.

It's sort of frustrating to walk around town this week looking for business or for usually reliable news sources. It's not that the accounts have suddenly stopped advertising or the news sources just suddenly dried up. It's just that suddenly everyone has gone hunting.

Ray Dearing set a new record. He was back in town with his deer before the office opened at 8 a. m. Monday.

John West has finally abandoned for good the building on Main Street where he bailed out industry, farmers and busi-

I sit here wishing there were a way for me to tell all the Cass City Florida winter residents about the really wonderful weather we're having here in Michigan.

Someway to describe the glorious, sparkling days and the crisp, cool nights. The true Indian Summer that rarely is experienced here in mid-November.

Second class status of American Indians slowly changing

The American frontier was "conquered" according to the U. S. Census of 1890.

The declaration signaled a final victory for the "foreigners" who had been streaming to America for nearly 400 years. But for the original inhabitant -- the only "true American"--it marked a final defeat and continuation of his status as a second-class citizen in his own land.

That second-class status has, unfortunately, continued almost unabated since then.

A national survey recently found that Indians:

--have an average income of $1,500 a year, or 75 per cent below the national average. --have an unemployment rate of 40 per cent, almost 10 times the national average.

--have a life expectancy of 44 years, compared with 65 years for the white population. --have a school dropout rate twice the national average and approaching 100 per cent in some school districts.

In recent years, however, the American public has experienced an increasing awareness of the inequitable treatment Indians have received and things are changing, even if the changes are slow.

By far the most publicized change in Michigan this year involved Indian fishing rights. It started April 5 when the state Supreme Court overturned the 1965 arrest of William Jondreau, a L'Anse Chippewa, caught with four lake trout from the Keweenaw Bay on Lake Superior in violation of state game laws.

The ruling said Indians, by virtue of treaties they signed with the United States government in the 1800's, had the right to hunt and fish without restriction anywhere in the

and even if Indians are granted unlimited fishing rights it is only a small start in repaying them for the conditions to which they have been subjected in what originally was their land.

But soon a storm of protest started rising from the sportsmen lobby and the DNR itself. Complaints were lodged that Indians were "raping" the Great Lakes with unlimited fishing, especially commercial fishing.

The Indians denied the charges, saying they weren't fishing enough to affect the levels of fish in the lakes. Finally, in August, the Supreme Court issued a second ruling that the unlimited fishing rights belonged only to the L'Anse band of the Chippewa tribe. Members of other bands of Chippewas complained the court was "honoring one treaty and not others."

The Bay Mills band of the Chippewa tribe decided to fight the ruling. One of its members, A. B. Le Blanc, went fishing on Lake Superior to be arrested so a test case could be started.

Birth-like pains are resulting from the new program under which car owners use the mail to secure new license plates. In the suit Dawson states that his wife was at all times on her side of the road as she was driving north toward their home on Rossman Road. The suit further states that

The suit claims McLaughlin should have been in the southbound lane and that he drove in a reckless, careless, wilful, wanton and negligent manner, and that he failed to slow down to avoid an accident and that he was not able to stop in an assured clear distance ahead. The plaintiff says that the road where the accident occurred was gravel top, that the

The accident report stated that Michael McLaughlin was questioned by sheriff's deputies Mar. 18, 1969, at which time he stated that the first thing he saw was another car's headlights in his eyes. He told the deputy then he was driving at about 30 miles an hour, and that the other car was in the center

EVERYBODY pops pills

We are a pill-popping nation. Whether you want to accept it or not--just examine your own

At the breakfast table you reach for the vitamins. Why? Because you're either too sloppy and lazy to make sure you eat a balanced diet, or you're convinced that your eating habits don't matter because there is a pill to make it better. At lunch you eat too much, so you take another pill to make it better. You take a tranquilizer, too, because the worries of the day are just too much, and it makes it better. By the time you get home, you've got a splitting headache and take two aspirins, or your head is throbbing because the kids have been at it all day, so you take two aspirins, and it makes it better. I don't really think all of you or even most of you take that many pills. Some persons I've known do. I had a friend once who had a complete array of pretty little capsules and pills to take. It completely amazed me that she could remember what they were all for.

But you do take pills a lot, don't you? And needlessly? But it isn't always your fault. Yesterday I heard a commercial for vitamins. The soothing but firm voice claimed vitamins were necessary because modern food processing takes most of the nutritious vitamins out.

And even if you eat a balanced diet, you still can't get everything you need. So take vitamins, he said, to restore what should have been there in the first place. Seems pretty stupid if you ask me. Why go to all the bother of growing and processing food if all you do is turn it into attractive garbage?

The crux of this pill-popping mania rests on trying to relieve the symptom instead of getting down to the root of the problem. For instance, why not examine the farming and production methods and find some way to keep the nutrients in? As for the tranquilizers and headache medicines, facing up to the situation and solving the problems might make them go away or at least easier to live

And how about those sometimes humorous commercials for stomach relief, where the star of those Hollywood gems always makes a pig of himself, but then gets immediate relief from a pill or something to be dropped into water that goes fizzzzzzzzzz,

Instead of encouraging healthy and sensible eating habits, we're told we can eat anything we want, as often as we want, because there is some pill somewhere to fix it up

So instead of living like we should, we pop pills to make what we do better.

It's not so hard to see why kids who find their society unpleasant take pills to make it better, too, is it?

Many people consider the projects, meetings and conwinners to be those lucky few who receive the top awards. But when you take a good look the only winners? Truly, award winners are winners. But what about the girl who through her clothing project learns to select her clothes? And what about the lad who may not win many blue ribbons, but who starts a small beef herd to provide him money for his college education?

at our 4-H program, are these

And what about the thousands of 4-H'ers who through 4-H tacts with others, learn to get along with others. What about these - aren't they winners,

What about leaders? Aren't they winners of satisfaction they get from helping young people grow up? They need this satisfaction if they are to stay on as adult volunteers.

And we might include our council, donors and even the taxpayers who support 4-H through our extension program. We all work toward developing young people to be our leaders of tomorrow.

BETTER HEALTH

Ups and downs of overweight

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

It is unfortunate that although the American Medical Association has continually warned against the method of reducing overweight with pills containing thyroid substance plus digitalis (a drug to stimulate the heart), or benzedrine (a "pep" pill that tends to speed up the body's metabolism) or some other possibly toxic (poisonous) drugs, a number of men continue to make a fortune from overweight people-who-are-willing-to-takea chance on the "pill" method. These pills have sometimes caused harm and even death. Of late the AMA has also warned people about the uselessness and even danger of weighted belt devices and inflatable clothing that have been widely advertised in national magazines.

I have never approved of any methods that do not take into account the fact that in order to reduce weight, a person must reduce the amount of food he or she takes in each day. The person must also learn new eating habits, and must not trust a pill to compensate for any "sin" of overeating.

Back in December, 1942, Professor Neuburgh of Ann Arbor, Michigan, wrote a fine article in which he said he felt that it would be better not to give obese patients any drug. Like many others, he wanted to find out why some persons easily become obese. He concluded that stout persons are unable to absorb all the energy from their food, which is just the opposite of what many of us physicians have assumed. We have taken it for granted that the obese person's body extremely economical in using the food that is taken in.

We still do not have any good answers to the question of why some people become obese and others remain slim. We have sometimes believed the many stout people who assure us that they do not eat any more food than do their thin relatives and friends. Actually, I have known many stout persons, and when I have had the chance to watch them eating, I have seen that they not only ate much food, but they loved to put much butter and cream on it. Also an obese woman may say that she eats very little at mealtimes, and perhaps does not even eat any supper. She may make quite a show of dieting when people are watching, but she may not mention that at 10 p. m., when her relatives have gone to bed, she goes to the kitchen and raids the refrigerator; or when she is preparing dinner for her "nibbles" at the food while she is working, forgetting that food eaten between mealtimes also contains calories, and these

My impression is strong that heredity has much to do with the development of obesity. Once an attractive and likeable woman of 30, weighing 320 pounds, came to me to be reduced. She told me that she had a mother and two sisters, all over 300 pounds in weight. I helped her to take off 70 pounds, but when she returned to her usual way of life, she quickly put the weight back on again. This is one of the problems with crash diets and 10day diets -- sometimes it is possible to take weight off quickly, but unless the person develops a whole new way of eating, and realizes that diet-ing is a way of life, he or she is unlikely to keep the weight

It is worth making the effort because obesity can cause backache and painful knees and feet. The obese person will often become short of breath and will tend to tire easily. In women, obesity may be associated with infertility and with menstrual disorders. Obese persons tend to die earlier than thin people do. Professor Raymond Pearl, an expert on longevity, once asked, "Did you ever know a man or woman of 85 who was fat?", and I was able to think of only three such persons. In addition, there is the mental distress and embarrassment that must sometimes come to a person who is greatly over-

I was interested recently to read an article by a woman who succeeded in reducing her own weight from 214 pounds to 140 pounds, which looked much more attractive for a woman of 5 feet 7 inches. She was so pleased with her success that she wanted to help others, and so she went around New York City talking to groups of people, telling them how she reduced and how they could reduce.

This was such a good idea, and people responded so well that it became "Weight-Watchers International". Today there are 6,000 weekly meetings conducted by 99 groups in 49 states and in Puerto Rico and eight foreign countries. There is also a monthly Weight Watchers magazine, with a circulation of half a million, a camp for overweight children, and a special brand of Weight Watchers foods.

Some 2.2 million women, men and youngsters have used this method to slim down, and I can see how it might work well -- as do other groups that are run along the lines of Alcoholics Anonymous. People with the same trouble meet and talk over their problems and can encourage one another to overcome the problems.

In his booklet, "Weight Control", Dr. Alvarez tells you why a stout person should make great efforts to reduce, why freak reducing diets or drugs are harmful and what the one scientific way to reduce is. If you would like a copy of his booklet send 25 cents and a selfaddressed, stamped envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C, Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

35 attend senior citizen meeting

Mrs. Avon Boag gave a reading and explained what Thanksgiving meant to her at the monthly dinner meeting of the Senior Citizens club held Nov. 11 at the Elkland Township Cultural Center.

Thirty-five members attended the potluck dinner. Marie Roch, Helen Baker, Lorene Rienstra, Edith Little and Gladys Fort of the Zonta Club acted as waitresses but found the food so good, they joined in the dinner and fellowship. The next meeting will be Dec. 9 with a dinner, Christmas program and tree, under the direction of Lucile Bauer. A special invitation is extended to any senior citizen who would like to join the group, which continues to grow. Anyone wishing a ride to the meeting will be picked up by a Zonta member.

up and up. By Dan Marlowe

The Copley News Service reports that the current bikeriding craze is cranking up to an unprecedented plateau.

American, British, French, Japanese, and other overseas manufacturers can't meet the U.S. demand.

Hottest items are lightweight adult 10-speed machines, but even tandem sales have soared surprisingly. The Bicycle Institute of America says that about 8.5 million bikes will be sold this year, a 24% increase over last year.

Probably 30% of the bikes sold in this country this year will be foreign made, And adult lightweight multigeared machines will represent as much as 30% of the total sold.

James Hayes, Bicycle Institute of America representative in New York, predicted that within two years or so more bikes than cars will be sold annually in the United States. The Institute's "fairly sophisticated guess" is that there are now more than 50,000,000 bicycles in this country.

The outdoor recreation era is here," Hayes said. "Youth

ONE FOR THE ROAD

Bicycle demand

Schwinn of Chicago is the third largest bike-maker. Schwinn's promotion manager predicts further dramatic sales rises for the next four or five years. He points out that in the past bike popularity has been highly cyclical. Peaks before were in 1897, 1920, 1936, 1941, 1947, 1955, 1960, and in the mid-sixties. "The only unusual development currently is that the present boom has arrived in the midst of a recession," he said. "The fastest selling models represent an investment of $100 or so, which is a goodsized chunk for the

Schwinn's representative said that 63% of Schwinn's production this year will be adult bikes, a fantastic change from two or three years ago when only 20% of production was for average family."

Schwinn is assembling 5400 bikes a day in a 75-year-old plant, working two 8 1/2 hour shifts. Schwinn would run three shifts if it could get enough parts from overseas.

A west coast supplier, the main importer of Japanesemade American Eaglebicycles, cannot get enough of them. "We're flying in whatever we can get, but we're having difficulty," a company spokesman reported.

From component maker to manufacturer to dealer to retailer to consumer the pipeline is clogged with bicycles, but never enough for today's exercising ecologists.

They said the automobile would never replace the horse. Would you believe. . . ?

4-H ACTIVITIES

Adult volunteers needed

By Bernard Jardot

Our 4-H volunteer leaders are important and unique members of the nationwide Extension 4-H youth teaching team. Without volunteers, our extension programs would be unable to involve as many youth and families in its educational programs. In the 70's, extension's need for volunteers will greatly increase. Other agencies and organizations also will be seeking more volunteers. This means that those who wish to recruit volunteers must make their needs known. Our 4-H adult volunteers work with 4-H youngsters between the ages of 8 and 18. More and more the youth help determine the project or activity he will work with. And it doesn't have to be one of the "regular 4-H projects." Harry Crandell, Jr. D.V.M. If the youngster is really going to benefit with our 4-H Office 4438 South Seeger St. "Learning by Doing" concept. he'll need good adult advice. Phone 872-2255 They've got to work together to come up with the best activity for each individual enrolled in our 4-H clubs. This way, the youngster can set goals that are reasonable and meaningful for him -- and he can learn and develop as he goes along.

Do you feel you would be interested in knowing more about the 4-H volunteer's role? If so, contact me at the Extension 4-H office, Civil Defense Center, Caro.

Overcoming loneliness

The beginnings of loneliness within marriage are not greatly different from those of boredom. A husband and wife begin to avoid communication with each other because they find it painful or unrewarding. From this level, it is a short step to angry interchanges.

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on October 26, 1971 at the Municipal Building, All Trustees except Gladys Albee were present. The minutes of the regular September meeting were read and approved.

Dr. Ed Scollon, representing the Cass City School Board, was present to request that the Council consider the possibility of installing blinking school zone signs at each end of the school zone on Seeger Street. Dr. Scollon also requested that the Police Department patrol more extensively at the schools when the busses are going from both schools onto Seeger Street. Dr. Scollon was told that the Safety Committee had recently met and that they have under consideration several proposed traffic safety recommendations concerning the children going to school and returning home. The Safety Committee reported that they discussed the possibility of the blinking signs suggested previously by Dr. Scollon, along with the word "School" painted at the north and south limits of the school zone. However, they will have to seek permission from the Tuscola County Road Commission before they go ahead with plans to paint. Also under consideration by the Safety Committee is the possibility of the installation of a three-way timed blinking light at Seeger and Rose Streets.

The Safety Committee informed the Council that they will be meeting again to investigate each recommendation and will report to the Council as soon as possible.

Mrs. Mary Wilding was present to discuss with the Council her water and sewer bill which she felt was too high. Mrs. Wilding was told that because she lived outside the Village limits her water and sewer rates doubled those of Village residents. In addition, a $10.00 users outside the limits. Mrs. Wilding was informed that her bill will be studied and she will be contacted in regards

Trustee Rawson introduced to the Council Mr. Daniel Toshach, an architect from Saginaw. Mr. Toshach informed the Council that he will be inspecting the Municipal pool within the next few days and will be reporting to the Park Committee his recommendations as to what steps should

Mr. Toshach was also asked to comment on his opinion of the BOCA codes now under consideration by the Council. Mr. Toshach noted that a legislative bill No. 5252, relating to the statewide construction code is in the process of consideration by the State Legislature. It was Mr. Toshach's recommendation that the Village adopt the BOCA codes and to obtain a county-wide building in-

The BOCA codes proposal will be tabled until further study can be made on the status of the Statewide Construction Code Bill No. 5252 and a meeting to be held considering a possible joint building inspection program with Caro.

The Financial Report for the month of September was reviewed.

It was reported that 99% of the Village taxes was collected this year. The Safety Committee reported that as a result of their meeting with school officials and Chief of Police Gene Wilson, they would like to recommend that the Council consider the purchasing of four Walk - Don't Walk lights at the main intersection down-

After considerable discussion it was recommended that the Council table this request from the Safety Committee until another meeting can be held between the committee and school officials to review the total program, at which time a special meeting will be held.

Trustee Rawson requested that the Council approve the purchase of fifty trees to be planted throughout the Village by the Department of Public Works.

A motion was made by Trustee Holmberg and supported by Trustee Ross that the Village approve the purchase of 50 trees for the Village at an expense of approximately $1,000. Motion carried.

Superintendent Blades reported that the State Highway Department Forester was in Cass City recently and inspected the damaged trees on Main Street. The trees that will have to be removed are marked with a yellow "X". No action will be taken until the Council has had the opportunity to inspect each tree.

The Village requested bids for a 1,000 gallon underground gasoline tank and pump from the local gasoline service stations. A bid was opened from the Standard Oil Company but was rejected because the bld was for the wrong item. Only one bid was received for the tank and pump, which was from the S. T. & H. Oil Company. The bid listed several different types of tanks and pumps at various prices. It was moved by Trustee Christner and supported by Trustee Ross that the bid from the S. T. & H. Oil Company for a 1,000 gallongasoline tank and pump at the maximum expense of $450.00 be accepted. Motion carried.

Superintendent Blades reported that the Village Attorney requested that the Council table consideration of John Little's request to purchase a portion of the Village's property located on Brooker Street at Houghton Street until the proper documents are drawn up for public sale of the prop-

A discussion was held on the proposed recommendation from the Detroit Edison Company that the Village convert its incandescent street lights to mercury vapor lights. As the rate increase is before the Public Service Commission and it is not certain whether the rates will change, it was suggested that the Council table the recommendation.

A brief discussion was held on the Cable Television proposal. On the recommendation of the Village Attorney, interested parties will be contacted regarding their installation plans for the near future.

President Although reported to the Council that a Michigan Council for the Arts Artrain is scheduled to be in Cass City late July of 1972. The scheduled arrival of the five-car train, consisting of visual art displays was made possible through an application made by the Cass City branch of the American Association of University Women.

A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Holmberg that the Village of Cass City sponsor the Michigan Council for the Arts Artrain. Motion carried.

President Althaver presented to the Council a proposal for the Village to join with Elkland Township in the operation of the Elkland Township Cultural Center. All expenses would be shared between the Village and the Township on a 50-50 basis. After considerable discussion, a motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Holmberg that the Village join with the Township on a year-to-year, 50-50 basis in the operation of the Elkland Township Cultural Center, and that a schedule of services and for the Council's review. The Council was informed by Superintendent Blades that the Planning Commission will be holding a Public Hearing on the proposed Zoning Ordinance and Subdivision Regulations on November 18, 1971. The Council established the celebration of Halloween to be on Saturday night, October 30 from 5:30 to 9:00 p. m. A motion was made by Trustee Christner and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bills

County seeks federal grant for building

The Tuscola County Road Commission has submitted an application for a $480,000 federal grant to fund a new $600,000 Road Commission building. The $480,000 is 80 per cent of the total cost. The remaining 20 per cent will come from road commission funds, according to Robert Wellington, county road commissioner. The present road commission building at 120 Millwood, Caro, was built before the turn of the last century and is a converted horse collar factory, Wellington said. To repair that building would cost at least $150,000, he said, and they'd still have converted horse collar The new facility will be built on the east side of M-24 about 1 1/2 miles south of Caro. The grading and blacktopping of the driveways has already been completed, Wellington said.

The road commission is seeking federal funding under the Public Works Impact Program administered by the Economic Development Administration of the Department of Commerce. Ruling on the application is expected by Jan. 1. If the funds are granted, construction will begin about Mar. 1. If they aren't granted, the building will be delayed until other funds can be found. The funding program provides for federal assistance for

Highway funds up 4.8 per cent

Cass City and the three counties of Tuscola, Huron and Sanilac shared in the 4.8 per cent increase of third quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Funds, according to information released last week by State Highway Director Henrick E. Staf-

Tuscola county's share jumped from $264,594 to $276,-914. Huron county received $245,639, up from $238,155, and Sanilac, $266,502 over last year's $255,167.

Funds to Cass City increased to $6,117 from $6,018. Other area villages received: Caro, $10,916; Gagetown, $2,089; Kingston, $1,528; Owendale, $1,614 and Ubly, $2,711.

Stafseth said net receipts of the highway fund during July, August and September amounted to $81,416,406, an increase of $3,695,257, or 4.8 per cent, compared to the same period in 1970. The highway funds consist of all state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate

After deduction of collection costs and the state Waterways Commission's share of 1 1/2 per cent of gasoline taxes, the money is distributed with 46 per cent to the Department of State Highways, 34 per cent to the state's 83 countles and 20 per cent to the 529 incorporated cities and villages.

Under this formula, the highway department will receive $37,472,246 as its share of the third quarter collections. The counties will receive $27,696,-878 and the cities and villages will get $16,292,281.

Read them through before handing them to your child. Books for children often picture boys in exciting roles. The fireman. The policeman. An astronaut. A doctor, A scientist. But girls usually end up in only about three roles. A mother. A nurse. Or ateach-

There's nothing wrong in any of these roles. But why not switch the scene a bit. Picture the girl as the astronaut, the doctor, the policewoman. There's a future for females in different job positions the same as there is for males these days. And little girls should be encouraged toward new ventures in their future,

Dr. Laurine Fitzgerald, Associate Dean of Students at Michigan State University, recently explained to the Cooperative Extension Service Field Staff that in many of the award winning children's books there is active discrimination against girls. In one award winning series, there were 261 male pictures but only 23 female pictures. Often the girls watch and the boys get to "do things". Most girl high school graduates will work for 25 years during their lifetime. So why not consider many job possibilities? So, check through your children's books. Do they stimulate your daughter's thinking toward the many careers open to her? Or do they picture her with limited role possibilities?
