CASS CITY, MICHIGAN-THURSDAY, JANUARY 20, 1972

FROM THE Lditor's Corner

As long as the word at Cass City Schools these days is curriculum enrichment now is the time, I say, to get in a good word for a favorite project of

Not that I think that it has much chance of adoption, you understand, but just because I think it makes sense.

I'd like to see the gyms open in the evening at the school for the use of everyone. . men, women and students.

I realize that right now the → gyms are in use early and late . . .but come Mar. 10 the lights go out and all that beautiful space, that marvelous equiplies unused after the school day is over.

That an evening program - would be accepted has been proved. A couple of years ago Fred Hurlburt opened the high school gym a couple of nights a week. He did it without pay. Sure, he wanted to give his basketbal! players a chance to sharpen skills, but the point is that the gym was open to all and it was crowded most nights it was open.

Youngsters from about six years to adults in their mid 50's were there and it wasn't only to play basketball. There was a trampoline, volley ball, table tennis, rope climbing and weight lifting.

No. I'm not saying that teachers should donate time for this program. That's expecting too much. And I agree with the administration, when it says that if the gym is open there should be a qualified teacher in charge.

But how much money are we talking about anyway?

I'd imagine that it wouldn't be too great a problem to find qualified persons to administer the program for $5 an hour ...say, $20 a night.

Because of prior commitments perhaps the gym would be available for a maximum of four nights a week and the early spring would perhaps stretch to 24 weeks (including Christmas vacation time) and the total teacher cost would be

Maybe incidental costs would double this figure, but I doubt

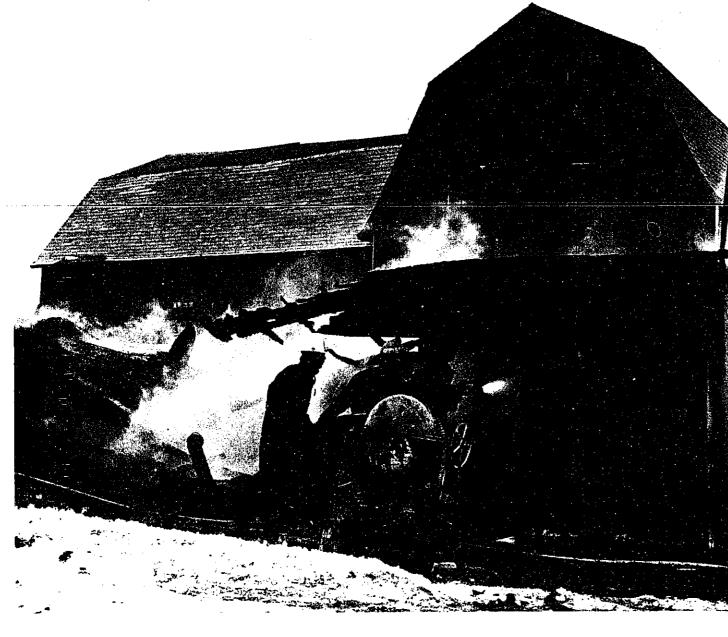

Even if it did, if as many persons were interested as they were when the brief program was run here it would be cheap at the price.

I've always felt that it's poor policy to spend over $1 1/2million for a school and then not use it to as near capacity as possible.

Certainly, reading, writing and arithmetic comes first.

But if there is any chance at all of squeezing out the really little amount needed to open our facility to all the taxpayers we should do it.

It's too good a bargain to Council mulls requests for pay boosts for employees

When the village council begins budget discussions later this month, one of the first areas of debate will be the salary increases sought by village employes and the four proposed employes.

A wage increase of 5.5 per cent is being sought for all but three employes, with a total increase of $6,090 for the 11

An increase of 16 per cent, from $5,600 to $6,500, is being sought for Deputy Clerk Charlene Pranger. The greater increase is requested because of the responsibility of the job and the more than 40 hours a week it takes to do. A raise of 15 per cent, from $7,500 to $8,550, is being sought for police patrolman John Rands. This increase is to bring his yearly salary to the level of patrolman Bill McKinley's, who received $8550 in 1971, because his job carries the same responsibility, although he has been on the force fewer

No increase has been asked for McKinley. The 5.5 per cent will raise salaries of the four men on the village crew from $8,650 to $9,125. Other salary increases will be: Police Chief Gene Wilson, $9,650 to $10,200; Waste-water treatment plant director Nelson Willy, $10,500 to $11,075; treatment plant operator James Crane, $8000 to $8,440, and village superintendent James Blades, $12,500 to $13,175.

About the proposal President Lambert Althayer had little to say at this time.

"They were rough salary propresented to the council," he said. "There probably will be changes."

NEW EMPLOYEES

In addition to the salary requests for regular employees, four new employees have been requested. These include a fourth patrol officer for the police department at a salary of $7200. Also sought are a Department of Public Works director, $10,-000; a secretary for the village office to assist the village clerk, $4,160, and a waste-water plant helper, $6,500.

Salaries for the four additional employees total $27,860. Discussions on the budget will begin following the completion of the December financial statement. The budget must be completed two weeks before the Mar. 13 election.

Before that date the council members will have to decide the amount of salary increases and which if any of the new employees will be included in CAPITAL INVESTMENTS

They will also grapple with proposed capital investments sought by Blades for the vil-

Of high priority on that list is the purchase of a used street sweeper for $10,000. The machine the village now owns is 28 years old and is "completely beyond repair", said Blades.

Development of the Jackson parking lot behind the Main Street stores at Seeger and Church Streets is estimated to cost $13,000. This will involve $7000 in meters and $6000 in improvements, Blades said, increasing the capacity of the lot. from 63 to 92 spaces. Part of the money will be spent on preparing the additional corner the council agreed to lease from the Thomas Jacksons at the December council meeting. A request for $10,000 is being made for engineering surveys of both the water and sewer systems. The $5000 for the water survey is "basically an analysis of existing facilities to determine what we're going to have to change and fix up to comply with known state and federal regulations," said Blades,

The study will lead to a comprehensive improvement program in the future and the request of federal and state

"We're able to produce pure water," the village superintendent noted, but he added that facilities for fire prevention were inadequate and that some consumers were still on threefourth and one-inch galvanized water mains, when the minimum required by the state is 6 inches.

The study of the waste-water treatment facilities is "principally an analysis of treatment facilities to bring the facilities up to state and federal standards and to determine what sort of expansion is necessary," said Blades.

Presently the system is unable to handle some industrial wastes. A pollution level is expected to be assigned to the village in the future, also.

"We know we have to make some conversion in our sewer system. What we don't know is the extent of these changes,' Blades related.

Also requested to be included in the budget is $8000 to match state funds to renair West Street, including stripping, curb and gutter, storm sewers and paving; $5000 for improving Keating Park, located in the southeast corner of the village, including a primary road, parking area, preliminary land sculpture, ball diamond, play equipment and trees; and $5000 as the village's share of the State Recreational Bond pro-Concluded on page 3

A Sunday evening fire of unknown cause completely destroyed the barn and adjoining milk shed of Sanford Powell on Hartsell Road, seven miles north of Cass City. Damage estimates are still unde-The blaze was discovered by Powell when he came out of the barn following chores about 8 p. m. and saw flickers of light on the snow. He said he looked up and saw the flames in the second floor hay mow of the 40x60 foot structure.

Powell said he drove one row of cows out, ran to the house to call the fire department, and came back to release two more rows of animals. By that time the flames were beginning to burn through the floor overhead.

One cow and seven calves were destroyed in the blaze, along with a quantity of hay and grain and a truck that was

Crime cases up 40% in village

Crimes handled by the Cass City Police force were up 40 per cent in 1971 over the previous year, with acts of vandalism heading the list.

The yearly police report listed 123 incidences of vandalism, doubling the 1970 figure of 61. Ninety-nine larcenies were committed, an increase of 12, and 24 burglaries, No burglaries were reported in 1970, according to the report.

Assault and battery cases increased from 7 in 1970 to 12 in 1971. Bad checks doubled, with a total of 22 last year,

Auto thefts remained at 4; three suicides were attempted, but none resulted in death; drug complaints remained at 8, and there were four arsons, with none reported in 1970. Minor complaints handled by the police increased from 993 in 1970 to 1518 last year, a rise of 35 per cent. Forty-nine fires, up 22, were policed; 93 accidents, an increase of 9, were covered and 157 traffic complaints, an increase of 95, were received.

The police responded to 92 disturbances, 29 more than last year, and 67 family complaints, an increase of 35, Prowler complaints increased from 8 to 18.

Decreases were reported in the number of funerals policed, 72 down from 87; animal complaints, 77 down from 90, and doors checked and found unlocked, 68 down from 96.

Enforcement activities increased by three for a total of 1247. The 167 traffic tickets issued were 46 less than the previous year. Arrest and appearance tickets were down 13, for a total of 42. Seventyone more parking tickets were issued with a total of 1029.

Total complaints and services handled by the three man force with part-time assistance numbered 3,191, up 21 per cent over 1970's figure of 2517. The increase in complaints resulted in fewer hours on the road, with 59,891 miles patrolled, 6177 less than the previous year.

Cactus growing: just a little water and a lot of care-Eula Gruber

By Kit McMillion

When you walk into Eula Gruber's home, if you have a good imagination, you can forget the cold, blowing winds and snow outside and transport yourself to a warm, drydesert.

 As you step into the door of the large home on Elmwood Road south of Cass City, one of the first things visible is a low table with hundreds of tiny cactus plants, reminiscent of the southwest.

The cactus plants were all planted from seed about one year ago. Mrs. Gruber, who has been growing the spiny plants for about four years, said she buys packets of seeds from various companies. Each package contains about 1000 seeds of mixed variety.

Sometimes she buys a plant if it's strange looking or different, but she prefers to grow them from seed.

She began raising cacti after seeing large, full grown plants in the Catholic Church of Wilmot, where large desert plants were placed in front of the "I just admired them so,"

she said.

She bought her first seed through a company advertised in a woman's magazine, but since then has begun buying from a research company in New Mexico and from several greenhouses in California, explained that she sprinkled the pin-head size seeds rather than planting each one individually in small tin pans filled with a mixture of sand, bone meal and potting soil and then covered the dish with a piece of saran wrap.

"In a week or so you see them popping through," she

It's the fun and excitement of waiting to see what is growing that Mrs. Gruber likes. "If you don't keep track of what you've got, when you send for more, you may get the same because they all look so much alike," she laughed. The inch high plants at first glance do look identical, but closer inspection reveals them to be of many varieties, with spines ranging from quite soft and white to very sharp and dark. The grooves of the plants are also very distinctive. One has red stripes down the fur-

A paper cactus has verythin, paper-like spines, she explained, and then selected a bulbous looking plant called the boxing glove cactus. "When it grows, it's shaped just like a glove," she said.

Amidst the menagerie is one plant that attracts attention first. It's the result of grafting a red cactus to the top of a different kind of green one. Mrs. Gruber said she bought it as is and added, "I've never seen a red cactus head before."

When transplanting the tiny plants from bunches to their own little containers, care must be taken to not injure the roots. but usually the plants require little attention. She uses small hospital medicine cups with a hole punched in the bottom for "You've got to be in the

"I took the tags all off. I couldn't keep track of them," she said, noting that "I just grow them; I don't study them." Besides raising cacti, Mrs. Gruber's green thumb activities extend to gardening and planting fruit trees.

Recently, she planted peach seeds in their backyard, putting three or four seeds in each mound. Spring will tell if the frost cracked the shells and the trees have sprouted. Inside the house are several Jerusalem cherry seedlings started from seed.

Mrs. Gruber also raises dachshunds and currently has three, a male called Gentleman Paxton, and two females named Greta and Schnitzel. Although she's never been to the desert. Mrs. Gruber said

You won't see Alger Freiburger walking along the main stem any more for awhile.

Monday his Leader Dog Jet died at the young age of six years. It will probably be sometime in April before Alger can go to the Lions school at Rochester and get another dog. Meanwhile, he reports in answer to numerous requests that memorials to Jet can be sent to him and he'll see that they are given to the Leader Dog School to carry on the good work.

Tonight, Thursday, could be a big night in the life of all the Robert Alexanders, and especially for son, Rob.

Rob meets with top management of the Milwaukee Brewers to discuss signing. He was the Brewers' number one draft choice. Rob came very close to signing with a representative of the Royals but the negotiations fell through at the last mo-

No figures have been released but it's probably a good wess that the discussions will be in five figures. One thing sure. If attitude counts Rob should be worth whatever it takes to sign him. All he ever wanted to do was play baseball professionally.

It was gratifying to see Cass City lose graciously Friday. We've had some poor displays of sportsmanship at the high school when we've lost basketball games this season,

But after the frustrating defeat at Sandusky the players conducted themselves so that even the most critical couldn't point the finger at any of the players for giving the school

The family attempted to tour to Las Vegas on one of the package week-end deals. A call to the travel agency revealed that all the top hotels were full and all non-stop jets from Detroit were loaded.

If I were Mrs. Marge Bliss, I think I'd be tempted to go to Las Vegas at any price. Mrs. Bliss bought raffle tickets to help out the students at Cass City School. At three home basketball games cakes and pies have been raffled and Mrs.

Bliss was a winner in two of the three drawings. She also donated to the Junior Class raffle for an afghan and you know what happened. . . she won again.

In a Detroit daily a story about an oil well at the Alan and Theron Latimer farm near Akron revealed that the drillers are gambling that they will bring in a well deeper than any other in Michigan. Rumors are hot and heavy in Cass City that the area will be the center of another exploration oil well even though a Novesta township drilling just concluded came up empty. The story is that there will be 40 families coming to town to conduct drilling for a major company that could last 2

County wage settlement due for ratification

A wage settlement was reached between representatives of the sheriff's deputies and the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners late Tues-

The terms of the pact are not being released pending acceptance by both groups. The commissioners meet Tuesday, Jan. 25.

Negotiations began last October and both sides agreed to go into mediation after repeated stalemates. The personnel committee of the commissioners and deputies representing the Fraternal Order of Police met with the arbitrators Monday and Tuesday.

mail boxes on the right side of the road belonging to Andrew Barnes, Paul Craig and Harold Craig.

An unknown vehicle hit a car belonging to Gerold Gatza of 4527 Oak St., Cass City, when it was parked overnight Friday in a lot behind Bigelow's.

In another accident cars driven by Lyle David Sutton of Walnut Trailer Park, Cass City, and Joyce Kay Terbush of Gotham Road, Unionville, collided on River Road when Sutton backed up to go into a driveway and didn't see the Terbush vehicle behind him going into the same driveway, Tuscola county sheriff's reports stated. The accident occurred at 4:05 p. m. Thursday, Jan. 13.

Another accident occurred in the same vicinity at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday, Jan. 11, when the vehicle driven by Jacquelin Hoag, 6242 River Road, Cass City, slid when she was making a right turn from Cemetery Road onto River Road and struck a car driven by Henry Ciesielski of 6068 River Road, Cass City. Passengers in the Hoag car were Rickey, 13, Terry, 10, and Alesia Hoag, 8.

A booklet that gives information on how to fill out Federal tax returns will be sold at Postal Service facilities in the Cass City area, Postmaster Glaspie announced today.

"Your Federal Income Tax" was written by the Internal Revenue Service and contains many examples to illustrate how the tax law applies to actual situations. A special feature of the booklet is the sample, filledin return, Form 1040, keyed pages where explanations can be found for each entry on the return.

The 160-page booklet will be on sale and costs 75 cents a copy.

"By selling this booklet at postal facilities in the Cass City area we are offering a convenient service to our customers," Postmaster Glaspie said. "We are participating in a nationwide program to make the tax booklet available to the public in 15,000 postal facilities."

The commission said the copout was necessary "because of insufficient resources to permit adequate preparation for, and staffing of, the proceeding."

Translated from bureaucratese, this means Ma Bell is too heavy for Uncle Sam to handle. American Telephone & Telegraph is spending more money than the U.S. Government can afford to count.

Ma Bell has requested the usual rate increase. It's up to the FCC to decide whether Ma really needs more of your money each month. But how can the FCC set a fair profit if it can't first determine Ma's There's no way, It's really easy. Long ago I discovered that, of 346 phone calls coming into our house every day, only .00045% were for me. And that was always some guy who had chopped up his wife and wanted me to keep his name out of the paper because the news would make his mother sick if she read it. So I began letting it ring. At first, my family couldn't believe it. They screamed something awful when they learned they had lost their secretary. Either they reached the phone before it quit ringing, or no communication. They became wild and raving, running around the house asking each other: "Who do you think that

In the past few years, snowmobiling has "snowballed" into one of the most popular of all winter sports. It has also become a very popular 4-H youth project here in Tuscola county.

Why has snowmobiling become so popular? Probably the best answer is - it's just plain fun. Also it has become a family project that creats interest and support from all the family. The development of these machines has opened up a variety of winter activities that were not available before. It has also opened up some problems with our youth and adults in the proper use of their snowmobile.

The 4-H youth program has come up with an excellent youth project book on knowing your machine, code of ethics, snowmobile laws, proper riding of your machine and many other points of interest. It has been recognized by the State as an approved project to receive certification for youth between the ages of 12 and 16.

All youth enrolled in a 4-H Snowmobile Club and who complete project Bulletin 115s with our new Supplement of Snowmobile laws of 1971 will be certified by the Law Enforcement Division, Department of Natural Resources. This will be a requirement for all youth between the ages of 12 and 16 after Jan. 1, 1973. If you wish more information on how you can organize a 4-H Snowmobile Club, get needed materials and have your youth certified, just contact me at the Extension 4-H office, Civil Defense Center, Caro.

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

fraudulence. For example, in the article, I read that in 1848 mischievous American girls tied a string to an apple and bumped it on the floor at night, thus frightening theircredulous mother. The results exceeded their wildest dreams. Tales of occult doings spread through the village, then through the United States and eventually the world, and the prankster girls were launched on lifetime careers in the "occult". They learned to produce rapping sounds by snapping joints in their fingers, toes, knees and ankles, and they went on lecture tours, performing seances and calling themselves

Many years later they confessed that their "spirit" had been a playful hoax, but they continued their lecture tours, this time exposing credulity and revealing how their tricks had been performed.

Curiously, a number of very able persons have accepted the reality of spiritualism and some have been very much interested in what goes on in seances. Such famous persons as Thomas Huxley, Robert and Elizabeth Browning, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, Houdini, Napoleon the Third, and Dr. Carl Jung have studied and investigated the Seances have come to be conducted under a well-established set of rules. Generally the "cast of characters" consists of a medium, who may work in a state of trance or may remain conscious throughout the sitting, there may be several participants, known as sitters, who need not be practicing spiritualists but must have a receptive attitude, and one or more "spirits". The spirits are presumed to be sensitive, often moody, easily frightened or annoyed, and hence certain procedures must be followed if communication is to be established between one of the participants and his or her dead

The medium is usually a woman who perhaps feels that she was born with special powers; she feels that she is a sort of psychic antenna for receiving messages from "be-Mediums are divided into physical and mental types -physical ones expressing communications with such signs as automatic writtable levitation (lifting), luminous effects. The mental mediums merely receive messages and transmit them. They say the effect of a seance is debilitating and exhausting, and hence, as the writer of the article notes, quite a few mediums have sought relief in alcohol. That great writer of mysteries and creator of Sherlock Holmes, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, after much study of psychic research, theorized that bodily weakness could cause dislocation of the soul, thus freeing it for occult exercises. Doyle noted that the ability to be a medium frequently appeared in an adolescent.

In Italy, a famous medium was an untutored peasant girl named Eusapia Palladino; she specialized in table tilting, flying objects, ethereal music, and the touch of spirit hands.

Even some distinguished citizens have maintained that they heard musical instruments played by invisible hands at seances. They claimed to have seen spirit-writing or drawing, usually on two slates put together. They have heard the ringing of bells, observed tableturning, raising and tilting, and they think they may have felt the touch of "spirit hands". One of the favorite manifestations is ectoplasm, which is

One of the most famous believers in the ability to contact the "other side" in recent years was the religious leader, the late Bishop Pike, who felt that he had been successful in contacting his dead son, and wrote a book about the experience. Other persons have come to regard spiritualism as a religion, and their greatest interest was in the utterances of spirits during a medium's

In the 1850s, there were some 30,000 mediums in the United States, Today, there is a renewed interest in the occult and in such phenomena as extrasensory perception (ESP), Iwas much impressed once when I went to a theater where the great Houdini, standing on the stage in a strong light, showed his audience the mechanics of usual manifestations of spiritualism, such as levitation and table tapping, and revealed how they could be done by anyone who knew the trick.

The great English biologist Thomas Henry Huxley studied mediumship with a skeptical attitude and later wrote an expose of the conjurer's tricks that he had seen used.

As the writer in the medical journal concluded, the question of fraud in spiritual seances has never been completely resolved. The question of genuine phenomena from the spirit world remains, as Scottish law often says, "unproven, one way or another.

People down on their luck find many arguments to prove

FROM THE LITTER BOX What price

kids? By Kit McMillion

Recently a study prepared for the Commission on Population Growth and the American Future, which was set up in March 1970 by President Nixon, revealed that it costs the average American family from $80,000 to $150,000 to raise two kids and send them through college. With variations due to geographic location and family status, the basics of food, clothing, education and medical care alone for the first 18 years mounts to about $35,000.

That's a lot of paychecks. But there seems to be something wrong with the attitude of putting a price tag on a child's head, and speaking of it like some other commodity ready for butchering like sheep or pigs.

To me, at least, it reflects this society's basic philosophy of thinking of everything in terms of money. It's not that I don't like money, because I do. And I can think in terms of how much it is costing me to keep a car or have my teeth cared for, etc.

But parents do have a responsibility to the offspring they produce

Having only been on the child side and not on the parent side of the issue, my view is perhaps stilted, and therefore not grounded in enough experience to make a truly sensible statement

But I still like to think that people have children because they want the amusing little animals under their feet, so they can watch them grow and develop, and because most people like to think their way of living and thinking is pretty good and they want to teach it to others. No better way than by bringing up children in your tradition.

The study's inclusion of the cost of putting kids through college only emphasizes the orientation of producing a product to help make society better, because society needs educated and skilled workers, rather than the attitude of making as much of yourself as a human being and enjoying life for yourself first and then contributing what you can and are willing

The study also included "opportunity costs" -- what a mother could have earned if she had been working. In spite of my liberated and modernistic soul, it angers me to have a mother's job thought of as having zero economic benefits and thus degraded in the economicdollar oriented society. If paid, all mothers would receive a different salary, but they certainly aren't wasting their time

The study continued by saying that the U.S. birth rate declined dramatically in 1971 to the lowest level since the depression. The researchers explained the drop as a result of the high cost of raising children.

That, to me, is a surprising conclusion.

With many available forms birth control and the socalled woman's lib movement to get women to be people instead of just mothers, the decision to have children is surely not purely monetary.

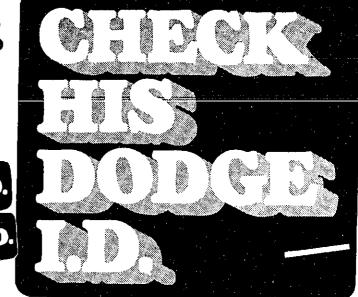

Many of my friends have given much thought to the subject and decided against having children because they want to pursue their own careers and develop a relationship with their husbands that children might destroy.

And others have considered the idea that it wouldn't be fair to bring any children into a world that is still torn by strife and problems that continually seem over-whelming and don't seem to change, even with effort.

A federal study of that sort seems like a waste to me, when programs of health, day care centers and job opportunities desperately need attention.

No matter how much it costs to raise children, I think we should worry a little more about what happens to them and their parents after they're here.

Check our Charger Irresistible Design.

A great car starts with great styling. Dodge Charger was picked by Car & Driver magazine as the "Best-Styled Car for 1971." And our '72 version has the same great shape, with subtle touches of newness. (We think it's even better than before.) Interior Dimensions.

When you buy a sporty '72 Dodge Charger, you're getting a family car. Charger's big enough to be a "first car"— an "only car." Check Charger's sixpassenger room before you buy any new car. Increased Demand.

Last year, Dodge Charger sales zoomed up 75 percentabove those of the previous year. Obviously, Charger had what a lot of style and valueconscious car buyers wanted. Now at a time when people seem to do a lot more thinking about their next new car, shouldn't you be thinking about a car like Charger '72?

Check our Charger Impeccable Detail.

It takes more than just a great-looking shape to make Charger such a success. It's a lot of important little things-details that make a difference. Things like a safety keyless door locking system, concealed wipers, all-vinyl seats - all standard. Impeccable Detail means the solid handling of the torsion-bar front suspension and the strength of Unibody construction. It's all there in a '72 Charger. Depend on it.

We're Individually Dependable.

JCs to present annual awards

As part of National JayCee Week, which began Jan. 16, the Cass City JayCees will sponsor a stag Bosses Night Banquet Wednesday, Jan. 26. During the banquet for their employers, two annual awards be presented. They are Distinguished Service Award and the Outstanding Young Educator Award.

The national observance was proclaimed by President Richard Nixon last December. The local club was founded Sept. 17, 1971, and has participated in a number of community projects, including the Ox Roast, the Punt, Pass and Kick program, a Halloween Safety Program, haunted house and the Lunch with Santa program, and they constructed the "Welcome to Cass City" signs at the east and west entrances of town on M-81.

The JayCees, which is oriented towards taking young men and training them to be leaders and building character, welcomes new members between the ages of 18 and 35.

It's still almost 10 months to General Election Day, but already appears safe to predict there should be something to appeal to everybody on the ballot when the polls open Nov.

First on the list, in theory at least, is the contest for Michigan's 21 electoral votes for the presidency. But that may prove one of the less glamorous issues in this predominantly Democratic state by the time election day gets here.

If it appears certain the state will go to the Democratic candidate, then the spotlight is going to shine directly on the race for the U.S. Senate seat now held by Sen. Robert P. Advertising God

ONE FOR THE ROAD

By Dan Marlowe

God is alive and working on Madison Avenue.

That's the message of Religion in American Life, a cooperative advertising program participated in by 38 major national religious groups (Protestant, Catholic, Jewish).

Working through the Advertising Council, RIAL uses millions of dollars of advertising space and time donated by the media. Payment for the material distributed without cost to the media comes equally from businessmen and religious groups.

RIAL's business and professional advisory council is composed of men from some of the nation's largest companies--General Motors, Consolidated Natural Gas, Eastern Air Lines, American Can, National Lead, etc. These corporations, together with the 38 religious groups, pay for the program. The businessmen have the selling know-how and the money behind them.

At a preview of one campaign a minister said: "They're selling everything else these days, so why not God?" RIAL is selling God, aggressively, It sells through an advertising agency in much the same way any other products are sold. The agency prepares TV spots, newspaper and magazine ads, radio spots, and even film clips for drive-in movies.

RIAL's advertising campaigns have concentrated on different aspects of religion each year. Catchy slogans are employed. For the past three years, RIAL has concentrated on themes of brotherhood and neighborly love.

The slogan "Love Your Neighbor" was preceded by "Break The Hate Habit." And the popular slogan "And Now A Word From Our Creator: Love Your Neighbor* was what the agency considered "a joke on ourselves about commercializing. And showing God as the sponsor was a wonderful idea -- people loved it." Response has not been 100% favorable. Complaints have been voiced about commercializing religion through advertising, but RIAL defends itself vigorously, pointing out that most religions have radio and TV funds. Some churches have begun to advertise independently through mass media or even on billboards near their own churches.

But local or independent efforts by no means compare with the impact of RIAL's campaign. Last year the nation's communications media contributed $16 million worth of advertising time and space. That's in addition to RIAL's spending from membership contributions.

And that's a lot of advertising.

Former resident accused of bilking widows

A former resident of Cass City, James Wright, 44, was involved in the news recently. He left this community while a Junior in high school and earned a law degree,

He now lives in Woodstock. Vt., and, according to an article in Time magazine, is accused of writing himself and his family into wills of lonely widows. He also is accused of numerous other improprieties, including representing both sides in legal disputes. For four years Wright was prosecuting attorney for surrounding Windsor county and is a director of the Woodstock National Bank. As an executor for Mrs.

Shirley Pierce he sold her house for $5,000 to his father-in-law for $12,000.

He executed a will for Mrs. Dunlap S. Garceau eight days before her death by cancer, His wife received 200 shares of Standard Oil, N. J.; the Garceau home, land and personal possessions went to Wright's mother; $25,000 each to Wright's two adolescent daughters, and $95.000 cash to Wright's wife to be used by her in her sole discretion for library purposes and for the

Wright has filed a 63-page brief with the Vermont Supreme Court denying all of the attorney general's charges and declaring that he was only following the instructions of his of minutes, completely destroying it.

Thief lifts camera at Kritzmans ford Powell barn and killed 8 animals.

Mrs. William Kritzman reported to Cass City police Sunday that a Kodak movie camera valued at $135 was missing from her home at 6798 Hough-

She told police the camera, a Christmas gift, had been on a table in the box. When she went to use it, it wasn't there. The camera was taken sometime since Christmas. A box of snowmobile spark plugs was also missing. There are no suspects. Police are still investigating the theft of 60-80 pounds of pork that was taken from the unlocked garage freezer of Helen Keyser, 4417 Woodland St. She told police the theft had occurred sometime within the last several weeks The missing pork chops, pork steaks and bacon are valued at

Lions Auxiliary

Twenty-three wives of Lions Club members gathered at the home of Mrs. Linda Herron Monday night for a potluck dinner and organization of a Lions Guest speakers of the evening were Mrs. Betty Jacobus and Mrs. Jack Grierson of the Metamora Ladies Lions Auxiliary, They explained the organization of their club and the projects they have had with a view to public service.

A nominating committee was appointed consisting of Kathy Tuckey, Jackie Davis, Pam La-Belle, Shirley Doerr and Linda Marshall, who will report at the next meeting when election of officers will take place.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Renate Generous at 7:30 p. m. Monday, Feb. 14. The new club plans to meet the second Monday of each month and will select a place for their dinner meetings. Dessert will be served at the February meeting.

Ladies who were unable to attend the first meeting are urged to be present.

Veronica Mullin honored for 45 years with Bell

Veronica C. Mullin of Gagetown was honored for 45 years of service for Michigan Bell Telephone last week. She received a necklace and gold wrist watch, presented by Warren B. Alexander, Northern area general manager.

The veteran operator started working for Bell in Gagetown when just 13 years old in 1927 and for 30 years was a dependable operator at the switchboard at Gagetown.

She moved from Gagetown to Detroit for nine months after Bell closed the Gagetown office. She returned to Gagetown when she had the opportunity to work at the Bad Axe exchange. She had worked her way to chief operator before leaving the Gagetown office.

Her daily schedule still calls for work from 7 a. m. to 4 p. m. She commutes to Bad Axe from Gagetown.

Miss Mullin still enjoys switchboard work and reports that if health permits she will try for a record 50 years with filled with natural wonders and the glories of the past. As we cycle through the winding countryside, we survey the land from the Moselle up the castled Rhine to Munich. Staying in the hostels, houses open on a cost-only basis, we get an even more exciting glimpse of this nation and its people. The Alpine peaks, along with the sparkling blue water of myriads of lakes, afford breathtaking views on this unique trip to a historical and bountiful land.

"Hosteling in Germany" The hiker's delight, GERMANY is a land intriguing to the traveler,

Last ditch rally fails as Cass City falls to Sandusky

It's hard to have a bright outlook after a frustrating 71-69 loss, but Coach Fred Hurlburt was far from dismayed after the Cass City Red Hawks lost to Sandusky last week.

We didn't give up when we were 10 points behind, he said, and kept our poise. We are a young team and are improv-

The Hawks start two sophomores and two juniors and Hurlburt is anxious to test Sophomore Nick Gibas, waiting in the wings, recovering from a shoulder injury.

It's doubtful if Gibas will be ready for action this Friday against the Lakers, but he could see action the following week against Caro. Early in the season it appeared the Hawks would have no more than a remote outside chance of topping the Lakers. But this changed when Bill McCairns was injured in Caro. He missed last week's game against Vassar and the cellar dwellers knocked off the undefeated league leaders.

If McCairns is missing Friday or playing with limited mobility the Hawks could very easily win. If the all-league center is back, the Lakers will be prohibitive favorites to win.

The game against the Redskins figured to be a toss-up and that's what it proved to be. There was very little to choose from between the two teams. Statistically the Hawks shot 43 per cent while San-dusky hit 41 per cent. At the foul circle the Hawks hit 11 of 21 for 52 per cent while the Redskins converted 10 of

What was encouraging to Hurlburt was that his team trailed all the way and then rallied to knot the score in the dying minutes. We kept our poise, the coach said with obvious satisfaction.

17 for 59 per cent.

Most of the excitement was squeezed into the last two minutes of play. Early in the fourth period the Hawks trailed by as much as 10 points.

But the club kept chipping away to tie the score with 30 seconds left. The Redskins scored to go in front with 25 seconds on the clock.

Cass City used up 12 seconds of the time before Kip Hopper broke loose for a layup to tie the score. Sandusky's Tony Steele came roaring back to sink a driving lay-up and when Cass City called time there was 3 seconds remaining in the game. Cass City's outside chance of tieing went glimmering when the Hawks were called for traveling, for running along the baseline after a time out while trying to put the ball in play. The Redskins moved into a narrow lead in the first quarter with a 17-15 advantage. At the intermission the winners had lengthened the margin to five points 38-35 and were four points ahead after three peri-

The Redskins then moved in front by 10 to set the stage for the furious last-second rally by Cass City.

The Hawks' top scorer was game after several lackluster performances in recent games. He scored 18. Scott Hartel chipped in with 16. Hopper and Dave Hillaker each scored 12 while Randy Wright scored 4

Tony Steele with 23 and De-Mott with 21 paced Sandusky. The Cass City Junior Varsity trailed most of the way in a 61-54 loss to the Redskins. The Hawks challenged the Sandusky JV's throughout the game only to fall back as the winners were able to stem every Cass City rally.
