

Snowmobilers seek use of roads

Petitions are circulating in the county requesting the Board of Commissioners to pass a resolution or law to enable the Road Commission to keep all county roads open to snowmobile traffic as provided in the new law.

One section of the revised statute provides that the Road Commission may mark roads for snowmobile use.

The petitions began circulating Friday and are being promoted by a loosely organized group of about 20 snowmobilers. One is Gary Christner of Cass

City, who said they are hoping to collect 1500-2000 signatures and present the petitions at a near future meeting of the commissioners.

Under present law, snowmobilers in this area, zone 3, are not allowed to operate machines on the roadway. Conservation officials of the Department of Natural Resources are enforcing the provision.

Christner said they don't expect to get any roads opened up this year but are looking towards next year.

Road Commissioner Director Robert Wellington is opposed to opening the county roads because "there's no doubt that it's unsafe." An additional problem he sees besides the traffic hazards is the difficulty for snowplows to clear roads that have had the snow packed down by snowmobilers.

Another consideration, Wellington noted, was the cost of signs - two signs per mile at about $35 per sign--for the 1751 miles of county roads. "If we say they can use the road, there's a question of liability," Wellington said, as a fourth consideration. He said opening the roads would be up to the road commission, which has its next meeting Feb. 25.

A similar request was made in Huron county where representatives of 15 snowmobiling clubs asked the road commission to open the roads to snowmobile travel.

The road commission there agreed that roads could be opened so long as the townships passed ordinances to provide for enactment of an ordinance. The suggested ordinance provides that snowmobilers travel single-file at the extreme right-hand side of the road and that they must stop at every intersection.

Commissioner Ed Golding of Cass City said he knew nothing about the situation.

"I don't know a thing about it, and I don't know what the reaction would be of the commissioners," he said, although he suggested he might favor opening up some roads with little traffic.

Proposed bills no threat to Hills and Dales General Hospital

Senator Alvin J. DeGrow, of Pigeon, Republican from the 28th district, has launched a campaign to acquaint persons in communities with small hospitals with two proposed bills in the legislative hopper. He believes the bills threaten to close many smaller hospitals.

The first bill was introduced in the House by Rep. Huffman (number 4030) and would require Blue Cross to enter into contracts with all hospitals. Not all hospitals are now certified by Blue Cross and eligible for its insurance payments.

This bill is now in conference committee because different versions were passed by both the Senate and the House.

Blue Cross responded to this legislation by asking to be allowed to control hospital construction, if they were to be forced to certify all hospitals.

A substitute bill for the Blues has passed the House and was in the Senate Committee on Commerce.

In a letter to Byron Landholt, Hills and Dales Administrator,

DeGrow strongly urged defeat of the bills. He says the first goal of the health planners is to eliminate some of the small hospitals and those in danger are ones marked in the master public health plans as "not programmed for future expansion or existence."

Cass City is not one of these hospitals. When it was built representatives of Hill-Burton said that when Federal funds were granted for 50 per cent of construction the hospital became the health center for the area.

According to Byron Landholt the hospital is still regarded as the center for hospital services in the area.

Senator DeGrow says that the reason for elimination of facilities is that they are too small to provide full service. He points out that only the very largest hospitals in the State can and do provide full services such as open heart surgery, kidney transplants, etc.

Extending the health department theory, DeGrow says, would mean that the next step may see medium size hospitals denied a license renewal and be replaced with large regional hospitals.

Sen. DeGrow points out that just because health planners do not now recommend the elimination of all hospitals of less than 100 beds does not mean that they will not do so in the future.

EPPS collects glass as ecology project

By Kit McMillan

Instead of just talking about the problems concerning the environment, a group of high school students are doing something about it.

The ecology class is sponsoring a glass recycling collection center in an effort to help clean up the environment. After two months, it has been a success with about one ton of glass bottles in storage.

The 25 or so interested students meet daily to discuss the problems of pollution facing the world and possible solutions with their instructor, William Philbin.

The glass project evolved from discussions of possible projects for the class, which has adopted the name Environmental Pollutant Preventers Society (EPPS).

In discussing the project, the students showed enthusiasm and sincerity about helping to clean up the environment as they told about the enterprise.

The glass is currently being collected at the southeast entrance of the high school where 50 gallon barrels are placed. Anyone can deposit bottles there, or call Philbin at the school (872-2855) or at home (872-2716) or Kim Glaspie (872-2363) for pick up.

The EPPS will clean and separate bottles and remove metal rings, but request that none be broken. Any glass is acceptable except window pane.

The bottles are being stored under the grandstand at the Cass City Recreational Park. This spring they will be crushed and transported to the Owens glass recycling center in Michigan at Charlotte, southwest of Lansing.

The idea behind recycling anything is to treat it as a resource that can be used again. The recycled glass can be (Related pictures page 15) melted and combined with new material to form new bottles or jars.

It can also be crushed and used in "Glasphalt" a road paving material similar to asphalt blacktop except that about 80 per cent is glass instead of limestone. Devised by a ceramic engineering class at the University of Missouri, this is currently undergoing tests. Other potential uses are a basic raw material for bricks, building blocks, glass wool insulation, reflective paint and tape, costume jewelry and chicken grit, which enables chickens to grind and digest food.

The money that is raised by the glass project will be used to beautify the local environment in some way. The center pays $20 a ton for crushed glass, or about 1 cent a pound or 1/2 cent a bottle.

A group of students approached the Cass City Jay-Cees, who agreed to provide financial assistance for masks, goggles and gloves, and help with transportation. The students, however, are more than willing to explain the project to other service groups.

While the class considered the project a success because of the number of bottles collected, the changed attitudes of

DNR sees another county doe season

Tuscola county may get another antlerless deer season this year after conservation officials evaluate the facts and make their recommendations to the Department of Natural Resources (DNR) five-man governing board, the Conservation Commission, next July.

Howard Greene, Inlay City, District Wildlife Supervisor for the DNR in the six county district including Huron and Tuscola counties, told the Huron County Board of Commissioners a limited antlerless deer season was anticipated for Tuscola after he told them such a season was not going to be recommended for Huron.

Greene spoke to the board at a Thursday, Feb. 10, meeting. He appeared before the commissioners to explain the situation after learning of the formal action opposing a doe season for the county.

Similar action was taken by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners last fall, but was refused approval by the governor and deemed unenforceable by County Prosecutor Leo Maki after a test-case arrest warrant was requested.

Thumb DNR biologist Bud Jarvis, Caro, said the final recommendation would not be made until a study was made of the situation.

About 400-600 deer were taken legally last hunting season, Jarvis estimated, with at least many taken illegally. There were 72 recorded deer-car accidents, an increase of about 13 per cent.

Jarvis said the deer herd is increasing in size, but just how rapidly is known because statistics aren't available.

Most of the DNR biologists work with herds farther north, he said.

Greene estimated the increase of the deer population was about 10-15 per cent per year. He said the county could comfortably support an increase of about 6 or 7 per cent.

He also said the accident number is inaccurate because some persons illegally take an animal they have hit instead of obtaining the required permit, and the DNR has no record of animals that are hit and then crawl away to die.

He stated that the recommendation for or against an antlerless deer season would be made on a biological basis. Jarvis noted that there have been herds sighted numbering over 100 animals.

The herds can double in size in one year, he said. With a limited antlerless season, the pace of increase can be slowed but not completely stopped.

He estimated that about 100 does were killed last year, and emphasized that some does can be harvested, and there will still be an increase in deer population.

A decision is made each year by the Conservation Commission on whether or not a county will have a doe season. The recommendation of locally-based officials is considered. Opinions can be related to the commission when it makes its decisions in an open public meeting. Jarvis said the Caro office also welcomes opinions of residents.

"We kind of like to get the feeling of what people like," he said.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Unthinkable. That's the first reaction to the letter Sen. Alvin DeGrow, Republican from Pigeon, circulated to all hospitals and most news media in the State. Unthinkable that bureaucrats Lansing could close the doors of any of our local hospitals. That the institution that ranks right after the schools in community importance should be washed away by legislative maneuvers.

Unthinkable until you probe a little. The facts are that today all, or nearly all, hospitals find accreditation by Blue Cross the first essential for survival.

That's because Blue Cross says on the basis of the hospital's costs and not on the basis of a certain pre-determined policy limit.

It's the boon and bane of the system. The patients have the best of care and the hospitals know that the money will be there.

Because it is a virtual blank check it has to result in bigger expenses while at the same time providing the finest care. Because it does pay on the basis of hospital expense Blue Cross wants to limit the hospitals it accredits. Facilities that provide duplicate service, facilities that provide inadequate service and facilities that are too small to be efficient.

And the cost per patient a day is not necessarily a true gauge of the efficiency of the hospital. A low patient-day cost can be due to efficient operation or it may mean a low level of services, inadequate supervision and generally inferior health care.

It's hard for even the experts to pin down.

It's natural for Sen. DeGrow to have concern about the two proposed bills in the legislature. Pigeon has just recently included a massive campaign at has built a sparkling new city for the community.

To those who donated to make a reality it's unthinkable that could be forced out of business.

For the rest of us it is usually unthinkable that Blue Cross should be spent where the authorities feel there will be a continuing drain on the dollars spent for health care.

It's easy for me to be objective about this. It's not Hills and Dales Hospital that is on he threatened list. One of he hospitals "not programmed or future expansion or existence." Not this year anyway. Hills and Dales became the hospital for the area after Caro burned down Hill-Burton funds because there was no local interest.

Hospital licenses are renewed each year and anything possible.

Perhaps in another decade Cass City could be on the phase at list. It's not unthinkable. Still, the tremendous increase in rates for health care makes it mandatory that the hospitals and the entire system Blue Cross insurance payments come under closer scrutiny.

That there have been abuses

Thieves hit IGA meat freezer

An outdoor IGA meat storage freezer was cleaned out by thieves Monday.

Owner Harry Lenda said the theft of about 425 pounds of frozen meat, including beef and turkey, was discovered Tuesday morning when the locker was opened to transfer some of the meat to a truck.

The loss is estimated at about $280.

Lenda said the theft must have occurred sometime between noon and 6 p. m. Monday when the freezer, which is located near the back door of the store, was unlocked. He said there is usually someone in attendance but on Monday it was left unattended for periods of time.

Police are investigating.

School board sinks student plan for new student lounge

Three Cass City High School Seniors were shot down Monday in an attempt to establish a student lounge at the school in a split 4-2 vote, at the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board.

The student proposal and a critical look at the Cass City intermediate music program resulted in one of the larger taxpayer representations in recent months at the session.

Two students, B. J. Haire and Ron Crandell, together with Supt. Donald Crouse and Board Trustee Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn, viewed the student lounge in action at two Bay City area schools.

Mrs. Prieskorn came away convinced that there was merit in the idea and that it should be tried on a restricted basis.

Crouse was doubtful, while the students were convinced that the program would work here.

The discussion waxed and waned for over an hour with spectators presenting views and board members also telling opinions.

One of the most vociferous against the proposal was Trustee Dean Hoag who said that he took a survey where he works (General Cable) and 28 of 32 were against the student lounge. He said that study halls should be for studying.

The motion that was defeated called for the cafeteria to be stocked with a pop machine and magazines for student use in study hall period.

In favor were Mrs. Prieskorn and Dr. Edward Scollon. Against the motion were Hoag, Elwyn Helwig, Gerald Hicks and Don Koepfgen.

The students claimed that no serious studying is done there most of the time now and that the library would be the place for students with work to do. They asked for a "relaxed atmosphere" in the cafeteria on a trial basis. Supt. Crouse said that the study hall atmosphere changes with the teacher in charge. One teacher already is experimenting with a "lounge-like" atmosphere in his study hall, he added.

Meanwhile, Stanley Guinther, a visitor at the meeting, quizzed the board about the music program in the elementary and intermediate schools.

He said that his daughter was only listening to records and he felt not getting any solid musical training. At the same time, the equipment salesman told me that if my children were to learn to play an instrument they must practice for at least an hour at home. He wanted to know why the time spent listening could not be used for practicing.

Teachers present pointed out that listening to records was a music appreciation course, separate from band.

Guinther's questioning of the program sparked another remark by Hoag and a review of the music at the school. He told the board that he was flatly against playing records at school that featured western music or polkas.

These fringe curriculum questions preceded a report by principals about what teachers felt was the most urgent curriculum need.

Mrs. Bernard Freiburger, Campbell Elementary principal, said that survey results in all 3 elementary buildings indicated that the most urgent need was a physical education instructor. She added that the

Snowmobile accident victim improving

Douglas Howell, 32, formerly of Cass City and now of Caro, is listed in good condition in a Saginaw hospital where he is recovering from injuries sustained in a snowmobile accident Feb. 9.

Howell was injured at 8:15 p. m. in Indianfields township near Wireline Road when he attempted to turn his snow machine from a driveway onto a trail. He lost control of the machine, according to Tuscola county sheriff's officers, and struck some trees.

He was taken to Caro Community Hospital and transferred to St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw.

LEGAL HOLIDAY

Monday, Feb. 21, (Washington's Birthday) banks will not be open for business. The Cass City State Bank, The Pinney State Bank.

THAT HAND YOU see raised belongs to Ron Crandell, who is trying to get the school board's attention Monday night to explain a point in favor of the student lounge. Other Seniors participating in the futile effort were Nancy Kerbyson, left, and B. J. Haire, to the right of Crandell.

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Why does he do it? What kind of a man is he? Where did he get that name?

The Detroit Free Press did it to me. They published a photo of a man eating his lunch on the edge of the Detroit river in a freezing drizzle. He eats there all the time, sandwiches out of a brown bag, sitting on a rotting dock, no matter what the weather.

His name is Cloud Frost Nickelweed.

And that was all the article said. For several weeks I kept hoping there'd be a follow-up story. I was certain the Free Press editor would get letters from curious readers, wanting to know more about Nickelweed. But there was nothing more.

For thousands of newspaper readers, it was as though Cloud Frost Nickelweed existed only that 1 murky morning in January, and then disappeared forever. And apparently no one cares.

How can anyone know only that much about Cloud Frost Nickelweed and not want to know more?

Right now I am looking at Nickelweed's photo. He has a full beard and hair long in back. His clothes are anonymous. He could be a bum who eats outside because he has no home. Or he could be an executive who has tired of martini lunches and undressed waitresses.

Nickelweed wasn't actually eating when the photographer snapped. His large bag is open beside him and he is absent-mindedly peeling an orange. He is staring straight out over the river. On his right, 2 large steamers are approaching. But he does not turn to look at them. He has seen ships before. Nickelweed is thinking.

Is he thinking about the family he doesn't have anymore? Is he thinking about the family he'll see that evening?

Is he simply thinking the water is quiet and the cold rain doesn't sting too much? And even if it does sting, God sent it?

Some cynics might say Nickelweed is thinking that he wishes the stupid photographer would hurry up so he could get out of the rain and into a bar.

But I disagree, and I'm the biggest cynic on the block. My cynicism crumbles before men who live in the city and sit on the riverbank. I don't know why. It just seems they know something I should know.

I don't have time for picnics even in the summer but Nickelweed goes on one every day. He goes alone and sits in the damp and looks at the river and doesn't see the belching boats. He doesn't see the filth lapping at the shore. He doesn't see the slummy buildings and crowded parking lots behind him.

I don't know what he sees. I don't know how he ever got the name Cloud Frost Nickelweed.

I wish I did know.

Two stand mute in circuit court

Two persons charged with breaking and entering stood mute when they were arraigned before Tuscola County Judge Norman Baguley Monday.

A plea of innocent was entered for Jerry Johnson of Flint who is charged with the breaking and entering of a dwelling belonging to Dale Martin on West Arbelia Road, Millington, with intent to commit larceny. Bond was continued at $1000 and a pre-trial is scheduled for Feb. 28. An outboard motor, a radio, deep fryer and clothing were among the items taken in the Nov. 25, 1971, theft.

A plea of innocent was also entered for George David Rothfuss, of Birch Run Road, Millington. He is charged with the Jan. 25 breaking and entering of the Carriage Inn in Caro. Bond was continued at $5000. Larry Lendzian of Hamilton Street, Caro, pleaded guilty to driving away with an automobile of another. He was charged with taking a vehicle belonging to Harold Morrison Nov. 11, 1971. Bond was continued at $1000, and sentencing is scheduled for Mar. 27.

Three persons were also sentenced Monday.

Dennis Zeplin of Germania Road, Cass City, was sentenced to six months in jail with nine days' credit, one year probation and fine and costs of $400, for indecent exposure. He was arrested Dec. 20, 1971, in Cass City. He pleaded guilty at a Jan. 17 arraignment.

Gary Dufresne of Caro was sentenced to three months in jail with 33 days' credit, two years' probation and fine and costs of $400 for malicious destruction. He was found guilty by a jury of breaking four plate glass windows of the Dallas Nichols Honda Shop in Caro Sept. 20. He was also ordered to make restitution of $208.44.

Dennis Frost of Munger was sentenced to two weeks in jail with 14 days' credit, one year probation, and fine and costs of $400 for use of marijuana. He pleaded guilty to the reduced charge Dec. 20. He was originally charged with possession of marijuana in a Sept. 24, 1971, incident.

Plan Help*Line for*Huron county

Help Line, a toll free telephone number which may be called by any person in the county wishing help for any type of problem, will be a reality in Huron county within the next few months. The Huron County Drug Abuse Committee is making this a project in which all organizations, service clubs, and individuals may be involved by assisting with financial support or service as volunteer workers.

In a recent meeting, Mrs. Eleanor Peterson, Chairman of the Huron Co. Drug Abuse Committee, named Phyllis Snider, Manley Fay and Bill Gill to find a site out of which the Help Line service could operate. It is hoped that this will be a rent-free facility which will be conveniently accessible to all county residents.

Mr. Howard Kael, Program Coordinator and Psychologist with the Huron County Community Mental Health Services, will be heading up the training for the volunteers.

It is estimated that $2,000.00 will be needed to put the service in operation for a year. Organizations or individuals wishing to make a donation to Help Line may make checks payable to Huron County Drug Abuse Committee and mail them to Mr. Ervin R. Ignash, Principal, Bad Axe High School. Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer operator or helping with clerical work may contact Phyllis Snider, Huron Intermediate Special Education Office, Bad Axe.

Forrest Walpole*new lawyer*in county

Tuscola county's newest member of the bar is Forrest T. Walpole of Caro, who was admitted to the Michigan Bar by Circuit Judge Norman A. Baguley in swearing in ceremonies conducted Monday afternoon at the courthouse in Caro.

While a new attorney in the county, Walpole is no stranger to the Cass City area. He graduated from Cass City High School and is married to another Cass Cityan, the former Joyce Agar.

Walpole graduated from Princeton University in 1963 and received his law degree from the University of Michigan in 1966. He has a Master in taxation from Georgetown University Law Center, Washington, D. C.

He was admitted to the Illinois bar in 1966 where he was associated with the firm of Pope, Ballard, Shepard and Fowle in Chicago until February.

From 1967-71 he served as judge advocate in the office of the Judge Advocate General in the Pentagon.

The Walpoles have two daughters. The new county attorney will be associated with Clinton C. House with offices in Caro and Cass City.

Rites in Saginaw*for Vera Schell

Final rites were held Saturday, at 10 a. m. for Miss Vera Schell, 89, who died Thursday, Feb. 10, in Chelsea. Burial in Forest Lawn Cemetery, Saginaw, followed the services from the Methodist Home Chapel, Chelsea.

Miss Schell was born Jan. 26, 1883, in North Branch to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schell.

A graduate of Cass City High School, she attended the University of Michigan Nursing School and served as an Army nurse during World War I. She was in charge of the Pleasant Home Hospital in Cass City at one time, and also nursed in various places in Wyoming, Colorado and Michigan.

Surviving are three nephews of Cass City, Robert, Donovan and Carl Schell, and other nieces and nephews.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

One of the more interested and knowledgeable spectators at the wrestling match last week against Marlette was Dr. H. T. Donahue.

For the uninitiated, Dr. Donahue was a wrestling star at the University of Michigan in his undergraduate days.

Lots of talent on this (Cass City) team, the doctor said, after watching the match. All they need is practice to develop.

Wrestling is fun to watch. I went to the Marlette match not intending to stay and wound up by seeing the whole show. Once you learn the scoring and the rules you grunt and groan right along with the boys on the mat.

Right now the shows are free but hurry in this year. It's nearly certain that in another year there will be a charge to see the team in action. Incidentally, the only wrestler to top his Marlette foe was Andy Auten.

*****

There may not be a businessman left on the Main Stem next week. Off for Florida are the Gerald Stilsons, the Bill Kritzmanns, the Lloyd Bryants, the Dale Damms, and the Norm Coates.

Leaving for other scattered locations are the Wayne Rabideaus, the Lee Rabideaus, the Jim Hydes, Lloyd Vyse and Phil Retherford.

Topping them all will be Village President Lambert Althaver who heads for Japan. The difference is that Althaver's trip is for purely business. . . the rest for monkey business.

Boots most important for snowmobilers

Judy Marks — Extension Agent

So your family enjoys winter sports! Snowmobiling is one of the fastest growing winter sports.

There is a wide variety of clothing available for winter sports. When selecting clothing for snowmobiling, it is important to remember — it's one thing to be fashionable and another to be fashionable and dressed sensibly.

The clothing should keep you warm, dry, and comfortable.

Much attention has been given to the outerwear garment for snowmobiling. Many of the clothes a person has on hand are suitable.

Actually, the three most important items are headgear, mittens and boots.

Goggles are an essential accessory for their light-protective functions, and for shielding eyes from lashing branches and eye watering wind. They should provide air cir-ulation to prevent fogging up. Better quality goggles have three types of lenses — gray or green, clear and amber yellow. One kind of goggles has one set of photo chromatic lenses that change colors according to light conditions.

Hands also need protection. A pair of heavy leather mittens with heavy woolen liners protect not only against cold but against snapping twigs and branches and other bruise injuries.

Snowmobiling requires less exercise than hiking or skiing thus feet cool off more quickly. The warmest footwear is the rubber bottom leather topboots — or — rubber bottom, nylon-top boots with felt liners. It's recommended that two pairs of socks be worn.

Snowmobile clothing should combine function and fashion — not necessarily in equal balance.

Cass City FFA
hosts district
contest Feb. 10

Cass City High School hosted the Future Farmers of America (FFA) District Leadership Contests Feb. 10 featuring chapters from Cass City, Millington, Mayville, Reese, Sebawing, and Unionville. The contests were sponsored by the National FFA under the guidance of the Michigan Association of FFA to help develop leadership abilities and skills.

Winners of the various contests will compete Feb. 24 at Standish-Sterling High School to determine the regional winners. Local winners participating in the regional contest are: Greenhand Public Speaking, Reese; Public Speaking, Millington; demonstration, Sebawing; Agricultural Forum, Sebawing, and parliamentary procedure, Millington.

Participating from Cass City were Richard Nolan, a silver rating in Greenhand Public Speaking; Donna DeLong, public speaking, third, and Michael Stine and Robert DeLong, a silver rating and third place in the demonstration contest.

Funeral services for life resident
Frances Klein

Funeral services were conducted from Little's Funeral Home at 11 a. m. Saturday for Miss Frances V. Klein, 72, life-long resident of this community. Interment was in Elkland cemetery.

She died Wednesday, Feb. 9, in Hills and Dales Hospital where she had been a patient five days. She had been in ill health the past five months.

Miss Klein was born in Cass City Dec. 23, 1899, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John and Mary Ann Winger Klein. She owned and operated a flower shop in Bad Axe from 1945 to 1958.

She is survived by two sisters, Mrs. J. I. (Fern) Ayers of Curtisville and Mrs. Harold (Aletha) Auten of Goodrich, and one brother, Forest of Port Huron.

SIGNING INTO PROCLAMATION National FFA Week in Cass City is Village President Lambert Althaver. Looking on, left to right, are Ross Beach, advisor, Bob DeLong, chapter president, and Ken Hall, FFA Week chairman. The 40 members of the local chapter will join the observance of about 10,000 state members Feb. 19-26.

BETTER HEALTH

Centenarians plus

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

On page 68 of the January 1972 issue of "MD" I saw an interesting picture of a man called Charlie Smith who, last July, celebrated his 129th birthday! The man is smiling, and he doesn't look much over 60.

I read that in the decade between the two most recent White House Conferences on Aging, the number of Americans over the age of 65 has increased at a greater rate than has the number of the rest of the population. Senior citizens have been called "the fastest growing minority group." Interestingly, if the birth rate continues to fall by the predicted 10 to 20 per cent, and the increase in longevity occurs, old people may be the majority of Americans by the 21st century.

A survey of the 20 million Americans who are 65 or older indicates that 86 per cent have one or more chronic disorders. A million are infirm, a fourth live below the poverty level, and the average health bill is two and a half times higher than for middle-aged people.

I read that with the help of selective breeding, scientists have been able to increase by 50 per cent the life-span of the fruit-fly (DROSOPHILA), which is so much used by students of genetics. It is possible that heredity may also explain some cases of long-lived humans. My old friend, the late Professor Raymond Pearl, who was the leading expert on longevity in his day, believed fully in the importance of having parents and grandparents who lived into their 80s, if one wants to live long.

Dr. Nathan W. Shock, head of the great Gerontology Research Center, said that "human beings with long-lived parents live an average of four years longer than those with short-lived parents." Many other scientists believe that heredity is an important factor, but recent studies at Duke University of some 37,000 persons in their 80s showed no relationship between longevity and the life-span of the parents.

The Social Security Administration has records of more than 5,000 persons past 100 years of age who regularly receive benefits, and authorities estimate that some 8,000 other persons in the United States are over 100. What is hopeful is that a number of these senior citizens are active. At 129, Charlie, the country's oldest resident, still operates a candy store in Bartow, Florida. A San Franciscan who is 104 jogs around Golden Gate Park each day, and another Californian at 102 years has never yet used his Medicare card, because he feels so healthy.

The results of studies at the splendid Aging Research Center at Duke University are very encouraging. They show that loss of mental ability between the ages of 65 and 75 is related to high blood pressure, and has not occurred in persons without the disease, or when high blood pressure was well treated and controlled. A study of 270 persons more than 100 years of age, done by Dr. Belle Boone-Beard at the Research Center of Lynchburg College, Virginia, showed that five were completely deaf, 14 were blind, and 158 had only fair or poor vision.

Dr. Claude Heaton, former professor of obstetrics and gynecology at New York University noted, very wisely, that old age may be the one period when some persons can find some measure of peace and tranquility.

Most participants at the recent White House Conference on Aging concluded — as I have been saying for years — that the age of compulsory retirement should be advanced to 75 or older, and many agreed that an avocation was a necessary preparation for the later years. My older years have been full and busy and productive. I am working perhaps harder now than I ever did before in my life, and enjoying the satisfaction of doing worthwhile things, because I was fortunate enough to have a number of different interests, and have had several careers.

The great scientist Vannevar Bush, honorary chairman of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, wrote that he thought he might be considered an expert on retirement, because he is now considering retiring for the third time.

Dr. Alvarez has written a booklet to help the hundreds of thousands of older persons who do not know what to do or where to turn for help when their health begins to fail. If you would like to read about the various causes of health failure in older persons and what treatments are available send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "When An Older Person's Health Is Failing." ## FROM THE LITTER BOX

Caffeine addiction

By Kit McMillion

Coffee consumption is decreasing in the United States, or so the figures say. In 1970 the per capita consumption was 14 pounds. Thirty years ago it was 15.5 pounds.

If that's the case, I must be consuming the shares of about 10 people.

I am what is known as a caffeine addict.

As an ideological youngster I vowed I'd never drink the stuff. Didn't want to rely on artificial stimulants, etc., etc., etc.

Two weeks at the ol' university cured me of that and started me on my habit. Originally used as a vehicle to pull me out of my normal state of semi-somnolence, I now cannot function without the gooey (the way I make it, it's gooey) black liquid.

I even tried to stop one summer. After suffering two weeks of withdrawal symptoms, I called it quits. You get the shakes if you drink too much and you get them if you don't drink enough.

Lately my habit has been easier to feed since we got a brand new shiny electric coffee pot here at the office. Like the dummy who never learned the Army motto—never volunteer—I said I'd make the daily brew since I like to drink the stuff.

I eagerly started the first batch, filled the basket to the prescribed mark with coffee crumbs, and waited. The aromatic odors with the yellowish hue drifted up to tantalize the nose.

Perk, perk, glug-a-lug. I can think of only one other red light that spurs people to action when it goes on.

That first pot tasted like carbolic acid. I was afraid to add the flavor killers, sugar and cream, for fear the spoon would dissolve.

But since having the liquid stomach rot readily accessible beats running across the street in the blizzard, cold, etc., with my decorative box, I gritted my teeth and bravely took a slug. UGH!

Remedy—add water. I have truly never seen a more lovely head develop, not even on a mug of beer. Makes you wonder what they put in that stuff, the water, I mean.

The next time I made coffee, nobody cared what it tasted like because it was hot and the average temperature without a wind chill factor inside the office was about zero, or something close to that. The furnace had the tendency to go into a catalytic fit, so we cared only about warmth, not taste.

Fortunately coffee is one of those drinks you can add all sorts of goodies to to liven the flavor. Those Irishmen really know how to do it.

But seriously, I drink coffee for one reason—to keep me awake so I don't slide off my chair and under my typewriter. Meow.

OES chapter meets Wednesday

Sixteen officers answered roll call at the formal opening of Echo chapter OES Wednesday evening, Feb. 9. Three guests from Gifford chapter of Gagetown were introduced. The charter was draped by Ruth Ann Whittaker, chaplain, in memory of Charles Mudge, a past worthy patron and life member of the chapter.

During the business meeting with Worthy Matron Mrs. Donna Holm presiding, plans were made for a special meeting March 15 when the degrees of the Order will be conferred on four candidates. A special meeting of Job's Daughters was announced for Feb. 19 when Grand Bethel officers will exemplify the degrees. To be honored are Miss Teresa Tracy, Grand Inner Guard; Mrs. Clare Leitch, promotion district No. 2, and Mrs. Lucille Wotton, Grand Councilor. Plans were made for a vesper service to be held Apr. 30 and announcement was made of the celebration of Puritan chapter's 50th anniversary to be held March 22 at Kingston.

Brownie troop No. 272 is sponsored by the chapter and Mrs. Keith Murphy will serve as the chapter's contact with the troop leaders. At the close of the business meeting, Mrs. Ruth Freeman of Gagetown, a grand committeeewoman, spoke briefly and concluded her remarks with the admonition to "Fan the Flame of Fraternism".

Mrs. Alexia Cook and her committee served refreshments in the dining room.

Keith Mosher,

59, dies in Flint

Keith Mosher, 59, of Flint died Wednesday, Feb. 9, following a heart attack. He was a former resident of the Cass City area and is survived by three brothers, Frank of Cass City, Joseph of Reese and Clayton of Detroit, and his aunt and foster mother, Mrs. Sarah Eden of Reese.

He was born Oct. 2, 1912, in Grant township and was a World War II veteran. His wife died two years ago.

Funeral services were conducted in Flint by Pastor Lloyd Streeter, pastor of the Cass City Baptist church, Saturday. Burial was in Flint Memorial Park cemetery.

Among those attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mosher Sr., Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Winchester and Mrs. Connie McAlpine.

WMU meets at Helwig home

Twelve attended the monthly meeting of the Baptist Women's Missionary Union held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Elwyn Helwig.

The meeting was opened by Mrs. Dick Shaw, president. Members repeated the motto and sang the theme song and Mrs. Stanley McArthur gave the devotion. Miss Mary Hanby was in charge of prayer time. The group voted to buy a meat slicer for the Ross Beaches. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Clyde Wells.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

A committee was appointed at a special meeting at the Cultural Center to come up with an action plan designed to double the size of the Cass City Recreational Park.

Five junior varsity cheerleaders won the annual talent show held at Cass City Schools. The winning act was a pompon routine and was presented by Barbara MacRae, Patty Sawicki, Linda Brown, Jill Auten, Mona Caika and Sally Geiger. The Elkhart Township Fire Department feels that the building now housing Jim's Fruit Market would be adequate for a new fire hall, but would prefer a larger, new building, according to Fire Chief Nelson Willy.

Suzanne Sheldon, sophomore, has pledged Beta Delta chapter of Gamma Phi Beta at Michigan State University.

Taking the teen and pre-teen age set by storm is the new Can-teen opened recently on Main Street in Cass City.

TEN YEARS AGO

Students classified by the school as needing special help are in the process of being screened to see if they are eligible for a proposed special education room at Cass City Public Schools.

Board of Education Secretary James Gross, eight-year veteran, resigned.

The question of money to operate Cass City Schools brought voters to the polls in record numbers, most of them to vote against more funds for operating. Over 1000 electors were at the polls, some waiting over an hour to cast their ballots. The final tally was 650 against and 368 in favor of the millage.

Larry Seale, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James Seale, Cass City, was recently awarded the National Rifle Association's "Distinguished Expert Award," the highest honor in the junior category.

Re-elected to the Cass City Farm Bureau Services board was Harland Lounsbury. Clarence Merchant was named a new member to the board.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Miss Mary McIntyre is tourist escort of a group of 50 people who are making a Good Will tour through Mexico and Central America.

A steer owned by Don Koepfen of Cass City headed the list of 60 steers in the average rate of daily gain competition at the Michigan Beef Calf Feeding Project held in Lansing.

David Gingrich, Greenleaf township farmer, was presented the other day with an egg with the initial "D" embossed on one end by one of his chickens.

Mrs. Chester L. Graham, local chairman, reports the receipt of $458.85 for the March of Dimes in the Cass City community.

John Sommers left for Big Rapids where he will pursue a course at Ferris Institute under the G.I. program.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City suffered two fires within the past week when losses totaled in the neighborhood of $9000. The fires involved the repair shop of Eugene B. Schwaderer, road contractor, and the residence on North Seeger Street owned by Earl Douglas and used as a funeral home and residence.

Mrs. Harold Benkelman picked Tuesday as the day to roll the season's highest individual game, when she toppled the pins for a 245 count and set a mark for the 50 men bowlers in the league to shoot at.

Mr. Henne, manager of the Bay Port elevator, purchased a fine work horse from James Pethers.

Mrs. Gerrit Masselink of Big Rapids was nominated as one of the two Democratic candidates for the state board of agriculture, governing body of the Michigan State College. She formerly lived in Cass City.

Walter Kloc, Cass City freshman at Central State Teachers' College raced to third place in the quarter mile event in Waterman gymnasium in Ann Arbor against the always strong tracksters from Ypsilanti Normal.

Final rites for retired teacher

Final rites were held for Mrs. Christina McIntyre, 87, at 10 a.m. Saturday from the Zinger Funeral Home, Uby. Burial was in Valley Cemetery with the Rev. John P. Nipper, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, officiating.

Mrs. McIntyre, a former school teacher for more than 40 years, died Tuesday, Feb. 8, in Huron Memorial Hospital after suffering an apparent stroke.

She taught in the Upper Peninsula and in country schools in Tuscola and Huron counties, and was a teacher at Uby from 1927 until retiring in 1952. Born Mar. 9, 1884, in Elmwood Township, Tuscola county, she was married to Archie C. McIntyre Nov. 25, 1912. They lived in Bad Axe and Sheridan township before moving to Uby in 1927. Her husband died May 7, 1953.

Mrs. McIntyre was president of the Women's Association of Uby First Presbyterian Church, a life member and past matron of Merian Chapter No. 214, OES, and past president of Uby Women's Club.

She is survived by a son, J. Gill McIntyre of Uby; a sister, Mrs. Wallace Laurie of Gagetown; six grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren. One son, Mathew, preceded her in death in 1943.

21 at Legion

Auxiliary meet

Twenty-one attended the monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Doris Klinkman. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Cora Klinkman and Mrs. Bud McGuire.

During the business meeting, with Mrs. Elgene Keller presiding, members voted to order 1500 poppies in preparation for the May poppy sales. The unit will provide seven handkerchiefs for the Mother's Day handkerchief program for hospitalized veterans.

Mrs. Frankie Anker gave a report of Kenya, the country under study this year.

Over $22 was donated to the "bakeless" bake sale project and members not present will be contacted by mail for contributions.

The door prize for the evening went to Mrs. Eva Bair. The committee served pie a la mode.

GLIB TALKER

Ten ladies attended the meeting Tuesday afternoon of the North Elmwood Home Demonstration group at the home of Mrs. Franz Chisholm. Mrs. Leslie Beach and Mrs. Dennis Rocheleau presented the program on Personal Effectiveness. A dessert luncheon was served.

Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hunter and Debbie were Sunday dinner guests of her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Alan Johnson in Bad Axe.

ST. AGATHA SOCIETY

St. Agatha Woman's Society met last Thursday in the church hall. Fr. Donald Christensen opened the meeting with prayer and President Mrs. Barry Hedley presided at the meeting.

Several thank you cards were read and notices of meetings to be held were announced for area churches during the Lenten season.

Fr. Christensen showed slides on the mass.

Mrs. Kathryn Freudenberg and Mrs. Joseph Lorenz served refreshments.

Plans were discussed to serve a cooperative supper after mass, Holy Thursday.

Mrs. Mildred Mosack entertained several guests in her home Sunday at a blue and pink shower for her granddaughter, Mrs. William Beyerlein of West Branch. Mrs. Beyerlein is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Kerbyson of Cass City. Games were played and prizes awarded. The door prize went to Miss Helen Kelly of Cass City. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Laurie, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Laurie, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Laurie and Jane and Mr. and Mrs. Jack Laurie attended funeral services in Uby, at the Zinger Funeral Home, for Mrs. Christina McIntyre, 87, who died Tuesday, Feb. 8, at Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe. Mrs. McIntyre taught school for more than 40 years. She leaves one son, J. Gill McIntyre, and was a sister of Mrs. Wallace Laurie of Gagetown.

Mrs. Bert Wood spent Sunday and had dinner with Mrs. Josephine Rabideau at Colwood. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Anthes made a visit to the Medical Care Facility in Caro Sunday to see Mrs. Lafayette Lorentzen and her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Tesho.

Mrs. Linda Parrish and Mrs. Judy Elsingher were co-hostesses at a baby shower for Daniel Joseph, adopted eight-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Beckett. Among those who attended were Mrs. Clinton Hager, Mrs. Albert Anthes and Mrs. Aaron Anthes. Games were played. Mrs. Florence Hazar won the door prize. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Proulx of Lapeer spent Saturday with his mother, Mrs. Irma Proulx, and Gerald.

25TH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Elery Sontag attended a silver wedding anniversary reception Saturday evening in honor of her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Stein of Birch Run. It was held at the VFW Hall in Birch Run. A buffet supper was served from 6:30 to 8:30 and the evening was spent dancing.

Mr. and Mrs. Stein are former residents of the Gagetown area.

Others from this area who attended were: Mr. and Mrs. James Sontag, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Shope, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Sontag, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Anthes, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Izdorek, Mr. and Mrs. William Repshinska, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Rayl, and Mr. and

Announce slate of Lenten events

A schedule of Lenten events has been planned by the Cass City Presbyterian Church. The weekly Sunday sermons will interpret some of the themes of the Apostle's Creed. Each Thursday noon a Lenten service led by one of the local ministers will be held at the church, as arranged by the Cass City Council of Churches. Each service will begin with a 10 minute organ prelude at 12 noon and will include hymns, prayers and a short meditation, concluding at 12:30. Following each service, a light lunch will be served in the basement if volunteers are able to make dishes, sandwiches and salads. Interested workers can contact the Rev. Douglas Wilson.

Each Wednesday a Bible study of the book of Matthew will be conducted at 2 p. m. at Trinity United Methodist Church for all community women. The Rev. Melvin Vender will conduct the study.

A potluck family night dinner will be held Maundy Thursday, Mar. 30, with the sacrament of Holy Communion to be celebrated at the dinner table. New members will also be received that night at the Presbyterian Church.

Other community Lenten events include a 6 p. m. family night potluck Sunday, Mar. 5, at Trinity United Methodist Church. A guest speaker is planned.

A community Good Friday service will be held at 1 p. m. Mar. 31 at the Trinity United Methodist Church.

ONE FOR THE ROAD

Blame weather
on jet stream

By Dan Marlowe

Everyone complains about the weather:

Indianapolis experienced a 72

degree drop in temperature over a 72 hour period this winter.

Duluth experienced a 33 degree drop in an 18 hour period, to 13 below zero.

In October circus elephants suffered frostbitten ears and feet during a sudden Wyoming snowstorm.

And during the Christmas season there was an unexpected blooming of the cherry blossoms in Washington, D. C.

The culprit in each instance is the jet stream, a meandering, 300-mile-an-hour river of air coursing miles above the earth, according to scientists at the National Weather Service as reported by the Associated Press. They say the jet stream, which hasn't behaved in its current manner for 20 years, has already accounted for such unlikely winter weather as:

a) Frequent unseasonably warm weather in the eastern third of the nation; unusually cold weather in the western third; and erratic changes in weather in the remaining third.

b) What might be called reversed vertical weather, a frequent occurrence this winter.

The dividing line for cold and warm weather often has run in a roughly vertical pattern, more or less along the Mississippi river. In other winters, the line has run horizontally, separating north and south.

The scientists say that the jet stream, a major factor in determining weather at the earth's surface, has upset normal winter patterns because it is north of its normal position as it passes high above the eastern and southern parts of the nation. The result is unusually warm temperatures so far in these areas.

At the same time, the stream has been south of its normal course as it moves over the

Nursery mothers to meet Feb. 21

The mothers of the Cass City Preschool Nursery are invited to an informal get-acquainted meeting Monday, Feb. 21, at 8 p. m. at the home of Geraldine Prieskorn.

The meeting is being held to introduce the nine mothers whose children were enrolled when the nursery divided into separate groups. Originally, 20 children were enrolled in October, and the long range goal of the parent cooperative nursery was to reach a total enrollment of at least 30.

In January, nine new youngsters entered the nursery allowing the classes to be divided with three-year-olds meeting on Wednesday and Friday mornings and four-year-olds meeting Monday, Tuesday and Thursday mornings. There are still openings in both groups. The newly enrolled three-year-olds are Wendy Burke, Stevie Witucki, Kelli Jo Graham, Douglas Kuntz, Heidi Iseler and Shannon McIntosh; new four-year-olds (pre-kindergartners) are Robbie McAlpine, Bill Streeter, and Dana Zdrojewski.

The nursery will be in session until the middle of May. Many interesting projects and field trips are planned. Anyone who is interested in enrolling a child for the remainder of the year is invited to attend the meeting Monday night. For further information call Mrs. Colleen Stafford at 872-3793 or Mrs. Mary Albee at 872-2279.

NEW HORIZONS

When does a baby start to think?

Nobody knows, but thoughts come by association. Baby eagerly responds to the sight of a bottle. Experience proves that the bottle offers both satisfaction and comfort.

Because baby does learn by association, it is important that parents expand their children's horizons. A very small child will respond to a simple prayer. And a child of three will enjoy attending Church School geared for youngsters of that age.

Religious instruction and guidance is not only for the mature — it is needed regularly by everyone. The spiritual life of your child needs constant cultivation and the mind needs day by day development.

Millington woman third county traffic fatality

Several persons were injured in automobile accidents the past week and the county's third 1972 traffic fatality was recorded.

Richard Root, 23, of 6557 Third Street, Gagetown, was treated at Hillis and Dales Hospital for injuries sustained in a one-car accident at 6:10 a. m. Saturday. According to Tuscola county sheriff's reports, Root was going north on S. Cemetery Road and apparently fell asleep at the wheel, crossing the road and hitting a tree and fence, about two-tenths mile north of DeLong Road.

Lillian Katherine Koeltzow, 69, of 4884 W. Center, Millington, was killed Feb. 9 when the car she was a passenger in collided with one driven by Robert Duane Haines, 42, of 9600 Birch Run Road, Millington.

The accident occurred at 5:15 p. m. in Arbel township on Birch Run Road, about one-quarter mile west of Lewis Road.

Also injured in the accident, besides Haines, were the driver of the other car, Judith Lynn Koeltzow, 29, of 3966 Barnes Road, Millington, Barbara, 9, and Ann, 8, Koeltzow, and Alphonse E. Koeltzow, 68, husband of the victim.

Sheriff's reports indicated the Haines' vehicle was making a left hand turn into a driveway and was across the centerline when the west bound Koeltzow car approached.

In another accident, Roy Lee Hull, 23, of Burdon Road, DeFord, escaped injury Friday when he was heading south on Cemetery Road and collided with a car driven by Gene Kenneth Schroeder, 25, of 6840

Severance Road, Cass City. Schroeder was turning around in a small parking lot when his car stalled and neither could avoid the 11:32 p. m. accident. Schroeder also was uninjured.

Minor damage was done to a car driven by Janet Eileen Weippert, 18, 6351 Pine St., Cass City, when snow on Garfield Street prevented her from avoiding a collision with a car south bound on Maple of John Frank Schwartz, 17, 6383 Main St., Cass City. The Weippert vehicle was eastbound. The mishap occurred Friday about 7:05 p. m.

Cars operated by Ralph Perry Kinney, 20, 6481 Main St., Cass City, and Hedy Ann Kessler, 4262 Oak St., Cass City, collided Friday about 2:05 a. m. when neither saw the other coming at the snow covered open intersection of Woodland and Pine.

Henry Donald Nolan Jr., 16, 4421 Crane Road, Cass City, struck a car driven by Arden Ray Lapp, 17, 4293 Crane Road, Cass City, when he pulled away from a parking place in the high school parking lot and didn't see the other vehicle. The mishap occurred Thursday about 8:15 a. m.

Dale Patrick Doyen, 16, 6556 Pine St., Cass City, was ticketed for following too close Thursday when the car he was driving struck the rear of a car driven by Evelyn Marie Farrell, 36, 6575 Huron St., Cass City, which then struck a car driven by Delores Merchant, 42, 5449 N. Cemetery Road, Cass City. All three cars were headed south on Seeger Street and almost stopped for a school bus making a left turn.

School wins in Millington dress code suit

The non-jury trial involving Mayville school officials and several students that were suspended for not conforming to the school's dress code ended after a day's testimony Tuesday with Circuit Court Judge Churchill deciding in favor of the school.

Churchill explained that the issue was whether or not the board had the authority to make such a rule, not whether the rule was right or wrong.

The suit began when two Mayville students filed against the Board of Education, the principal and superintendent after they were suspended from classes Dec. 16, 1971, for having their hair too long.

Churchill said the school brought opinions and faculty members who testified that there is a relation between discipline and appearance.

The school dress code requires boys' hair to be out of the eyes and off the ears and collar. Sideburns may extend one inch below the ear.

The judge said the plaintiff in the case didn't show that the rule was unreasonable.

The decision, he explained, says that the rule is reasonable and that it is within the scope of the board of education to enforce it. Enforcement of the rule is an administrative matter.

Croft elected vice-president

Clifford Croft of Croft-Clara Lumber has been named vice-president of the Michigan Retail Lumber Dealers Association.

He was named at the 83rd annual convention in Grand Rapids recently. Croft was also named a director for a three-year term.

Marlowe praised for suspense writing talent

Harbor Beach author Dan Marlowe has received praise from Dr. Donald A. Yates, Professor of Latin American Literature at Michigan State University, and—along with Jacques Barzun of Columbia University—one of the most respected academic critics of the mystery genre.

Dr. Yates had the following to say of Marlowe's books:

"I've watched Dan Marlowe's suspense-writing career for better than a decade as his novels became sharper and clearer in focus. I sent him a fan letter in 1962 when he published THE NAME OF THE GAME IS DEATH, the first appearance of his fascinating bank router-protagonist who became the series character, Earl Drake.

"Reading the book was an experience. Here was a man in a rugged relationship with life. People provoked this man's anger and his steely control of an awesome arsenal of violent responses by their ugly, greedy aggressiveness. In a world of make-believe fictional heroics, Marlowe's Drake adventures stand out: Drake's methods of protecting his patched-up body and battered psyche are definitely believable.

"I don't hesitate to recommend the Drake OPERATION series. The books constitute Marlowe's peak achievement. His Mystery Writers of America Edgar-winning OPERATION FLASHPOINT is typically top-drawer. Marlowe packs a lot into his stories: in this instance, the truly gripping desert scene at the outset, two females worth remembering, Chrissie and Talia, some extremely taut action scenes, an abundance of admirable know-how (gambling, safecracking, undercover work, etc.), and a truly strong story line.

"Dan Marlowe has never pandered to any popular style. Like Raymond Chandler, he found his own voice, and it sets him apart. His Earl Drake, born to violence, has had the same kind of honest evolution.

"A critic has to respect that." Dr. Yates, twice Fulbright Visiting Lecturer in American Literature at the National University of Buenos Aires in Argentina, has published many articles on international detective fiction topics, and is the author of a dozen detective short stories and the TV drama Murder Plays The Game. Dan Marlowe's OPERATION FLASHPOINT is now being

Perry Sadler fined $35 in district court

Perry Orsen Sadler, 64, of S. Seeger St., Cass City, pleaded guilty Monday to a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He appeared before District Court Judge Richard Kern following arrest Saturday in Elkland township. He paid fine and costs of $35.

Randy Scott Horne, 19, of S. Seeger St., Cass City, was turned over to military police Monday for being absent without leave after being picked up by sheriff's deputies Sunday. Horne is serving with the U. S. Army.

Bud Guest at free farm clinic

Free tickets to the "Thumb Agriculture In Action" Spectacular which will be held Saturday, Feb. 19, are still available. Over one-half of the 450 tickets have already been given out to interested farmers and wives who will be attending this live wire program full of ideas for a modern day farmer.

The activity will be held at the Cass City High School, starting at 9:30 a. m. and concluding at 3 p. m. Tickets are still available at the Extension Office in Caro, states Bill Bortel, County Extension Director. Also, there are a few tickets at the Pinney State Bank in Cass City and the State Bank of Vassar.

The program is planned to assist the farmer in the field of Farm Management. The forenoon will focus on new tools and trends in farming, the agriculture picture today and environmental considerations. The afternoon sectional meetings will each be 50 minutes long. Everyone will have a choice of two of the following three sectional meetings to attend: (1) Credit - Use or Abuse; (2) Farm Business Organization, Proprietorship--Partnership--Corporation, and (3) Wills - Estate Planning. The program is under the direction of the Cooperative Extension Service of Michigan State University in the Thumb which includes Huron, Sanilac and Tuscola counties.

"Bud" Guest will be the featured speaker at noon visiting on "The Sunny Side of the Street".

Lay Witness

Mission set

Eighteen lay persons from Flint, Fenton and Wyoming, Mich., will arrive in the Caro-Cass City area to participate in a Lay Witness Mission sponsored by the Sutton and Sunshine United Methodist Churches in the Sutton United Methodist Church, Colwood Rd., Caro. The Mission will be held Feb. 18-20.

According to Rev. Carl Shamblen, the lay people will come to share their faith with persons from the area. Coordinator of the week-end event is Charles Gilpin. Local chairman is Ilene Satchell.

Mrs. Satchell explained that members of the congregation will host the visitors in their homes for the week end. The lay witness team will arrive Friday afternoon and will remain until Sunday afternoon.

The visiting team will head small group discussions in the area homes and general sessions at the church. The first general session is Friday evening at 7:30 and the second is Saturday evening at 7:30. The team will have the worship service Sunday morning, church service at 10 a.m. Everyone is welcome.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Well, I been laid up the better part of a week, and I feel left out cause I ain't felt up to my usual reading. I manage to git down to the country store Saturday night, tho, and the first thing I learnt was that the flu or epizootic or plain cold has been moving like a broomsage fire out our way. Most of the fellers was listing their bodily ills, and it was Zeke Grubb that allowed it's a shame that a ailment that causes as much misery as a head cold ain't got no national foundations or money drives or nothing to fight it. Fer feeling terrible all over quick, said Zeke, you can't beat a heavy winter cold. Zeke said the only thing he's been able to taste fer the last few days was the coff sirup his old lady give him.

One of the fellers reminded us that if you treat a cold it'll go away in a week, and if you let it alone it'll last seven days. Ed Doolittle, that had a fisalal checkup a couple weeks back and says he's had a hurting in his chest ever since, moved the discussion on to doctors. He said it was a mistery to him that doctors these days can build new fingers and faces and trade body parts around, but they have trouble finding out if a woman is going to have a baby. And that's not to mention what little the docs can do fer a cold, Ed added. Actual, Mister Editor, Ed is strong in favor of fresh air, pure spring water, shade trees and wedded motherhood, but they ain't much else he'll give a full endorsement to. Ed said he remembered onct when a surgeon in New York was ask by the court what he operated on the patient fer, the doctor said he operated on him fer what he had, gall stones and $600.

Ed said he had heard that they ain't no business got that ain't went out after, but that shore don't apply to doctors. You can as soon git a mechanic to come work on yore car at home as you can a doctor to work on you, was Ed's words. And when you go to town to see a doctor you wait so long you'll have everthing everbody else in his office has got afore you git treated fer what you had when you come in, went on Ed.

Zeke reported where he had saw this country is 50,000 doctors short of our needs, and they is a plan to make medical doctors out of filosofy doctors. Zeke was of a mind that if filosofy fizzesians can't cure you, at least they can tell you in bigger words what's wrong with you. With all the specialists, went on Zeke, we're having to come up with new ailments and new names to keep em all working in their field.

Personal, Mister Editor, I figger the doctors do pritty good with what they got to work with. Most of us is about doctors like we are about policemen, we bad mouth em til we need em.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Complex issues demand longer legislative sessions

In the past, the state legislature was a "sometime thing."

As a rule, the legislatures of the various states met once every two years, approved a budget to get the state through the coming two year period, tinkered around with a few other laws and went home.

Legislators had full-time outside jobs and needed them, since they received only peanuts for their work as lawmakers. Michigan was no exception.

The times, as the popular song says, "are a' changing."

This year 37 of the 50 state legislatures are meeting in regular session. Only 9 of them did not hold sessions in 1970, to give you an idea of how quickly developing has been the holding of annual legislative sessions.

Nearly all of the 13 not meeting this year are in small states such as North Dakota, Montana and Nevada where things aren't as complicated and the problems facing government aren't as pressing.

*****

Among the controversial issues which have cropped up in recent years are no-fault divorce and insurance; abortion reform; age of majority lowering; drug law reform; spiraling welfare costs; etc., etc. Twenty years ago, such things as abortions weren't even mentioned publicly, let alone debated in the legislature.

Financial problems have mounted, too.

For example, the total state general fund budget in Michigan 10 years ago in fiscal 1961-62 was $539 million. That's less than the state pays just for school aid now. And it's about what the welfare bill is.

Such problems have produced a situation where the legislature is not only meeting every year; it is meeting year around. About the only reason accepted for a recess now is electioneering.

*****

Last year, with no election to worry about, Michigan lawmakers weren't able to settle enough business for a "summer" recess until September, when the summer was gone and some of their families were pretty sore.

This year the August primary will guarantee a summer break, but if the form follows 1970, they'll be back for a while after the primary before breaking for the November election.

CHANGE NOTED

Gov. William G. Milliken just completed a quiet realignment of his office which completely changes the lines of authority there.

The change was prompted by the departure on quite friendly terms of Don Gordon, Milliken's long-time number one assistant who has set up his own consulting company in his home near Traverse City.

When Gordon was in Lansing, he was alone on the number two rung in the staff setup, serving as a combination Henry Kissinger, Robert F. Kennedy and John Erlichman (President Nixon's three top aides).

work on award

winning annual

Two area students worked on the winning 1971 yearbook of Bethel College, Mishawaka, Ind. Gary Simmons, a senior from Kingston, was editor-in-chief, and David Sherrard, also a senior, was advertising agent. Sherrard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Sherrard, rural Cass City, and a 1968 graduate of Cass City High School.

The "Helm" was awarded a first class certificate by the Associated Collegiate Press, School of Journalism, University of Minnesota, marking the third consecutive year the yearbook has received this distinction.

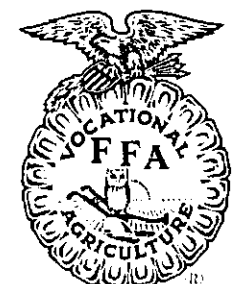

Evaluated with about 1250 other college publications, the 1971 "Helm" was cited for the excellence of its group pictures and its informative, specific writing.

The cover of the 9x12 inch, 156 page annual, featured the words "Helm + Peace 1971" within a heart seemingly carved on the black bark of an oak tree. The Bethel campus is dotted with hundreds of stately oaks. Peace was the theme of the book.

Bethel College is a four-year, fully accredited liberal arts college with a yearly enrollment of approximately 500 young men and women.

Students serious about environment

the students towards the environment will probably be more lasting.

The seriousness of their attitude towards the destruction of the environment was reflected in the name some students wanted for the society --RAPE, which stands for Regional Agency to Protect the Environment.

Some of the students expressed how their own behavior has been modified since they have been in the course.

Greg Eshelman, an outspoken young man, said he doesn't burn the garbage anymore, but just stuffs it down so all of it is taken away. Another way the course has affected him, he explained, is that he thinks twice about tossing candy wrappers out a car window and he buys things like pop in bottles instead of cans.

Other students felt the same way. "I always feel self-conscious about it (littering)," said Kim Glaspie.

When the class first organized last fall, they had high ambitions, including the possibility of citizens arrests.

"We were ready to eliminate the milk cartons, plastic spoons, paper cartons and paper towels in the school, but we didn't want to push it too far," said Philbin.

The responsibility of the individual in protecting the environment was listed as the important part about changing the situation. "We might not be that ambitious," said Eshelman, "but pretty soon you have to learn to do your own share."

The class considers litter the biggest problem around here, and in the good weather they cleaned the school yard monthly, one time collecting about 25 pounds of litter.

They urge people to put litter bags in their cars and use them.

The students also indicated a concern for the future, including the population problem, both of increasing numbers and of shifting numbers.

The students conceded that the village doesn't have the problems cities now face, but stated that those problems will come with the future unless something is done to halt them now.

"Why wait?" they asked.

"People from the city are moving here, and they bring the problems with them," said Ed Doerr.

THE CLASS estimates they have collected about one ton of bottles. Standing among the glass stored under the park grandstand is Dennis Little.

Miss Kloc wins annual contest

Margaret Ann Kloc has been named Cass City High School's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972. Selected on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination administered to senior girls last Dec. 7, she will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

The State Homemaker of Tomorrow, to be chosen from all school winners in the state in judging centering on their performance in the Dec. 7 test, will be awarded a $1,500 college scholarship. A complete set of Encyclopaedia Britannica will also be awarded to her school by Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc. The second-ranking girl in the state will receive a $500 educational grant.

After dismal Vassar showing ...

Unpredictable Hawks spring giant upset with victory over Bad Axe

EVERY GAME Paul Bliss can be counted on for points on driving lay-ups like this one. The trouble Friday was that it wasn't enough to keep the Vulcans from running away from the Hawks in the last half.

Cass City's basketball team would give a bookmaker Excedrin headache number 1000. That's because there is just no way to figure out what the team will do on any given night.

Tuesday by all the rules, the Hawks should have been easy victims for the Bad Axe Hatchets. After all, Cass City lost the first game between the two teams, by over 30 points, 83-52. What's more the Hatchets were coming off one of their best games of the year against Marlette while Cass City looked anything but sharp in a loss to Vassar.

So what happens? Cass City wins a glorious upset victory, 74-60, and the Hatchet fans reach for the aspirin.

It couldn't have come at a better time. With the victory, Cass City can look towards the upcoming district tournament and say with reason that anything is possible.

There was little to choose from between the two clubs in the first half. The Hawks bounced off to a five-point lead in the first quarter, 20-15, only to see the Hatchets bounce back and trail by two points at the intermission.

It was in the third quarter that the Hawks salted away the win. With two minutes gone, Cass City staged a rally that netted eight straight points and a 10-point lead midway in the period.

But Bad Axe stiffened and staged a rally of its own. At the end of the third quarter the score was 54-46.

With three minutes gone in the final period, the Hatchets had crept to within four points. But that was as close as they were to get.

Helped by a pair of key baskets by Nick Gibas, who played probably his best game of the season, Cass City moved back into a comfortable lead.

In the final analysis, the Hawks probably won because of two factors. The first is that they controlled the backboards and the second is that Lloyd Schinnerer had probably his poorest night of the year and was held to a mere 12 points.

In the first meeting between the two schools Schinnerer scored 25 in three quarters.

Another bright spot for Cass City was the balanced scoring. Every starter scored in double figures. Gibas scored 15; Scott Hartel, 14; Paul Bliss, 17; Fred Harbec, 10; and Dave Hillaker, 15.

JV GAME

It was Cass City's night all around. The Junior Varsity scored an easy 66-54 decision. Coach Skip Pranger was able to clear his bench and most of the regulars were on the bench throughout the final period.

The victory over Bad Axe should increase the interest in Friday's game here with Sandusky. The Redskins boast wins over Bad Axe and Caro this season and local fans will be watching closely to see if the team's improvement Tuesday was for real or not.

VASSAR GAME

It was the same old story for Cass City Friday at Vassar. The Hawks were unable to contain the big man and lost 66-55. This time it was Mike Smith who controlled the backboards and scored 28 points to pull Cass City down into a three-way tie in the Thumb B Conference basement.

The difference in the game came in the third quarter when Vassar started pouring the ball through the hoop and Cass City was unable to find the range.

The Hawks continued their off-again, on-again play. Following a satisfying victory over Marlette in the previous game, the team slipped back with lax defensive play and was guilty of numerous turn-overs.

Both teams looked as if they were trying to play give-away in the first quarter. The two squads scored only eight points each in the first 12 minutes.

The scoring pace picked up in the second quarter as both clubs found the range and started hitting with regularity ... at the half it was 27-27 and anybody's ball game.

But in the third quarter the Vulcans kept up the pace while the Hawks slumped again and the hosts blew Cass City out of the game with a 19-7 advantage.

Smith was the big gun in the attack in the period. He hit soft jumpers from the side and was able to drive the baseline several times for buckets. In the first half, Cass City had kept him fairly well in check.

While it doesn't show in the results, Cass City has developed over the year. The attack has smoothed out and the team now has more balanced scoring than at any time this season.

Fred Harbec continued to add to the offense against Vassar with 16 points. Paul Bliss chipped in 15 points and Dave Hillaker netted 11. Scott Hartel scored 7 while Nick Gibas scored four and Randy Wright, 2.

Smith snagged 20 rebounds for Vassar.

JV GAME

Cass City's Junior Varsity dropped the preliminary contest to Vassar in a free scoring affair, 83-73. The Hawks dropped behind and were never able to close the gap.

Frosh roll with 2 victories

Cass City's Freshman basketball team rolled to two more victories against Thumb B Conference teams during the week with decisions over Sandusky and Bad Axe.

Monday the Hawks defeated the Bad Axe Hatchets, 77-60. The young Hawks staged a third quarter rally to salt away the game after being behind at the half by two points. Joe Zawilinski netted 18 and Don Karr, 16, for Cass City.

The B team also posted a 28-15 win with Bill Bader scoring 12.

Last week the Hawks had little trouble defeating Sandusky, 83-55 with what Coach Dale McIntosh termed a very aggressive defense and balanced scoring. Zawilinski netted 20, and Karr had 19 to show the way.

The Frosh have an 8-1 record this year with two road games remaining in the season. Thursday the game is at Bad Axe and Monday at Laker High School.

Fourth quarter motor vehicle

funds up 7.3%

Distribution of fourth quarter 1971 Motor Vehicle Highway Funds has begun, with Cass City receiving $7018, up from $6696 in the same quarter in 1970.

Net receipts for October, November, and December totaled $92,857,300, an increase of 7.3 per cent over the $86,310,892 collected during the same period of 1970, said State Highway Director Henrik E. Stafseth in a prepared release.

State taxes on gasoline and diesel fuel and license plate fees go into the highway fund. After deduction of collection costs by the Department of State and 1.5 per cent for the Michigan Waterways Commission, the funds are distributed according to legislative formula. The Department of State Highways receives 46 per cent ($42.7 million); 34 per cent ($30.5 million) goes to the 83 counties and 20 per cent ($18.5 million) to 529 incorporated cities and villages.

County distribution is: Tuscola, $307,032, up from $284,388; Huron, $272,336, up from $255,725; and Sanilac, $294,814, up from $275,900.

Other villages receiving funds are: Gagetown, $2397, up from $2232; Kingston, $1753, up from $1670; Uby, $3110, up from $2847; Owendale, $1852, up from $1728; and Sebawaing, $7461, up from $7125.

INTENT ON MAKING this shot is Nick Gibas, Cass City's sophomore who turned in his best game of the year Tuesday against Bad Axe. Number 31 is Bob Carder and 51 is Gib Rooney of Bad Axe.

Board mulls finances, sets millage vote date

The Cass City Board of Education Monday night voted to ask for a renewal of a 2 1/2 mill special operating millage at a special election April 17. The levy will be for one year.

Supt. Donald Crouse told the board that he felt that a renewal of the millage would be enough to carry the school through next year in the black, anticipating salary boosts at no more than governmental guidelines of 5.5 per cent.

It will be the third year in a row that a special election will be held for the extra money. The board is operating on a year-to-year basis because of the changing picture on the State and Federal financing levels.

Retroactive pay for teachers raised during the price freeze was also approved. The payment was made after clarification of the wage issue came from the Federal government.

In another financial action the board raised the rent for the use of school buildings. Persons using Deford or Evergreen for private parties will pay $25, plus custodial fees. In the past the charge was $35 including custodial fees.

The fees were also raised. The charge for custodians went from $4.30 to $4.60 per hour. Use of the kitchen at the high school is up to $4.20 per hour from $4.00 and kitchens in the elementary schools will cost $3.70 instead of $3.50 per hour.

In addition there is a flat charge of $3 for Deford, Evergreen and Campbell elementary buildings; $5 for the intermediate building, and $10 for the high school building when used for public interest events. No school buildings in Cass City are available for private use.

Because the school receives State Aid for non-resident students, the board voted to accept them without a tuition charge. The students pay for transportation.

Other decisions affecting the school pocketbook included accepting a bid for tires and authorization of summer programs.

Two bids were received. Fred's Service was low with a bid of $64.23 per tire.

Gary Kelley, principal at Deford, was appointed to serve as Title I summer director to replace Mrs. Bauer who decided not to serve as director again after 2 years. The job pays $1,000, is paid for by other than local tax funds, and runs for 25 days. Students are from low income families.

As director, Kelley must attend a workshop for five Fridays starting this week. He also must develop the summer program and evaluate it after it is finished.

A summer speech correction program will be offered after a year's hiatus. The reason it was revived by the board is participation by the Intermediate District not available last summer.

The program will run four days a week for four weeks and handle up to 25 students. Cost to the district will be $250.

Another report concerning school programs received with considerable interest was Principal Russell Richards' report of the curriculum offerings at Vassar.

Richards read a long list of various options available to students in the top two grades and, to a limited extent, to sophomores at the neighbor school.

Not all the courses are available at all times, Richards said, but the flexible scheduling has allowed students a somewhat wider choice of courses. The board is mulling the information and will probably consider it in conjunction with the curriculum evaluation study now underway.

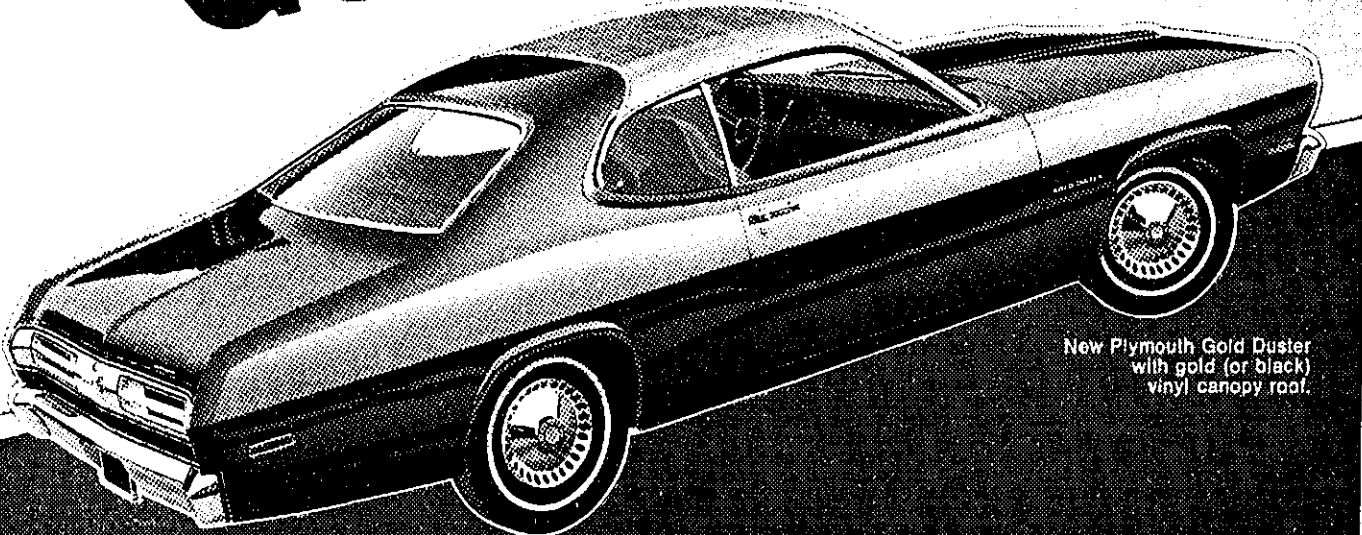

Richards also reported to the board about the new final exam procedure where students not failing who are not absent 3 times or over during the semester will not have to take final exams.

It has been an attendance booster, but could have drawbacks. It could enable a student to not take any finals through high school, Crouse said, and thus not be prepared for college where nearly the whole grade is determined by one or two tests.

Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn voiced concern that it could encourage a student who is ill to be in school just to escape taking a test.
