

THE WATER THAT is standing on South Koepfgen Road has drained from the area north of M-81. A meeting was to be held Wednesday to try and solve the problem that is plaguing residents of the area.

ie meeting at the Cultural Center was designed to bail out the M-81 Motel and restdents on the west side of South Koepfgen Road, a mile west of

The problem, Supervisor Maynard McConkey said, is that water that drains from the area north and west of Koepfgen Road drains into a tube that carries it across M-81 and then in a southwest direction.

The problem occurs in the spring before the ground is thawed, McConkey said. The water seeps into the homes on Koepfgen and into the motel.

The motel office, newly carpeted, was soaked by the water because it had no place to get away, McConkey pointed out, After the ground has thawed, the water soaks rapidly into the gravelly land and is not a problem.

All of the persons living in the area were expected to attend Wednesday's meeting, Also expected to be present were members of the Tuscola County Road Commission and Drain Commission.

One solution to the problem, sure to be discussed, is a drainage tube to connect the drainage area west of north Koepfgen Road with the new Center B drain that is about due to be let for bids.

This would take the water

now flowing through the tube across M-81 to the newly established drain and solve the prob-

It would be possible, McConkey said, for affected property owners to submit petitions to add the drainage needed as an extension to the Center B drain without holding up construction.

Although no definite cost estimates have been released, it is likely that running the tube through two driveways and across Koepfgen Road could be done for $3,000 or less, one authority estimated.

If this plan were followed, it would be necessary to have the cooperation of Detroit Edison which has utility poles in the area where the drain is Several area persons were treated for injuries received in automobile accidents this past week, none too seriously, Earl Voss, 22, of 6512 Deckerville Road, Decker, was treated and released at Caro Community Hospital Friday foldowing a crash on M-81. Voss was driving northeast on M-81 when he was struck by a vehicle driven by Charles Clayton O'Dell, 32, of 6432 S. Seventh St., Cass City, going in the opposite direction. Tuscola county sheriff's reports said the O'Dell vehicle was driving left of center. The accident occurred at 10:13 p. m.

near Cleaver Road. Passengers in the Voss car were his wife, Beverly, 21, and children, Cynthia, 7 months, and Brian, 2. They escaped injury, as did O'Dell. In an accident Sunday, Jose Vasquez, 22, of Gagetown, suffered minor injuries when the vehicle he was driving collided with one driven by Mary Ann Bouchard, 19, of Caro, on M-81, east of Reese. She was treated for minor injuries at Caro Com-nunity Hospital. Vasquez was treated and reeased from Saginaw Osteopathic Hospital. A passenger in his car, Raymond Martinez, 31, of Vassar, underwent surgery Tuesday at Saginaw Osteopathic for injuries he received in the accident. According to the Bridgeport Post state police, the Bouchard car was heading east towards Caro while Vasquez was heading west. At the Bradleyville Road, Vasquez apparently made a left turn into the path of the Bouchard car.

In another accident Sunday, cars driven by Donald Stuart Galbraith, 16, 4439 Seeger St. Cass City, and Elroy Samuel Motz, 79, 460 S. Elkton Road, Elkton, collided at the intersection of Main and Seeger about 9:10 p. m. Several area persons were arrested this week by Tuscola county sheriff's deputies.

Mike O'Connor, 17, of E. Elmwood Road, Caro, appeared in district court Monday and demanded an examination. He is charged with conspiracy to break and enter in connection with the March 3 breaking and entering of the service station owned by Cleo Spaulding on M-81 at Elmwood Road when approximately $27 worth of goods were taken. He was released on $750 bond following arrest Friday.

Charged with the breaking and entering of the building is Gary Samuel O'Connor, 29, of Shabbona Road, Cass City. His case is still pending in district court.

Exams were also demanded by two Kingston men arrested on charges stemming from

Door to door cancer drive starts April 10

A door to door campaign for the American Cancer Society will be conducted in the Cass City area this year for the first time in six or seven years, The objectives of the campaign are to raise $18,500 in Tuscola county and to inform residents about the warning signals of cancer.

The drive will begin April 10. Jack McDaniel is in charge of Cass City. Working in the townships will be Arleon Retherford, Novesta; Frances Golding, Elkland, and Kathy Sullivan, Elmwood. In charge of the three township area is Ruth Hoffman. The goal for this area is approximately $2500. A kick off dinner was held Tuesday night in the Vassar Methodist church for all county volunteers. Education of the workers began at this time.

April 9 is set aside as Cancer Sunday. Area churches have been asked to offer a common prayer that day.

Elkland township firemen responded to a call at Rabideau Implement, 6080 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, Wednesday afternoon, March 15, when an electric plug shorted out, sending fire into the insulation of the wall of the building. Preparations for the annual fish fry for farmers sponsored by the company were being made when the fire occurred in the west end of the structure. Firemen worked about a half hour and were able to extinguish the flames before serious damage was done. Wayne Rabideau said damage amounted to only a couple hundred dollars.

Newspaper project sparks reading class interest

Getting kids to read is someimes one of the hardest tasks a teacher has, but Miss Ann ionas, a second grade teacher at Campbell Elementary school. levised a sure-fire method by laving her class put out a iewspaper. The first issue of the "Campeli School News" was distri-uted Friday. The 35 eager youngsters read heir newspaper almost from over to cover at the first sitting, seeking help for the words they didn't know and sharing the excitement they all felt of seeing their stories in

"They're certainly reading, I didn't expect to see that," said Miss Jonas.

The project is just one of many different approaches to keep the interest of the children, who, their teacher said, have gone beyond the regular reading program.

Other endeavors of the class have been pantomimes, puppet shows, and creative writing. Soon they will begin memorizing simple plays.

Another of their favorite activities, their teacher said, is writing books and reading them out loud to the rest of the class. The first issue of the "News" required approximately one month to prepare.

"That was sort of practice," said Miss Jonas, She related that she hopes to have her class make one more to include those stories that didn't make this issue, and she'd like to see other classes take up the paper and have it revolve around the school after that, Miss Jonas said she thought of the idea at a teacher workshop for reading.

She led the children in discussion of what constituted a newspaper, and how to write the stories. The class also took a trip to the Chronicle office to see how production is handled.

As chief editor, Miss Jonas instructed the children to write out questions, then ask them at the various interviews, which included principal Mrs. Jacqueline Freiburger, nurse Mrs. Nelle Koepfgen, and high school foreign exchange student Paul Prangley. Encourage Children to Arrange Own Room

Many arguments between parent and child result from the cluttered condition of the child's room. The parent wants order, and the child defends collections. According to a recent report based on an elementary class-

Kids are lucky

By Kit McMillion

I've been going up to the elementary school quite a bit Lately for various stories and pictures, and each time I enter the building, I say to myself again, grade schools have a particular smell. I don't know if there is a particular brand of floor wax called wax and teach or what, but every school for the little people smells the same to me. Things just don't seem to change. That slightly musty smell greeted me for 7 years when I attended grade school.

And the water fountains are still tiny and low to the ground. They only reach my knee and that is short. Works of art fabricated in class still adorn the walls, as they did in my school years, and the desks still look cluttered.

Just to look at it, nothing seems changed. But it's dif-What impressed me most about the various classes I've seen is the apparent interest in learning and the curiosity and creativity encouraged by the instructors.

The freedom given the students in such human problems as getting up to get a tissue to blow one's nose without having to raise your hand and wait for a teacher to grant permission is a real joy.

After reading Summerhill, a book about a progressive and uninhibited school in England where children are allowed to learn what they want, I always felt like my own schooling hadn't been very good, although I'm sure it was just as good as any other kids. But doing the lessons and sitting perfectly still without making sounds was no fun at all. I saw some of these youngsters actually want to get back to the lessons.

I'm not sure if the child liked studying, or if the teacher was particularly good or if the system and theory of education is opening up, but I think it's great.

Although I've been very far removed from the elementary. scene for a long time, I still think it's terribly important to not kill a child's imagination and natural desire to learn anything, especially at the cost of adult standards of sitting still and behaving.

I don't know how far reaching these standards are, but it's good to see them.

"In most cases, we find that the beginning of the semester but tends to flatten out as time goes on. These men, however, remain highly enthused.

"It may be that they are just glad to get away from the prison for a while."

The Jackson program isn't the only one underway in the Corrections Department, but it's the most ambitious. At Camp Pontiac, some 30 men are taking courses at Northwestern Oaklani County Vocational Center and Clarkston High School. At Camp Pugsley, some 45 men are being transported three nights a week to Traverse City High School for instruction.

WOMEN ADVANCE

The drive by women for an equal footing took another step recently. It came with the appointment by Michigan Republicans of a special assistant to Chairman William McLaughlin to work for women's rights.

Vicki Toensing, 30, who insists on the "Ms." designation in front of her name, took the job in the firm belief women can do more than type or take shorthand in political cam-

She will be traveling the state urging Republican women to participate more in the party and vie for policy making posistudent enthusiasm is high at tions, as well as secretarial

> McLaughlin said the appointment itself shows that women are making progress in their efforts to attain equal status. "The fact that this position has been created in itself shows that we are concerned about the status of women in the party," he said. "Just a couple of years ago no one would have thought about creating this post." McLaughlin knows first hand what women can do as administrators as he worked as state vice chairman when Elly Peterson was state chairman.

While the creation of the position showed strides are being made, it brought out some old customs as well.

One of the news stories about her appointment started out referring to "An attractive Dearborn housewife" and at another point referred to her as a "30year-old brunette."

If that doesn't seem unusual to you, try to remember when. if ever, you saw a story about a male politician starting out "A handsome Dearborn husband." Or a story referring to a male politician as a "30year-old brunet,"

The old attitudes and customs die hard, but if Ms. Toensing has her way, they'll go the way of the belief women shouldn't even be allowed to vote.

The fellow on his toes may be alert, but surely uncomfortable. WRONG APPROACH

It's all right to try to achieve superiority, but trying to make the other fellow feel inferior is the wrong way to do it.

New interest in acupuncture

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A number of physicians in France and America are tremendously interested in the ancient Chinese method of ACUPUNCTURE, which for 5,000 years has been used in Oriental medicine, and during the past 10 years, has been used as an anesthetic, or pain

Recently, I saw on television some Chinese in Peking, sticking needles into people's tissues and vibrating them with their fingers. Then the doctor was able to perform an operation apparently without causing the patient any pain.

In a recent newspaper interview that great medical historian, Dr. Ilza Veith, of the University of California Medical School in San Francisco. who is the English translator of an ancient Chinese textbook on acupuncture, says that the technique is not a science. "It is more in the field of philosophy," she said. "It has nothing to do with the nervous system. But it works."

She says that some of the needles used are as fine as a human hair and that the penetration is very shallow -around five millimeters. This would explain why the punctures do not often cause serious illness or death, Recently, Dr. E. Grey Dimond wrote an excellent article on "Acupuncture Anesthesia" in the Journal of the AMA, Dr. Dimond spent some time in China studying the medical practices there. He saw a number of operations performed on whose anesthesia seemed to be due to acupuncture. There may have been some effect from an electric current applied through the needles, although the chief of anesthesia at Canton, China, says the electricity is mainly a labor-saving method for avoiding having to twirl the needles by hand.

It may be that the patient was quieted by a bit of something like hypnosis. Many years ago a Scottish physician named Esdaile performed some 250 operations on patients in India. He hypnotized them so that they did not show any signs of feeling pain. Curiously, when Esdaile went back to Scotland and tried to operate on his countrymen under hypnosis, the strong willed and sceptical Scots did not succumb to the doctor's anesthetic efforts. He

Plan bus tour for farmers

By William Bortel

A bus tour has been planned for Tuscola farmers and agribusinessmen to visit four Indiana farms March 29 and 30. The farmers will have an opportunity to visit some of the outstanding farms in Indiana that are chisel plowing, using modern fertilizer handling systems on farms and mechanized with drying equipment; will have a chance to visit with the farmers as they have had several years' experience in drying grain and using new ideas with drying equipment.

One farm has chisel plowed 300 acres for three consecutive years. Also we will have an opportunity to visit a system which is used by three neighbors through a partnership, Partnerships with equipment appear to be on the increase in many of the cash crop growing areas in Indianà and Illinois,

We have a few reservations confirmed; however, the bus is not entirely filled and a few more men may contact the Extension Office for their reservation. Reservations will be accepted until the bus is filled or until March 24, The cost of the trip is $28.00 for lodging and bus transportation. We need the $28.00 at the Caro Extension Office to confirm your If you have further questions, please contact your Extension Office in Caro at 673-3161.

had to give up trying to operate with the method that had worked so well on the perhaps more impressional East In-

Interestingly, today, under the influence of Mao, the doctors of China are compelled to practice ancient Chinese herb medicines, plus some of the foreign scientific medicine which they learned at the splendid Peiping Hospital, built and staffed years ago by the Rockefeller Foundation.

That some ancient Chinese medicine can be very good was shown me back around 1915, by a stout, healthy-looking missionary woman who had just come back from China, She told me that when the American doctor had given her up as about to die with pernicious anemia, a disease which at that time we doctors did not know how to cure, her child's old Chinese nurse said, "I could cure you with an ancient Chinese remedy."

The missionary agreed to try it, and during the next month, the American woman lived largely on a liver soup that the nurse had prepared. On this she quickly became well and stout. When I saw her in San Francisco, I checked her blood and the cells still showed the characteristic form of pernicious anemia, Obviously, something in the liver soup had saved the woman's life.

I wanted to report this, but I doubted the wisdom of reporting one case, even though Dr. George Whipple, my chief in the research laboratory, had shown that the liver has much to do with making blood. Today, we know that the important element of the soup was Vitamin B12, and we are able to save the lives of persons with pernicious anemia with a monthly shot of the vitamin.

Dr. Veith fears, as many doctors do, that there will be an outbreak of acupuncture quackery -- especially in the treatment of cancer, which is the one disease the Chinese say they cannot cure by acupuncture.

A New York psychologist, Eileen Simpson, wrote in the Saturday Review that in spite of lack of scientific evidence, and Ted Edwards.

in its favor, acupuncture is currently being practiced by some 2,000 doctors outside of the Orient. In France, acupuncture is being used to treat impotence in males and sexual frigidity in women.

What are the 19 danger signals of cancer? Is cancer hereditary? What treatments are available for the various types of cancer? Dr. Alvarez answers these questions and gives you other vital information on this disease in his booklet "What We Know About Cancer." For your copy send 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC. Box 957. Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Twenty-eight members and six guests of the Baptist Philathea class attended the monthly class fellowship Saturday eve-

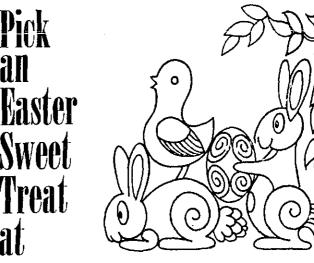

The schedule for the progressive dinner included "Appetizers and Anonymous Sounds," "Soup and Songs," "Feast and Film" and "Dessert and Discussion." The evening was planned by Mrs. Harold Rayl and Mrs. Dick Shaw.

At the Clyde Wells home, appetizers were served and class members were asked to identify various sounds played on a tape recorder by Mr. and Mrs. Stan Guinther, Soup was served at the Jim Perry home, followed by group singing.

The main course, served in the social rooms of the new church building, was followed by the film, "Charlie Churchman." The film was discussed and dessert was served at the Ferris Ware home.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Hautala, Mr. and Mrs. Ron Bullis, Miss Judy Shaw

Spend a few moments each time you shop to gradually learn about the variety of products in your grocery store. Get wise to the language of product labels; they can help you buy

(1) Give you a clue in the PRODUCT NAME of what's inside (a product called Beef With Gravy has more beef than one called Gravy With Beef). (2) Show an accurate PIC-TURE of the product inside (if it shows something extra, like parsley or a dish, it must "suggested serving" or "serving suggestion").

(3) List all the INGREDI-ENTS, from the heaviest to the lightest, so you know what you are paying for.

(4) Give STORING AND COOKING METHODS where necessary so you can keep the product safe. (5) Show the INSPECTION

MARK, so you know the product was approved as wholesome and truthfully labeled. (6) Give the net weight, in pounds and ounces, so you can compare prices of brands according to weight and size. Give a "Hoot!" for the wise use of label information. Give a "Howl!" in writing to the company, if you have additional questions about the product. Their name and business address are on the label.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Ed Doolittle's daughter that lives in the city spent a few days with her folks recent, and Ed come to the store Saturday night with a little story she told. Ed passed it along to the fellers after filling in around the edges pritty good to suit

Ed's daughter and a married friend was downtown shopping a while back, and they had a baby in one of them little scooters. They had bought a article in a fancy store when it come time to tend to the baby. Not knowing jest what to do with the old one after she got the clean one on, the mama put the article in another store bag and stored the dirty diper in the bag with the fancy store name. After they had done their shopping and was heading back to the parking lot, three boys run by, grabbed the fancy store bag and kept running. Ed's daughter said somewhere that day three little devils got a suprise they deserved.

The way justice is running, allowed Ed, it would be better if the wimmen kept quiet about the case of the stole diper. If it could be showed they put the diper in the bag with meditation and malice aforethought, said Ed, they probable could be hauled in court fer misleading miners or somepun. We've already reached the place where we put the blame fer stole cars on the victim that leaves keys in the switch, said Ed, so afore" long we'll have the hole system turned around.

The fellers was agreed that victims that report crimes usual wind up with more trouble than the crooks. It were Josh Clodhopper that said if Cain was tried today fer slewing Abel, he'd come clean fer want of proper percedure, ipso facto, pluribus unum. Fer instant, the Officer that got the confession from Cain never onct told him of his rights, and the pore defendunt didn't even have a lawyer. Josh was of the mind that today the victim is presumed guilty until the defendant is proved innocent. Ed said that same kind of turned-around thinking goes over in matters where folks figger they are so right they are above the law. He said he had saw by the papers where they is a cause called ecotage. The word comes from ecology and sabotage, and it means to sabotage in the name of ecology. Fer instant, to keep water clean they will plug up sewer lines that dump in the water. They know this is damaging property, but they figger the cause is greater than the law. They say what's wrong is the "system" that makes their ecotage necessary. Clem Webster said he had saw where somepun called the National Welfare Rights Organization wants "welfare not warfare," but they say they have declared war on them that has wealth and power but won't give it to em. I reckon that takes care of the old line about "them as has, gits."

The night was dark and calm. All creatures were silent and leaves stood still as a ione man knelt in a garden called Gethsemane and prayed, "Not as I will, but as Thou wilt."

Around Him Jesus' disciples lay sleeping. Soon He knew would come betrayal, public condemnation and derision . . . and the long last march. And yet He prayed, "Thy will be done."

In the shadow of the Cross Jesus demonstrated perfect love and trust for God, His Father. In the hours ahead He would establish His Sonship for the atonement of all mankind.

And so today, in a world that needs this message of hope, let us commemorate that first Good Friday by acknowledging God as our Father, helping our churches to illustrate His way to the hungry, the sick, and the needy.

A problem that seems to plague school children is hiccups, and she got a request for stopping them. "You get someone to scare you out of your hiccups," says Crystal.

The project was considered a success by the children and by Miss Jonas. "It encourages them to read," she said, glancing around the room and noting that some of the children who weren't interested in some of the other reading projects were reading what they and their classmates had written.

"It should inspire them on She wrote answers to all of their level," she said.

Committee attends Artrain workshop

More than 100,000 Michigan residents have viewed Artrain --a project of the Michigan Council of the Arts--since it opened last May, Mrs. William G. Milliken, Artrain general chairman, said Wednesday at Michigan State University.

When Artrain leaves its 23rd city--Flint--this week end, it will have 20 more Michigan cities to visit this year, the governor's wife told about 50 people from areas planning an Artrain visit who were participating in a workshop at MSU's Kellogg Center for Continuing Education.

AAUW donates

$125 to Artrain

A donation of $125 for the Artrain was approved at the regular March 15 meeting of the American Association of University Women.

This brings the Artrain fund to $175, with a goal of about $1500. Members decided to devote the April meeting to discussion and work on the Artrain project, which has been spearheaded by the AAUW, Mrs. Esther McCullough presented a legislative program on Common Cause, the people's lobby directed by John Gardner, former Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare.

Emerging issues were discussed for the coming year's Elections were held and Doris Rawson, treasurer, and Kit Mc-Million, first vice-president in of programs, were elected.

The meeting was held at the home of Sandy Wilson, who was assisted by Dottie Scollon.

dents participated in the Artrain workshop: Elaine Proctor, 4794 N. Seeger; Holly Althaver, Kennebec Drive; Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn, Kennebec Drive; Karen Wallace, Schwegler Road, and Naida Doerr, 6440 Huron.

"Artrain is not just a traveling art museum," Mrs. Milliken emphasized. "If a city doesn't change after Artrain's visit, then we don't feel it's been a real success."

Artrain includes three exhibit cars with art works from Warhol to Van Gogh, A young staff accompanies the train and helps local communities integrate Artrain into other art programs and happenings. Before Artrain's travels, only about 5 per cent of Michigan's population had any contact with the arts, Mrs. Milliken said.

She explained that Artrain is financed through funds from government and private sources and said that, to date, for each $1 of government support, there is $4 from private citizens. The Artrain will visit Cass

Letter to Editor

Scouts good boys, now good men

Mr. John Haire, Editor The Chronicle Cass City, Mi. 48726

The nearly twelve years that I worked actively in Cass City scouting are still important in my memories. Your recent full page picture story on the newest Eagle Scouts was much appreclated here. Most significant was the box feature about the fifteen Eagles from 1943 to 1955. Since I had the honor of being Scoutmaster when all to hear that now under new these young men received the leadership a third generation coveted silver medal, it was has begun. May we hope for good to learn what each one is another fifteen or more in the now doing. It seems they all exemplify as adults the character and citizenship we hoped for when they were scouts. They were good boys then, and good men

The foundation of our midcentury scout program was laid by my predecessor, Scoutmaster Hugh Munro, and the first of the fifteen Eagles were largely his.

There had been an earlier generation under Scoutmaster Curtis of the Baptist Church. I am sure many older residents could name them all, but when I arrived in 1943 they were no longer active. It is good next dozen years?

Lt. Freiburger selected

junior officer of quarter

First Lt. Robert Freiburger, 26. OIC of the Communications-Navigation Branch at McGuire AFB, N. J., was selected Wing's Junior Officer of the Quarter

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alger Freiburger, 6592 Third St., Cass City.

The selection was made by three officers of field grade rank after a close review of each nominee's letter of recommendation and past record.

Among his achievements are the steady improvement of his section while he was in charge, and the institution of new procedures to facilitate the work of the Avionics Maintenance. Freiburger also is program monitor for the Young Pilot Program at the squadron level, and he briefs young officers on the Avionics mission and provides comprehensive orientation for applicants to the Air Force Academy. Before his enlistment in 1969, Freiburger was a production engineer for GM, He holds a Bachelor of Mechanical Engineering degree from the General Motors Institute. He is married to the former Taffey

Investigate 2 area thefts

Duane Pelton of 3567 Shaw Road, Kingston, notified sheriff's deputies March 15 that approximately $2100 worth of tools was missing from his basement. The home was unoccupied for two days before he discovered the theft, Sheriff's reports indicated entry was gained by breaking a back window and unlocking the door. Police also investigated the theft of $350 to $400 from a rural Cass City home March 15. Valuable coins and silver certificates were taken from the home. Some of the money has been circulated in town.
