

Plan $7,000 remodeling to turn shop into cafeteria-study hall

The Cass City School Board authorized a $7,000 remodeling program in the Intermediate School and reversed a board policy adopted a year ago after much haggling, Monday evening at Cass City High School.

The remodeling will turn the present Intermediate shop into a cafeteria-study hall. Presently children in the Intermediate School eat in the Willis Campbell Elementary School gym.

Intermediate shop will move into the former library room in the northwest corner of the first floor.

The policy that was changed will, in essence, allow children living out of the district to ride school buses without paying a $70 transportation fee.

The State requires that a bill for transportation be sent to non-district students. Previously, the board had said that if a bill is sent it should be collected. Now the board is saying, send the bill, but don't collect.

The reason for the change is that several of the 10 families affected won't pay and will leave the school. Each one that goes costs the district $700 in tuition payment. The students in question live on roads where the bus travels anyway and it is Supt. Don Crouse's contention that there is no extra cost involved in picking up these students.

The change was authorized by a vote of 6-1. President Arthur Severance said that he felt if the school sends a bill it should collect it.

Policy changes were the rule of the day at Monday's meeting. Because of complaints the board reviewed the charges for using the kitchen at Evergreen and Deford.

Previously if the kitchen was open at either facility a cook was necessary and charged to the persons using the school.

Many times all of the food is pre-prepared and the kitchen only used for storing food prior to serving. For this reason the board decided to abolish the rule making a cook necessary if food is pre-prepared.

NO CHANGE

After reviewing a survey sent to parents concerning Junior High basketball program, the board voted to leave the present program intact.

Trustee Elwyn Helwig said that coaches not following the board's wishes should be removed rather than changing the program. The point of controversy was the amount of participation each boy received in games. Supporting Helwig's stand prior to the unanimous vote for "no change" were Gerald Hicks and Dean Hoag.

The survey showed 11 favored change and nine favored no change. Only about half of the 39 families answered.

SPECIAL EDUCATION

A new state law makes it the responsibility for every school district to provide special education for students requiring it from birth to 25 years of age.

The board accepted a special position paper presented by Elementary Principal Mrs. Bernard Freiburger about these special students saying that a central location was needed for the training. It is planned that much of this education will be assumed by the Tuscola County Intermediate School District.

NEW TEACHERS

New teachers signed include: Dan Derfing, high school industrial arts; Dennis Collon, intermediate industrial arts; Shirley Tuckey, third grade; Roland Pakonen, intermediate speech and math; Anne Lawton, special education.

Council favors "Donahue" site for $1 million nursing facility

In a unanimous vote last Wednesday members of the Cass City Village Council indicated that they wanted the proposed new $1 million skilled nursing home in the "Donahue" subdivision rather than Hills and Dales Number 3.

The council acted after listening to Charles Cairns, a planner from Vilican and Lehman, consultants. Cairns told members of the planning commission, interested residents and the council that in terms of best land use neither site was one that he could fully recommend.

Of the two, he added, I feel that probably the Donahue site is the better. He said that any facility should be built on a thoroughfare or "collector" street and suggested that an extension of Ale Street could serve this purpose. Cairns sees increased traffic as a problem.

He emphasized that both locations were prime residential areas. Because of the school already in the area, he said, I would lean towards the Donahue site.

The council has decided in favor of the 15 acres north of the Cass City Recreational Park and south of the Cass City High School, but the issue is not yet completely decided.

The hang-up is the cost of the Donahue site. President Lambert Althaver drove the meeting to a decision so that the subdivider and Provincial Homes Inc. would have a reason for getting together and trying to reach an agreement on costs.

Besides the cost of the site there is storm sewer drainage and the extension of Ale Street to be considered.

If these are settled to Provincial's and the subdivider's satisfaction it is certain that everything will go smoothly at the hearing of the petitions slated June 29 at the Cultural Center.

If not another stormy session could be in the works. The petitions are to change the zoning and if granted by the council means that a skilled nursing home can be erected on land now reserved for single family dwellings.

SECOND MEETING

Monday night the council, a representative from the village's advisory engineering firm, the planning commission and Dick Palms, vice-president of Provincial Homes Inc., talked about the Donahue site.

Results were inconclusive. Bill Hubbell, engineer, said that it might be possible to reduce some of the cost for drainage with a settling pond and smaller storm sewer but frowned on a proposed plan to drain the area to the east. He is investigating.

Also kicked around was the site south of Hills and Dales General Hospital. It's the location that's most desirable on the basis of best land use. However, it was never seriously considered because it was too narrow. The thought was that the south branch of Hospital Drive could be closed and enough property sold to Provincial to meet the corporation's land requirements.

However, all of this land is owned by the hospital and one member of the board said that hospital consultants have recommended that instead of 7½ acres the facility should have had twice this much.

Palms told the Chronicle that he felt that improvement at the Donahue site might cost more than his company is willing to pay.

We are assembling costs now, he said. Besides drainage, the cost of the road to the site must be resolved, he added.

We certainly can't build a $1 million facility and then have no road to it, Palms said definitely.

PARKING PROBLEM

Cairns then switched his attention to parking in the downtown business district. He backed the recommendation of the planning commission in saying that no restrictions should be imposed on businessmen here in terms of providing off-street parking if they remodel or enlarge.

In other communities, he said, we've found that businessmen, Chamber of Commerce and the village have cooperated to handle the off-street parking problem.

Previously the council had refused to accept the planning commission's recommendation for no restrictions. They still haven't. On the recommendation of Dr. D. E. Rawson the proposed change was tabled until the change in the ordinance to allow the skilled nursing home into town was considered. All the changes could then be made at once.

Meanwhile, the businessmen would have the opportunity to comment on the situation, he added.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

It was a meeting of peak statesmanship and of dismal proportions last Wednesday when the council and the planning commission gathered. In what has to rank as a top performance, President Lambert Althaver, with an eye on what was good for the village, insisted, insisted, insisted that the council reach a decision and finally hammered his way home.

He literally refused to let the meeting slide by without bringing the controversial skilled nursing home issue to a vote.

It looked for awhile as if he would fail when the planning commission came back after a long, lengthy squabble in private with no recommendation because of a lack of information.

The planners wanted to know what "the deal" was before rendering a decision.

Althaver wouldn't accept this, he said, that the planners and the council should decide a preference and should do it that night.

He finally got his way with perseverance and unemotional sticking to the main point: a decision was needed, needed that night, not next week.

Althaver was great. But it's fortunate that everyone in the council felt that the Donahue site was best for the village. Because the vote was taken by secret paper ballot. If they hadn't voted the same, no taxpayer would have ever known how their representative voted on an issue vital to every resident.

Certainly the nursing home site is as explosive an issue as we've had here for a year or so with every trustee subjected to a great deal of pressure.

It's hard to stand up and be counted when a vote, either way, is sure to displease a portion of the electorate. But it's part of the job in public office and trustees should face up to it.

The final decision on the site is a minimum of two weeks away. Two weeks shouldn't be enough to hinder the nursing home people and should be enough for the parties concerned to come to an agreement.

The worst that could happen for the village at large is to have the issue hang fire longer than this.

Primary consideration should always be to move smartly towards adding the $1 million facility to Cass City.

We need the tax base, the employment and the facility. Location or any other consideration should be secondary to getting the institution here.

THIS CAR rammed through a bridge sign on Unionville Road and the driver, Hugo C. Kaatz, was killed.

2 deaths up county traffic toll to 10

Area accidents of a serious nature developed this week as Tuscola county's death toll shot up to 10 with two county deaths. Kenneth Murdoch, 17, of East Dayton Road, Caro, died over the week end at St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw just a little less than a week after the car in which he had been riding overturned on M-81 west of Caro.

He had been in critical condition in the intensive care ward until his death of head injuries.

Hugo C. Kaatz of Liken Road, Sebawaing, was killed instantly Saturday at 7:20 p. m. when he lost control of his car driving south from Unionville. Kaatz left the road on the east side and overturned in a dredge cut, a half mile south of the village. Coroner J. Benson Collon pronounced death as being caused by a fractured skull.

Last Wednesday morning the body of a well-known Pigeon businessman, Donald Brown, 44, was discovered along with the wreckage of his station wagon on highway M-25 just north of Unionville. Brown apparently was killed sometime Tuesday night when his car left the highway, turned over three times and came to rest against a billboard well off the highway.

Area residents report hearing the crash about 10 p. m. but seeing nothing. Brown's body and the wreckage were discovered shortly after daylight with death attributed to internal injuries.

A week ago Lloyd W. Monprevil, 32, of Gagetown, received slight injuries when his car crashed into a trotting horse on Highway M-81 east of Caro. The horse, the property of William Withey of Ryan Road, Caro, had apparently come from a barn at the fairgrounds and the impact destroyed the animal. Early Tuesday morning Robert Charles Knowlton, 19, of 4515 Leach Street, Cass City, struck a deer on M-81 in Ellington township. The accident occurred at 1:10 a. m. a quarter mile southwest of the Akron Road as the animal crossed from left to right in the path of the eastbound car. Knowlton was uninjured.

Cass City preps for gala Western Round-up

Volunteers from various Cass City service clubs have been working feverishly this week to put the finishing touches on preparation for the second annual Western Round-up in Cass City.

The Garden City carnival show was to be set up Wednesday and from that time on things are expected to hum at Cass City Recreational Park.

The first two days are preparation for the really big days of the Round-up. . . Friday and Saturday.

Saturday 200 horses are expected to be entered in one or more of the 10 events. Entries from 4-H Clubs all over Tuscola county, as well as Sanilac and Huron counties, are expected.

Starting at 2 p. m. firemen from all over the area are expected for the annual water ball tournament. In the evening a giant chicken barbecue is on the agenda.

The giant tractor pull activity starts at 10 a. m. Sunday when tractors will weigh in at the Michigan Bean Elevator.

The actual pull will start at 2 p. m. and trophies will be awarded and entry fees returned as cash prizes.

For many the highlight of the event will be the good time on the midway. The chance to dunk a friend at the dunking chair. The chance to rib a neighbor about his cooking at the chicken barbecue. The opportunity to just plain visit with friends too long ignored.

Besides the fun and games there will be educational booths manned by volunteers.

One of these is the Lions Auxiliary which will host a rest area. They will serve iced tea and promote the Lions sight conservation program.

It will be open Thursday afternoon, Friday evening, Saturday afternoon and evening.

Donation of used glasses will be accepted at the tent and literature telling of the Lions eye bank program at the University Hospital at the University of Michigan will be explained.

Lions point out that eyes from any age person can be used, even those who have a cataract operation or a cornea transplant.

Another educational booth will be under the direction of the Deford Community Church, where religious films will be shown.

Schools decide issues Monday

In a light vote Monday, Cass City School District voters returned Arthur Severance to the school board and elected Robert Hirn, now a new trustee.

The results of the close election were:

Arthur Severance, 263 votes. Robert Hirn, 257 votes. Gerald Hicks, 232 votes. Lee J. Hartel, 161 votes.

An examination of the vote tally would indicate that many electors came to the polls to back a specific candidate. Of the total of 496 votes cast, 79 were marked for a single candidate.

Voters had the option of voting for two. However, the vote carries more strength if the second choice is omitted. Nearly a sixth of the votes cast disregarded a second choice that was available. In light votes it is possible for a determined bloc to carry a candidate to victory this way.

Authorities said that there was an unusual number of absentee ballots cast.

OTHER RESULTS

Voters gave schools across Tuscola county all tax monies that are now on the books but they refused to part with more tax dollars for new millages except in the case of Millington where three mills were passed for one year. In Kingston voters overwhelmingly renewed 12 mills for one year. . . the vote was yes 153 and no 38. Unopposed incumbent members of the board of education, Gary Concluded on page 14.

Vote $50,000 for building

A giant step forward in the development of the Sanilac Historical Park was recorded Monday when the Michigan congress approved a $50,000 grant for construction over the Indian carvings in Greenleaf township.

The money became available, Rep. Quincy Hoffman announced, when the Senate bill 1356 was passed. Hoffman speculated that by the time that plans can be drawn and bids let, it would be in the spring of 1973 before the construction will start.

Plans call for the building to be over the petroglyphs with the use of indirect lighting for easy visibility. Also scheduled is an "interpretive" building adjacent to the carvings. In it the significance of the various carvings would be explained for visitors.

The $50,000 allotment is just the beginning, Rep. Hoffman believes. He feels that climate is good for continued grants for development of the area.

According to the representative, the Department of Natural Resources has approved the building and the concept.

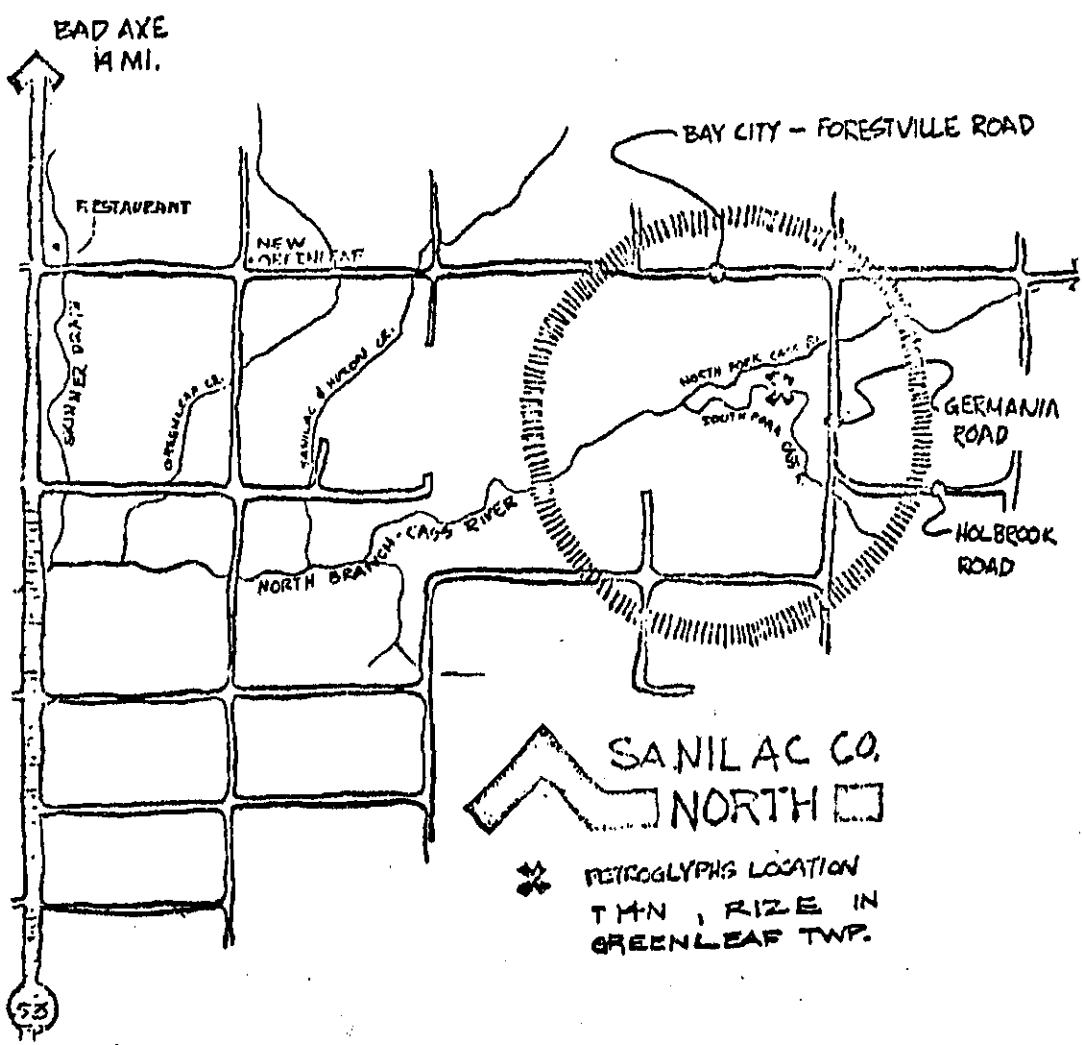

Work is nearing completion for the addition of more land to the park site. The first 80 acres were donated to the State by the Michigan Archaeological Society and land owned by the DNR brings the total to the present 240 acres.

Long-range plans call for the park to have a total of some 600 acres. It will include nature trails and facilities for handling visitors.

However, it will not be an overnight camp. There will be no camping allowed at any time.

The park was first proposed by the Archaeological Society because the petroglyphs were deteriorating and the Holbrook area is the only known site of petroglyphs in Michigan.

Archaeologists regard them as an invaluable source for studying early Indian culture. I believe, Rep. Hoffman said, that the park will be of great value to the entire area both culturally and economically.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on May 30, 1972, at the Municipal Building. All trustees were present.

The minutes of the regular April meeting were read and approved.

Jack McDaniels, representing the Cass City Service Clubs, requested that the northwest area of the Village Park be closely mowed. A horse show is planned for the area during the Western Round-Up, June 15, 16, 17 and 18. Mr. McDaniels also requested that permission be given to use the service road east of the park for a tractor pulling contest during the Western Round-Up. The Council granted permission for the two requests from Jack McDaniels.

Curt Hunt was present to request that the Council consider rezoning the property 848 feet east and west, 464 feet north and south from the northwest corner of the Village limits and all the land west of an extension of Hospital Drive from single family residential to multiple family dwelling.

It was the decision of the Council to table the request from Mr. Hunt until a joint meeting can be held with the Council, Planning Commission and a professional planner. At this time Mr. Hunt's request for rezoning will be considered.

Tom Proctor requested that the Council reconsider the previous request to purchase the old Fire Hall Building. Mr. Proctor was told that the question of the sale of the old Fire Hall building is under consideration pending the decision of the Council for off-street parking requirements in the central business district. The request from Mr. Proctor will remain on the table until a decision is made by the Council.

Jim McCoy was present to request that the C.A.T.V. franchise be transferred back to his name from Thumb Video. Following discussion with Mr. McCoy, a motion was made by Trustee Holmberg and supported by Trustee Bliss that the C.A.T.V. franchise be transferred from Thumb Video back to Jim McCoy providing that a report of progress on installation of C.A.T.V. be available within 12 months. Motion carried.

Following discussion with Tom Herron, a motion was made by Trustee Ross and supported by Trustee Albee that approval be given to the preliminary plat for Country View Subdivision, as recommended by the Planning Commission. Motion carried.

The financial report for the month of April was presented. The study of the Gross and Jackson parking lots was referred to the Streets and Parking Committee.

It was reported that the paving of Garfield Street will be completed tomorrow, May 31. A discussion was held on the problem of Maple Street drainage and resurfacing north of Main Street. The Street Committee will study this problem and recommend the best step to take in solving this problem.

The Parks and Recreation Committee reported that details are being finalized for the summer recreation program. The Council was informed that permanent fencing was installed at the two little league diamonds. The bill for the complete installation amounted to more than was anticipated and approved by the Council. A motion was made by Trustee Albee and supported by Trustee Rawson that the total cost of installing the little league fences be paid out of Village funds. Motion carried.

Trustee Albee read a letter from Gail Parrott, Supervisor of Novesta Township, in which he requested that Novesta Township residents be allowed to use the Cass City Landfill as their dump has been closed. This request was referred to the Public Utilities Committee for their study.

It was reported that the digging of the additional trench at the landfill will cost approximately $2,200.00.

It was also reported that the applicants for Village Superintendent will be interviewed by the Council on June 13 and June 20.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Jones that the following resolution be adopted:

"Be it resolved that the Municipal Maintenance Contract between the Michigan State Highway Department and the Village of Cass City for the period July 1, 1972, to June 30, 1973, is hereby adopted and Edward Anthes is designated as Maintenance Superintendent." Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Bliss that the training course fee of approximately $60.00 for Village Assessor be paid by the Village. Motion carried.

The Budget and Finance Committee was asked to review the Village's insurance coverage in detail.

The decision of whether to sell or keep the third police car was tabled.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bills as examined by the Finance Committee be approved for payment. Motion carried.

Trustee Albee presented a copy of the financial report for the Rawson Memorial Library to be kept in the Village files.

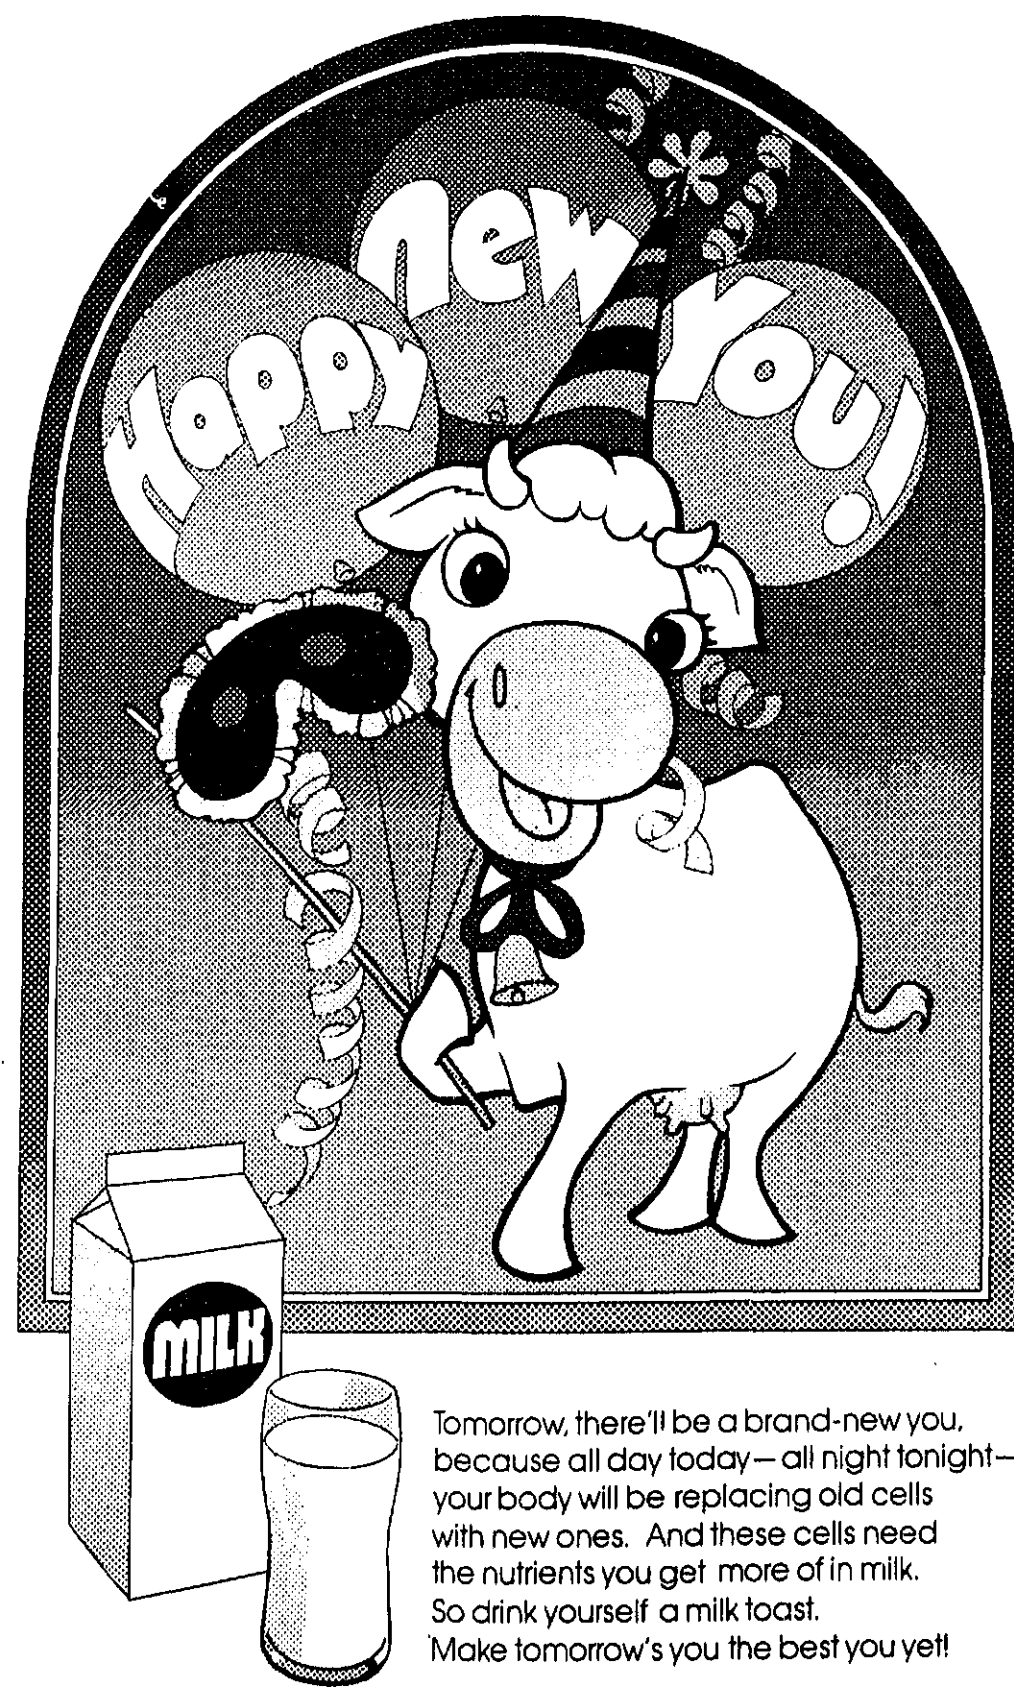

Ed Anthes requested that the Council authorize the purchase of a one-half horse motor for a grinder and also a five-ton floor jack to use in the shop. Authorization was given to purchase the motor, and Mr. Anthes was asked to get a price on the floor jack before authorization would be given.

Ed Anthes also reported that a new electrical wiring service is needed for the two well houses. Mr. Anthes was asked to get an estimate on the cost and report back to the Council for their consideration.

Phooey on boxing

BY JIM FITZGERALD

If I still sat next to Chuck Davey in Psychology II, I might gird my loins and bravely say to him:

"Phooey on prize fighting. Some people want a nuclear arms pact, to lessen the chances of nations blowing each other to hell. Some people are screaming for gun control, to make it tougher for the Saturday night drunk to shoot his wife for nagging."

"But how can we expect to attain these sophisticated heights of civilization in a world where people pay money to watch a couple of brutes slug each other?"

"How can a boxer be appalled that nations use bombs to debate boundaries? How can a fight fan be puzzled that the guy next door carries a pistol when he puts out the cat? They wallow in a so-called sport where the sole objective is to knock your opponent unconscious. Nose to nose, is there anything more barbaric than that?"

At this point, Chuck Davey might well have begun to ungird my loincloth. I sat near him in some Michigan State University classes 22 years ago. At that time he was already a famous amateur boxer. He went on to become a top-flight pro, the darling of the TV fans in the early 1950's. Today he is the boxing commissioner of Michigan.

Davey is a lousy commissioner but it is hard to understand how he could be anything else. Boxing is lousy. To have a good commissioner of boxing would be similar to having a good commissioner of gouging eyes and kneecaps.

Davey pulled a great recently, typical of the whole miserable racket. A Michigan boxer, Ron Harris, was offered a fight in Cleveland. He would get an extra $1,500 if he lost the fight, the promoter told Harris. Immediately, Harris hollered "fix" to Davey, who investigated. The promoter admitted the offer, but claimed the extra dough was only to make Harris feel better if he should lose the fight.

Incredibly, Davey accepted this explanation. He admitted the arrangement was "unorthodox" but Harris hadn't actually been asked to throw the fight, "it was all a misunderstanding."

Whoa boy! Does that stink or doesn't it? It reminds me of some of those look-sharp TV fights of 20 years ago, starring such guys as Davey and Rocky Graziano. No one ever proved a thing, but take a deep breath and you can still smell those exhibitions of the manly art of self-defense.

Can you imagine the commissioner of baseball saying it's okay to pay Mickey Lolich $3,000 for winning a game, or $5,000 for losing it?

No reasonable man denies that most sports are big business. The athletes and owners are in it for the buck. Their loyalty to the "hometown fans" is as portable as a wallet. But at least the management tries hard to keep the jocks honest.

Commissioner Davey's opinion in the Harris matter would be impossible in any other sport. But it seems to fit boxing just fine. It seems to be just a more admission that boxing isn't really a sport at all, it's a sleazy racket, slowly withering for lack of fans.

I say hasten the withering. Let's not raise any more kids who think it's marvelous to be able to slug a man silly. Let's not be dumb enough to pay dollars for the ringside privilege of being splattered with another man's blood.

Once the glory and dough are taken out of fists, maybe something meaningful can be done about gun control and a nuclear arms pact.

It's really simple: we just have to stop hurting each other.

Rabbit tracks

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Okay, Mom, be alert. It's rusty, red water time again in Cass City. That street gang will be back at it Thursday and Friday flushing hydrants. When they do that water gets red, red, red and so do clothes if you wash in it.

It's safe to drink, though. . . might even have more iron in it than Geritol.

Every time old Uncle gives you something, he attaches a string someplace. And the money for the Orr addition to the Recreation Park is no exception.

Through some excellent spadework by the council, primarily Dr. D. E. Rawson, the city will pay half of the cost of the addition. But this land can't be used to house a new Municipal Building and there are several other minor no-nos in the new acquisition.

But better the strings with the money than no strings and no money. Much better.

The new United States Postal Service system is now in operation here. That's the reason mail that used to come in a day may take longer now.

It's the system, not the guys at the local offices that are responsible.

Mail is now sorted in Saginaw and other centers and shipped back to local offices for final distribution.

There should be a smart way to write this but no amount of head scratching sparked a ray of genius.

It's about Joan Maleck who this week graduated from Michigan State. Look a job in packaging with Avon Corporation and announced her engagement.

I keep wanting to say something about it's a neat package for a neat package, but it's too corny and I won't.

The annual trek to Lewiston to play golf by local nuts started Wednesday and continues today. There may be 30 guys there.

Since it doesn't look like I'll be able to go I'm busy building up points at home by giving a guy by guy account of who is going and loudly telling anyone who will listen about this sacrifice on the altar of duty.

Business note: Ground was broken Tuesday for two stores 15x100 feet each adjacent to Erla's Food Center.

Dick Erla, the owner, said that the stores will house a barber shop and beauty shop. Erla is not ready to release the names of the persons who plan to rent, but Tuesday a well-known local barber was hard at work with a shovel digging away at the hole for the foundation.

Girls' sports, grade phys ed added to school curriculum

Administrators at Cass City School have kept plugging away at curriculum improvement-expansion plans and Monday night announced several significant changes in the school program to the Cass City Board.

Athletic Director Robert Stickle revealed that a girls' athletic program was ready to go.

Stickle said that it is sure that there will be enough schools in the area to form a girls' league.

He looks for about 10 basketball games to be played in the fall and five volleyball games in the winter. In the spring five softball games appear to be a realistic figure, Stickle said.

The board applauded the effort and it's full speed ahead when school starts in the fall.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that a teacher is available and that elementary physical education will be offered with about two classes a week for each student.

Another area of curriculum change will be in math and language. Principal Russell Richards received approval for two new textbooks for the purpose. One will feature a math course "for everyday use". The other is a course in conversational German. Both are new at Cass City.

Recreation Department.

The buses will be rented at cost which school authorities have computed at $25 per trip, including driver.

The second request approved was to sell ready-to-be-discarded school baseball uniforms to the Cass City Pony League.

The uniforms were sold for $75 and it is expected that as many as 15 complete sets can be scrounged from the lot.

SCUTTLE TRIP

As far as Cass City High School is concerned the annual Senior Trip is no more.

But students will have an opportunity to take a trip under an alternate plan.

It's called a Senior Trip Club. In it students receive points for participation in fund raising activities. The points translate into dollars earned and is deducted from the total trip cost. This way students can pay as much and earn as much of the cost as they like.

The difference is that the school is no longer a sponsor. Principal Russell Richards said about 80 of next year's Seniors signed a petition in favor of the change.

They were afraid that the necessary 60 per cent of the class would not be going and they would lose the trip all together, he added.

In past years the Seniors were excused from class for the trip. It is likely that this will end now that the school is no longer in charge.

FINANCIAL ACTIONS

The board completed several minor financial transactions. It raised the payment to driver training instructors from $3.00 per hour to $5.25 per hour. The payment is near the average paid by other area schools.

Payment was authorized for Russell Richards of $100 for his work in the adult education program. The board requested that the program get underway earlier next fall.

AIDS PROGRAM

The board voted to help along the summer recreational program by approving two requests.

The first is to allow the school bus to be used to haul children to Caseville for swimming under the direction of the Cass City

Student doctor at Hills and Dales

Jonathan Kaner, 22, a medical student at the University of Michigan, will spend ten weeks at Hills and Dales General Hospital, Cass City, this summer in a special educational program arranged with the cooperation of the Tuscola County Medical Society.

Kaner will be participating in a project coordinated by the Michigan State Medical Society to introduce students to community medical practice as a complement to their academic studies. Its formal name is the Student American Medical Association Project for Medical Education and Community Orientation (SAMA-MECO).

Kaner's summer program will be under the direction of James Ballard, MD, of Cass City.

A resident of Southfield, Kaner is completing his freshman year in the U of M Medical School. Earlier he received a B.S. degree in cellular biology from the University of Michigan.

"We are pleased with the growth of this program and the interest shown by students in learning about medical activities in Michigan communities," said Brooker L. Masters, MD, of Fremont, chairman of the state medical society council (board of directors). "We believe the educational experience offered in this program can make a valuable contribution to the students' medical training."

"We also hope that this program will encourage participating students to consider medical practice in Michigan after completion of studies. The Michigan State Medical Society is vitally interested in this program as part of its continuing effort to help increase the number of physicians practicing in Michigan, particularly in those areas in which shortages are most critical."

Students are to receive stipends from participating hospitals and also to be provided room and board unless they are in programs located in their home towns.

Protect trees

By Kit McMillion

The tree vandals have struck again.

I've never been very partial to vandals anyway, but I do like trees. The destruction of these small seedlings is positively heinous.

When the village goes to the bother to plant trees, at your expense, it's intolerable that they should be killed or injured.

The most recent act of vandalism was at the Masonic Temple, where two young trees were damaged. Other reports have been made to the police, including the up-rooting of the seedlings planted at the High School by Harry Little.

I hope this doesn't get to be a habit amongst the local vandals.

One of the things that impressed me about Cass City when I first came here was the beautiful trees. It's sad for me to see beautiful proud arbors broken by strong winds. And I really like the beauty of the plants accented when snow-covered boughs in the winter and green leaves in the spring arch over the streets to shade it from the rest of the world.

If you don't appreciate the beauty of trees maybe you aren't upset about the murder--yes, I think it could be called murder--of innocent little saplings.

After all, they're living things.

I've always been in love with trees. I was even asked once if I was a tree worshiper. Actually, I was just studying leaf formations for a botany class.

I wouldn't consider myself a fanatic about trees, but I really do like them.

Many are the fond memories I have associated with them. When I was a kid, I got in the way while my brothers made a tree house.

And I got scared and cried when I climbed trees, doing my ever-loving best to keep up with the rest of the neighborhood gang.

I watched many little birds grow up in nests snuggled amidst the leaves of rees outside my window.

And I almost fell out of a second story window in an attempt to grab a pear from a tree.

So many persons take trees for granted, so as self-appointed tree protector, I just simply ask you to be gentle to your trees and let the little ones grow up.

Trees are important. Poets, artists and Smokey the Bear wouldn't laud them if they weren't. Legends wouldn't use the tree as a symbol of strength and children wouldn't continually be told about acorns and big oaks if they weren't.

If it weren't for trees, the village smithy would never have been immortalized and Joyce Kilmer would have remained just another name in the telephone directory.

Civilization would never have gotten anywhere if it weren't for trees.

So don't stand in the way of civilization. Take care of your trees.

Meow.

ONE FOR THE ROAD

Joe Frazier: cutting power punches

By Dan Marlowe

Was there ever a heavyweight boxing champion with the devastating punch that Joe Frazier currently possesses?

Anyone watching his fight with outclassed Ron Stander recently would be inclined to doubt it. The special dimension of Frazier's punching ability is his cutting power. When Frazier's gloved fists strike flesh, the flesh splits, to a degree unmatched in my memory. In four rounds, Stander had bone-deep facial cuts that required 17 stitches to close.

There have been champions with greater one-punch ability than Frazier. Joe Louis could take a man out with either hand, even early in a fight. Rocky Marciano was a clubbing, numbing puncher; when Marciano hit his opponent on the shoulder, the shoulder became inoperative for awhile. It used to be said of The Rock that he could hit his opponent on the ankle and the resulting shock wave would knock the man out.

The short-armed Marciano used to work close to his opponent, much as Frazier does now, but Marciano's wide-swinging, powerhouse punches never wrought the facial destruction inflicted by Frazier's jolting blows. One might have to go all the way back to Jack Dempsey to find a heavyweight champion whose fists had the cutting power of Frazier's. The newsreels of Jess Willard's face after his fight with Dempsey strongly resembled Stander's features after Frazier had finished with him.

Stander was outmatched in everything except physical strength and courage. As he himself said before the fight: "If we were fighting in an alley, I'd be the favorite." But they weren't, and in 12 minutes Stander's features all but disintegrated under Frazier's slashing punches. If he keeps on fighting, Stander seems destined to join the ranks of other renowned chopping blocks like George Chuvalo and Oscar Bonavena.

It's hard to imagine the image of a fighter who can beat Frazier. Not a boxer; Muhammad Ali is the premier boxer among heavyweight champions, certainly back to the days of Jack Johnson, and Ali couldn't stand off Frazier. And not a puncher; Frazier's superbly conditioned body allows him to absorb punishment seemingly unaffected until his own lethal fists crumple his opponent.

Frazier can be hit. Even second-rate opponents land punches successfully, and that fact probably points to his eventual downfall. When his legs go, when he is no longer able to shuffle forward faster than his opponent can back-pedal, then Joe Frazier will be in trouble. But the day doesn't seem imminent.

Frazier, in fact, may become the second heavyweight champion to retire undefeated (Marciano was the first). One more big payday with Ali and Frazier is likely to pack it in. And Ali is unlikely to forget newspaper pictures of his own misshapen jaw after his first Frazier fight. It would be unusual if Ali fought a better fight against Frazier the next time around. As was the case with Marciano, fighters who even get into the ring with Joe Frazier for the second time are few and far between.

He's a pure puncher the likes of whom we may never have seen before.

SLOW DOWN

The best way to proceed these days is to pay as you go, and if you can't pay, don't go.

REACHES GOAL

A man's worth is determined only by his ability to stick at his work until he gets there.

THEY CAN SATISFY YOUR NEEDS Fast!

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

You recollect in my piece a few weeks back I reported where the fellers had took up the matter of all the minorities clubbing together to be majorities. That discussion must of stuck with Clem Webster, cause he come to the session at the country store Saturday night with more on the minority-majority question. Clem got on the agenda fast and allowed that the American in the middle was gitting to be a minority, and furthermore if the country keeps on the way it's headed the Middle American is going to be as extinct as a dodo. Clem was of the opinion that the feller in the middle gits it going and coming from all sides. And being in the middle, Clem allowed, is a problem from age to income and everything between.

The young git schooling and training, and no end of programs is fixed for them. The old git a heap of attention, Clem said, and some real benefits besides not having a income to pay taxes on. It's them in the middle, the working, tax-paying average citizen, that don't git no relief, was Clem's words.

Actual, Mister Editor, all the fellers is well on the downhill side of 70, and none ever made enuff in their working years to be called middle class, middle income or anything, but Zeke Grubb, for one, was agreed with Clem. They is a heap of benefits fer older folks, Zeke allowed, like help with doctors bills, so he couldn't go along with Zeke on that point. But as fer the Middle American gitting the squeeze, went on Zeke, that was hitting the nail on the head.

Use to be, said Zeke, everybody was afraid of being pore. Now, with all the house rents, medical and dental care, college expenses and everything else based on income, the only way to git ahead in this country is to be pore. The less you got the more you git, said Zeke, and all the feller in the middle can do is pay the bills.

Practical speaking, broke in Clem, the average working man is in bad shape cause he's got what you could call awkward income. He makes to much to qualify fer programs so he can live as good as the pore, and he don't earn enuff to live as good as the rich that can hire lawyers to look fer tax loopholes. It actual has got where a feller on a job can't afford to git a raise cause the Government would take out more than the employer put in, Clem allowed. The fellers went round and round on the matter, Mister Editor. Final, Bug Hookum said he had saw where the idee of designing yore own check is big all over the country, like one feller has a picture of him kissing his new wife on his alimony checks. Bug said, Middle American needs a picture of Uncle Sam holding his handout.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

New experiences at College Week

Sherry Lowell, Area Extension Home Economist

"Sharing your concerns, ideas and problems with women all over Michigan helps us to understand. No matter what age you can always learn a lot at College Week for Women."

Mrs. Leonard Russell from Akron recently shared these remarks with me in an interview about College Week for Women. Beth Russell will be attending College Week this year at Michigan State University on June 14-17 and hopes that many women from this tri-county area will make similar plans to attend. She said that she has learned a lot from the past seven years at College Week for Women. "In your own family you can use it so much."

College Week is a collage of new experiences for housewives, career girls, mothers, grandmothers and new brides. Beth mentioned that classes in spiritual living, psychology, marital enrichment, drugs, effective listening and know-how for the lady in office have been most helpful to her at home and in the community. Classes this year hit key issues such as our educational system, funding, bussing and problems of the aging to name only a few.

"For anyone who has not gone to college, this is really an experience. Even the women who have been to college find that it's fun to live in a campus-type dormitory, sharing ideas with other people. It's fun!"

Beth has served as area chairman for the Extension Homemakers' Council in Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties and is presently State Health Chairman for Michigan Association of Extension Homemakers.

There's more hard work than luck in most success stories.

USE COMMON SENSE. Faith is fine, but we need more in our hearts and less behind the steering wheel.

THE KEY Opportunity is what opens the door for you, but it takes hard work to stay on the inside.

BETTER HEALTH

Surgery helps arthritics

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

There are a number of conditions that are commonly referred to as "arthritis." The most severe form of the disease is the destructive and disfiguring type called rheumatoid arthritis, which causes painful, swollen joints, particularly those of the hands and feet.

Back around 1912, I had as a patient a lovely woman who had had a severe attack of rheumatoid arthritis, which had severely deformed the joints in her hands, and then "burned it self out," so that she no longer had the pain. I then found an able orthopedist to operate and remodel the deformed joints in her fingers, so that she was able to use her hands again.

This type of reconstructive surgery has been done for years, but in a release from the Arthritis Foundation, I read that in the past 10 years, the number of surgical operations for the treatment of arthritis has increased tenfold.

There are several things that a surgeon can do. He can remove diseased SYNOVIA (a sort of cushiony membrane lining a joint) and can separate the ends of two bones that have become fused together. He may also cut away part of an overgrown bone, or reconstruct a badly deformed joint or he may fuse a joint in order to relieve pain and restore some function.

Dr. A. B. Swanson, of Grand Rapids, Michigan, has operated on hundreds of finger joints. He removes stiffening material that has grown there, and often he puts in "silicone rubber" joint-like implants.

Now there is also an operation in which the total hip joint, when it is hopelessly diseased and full of pain, can be remade. Sometimes the hip joint of an elderly person is so roughened that walking will hurt a great deal.

Today, due to research, particularly by Dr. Charnley, of England, the surgeon puts a new metal globular and smooth head on top of the hip-bone and fits this into a smooth-surfaced cup made of a hard polyethylene (wax-like) chemical. The cup is glued into a recess in the hip bone. Because the new surfaces of the hip joint are perfectly smooth, the person can usually walk out of the hospital without the old pain and limp.

Another part of the body that suffers much, often in football players, is the knee joint. It is exposed to injury because it bears almost all of the body's weight, and sometimes it gets severely bumped and is injured.

Recently, I have read of many football heroes who have had to have their knee joints operated on.

Also, persons who are bow-legged or knock-kneed can sometimes have these defects repaired by a good orthopedic surgeon.

As the release from the Arthritis Foundation points out, surgery per se will never solve every arthritic's problem once and for all. Physicians emphasize that rheumatoid arthritis is a disease of the whole body, although it shows itself most severely in the joints. The surgery may relieve a maddening pain, restore the function of joints, improve appearances of the joints, and enable the patient to take care of himself and go back to earning a living, which is so very important. It may also stop further destruction of a joint. But unfortunately, surgery does not cure arthritis.

Just why rheumatoid arthritis comes, no one as yet knows. Many scientists think it may be one of the so-called "collagen" diseases, in which the body for some reason produces antibodies that attack its own tissues and joints, as if they were foreign substances, such as a germ. In a sense, the body has become "allergic" to itself.

I have seen cases in which a severe emotional shock has brought out a bad case of rheumatoid arthritis. For example, an eminent professor of medicine, a dear friend of mine, got into a quarrel with his dean, and became so upset that he promptly got a rheumatoid arthritis in his hands. Later, when he took another position in a distant city, he was well.

There are drugs that are used in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis. Cortisone and cortisone-like drugs can work a miracle of healing, but because they can do harm, their use must be watched by an expert physician. Sometimes gold salts help, but they also can do harm.

The Arthritis Foundation is located at 1212 Avenue of the Americas, New York, N. Y. 10036.

One of the causes of low back pain is an arthritis of the joints between the several vertebrae of the spinal column. If you would like to learn more about the causes and treatments of low back pain, send for Dr. Alvarez' booklet by that name. Just sent 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY

HONEYMOON

The wedding bells rang, the bride was radiant, the groom's mother cried, just a little, and the maid of honor caught the bouquet. It was a perfect wedding, and the honeymoon has been ideal.

Tomorrow, this young couple will be going home to begin a new way of life. In it, reality will be combined with romance. There will be the blending of two temperaments under a single roof. There will be all the frustrations of daily living, and the pain as well as the pleasure that comes with just being alive.

How will they adjust? That depends on the basics that were taught to them years ago, in their own homes—and in church.

Walbro adds company, electronic fuel pump to product line

The Walbro Corporation of Cass City, Michigan, one of the country's foremost manufacturers of electric fuel pumps and carburetors, has added to its product line with the purchase of certain assets of Conelec Inc., of Elmira, New York.

The chief prize obtained in the purchase is the Conelec Electronic Fuel Pump, a government approved, high-performance fuel pump designed, engineered and patented by Conelec.

Lambert E. Althaver, executive vice-president of Walbro, said that the Conelec fuel pump will be manufactured in Cass City. The property and buildings in Elmira will be sold, he added.

Althaver said: "We bought a product line in an advanced state of the art. It gives us an opportunity to go after new markets and it complements our present line of fuel pumps. We think very highly of the Conelec product."

Walbro was founded in 1950 and has experienced steady growth and expansion since that time. The main manufacturing operation and corporate headquarters were moved to Cass City from Fenton, Michigan, in 1954 and the company now operates several plants in the area.

An independent, closely-held company, Walbro currently employs about 400 persons in Cass City and surrounding communities. Its two main products are electric fuel pumps, which are sold primarily in the automobile aftermarket and to original equipment manufacturer accounts, and small engine carburetors used in chain saws, snowmobiles, outboard motors, lawn and garden equipment.

Victor Guernsey, a vice president of Walbro in charge of fuel pump marketing, is enthusiastic about the new product. "This is one of only two electronic fuel pumps officially approved by the Army Transport Automotive Command," he said, "and it provides us with an additional product in the high-performance market."

Mr. Guernsey said the Conelec Electronic Fuel Pump is trouble free and has only one moving part, a spring and plunger unit which travels in precise one-dimensional motion within a brass tube. He said that the fuel pump does not use contact points, but that its entire electronic section, which includes printed circuitry, transistors and diodes, is permanently encapsulated in epoxy plastic. "This pump is totally submersible -- all closures being both fluid and vapor tight -- and can be installed within the gas tank, as well as along the fuel line."

Senior citizens see Welk show

Thirty-eight members of the Senior Citizens Club of Cass City attended the Lawrence Welk show at the Saginaw Civic Center Saturday evening.

Alma Seeger and Marie Roch were chairmen for the outing. A bus picked the group up in Cass City at 6:00 p. m. and they returned at midnight.

Fortunately most mistakes are not noticed or are overlooked.

New engineer joins Walbro

Ben Charboneau has joined Walbro Corporation's Fuel Pump Division as Project Engineer. His appointment, which became effective early this year, was announced by L. E. Althaver, Executive Vice-President.

At Walbro, Charboneau will be working on fuel pump development.

Previously, he worked on developing two electronic voltage regulators for snowmobile electric starters at Sno-Start Inc., Prescott, Michigan; and at Applied Dynamics in Ann Arbor, Michigan, he designed a logic card tester which was used to test the control cards of the AD-5 analog computer.

BEN CHARBONEAU

Charboneau studied at Lake Superior State College and received a Bachelor of Science degree in Electrical Engineering from University of Michigan. He is a member of the Institute of Electrical and Electronic Engineers.

Charboneau, his wife and one child reside in Cass City.

Five receive MSU degrees will start working July 1 for Westinghouse Electric in Pittsburgh.

Comment is a 1968 graduate of Owen-Gage High School. Nancy J. Good, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Good Jr. of Gagetown has earned a BS degree in retail textiles and clothing. She will start work for Marshall Field, Chicago, Aug. 1.

Before accepting her new duties she is spending five weeks in Europe to visit students there who visited at her Gagetown home.

While at MSU, Miss Good was hostess at Kellogg Center for three years when special events were held in the hotel's State Room. She graduated from Owen-Gage in 1968.

THOMAS MALECK

Village of Cass City

Special Meeting

A special joint meeting between the Village Council of Cass City, the Village Planning Commission and Mr. Chuck Cairns, a professional planning consultant from Vilcan-Leman and Associates of Southfield, Michigan, was held on June 7, 1972 at 7:00 p. m. at the Municipal Building. All Village Trustees and Planning Commission members were present along with Clint House, Village attorney.

The purpose of the special meeting was twofold: (1) to consider two applications for rezoning to allow the construction of a proposed skilled nursing home in Cass City; and (2) to consider the recommended changes in the proposed zoning ordinance relative to the change in off-street parking requirements.

The meeting began with a discussion with Mr. Cairns, on his professional advice as to which site for the proposed nursing home would be in the best interest of the Village.

As both sites are presently zoned single family residential, it was Mr. Cairns' recommendation that the Donahue land would be the best site as the Hills and Dales No. 3 site has several single family dwellings already established and a secondary thoroughfare could more easily serve the Donahue site. It was also Mr. Cairns' suggestion that if the Donahue land was the preferred site for the nursing home that the zoning ordinance should be amended to change the zoning of the land to a special purpose district.

Following considerable discussion between Mr. Cairns, the Council, Planning Commission and several interested citizens, a motion was made by Trustee Bliss that the Council by written ballot establish a preference for one of the two proposed sites. Motion carried. It was the unanimous vote of the Council by written ballot that the Donahue land be the preferred site for the proposed skilled nursing home in Cass City and that the nursing home developer, the subdividers and the Village Consulting Engineers try to determine site planning and utility services.

As petitions have been presented to the Council for a change in zoning for both the sites, a motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Ross that a Public Hearing be set for June 29, 1972, at 7:00 p. m. at the Cultural Center to act on the two petitions for change of zoning. Motion carried.

The attention of the meeting was then directed to the question of requiring off-street parking to be provided by an individual property owner in the central business district on the occasion of his expanding existing buildings or refurbishing them. It was the recommendation of the planning consultant that this requirement be removed from the ordinance within the B-1, Community Business District since enforcement of the provision would tend to drive businesses out of the central business district.

Following some questions concerning the planning consultant's recommendations, the Council agreed to consider the recommendation of the Planning Commission to eliminate off-street parking in a central business district at the upcoming Public Hearing in order to adopt the proposed Zoning Ordinance in its entirety at one time.

There being no further business a motion was made by Trustee Abbe and supported by Trustee Rawson that the meeting be adjourned.

Tom Rileys move into duplicate "dream house" in Cass City

Moving to a new community for the Tom Rileys is nothing new. They've lived in at least a half-dozen states.

But the move one month ago to Cass City was more like staying home than moving.

That's because their house at the corner of Third and Elchare Streets is an exact duplicate of the home they built in Kentucky, including the color schemes. This way everything fits exactly where it was before and there are no surprises, explained Mrs. Riley.

Riley retired in 1970 as a dental director for the United States Public Health service, a fully uniformed branch of federal personnel.

He worked 30 years in that capacity and has been assigned to Pennsylvania, New York City, Seattle, and Portland, Maine, with the last assignment before his retirement in Nashville, Tenn. Although public health is not part of the armed forces, he held the title of captain.

After living in federal barracks and temporary homes, the Rileys decided to build their own dream house in Murray, Ky. Riley designed the house after much care and consideration for their particular needs and drew up the plans.

He explained that designing houses has been a hobby of his for many years. He never had any formal training but learned the ins and outs on his own, little by little. The house is the only home plan that has seen reality, but three dental clinics he designed have been built by the federal government.

Although the yard of the home is still bare, Riley has drawn up landscaping plans for their new home. He is also a gardener. In Kentucky they planted blue grass, but haven't decided what they'll plant up here yet.

"He worked eight hours a day, from May to September on the lawn," said Mrs. Riley.

One thing they won't plant up here is roses, although they have planted rose bushes all over the country in the various places they have lived. The climate isn't suitable, said Riley.

While the weather isn't good enough for roses, the Rileys said they like Michigan weather. "We like the cold," they both stated.

Riley related he was glad to be retired so he could pursue his interests.

Both are members of the National Wildlife Federation and are avid bird watchers. They haven't had much luck spotting Michigan species but that's because they haven't been able to provide a suitable resting and eating place where the feathered animals won't be disturbed.

Help needed for Artrain

When Artrain rolls into Cass City July 20 for its four-day stay, there will be much more for visitors in the community to see than art works, films, music and live artistic demonstrations on the train.

Although the final schedule has not as yet been printed, many area groups are working on a number of projects which will take place in the community those four days. Participation is still needed in these areas: the art show, craft show, photography show, Craft House at the Dillman School and displays of antiques in the windows of businesses on Main Street.

ART SHOW

The art show will be composed of original watercolor, oil or acrylic paintings, charcoal or ink sketches or drawings, lithographs, silk screens or printing, all of which must be framed or matted, and sculpture. It will be held at the Cultural Center and Mrs. Nada Doerr is chairman. Anyone who would like to exhibit a work is to contact her.

CRAFT SHOW

The craft show will be displayed in the showroom at Auten Motors. It is an open show of crafts including crochets, macramé, embroidery, quilting, jewelry, pottery, handpainted china, crochets, knitting, hand-made furniture, weaving of placemats or shawls, hooked or woven rugs, needlepoint, batik, tie-dye and decoupage. The chairman is Mrs. Marian Rabi-deau.

PHOTOGRAPHY

The photography show will be at the old library and will consist of black and white, tone or color photographs at least 8" by 10" or larger, mounted on stiff board. Chairman Fritz Neitzel heads this show.

There are several basic requirements for the three shows. All work must be original and must be tagged with name, address and telephone number of exhibitor. Only two works can be accepted per person in each category. Exhibits will be accepted Saturday, July 8, from 9:30 to 12 and 1:00 to 4:00 on Monday and Tuesday, July 10-11, from 7 to 9 p. m. at the Cultural Center on Main Street. All three shows are non-juried.

SCHOOL ELECTIONS

Koehler and John Borek, were returned to office.

In Unionville-Sebewaing there were no contests and Milton Baur received 197 votes, Stanley Gettel 184 votes for the four-year terms while Paul Millerwise received 206 votes for the one-year term.

CRAFT HOUSE

The Craft House will be a unique display of crafts and live demonstrations of crafts at the Dillman School, at M-81 and Spence Road. Chairman Mrs. Sharon Erla has a committee of volunteers to clean, paint and make curtains for the old schoolhouse. Anyone interested in demonstrating spinning, weaving, quilting or braiding can exhibit. Volunteers to act as hostesses at the Craft House are needed.

Let 2 large area drains

Two large Cass City drain projects were let Friday morning in the offices of Drain Commissioner Leslie Lounsbury in Caro.

The Center B and Branch drain begins half a mile west of Cass City and runs in a northwesterly direction for a distance of 5.9 miles.

There were 7 bidders for the excavation work with the apparent low bid entered by Lee Dillon and sons of Unionville at a cost of $29,717. The bids ranged up to a high of $71,889. The riprap had 4 bidders in competition with the apparent low bidder, James Corron of Pigeon. His bid was $4,800 and bids ranged to a high of $5,250.

The Beach Manufacturing Company of Charlotte was the low of 6 bidders for the necessary piping with a bid of $7,983.30. Bids rose as high as $10,429.93.

The second drain is the Reid and Branch drain which begins about 3 miles west of Cass City and runs north and then east for 3.8 miles until it junctures with the Center B drain. There were nine bidders for excavation with Easlick Contracting of Sebewaing the apparent low bidder at $12,024.60. Bids ranged up to a high of $24,110.

The low pipe bidder was the Beach Manufacturing Company of Charlotte with a bid of $4,328.88. Of the 7 pipe bidders the high was $8,023.50. A bridge deck is also to be constructed by H. H. Craig of Cass City for $577.17. The excavation work should be underway within a month and completion date for both drains is Dec. 31 of this year.

Not all of the contracts have been firm as yet and so no final estimate was available at press time.

One-house legislature petition drive fails in '72

Those who want to see Michigan adopt a one-house Legislature must wait at least two years to get the job done. The drive launched more than a year ago by State Rep. Joseph Swallow, R-Alpena, is far short of the 300,000 signatures it needed to get on this November's ballot.

The indecision which was rampant in the Legislature for most of last year over the income tax increase and other matters sparks hope in some backers that the drive might yet succeed.

That hope was fanned further early in the effort when the Michigan Jaycees said they'd help circulate the petitions for the one-house drive.

But the steam went out of the movement about the time the first snow hit the state last fall, and it never got back on the track.

There are several reasons for the failure of the campaign to get the one-house issue on the ballot this fall.

The most important centers around money—Swallow just couldn't generate enough of it.

Experts say it costs around $50,000 to conduct a petition drive to place successfully a constitutional amendment on the ballot. That kind of financing just couldn't be found. Nearly all potential sources for support have a stake in legislation, and they couldn't afford to get current legislators mad at them.

Swallow had to rely on $1 and $5 contributions, and there just weren't enough of them to hire the staff required to oversee such a drive and make sure petitions get to those who want them and are collected properly.

A second reason is that the Jaycees were not decisive or unanimous in their efforts to help the drive.

After the state organization voted to help the drive, many local chapters wanted to debate the subject rather than begin immediately to circulate petitions. Some local chapters voted not to go along with the state unit. Most of them just never put much work on it.

Also hurting the drive were the efforts of many legislators who started working on people in their home districts to make sure they didn't help with the petition drive. Many legislators believe that voters would adopt the one-house proposal with glee if it ever got on the ballot, and they worked to make sure it didn't get there.

So now, it's wait till next time as far as the one-house backers are concerned. And they can take some hope and solace from the fact they got further this time than they ever did before.

Gov. William G. Milliken, who has accumulated a quiet spoken "nice guy" image in his years in public life, has been surprising people lately with a much more militant stance on public issues than he has ever taken publicly.

The most notable incident came recently when the Governor pointed out Senate Highways Chairman James Fleming of Jackson and delivered a barrage of criticism at him.

Milliken lambasted Fleming because his committee had failed to do anything with the Governor's transportation package, which passed the House in February. He felt Fleming was only trying to kill the package and said it was time for him to get moving.

Not only that, but the Governor said his public criticism of Fleming was only "one of the levers available to him as Governor, and that he planned to pull however many levers it took to get the bills out."

Aides say his more public demonstrations of displeasure came only after a series of more private attempts failed to produce any action.

"He has talked that toughly in private to other legislators before," said one assistant. "For example, he did it when the package passed the House. It's the first time he has had one legislator stalling like this on such a major issue and as a result became the first time he publicly spotlighted one person like that."

Most of Milliken's problems as Governor have been of his own making -- that is, they have centered around programs such as education reform and transportation reform that he proposed. The proposals, designed to meet mushrooming problems, have called for a great deal of change, something that always meets resistance.

Doe season returns

Tuscola County Commissioners met with Howard "Bing" Green of the Department of Natural Resources Tuesday morning and learned that the department will recommend that area 75 which includes Tuscola county be opened to doe and fawn hunting this fall as has been the case in the last two years.

The biologist's reasons include the numbers of animals in the county's deer herd and the high kill on the highway.

Green told the commissioners that there would be three hundred permits given out this year for antlerless deer. The commission has bitterly opposed antlerless deer hunting in this county and has passed an ordinance against such hunting.

The state says that the ordinance is unenforceable and that the ordinance infringes on the jurisdiction of the Department of Natural Resources.

Local conservation officers have found the incidence of hunting violations much higher since the antlerless deer hunting has been allowed in the county.

The University of Michigan Extension Service offered 547 credit courses last year.

Recreation program to open Monday

The Cass City Summer Recreation Program will swing into action full blast Monday when area youngsters will sign for varied programs offered at the Cass City Recreational Park and at Rolling Hills Golf Course.

Mrs. Charmaine Fahrner announced this week that all students 5-17 are asked to sign at the park and indicate activities interested in. Teams will be formed and tournaments conducted, she said. Also tentatively slated will be roller skating and bowling.

Mrs. Fahrner said that nearly any event that interests enough can be offered. She suggests archery, badminton, basketball, bowling, frisbee, jacks, hula-hoop, nature hikes, roller skating, softball, table tennis, track, trompoline, teen dances, volleyball, shuffle board, horseshoe and croquet as possibilities.

Meanwhile, Coach Tom Woody said that the 9-hole golf league for fifth grade through high school will start Monday at 9. The league is for experienced golfers.

Golfers not playing in the 9-hole league will play on Wednesdays and Fridays Wednesday, June 21, a 5-hole league is planned. It will be for boys and girls with some experience or who participated in the golf instructions last summer.

Friday, June 23, from 10 a. m. to 12 noon beginning golfers will be instructed.

Erla's to meet Flint 9 Saturday

Wednesday was to have been showdown time for Erla's in the National Division of the Thumb Traveling League. That's when they were scheduled to meet undefeated Akron Merchants at Akron.

Akron leads the division and Erla's has lost but once.

Sheriff Marr seeks election

Tuscola County Sheriff Hugh Marr has announced that he will seek his fourth term as head of Tuscola county's top law enforcement agency.

The 59-year-old Republican incumbent was first elected sheriff in 1963 and has been re-elected ever since.

Marr is a native of Mayville and a lifelong resident of the county. For many years he was a Mayville area farmer and for eight years operated a successful livestock business. He also served two years as Dayton township supervisor and has been active in township and county government and the Republican party.

He was first appointed a deputy sheriff in 1958 and for 4 years operated the Tuscola County Drivers License Bureau. A year prior to his first term as sheriff he operated the county jail under former sheriff William Tomlinson.

Rain curtailed play for Erla's. They played one game and won it during the week, a 4-0 decision over Frankenmuth.

Dick Suhr pitched the shutout, striking out 10 and allowing just one hit. Erla's nicked Rauh for eight hits. Leading the way was Wally Hempton with three for three. Elwyn Helwig and John Langhorne picked up two hits each in three tries.

Saturday there will be two games at Cass City Recreational Park pitting Hunt Trucking, an AA team from Flint, against Erla's as part of the Western Round Up fun.

The week's top contest pitted Gagetown against Duffy's, both undefeated. Duffy's scored a run in the last inning to win the Wednesday night game, 1-0.

In the nightcap, Colwood kept pace with its third win without defeat as they pasted Pabst, 10-2.

In games Monday, June 5, Colwood defeated Jack's Bar of Cass City, 6-4, and it turned out to be a sad night for Cass City as the Cass City teachers fell, 12-4, in the second game of the doubleheader.

Pirates win 3; Yanks still lead in Little League

The Pirates stayed on the heels of the Yankees in the Cass City Little League by winning three games last week to boost their record to 4-1 for the season.

The Yanks are undefeated and must still be regarded as the team to beat as the first half of the regular season draws to a close.

PIRATES—CUBS

The Pirates started their victory string with a 13-5 decision over the Cubs who lost three times in all during the week. It was a slugfest match all the way. Bill Shagene went the distance for the winners while Terry Compo, relieved by Steve Meeker, took the loss. Shagene whiffed 13 while allowing seven hits. Compo and Meeker struck out eight and allowed nine hits.

Showing the way for the Pirates was Mike Pine with three hits in four tries while Don Doerr and Compo each picked up two hits for the losers.

YANKES—GIANTS

The Yanks continued to roll with a 12-4 decision over the tail-end Giants. However, the youthful Giants came the closest that any team has to the league leaders this season.

Tim Severance went the distance for the winners and Ernie Stoutenburg hurled all the way for the Giants. Severance picked up three hits in four tries while Terry Vollmer and Dean Severance combined to pick up four hits in four tries as each played part of the game. Mark Hutchinson was two for two for the losers.

ORIOLES—CUBS

In one of the closest games of the year, the Orioles outlasted the Cubs, 12-11, to register their first win of the year.

Rick Hollis pitched the win and Mike Zmierski was charged with the loss. Hollis whiffed 14 and Zmierski, 10.

The Orioles won it in the sixth inning with a three-run rally on just one hit. Walks and errors did the rest.

Kevin Wagg rapped out three hits for the Orioles while Bob Redmond rapped out two hits in three tries for the Cubs, including a triple.

PIRATES—GIANTS

The Pirates came up with a new pitcher against the Giants and he responded with the first shutout of the year, a 7-0 decision.

Dean O'Harris went the distance and struck out 16 while allowing just two hits. Dean Hutchinson and Tom Coleman shared the mound duties for the Giants with Hutchinson taking the loss.

The Pirates picked up just five hits but used eight walks to advantage. Pine with two for three was the only Pirate to get more than one hit. Paul Harmer slammed out both of the Giants' hits.

TIGERS—ORIOLES

The Tigers won a slugfest from the Orioles, 20-10, to even their season's record at 2-2. Ken Martin struck out eight and went the distance. Keith Flap-part started and took the loss for the Orioles.

The Tigers slammed out 11 hits and received 15 walks in the easy win. In the second inning eight runs were scored by the winners. Martin was touched for nine hits by the Orioles.

Flap-part with three hits showed the way for the losers while Chuck Kappen with four hits in five tries led the Tigers' attack.

PIRATES—ORIOLES

The Pirates ended their big week with a 25-5 pasting of the Orioles.

Dean Alexander was the winner. He allowed four hits and struck out 12. Al Pratt started and took the loss for the Orioles. Alexander helped his own cause with two hits in three tries. Rick Hollis led the losers with two for four.

Harness races slated Sunday

The annual matinee harness horse race will be held at the Huron County Fair Grounds in Bad Axe Sunday, June 18, at 2:00 p. m., sponsored by the Huron County Fair and the Northern Michigan Fair and Racing Association.

These races are held so that horses, especially colts, will be trained to work with a starting gate in preparation for the County Fairs racing programs starting in July.

VANDALS ruin another tree.

Police seek vandals for killing village trees

Tree vandals have struck again.

Cass City police received a report Thursday morning, June 8, that a small tree had been broken and another pulled up by the roots in the yard of the Masonic Temple at Garfield and Maple.

The smaller tree was found with one end stuffed into the gasoline tank of a neighboring resident's car. The other was cut at the base.

Both trees were planted by the village. The estimated dollar damage is unknown.

This is the third instance of vandalism to young trees in the last month in the village.

Seven trees were uprooted at the High School in early May after they had been planted there by Harry Little as part of Arbor Day celebration.

Two other young trees that were planted by the village were reported vandalized last week on Seeger St. One was uprooted and another had the top cut off.

Machine age arrives at high school

The machine age has arrived at Cass City Schools.

The Cass City School Board Monday night authorized some $3,000 worth of machines for use by the students and teachers.

The lion's share of the money will go for the purchase of 20 stenograph machines at $135 each. Stenograph machines are used as a shorthand aid and can commonly be seen in use in court rooms by court reporters.

The remainder of the money will be used to purchase a test scoring machine. Designed for true and false and multiple choice questions the students black out spaces to indicate answers and the machine "reads" them in seconds.

The school is buying one machine on a test basis and if it works out several others will probably be needed.

Another cost to the district with machine tests is the paper used. The test papers cost a penny each.

Cass City area men enter pleas

Tuscola county courts were relatively quiet this week with one matter before the District Court and two appearing before Circuit Judge James P. Churchill in Circuit Court.

Bruce Allan Brown of Cass City paid a fine and costs of $30 for possession of firecrackers. Brown was sentenced by District Judge Michael Dionese of Lapeer in the absence of Judge Richard Kern who is on vacation.

In Circuit Court, Frank Holcomb, 19, of Deford, entered a plea of innocent before Judge James P. Churchill to a charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile. June 26 was set as the date for a pre-trial hearing at 2 p. m.

The University of Michigan was the first university in the nation to establish a course in data process in 1929.

Jerry Hartman, 18, of Cass City, entered a plea of guilty to a lesser charge of unlawfully driving away an automobile under the term of "joyriding" rather than theft. He will be sentenced on the lesser conviction July 10 at 1:30 p. m.

Several file for county political posts

The county political pot is beginning to simmer with the filing of petitions by candidates this week. Latest to file was Mrs. Elsie Hicks of Deford as county clerk. She is presently the incumbent clerk. Others are: Third District Commissioner Shuford Kirk of Juniata township; Kenneth Kennedy of the seventh district; Floyd Ducker of Mayville for the fifth district, and Republican candidate for Prosecutor George Holmes. Holmes has been serving as assistant prosecutor under Leo Maki who is running for the newly created representatives position.

Among the commissioners, Shuford Kirk and Floyd Ducker are Republicans while Kenneth Kennedy, serving the southwestern corner of the county, is the Commission's lone Democrat.
