

Provincial Homes refuses proposed Donahue site

Unless immediate positive steps are taken a proposed $1 million skilled nursing home will not be built in Cass City.

That's the word from Richard Palms, a vice-president of Provincial Homes, Inc. after a conference with other members of the company's board of directors Thursday.

In a statement released to President Lambert Althaver and to the Chronicle Palms reported that his company has decided to abandon plans for building a facility in Cass City unless the community shows a definite desire to have it located at a site in Hills and Dales subdivision.

The announcement came after a lengthy session at the Cass City Cultural Center Thursday evening.

Officially the meeting was called to consider two requests to change the zoning in the "Donahue" site, between the Cass City Recreational Park and Cass City High School, and in Hills and Dales number 3.

Unofficially, the meeting served as a public forum to try and locate the nursing home in the Donahue site, under terms Provincial would accept.

The village and Dr. H. T. Donahue made concessions to Provincial that would have reduced the cost substantially over the estimated $80,000 that the facility originally would cost to build in the Donahue site as compared to the Hills and Dales site.

On the advice of the village engineer, it was decided that a holding pond could be erected in place of a regular storm sewer, at a large cost reduction. Dr. Donahue said that he would build the retaining pond.

The village agreed to allow a road to be built from Rose Street north to the proposed site without curb and gutter, reducing this cost some $16,000.

However, when all the concessions were compiled, Palms reported that the cost of the site would be $15,000 greater than the cost at the company's preferred site in Hills and Dales, north of the present hospital.

PRESENT FACTS

President Althaver presented information showing that recent facilities in Alpena and Marshall were further from general hospitals than the Donahue site from Hills and Dales Hospital and that more money had been spent for site development at these locations than was proposed in Cass City.

Palms explained that Alpena and Marshall were larger cities and that Provincial had made a business judgement to invest based on its surveys of the potential of the areas.

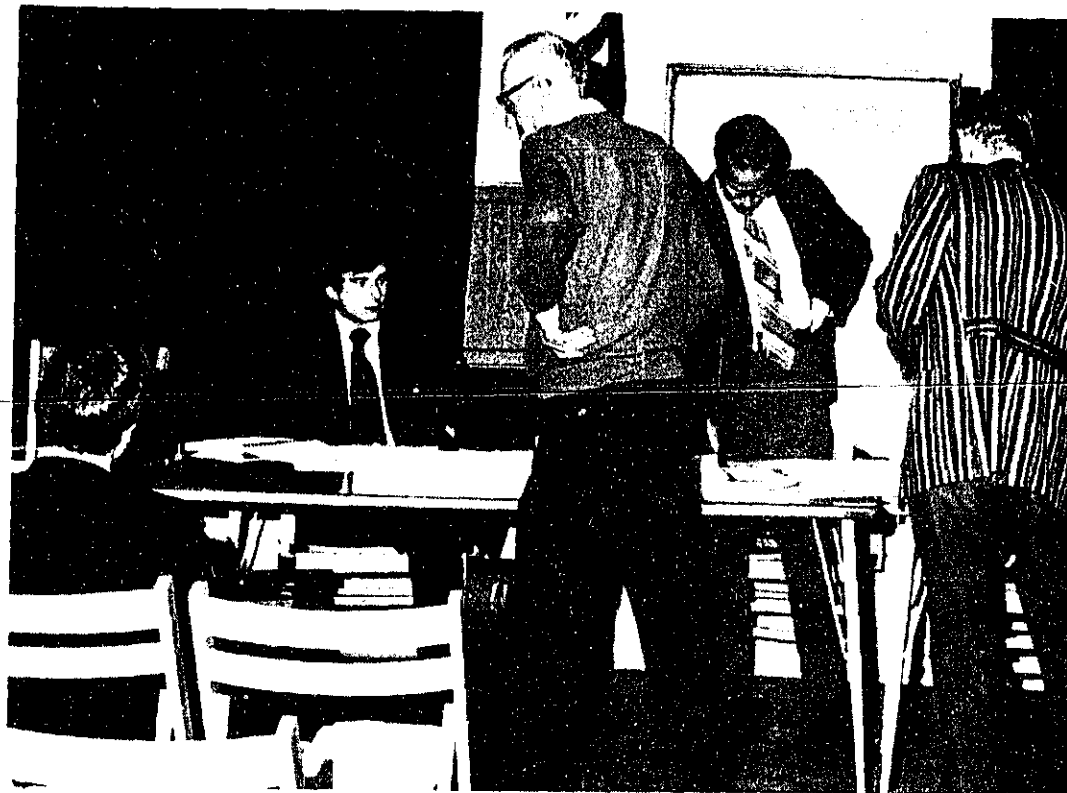

medical facility was illegal, when asked by Palms.

Clifford Croft, who lives on Hill Street in Hills and Dales, reported that the Hills and Dales site would remove many choice building lots within the village when lots like this are becoming scarce.

Meanwhile the village planner reiterated that of the two locations under consideration he considered the Donahue site the better of the two locations, although neither is considered ideal.

After the public meeting the council mulled the affair in private with Palms and then announced that they were ready to act on the Donahue site if Provincial accepted.

Now that Provincial has definitely refused the Donahue site, Cass City's lone remaining hope for the facility is the Hills and Dales site.

Village hires new top man

Cass City's recently hired new village superintendent will begin work July 24, filling a $12,500 a year post that has been vacant for about 2 months.

Hired for the position was Lou S. La Ponsie, 39, who is currently street commissioner in L'Anse, a town of 2538 in the Upper Peninsula, a post he's held four years.

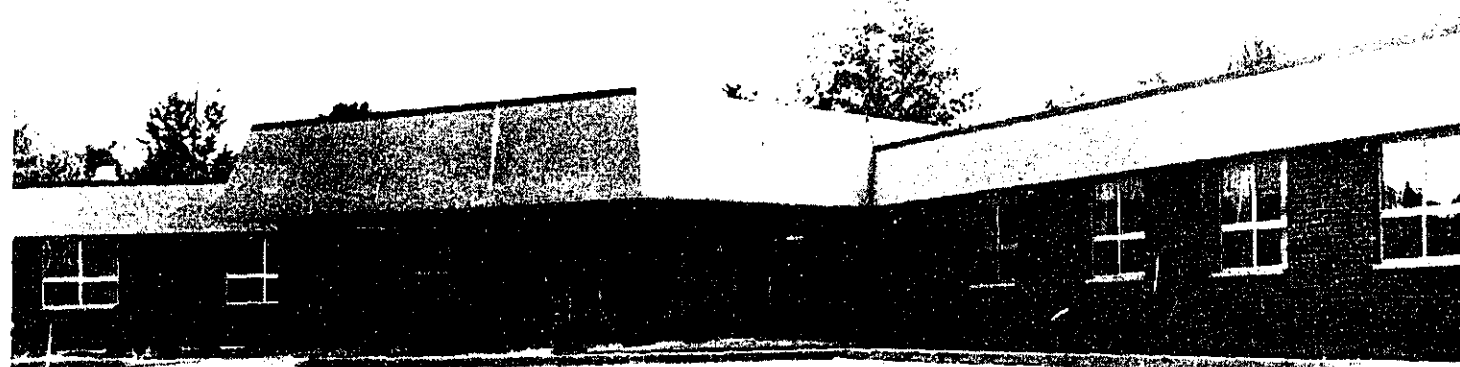

He has a heavy background in engineering and is in charge of planning, organizing and supervising public works activities and personnel, and construction and maintenance of streets, sidewalks, sanitary sewers, and parks in L'Anse.

La Ponsie has also been responsible for drawing scale plans of the various projects under public works, estimating the budget for the general and highway fund and representing the village in all transactions with the State Highway Commission.

He also has experience as a blacktop superintendent, a highway construction inspector, and engineering aide for the Michigan Department of State Highways.

The new superintendent is a graduate of Ruyard High School in 1950 and since then has studied at the Prairie Bible Institute, Alberta, Canada, and attended field schools for 11 years sponsored by the Michigan Department of State Highways.

La Ponsie will come to Cass City with his wife and several children. He replaces Jim Blades who resigned in April.

THIS IS PROVINCIAL HOUSE in Midland. An exact copy of this facility would be erected in Cass City if a site can be secured. The $1 million skilled nursing home is all air conditioned and features the most up-to-date equipment available. Other pictures of the facility appear on page 14.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

It's nitty-gritty time for Cass City and the proposed $1 million skilled nursing home that can still be built here if the village council gives the word.

Everyone that's followed the progress of negotiations is aware of it.

Already there has been name calling, unreasoned talk and stupid unsigned crank letter threats about progress. What we don't need here is angry recriminations. Some of the persons trying to steer the nursing home to the Donahue site have long, enviable records in service to Cass City. So do backers of the Hills and Dales site.

We are now down to a matter of priorities. The question is do we want the facility in Cass City at Hills and Dales or do we want it to go elsewhere? All else is extraneous.

President Lambert Althaver said that the council has to consider the village at large and the investments of property owners in Hills and Dales subdivision.

No matter which way it goes for individual trustees the decision is a dilemma. Somebody's going to be unhappy. It should be remembered that up to this point the council was acting on the advice of professional planners in favoring the Donahue site over the Hills and Dales site. They have been doing their job.

Two property owners most nearly adjacent to the facility in Hills and Dales are Mike Weaver and Richard Hampshire. Both have indicated that they do not object to the building under the conditions proposed. It's likely that both would rather it wasn't, but both have agreed because they do not want the facility to leave the community.

What's more this has been their stand since the issue first started.

What the council must consider now is how much weight home owners who object to the proposal in areas peripheral to the location but still in the subdivision should carry and how many of them there are.

It's the opinion here that any referendum advisory ballot would be overwhelmingly in favor of allowing the nursing home to enter.

There's another issue here that's never talked about in official meetings, but is as important as the facts in determining attitudes.

It's a problem that comes more frequently in small towns. It's what's happened before. Old scores to settle. Personal animosities favoring decisions.

They can't be forgotten. To ask it is naive.

But we should do it as much as we can. Make an effort to forget who owns what or who may benefit individually.

We should come up with a decision based on what is best for the community over the long haul.

Certainly in a financial sense, the facility will be a boon. Certainly there is a crying need for the service it provides.

Certainly it will disrupt the orderly growth of the village as envisioned by the planners. . . and will do so no matter where it is placed within the village limits.

Utopia would be for Provincial Homes to build on M-81 just on the outskirts of the village. But we can't have Utopia here, now.

We can have the nursing home if we want it bad enough. The opinion here is it's worth what it takes to get it.

LEGAL QUESTION

Forrest Walpole, an associate of Clinton House, who is village attorney and also lives in Hills and Dales subdivision, said that there may be a legal question about changing the zoning. The zoning in both the Donahue and the Hills and Dales sites are the same - single family residential.

Walpole said that he felt that changing the zoning in Hills and Dales was more shaky legally than in the Donahue site.

Walpole acknowledged that he could not cite a single instance when a lawsuit determined that rezoning for a

Estimate $5,000 loss in fire at Law home

An estimated $5000 damage was done to the Clinton Law home Thursday morning, June 29, when fire broke out in the living room of the residence one mile east and four miles north of Cass City on Schwegler Road.

Mrs. Law was alone in the home sleeping when she was awakened about 8:30 a. m. by the sound of a picture window breaking. She called the fire department from a home about three-fourths mile away because her own line was not working.

Elkland township firemen responded to the call at 8:41 and worked in a driving rain to extinguish the blaze.

Assistant Fire Chief Jim Jezewski reported that most of the damage was confined to the carpet and a chair in the living room, although smoke damage was extensive throughout the home.

The ceiling and wall were scorched and the curtains consumed.

Cause of the fire is thought to be faulty wiring.

Working every day at 91 no big deal for Bill Englehart

By John Haire

Like a rare old wine, the taste of life is still great for Bill Englehart of Deford and he's taking a daily sip of it with gusto.

Maybe not as big a gulp as he did in his younger days, but still a bigger swallow than most folks do who are years younger.

Friday was Bill's birthday. He was 91 years old.

Thursday was a wet, cold rainy day and Deford's senior, senior citizen was holed up in his rocker in the living room. . . and not liking it.

What he wanted to do was to be out working on his farm on Englehart Road, a mile north of Deckerville Road, not sitting talking with a young (to him) foolish reporter.

"What do you want to talk to me for?" he asked. "I was born and I'm living and that's about all I can tell you."

For Englehart it wasn't at all remarkable that most every nice day he's out in the field discing or cutting hay on the family 120-acre farm.

Or that, together with his wife, milking five head of cattle every morning and night.

After all he's been doing it for 80 years or so.

Perhaps not with quite the gusto of former years. The herd has been cut in half and this fall may see the end of the dairy operation.

But already Bill is figuring that maybe he can plant 15 acres of wheat next year to make up for the loss.

Naturally, when you have been in one area for as long as Englehart, you note changes. Bill moved to the Deford area from Cleveland when nine months old. He returned for a short period when a youngster and then came back for good.

He can remember a booming Deford. Three blacksmiths, a couple of hay sheds, stores. . . it was never a boom town, but it used to be a lot more active than it is now.

Things come and go, he sighed. I remember when they had two big potato cellars south of Deford and the potato buyers would come in and buy the crop.

That's the only way we could keep them then, he said. We didn't plant so many but we got good yields. . . 200-bushel-to-the-acre crops.

He also can recall farming as it used to be with horses. Had one of the finest teams in the area. Englehart recalled with nostalgia. Those horses would work and you never even had to touch them with the reins.

The Engleharths have a tractor now. It's the first and only tractor that the farm has seen. It probably will last as long as the pioneers work the farm.

Unlike some oldsters, Bill doesn't feel that the old ways are necessarily the best.

He hasn't much respect for the old Crawford school, for instance. I went there and never learned a thing, he snorted. Then I moved back to Cleveland and really was able to learn. Good thing they closed that old school, he added.

Englehart hasn't many memories of epochal events in his life.

Just one that still has any meaning for him. That was 1940 when he got married. That was the greatest thing that ever happened to me. That's when I started living, he said, with a contented glance at his wife who smiled quietly as if she's heard this all before.

With that, Bill rocked a little harder and looked out the window as if to wish the rain away so he could get back to the fields.

After all there was still work to be done.

Injuries reported in cycle crashes

The Fourth of July holiday was unmarred by any serious accidents in the county.

David Asher, 23, of Pontiac, and a former Cass City resident suffered a broken collar bone when he lost control of a motorcycle in the trails of Deford Swamp. He was taken to Hills and Dales Hospital shortly after the mishap about 5 p. m. Sunday.

Karla Marilyn Stine, 18, 4709 N. Cedar Run Road, Cass City, escaped injury when she lost control of the car she was driving on E. Cass City Road near Hurds Corner Road and over-turned the vehicle.

The mishap occurred about 9:10 p. m. when an animal ran in front of the car, which had been hidden by hills on both sides of the road, Tuscola county sheriff's reports indicated.

Steven Harold Pointer, 21, Utica Road, Utica, was treated for bruises and cuts sustained when he lost control of a motorcycle on Shabbona Road, 1/2 mile west of Kingston Road, Saturday. He was taken to Hills and Dales Hospital following the 4:30 p. m. accident.

Dalbert Neil Wright, 27, Cumber Road, Uby, was arrested for driving under the influence of liquor following a two-car accident Thursday night, June 29, when Wright backed out of a parking stall on Leach Street and into a truck driven by Ronald Lewis Griffor, 38, Harrison. The accident occurred at 3:40 p. m., according to Cass City Police.

Another minor accident was investigated at 9:25 p. m. that day when Lisa Louise Champion, 16, 6235 Main St., Cass City, made a turn from Main Street onto Oak Street and ran into the parked car of Luis H. Salas, Cass City, pushing the car part way onto the sidewalk. There were no injuries.

Two men were treated at Hills and Dales Hospital Sunday following a motorcycle-auto accident on Bay City-Forestville Road, three-tenths mile east of Grassmere Road.

Injured were Richard Depper, 23, of Uica, operator of the cycle, and Solomon Christner, 58, of Gagetown, driver of the car. Both were released Monday morning.

State Police from the Bad Axe Post said the motorcycle was stopped and was hit in the rear by the car. Both were west-bound. Police are still investigating.

DON'T THINK that all Bill Englehart does is sit in this rocker. He works every day.

"If It Fitz..."

Why I don't grow sideburns

BY JIM FITZGERALD

And then I wrote... It was my teenage daughter who complained that I am the only man in the nation who is not letting his sideburns grow. There is a reason, I have queer sideburns. So far, only my barbers have known for sure. Why should I let the whole world see?

Honest, I think those other guys look great with hair down their cheeks. They look like Scarlett O'Hara is waiting for them to come home — and they're not sure they'll go, the dogs. But such cavalier grooming is not for me. You see, ever since I can remember, I've had this thing...

"Hey Mac," said my barber to the 2 other barbers, "look at this kid. I never saw anything like it before. His hair grows straight down the left side and straight back on the right. Run across the street and tell Curley to c'mere. I want him to see this."

And that's how it's been all my life. I need a haircut on the left side 2 weeks earlier than I need it on the right. My left ear is covered with shaggy hair while my right ear is bare. That right ear has been washed twice as much as the other one.

When haircut money was hard to come by, I naturally didn't go to the barber until the right side needed it. In the meantime, Mother had me wear a peaked cap tilted rakishly over my left ear. In school, capless, I did my first elbow-bending. I put my left elbow on my desk and rested the left side of my head in the palm of my left hand. I even maintained this protective coloration while walking between classrooms. People stared but I told them I had an earache.

The ideal arrangement, of course, would have been to get 1 haircut in 2 installments. For a $1 haircut, I'd pay 50 cents for the left side on the first Saturday of the month, and the other 50 cents for the right side the third Saturday. But I could never find a barber to go along with this. Generally speaking, they are a surly lot. On their feet too much, I guess.

I have been in several friendly barbershops in my time. When I was a teenager, my favorite trimmer was named Milliken. He had several pool tables in the rear of his establishment. A guy didn't mind waiting to get his haircut if he could pass the time playing 9-ball. The only trouble was that I frequently lost and, by the time Milliken said I was "next," the haircut money was gone. I would pull the cap over both ears, and have 2 earaches, until the next payday.

After World War II, when I was a crusty veteran, I discovered the barbershop in the ancient Harrington Hotel in Port Huron. It was across a basement hall from the taproom. A guy could wait his turn at the bar. I used to go downtown for a haircut on Saturday morning and get back home Sunday morning. I kept generously allowing people to go ahead of me. "I'm in no hurry," I'd explain, "I'm waiting for my right side to catch up with my left side."

But I digress. I started to explain to my daughter why her square old man doesn't let his sideburns grow. It is because I would look lopsided. The left sideburn would grow down toward my chin while the right sideburn grew across my ear. To compensate, I would have to lower the heel on my right shoe. It is bad enough that I must buy a whole haircut when I only need half of it. I can not also afford special shoes.

Because she started it all, I am going to make my daughter read all this wisdom. And she'll say, "Boy, what a dumb column."

Well, I can't save the world every week. Onward and Upward.

Mrs. Maurice L. Taylor

Mary Kathryn Hillaker and Maurice Lee Taylor, both of Cass City, were united in marriage Saturday, June 17, in a 7:30 p. m. candle light ceremony at the First Baptist Church, Cass City.

The Rev. Lloyd Streeter, pastor, officiated. The church was decorated with baskets of gladioli and palm trees.

The bride wore a gown with an imported rose chantilly lace bodice and flare skirt of organza. A Queen Anne neckline and bishop sleeves accented her attire. Her chapel length matching mantilla was edged in rose chantilly lace and secured by a Juliet cap.

She carried a bouquet of yellow roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

Maid of honor was Karen Hillaker, sister of the bride, of Cass City. She wore a chiffon gown over taffeta with a ruffled bodice, bishop sleeves and roll collar. A satin belt tied with a bow in back adorned the print skirt.

She carried a basket of yellow and white daisies and baby's breath.

Bridesmaids were Miss Libby Hillaker, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Rona Hillaker, sister-in-law of the bride, and Miss Sherry Hillaker, sister of the bride, who served as junior bridesmaid. All are of Cass City.

The attendants wore gowns like the maid of honor.

Best man was John Shagena, brother of the groom, of Cass City. Groomsmen were Larry Shagena, brother of the groom, and Jack Hillaker, brother of the bride, both of Cass City. Junior groomsmen were Timothy Babich, nephew of the groom, of Deford.

Ushers were Elwyn Helwig, uncle of the bride, and Bernard Babich, brother-in-law of the groom.

Rev. Dale Sherry was soloist and Donald Greenleaf was organist.

A reception for 300 guests immediately followed the ceremony in the church basement.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Taylor, 6351 Greenland Road, Cass City, is a draftsman at Walbro.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hillaker, 6350 Greenland Road, Cass City, and is also employed with Walbro.

Following a wedding trip to northern Michigan, the couple will make their home on N. Cemetery Road. They will move in the fall to Pontiac where the groom will attend Midwestern Baptist College, where he is studying for the ministry.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Regular readers of this trivia will recall that we tried in vain to find out why the white lines in the middle of the highway were being repainted yellow.

Two readers put us straight in a hurry. Mrs. Connie McNaughton called attention to a Reader's Digest article about it (June issue) and Mrs. Donna Ballard wrote to needle me a bit from far off Beulah. Yes, that's in Michigan.

Anyway, the pair explained that the new yellow lines are replacing white to conform with Federal standards.

Jim Hyde said that they were doing it all over the state because the yellow was easier to see at night.

That may be true, too.

Bill Kritzman of Cass City scored the first hole-in-one ever recorded on number one hole at Sherwood Forest Country Club Monday afternoon.

The report is that there were about 10 persons around the tee or green when the shot was fired and none saw it roll into the cup. The thought was that it rolled over the green and the foursome of Ken Eisinger, Gary Christner and Phil Retherford looked for several minutes before someone decided to check the cup.

Incidentally, that may have been Bill's only good shot of the match. He says that he shot a (horrible for him) 40 for the round.

Shoppers took their chances when they came to town Monday. An unofficial count was that about as many stores were closed as were open.

Those open Monday report that business wasn't rushing. They should have been open on the Fourth of July when, as usual, you could fire a cannon down Main without hurting anyone.

I haven't seen it, but Mrs. Evelyn MacRae says that she received an unsigned letter threatening her about the proposed skilled nursing home for Cass City. Mrs. MacRae believes that the facility should not be allowed in Hills and Dales subdivision.

In any controversial issue worms like this letter writer come out of the woodwork with garbage like this. At the Chronicle we probably average one or more unsigned letters a week.

They carry no weight with us and I'm sure they carry none with any of the persons who received them this week.

BETTER HEALTH

She had 69 children

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

"The Guinness Book of World Records," published in Dublin, is a most interesting book, filled with remarkable information. It has been so popular that more than five million copies have been put out, and it has been translated into at least 11 languages.

Recently, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, Richard Armour, Ph.D., wrote an article about the curious facts Guinness has collected about medicine. For example, Dr. Armour's first note is about the most infectious and fatal of all diseases—pneumonic (lung-form) plague. This disease has a death rate of 99.99 per cent.

Also uniformly fatal is the disease that recently was found among the members of a very primitive tribe in New Guinea. It is called kuru, or "laughing sickness," and it is 100 per cent fatal. As yet, it has not spread beyond the one tribe.

Another interesting piece of information is that the greatest recorded amount of blood given for transfusion was 933 pints, received by a hemophilic (a person born with a tendency to bleed because his blood lacks an important clotting factor). This exchange of blood was performed at the Wadley Blood Center in Dallas, over a period of six months.

A champion blood donor in the course of 37 years gave 597 pints of blood.

The Guinness editors scoff at many of the tales of super-centenarians. For instance, they doubt the story of a Chinese man who said he was born in 1680, and according to report, lived to be 256 years old. The Guinness editors think that the oldest man was a French Canadian who at death was 113 years and 124 days old.

ASTOUNDING is the statement that a Russian woman once produced 69 children; she had 16 pairs of twins, 7 sets of triplets and 4 sets of quadruplets. Another record of multiple births was that of a woman who, in 1900, had nonuplets (nine children born at one time).

Dr. Armour quotes a number of other curious facts. For example, the largest kidney stone ever removed was taken from an 80-year-old woman in London in 1952; it weighed 13 pounds, 14 ounces.

The oldest authenticated case of child-bearing was that of a woman in California who gave birth to a daughter when she was 57 years and 129 days old. Few women give birth to a child after the age of 45.

I was amazed to read about a fat man named Robert E. Hughes, who weighed 1,069 pounds. When he died at the age of 32, he had to be buried in a piano case that was lowered into the grave with the help of a crane.

A record of reduction of weight was made by a man who, from December 1866 to August 1967, kept on a diet of 300 to 600 calories per day. With this, he succeeded in bringing his weight down from 427 pounds to 130 pounds.

The ablest drinker of liquid seems to have been a Londoner who is said to have drunk 35,688 bottles of port, averaging four a day, until his death at the age of 61.

Another Englishman claimed to have won the record for taking pills: between the years 1794 and 1816, he took a total of 226,934 pills. In his worst year, when he felt especially sick, he took 51,590 pills. He also drank 40,000 bottles of medicine, or 4,312 more than his compatriot's bottles of port. And yet he managed to live to the respectable age of 65.

The most remarkable record of hiccups was that of a Los Angeles man whose attack lasted almost eight years, during which time he hiccuped more than 160 million times. In my years in medicine I have known only a very few men who kept hiccuping for a week or 10 days. I cured them with a dose of a barbiturate that gave them a much needed night's sleep. When they woke the next day, they were well.

Construction booms in Cass City

Dollar value of construction in Cass City has nearly doubled in the last 12 months according to a comparison of building permits issued for the periods July 1971-72 and July 1970-71.

Forty-four permits were issued, with five for commercial and 10 for new residential buildings.

Commercial construction represented about two-thirds of the 193.5 per cent rise, with $665,865 going into business construction.

The largest commercial venture was the $493,315 addition to Hills and Dales General Hospital, almost as much as all of last year's construction valued at $479,125. The addition to the hospital resulted in two additional wings and remodeling of an original wing, adding 14,600 square feet of floor space.

The other large commercial undertakings were an $80,000 warehouse for Bauer Candy and the $87,400 Elkland township firehall.

All five commercial permits were issued in the latter half of 1971 and number less than the year before.

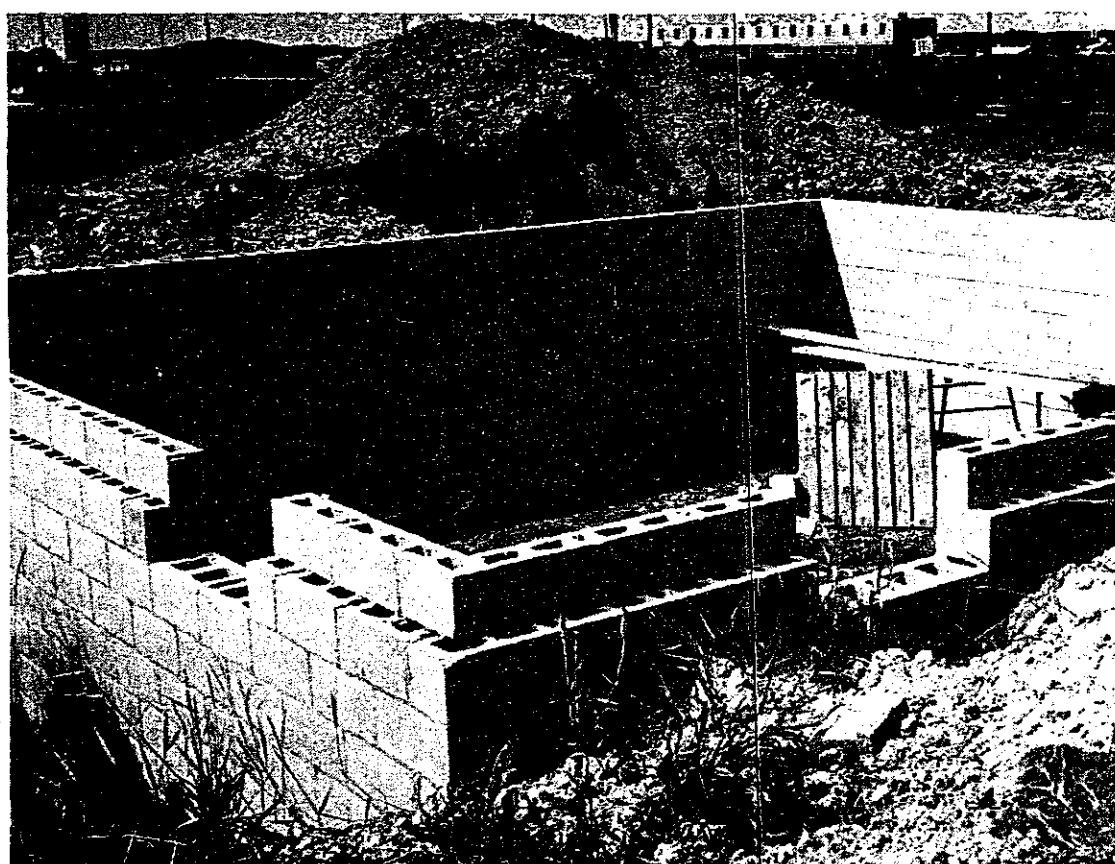

Single-family residential permits numbered eight, exactly half the number issued last year, although residential buildings was boosted by the construction of two 4-unit apartment buildings at a cost of $42,000 each.

Total dollar value for residential building was $271,425.

Building is expected to continue strong with the anticipated construction of a $175,000 village swimming pool and recreation building, which is hoped to be started by the end of 1972.

Preliminary plat plans have also been approved for a 20 lot subdivision on the south-east corner of the village.

The building business also received a boost with the adoption of the BOCA Basic Building and Plumbing codes, part of a group of nationally known codes setting minimum standards for building, which replaced out-dated codes established in 1947.

HILLS AND DALES Subdivision, a prime residential area, has another new home just started on Virginia Drive.

Installing Link Fencing? Here Are Points To Review

While many homeowners who buy chain link fencing have plans to erect it themselves, the majority hire someone else to do it.

Only 15 per cent of chain link fence installations are done by the property owners themselves, according to industry-wide survey figure.

"Homeowners choose chain link fencing," explains Wayne S. Mergott, national merchandise manager for Sears fencing lines, "because it's durable, it offers excellent protection and it increases property values. And to make the most of a long-term investment, they'd rather trust the installation job to qualified hands."

He recommends the following installation steps for chain link fencing:

- Make sure the desired locations of fence lines, gates and terminal posts don't exceed property boundaries. Then lay out the job, using offset stakes and stretch lines to determine locations of end, corner and gate posts. Plan to set posts at least six inches inside property boundary lines, to allow extra space for concrete foundations.
- In determining post locations, start with terminal posts, which are used at ends, gates and corners. Next, fix locations for line posts. Be sure gate posts are set for the actual opening.
- Measure and mark posts with chalk to insure the proper length of post will extend above ground level when they are set in the ground. Terminal posts should be set so that the tops extend two inches above the fencing fabric. Line posts should be two inches below fabric height.
- Dig post holes wider at the bottom, in a bell-like shape, to prevent the possibility of posts dislodging from frost action. A concrete mixture of one part cement, two parts sand and four parts gravel should be used for footings.
- Set terminal posts first, and cap all post footings with rich cement mortar, crowned above the ground for water drainage.
- After posts are in and concrete has hardened, slip metal tension bands and brace bands onto the terminal posts, and then apply post caps. Put loop caps on the line posts, and connect them by threading the top rail horizontally from one loop to the next.
- To install the chain link fencing fabric, unroll it along the fence line, and secure one end at the terminal post by threading the tension bar vertically through the end of the material and the tension bands.
- Tighten bolts on tension bands, and attach a stretcher bar at least two feet from the other end of the fabric. Support the fencing fabric with wire tied loosely to the top rail.
- Now attach a fence stretcher to the other terminal post and stretcher bar. Apply enough tension to make wires taut without distorting their diamond shapes, and cut the fabric to proper length. Thread another tension bar through the end of the fabric and tension bands, tighten tension band bolts and release tension on the fence stretcher.
- After the entire fencing fabric has been installed, apply hinges to one of the gate posts, hanging the top hinge upside down so that the gate can't be lifted off. Loosen female hinges on the gate frame, and slip them onto male hinges attached to the post.
- Set hinges to allow for full swing of the gate, which usually is hung to swing into the fenced property. Tighten all hinges securely in final position, to help prevent the gate from sagging.

New flooring easy to install

If you're tired of living with an old-fashioned kitchen floor, but have put off doing anything about it because of the expense involved, here's welcome news.

Replacement of worn or outdated resilient flooring isn't the complicated, time-consuming process it used to be. New installation methods have made the job almost as easy as painting a wall.

Today, according to the flooring specialists at Armstrong, almost anyone can install colorful vinyl-asbestos tile directly over existing kitchen linoleum. If the old flooring is smooth and firmly bonded to the subfloor, there's no need to remove it. You simply lay the tile right over the existing flooring.

Pressure Sensitive Backing

What's more, there's no messy adhesive to spread. Many floor tiles now feature a special pressure-sensitive adhesive that's already on the back of each tile. All you do is peel off the protective paper backing, set the tile in place, and press! The new materials bond firmly to almost any type of smooth-surface flooring, as well as unfinished plywood or concrete.

What this means, of course, is that the homemaker can now do over her own kitchen floor at considerably less cost than a professional job. Using the new place-and-press tiles, it's possible to work at your own speed. With no adhesive to worry about, you can stretch the installation out over several days, or finish it all in one session. It's up to you.

First, make sure that the floor to be covered is clean and free of wax or grease. Pry up the molding slightly at the base of the walls so that the tile will slide underneath during installation. To find the starting point for the first tile, carefully follow the measuring and marking instructions included in the tile package. Once the first row of tiles has been laid, you'll find the job goes quickly.

Good Idea

It's always a good idea to keep a few extra tiles on hand for replacement purposes later on. However, if you end up with more tiles than you need, don't throw them away. Self-adhering floor tile is wonderful for resurfacing shelves, countertops, and small tables.

PERSONAL LUXURY

An authentic Turkish steam bath in your own home is now possible. This steam-bath generator is about the size of a medicine cabinet.

SHADE COLORS

Colored window shades for the bathroom give a light, bright appearance, and can be easily color-coordinated with the decor.

Check points for excess home humidity

Too much humidity in the home in summer can be as bad as too little in winter. Excessive moisture in living areas or basements promotes the growth of mold and mildew, can rust metal, cause wood to swell and warp, paint to chip and peel, produce unpleasant odors, and for some may cause personal discomfort.

A portable dehumidifier, however, can provide an inexpensive solution to the humidity problem. A dehumidifier not only can help turn a damp basement into a useful living area, it can also help prevent many costly home repairs and guard valuable possessions against early deterioration.

How to Tell

How can you tell if your home has a humidity problem? Here are some of the common warning signs as cited by the experts at General Electric Company:

- Water pipes and basement walls sweat and drip.
- Water condenses on cool floors, such as in the basement or along the baseboards of homes built on concrete slabs.
- Laundry hung indoors fails to dry.
- Doors and drawers swell and stick.
- There's a constant "musty" odor that deodorizing sprays can't cover up.

Use paneling for economy, looks

There are about a dozen good reasons for wood paneling, but the first one is your budget. Short of Aladdin's lamp, wall paneling is the easiest, least expensive way to change the personality of a too-familiar room.

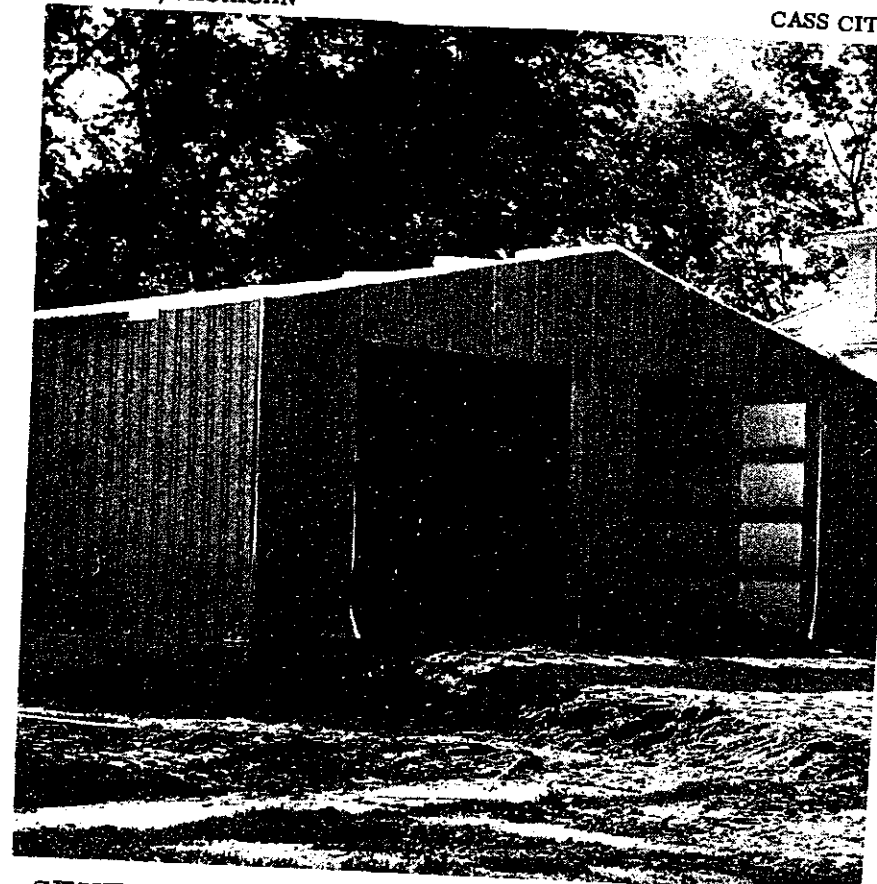

The average-size family room can be paneled for about $50 if you do it yourself. And it's easy. All you need are ordinary tools to install paneling over an existing wall, provided the wall is level and dry.

Sears retail stores feature several varieties of paneling in oak, walnut, birch or mahogany that can be applied in a few hours with nails and adhesives. Even though the retailer devotes catalog space and a special how-to-install booklet to wall paneling, all this exposure hasn't spoiled the product.

Far from being the prima donna of remodeling materials, wood paneling remains tough, durable and easy to clean. Its factory finish shrugs off scuffs and scratches, and wards off such household demons as dirt, grease, ink and alcohol. Cleaning is easy with a damp cloth.

The panels come in four-foot widths, eight feet high. Panels are color-tone blended, so it's difficult to tell where one panel ends and another begins.

Besides good looks and economy, wood paneling has a friendly attitude toward any color and any decor. The warmth of wood is compatible with everything from the brilliant modern accents to the subdued Mediterranean hues. It's equally appropriate for a little boy's hideaway, a little girl's room or a contemporary living room.

SEVERAL RESIDENTIAL garages were built this year, like the one on Maple Street for the Milton Gelatt residence.

Fresh Siding Integrates Old House With New

The building boom of the 1950's has led to a flurry of refurbishing in the '70's, as homeowners find their 15- or 20-year-old houses growing shabby and overflowing with teenagers. Many families are adding an "ell" with a room or two to ease the strain.

One problem presented by adding on to a house is the contrast between the new and existing sections. It's like putting one new piece of furniture in a living room—everything else suddenly looks dingy. In a living room, new slipcovers on the old furniture may turn the trick; on the exterior, new siding applied to the entire house helps solve the problem.

Since the new siding should look crisp and require little maintenance for many years, it should be chosen with care. One material that meets this requirement is exterior hardboard, an engineered wood product whose density makes it durable.

Unlike some of the new building materials, exterior hardboard is not brittle or easily damaged by high impacts such as wild baseball pitches. Its impact resistance makes it ideal for siding. It is also used by some builders for soffits, fascia, porch ceilings, eaves and decorative devices. It is easy to handle and can be sawed and nailed without being chipped, split or dented.

To suit any style of architecture, exterior hardboard is fabricated in both vertical panels and horizontal lap boards, which go up swiftly to save on labor costs. Designs include smooth, striated and wood-textured surfaces. Some hardboards are grooved for interesting plank-like effects.

The panels come in standard widths and lengths, including a 16-foot panel for two-story houses. Exterior hardboard is available primed and ready to be painted, or prefinished in popular colors.

REMOVES ODOR

A new toilet has been produced which completely removes bathroom odor. Built-in device exhausts odors directly into the standard waste-pipe system. No special connections are needed.

MORE THAN COOLS

Central air conditioning systems may also add the benefits of humidity control, filtering out contaminants, and pollens from the air, and reduce the build-up of cooking odors.

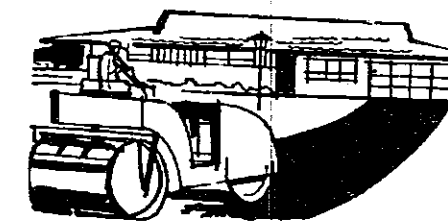

ADDS GRACE

Homeowners can transform the standard brick fireplace into a dramatic and gracious feature using readily available stock millwork. It is a simple job for a carpenter to make alteration of outmoded architectural settings.

New Bauer Candy wholesale warehouse has 3 times more space

By Kit McMillion

The next time you go into a store and see things like candy, cigarettes, small appliances or tooth paste, chances are it passed through the warehouse of the Bauer Candy Company.

Contrary to the name of the company owned by Jim Bauer, the wholesale distributor handles a lot more than sweets, including school, restaurant and paper supplies.

The company is unique for the Thumb area and provides a service for area factories and retailers.

"Actually, we perform a service," related Bauer. "we stock what is needed in the area."

The goods are stored in the new warehouse on Doerr Road, completed last February, until they are shipped out on an order. The new warehouse is 14,000 square feet, about 3 times as large as the vacated building on M-81.

The company services Tuscola, Huron, Sanilac and part of St. Clair counties. Four salesmen tour the area daily, taking orders that are supplied the following day by one of the two delivery trucks.

Goods are brought to the warehouse on a daily basis by three major firms, with some individual manufacturers shipping their own goods in their own trucks.

Because trucking is unreliable, Bauer said, he has to keep a two-week supply on hand, rather than one week, to assure his buyers he will have the goods on hand to supply his accounts, which number about 800.

Turn over for the merchandise is usually much quicker than that. Turning over the merchandise is the important thing in the wholesale business, related Bauer.

"You work on the merchandiser's money," he explained, citing an example of cigarettes. The merchandiser gives him a 9 day turn-over, but he does it in 7.

"You can't get into problems when working on somebody else's money," the experienced wholesaler chuckled.

The volume of his business necessitated the construction of the new warehouse, which handles over 7000 items. Inventory is taken every two weeks, but it is done on a weekly basis for certain fast-moving items like gum and candy bars.

He also handles a complete line of 1 cent candy, which is popular.

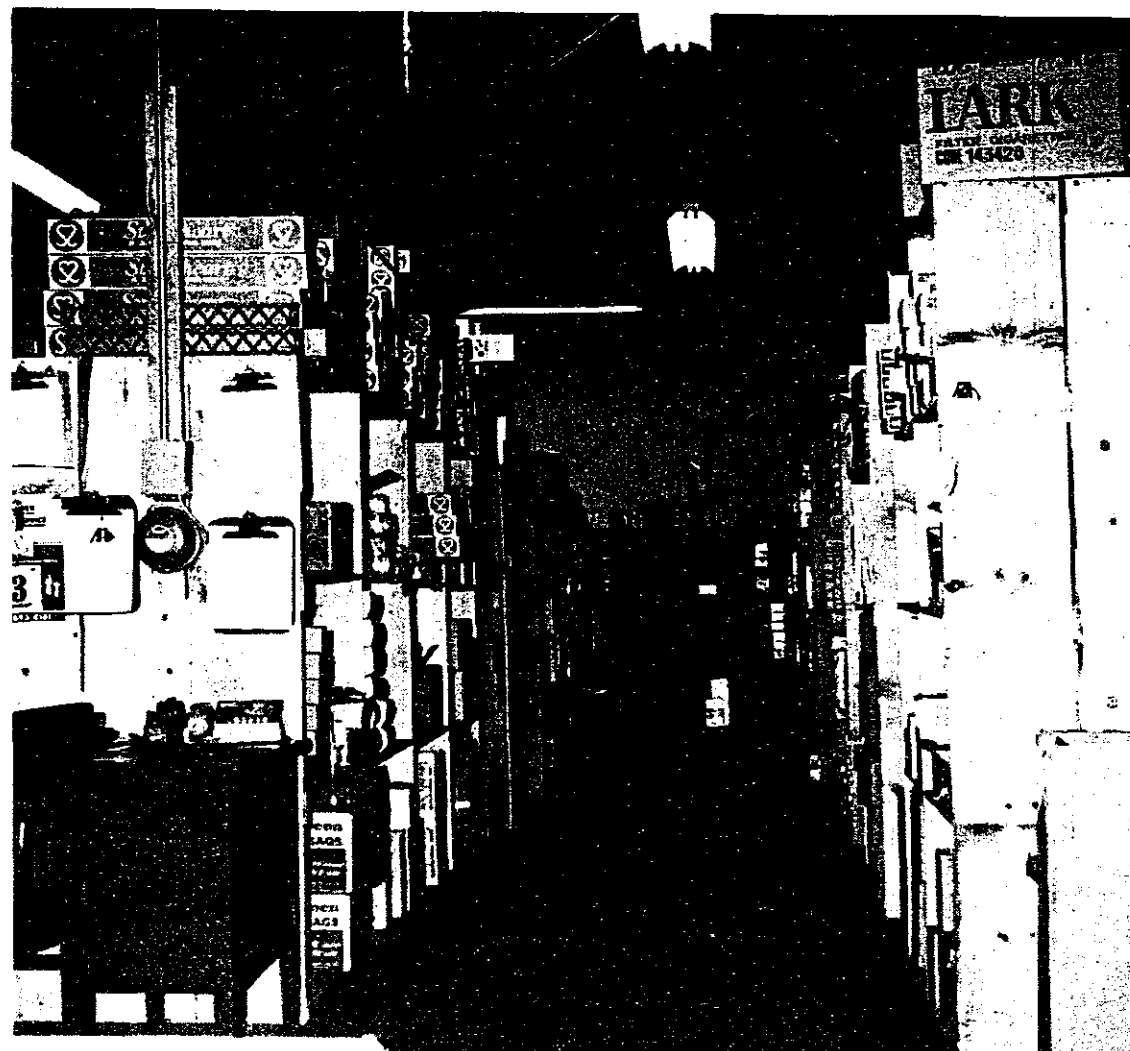

Another big item is cigarettes and cigars. In one year, 650,000 individual King Edward cigars go through the warehouse. But this is only one of approximately 10 brands he carries, said Bauer.

The slowest items are health supplies and paper with a turnover of about 30 days.

Keeping his accounts supplied is just one part of the business. The other side is ordering the goods far enough in advance to assure delivery.

"I placed my Christmas order today in candy," Bauer said, adding that he was working on orders for Halloween and Valentine's Day.

"If you didn't have your order in for Easter by August, you wouldn't get anything," Bauer said.

ROW UPON row of merchandise fill the warehouse.

Finding Right Contractor First Important Decision

With the move into the new building, the business has grown 10-fold since Bauer first bought it in 1948. He came to Cass City to take up ownership of a small building, which he enlarged twice before moving, and has been no stranger to the candy business, having worked since 1929 with Valley Sweets Company, Saginaw.

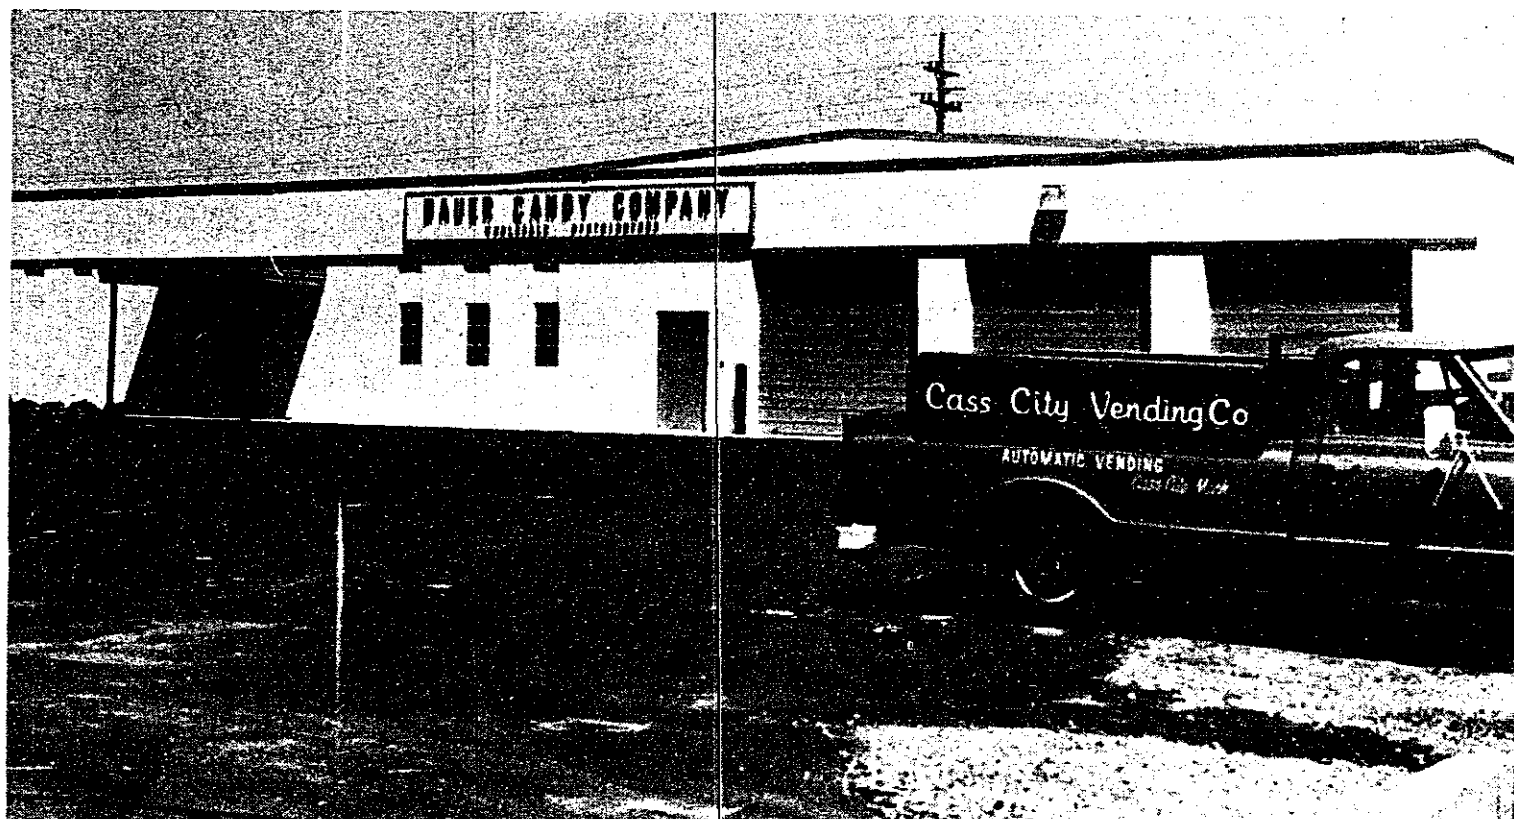

Part of the growth of his business he attributed to other wholesalers going out of business. He figured about half have folded since he went into the business. Now he is the only supplier of the Thumb area.

Hoing a garden in mid-summer heat is probably what is meant by "growing pains."

dealer is an excellent source.

Perhaps the most reliable sources are local chapters in your city of the National Home Improvement Council, the National Association of Home Builders and the National Remodelers Association. These organizations' recommendations can protect you from the dishonest or unreliable contractor. This is preventative medicine and just good sense.

Once the remodeling project is underway or completed should you be dissatisfied with the work of an unscrupulous contractor, arbitration or litigation could extend for months and even years.

A NEW warehouse built for the Bauer Candy Co. represents one of the major commercial ventures in building this year. It was completed in February.

"Okay, we've landed, now let's get out and look at this old moon!"

My two small boys are at it again. Today, the old gray stump is a spaceship. Tomorrow it may be a fort or a castle. More practically, at lunchtime it's a picnic table.

Right now the side yard is my sons' world. Behind a picket fence, they roam the seas and sky in imagination, the sound of their voices reassuring me of their safety.

It won't always be this way. Someday, they'll leave the back yard forever, swashbuckling through a world of schools and camps, friends and parties.

How strange it will be—not to guide their every footstep. Where am I to get the courage? Fortunately, I can answer my own question. I have my church, and so do my boys. As a source of great goodness, it will guide them all their days.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Misses Gloria Stine, Linda Brown, Barbara MacRae, Brenda Powell, Carla Calka and Kalli Pine are in Ypsilanti attending a cheerleaders' camp.

The kids have taken to the slide and teeter-totter placed on a site on Third Street in Cass City recently. The new neighborhood playground was first considered a year ago and the site was secured by Councilman Dr. D. E. Rawson.

Five area boys are attending conservation camp at Ludington State Park. Attending are Louis Langenburg, Joe Hillaker, Bill Pierce, George Martin and Dennis Clara.

Look for a marked decrease in the number of "male" dogs running around Tuscola county in 1968. The females have been awarded equal status following the adoption of a resolution by the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors to equalize license fees.

TEN YEARS AGO

Miss Sharon Profit was at St. Louis, Mich., to attend a baton twirling contest for the state of Michigan. She earned a sixth place rating.

Mr. and Mrs. William Profit attended the convention of registers of deeds in Kalamazoo. Mr. Profit was elected third vice-president.

A former Cass City woman, Judith Ann Huff, added another distinction to an already long list of honors by becoming the second woman ever to receive a chemical engineering degree from the University of Florida College of Engineering.

Cass City's four pretty high school cheerleaders took third place in preliminary trials at Camp All-American cheerleading grand championship. They are Sandra Copeland, Carol Fritz, Sherry Law and Suzanne Barnes.

Adam Deering, Gagetown maintenance supervisor, found a portion of a log believed to be a part of a roadway that once existed just inside the village limits. Pieces of the road, laid approximately a century ago, were unearthed when workmen dug a trench to lay a drainage tube.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

At a meeting of the board of education of the Cass City Public Schools, the land east of the school building extending to the City Park was declared a necessary addition to the present site.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

What it was at the country store Saturday night was what them Congressmen calls a fillerbuster. Ed Doolittle took the floor and afore the fellers could git him set down he had filled us with so many facts and figgers we was all about to bust. When Ed gits really cranked up, Mister Editor, he's as hard to git stopped as Senator Humphrey.

Ed was on his high hoss on account of what he's been reading lately about some of the Democrats trying to git the jump on one another at the National Convention. Ed said he was particular worried about the way Senator McGovern has come on strong. Ed said McGovern is pulling the reverse of the usual politician trick in a election year.

Through the history of this country, allowed Ed, politicians has allus been magicians, they perform the difficult in a flash and the impossible in a little longer afore a election, and afore the vote they become invisible. Ed was of the mind that McGovern started off invisible and now he's everywhere doing everthing and promising the rest. The only thing we can be shore about, went on Ed, is that McGovern is a 100 per cent Democrat.

Democrats is the champions and inventors of high taxes and the magic of over-balanced budgets and deficits of strength, allowed Ed. The Democrats has done more fer cheap money in this country than anybody in the world since Julius Ceezor, was Ed's words. And now comes McGovern with a plan to give everybody in the United States

Miss Millicent Graham has obtained a secretarial position with a branch of the Standard Air Conditioning Company in Detroit near the Fox Theatre on Woodward Avenue.

FROM THE LITTER BOX

Nomenclature

By Kit McMillion

Every now and again I receive a phone call from a mail-order business that has the sales of the week pitch.

Sometimes this can be very helpful and I'm made aware of some good buys I wouldn't get the chance to take otherwise.

But these calls from the mysterious sales lady never fail to amaze me.

They always start out—Hello is this Mrs. McMillion?

As I cool my temper from being called out of the tub or away from the dinner table, I calmly inform the voice, no this is Miss McMillion.

So without a pause in what almost sounds like a tape recording, the voice tells me about mattress pads—I don't want one—clothing for girls size 6-14—I have no children; and men's shirts—I have no husband.

Without a pause the voice asks if I want to order anything. Again maintaining my calm, I say no, wondering how in sam hill I ever got on her list.

She in turn politely says ok and hangs up.

I keep wondering why. Why don't people pay attention to a name, or why do they assume that a name means so little.

Some persons have the misfortune of having their names chosen by a parent who seemingly chose names at random out of the phone book.

It's a real shame because a name should reflect and probably helps mold character. The American Indians had a good idea when they chose names for their youngsters to give them inspiration to live up to. And they changed names when

One brother preceded him in death.

Rites were to be conducted from Little's Funeral Home with the Rev. Alex Holmes of the Caro Presbyterian Church officiating.

Potomac fever strikes 9 candidates in Michigan

Potomac fever is a disease which strikes only politicians. It has only one symptom: a great desire to go to Washington as an officeholder, most usually in either house of Congress.

One of the prime breeding places for the germ which causes Potomac fever traditionally has been the state capital. An officeholder sitting in the legislature quite easily can envision himself promoted to the biggest legislature of them all.

In this particular election year, an especially virulent form of Potomac fever is apparent in Lansing. A total of nine members of the state legislature are running for Congress. Many others toyed with the idea before discarding it.

Members of the state senate have a more comfortable position from which to run. They are in the midst of a four-year term so if they lose their Congressional bid, they still have a two-year term left in Lansing. Six of the 38 senators are taking advantage of this free shot at a Congressional seat and several of them are conceding good chances of pulling off a win.

Perhaps the most well-known statewide is Senate Appropriations Chairman Charles O. Zellar, R-Benton Harbor. Zellar, one of the most powerful men in Lansing, is challenging U.S. Rep. Edward Hutchinson in a district made less safe for Hutchinson by redistricting.

Both men are well to do and are expected to spend a great deal of money in the contest—rated a tossup at this time.

One other senator is running outstate. He is Jerome Hart, a Democrat from Saginaw, who is challenging incumbent Republican James Harvey.

The district was reshaped by reapportionment and has a more Democratic tinge than before. Whether it's enough to pull Hart through remains to be seen.

Two Senators are competing in the newly created 18th district just north of Detroit. Democrats Daniel Cooper of Oak Park and James Gray of Warren are among those competing for the Democratic nomination in what was drawn as a decidedly Democratic district.

The district was originally drawn to favor Cooper, a liberal suburbanite who developed strong antibusing tendencies when busing became such a hot issue. Gray is more conservative and could give Cooper a good fight. The winner will have to defeat former GOP Sen. Robert Huber in November.

Two other Senators with slimmer chances are Republican Donald Bishop of Troy and Democrat William Faust of Westland. Bishop is running for the GOP nomination against State Rep. David Serotkin of Mount Clemens in the district represented by Democrat James O'Hara.

Faust is running against incumbent Democrat William Ford of Taylor.

Besides Serotkin, the state representatives running are Republican Jim Brown of Okemos and Democrat Marvin Stempien of Livonia.

Brown is giving GOP Rep. Charles Chamberlain his first primary fight in 16 years, and observers are unsure how deep Chamberlain's support will be. Stempien will challenge Republican Marvin Esch in November in a race rated a tossup.

Just the law of averages should produce success for at least a few of the state legislators—providing fuel for Potomac fever by other legislators in the future.

OOPS

The decline and fall of the presidential candidacy of Maine Sen. Edmund Muskie surprised many people in politics and in the business of analyzing politics this year, of course.

The Lansing scene proved to be no exception.

Not long before he pulled out of the primaries, Muskie was endorsed by a group of legislators named, quite logically, "Michigan Legislators for Muskie."

The list included nine of the 19 senators and 19 of the 58 house Democrats. It included both House Speaker William A. Ryan and Senate Democratic Leader George Fitzgerald, both men with a lot of experience and savvy in politics.

Which only goes to show that even the experts aren't right all the time.

Urges interest in Nursing home here

I am concerned because I feel we are going to lose the skilled Nursing Home.

As a hospital board member for a good many years, and after giving much thought to this type of place, I am convinced there is a real need in Cass City.

Our real concern is the additional help we can give senior citizens.

We have been offered an accredited nursing home operated by skilled personnel. The building would complement any area in Cass City. The building is completely air-conditioned, pleasant patient rooms, supervised activity room, TV lounge and a fine dining area with every necessary care available.

I feel a real interest must be shown by our citizens at this time.

Little League preps for play-off battles

The standings
(July 1)

	W	L
Yanks	9	0
Pirates	5	3
Tigers	6	3
Cubs	3	7
Orioles	2	6
Giants	0	7

Rain curtailed action in the Cass City Little League as only four games were played. With the regular season championship decided play now centers around a battle for second place and the upcoming play-offs.

Second place honors are a toss-up between the Tigers and the Pirates.

Tigers—Cubs

The Cubs who have been in a slump recently almost surprised the improving Tigers as they lost a narrow decision 9-7. Jeff Martin pitched the distance for the Cubs while Jack Kappen was on the mound for the winners. Kappen gave up six hits and Martin was touched for four, but walked nine. The game was decided in the second when the Tigers shoved across four runs on wildness by Martin.

Yankees—Giants

The Yanks had their hitting clothes on against the Giants to score a 28-1 decision in five innings.

Paul Harmer made his first start of the year for the Giants. He throws the ball hard, but wild. He gave up six hits in three innings and there were 15 walks in the five innings.

Jeff Hartel pitched the first three innings, giving up one run while Tim Severance blanked the Giants in the final two innings in relief.

Tigers—Orioles

The Tigers posted a narrow victory over the Orioles, 7-5 Wednesday, June 28, as Ken Martin pitched a three-hitter for the winners. Rick Hollis pitched for the losers six hits. It was a five-run rally in the fourth that let the Tigers annex the victory.

Cubs—Orioles

For the second time this season the Cubs scored a narrow victory over the Orioles. Friday the score was 15-14.

Kappen hurled the victory and Compo was charged with the loss.

Firecracker explodes

A former Deford area man began the July 4 celebration early with a bang.

A firecracker exploded in the hand of Garry Kessler of Warren Saturday evening, injuring his hand and portions of his body. He was treated at Hills and Dales Hospital.

High scores last week for young persons bowling under the village sponsored summer recreation program are:

Robby Albee, 7 years, 42; Brad Hartel, 8 years, 57; Tim Fahrner, 9 years, 101; Kurt Proctor, 10 years, 114; Craig Kelly, 11 years, 112; Mike Richards, 12 years, 141; Lori Hampshire, 13 years, 81; Ed Schwartz, 14 years, 145, and Carol Richardson, 15 years, 106.

Women's ball team wins against Wilmot

Women's Senior Softball won their first scrimmage Wednesday evening, June 28, with a score of 10-8 against Wilmot.

Winning pitcher was Karla Ruso allowing one walk and 12 hits. Elaine Stoutenburg and Kathy Kinn led the hitting with 3 hits in 4 times at bat.

Any woman interested in playing should call 672-2564.

Duffy's still lead in Blooper Ball

Duffy's continues to dominate the Thumb Area Blooper Ball League at Gagetown with an undefeated record closely pursued by Gagetown, a game behind.

Gagetown rolled over Pabst, 15-2, June 26 while Colwood measured Cass City, 9-3, in the nightcap.

Wednesday, June 28, Duffy's showed why they led the league with an 11-5 decision over Pabst while Jack & Bar notched victory number two of the year with a close 5-3 decision over Colwood.

"WHERE ARE WE?" might be what this small flock of Canadian Geese is asking. The birds landed near the Hunt Trailer Park Thursday, June 29. According to Evelyn Merchant who sighted them, geese have never shown up at this time of year before.

Save on income tax?

By Don R. Kebler

Would you believe one can begin now to save money on this year's income taxes? It can be done by comparing the first six months of this year's business with the same period of last year's business.

Here are the figures you need to compare with last year's records before determining the adjustments you'll be making for the remainder of the year.

From the cash sales and any other cash income, subtract the sum of the total cash expenses and depreciation. The resultant answer could well be a negative figure at this time and more or less than last year.

On another sheet of paper, list all income you know you'll be receiving in the next six months. Subtract from this all known cash expenses for the same period of time. Compare the resultant figures with last year's records of the same period. Next, combine the two six months figures and compare with last year's records.

After completing this, you are ready to begin listing the ways you could save income tax. You now should be in a position to know how many deductible expenses are needed to equalize income or vice versa.

The first item on this list should be your normal family living deductions. Next how much of the above estimated deductible expense dollars can you delay payment on this year? How about delaying payments on some of the farm products sold until next year? Are you thinking about replacing some of your machinery, adding tile, or building construction? If so, have your depreciation allowance difference figured for each item. Estimate hired labor expenses on your children and compare the value of saleable farm products on hand at the beginning of the year with the previous year's carry-over.

This inventory of saleable farm products could be a real important income tax adjustment tool. For example a greater carryover this year plus a good harvest could mean you'll need to sell more if you can't store the extra for next year's sales. A lower carryover can mean you can delete sales and increase your inventory for next year.

This is an example of the method you could use to estimate your business status, plus a few examples of possible income tax adjustments. To make this work to your advantage, a good set of farm business records is necessary and a workable understanding of your income tax laws.

If you hesitate in trying this system of advanced income tax saving programing, ask yourself "why are many non-farm businesses and self-employed professional people hiring income tax consultants to do this very thing for them". Large commercial farming operations are taking advantage of advanced income tax management planning also.

Wednesday the Tuscola County Fair honors the contributions that horsemen have made to the county fair over the years with Horseman's Day. Featured will be three interesting horse events.

The first is the always entertaining and interesting pony pulling contest at 1 p. m. in front of the grandstand, featuring some of the finest young horse stock in this part of Michigan.

The evening's harness racing program at 8 p. m. will be preceded by a unique and interesting precision drill program presented by members of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Posse.

THURSDAY

Thursday is a day especially for the Thumb's Senior Citizens. Admission to the fairgrounds and the grandstand is free to all senior citizens.

"We especially want to invite senior citizens to enjoy the fair with us," commented President Jackson. "We believe that our senior citizens have supported our fair for many years and have been an active part in its continuing success. This is our way of saying thanks for their many contributions to our area over the years."

The afternoon grandstand show at 2 p. m. will feature the final harness racing program of the week. And while the horses pound around the track at the grandstand, fast-talking auctioneers will be presiding over the annual 4-H and FFA Livestock Show and Sale at the Livestock Auction Tent. The annual sale, which will present dozens of fine animals raised by Tuscola county young people, will get underway at 1:30 p. m. and always draws a big crowd.

At 7 p. m. in the evening the first of two segments of Michigan State Tractor Pulling Championships will be presented in front of the grandstand. This event has continued to gain in interest and the Caro Fairgrounds will be the site of the state championship Thursday evening and Friday afternoon.

Another part of Thursday evening's grandstand show will be the crowning of the 1972 Tuscola County Bean Queen—the gal that will represent this county at the Michigan Bean Festival in Fairgrove Labor Day week end. This program starts about 8 p. m.

FRIDAY

Dozens of the state's top tractor pulling artists will be battling it out Friday afternoon starting at 1 p. m. when the Tuscola County Fair hosts the Michigan State Tractor Pulling Championships in front of the grandstand.

And Friday night at 7:30 p. m. the hilarious and exciting Demolition Derby returns for another engagement. This year's Derby, billed as the biggest traffic accident in the area, will again feature many local favorites in the smashing, crashing action.

SATURDAY

The big final day of the Fair opens with the first of two horse pulling events at 10 a. m. A second section of horsepulling follows at 1 p. m.

A special feature of the day will be the appearance of the fabulous Michigan State Fair Singers. They will be appearing on the Caro Fairgrounds, entertaining fairgoers free of charge on the midway.

And wrapping it all up on Saturday night will be another big action-filled program of motorcycle racing. The Flint Motorcycle Club will present the big speed show with practice and time trials starting at 6 p. m. and racing getting underway at 8 p. m.

But the daily events are just a part of the fair this year. A special feature of this year's fair will be the display of beautiful antique cars afternoons and evenings. Beautiful motor cars from America's past will delight the fairgoer who is
