Editor's Corner

The Michigan Chamber of Commerce recently issued a bulletin calling for reforms in school operations which they say will save well over $2 million and not harm education.

There's enough stuff in this bulletin to keep school-board members mulling the recommendations and the studies that led to them for many a moon.

Agree or not, every school board member should look at the study... if for no other reason than about 56 per cent of our taxes are going for education alone.

The study makes 9 recommendations. Some are what you would expect, some are not.

A few of the recommendations are:

- All teachers required to spend 25 hours in classroom instruction per week. No recess, lunch room or study hall duty.

- Non-certified or non-degree teachers used to perform routine jobs.

- Pupil-teacher ratio should average 30 pupils to 1 teacher. (Some lower, some higher.)

- Extensive research on innovations in educational methods and alternatives.

- Repeal the teacher tenure act to help eliminate the incompetent and unproductive teacher.

- A program budgeting system implemented in each school district that will stratify total expenditures by program as well as by cost element.

That last one in words that we all can understand simply means issuing a financial statement that lets the taxpayer know what's going on.

Each year the school publishes a financial statement and it probably is clear to any Certified Public Accountant or natural genius.

The rest of us tend to throw up our hands in frustration.

Many of the Chamber suggestions are controversial as well as nearly a practical impossibility. It's the opinion here that no teacher, good or bad, would give up teacher tenure.

It's useless to discuss it.

The Chamber asks that the budget restate all costs by program instead of legal classification. "Thus, all costs relative to teaching children to read are identified under one general heading instead of being lost in a maze of details within such classifications as teacher salaries, instructional materials, custodial staff, data processing service and so on."

Hurrah! With a system like this any person could decide if our school is spending too little or too much for reading, for writing, for arithmetic, for shop or for ballet lessons.

Giving the average guy something to look at has to help him be a better decision maker and a more interested member of our school district.

Kids seek recreation to fill swimming void

It's going to be a long hot summer.

That's what everyone said last year when the swimming pool was closed down and prospects of having it re-opened for this year were dim.

The pool has been closed all summer, but apparently it hasn't had the drastic impact some expected.

Mother Nature has cooperated to some extent by making the first part of this summer cool, a marked change from last year's oppressive heat that reached 104 degrees in late June. Even so, a swimming pool would have been welcomed during the last few hot days.

Swimming is still part of the summer recreation program, but no instruction is included this year. The swimming team and synchronized swimming team are practicing in private pools.

Instead every Thursday, youngsters are taken to Sleeper

State Park where they can play in Lake Huron under adult supervision. Recreation Director Charmaine Fahrner said that an area is roped off for the kids with buoys. Four chaperones accompany the children, although none are trained in life saving, said Mrs. Fahrner.

Last week Thursday, one of the hottest days in a long time, 81 children showed up.

Other recreation activities have drawn larger than usual crowds of youngsters, but most think that's because there is no pool.

The enriched recreation program includes trampoline three days a week and girls' and boys' softball teams, as well as other activities. 20-30 children show up for trampoline and 40 or more often participate in the arts and crafts program under the direction of Mrs. Linda McIntosh.

"But everybody wants to go swimming," said Mrs. Fahrner, commenting on last week's high attendance.

The number of swimming pools sold by local merchants hasn't risen greatly, however, and they blame it on the cool weather.

Lynn Albee of Albee's Hardware, said it is hard to compare this year's sales with last year's because he's stocked a lot more. The larger pools have mostly gone to rural areas, he noted.

and added, "I haven't noticed any major differences in small pool sales."

"I thought the demand would be greater," he related because the pool is closed. Most sales are made on hot days, he said, declining to give an estimate of the number of pools he has sold this season.

Lloyd Bryant of Gamble's Store corroborated this report, saying he hadn't had as many sales as usual.

"It's been a bad year for pools," he said. "If we'd had a lot of hot weather," he added, "you wouldn't have been able to keep up."

Prieskorn's Ben Franklin store gave a different report.

Mary Rabideau, representing Gerald Prieskorn who was on vacation, for the past 2 weeks, said they've sold a dozen of the larger pools, and about 5 dozen smaller inflatable pools.

"They sold quicker," she said, but they haven't sold so many more, although people are still asking about them.

She added that they could probably sell more but when they ordered last year, they didn't know there wouldn't be any swimming pool. They are sold out.

Mrs. Rabideau added, too, that farm ponds have been getting a work out, according to what her own girls and their friends have been doing.

Becker Zoo: animal lovers share their menagerie of wild beasts

By Kit McMillan

Some mothers think they're operating a zoo when their children bring home more than one animal.

At the Beckers it's a little different. The parents bring home the pets and it is a zoo. "Becker's Zoo" will soon open officially, when the pens are completed and the state permits are obtained.

But Charles Becker and his wife have been hosting interested observers for the past year.

Brightly painted metal cages dot approximately 10 acres of their farm 1 1/2 miles east of Cass City, but most of them are empty. Instead, many of the animals run loose in the barn yard, the wild and the more typical domesticated variety.

The Beckers have always had animals around. Becker used to break and train horses, but since a back operation, that is out. Now he pastures about 40 head, in addition to devoting full time to building cages.

Although they've hired a couple of young men to help, the opening of the zoo has been delayed.

"It takes a lot longer than we thought it would," said Becker.

Although they've been surrounded by animals a long time for their own enjoyment, the Beckers didn't get the idea to open a zoo until they were urged to do so by many visitors from the surrounding area.

"I guess once too often people told us that we should start a little zoo," Mrs. Becker related.

They're still waiting for some animals. Within the next week or two they expect to obtain a polar bear, llama, baby bob cat, aoudad sheep, kangaroo and several peccary pigs.

The Beckers were able to make the contact with the Detroit Zoo after a friend of theirs showed them an advertisement for kangaroos. They explained that the zoo would only sell to them after the facilities were state approved and the zoo officials were satisfied it wasn't just another gas-station zoo.

Already on the farm are several peacocks, deer, a pair of chimpanzees, several monkeys, a pair of coyotes, a King vulture, numerous varieties of fowl, a pair of trye squirrels from South America and a Coatiundi, a South American relative of the raccoon, named Snoopy.

The Scottish Highlander cow, which is a hairy type of bovine dubbed the "hippie" cow by the Beckers' three children, is one of the more unusual domesticated animals. Others include turkeys, pigeons, ponies, donkeys, goats and sheep.

Mrs. Becker explained they were including the farm animals in the zoo "because a lot of kids have never seen them."

Besides buying the animals, some have been given to them by friends. A man from Vassar donated a monkey; another friend gave them several baby raccoons. The most recent addition was a baby skunk.

A monkey named "Keeta" peeked in the back door window and rattled on the door chain as the Beckers explained that they've been collecting the animals since last fall.

Keeta is one of the few animals allowed in the house. "She's always into the sugar bowl," said Mrs. Becker, adding that she also jumps on the backs of the sheep and rides them around the yard.

People often stop to look at the animal menagerie. "People come and go all the time," they said, including the neighbors' children. Some drive very slowly past again, chuckled Becker, but never stop.

Taking care of the animals represents a full-time job for the couple. Keeping a safe

Farm situation gloomy in wake of hail storm

Farmers are faced with a gloomy situation in portions of Tuscola county following a hail storm that flattened and destroyed acres of crops late Sunday afternoon.

This devastating storm follows in the wake of extensive damage caused by flooding and heavy rains and winds the previous Tuesday.

Cass City was untouched by the storm which extended over an area from the Caro airport to the intersection of M-46 and M-24.

According to Tuscola county agricultural extension agent Bill Bortel, corn, beans and grains were seriously damaged by the hail that was reported as large as chicken eggs and piled up to at least six inches deep. "I've personally never seen hail in such magnitude," he said.

Bortel did not give a dollar estimate of the damage nor could he guess exactly how many acres were affected. Farmers in that area were seriously hurt by the storm, however, and it is not known how much of the crops can be salvaged. The hail stripped the leaves from the plants.

Residents in the area reported damage to cars and homes from the giant sized stones.

This disaster falls less than a week behind a rain storm that flooded portions of the northern and western section of the county Tuesday, July 11, destroying many acres of crops.

These two disasters heightened an already dim situation for farmers. While the average rain fall for the year is normal, the last 30 days have seen an above normal amount of precipitation, while the month before that was drier than normal.

"We've got moisture now," said Bortel. "Beans are late, and we need an excellent growing season."

The best situation now would be warm weather with no rain for a week or so to give the crops a chance to grow, he said.

A soggy spring resulted in late planting and a cold winter contributed to the loss of 20,000 acres of winter wheat and 10-15,000 acres of alfalfa. These fields had to be replanted.

ALTHOUGH THIS SCENE suggests February after a snow-storm it actually is Caro in July. Terry Pinkoski of Cass City arrived just minutes after Sunday evening's hail storm that struck the Caro area. He reports that hail a half-inch in diameter covered the field to a depth of two inches on the level. This field of white was two miles south of Caro on M-24, between Riley Road and Bevin Road.

Magazine photographer to attend Artrain

Influential leaders of Africa may read about Artrain in Cass City.

This plan of the U. S. Information Agency was revealed last week by Mrs. Holly Althaver, community coordinator, who explained that she received a call from Washington, D. C. Tuesday, July 11, requesting information about the train.

A Mrs. Ellen Plummer, an editor of a magazine called "Topic," indicated an interest in writing a story for the African edition of the magazine, to show how arts in America are shared with rural inhabitants.

Mrs. Althaver related that the editor will send a photographer to take pictures of the activities on the train and the surrounding area. She doesn't know what day he will come.

Much of Africa is similar to the situation in America where the cultural aspects of the cities are isolated from rural inhabitants.

The magazine is sent to 135 highly placed and influential leaders, according to Mrs. Althaver. An out-growth of this story may be an African-styled Artrain.

The concept of a mobile art museum is also being spread in the States. Plans call for the Artrain to tour several Western states next winter.

Meanwhile, finishing touches were added by Artrain committee workers in preparation for Thursday's opening ceremony at 10:30 a. m. The public is reminded that they are invited to the ceremony and to a reception afterwards at the cultural center, where Mrs. William Milliken will be an honored guest.

DILLMAN SCHOOL

A schedule of times for various craft demonstrators has been arranged at the old Dillman School, 2 miles west of Cass City on M-31, one of many related art activities in conjunction with the Artrain.

Quilting will be demonstrated by Mrs. Helen Little, Mrs. Lyle Zapfe, Mrs. Lloyd Brown, Mrs. Fred Jaus and Mrs. Clark Zinnecker Thursday, 11 a.m.-12, and 2-4 p.m.; Friday and Saturday, 2-4 p.m., Mrs. Little will also show tatting.

Several persons will demonstrate caning. Mrs. Marion Dorman will work Thursday, 2-4 p.m. Delores Tuckey will cane 3-5 p.m. Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Cleland will demonstrate Saturday and Sunday, 2-4 p.m. Margaret Wallace will work Sunday, 4-6 p.m.

Paper Tole will be created by Marion Keating and Alice Ruhl Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, 1:30-4 p.m.

Shirley Wagg and Phil Boylan will knit Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, 2-4 p.m. and also Friday, 7-8 p.m.

Molli Butler will make Raggedy Ann and Andy dolls 2-4 p.m. Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Kay Severance and Mrs. Wynn Wilson will demonstrate candle making 2-4 p.m. Thursday and Friday.

Cass City Preschool Nursery mothers will serve as hostesses Thursday and Friday. Hostesses Saturday and Sunday will be women from the Methodist Church.

Flea market, sales galore will highlight Heritage Days

Heritage Days Friday and Saturday will bring a host of special sales, a puppet show and flea market to downtown Cass City.

The annual sidewalk sales this year are tied in with the Artrain, which was to open Thursday morning, and offer a look into cultural past of the area.

A special feature sponsored by the retail division of the Chamber of Commerce will be a puppet show Saturday morning. Everyone is welcome to the professional presentation at 11 a. m. by Lewis Parsons of Pentwater.

Only one free showing will be given at the Cass Theatre. An up-dated version of the "Three Little Pigs" is sure to delight audiences and special marionette acts will also be included.

Interspersed among merchant displays will be booths of antiques and old collectable items out of the past. Don Childs of Cass City, who has been in charge of the flea market, said numerous local and out-of-town dealers will be selling on the streets. Booths will be located about two blocks east and west of the stop light, filling in empty spaces.

Tying into the Heritage Days theme, most store windows will carry a display of the store's past, and retailers have been asked to dress in fashions lending an old-time atmosphere.

Heritage Days will operate 8 a. m. - 9 p. m. Friday and 8 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. Saturday.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Ervin Miller died last week. He left a host of friends. Friends who wouldn't know him if they met him on the street.

Ervin's friends were the host of youngsters that called him Santa Claus each December. For several years Ervin was Cass City's Santa and he loved his job. That's probably the reason he was so good at it.

His work as Santa wasn't detailed in any of the obituaries about him... it just isn't done, I guess.

But when Ervin was around Santa was real. Santa was fun, Santa listened, Santa understood, Santa was alive.

It's as good a reason as any, and better than many, for remembering him.

I used to think that B. A. "Curley" Calka was the best, or at least one of the best, salesman I know.

But it just might be that Curley is only the second best salesman in his family, judging by an item that appeared in a recent Detroit Free Press.

It told how Delta Junction, Alaska, was trying for a new fire engine using Betty Crocker coupons and trading stamps instead of money... 5 million of them.

The story went on to say that Bernard "Barney" Calka, Curley's brother, took up the cudgel for the tiny community and started a campaign in his home community, Sterling Heights. The result? He shipped 182,348 coupons to the tiny town to put the drive over the top. That's a better job than Cass City's Calka used to do selling Lions program ads which most area businessmen know he did quite well.

There have been some freakish events occurring lately. As previously detailed, a hole-in-one by Bill Krizman was recorded on the golf course in Gagetown.

In line with this, but even more unusual and astonishing, Wayne "Buck" Rabideau shot a 39 for nine holes... which makes him better than Jack Nicklaus in our duffers' competition.

Do you think they could have known it was a test? Last week the Chronicle tested the new Postal Service with letters from various communities and all arrived overnight.

We duly hailed this achievement in a story for all to read.

Perhaps we should have waited. The next day our Shabbona correspondent mailed the news on Monday and (sadly) it failed to arrive until Wednesday morning... too late for publication.

Name new county extension agent

Joseph R. Shaltry has been named Sanilac county extension agricultural agent, succeeding Edgar Strong who became county extension director in Oceana county, Dec. 1, 1971.

JOSEPH R. SHALTRY

Shaltry's appointment, effective July 24, was announced by Richard W. Bell, assistant director of extension, Michigan State University.

The new agricultural agent comes from Ovid-Elsie where he compiled an outstanding record during the past four years as the high school vocational agriculture teacher, Bell said.

In his new post he will work primarily with dairy farmers in Sanilac county. His duties will parallel those of Bill Bivens, who is the multi-county dairy agent for Huron, Tuscola and Sanilac counties.

Michael Martin Particka, Uby, was ticketed in Unionville for defective equipment. He paid fine and costs of $15.

David Lester Marquardt, Kingston, was ticketed in Kingston for having no cycle registration. He paid fine and costs of $15. He was also ticketed for having no helmet. He paid fine and costs of $10.

Francis J. Fagan Jr., Detroit, was ticketed in Gagetown for running a flashing red signal 4-way stop sign. He paid fine and costs of $25.

Leonard Leo Deitrick, Lexington, was ticketed in Kingston for speeding 55 in an allowed 45 mile an hour zone. He paid fine and costs of $20.

Raymond Joseph Pulcer, Harbor Beach, was ticketed in Elkland township for having no mud flaps on a commercial vehicle. He paid fine and costs of $6.

David Stanley Howard, Saginaw, was ticketed in Ellington township for speeding 75 in an allowed 65 mile an hour zone. He paid fine and costs of $20.

Larry Lee Smith, Port Huron, was ticketed in Kingston for speeding 75 in an allowed 65 mile an hour zone. He paid fine and costs of $20.

Rites Friday for Gladys Tuckey

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. Friday for Miss Gladys Tuckey, 74, lifelong resident of this community. She died Tuesday at the Ferguson Nursing Home in Lapeer, where she had been a patient the past seven months.

Miss Tuckey was born in Elkland township Dec. 25, 1897, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James D. and Eunice Wright Tuckey.

She was a member of the Cass City Missionary Church for the past 30 years and a member of the Women's Missionary Society.

She is survived by four brothers: Clair and Luke, both of Cass City, the Rev. John Tuckey, Flint, and Harold, Pontiac, and a number of nieces and nephews. One sister and one brother preceded her in death.

Services will be conducted at the Cass City Missionary church, with interment in Elkland cemetery. The Rev. J. E. Kidney, pastor of the Cass City Missionary Church, and the Rev. Ira Wood, pastor of the Salem United Methodist Church, will officiate.

Research in conservation began in the early 1900's at The University of Michigan.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Color me red, with CRAYOLA

BY JIM FITZGERALD

And then I wrote . . .

It was the first registered letter I'd ever received and I was naturally excited. gee. Someone had paid 90 cents for a signed guarantee that I had received his message.

Before I was excited, of course, I was worried. I figured it was a dud, probably from that record club whose computer won't believe I resigned in 1952 because I couldn't wash the sugar off their Doris Day records.

But the return address said this letter was from C. W. Montgomery, corporate secretary of Binney and Smith Inc., which is on Madison Avenue in New York City 10017. I didn't owe them any money. This was obviously a really important communication.

Anyway, to make a short story long because this is a slow week, it was with trembling fingers that I tore open Mr. Montgomery's 90-cent letter. It was a 2-pager! 11 paragraphs with one enclosure and the initials CWM:je at the bottom to let the world know that Mr. Montgomery does not type his own letters, je does it for him.

(Leave us pause a moment to ponder upon the anonymous je, a big city secretary, jean eagle? jean eastway? Perhaps janice enclave, a pouty blond who used to be a Playboy bunny until she was fired for refusing to allow a staple in her navel. Does Mr. Montgomery understand Mr. Montgomery? Is je jacob english?)

(And how come je has no middle initial? Big shot CWM has one. And how does he rate the capital letters while je is lower case? Who types all the lousy letters without any mistakes, anyway? What kind of discrimination is this? The riot begins at noon in front of Binney and Smith's, girls. Don't forget your signs, upper case.)

By now, you are doubtless going nuts trying to figure what old CWM had to say in his 8 paragraphs. I hope you are ready for this:

Mr. Montgomery said I have not been coloring with crayolas all these years. I have been coloring with Crayola crayons.

CWM reminded me that recently I wrote a terrible thing. I advised children to draw pictures with "red crayola."

"CRAYOLA is our trademark wrote upper case CWM. "Ordinarily, it is preferable if our trademark is completely capitalized, ie., CRAYOLA. If this is not feasible, we request that in addition to being followed by the applicable generic term, at least the initial letter "C" of our trademark be capitalized."

How about that? For a guy whose secretary is je, Mr. Montgomery can get pretty stuffy about capital letters.

CWM concluded: "In the absence of hearing from you to the contrary, we shall assume that you are in agreement with our position."

I would not dream of being contrary about CWM's position on CRAYOLA. In fact, I have not been so ashamed since I spelled Cellophane with a dinky c, the same c I have too often used when writing Coke. I mention these other transgressions against non-generic terms so CWM will realize I have nothing personal against CRAYOLA. I have been a complete idiot about many words. I even used to call every refrigerator a frigidaire, may God have mercy. And I was a long time learning that all paperlike tape is not Scotch tape.

I am so dumb, in fact, I think a manufacturer should be pleased that his mousetrap is so popular the average consumer thinks there is no other way to catch mice. He should appreciate ate his good fortune ($$$$$) and forget the silly 90-cent letter about capital letters.

But what do I know? If I worked for Binney and Smith, I would be jf.

But maybe je would understand me.

Political circus

By Kit McMillion

No matter what you think of political conventions or which candidate is chosen, or even if you think that's the best way governmental candidates are chosen, you can't escape them. I watched some of the coverage of the Democratic convention, but most of the really fun things aren't covered by the media.

I had the opportunity to attend a state convention in Indiana two years ago, courtesy of the downstate newspaper I was working on that summer.

Two other young, eager news gatherers and I left for Indianapolis in an old rickety company car, assured it would get us there in one piece. Getting us back home was not guaranteed.

It was hot. You'd think the parties would have chosen a better time for their spectacle than the hottest days of the summer.

Arriving sticky and waiting for the relief of air conditioning, we found our motel and discovered they hadn't turned the air conditioning on in the rooms.

A cold shower and a change of clothes would feel good, I told my weary self, only to discover that I had exercised my natural aplomb - I'd forgotten my extra dresses.

My personal discomforts, however, was overcome by the excitement and later disappointment of the circus I visited.

The setting for the event was the best hotel in town, and it earned a great name for itself that week-the air conditioning broke.

Wearing our press badges proudly, we started through the doors, with the background of a real-honest-to-God steam callopie pumping away on the street.

Drunken delegates staggered through the lobby of the motel, squeezing us against the walls, but we made our way to a crowded elevator and were transformed into sardines.

We had been told to find our county's delegation and see what was going on. We never did find them, but an inside look behind the convention podium was worth dodging the hands that kept appearing from nowhere.

The TOP OFFICIALS were shaking hands with anybody and everybody, just as fast as they could, to try to gain a few more delegate votes, impress a few more persons.

The so-called power of the press was taught to me then. An aide of somebody running for something saw our badges, grabbed us and had us speak with the somebody.

I guess my awe at being singled out impressed me more than meeting that guy, and I still can't remember his name. The festive air of circus and the oppressive heat did more to disillusion me about the way the government was run that summer than anything else I've ever experienced.

The actual voting for the candidates the next day seemed anticlimactic, but that's when the decisions probably made earlier than the convention, were finalized by ballot.

My wisdom concerning politics has grown a little since then and, like the saying goes, keep the people happy with bread and circuses. Maybe the convention process is the best way. Meow.

Farmers must keep accident records 5 years

Farmers with one or more employees are reminded that the federal Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) of the U.S. Department of Labor requires that they keep certain records, says Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director.

These records include:

(1) A report on each occupational accident or illness to an employee (not required for cases where the employee goes back to work after minor first aid).

(2) A continuing log of accidents.

(3) An annual summary of accidents posted where employees can see it by February 1 of each year and left up 30 days. If there are no accidents, the form must be posted with this notation.

(4) A report to OSHA within 48 hours following a fatality to one person or occurrence which hospitalizes five people.

The required records must be retained for at least five years. There are steps you can take to reduce the possibilities of penalties and accidents:

(1) Correct obvious hazards -- run as safe an operation as you can.

(2) Be sure no machine is operated without safety shields in place.

(3) Enforce safety practices. Stop every machine before adjustment, lubrication or unplugging. Allow no riders on machines.

(4) Use protective equipment, such as safety goggles, respirators, acoustical earmuffs, hard hats and tractor overturn protection.

(5) Study the safety standards. They are not easy to interpret, but you should get something out of them.

(6) If in doubt about a requirement or you need a poster for display write to: U.S. Department of Labor, Bureau of Labor Statistics, 3005 Wacker Drive (8th Floor), Chicago, Ill. 60606. We also have a few copies for distribution at the Extension Office in Caro.

Minority enrollment at Michigan State University during the fall 1971 term increased by almost 1,000 over the previous fall. The number grew from an estimated 2,064 to an estimated 3,024, or 7.2 per cent of MSU's student population.

All Michigan township officials will have extended terms of office after Gov. George Romney recently signed a law that extends terms until Nov. 20, 1970.

L. J. Churchill - 414 - swept the 4 Car Trophy Dash and Feature Event at Thunder Road Speedway.

Mrs. Elfriede Koepf, accompanied by her daughter, Betsy, will fly by jet to Vienna, Austria. This will be her first trip back to Vienna since she left in 1948.

The Gerald Prieskorn family have purchased the E. B.

Schwaderer home on Kennebec Drive.

Wayne "Speed" Wilson, formerly coach at Gagetown, Cass City and Caro, has resigned his position in Caro to accept a position with Bangor Schools near Bay City.

TEN YEARS AGO

There will be less wheat harvested in Tuscola county this year but the grain pouring into local elevators is of excellent quality and should help counteract the reduced yield.

William C. O'Dell spent part of last week at Gaines, Mich., where he was a delegate to a church conference of the East Michigan District of the Pilgrim Holiness Church.

Anthony Martin, 17, Charleston, Tenn., 4-H member, arrived at the Clarence Merchant farm, Cass City, for a week-long stay as part of a 4-H Exchange Program.

William Ruhl of Cass City was among nearly 500 Ferris Institute students who were named to the Dean's Honor List for academic excellence during the past quarter.

Mr. and Mrs. Vilas Pine of Unionville accompanied their daughter, Bonnie, to Detroit Metropolitan Airport where she boarded a jet with a group from the Flint Board of Education on a special art tour of Europe.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Rev. and Mrs. Faupel of Deford have purchased a residence on Sixth St. from Ezra Hutchinson and will soon make their new home in Cass City.

Irving Parsch was considerably dismayed Saturday when he viewed the havoc the heavy rain made Friday night to nearly 65 feet of the east wall of the basement recently excavated for an addition to his West Main St. Store.

Plans have been completed for a Tuscola County Girl Scout Day Camp to be held at the City Park here, according to Mrs. Edward Baker, assistant director of Girl Scout activities for the county.

Mr. and Mrs. Otis Wehl and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wehl and children, Joyce and Jimmie, left for Albuquerque, New Mexico. They expect to spend a year there for the sake of Mrs. Raymond Wehl's health.

Mary Jayne Campbell, daughter of Supt. of Schools and Mrs. Willis Campbell, is a commercial student at the University of Michigan this summer and one of 19 students receiving instruction in occupational information and guidance.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Edward Baker has purchased the building on West Main Street, now occupied by the George Hitchcock Hardware, for expanding business room.

Gagetown will celebrate its golden anniversary jubilee as a village next week, that municipality having been incorporated in 1887.

Mrs. M. M. Moore has accepted a position as manager in the office of Libby, McNeill and Libby pickle factory which opened for business Monday.

Miss Elizabeth Seed, who has been employed for some time by the Michigan Associated Telephone Company, has accepted a position in the office of the Frutchey Bean Company.

The fronts of the Farson and Doerr restaurants, standing shoulder to shoulder on West Main Street, have been repaired.

This golf lesson could save you thousands

You know, you can holter "Fore!" for dear life, but still be liable if you hit somebody on the links this weekend! In fact, any accident while hunting, boating, fishing, skiing, or any other sports, could put you in court and cost you thousands of dollars! You may not be able to avoid a golf accident...or a lawsuit...but you sure can avoid paying all that money in court. You can protect yourself and members of your family before the first tee with "altogether" personal liability coverage which is available in many Auto-Owners policies.

Puppets become child's friends

Ann Ross - Home Extension Agent

You can say things to a puppet you could never tell your mom! That's the value of letting your child have the chance to be a puppeteer. Puppets give their creator a way to express feelings that he would ordinarily keep inside.

Puppetry is not that complicated. In fact, it shouldn't be or the child will lose interest. One kind of easy-to-make creature is made of a styrofoam ball with a finger-size hole carved in the bottom. Make a two-inch long tube of stiff, but light, cardboard to insert in the hole. Then glue clothes - from rags to elaborate royal robes - onto the bottom part of the tube. Insert hand, and make the puppet come alive. Another type can be made with a paper sack. The lunch-bag size can be used with the bottom of the sack forming a face and mouth and worked with a hand inserted in the bag. Or the sack could be stuffed to make a puppet head and then attached to an old sock or to another sack which covers the puppeteer's hand.

Puppets can be presented on the simplest of stages. Even a table will do but you'd be surprised at the intricate staging interested children come up with.

Two clues for success. Your child should be interested enough in puppetry to carry it off on his own. Unless he can go to the basement and do most of it without help, it will be a very time consuming hobby for mother.

Second, give lots of encouragement by providing scraps of material, trim, beads, paper, doll hats, maybe some already-sewn basic puppet clothes. Think before you throw anything away - maybe this could help a puppeteer.

You've made a whole new world when a part of your house becomes a puppet workshop.

BETTER HEALTH

Many pains not serious

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Unfortunately, many patients become needlessly frightened and think they have heart disease, gallstones or a stomach ulcer. Sometimes they even receive needless operations because the most common cause for aches and pains in an area of the chest or abdomen is seldom thought of -- that is, an arthritis in the joints of the spine, or a fibrositis (a mild arthritic disease) in the muscles of the chest or abdominal wall.

I learn much about a patient's chest or abdominal pain by asking him if he feels that his ache is deep inside his body or out in the chest wall. He may say, "It feels as if it is in the chest wall. When I am in pain some of my ribs are sore, or if I turn around quickly or forcibly to pick something up, I get a cramp in a muscle between two ribs." Or he may say, "My abdominal wall is sore; the pain is not inside."

Another trick I have learned is that if I press on the ribs, or if I lift up a fold of the skin on the abdominal wall and pinch it, I see that the tenderness is superficial and not deep in the abdomen. Also, I have learned to ask the patient if he has had brief spells of pain in his joints along with backache, lumbago, cricks in the neck, sacroiliac pain (pain in the lower back between the buttocks), sciatica (pain that runs down the back of the thigh) or a so-called neuritis.

Fibrositis is a mild cousin of arthritis. It is usually not severe and never does damage to a joint, as some forms of arthritis can do. I have been having brief spells of fibrositis ever since I was seven. My fibrositic pain has always been so bearable that in my lifetime, I have not taken more than a half dozen tablets of aspirin.

With fibrositic pain the patient's ache comes as a jab of back pain when he gets up from a chair to stand. But when he is sitting quietly or after he has been moving around for a few minutes, he has no pain. When bothered by a rheumatic pain, the person will have to force himself to walk around. In a few minutes, he will be walking more comfortably. Also, it helps to sit for a while in a tub of water that is as hot as possible, or to have someone massage the sore place.

Helpful in recognizing the type of pain a man has is his story that he gets along all right until he gets a bad cold, and then he has a flare-up of his aches. A slight infection can make the disease worse.

Some fibrositic persons will note that the aches get worse when a storm is approaching. The aches may also get worse whenever the patient gets very tired.

I can usually tell when a chest pain is not arthritic (heart pain) in nature if I learn that it has no relation to exercise or exertion. In fact, if it is not due to heart trouble, the pain is likely to become less severe if the person exercises.

If he over-exercises and gets some muscles sore, he is likely to suffer chest or abdominal pain during the next day or two. Again, the story is diagnostic.

Persons with a fibrositic ache in the lower ribs on the right side will occasionally be advised by a busy surgeon to have the gallbladder out. Careful questioning of the person, however, may show that the pain is not a typical gallbladder colic.

I never diagnose gallbladder disease when the pain runs

AROUND THE FARM

Planning farm

By Don R. Kehler

Farming like any other business must show a growth pattern and develop in an orderly manner. To develop this way, priorities must be established for maximum effectiveness of any farm enterprise system.

In other words, the development and growth of any farm commodity enterprise must be well balanced with each unit matched together for total efficiency.

For example a dairy enterprise is expanding and the operator wants to develop his system over a period of time. In the planning procedure this operator may find it is best to enlarge his milk cow housing unit first rather than enlarging the milkinghouse and parlor facilities.

On the other hand, with a little re-arranging of the present cow housing, he can improve his much needed calf facility or a much more needed feed storage and handling system instead.

Maybe he will find his proposed expanded dairy enterprise system requires some underground improvements needed before above ground structures are remodeled or built. New water lines or milkinghouse and parlor waste water removal systems may be necessary before building needs are met.

There is nothing worse, costly or inconvenient than to put the cart before the horse and have to make extra changes which need not be made at all.

I could follow the same line of thought on livestock and cash grain handling enterprises just as well as for dairy enterprises.

The point I wish to bring out before any construction begins is that one should follow these procedures. First, decide the long range size and scope goal for orderly growth. Next draw up two detailed sketches, one of the present facility and the other of the proposed. This proposed system will be made up of several smaller units each with a specific job, all of which if properly designed will work beneficially together.

After this is done determine water, electrical, liquid waste and other livestock waste control needs as applicable. Next determine priorities to a first needs come first basis and set a completion goal of how many years or months you need. Now gather your bids on materials and labor. Lastly, now that you are ready to begin, take the plan to your lending agency, show them you have really put much effort, study and planning into a good paying growth system.

By following these steps, one will have completed the ground work for the whole thing and is ready to move towards his goal.

One injured as police report 3 minor accidents in Cass City area

Area police authorities investigated several accidents in the area last week.

Donald Karr, 16, 3887 Cemetery Road, Cass City, was discharged Sunday from Hills and Dales Hospital, Cass City, where he was taken late Saturday evening with injuries sustained in a single-car accident.

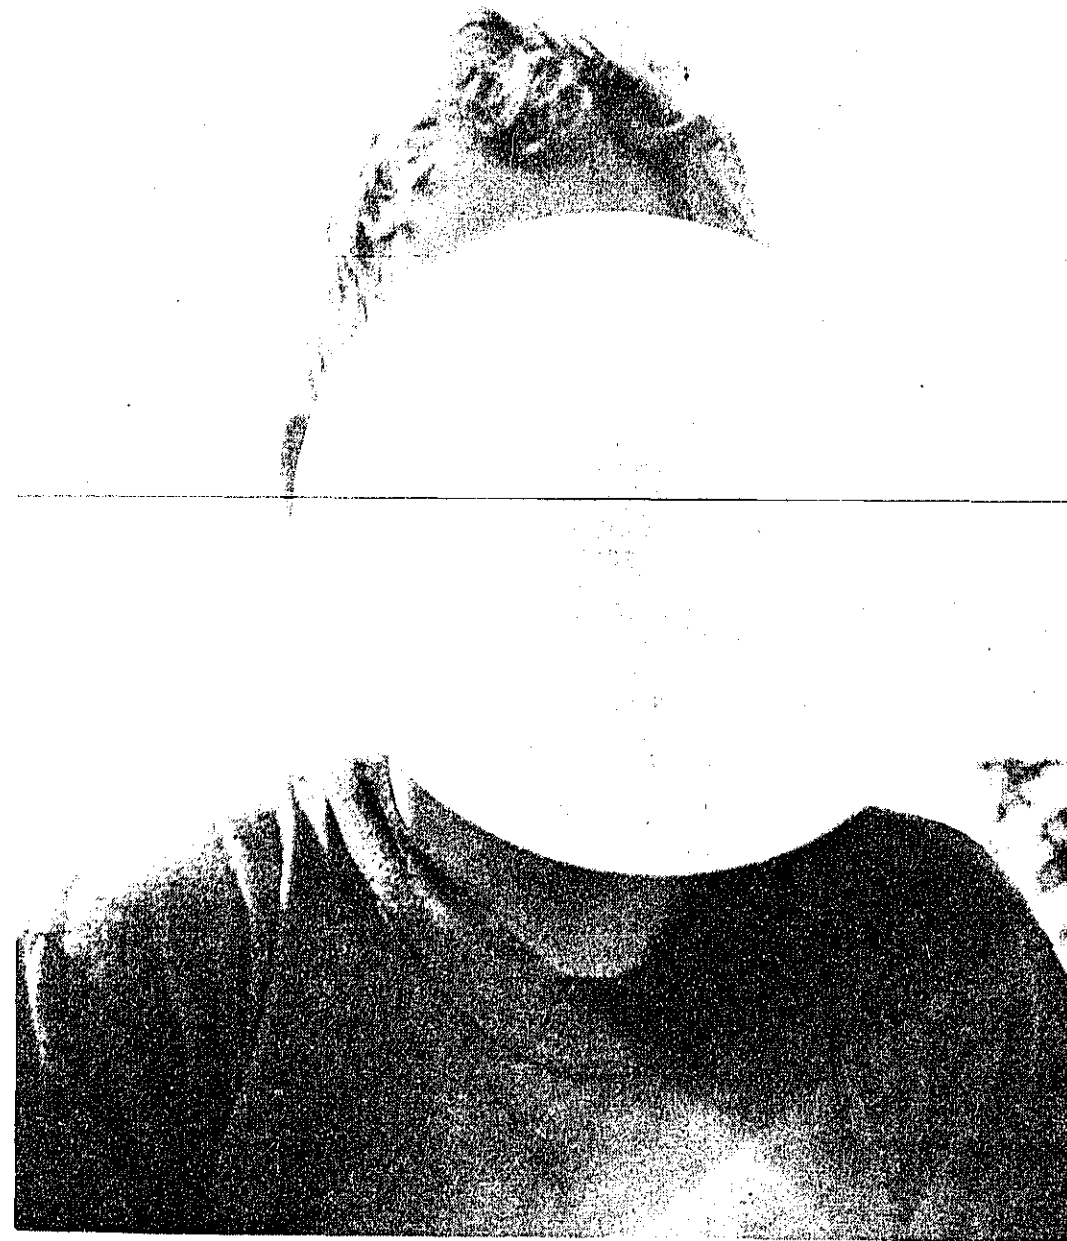

Karr was a passenger in a car driven by Kevin Scott Gaffney, 17, 6567 Elizabeth St., Cass City, who was uninjured.

According to Tuscola county sheriff's reports, Gaffney was northbound on Cemetery Road when another car pulled out of a driveway. Gaffney lost control of the vehicle when he tried to stop on the wet pavement and skidded into a ditch on the east side at 11:30 p.m.

Ricky Duane Ziehm, 17, McAlpine Road, Owendale, and Mary Joy Millerwise, 19, 661 Volz Court, Sebawaing, escaped injury when their cars collided at the intersection of Bay City-Forestville and McEl-downey Roads at 3:15 p.m. Saturday.

According to sheriff's reports, the Millerwise vehicle attempted to pass the Ziehm car as it was making a left turn from the eastbound lane.

Cass City police investigated a minor accident at 3:40 p.m. Thursday, July 13, when cars driven by Shirley Marie Ross, 37, 106 Bay City-Forestville Road, Cass City, and James Vincent Sattleburg, 18, 2777 E. Dickerson Road, Unionville, collided on Main Street near West Street. Sattleburg was making a right turn when the Ross vehicle attempted to pass and didn't see the car.

BEHIND THAT BUBBLE is Jeff Hartel, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Hartel 4192 S. Seeger St., Cass City. His was one of the largest pink gum clouds produced in the contest.

Recreation booming in village

BLOWING BUBBLES takes concentration, judging by the look on Carla Wischmeyer's face. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wischmeyer, 4658 N. Seeger St., Cass City, the 7-year-old was one of about a dozen youngsters that took part in the summer recreation bubble blowing contest Friday.

NOT EVERY bubble is a prize winner, however.

KIDS ALL AGES love bicycling. These youngsters posed for a picture while biking Tuesday under the direction of Mrs. Harriet Richards and the summer recreation program.

AT MUNICIPAL BUILDING, CASS CITY

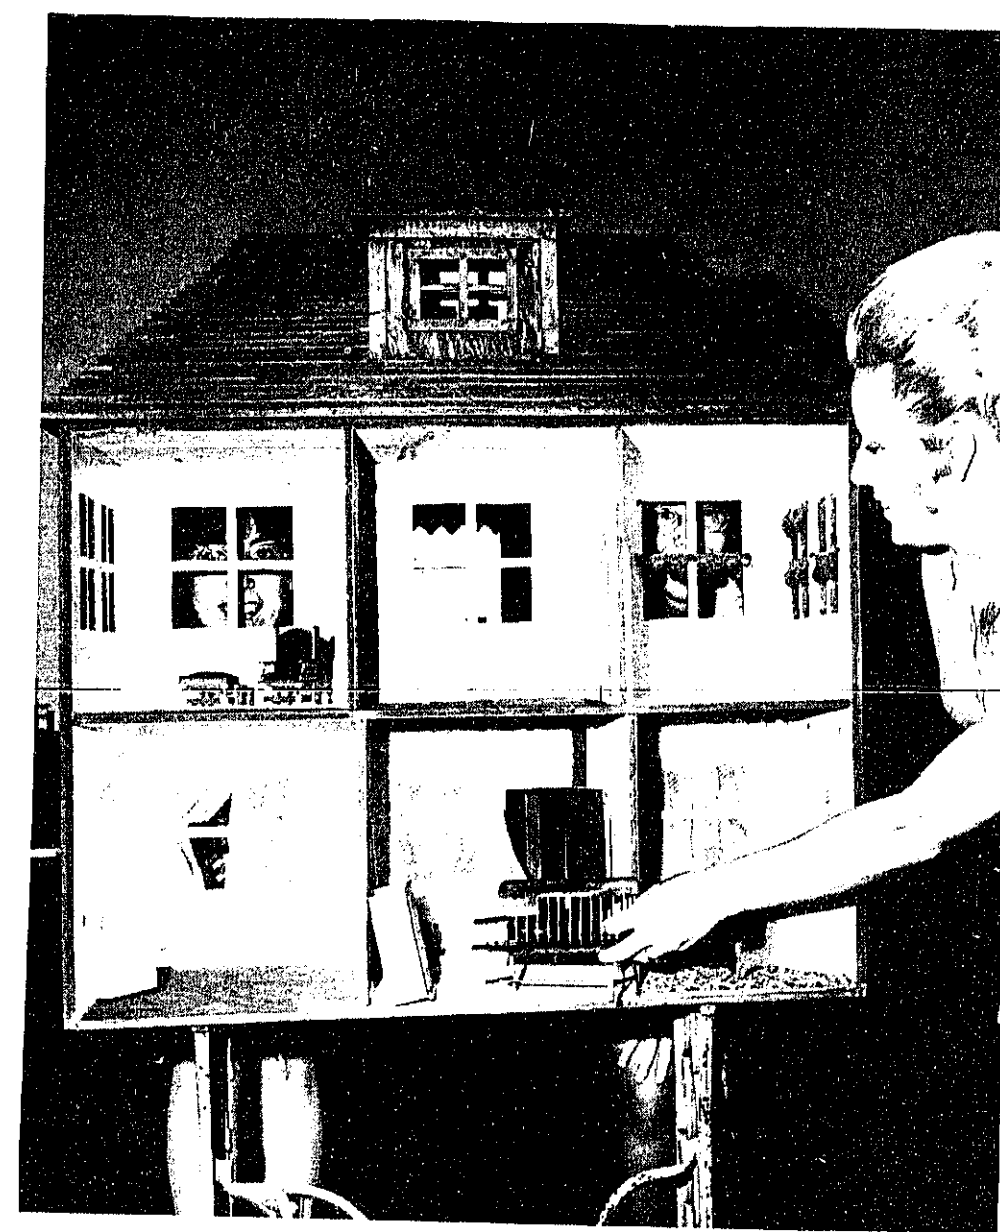

ALL ABOARD! These three young persons are only part of the Artrain staff, working behind the scenes to make everything go just right. The train arrived Tuesday morning, setting local workers into a flurry to finish up last minute details. Top to bottom are: Bob D'Aoust, Delores Slowinski and Ken Allison.

THE FIRST OF MANY, this picture was hung Monday night at the Cultural Center. The art show will provide a setting for the 11 a. m. reception for Mrs. William Milliken and will offer a variety of art types.

Rick Erla, on the ladder, and Mr. and Mrs. James Bauer are doing the hanging.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers at the country store Saturday night perdicted a powerful stir in this country on account of people that ain't gitting born. Zeke Grubb said the folks we got is causing enuff trouble, but them we ain't gitting will raise a bigger fuss. The fellers discussed the situation up one side and down the other after Clem Webster come in with a report on the disappearing birth rate.

Clem said the rate is way down, and signs point to the drop keeping up til we reach what statistical fingerheads call zero growth. This piece Clem had saw went into some of the problems of the economy on account of the low birth rate. He said one baby food company that use to say "babies are our business, our only business" has knocked off the last part and gone into other business to stay in business. Mills that makes diapers is laying off people, and everybody that supplies the baby market is cutting back or gitting out.

Farthermore, Clem said, business folks know that if babies don't git born they don't grow up to watch television, eat cereal and buy ever new style of clothes that comes out. One outfit that makes jeans says they are aiming now fer the older buyer and trying to git folks to wear jeans all their life. The thing is, went on Clem, the hole country is geared to having a market of new babies regular, and now we're going to have to wind down the economy to take up the slack.

Actual, broke in Ed Doolittle, nobody knows what to make of the situation. Ed had saw where the Government was thinking of rewarding folks that don't have younguns, and putting more tax on them that has them. When Congress goes into the not-having-babies business, allowed Ed, it'll work about as good as the not-farming plan. With one hand, Uncle Sam tells us how to raise more on our land, and with the other hand he pays us fer not producing anything. Think of folks that make good money fer not farming that could up their income by signing up fer Guverment non-baby pay, was Ed's words.

Bug Hookum was of the mind we can do better without a bumper crop of babies than with em. Bug reported where some doctors are so busy they have served notice they ain't taking no new patients. That means, says Bug, if you ain't already born and got a established sick record with a doctor, you might as well fergit it, cause if you git born and git sick you're out of luck. Cutting down on babies will give the doctors more time to keep us already here alive longer. Bug said, and the whole thing will even out if everybody wears jeans and starts watching the Saturday morning cartoons and living on cereal and peanut butter.

Personal, Mister Editor, none of the fellers have got to worry about the baby business unless they git in their second childhoods. We're happy ever day to report zero population drop.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Name winners of Holstein cattle show

The Thumb Area Registered Holstein Cattle Breeders came together Wednesday, July 12, for the largest Dairy Cattle Show ever held in the area. Two-hundred and twenty-two head of prize cows, bulls and heifers, were competing for prestige as well as prize money.

Earl Warner of Sandusky was the Show Chairman and conducted a well organized show. The new covered arena at the Sandusky fairgrounds made the day for spectators and animals. It provided shade from the heat and kept everyone dry during the afternoon thunder showers.

All the area counties had animals entered. High Placing by counties are: Huron - 5th place, Sr. Heifer Calf - Dolan Sweeney & Sons; 6th Place, 3 year old - Kathryn Gremel.

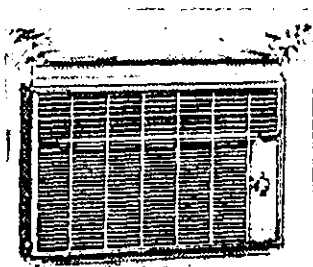

Lapeer - Apache Ranch led all exhibitors with 8 first place animals. Bill Ludwig showed the 1st Place 2 year old cow, St. Clair - Ron Brown, 1st Place, 2 year old Bull, 3 year old and 4 year old cows.

Sanilac - Jack Kaufman, 1st Place Heifer Calf; Jill Anton, 6th Place Jr. Yearling; 7th and 8th Place 2 year old cows were Wanda Kahler and Linda Hodge; 7th Place, Aged Cow, Frank Merriman.

Tuscola - King Street Dairy, Jr. Champion Bull; Clare Carpenter & Sons, 2nd Place Aged Bull.

Macomb - Ron Harmon, 2nd Place Heifer Calf; Dennis Klein, 2 year old Cow; J. McKiernan & Sons, 4 year old Cow.

Representatives from the state and National Holstein Association commented on the high quality of animals exhibited. Glen Cook of Elkhart, Ind., an experienced judge, commented that the 26 animals in the 3 year old class were the best group of 3 year olds he had ever judged.

Judge Baguley accepts 2 pleas

Two persons entered pleas of guilty to reduced charges when they appeared before Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Norman Baguley Monday.

Terry Butterfield, Millington, pleaded guilty to wilfully and maliciously burning property of another more than $50. He was originally charged with arson. He will be sentenced Aug. 28.

Bond was continued at $1000. LeRoy Minnick, Flint, pleaded guilty to impaired driving. He was charged with third offense drunk driving. He will be sentenced Aug. 28 and bond of $1000 was continued.

Dean C. Williams, Grand Rapids, was sentenced for fraud in representing himself as a representative of the Veteran's Administration in the sale of a cemetery lot. He was placed on two years' probation and given fine of $500 and costs of $200. He was also sentenced to 90 days in the county jail.

Letter to Editor

Former Cass City doctor lauds nursing home

Editor's note: The Rev. Melvin R. Vender submitted this letter to the Chronicle. It is written by a former physician in Cass City in answer to Mr. Vender's inquiry.

July 14, 1972

Dear Reverend Vender,

Mrs. Tazelaar and I just returned home from a two weeks' vacation, and I am sorry to be late in answering your letter before the deadline earlier this week.

I could not offer an opinion as to the site of construction, because it has been a few years since our last visit to Cass City, but I could recommend Provincial Homes to Cass City without qualification.

I can easily state that in Marshall Provincial Homes have built a beautiful and functional Physical Plant that should be a welcome addition to any community whether placed in a rural, business, or residential setting.

For a nursing home, I feel they have been outstanding in their superb care of patients, and in their selection of outstanding, well qualified, and concerned nurses to care for these people. The Provincial Home in Marshall is always clean, more than adequately staffed, and truly reflects a pleasant place to be.

I usually have between 20-25 patients in this facility, and I am there at least once or twice a week and at all hours so I think I know the facts.

Also of community interest is the fact that they must employ 3 shifts of people not to mention maintenance and kitchen help which creates many new jobs for the area.

I do hope that Cass City is fortunate enough to have Provincial Homes locate in the city.

My Best to you
Sincerely
Myron A. Tazelaar, MD

4-H ACTIVITIES

4-H promotes health

By Bernard Jardot

Drug abuse, the problems of air and water pollution, helping the retarded, caring about the elderly, organizing blood drives and distributing health information. These are some of the things that 4-H'ers across the country have done this year, by participating in the 4-H Health Program.

and inform and help improve the health of their friends, their families and their neighbors.

4-H members have almost unlimited opportunities for service in health projects. In fact, many clubs have used novel techniques to put across the message of better health.

For further information about organizing 4-H Health Programs in Tuscola county, you should contact the County 4-H Office, Civil Defense Center, Caro.

Not only do 4-H'ers look for ways to maintain and improve their own health, but they try to go out into their communities

BECKER'S ZOO

distance between visitors and the animals for their mutual protection, also requires their being home all the time.

Another aspect that will require some investigation is getting food. Becker explained that they can buy monkey biscuits from Purina, but he doesn't know where he can find polar bear food yet.

When the zoo is completed, visitors will be able to enjoy picnic lunches near a brook and watch the animals in cages scattered over the grounds. Youngsters will be able to take pony rides on a live merry-go-round.

When the Beckers are finished buying animals, about 40-45 varieties will comprise the zoo.

"I don't know if we're going to make any money on it, but we're going to open it anyway," said Becker.

Senior Citizens

meet Thursday

The Senior Citizens met Thursday, July 13, at the Cultural Center for potluck dinner.

Esther McCullough showed slides of the trip she and Alice McAleer made to Hawaii this spring.

Five ladies who had July birthdays were honored with a birthday cake provided by Gladys Fort, and each received a gift.

The next meeting of the group will be Thursday, Aug. 10, and will be a picnic at the park. All senior citizens are invited to attend.

Tradition bound Supreme Court starts computer use

A Michigan first! Computers have come to the tradition-bound Michigan Supreme Court.

The court and the Michigan Court of Appeals both are starting programs through which all their orders and opinions will be printed up by a computer rather than going through the handwork which has always been needed in the past.

The change makes Michigan the first state to contract for computerized publication and printing of its official court reports and simultaneous creation of a data bank in a computer where the reports are "stored" for future access.

As the computer reads pages for printing the reports, it also prepares a copy to be put on magnetic tape that can be "read" by other computers. The courts keep a duplicate tape as a data bank for future information retrieval.

The contract for the computerization is with The Lawyers Cooperative Publishing Co., Inc., of Rochester, N. Y. The firm is a large legal publishing house which has worked with Michigan courts for 24 years.

The data bank storing information will make it possible for lawyers and courts to have quick accessibility to all opinions in the data bank.

Under such a system, the person wanting information on a certain type case "tells" the computer what information is needed. The computer then pulls out cases coded for that subject area and displays them on a television-like cathode ray screen.

One computer serves a large number of keyboards through transmission lines.

Both the Michigan Supreme Court and Court of Appeals have followed a time-honored pattern in publishing reports in the past.

As soon as a court decision was available in typewritten form, it was mailed to the printing company. The decisions were keyboarded onto disk storage within a computer system, printed out for proof reading and mailed back to the court for checking.

The use of the television-like screen to read what is in the computer means it is no longer necessary to print the proof sheets and that corrections can be made immediately.

Consideration is being given now to reducing the three-week period by using a terminal keyboard in Lansing through which corrections could be transmitted directly to the computer in Rochester.

The same computer-television screen setup produces most of the national news you see in your newspapers these days.

Both major American wire services, United Press International and the Associated Press, are using the system to edit copy and then transmit it on their teletypes.

There have been some problems, of course, but as they are ironed out it is obvious the computer setup helps eliminate errors and produces a more steady flow of news over the wires.

Report theft of tool box

Mrs. Stuart Copeland, Dorance Road, Kingston, reported the theft of $150 worth of tools from her husband's truck. The tool box was taken sometime between June 30 and July 4, she told Tuscola county sheriff's deputies, although the report was made Friday.

POLLUTION AND TREES

People and animals aren't the only ones who are bothered by air pollution.

Horticulturists at Michigan State University say trees along heavily traveled urban freeways take a real beating from auto fumes, industrial and household pollutants and mist from salt used in the winter on the roads.

The plant scientists are in the midst of a study to see what kind of tree, if any, can do well, or at least live, in that type of surrounding. They have planted more than 1,000 trees with a total of 28 species represented on three freeway interchanges in Wayne and Oakland counties.

PAYS OFF

The species range from Austrian pine and Norway spruce to horse chestnuts, honey locusts and crab apples. White pine and other trees already known to be sensitive to urban pollutants also were planted so the scientists will be able to make a comparison.

The long-range goal for the project, being undertaken in conjunction with the Highway Department, is to attempt to beautify city freeways and other highways with large, healthy trees.

For the next three years, the trees will be checked regularly for growth rates, evidence of tolerance to salt mist and other pollutants, malformations and other signs of damage.

The burden of responsibility carries within itself compensation in an equal amount.

Yanks add play-off toga to regular season title

The Yankees added the play-off title to the regular season championship Monday night with a 7-3 extra inning decision over the Tigers.

It was probably the best played and most exciting game of the season.

In the end it was the pitching depth that told the story.

Both teams started out strong, scoring two runs. The game remained deadlocked until the fourth when the Tigers went in front with a single counter.

The Yanks tied it with a last inning rally as Dean Severance and Tony Doerr cracked back-to-back doubles.

In the last of the sixth the Tigers loaded the bases with nobody out. Clarke Haire bore down to retire the next three batters on strikes to get out of the inning and send the game into overtime.

League rules prevent pitchers from going more than six innings within a week and Ken Martin, who pitched a fine game for the Tigers, and Haire were forced to retire.

The Tigers staff was down to Jack Kappen who was touched in the eighth for four runs to ice the contest for the Yanks.

Meanwhile, the Yanks had Jeff Hartel ready to fire and he shut out the Tigers and got credit for the victory. The Tigers were kept in the game by two outstanding fielding plays by Steve Richards in center-field.

GIANTS—ORIOLES

The Giants who failed to win a game all year made it a glorious ending to the year as they upset the Orioles, 10-6, in the opening play-off game.

Ernie Stautenburg pitched the win, striking out 11 and allowing just two hits. Keith Pobanz started for the Orioles and took the loss.

TIGERS—PIRATES

The luck of the draw pitted the two second place teams against each other in the opening round. The Tigers won, 10-5.

Mike Richards went the distance, allowing just three hits while striking out 11. Dean O'Harris was nearly as effective. He whiffed 11 and allowed five hits. Walks proved to be his downfall. Ken Martin slapped out two hits in three tries for the winners while Faron Alexander was two for two for the losers.

TIGERS—GIANTS

The Tigers unveiled a new pitcher for their game with the Giants in the second round and the question the coaches were asking each other after the game was, "Why did we wait so long?"

All Ballard did in his first and only Little League career start was pitch a no-hitter as the Tigers moved into the finals with a 24-0 decision.

The Tigers only picked up six hits, but numerous walks and errors made it no contest after the third inning when the Tigers scored six times.

YANKS—CUBS

The Yanks moved into the finals with an easy 14-3 decision over the Cubs. Jeff Hartel started on the mound for the Yanks and pitched the first three innings. He allowed one hit and one run before being relieved by Tim Severance who mopped up.

Haire and Doerr led the hitting attack with two hits in three tries while the Cubs' five hits were scattered among five players.

RUNNERS-UP to the Yanks were the Tigers who were probably the most improved team in the league in the last quarter of the season.

Methodists dominate in early church league play

It's fair to say that in the early games this year the Methodists have dominated play in the Cass City Church League.

The Trinity United Methodists from Cass City, the defending play-off champions, continued where they left off last year by winning their first five games.

They are facing a stiff challenge from the OwenGage Methodists who are undefeated in three starts. In all the two teams have an 8-0 record.

Still the season is young and chances are that both clubs will taste defeat before the curtain goes down on another season.

Last Wednesday, for instance, Deford Community Church pushed the Trinity Methodists to the limit before bowing 10-9 in nine innings. Deford has won only once in six starts.

It's easy to see that anything can happen on any night.

Tuesday, July 11, OwenGage was tested by Colwood. The second-place team used some big sticks to register a 14-8 decision.

In the nightcap the Baptists used some excellent pitching to down Shabbona-Deford, 3-0.

Another close game was recorded Thursday when Lamotte outlasted Church of Christ, 7-6, to win. A late inning rally proved enough to knock Church of Christ from the unbeaten.

The close games came to an end Friday as both games were one-sided.

The Catholics who have had trouble getting untracked in defense of their league title, came alive to run away from Colwood, 11-3. Fraser-Cass City United Missionary pounded out an 11-3 win over Deford Community.

The standings:

Erla's drop home game to Vassar

For the first time this year Erla's lost a game in the Thumb Traveling League before the home folks.

Playing Monday night at Cass City Recreational Park the Foodmen bowed to undefeated Vassar State Bank, 2-1.

It was a heart breaking loss for Al Bosch who showed again he is as good as there is in the Thumb even though he was whipped.

Vassar loaded the bases on a pair of hits and a hit batter in the fourth. With no one out, Bosch got the next two men on a pop to the catcher and a strike-out. With two away a run scored as a low pitch got away from the Erla catcher. On the next pitch the last batter in the inning fanned.

Erla's came back to tie it up on hits by Rollie Nickolas and John Langhorn in the sixth.

The game remained scoreless until the top of the 10th. With two away Fred Hecht slammed a ball to the fence for what appeared to be a triple. But the ball was momentarily bobbled in centerfield and he romped home with an unearned run that proved to be the ball game.

WIN AND LOSE

Erla's played two other games during the week, winning and losing.

The loss was to Sebewaing Old Heidelberg, 5-1, at Akron. Dick Suhr started and took the loss. Easlick started and won for Sebewaing.

In the winning effort, Erla's topped Akron, 4-1, at Reese.

Bosch was back on the mound. He was touched for six hits while his teammates solved Jim Volk for seven hits. Elwyn Helwig was two for three and Walt Hempton cracked a home run with two men on base in the first inning.

Thursday, July 20, Erla's will play Unionville at Unionville at 7:20 p.m. Monday, July 24, Reese Muellers will be the opponents in a game slated at 8:20 p.m. at Sebewaing.

Football meet

5p.m. Monday

Boys in grade 9-12 who are interested in playing football this fall at Cass City High School are requested to meet at the football field Monday, July 24, at 5 p.m.

The meeting will be short, said Captain Curt Strickland.
