By John Haire

If I were a teacher and my ultimate aim were to move into administration the last job in the world I would take would be as a member of the teachers' union bargaining team.

A couple of unsuccessful candidates for the Deford principal's job were in this position. They worked for the Cass City Teachers' Association. There is nothing that says that a union bargainer can't jump to the other side of the fence... but. Negotiations sometimes can be bitter and it's all too human to remember at least subconsciously what's gone on before.

Don't consider this as a knock on Dave Lovejoy's selection. In his two years here he's done a lot of good things and we congratulate him on his chance to move upwards in his career.

Roland Pakonen has made a jump into the higher echelons of coaching and we've heard nothing but good words about it.

If he establishes his reputation here he will have earned it. For Pakonen steps into the hot seat this fall as mentor for the Red Hawks.

Local fans are looking for a winner and nothing else will do. Just a winning season will not be enough. Ordinarily it would be, but in 1973 it's championship or bust among most grid fans.

Don't you dare call Cass City High School Athletic Director Robert Stickle a male chauvinist. He's taking care of the girls.

Almost ready to be published for the first time in history will be a schedule for girls' sports. If this trend continues it won't be long before the girls' coaches will also be hired in closed door "executive" sessions.

Is it my imagination or are birds more plentiful today than they were a couple of years ago when everyone sprayed with DDT?

Walking to work I saw a Red Headed Woodpecker, numerous Robins, the ubiquitous Sparrows and Starlings and several other species that I couldn't identify. All this from a guy who is zilch as a bird watcher. There just have to be more birds.

Hero medals should be dished out collectively and individually to the guys and gals (15 of 'em) who descended on the school board meeting Monday to find out what was going on.

Nothing to harp about. No axes to grind (at least not yet). Just attending to try and find out what's going on.

If we could multiply their number by 100 we'd have a different, and better, school system.

It would take a minor earthquake to get me to one of these meetings if it weren't my job.

Usually they are dull, prosaic things that nearly lull you to sleep. Maybe that's why 15 instead of 1500 attended.

Owen-Gage school seeks 4.6 acres

A joint meeting between Owendale-Gagetown and Unionville-Sebewaing school boards of education held one week ago was one topic of discussion at the Owen-Gage board meeting Monday night.

Dr. Ray Koehn from the University of Michigan is conducting a study of the areas involved to determine if a merger is a reasonable thing to consider for the districts.

The report is expected to be completed in September. The two districts have been discussing a merger for some time.

In other business, the board instructed Supt. Glenn Sanford to study cost estimates for purchasing about 4.6 acres of land west of the Gagetown elementary school for use as a general playground.

The present playground is inadequate, he said.

Two teacher contracts were signed. Miss Sharon Ogle was hired to teach girls physical education, and Mrs. Suzanne Custer was employed as a fifth grade teacher for Owendale Elementary School.

The board adopted a resolution to join the Michigan High School Athletic Association. It also instructed Sanford to devise a procedure for hiring non-certified substitute personnel.

The board was informed the Owen-Gage School has tentatively been accredited for 1972-73.

LeRoy Graham buried Saturday

Funeral services were conducted Saturday afternoon for LeRoy Graham, 77, from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City. Interment was in Elkland cemetery. The Rev. Ira Wood, pastor of the Salem United Methodist Church, officiated.

Mr. Graham died Thursday, Aug. 10, at Hills and Dales Hospital where he had been a patient one day. He had been in ill health the past three years.

He was born Jan. 25, 1895, in Coles, Ill., and was united in marriage to Miss Thelma Lown in Bowling Green, Ohio, March 25, 1944.

Mr. Graham was employed as superintendent of maintenance for the U. S. Truck Company until 1950 when he retired and moved to a farm north of Cass City. In 1970, he moved to Cass City where he lived until his death.

He was a life member of the Ionic Lodge No. 474 F&AM of Detroit and a World War I veteran, serving in the A.E.F.

Surviving are his widow; one sister, Mrs. Bessie Johnson, Indianapolis, Ind.; two brothers: Fred, Hazel Dells, Ill., and Charles, Mattoon, Ill., and a number of nieces and nephews. Two sisters and one brother preceded him in death.

"If It Fitz . . ." Golf needs medical help

JIM FITZGERALD

A surgeon has suggested there should be no pitchers in boys' baseball because it is bad for the kids' arms. He said a machine should be used to hurl the ball toward the batter.

I'll go along with that, happily. My motive is simple: I hope the idea will catch on and possibly spread to golf.

Dr. Joseph Godfrey is the surgeon who wants to bench young pitchers. He is chief of orthopedic surgery at Buffalo Children's Hospital.

"No kid of mine would ever pitch Little League baseball," he said. "The possibilities of sustaining permanent elbow restrictions of motion may definitely stem from throwing overhead at an early age."

I got to thinking about Dr. Godfrey while playing golf the other day.

My partner and I were riding in an electric cart, naturally. I haven't carried a bag around 18 holes since the invention of the wheel. I hired a caddy only once. I didn't mind the little kid snickering at my swing but it was too much when he began hollering across fairways to his buddies to "C'mere, ya gotta see this!"

Anyway, this was a beautiful day, the day I decided golf could use a Dr. Godfrey. The sun was warm but there was a sweet breeze. The grass was lush. It would take a poet, not a scribbler, to describe the lovely view down the fairways, over the ponds and traps, to the greens. When Mother Nature gets time off from margarine commercials, I'll bet she hangs around a golf course. When the weather is right, and the greenskeeper is ambitious there is nothing prettier.

Also, we were packing a slogging thermos which dispensed cold gin and tonic at the bend of an elbow which, fortunately, wasn't bugged up 35 years ago pitching baseballs.

BETTER HEALTH

The dangers of poison ivy

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Many people know about the usual symptoms that can come as a result of getting oil from the leaves of a poison ivy, oak or sumac plant on the skin. A rash may appear on the body. More than two million cases of poison ivy rash are reported each year, but what most people do not know is that direct contact with one of the red-leaved plants is not necessary to produce the rash.

According to two Indiana doctors, George F. Parker and Patrick C. Logan of the Indianapolis Community Hospital, the oil-like extract that causes the trouble (called rhus oleoresin) can affect a sensitive person literally "through the air"—carried by pollen or by smoke from burning leaves.

The worst case of poison ivy I ever saw was in a friend of mine, a man who drove through a heavy cloud of smoke that was coming from a pile of brush being burned by a farmer near a country road in California. Evidently there was much poison ivy being burned, and the oil had gotten into the smoke. My friend soon became desperately ill and had to be rushed to the emergency room of a hospital. He had inhaled the smoke and his bronchial passage and lungs had become affected. The exposed parts of his body became so inflamed that he looked as if he had been badly burned.

Also the oil can remain active for months on anything it has touched—such objects as sporting equipment, clothing or shoes, and even the fur of pets.

Very interesting to me was the case of a married woman who developed a skin rash on her hands and arms that her local dermatologist said looked like the rash due to poison ivy. But she could not believe that, because she said that she had not been anywhere where she could possibly have come in contact with the plant. Her home was on the edge of a hilly forest, but she said that she never went out into the brush and tall grass beyond her yard.

One day when I was giving a medical address in her city, I stopped to see her and her family, and she told me about her distress with the recurring rash. When I saw that she had a dog, I asked, "Does the dog ever go into the forest?" and she said that he did. I suggested that she keep him inside for a while, and see if the rash would go away. Some weeks later she reported that at last she was free of the distress. Apparently what had happened was that the dog, brushing against the poison ivy leaves and breaking them, or lying in the plants and crushing them, had gotten the oil on his fur, and when he came home and the women petted him, her sensitive skin broke out.

Then one day, months later, she broke out again. What had happened this time was that her two boys had gone out into the forest, and when they came home and took off their blue jeans, she had picked them up and thrown them into the washing machine, thus the poison ivy oil had gotten onto her skin.

People vary in their sensitivity to the poison. The doctors say that people tend to be less sensitive to the poison as they grow older. Also I read that although people can develop poison ivy rashes any time of the year, more cases are reported in the summer, simply because more people are outdoors.

To show how differently people can react to an allergen (gen means to cause), many years ago my brother used to hunt rabbits on a grassy mountain side, and then come home and kiss Mother. Her face would become swollen, and develop the rash of poison ivy. What happened was that my brother had gotten the oil of the plant in his perspiration on his face, but he was not sensitive to it, and my mother was.

A friend of mine who was a ranch surveyor had much trouble with poison ivy until he learned that he must immediately take a warm bath upon arriving home. The experts say, however, that washing with soap and water or cleansing with alcohol should be done within 15 minutes after exposure to the oil if it is to work well. It is a good idea, however, to wash any objects that might have come in contact with the poisonous plant.

There are many home remedies, but some of these can do more harm than good. The rash generally lasts perhaps two or three weeks, and the itching and blisters and swelling can be soothed somewhat by applying cool, wet dressings. It is a good idea to call a dermatologist (skin specialist) and have him suggest a soothing lotion or cream.

Everyone should learn how to recognize the trouble-making plants, and carefully avoid any contact with them.

AROUND THE FARM

Limit corn loss

by William Bortel

A new chemical is now being used by farmers in Michigan as a scare crow to protect their corn against blackbirds. Each year, blackbirds appear to be more abundant and hurt corn in areas near state land or other areas where birds stay overnight.

Avitrol-treated cracked corn bait is the chemical used as the scare crow. The material is used at the rate of 1 lb. per acre and is treated once a week for three weeks until corn reaches the early dent stage when blackbirds find it tough to get through the husks.

It takes only one pound of cracked corn bait per acre to do the job and only one per cent of that corn is treated - the rest is normal cracked corn.

When the birds come to feed, one or two eat the treated bait. Within 10 to 15 minutes these birds begin to emit distress calls before they die. Their shrieks frighten away the other birds for a day or two. When the flock returns, the same thing happens. By applying Avitrol in the three week series, fields can be kept relatively bird-free until the corn is no longer susceptible to damage.

By aerial application, fields will be peppered with the treated cracked corn bait at an estimated cost of $2.40 to $3.00 an acre for the entire series of treatments.

Avitrol is about as close to the perfect chemical of its kind you could hope to find. First, it kills few birds and this pleases conservationists. Also, treated corn is dropped in the middle of the fields where few songbirds feed so there is little risk to desirable birds. Another advantage is that Avitrol, in the doses used, is not toxic to other animals.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Did you see that item in the paper the other day where this housewife piled all her dirty clothes in the middle of the kitchen floor and set fire to em? That may be a blow for wimmen liberation, but my bet is, Mister Editor, that her washing machine broke down agin and she went temporary insane. She probably had one of them electronic models with 10 cycles that would do everthing but work.

General speaking, the more technical marvels we dream up the more headaches we got. I know it's that way in yore business. It used to be you could fix yore equipment yoreself, or call in the blacksmith. Now with them computers all you can do is put in a telephone jack beside the thing where you can call the factory and tell a technician where it hurts. That way you are lucky. If they have to send a feller to work on it, you can buy a new one nearly fer what the repair bill is.

Actual, we still got "lifetime guarantees," but now you got to go to court to figger out whose life the guarantee is talking about, yores or the 30-day warranty. I have studied this situation up one side and down the other, and I have figgered that the troubles of appliance, equipment and car owners runs according to service to keep it going. Soon or late, everybody is going to have a houseful of technical miracles that won't work. It use to be said that a feller could drain all his resources trying to support a flashlight, a car, the smoking habit and a old lady. Now you can multiply that list by the 30 or so gadgets in the average house.

I see by the papers where a team at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology has started a two-year study of "servicing, reliability and maintenance of consumer durables," which I take to cover everthing from battery-powered back scratchers to jet planes. That team, Mister Editor, has got their work cut out fer em.

Practical speaking, most of that study probable will be like that $118,000 Government study of noisy truck tires. They figgered out the tires wouldn't be so loud if the trucks would slow down. That's as much help to me as this item in the New York City budget that sets up a department to clean up after "relieved dogs." They already got a law agin dogs "relieving" in the street, but that ain't been much help.

But jest when we git the idee the country is going to gadgit itself to a grinding halt, we see by the papers where Nader has found out that Australia is falling apart to. Folks down under is suffering the same kind of technical stroke we're having, according to Nader.

Personal, I'd like to git in on this gadgit revolution afore we are took over complete by computers. All I need is some-pon I can make for a dollar, rent for a dollar a month, and is habit-forming.

Yours truly, Uncle Tim

I'm Serious!

Maybe you like smiling babies? Sorry to disappoint you, but I've got a lot on my mind.

There's something wrong in America . . . and I'm the chap who is getting hurt!

Our Constitution says that no one can be denied the right to worship God. I'm an American! According to the Constitution I have the right to learn about God, to hear the Bible Stories, to be taught the Christian Way of Life.

But here's the hitch. While the Government can't deny me the right to attend church school and church—MY PARENTS CAN. They can rob me of my most sacred right just by neglecting my spiritual needs.

Did you know that about half the children in America are growing up without religious training? And yet there's a church in every village!

Yes sir, I'm serious! Instead of talking about it, we ought to do something! And we ought to start Sunday!

5 appear in Circuit Court on criminal charges

Two men were arraigned and three sentenced Monday when they appeared in Tuscola County Circuit Court before Judge Norman Baguley.

Delbert W. Martin, Caro, stood mute to a charge of resisting an officer, and a plea of innocent was entered for him. Bond of $750 was continued and a pre-trial scheduled for Aug. 28.

Courtney Bedell, Vassar, also stood mute at his arraignment for felonious assault. A plea of innocent was entered for him and bond was continued at $500. A pre-trial was scheduled for Aug. 28.

Larry Wascher, Reese, and Ronald Wascher, Saginaw, were each placed on 2 years' probation and given fine and costs of $400 for attempted larceny of livestock. The two men pleaded guilty to the charge of attempting to steal a Holstein steer earlier.

Andrew Martinez, Fairgrove, was sentenced on a charge of malicious destruction to six months in jail with seven days credit. He was convicted of the charge in July following a trial before the judge. Martinez was charged with breaking the front glass door of the Hotel Montague, Caro.

Frank Holcomb, Deford, was found innocent of a charge of unlawfully driving away with the automobile of another after a jury trial last week.

The innocent verdict came at 10:40 a. m. Wednesday, Aug. 9, after about three hours of deliberation begun the day before.

Doerr-Johnson reunion held

The fourth annual Doerr-Johnson reunion was held Sunday at the Cass City Recreation Park, with 77 attending. Picnic lunch was served and games were played.

Charles Doerr of Tarpon Springs, Fla., was the oldest man present and Cora Johnson of Algonac was the oldest lady. Henry Doerr Jr. of Los Angeles, Calif., came the farthest; Florence and Don Schott of Saginaw were the most recently married, and Brian Buchanan of Bad Axe was the youngest present. Luke and Evelyn Tuckey had the largest family present, with all eight of their children represented.

Those attending came from Lansing, Algonac, Saginaw, Flint, Rhodes, Edwardsburg, Caro, Fairgrove, Cass City and Bad Axe, Mich.; Florida, California and Chicago, Ill.

Next year's reunion is scheduled the second Sunday in August at the same place.

Girl Scout leaders needed

Girl Scout leaders are desperately needed to take over local troops this fall, reports Mrs. Karen Fischer.

Leaders are needed for all phases of Girl Scouting. Five Brownie leaders are needed, five junior leaders and two cadette leaders.

Only three leaders are returning from last year, said Mrs. Fischer, a leader. Last year they turned girls away because they just didn't have enough women interested in leading troops. This year about 120 girls are expected, enough for three Brownie troops, ages 7 and 8; three junior troops, ages 9, 10 and 11; and one cadette troop, ages 12, 13 and 14.

Mrs. Fischer explained that anyone interested in girls is welcome. No special talents are needed, she emphasized.

Programs are usually laid out by the council, she added. Brownies spend much time working on crafts and the older girls usually work toward badges.

Troops usually meet after school, one day a week, for about an hour or hour and a half.

Interested women should contact Mrs. Fischer at 872-2742.

Police probe attempted burglary

An attempted breaking and entering was reported Wednesday, Aug. 9, at 6556 Doughton St., Cass City, to Cass City police by an area neighbor.

Investigation showed that the knob on the back door had been pried off and a leather punch from a jackknife had been broken off in the door. Entry was not made.

Mrs. Carl Palmateer, Main St., Cass City, reported the larceny of a bicycle Saturday. That same day, Ray Spaulding reported the theft of a two gallon can of gas from his home at the corner of M-81 and Hurds Corner Road.

Teach cleanliness habits

MRS. ANN ROSS - EXTENSION AGENT

Basic grooming and cleanliness habits learned at a young age go a long way towards preventing skin problems later.

Many times when a child is on his own, his cleanliness standards go down. It's so easy to neglect foreheads when they are covered with bangs. Children think it takes too long to wash their neck and that ears and soap do not go together.

Mothers more often than not will find they must continually remind their youngsters of this Children do not realize the importance of cleanliness.

Mom can help promote good cleanliness habits by making sure there are plenty of clean towels, wash cloths or sponges available for each individual. She'll also probably have to keep a watchful eye out to see that they are used.

Good grooming and cleanliness habits learned early goes a long way towards preventing skin problems later.

the State Board of Canvassers release the voting machines and ballot boxes.

Rotary Exchange student

Hosts tell Cara Prieskorn what to expect in Rhodesia

Table listing various cars for sale, including models like '72 VEGA GT, '70 CHEV. IMPALA, '69 PONTIAC CATALINA, etc.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Miss Cara Prieskorn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Prieskorn, is scheduled to leave Monday for Salisbury, Rhodesia, as a Cass City Rotary sponsored exchange student.

A Junior at Cass City High School she will spend a year on the African continent. This letter written to her parents indicates that she will enter a fine, friendly home with much opportunity to visit and study.

Box 2139 Salisbury August 7th

My Dear Gerald and Geraldine, I hope you will not mind my using your first names, but it is so much more friendly and we shall be writing to each other a lot over the next year. I must warn you my typing is somewhat erratic, as I have just picked it up at home, but its better than my hand writing.

We were so delighted to hear Cara will be arriving on the 20th. That means she will be in plenty of time to settle in with us before we set off on a couple of weeks touring round the country. We have a trailer, as you call it, with six bunks, and an extra separate tent, plus large side tent so there is plenty of room for everyone. We hope to visit a marvellous game reserve which none of us have yet seen and then down to what is called the Low veld, where vast crops of sugar and citrus are grown under irrigation, and back via high mountainous country where trout fishing is the big attraction.

Now to answer your questions. Our hot dry season starts the end of August through September, so Cara should bring a bathing suit, summer dresses (mainly minis for day and maxis for evening) hot pants and jeans. Also one ski jacket for cold evenings, and a few warmer sweaters. The nights are always cool, especially when out camping. Sandals, a shawl or poncho for evening are useful and for the journey Jackie found a very light weight casual jacket useful. Send all winter things by post and address it "Rotary exchange student" on all packages, then the customs do not charge on it. (Used clothing, personal). Films we have in plenty and if she can bring a cine-movie I think this is much better than a camera. (but it's expensive).

Jackie adores shopping and clothes and makes a lot herself, but in the States she got used to wearing only jeans and tops and no make up. Here girls go in more for mini dresses because they are so cool.

You certainly are a big family, so I am sure Cara will have no difficulty in getting on with us. We are a very happy family, I like to think. I do not work but I dash about our two acres of garden like a mad thing at times and never have enough time to do all the things I want to do. These include teaching yoga, gardening, dressmaking, travel and studying philosophy, plus ordinary reading. We try to go to all the plays, concerts and films which come on, mainly the latter, and as Salisbury is a capital city there is quite a lot going on, even though it's only a small city in the middle of a vast continent.

We live in a large suburb on the edge of the country and we keep birds, chickens, and two dogs, one an adorable nine week old German shepherd alsatian pup. I am mad about gardening and would like to be out in it all day long. At the moment we have three staff, a cook called Benjamin who is excellent, a house maid called Barbara, who does all the washing and the bedrooms, and her husband who works in the garden. He is rather brainless, but tremendously hardworking; we grow a lot of our own vegetables, and have oranges, lemons and bananas in the garden.

Paul is a very unorthodox Jew and I am a very unorthodox Anglican. The children are brought up as liberal minded Anglicans and our mixed religious background has never caused us any trouble. Paul's family live here too and his mother is eighty one and his father is eighty two and an absolute darling, very young in heart and active for her age. She plays bridge several times a week and her only failing is deafness, which she refuses to acknowledge. It causes much confusion!

Till August 20th then Cara, have a wonderful journey over, we'll be there to meet you at the airport.

With all good wishes, Yours sincerely, Hazel and Paul

Leaders Win

Weather stymies play in church league

Old man weather did most of the pitching in the Cass City Church League last week but all of the league leaders were able to get in a game. For three of them it strengthened their position at the top. For the fourth, Owen-Gage, it spelled curtains to hopes for a title.

Thursday the Trinity Methodists snapped a recent slump with a convincing 11-5 decision over Church of Christ. Church of Christ started strong with five runs in the first but that was all for them for the night. The Methodists rallied with a run in the third, five runs in the fourth, two in the fifth and three more in the sixth to win going away. Dennis Little led Church of Christ with two hits while Rick Lorentzen and Jerry Toner got as many for the Methodists. In the early game, Shabbona stopped the Lutherans, 3-0.

Information for the application for fish may be acquired from the Soil Conservation Service Office at 852 S. Hooper Street, Caro, Michigan.

Appoint Johnson to Commissioner post

Harold E. Johnson, Caro, was appointed to fill the post of commissioner from District 4, Indianfields township, by Tuscola county commissioners Thursday, Aug. 10.

The post has been vacant since May when William Tuckey was appointed to fill the post in District 1, following Donald Graf's resignation as commissioner of that district to accept a job with the equalization department.

Tuckey, who had been commissioner from District 4, had resigned after moving from Indianfields township to Almer township in District 1.

Johnson's appointment came two days after the primary election and some reports and dissidence that the Republican winner of the nomination in Tuesday's primary, J. Benson Collon, would receive the appointment.

Johnson is a former supervisor of Indianfields township, and former commissioner from that district. He resigned several years ago from the board and Tuckey was appointed to fill his term then. Johnson will remain

Grid hopefuls needed at park

He issued a special invitation to all Freshmen and Sophomore candidates to attend. Working out at the first session Monday were 32 boys.

The pre-season activity starts in earnest next Monday when two-a-day sessions are carded and the coaching staff will start thinking about prospects for the various positions on the team.

SCHOOL OPENINGS

The only new program in the Intermediate school is the resumption of industrial education after a two-year absence.

In the high school, curricula additions include psychology, regional geography, stenotyping, Spanish 3 and conversational German. New study hall rules will also become effective. Unless a student rides a school bus, he will not be required to attend study hall during the first or last periods of the day.

Approximately 30 students will also participate in the co-op study program, allowing them to work part time while going to school and receiving credit for hours spent working. This program will be implemented as soon as vocational certification is received from the state.

OWEN-GAGE

School begins Wednesday, Aug. 30, at 8:35 a.m. for all students in the Owendale-Gagetown School District. Class schedules and locker assignments for high school students will be available 9-11 a.m. and 1-2 p.m. on the following days: seniors, Monday, Aug. 21; juniors, Tuesday, Aug. 22; sophomores, Wednesday, Aug. 23; and freshmen, Thursday, Aug. 24.

All new elementary school students are urged to enroll at these times in the main office in Owendale.

KINGSTON

No opening date has been set for the Kingston school as teachers are still bargaining for this year's contract.

"We would hope school would open approximately the same time as the rest of the county," said superintendent Robert Cameron.

He stated that the bargaining sessions have been going on since early July, but nothing has been settled yet.

THESE ARE THE CHAMPIONS of the post-season tourney in the Recreational Golf League held at Rolling Hills Golf Course Monday.

Several injured in area mishaps

Several persons were injured in numerous area accidents this week.

Hartsell was northbound on Crawford Road when he saw the Noel vehicle attempting to make a turn into a driveway in front of him. Due to the gravel road, he couldn't stop. Tuscola county sheriff's reports stated, instead, he headed into a lawn, skidding 66 feet on the gravel and 103 feet across lawns and driveways. The accident occurred at 2:50 p.m.

In a similar accident Sunday, William Lee Gottler, 18, 3673 Ross St., Kingston, escaped injury when he lost control of his car in an attempt to pull it off loose gravel. He was cited for careless driving. The car turned over end for end at least once, sheriff's reports said, during the 10 p.m. mishap.

Injured were three passengers in the Hojnacki car: Edmund McCallum, 54; Gary McCallum, 14, and George Okbageski, 15, all of E. Detroit. Hojnacki was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

Bruce Wayne McAlpine, 27, South Elkton Road, Gagetown, and Timothy Alan Parsell, 20, Akron Road, Caro, escaped injury Wednesday, Aug. 9, when the Parsell vehicle struck the right rear dual of the McAlpine truck as Parsell came onto M-81. The accident occurred at 2:37 p.m.

Martin Saulis, 25, 2223 Bauer Road, Lapeer, died when the car he was a passenger in rolled over on him after striking a guard rail on M-38. Driver of the car, Austin Joseph Saulis, 30, 213 1/2 Broadway, Mt. Clemens, escaped with minor injuries. He told sheriff's deputies he was eastbound when he fell asleep at the wheel.
