

FROM THE
Editor's Corner

It's a presidential year and the major interest come Nov. 7 should center around the presidential contest. But unless it warms up plenty in the next few weeks whatever zap that is left may well be in the State propositions. There are five of them.

Daylight savings time, abortion, removing the ban against the graduated income tax, okaying the borrowing of $266 million for tuition payments to Vietnam and other veterans and the proposal to limit property tax for school, county and township purposes while providing for a State tax program for support of schools are all nitty gritty questions.

Right now let's talk about the switching of school taxes from the local level to the State level.

The proposal bans a property tax for general school operation. It also limits the property tax to allocated amounts for specified county, township and school purposes to a total of 26 mills.

This may be a boon for taxpayers in some areas but in the Thumb and in the Cass City district it presents strong ammunition for voting against the proposal.

That's because taxpayers in Elkland township now pay only 30.65 for all purposes including school operation. Without trying to pinpoint exact costs, it's enough to say that they are in the same general range.

Under the new proposal local taxes can come to within 4.55 mills of what we pay today and in addition we would be stuck for operating costs on the State level.

Now local government wouldn't have to levy the maximum but how long do you think we'd slide by without bumping against the tax ceiling just like we do today's 15-mil limitation?

I'd vote against this school proposal even if I couldn't pinpoint in my own mind that the new system will be more costly than the old.

I'd do it because I feel that when local control goes by the boards and the iron hand of the State's bureaucracy descends we all lose.

We'll lose because it will cost more. We'll lose because our children's education will suffer.

We know what's best for our kids in our schools.

And no matter what plan is devised you'd better believe that when we no longer control the purse strings we no longer control the school.

What may be right for the children of rural-urban Cass City kids may be all wrong for our city cousins or resort-orientated northern Michigan students.

Right now a group of parents is attending school board meetings to find out about their school. To try to have it run the way they feel is best for their children.

Undoubtedly they will have an effect on the way the school is operated.

They will because our schools are still under our control.

But when we no longer supply the money, what then? Forget it. You'd have no more to say about running Cass City Schools than you do about telling the Department of Natural Resources about doe hunting or the Michigan Department of Highways about what roads you want.

You will take what you get... and you probably won't like it.

Bean harvest behind schedule, yield down

Weather conditions are working against the farmers again as the bean crop harvest is delayed due to the rain.

Area elevators reported a less than average yield with the harvest just begun. Price is also down compared to last year, although the quality of the beans taken in so far is good, managers said.

Jim Turner, J. P. Burroughs, Gagetown, said that about 20 per cent of the harvest is in averaging 20 bushels per acre, with a range of 12-36.

Bob Wischmeyer, Michigan Bean, Cass City, couldn't estimate what percentage of the crop is in, but said that last year at this time beans were done and they'd already started taking in corn.

Yields there have been from 20-30 bushels per acre, he

Cass City walkers help raise Big Brothers' goal

A total of 31 persons ranging in age from 10-29 participated from Cass City in the Walk for Little Brothers Saturday and helped to raise a total of $6919 in pledges for the program.

The Cass City walkers represented 19 per cent of the total of 163 persons from the county who walked ten miles in and around Caro to raise money to start a Big Brothers program in Tuscola county.

Represented from this area were the Cass City Schools, Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Colwood United Brethren Church, Methodist Youth Fellowship and the Cass City JayCees.

Tim Stickle and Steve Selby both ran the course in one hour, 17 minutes, the quickest of any running the course. Al Romig came in just a few minutes later.

Awards were given to them as the fastest. The youngest to complete the ten miles award was given to Mike Prime, Unionville, age 6. Kyra Will, Fairgrove, age 4, completed 2 miles.

Kay Reich and Marilyn Dewey, Unionville, took the award for traveling the longest distance on the Caro route, 15 miles, although five persons also walked 16 miles from Vassar.

The oldest to complete the course was Mrs. Joy McCreedy, Fairgrove.

The person with the greatest number of pledges was Karen Kribs, Vassar, with 145 pledges, although several walkers from Cass City had also collected quite a number: Vicki Richmond, 16, 50 pledges, $3.49 per mile; Laura Smith, 13, 43 pledges, $4.69 per mile; Rene Peters, 13, 26 pledges, $4.20 per mile; Melissa Smith, 12, 25 pledges, $2.96 per mile, and Sue Sherman, 15, 25 pledges, $3.35 per mile.

The goal of the walk was $6000 and if all pledges are collected, the Big Brothers agency will be able to collect the $18,000 federal matching funds and hopefully have the program in operation by the first of the coming year, said Joel Hurley, area coordinator.

The key to success now is collection of the pledges. Persons who pledged more than $1 will receive a statement in the mail soon, Hurley said, and the walkers will collect the rest.

Besides the walk pledges, Hurley said eight county banks and numerous JayCee organizations have donated $50 each outright.

At a meeting Monday night committees were formed to define the services the agency will render, receive and review applications for a fulltime director-caseworker and find office facilities for Big Brothers.

Walkers from Cass City in addition to those already mentioned: Neil Babcock, 13; Pat Powell, 14; Ron Langmaid, 11; Dwayne Smith, 12; Beth Tracy, 12; Greg Frank, 11; Lori Hampshire, 13; Greg Hampshire, 16; Randy Hoffman, 15; Teresa Tracy, 18.

Also walking were: Dorothy Schwartz, 15; Dorland Kuntz, 29; Cindy Smith, 10; Kathy Jewell, 13; Joyce Thane, 15; Mary Thane, 16; Sue Dixon, 14; Sandi Sheldon, 15; Linda Sheldon, 13; Kris Ridenour, 15; Mollie Butler, 16; Elizabeth Vargo, 13; Julie Bills, 15; and Mari Butler, 15.

Collecting for home part of concern for youth

By Kit McMillion

When the truck from the Bethany Children's Home of Kentucky makes its way to Cass City sometime during early October it won't be stopping at the Clair Tuckey home to pick up the assortment of items donated for orphans.

Up until last year the Tuckey home was the collection center where up to 1500 pounds of clothes and toys were assembled in boxes. And last year the truck had to stop there anyway to get directions to the parsonage of the Cass City United Missionary Church on Koepfgen Road.

What grew into a mammoth project of the Women's Missionary Society started over 20 years ago when the Tuckeys volunteered their garage as a collection point for members of the Riverside Circuit, which included the Mizpah Missionary Church. The church parsonage was located at the Mizpah Church and members of the Riverside United Missionary Church, as it was called before a merger in 1966 with the New Greenleaf United Missionary Church, had no place to donate their goods.

Church members didn't have much to donate at first—just four or five boxes. They began the collection after the superintendent of the Kentucky orphanage made a campaign throughout the country and stopped in this area to speak at a camp meeting.

Two women from Bethany came with a station wagon that first year to collect the goods and stayed with the Tuckeys at their home on E. Cass City Road about a half mile west of town.

A concern for children and young persons that has grown with them through the years made it easy to lug boxes up and down their basement and fill their garage.

But now that the collection center is the parsonage, the 72-year-old Mrs. Tuckey related that they are a little relieved.

"We just had it for a stopping off place," she related, but as the popularity of the orphanage project grew and as people had more to give away, it became a little more than we could handle.

"Two years ago," she said of the last time their home was the center, "we were away and people brought stuff and set it in the breezeway. It was so full we could hardly get through," she laughed.

As the Bethany Children's Home collection grew, so did the orphanage. About ten years ago it started using a truck for pickups, and in recent years, Mrs. Tuckey related, one store in the home and three in surrounding areas of the Kentucky hills are operated by the home where donated items are repaired and sold, with proceeds going to support the growing institution which began in 1926 as just a little shack.

For three or four years the members of the Women's Missionary Society acted as foster mothers for some of the children, Mrs. Tuckey explained. They wrote to the Bethany orphanage and asked for the names of children and their birth dates.

Council rejects firehall bids; sets public auction

The village council settled the question of who would get the old firehall-library building by rejecting all bids and deciding to sell the property at public auction.

That decision was made Tuesday night at the regular council meeting following a lengthy discussion among the council members, bidders Tom Proctor and John McCormick, McCormick's lawyer and village attorney Clinton House.

The bids had been tabled at the last meeting to allow study by the council. Bids were $10,500 by John McCormick and $3,335 by Tom Proctor. At the last meeting, Proctor explained that he would use the land to expand his drug store business, and included a letter with the bid explaining that the old buildings would be torn down as soon as possible and the space used for parking until a quality building was constructed. McCormick would not tell his intended use for the building.

Phil Woodworth, Bad Axe, representing John McCormick, told the council he was interested in the legality of notice and the terms of sale.

House replied that the notice of sale was legal and that the council had the power to reject any or all bids in the public interest.

The second point Woodworth made was that the bid publication contained nothing about proposed usage of the property. Usage would be controlled by zoning and use permits, he said, but if intended use was to be part of the consideration, it should become a condition of the deed. That was not included in the bid notice.

After a motion by Trustee Bernard Ross to sell the property to McCormick died for lack of support, Proctor reiterated that it was his intent to tear the building down as quickly as possible and to build a new store that would add to the tax revenue base of the village and clean up a dangerous site.

He explained that last winter he had trouble with fumes coming from the building into his store because of defective equipment, as well as roof leaks.

Ross said he thought both bids were far too low, and Bliss agreed that they couldn't accept the low bid. Proctor told the council he had based his bid on the sale of four Main Street buildings sold within the past year. One sale was higher but was still lower than the other bid, he commented.

Trustee Bill Bliss moved that both bids be rejected after he explained that when the council first talked about selling the property, he thought the buildings would be torn down and that it was an oversight it wasn't advertised that way.

Jones agreed with him and seconded the motion, which passed 3-1 with one abstention.

Trustee Dr. D. E. Rawson reiterated his desire to keep the space for parking. When it was suggested that only 3 to 5 more spaces could be gained from the area, Rawson suggested they wait and have the area surveyed to evaluate the space.

Other council members did not agree, especially because an 8 foot easement exists to Wood's Drugs back door to insure an entrance way and would cut into the parking.

Bliss then moved and was supported by Jones that the property be offered again for sale, with the condition that the building be torn down within 6 months, at public auction at 2 p.m. Oct. 24, with the bids to remain open one hour. The motion passed 3-2.

Village to widen West Street to aid safety, traffic flow

A major change in the construction of West Street was accepted at the Tuesday night village council meeting when two residents of the street appeared before the council to ask why the street isn't being widened before it is curb and gutted.

Cliff Ryan and Harold Guinther told the council that because of the heavy traffic down the street, they thought a 32-foot wide street would be too narrow and would prefer a 40-foot street, even if it meant waiting another year to get the curb and gutter.

Construction has just begun on the street, and two catch basins have been put in. Supt. Lou LaPonsie said he thought a wider street would be safer and more practical for large equipment such as snow plows.

The council voted to go ahead with widening the street as much as possible up to 40-feet from Garfield to Main, designating it a secondary thoroughfare collector street. No trees are to be injured with the change.

The exact cost increase wasn't estimated, but would come from preparation and asphalt, not the curb and gutter. Bids will be advertised for the curb and gutter soon in hopes the project can be completed before winter.

The council also heard a report from LaPonsie that the original estimate for the project included in the budget is about $5000 too low. The council budgeted $12,300. LaPonsie figured the cost to be $17,370. The error was made in wrong estimates of construction items and in miscalculating the length of the curb and gutter work to be done.

In other business concerning streets, the village voted to spend about $1600 to place a water proof seal on Huron Street, Kennebec Drive and Maple Street from Main to Third. Supt. LaPonsie told the council that the streets are cracking and this will keep them serviceable longer.

LaPonsie also reported that he ordered signs saying pedestrians have the right of way to be placed at cross walks used by school children.

PRESENT PARK PLAN

In other business, the council heard a plan presented by several members of Miss Nancy Auvil's ecology class to beautify the Orr Woods including construction of a small bridge with steps to discourage motorcycles, building up the stream, a small fort and picnic area and identification signs for trees and flowers.

Miss Auvil explained that the project is being held jointly with the boy's shop class at the school, where the 17 boys of her 20-pupil class will construct the items for the park.

The school will pay for part of the cost of materials, she explained, and the class will raise the rest of the money.

A protest was lodged with the council by Linda Aubrey who said she had received a ticket for speeding at the north end of the village at the first speed limit sign. She said that something should be done because it

TIP TO MOTORISTS

The man who makes up time by driving recklessly often arrives early — at the hospital

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kessler

Trinity United Methodist Church, Cass City, was the scene of the 5 p.m. wedding Aug. 26 uniting Jo Ellen McDonald and Richard Kessler. The Rev. E. D. Isaacs, pastor, officiated at the double ring rites.

The church was decorated with white gladioli for the occasion.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen McDonald, 6875 Cass City Road, Cass City. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Kessler, Oxford.

The bride approached the altar on her father's arm, wearing a bridal gown of white satin with an overlay of silk chiffon. The gown, made and fashioned by the bride, featured bishop sleeves, an Empire waist trimmed with Venice rose bud lace and a lace decorated veil and train. She carried a bouquet of white roses and yellow, pink, green and orange carnations.

Maid of honor was Sue McDonald, Saginaw, sister of the bride. Bridesmaids were Debbie Culbert, Caro, and Eileen Bechill, Metamora. Flower girl was Keenan Gulsbert, Temperance, cousin of the bride.

The attendants wore long dresses in three tiers of white candy frock material. Puff sleeves and an Empire waist, each trimmed in a different color, accented the gowns. Each carried a nosegay of flowers the same color as the dress trim, with matching flowers in their hair.

The bride's mother wore a floor length light blue knit dress and wore a corsage of white roses and white carnations. The mother of the groom chose a floor length red knit dress, also with a corsage of white roses and white carnations.

Best man was Harry Fischer, Oxford. Groomsmen and ushers were Dennis Fritch, Oxford, and Tom Russell, Cass City.

A buffet dinner for family and close friends was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony. A reception for 150 guests was held at 6:30 p.m.

Following a wedding trip to Upper Michigan and Wisconsin, the couple are at home in Oxford. The groom is employed as a meat cutter with a Birmingham A & P store. The bride was formerly secretary at the Cass City Crop Service.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald W. Guinther

Miss Jacalyn Sue Sy became the bride of Gerald William Guinther in a double ring ceremony Saturday, Sept. 9, at Good Shepherd Lutheran Church, Cass City. The Rev. James Van Dellen, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Sy, Sebewang, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Guinther, Cass City.

The bride was escorted down the aisle by her father. She chose a floor length bridal gown of silk-faced bombazine complimented with imported French lace and pearl beading. A mandarin collar, sheer bishop sleeves and A-line skirt featuring lace motifs and trimmed with pearls accented the gown.

A cathedral veil edged with matching lace was secured by a pillbox style headress. She carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations.

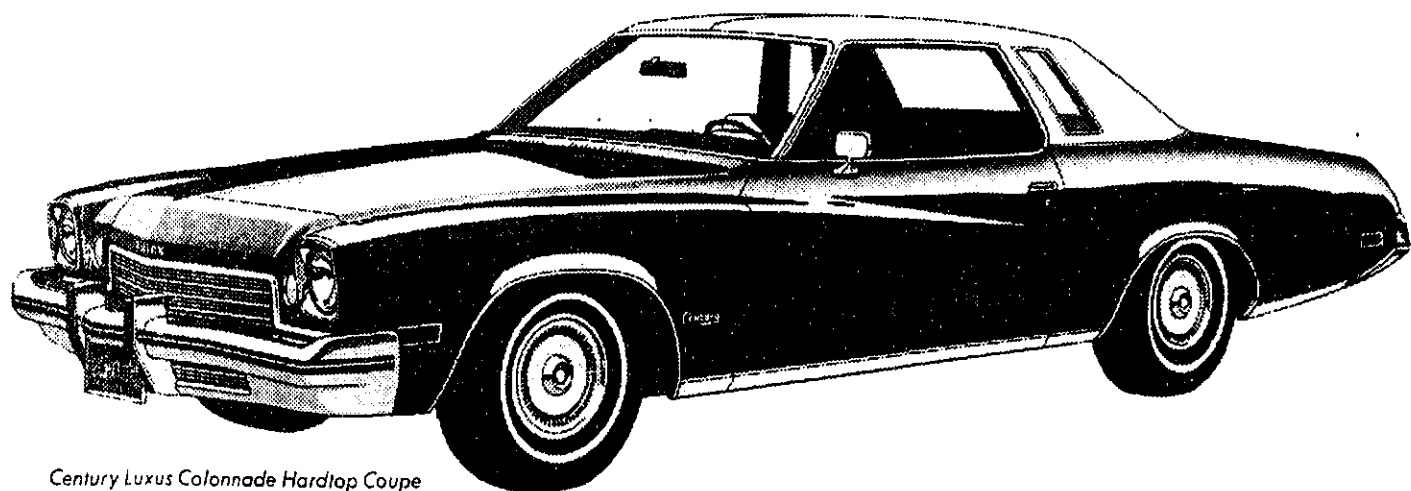

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Judy Wissner, Owendale. She wore a princess-styled floor length gown of violet chiffon with a bibbed ivory lace on a tucked bodice, with matching satin ribbon. The dress had a high neckline and long sleeves cuffed with lace and satin ribbon. She wore a violet bow and petal veil.

Bridesmaids were Miss Susan Guinther, Cass City, sister of the groom; Mrs. Lorraine Pribe, Bay City, friend of the bride, and Mrs. Mary Fournier, Sebewang, sister of the bride. They wore gowns of blue, orange and green styled like the matron of honor's.

All attendants carried bouquets of carnations to match their dresses.

Miss Shelly Wissner, Owendale, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore a gown styled like the matron of honor and designed by Mrs. Wissner. The groom's best man was his brother, David Guinther, Cass City. By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

There's an added hazard to home building these days. It's the unsolicited help that always appears just about when construction is completed.

About a year ago Ed Bergman received this friendly aid when unidentified (friends?) hauled a rototiller up on the roof of his house.

This week a photo was brought to the Chronicle proving that the Bob Wischnmeyers had been honored at their new home on Schwegler Road.

Hoisted about 25 feet and securely wired to a utility pole in the Wischnmeyer yard was a toilet complete with water tank. Over the end of the pole a "roof" was balanced with the words "Donna's John" painted in bright bold letters.

Who did it? Sorry. The names are withheld to protect the guilty.

Dick McCollum added another trophy to his bulging collection last week. It's a 20-pound brass job for winning the Tuscola county over all (sneak and trap) championship. That's six he's won this year.

Just how many has he now? He hasn't counted but the total is over 20. I tried to pin him down to the exact number but failed. He doesn't know exactly and he's one sharpshooter that doesn't go around half cocked.

I want equal space, said Derek Romain this week after reading about McCollum. Okay, so here it is. Nemeth's shop motorcycle team finished fifth out of 122 teams at the National Enduro race near Houghton Lake Sept. 9-10.

The riders were Chuck Nemeth, Derek Romain, Cass City, Delbert Woodward, Deford, and Ken Hayes, Caro. Besides the team trophy, Hayes finished fourth and Romain, 11th, in individual competition in their classes.

The crew cut hasn't completely gone but it's waning fast. Latest to adopt the long-short (or the short-long) hair is (would you believe) Elwyn Helwig and Donald Crouse.

I just can't help but believe that the time has come for the younger set to go back to the crew cut, Mohawk or (shudder) skin cut. No way will they, for long, consent to looking like their elders.

It wasn't until I'd won the office football pool at a local plant this week that I was informed that the winner had to rig next week's pool which means that about 25 games must be listed with an appropriate spot.

That's a job for an accountant, not an editor. So when Dick Wallace came charging in to con me into a Boy Scout ticket I reciprocated by conning him into rigging the pool. Dick would do anything for the Scouts and I'd do anything to get out of all that bookwork.

Expect verdict Friday in Anger jury trial

The trial of Dan Anger, 28, Caro, entered the second day Wednesday morning following its commencement Tuesday with the picking of the jurors and opening statements.

Anger is being tried on three counts of conspiracy in connection with the March 11 theft of a $15,000 farm tractor from Gettel Implement Co., Pigeon.

He is charged with furnishing the truck and trailer for transporting the tractor. The theft was discovered when the truck and trailer were involved in an accident which claimed the lives of an elderly Unionville couple.

Also wanted on conspiracy charges is Conrad A. Mosack, 33, Gagetown, who is still at large.

The trial is expected to be completed by Friday, and is being heard before Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge Norman Baguley.

In other court business, Thomas Atkins, Vassar, stood mute when arraigned before Judge Baguley Monday on a charge of attempted armed robbery. A plea of innocent was entered for him. A petition for commitment to the Forensics Center for a psychiatric evaluation was also granted. Pre-trial is scheduled for Oct. 10. Bond of $500 was continued.

A plea of innocent was also entered for Daniel Daenzer, Millington, when he stood mute to a charge of arson. He is to receive credit for 43 days served in jail.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Mosher

Judy Kirkpatrick, Sandusky, and James D. Mosher, Gagetown, were united in marriage Saturday in a simple ceremony before family at the United Methodist Church, Sandusky.

The Rev. Clifford Devore, pastor, officiated at the 7 p.m. rites.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Palmer, Snover, friends of the couple, were attendants.

The parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Celso Gutierrez, Houston, Texas, and Mr. and Mrs. James Mosher, Gagetown.

The new Mr. and Mrs. James D. Mosher left for Houston, Texas, where they will make their home. Mosher is a student at the Texas University.

Library boasts

10 new books

Ten new books arrived Monday at Rawson Memorial Library.

"A Lion Called Christian" by Anthony Bourke is an enchanting story about two young Australians living in London and a boisterous lion-cub on Christmas display (for the person who has everything) at Harrods. How they bought Christian and their adventures afterward make a delightful account.

"The Whale, Mighty Monarch of the Sea" is the newest book by Jacques-Ives Cousteau. It features 124 color photographs.

Popular adventure writer, Alistair MacLean, has written a non-fiction book titled "Captain Cook". MacLean presents a graphic and lively account of the great explorer and describes in exciting detail his three amazing voyages and the adventures that befell him and his crew.

A new Michigan book, "The Archaeology of Michigan" by James E. Fitting, reflects the recent burst of archaeological activity, chronicling the exciting archaeological excavations of the past decade in the Great Lakes region.

Six new novels, most of them sure to become best sellers, are in the collection. They are "Lakeland Vet" by Joyce Stranger, "The Levantier" by Eric Ambler, "Report to the Commissioner" by James Mills, "To Serve Them All My Days" by R. F. Delderfield, "Out of the Dark" by Norah Lofts and "On the Night of the Seventh Moon" by Victoria Holt.

The library now has the 1972 Readers Digest Magazines in large print edition. They have been donated by the Mitchell Holik family in his memory.

The council told her that coordination between county and township is needed to change the speed limit, but that if necessary, the village would erect speed zone ahead signs.

The council also appointed LaPonsie to approve or reject building permits involving residential remodeling to avoid delays and speed up the process, for the homeowners.

Village president Lambert Althaver also reported that $133,664 or 97 per cent of the village taxes have been received. Extension of taxes was given until Oct. 6.

items larcenies

Cass City police investigated the theft of two bicycles and safety items from a school bus this week.

Carl Brown, Cass City, reported the theft of two bicycles Monday. They were parked on the side of the Brown's Produce Store and were last seen the Saturday before. The loss of the bicycles was placed at $100.

A fire extinguisher valued at $35 and other safety items including a first aid kit, flares and flags, were taken from a bus parked at the east end of the Intermediate School, sometime during the night of Tuesday, Sept. 19.

The rear door of the bus was opened. Total loss was $52.75. Gasoline was also taken from the bus the Sunday night before, police reports stated.

"If It Fitz . . ."

A better idea

BY JIM FITZGERALD

The last time I had a better idea about a Ford, I almost got run over.

One of Henry Ford's daughters was married in a billion dollar ceremony while wearing a roller skating costume. Her photo appeared on front pages all over the world. It was a bad example for copy-cat wives who'll wear jeweled football shoes if that's what the jet-set gals are clomping around in on the Riviera.

I suggested it would be a better idea for the Ford girls to elope in modest dresses with J. C. Penney labels showing.

Reaction from women readers was somewhat negative. They accused me of being jealous of Ford wealth and beauty. One woman even kicked me, leaving cleat marks in my shin. But nevertheless, here I am back again with another better idea . . .

This one is for Henry Ford himself. It concerns his musical image.

The big-city society pages report that Henry and his gorgeous wife recently attended a party given by Ambassador and Mrs. Walter Annenberg in the American embassy in London.

This was no weenie roast. The Annenbergs had the famous Meyer Davis society band flown in from New York to play for dancing. It was the first time in musical history that a band commuted across the ocean for one gig.

Ambassador Annenberg anticipated flak from the British Musicians Union. Instead of hiring the Davis band as musicians, thus taking bread out of 76 English trombones, the ambassador displayed his am-bassading talents. He made the Davis musicians "temporary members of the ambassador's household."

Presumably, this means the piano player was listed on the payroll as a butler, the trumpet players were footmen, the sax man was a bartender, and so on.

But what about Henry Ford? According to the society reporters, Ford led the band and sang a couple of numbers. He did not wear a lampshade on his head. Maybe a hubcap.

Anyway, might it be possible that a British auto manufacturer would object to Ford being imported to perform? Why wasn't a Rolls Royce executive given the baton? Maybe Ford was also a member of the ambassador's household for that one night. ("Hey, Duchess, meet our upstairs maid!").

But I digress. My better idea has nothing to do with Henry Ford's status at the embassy. I am concerned with his musical taste. The society pages said he sang his favorite song, "Hey Bop a Re Bop."

The favorite song of the president of one of this nation's largest industries is "Hey Bop a Re Bop."

Anyone out there remember how that goes?

My better idea is that Ford get a better song. Egad. He wants to sell to today's market, doesn't he? What would you do if you went into the local Ford dealership and found the owner singing "Hey Bop a Re Bop"? I'd order a 1948 V-8 with running boards.

C'mon, Henry, Onward and Upward.

Letter to Editor

Greenleaf liquor: no says Jason Kitchin

Cass City, Mich.
Sept. 22, 1972

Dear Mr. Haire,

After reading in the Chronicle last week that Greenleaf was likely to have a larger voter turnout this fall sparked by the question of allowing the sale of hard liquor at the "Wildwood" I felt compelled to write this letter.

You made one statement which so far as you knew was true. That was that Greenleaf had always been dry until this year. No, there was a time when they experimented by giving a beer license to a place on the corner where the "Cross-roads" is now.

Soon after three men who had obtained their beer there were having a party in the home of a woman who lived across the road from where I taught. Running out of beer a quarrel arose as to who should get more. One man was killed and the other two loaded his body on a farm wagon and drove it into town. One man went to Jackson but that did not bring back the father of the children whom I had in school.

Greenleaf citizens said that was enough and closed the place.

You will find the story in your Chronicle files if you go back far enough.

A new generation of voters have grown, others have moved in and new officers are in charge. The past is forgotten.

I hope every voter in the township will read this and that enough will love their neighbors enough and have concern for their families so that they will turn out and say a resounding "NO" to hard liquor.

I have to drive by the Wildwood to go to town and hate to do it at night. Already I met one man staggering down the road just a few rods north. Fortunately it was daylight and I could avoid him.

One experience is one too many.

Another teacher and I were on our way to a class in Sandusky when the Times Herald driver passed us. A half mile down the road a WPA worker (a father of a family) who had just drawn his pay and spent enough to get drunk had parked his car and was walking into town. Suddenly he staggered onto the pavement and was killed. When we arrived the driver was wringing his hands and crying "I've killed a man! I've killed a man!" No fault of his but it was done. The police asked us to take the body in our car and take it to the hospital where the doctor came out and pronounced him dead. We went on to the funeral home and helped carry him down to the basement. It was hard to concentrate in class that night.

Since M-53 was built eleven have died within less than three fourths of a mile of our home. Nine of them as a result of someone's drinking. Five were innocent victims. Four died in a fiery crash, five died in two accidents in front of my brother's house. Two in front of ours. One of these a young man who was to return to the U. of M. that week. The other the father of seven or eight and one as yet unborn. He had spent the hours after leaving work at Marlette until two in the morning at the beer parlor in Decker. I was there as their bodies were pulled from the wrecks. Not very pleasant memories.

Do liquor taxes pay for the funerals of the dead, the hospital bills of the injured, raise the families of the orphaned or the keep of those sent to jail? Mr. Anthony—please read in the book so loved by your minister grandfather, Habakkuk 2-15 and others who like to drink a little - Prov. 23:29-35.

Much more could be said but enough that you know where I stand and why.

Jason A. Kitchin

AGENT'S CORNER

Choosing gifts for babies

SHERRY LOWELL - EXTENSION AGENT

The arrival of a new baby is a joyous event. You may want to celebrate it with a very special gift for the child. But remember your gift is for the mother too. When you visit the infant department of a store, here are some things to consider before you get carried away by the adorable creations now available for newborns!

Is the new outfit pink or blue? Chances are that the newborn girl has been showered with pink presents; the little boy fully outfitted in blue. Why not think of green, yellow, orange or other bright shades? Babies love color and their mothers appreciate variety in a first wardrobe.

Is the gift practical? Consider the size of the baby and the season of the year. Short pants for small boys look pretty, but a crawling baby needs to have his knees covered. And even little girls need the protection of pants once they reach the active stage. New one-piece jumpsuits in colorful knit plaids or patterns are both pretty and practical.

Will your gift look just as attractive several washings from now as it does in its gift box? The best gifts wash as well as they wear. If that beautiful outfit can be popped into a washer and then tumble dried it undoubtedly will be appreciated.

Read the hangtags for care instructions before you buy. You'll discover that even the frilliest confections for newborns are often machine-washable and dryable -- and many are permanent press, too!

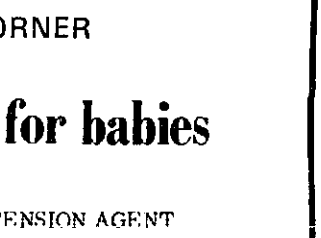

Your care and consideration in selecting a baby gift will endear you to the new mother and provide the infant with an outfit he can wear and wear.

Auction yard grand opening set Thursday

The Thumb Auction Market, located at 209 Thompson Road, Bad Axe, has been sold. It was formerly owned by Mrs. Frank Fullmer of Caro.

A group of local farmers and others interested in livestock sales will commence operations under the new ownership Thursday, Sept. 28. A grand opening is planned for that date with free refreshments offered.

A sale will be held weekly on Thursday. All farmers are invited to bring their livestock to the auction. The owners said farmers can make good use of the auction yard to buy and sell feeder cattle and hogs. They also feel it will be a good source for youth to purchase livestock for 4-H projects and to obtain cattle for getting started in livestock production. Persons will be available to assist young farmers in selecting livestock for feeding and breeding. It is planned to have facilities set up so farmers' wives can sell items they make or sell other farm produce. Special feeder sales of cattle and hogs are also planned. If there is a demand from farmers the sale will be expanded to other farm products and equipment.

Trucking service will be available and can be obtained by calling 269-8111 in Bad Axe.

The new business will be known as the Farmers Livestock Auction Sales, Inc. Officers are Dan A. Franzel, Uby, Mich., president; James J. McDonald, Bad Axe, vice-president, and Mrs. Catherine Wilson, Caro, secretary-treasurer. Mrs. Wilson has managed the office for several years and will continue in this capacity. The officers will serve on the Board of Directors and in addition Huron county farmers Ray Booms, Harbor Beach; Leonard Ignash, Kinde; Clayton Diebel, Elkton, and Leo Holdwick, Ruth, will also be active in the organization.

Female?

Chauvinism

By Kit McMillion

I guess I'm a traitor to my sex, a female chauvinist and a betrayer of my former jeans-wearing days.

I hate to say it, but I get upset when I see women clerks wearing slacks. I've nothing against pants on women.

Anybody who knows me also knows that before I started working I owned about 10 pairs of worn out jeans and about one-fifth that many skirts.

They also know that I never wore those skirts. And I won't wear one now if I can get away with it.

And I guess that's what bothers me about seeing the local clerks wearing slacks. I'm jealous.

And besides that, I sometimes can't tell them apart from the other customers.

Now the reason I'm jealous is that I can't bring myself to thinking it would look dignified for a "lady reporter" to show up in jeans. And that excludes my favorite sitting position, cross-legged like an Indian. That comes from being part Indian, although my former mischievous days led many to think I was a pure blood.

But my major complaint is if you can wear pants to work, you don't have to wear nylons, or at least you can wear the ones with runs that don't show.

Now I have a problem with nylons. I buy them one pair at a time and wear them until they're so ragged there's more bare leg showing than there is stocking.

The reason for that is I don't use nail polish on my nails and continually forget to buy some just to mend runs.

And being slightly clumsy, as I've explained in the past, I run into things a lot, like nails that are hiding along the sides of desks and pop out just as I approach.

Or sometimes I'll stop to say hello to one of my animal friends and their enthusiasm just can't be contained as they jump up and then slide their muddy paws with hidden nails down the front of my coat and over the front of my legs.

Then again, not every one has a cat that jumps at the back of their legs and hangs on just for the sport of it.

When all these usually expected things happen, I try to stop the run with spray deodorant, hair spray or Elmer's glue, all of which work pretty good.

But I ask you: Is it worth it? It had to be a man who invented these things and they kept making them sheerer as dresses went higher. I just wish I had some of the original stock. I'd be rich enough to afford the continual replacement.

And what's more, they're not a bit warm in the winter.

Personally, I'm glad long dresses are coming back. I think I'll order a dozen. See, I'm not really a traitor, I'm just practical.

Bridge tournament winners were announced Monday at the regular monthly meeting of the Hills and Dales Hospital Auxiliary.

Honors went to: Mrs. Dee Comment and Mrs. Marge Rice, first; Mrs. Roberta Arndt and Mrs. Marie Bigelow, second; Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Auten, third; and Mrs. Hazel Barriager and Mrs. Gladys Campbell, fourth.

Sixteen members were present at the meeting, where reports on education and membership were given.

The auxiliary decided to again provide patient television service as one of their projects.

The East Central District meeting will be in Flint Oct. 18 at the Sarvis Shopping Center. Anyone wishing to go should contact Mrs. Cameron Wallace.

Next meeting will be Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Byron Landholt.

THE GRIND

The life work of most people consists in making a living — and it's surprising how few experts there are in the business.

RLDS MEETING

The RLDS Church Women's Department met Thursday afternoon, Sept. 21, with Mrs. James Doerr. Twelve adults and four children were present.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Don Smith, women's leader. Maude Holcomb had charge of the worship.

Roll call was answered by telling about the August special study.

For the lesson, special reports were given on classes at the reunion. Mrs. Dean Smith reported on Dr. Roy Cheville's class and Mrs. Howard Gregg, Dr. Margaret Booth's class.

The special report on the life of Mrs. F. Henry Edwards was given by Mrs. Wilfred Turner.

The October bake sale will have Mrs. Curtis Cleland and Mrs. Dean Smith in charge.

A lunch was served by the hostess.

The Oct. 19 meeting will be with Mrs. Voyle Dorman.

Up and Atom group meets

The Up and Atom Farm Bureau group met Monday evening, Sept. 18, at the Robert Schell home for a seven o'clock dinner, followed by the business meeting and program. Twenty-seven members and four guests were present.

The discussion topic for the month was "Legal Documents".

Miss Karen O'Dell showed pictures taken in the Dominican Republic this summer while there with the Teen Mission.

FARM BUREAU INSURANCE GROUP

THE '73 FORDS ARE HERE.

At 60 mph a '73 Ford LTD rode quieter than an airborne glider.

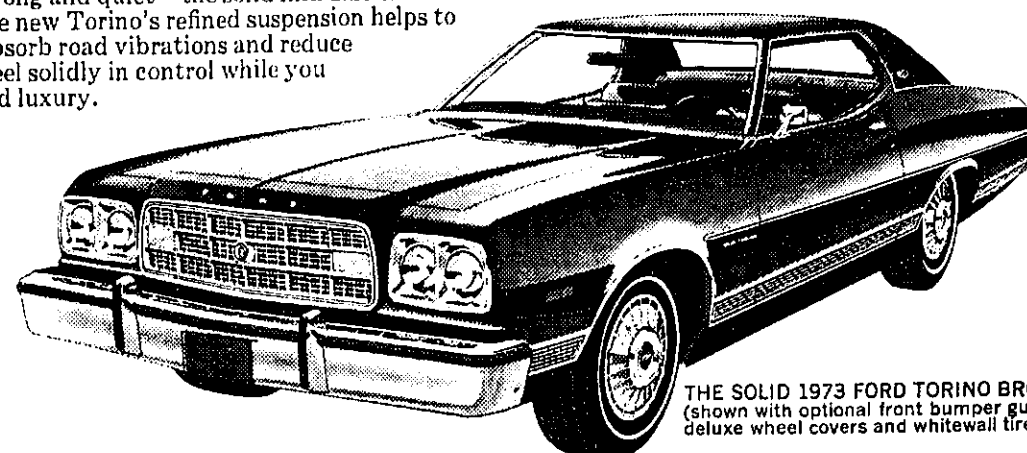

Quiet is the sound of a well-made car. And the new LTD is well made in every sense of the word. That's why it's so quiet. Outside it has all-new styling. And inside you'll enjoy luxury, comfort and room—with power front disc brakes, power steering and automatic transmission as standard equipment.

THE QUIET 1973 FORD LTD BROUHAM (shown with optional Deluxe Bumper Group, Convenience Group, deluxe wheel covers, front cornering lamps and whitewall tires).

A '73 Torino rode so smooth, a high wire artist kept balance on a road of 2x4's.

Smooth riding, strong and quiet—the solid mid-size car. You'll appreciate how the new Torino's refined suspension helps to cushion bumps, absorb road vibrations and reduce body sway. You feel solidly in control while you ride in comfort and luxury.

THE SOLID 1973 FORD TORINO BROUHAM (shown with optional front bumper guards, deluxe wheel covers and whitewall tires).

'73 Pinto: When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford.

When you get back to basics, you get back to Ford: the new Pinto. Every '73 Pinto has rack-and-pinion steering. A solid welded body, electrocoated to fight corrosion. 4-speed transmission—lubed for life. All in all, everything we've learned in seventy years of car making—all the basics—we build into every Pinto Wagon, Runabout and Sedan. That's why it's become America's top selling economy car.

THE 1973 PINTO WAGON (shown with Square Option, luggage rack, Deluxe Bumper Group and whitewall tires).

There are 39 new models to choose from.

Every 1973 Ford, Thunderbird, Torino, Mustang, Maverick and Pinto comes equipped with new energy-absorbing bumpers and steel guard rails in all side doors. Steel-belted radial ply tires are available on every model, too.

Pre-schoolers start field trips

The Cass City Cooperative Pre-school Nursery students began a series of field trips Monday with the 4-year-old group going to the Russell Schneberger farm where they took a hay ride, driven by John Zinnecker, and looked at pumpkins and gourds.

Tuesday morning the group visited the Hills Orchards to pick apples and were served cider and donuts. Thursday, the class was to make apple sauce in nursery school.

The 3-year-old class was to visit the Schnebergers Wednesday, and then go on to the Zinnecker farm for pony cart rides, reported teacher Marianne Walpole.

A budget is a success only if you resolve not to budge it.

Hold services for Mrs. N. Russell

Mrs. Nellie M. Russell, 84, Elkland township resident for over 50 years, died Friday, Sept. 22, in Hills and Dales Hospital, Cass City. Mrs. Russell had been hospitalized one week following a short illness.

She was born in Verona, Mich., Oct. 30, 1887, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Philp.

Miss Philp and George H. Russell were married in Uby Nov. 26, 1907. The couple farmed in Uby until 1916 when they moved to Elkland township.

Funeral services were held Monday, Sept. 25, at Little's Funeral Home with the Rev. M. R. Vender officiating.

Survivors include two sons,

Kenneth and Keith Russell, both of Cass City; six daughters, Mrs. Howard (Aura) Mead of Bay City, Mrs. Georgiana Parsell and Mrs. Lawrence (Eldora) Romain, both of Caro, Mrs. Erma Spaven of Mayville, Mrs. Maurice (Irene) Loomis of Mio and Mrs. Clare (Florence) Carpenter of Cass City.

Others are: a sister, Mrs. James Pethers of Cass City, 25 grandchildren, 30 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

BETTER HEALTH

Direct pressure stops bleeding

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Many times in my years of medical practice, I have been called to someone's home because he or she had a severe nosebleed, or perhaps a wound which kept bleeding. In all such cases, I found that the reason the bleeding had not stopped by the worried person was that he had not maintained pressure on the nose, wound or torn blood vessel for a long enough time. It takes the blood a few minutes to clot.

The best way to help the blood to clot is to hold the bleeding nose closed with the thumb and forefinger, or keep pressure on the bleeding spot, and take out a watch and then wait for 10 minutes.

The common mistake that people make when they have a bad nosebleed is to lie back in a chair or on the bed with the head back, so that the blood keeps running freely down the back of the throat and on down into the stomach. The blood cannot clot well that way. The right way to stop the flow is to have the person lean forward so that the blood will accumulate in the front of his nose. He must hold the nostrils closed for ten minutes, thus giving the blood a chance to clot. If he keeps blowing his nose, this disturbs the clot-forming process and the blood will continue to flow freely.

Similarly, if a finger is cut or torn in an accident, the person also should hold the wound closed for 10 minutes so that the blood can clot, rather than continually dabbing at the wound.

For a big cut in an arm or leg, many physicians in past years advised using a tourniquet, which as most people know, is a band tied so tightly around the limb above the wound that blood cannot keep coming down through the artery. Recently, experts have become afraid of advising laymen to use tourniquets, fearing that if one is left on too long, the tissues in the limb can die. That will mean that some of a gangrenous arm or leg may have to be amputated. If a tourniquet is applied, it would be wise for the person to loosen the tourniquet in 10 minutes to see if then the blood will have stopped running out. The important thing to remember is that a tourniquet should be used with caution and should not be left on for more than 10 minutes.

SWALLOWING FOREIGN OBJECTS

Every parent knows that small children have a tendency to put all kinds of objects into their mouths—and that there is the danger that the object, if it is small enough, will accidentally be swallowed. This type of accident happens many hundreds of times each year. Adults also can sometimes accidentally swallow a foreign object, as did the man I recently read about in Time magazine who swallowed the thermometer which a nurse had put in his mouth. Doctors watched with X-rays everything that happened to the thermometer. Actually, it passed slowly through his digestive tract until, after 19 days, it was passed.

Occasionally, when a person swallows something so big that it cannot very well get out through the digestive tract, an operation has to be performed. Also, sometimes a person swallows something that sticks in the gullet or the upper inlet at the upper end of the stomach. When this happens, the patient should be taken to an expert who can pass a lighted tube down through the gullet and with a special instrument can grip the swallowed article and pull it out.

One of the common articles swallowed by small children is the safety pin. It takes an expert to get it out, especially when the pin is open. He has a special instrument which will enable him to close the pin and then it is easy to get it out.

Back around 1932, I built a big museum at the Mayo Clinic with that fine artist Dr. Arthur Bulbulians. We had a show case in which there were dozens of objects which had been removed from the gullets of children who had been brought to the Mayo Clinic.

Parents need not be too concerned if the object swallowed is small and round. If it is small enough to be swallowed, then it will probably go right through the bowels. But it is a good idea to go quickly to the emergency room of a hospital and report the accident.

Heredity is the most important factor in the production of heart attacks, especially in the cases of men in their 40s and 50s. What happens when a heart attack occurs? Can overwork cause heart attacks? What constructive things can the patient do after a heart attack? Dr. Alvarez answers these and other questions for you in his booklet "Heart Trouble." For your booklet simply send 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I reckon ever newspaper in the world gets tired of trying to explain that it don't make the news, it just reports it. But folks never understand cause they don't want to understand, especial them that don't like what they see in the papers. I was thinking about this the other day when I saw where this woman had called a big daily paper to ask if there was going to be a eclipse of the sun.

She was told there was, and that the paper had reported about it. Then she wanted to know if it would hurt her eyes to look at the eclipse. The paper said it would, and that they had run stories warning about that. The woman got upset and wanted to know, if the eclipse was dangerous, how come the paper was having it. I figger newspapers git the same treatment today that people used to give their scapegoats when they would pile all their troubles on the goats and chase em out in the desert.

The papers has somepun to do with people making up their minds about things, Mister Editor, but I never knowed afore that the Vietnam war is being fought according to what the papers say. I see where communist gunners have been shooting into towns over there, then waiting to see by the paper where the shell landed. If it didn't hit where they wanted, they change their aim. One good thing about that deal, if they got weekly papers it'll take a long time to do a hole lot of damage. Course, when the other side caught on they tried to git the wrong places reported as hit, so the papers probable git the blame from both sides.

Talking about blame, I see by the papers where this study found that folks trust a public official quicker if he makes mistakes and admits em than when they can't catch him in a blunder. They figger he's dumb but honest if he tells em, and he's crooked and to smart fer em if he don't. I don't know what to make of that report, Mister Editor, unless it says a politician would be smart to be dumb.

Actual, that's gitting things backwards, like I saw where

B. Thompson succumbs in Grayling hospital

Final rites for Bernie P. Thompson, 66, formerly of Cass City, were held Friday from the Steuermol Funeral Home, Roscommon, with burial in Gerrish township cemetery.

Mr. Thompson died Wednesday, Sept. 20, at Mercy Hospital, Grayling. He had been in ill health three months.

He was born Aug. 12, 1906, son of Owen and Cordelia Gord Thompson, in Badger, Iowa. He moved to Roscommon from Cass City three and a half months ago.

He is survived by two brothers: Jess of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and Norris of Bay City, and three sisters, Mrs. Hazel (Thomas) Bernard of Higgins Lake, Mrs. Alice (George) Oakland of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and Mrs. Julia (Elmer) Groat of Badger, Iowa.

He was preceded in death by his wife.

this feller had come up with a new plan for medical insurance. His idee is to pay doctors to keep us well, and to quit paying em when we git sick. This way, this feller explains, doctors would have far greater interest in our health. That makes as much sense as what we do now. We bet the insurance company good money we're going to git sick, and they bet we won't, and fer shore they win more than we do.

But ever now and then, we can have it both ways. I see where all the folks that built bomb shelters 10 years ago during the hot days over Cuba now is using their shelters fer wine cellars, guests' rooms and places fer the old man to git away from the old lady and the younguns fer a couple hours. These folks was betting we was going to git blowed up. We didn't and I'm shore they're as happy as the rest of us to find they couldn't collect the bet. But now they get a bonus.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

You could be paying twice for the same farm protection

Would you build two silos or buy two tractors. If you needed only one? Of course not. Yet, you may be paying twice for the same insurance protection without even realizing it! Coverages on several of your farm policies could overlap. It may not happen often, but even once is often enough to make it worth checking into. Compare all your policies now to make sure you're not paying for anything twice. Then ask us about "Farm-Pak." It's altogether better and usually more economical.

Mrs. Aura Beaudon and Mrs. Arthur Carolan were in Pontiac last Wednesday to attend a mass for Mrs. Beaudon's late husband, Joseph Beaudon. The mass was offered by their niece, Sister Joan Marie, and was celebrated in the Church of St. Matthew's at four p.m. Rev. Fr. James Sarnoni officiated at the mass, after which the Sisters served a dinner to the ladies.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Langlois entertained the following guests at dinner last Friday: Alex LaFave of Long Beach, Calif., and his brother, Arthur LaFave of Bay City, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Langlois of Flint, Cletus Rochleau of Detroit, Mrs. Dorothy Hopkins of Flint and Mrs. Viola Murchinson and Mrs.

Aura Beaudon, both of Gagetown. Alex LaFave of California is spending two weeks with his brother Arthur in Bay City. He hasn't visited Michigan since 1960.

Mrs. Carl Proulx and family of Detroit spent the week end here with Mrs. Irma Proulx and Gerald.

Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Franz of Lincoln Park spent from Monday until Wednesday with her mother, Mrs. Irma Proulx, and Gerald.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Downing accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston of Alma on an eight-day trip to Hawaii. They went by plane and returned home Sunday.

N. ELMWOOD GROUP

The North Elmwood Farm Bureau group met last Monday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Downing. Fourteen members were present.

The discussion topic was Legal Documents.

Cards were played with prizes awarded to Mrs. William Goodell, David Loomis and Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Goshin. Refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be Oct. 16 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James LaFave.

JUNIOR TROOP

Junior Girl Scout Troop No. 101 held the first meeting of the school year Wednesday, Sept. 20, at the Gagetown School cafeteria. Twenty-three members and two guests were present.

Patrols were formed. Leaders are Janette Rapson, Rosie Salcido, Barbara Wright and Yvonne Strouth. Assistant leaders are Allison Mohr, Penny Repshinska, Lori Ziehm and Carol Parker. Chairman is Leslie Messer and Scribe is Debra Shope. Senior Scout Sandy Ziehm assisted the leaders. Mrs. Richard Ziehm and Mrs. John Rockefeller.

LADIES GOLF

The final meeting and golf event of the season for the ladies division of Sherwood Forest Country Club was held Wednesday, Sept. 13.

New officers elected were: president, Valerie Downing of Gagetown; vice-president, Marge Farver of Elkton; secretary, Donna Dembowski of Unionville; and treasurer, Barbara Burdon of Gagetown.

Trophies were awarded to Lucella Buchtenkirch of Unionville for the championship flight with Jeanne Guenther of Unionville, runner-up.

Winner in the first flight was Maxine Prime of Unionville with runner-up Ruth England of Gagetown.

Second flight winner was Lois Furness of Sebawaing and runner-up, Marge Rice of Gagetown.

Phyllis Tamblin of Elkton was first place winner in the third flight and runner-up was Mary Margaret Downing of Gagetown.

Prizes for the most improved game were given to Lois Furness of Sebawaing and Lorraine Saurayn of Gagetown.

A nine hole handicap tournament was also played and winners were Marian Thomas of Elkton and Nancy Burrows of Gagetown with Ruth England of Gagetown and Mary Jane Hagaman of Unionville and Jeanne Comment of Gagetown.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Ground was broken this week for a new nine-hole golf course on an 80-acre site just north of the Cass City village limits.

The Grant Methodist Church will celebrate its diamond anniversary with special services.

Tuscola county's bean crop is the best of the three counties in the Upper Thumb, but still well below an average yield.

Ten years ago a hoala hoop contest was sponsored by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce. Now the rage has struck again. All Cass City stores the Chronicle checked were out of the hoops this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hahn, Mrs. Gerald Baranek and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Baranek attended graduation exercises for Linda Hahn from Bay City Practical Nurses School. Miss Hahn has accepted a position at Bay City General Hospital.

Mrs. Agnes Lapak, 78, of Gagetown, has always had a "green thumb" and she has oleanders that have survived for nearly half a century to prove it.

TEN YEARS AGO

Another factory in Cass City has voted for union representation with a narrow 12-10 affirmative vote at Anrod Screen Cylinder Co.

Paul Alfano, General Insulated Wire Works official, has been named president of the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest.

Gov. John B. Swainson stopped briefly in Cass City where he greeted residents during a day-long tour of the Thumb.

With $38,118.00 pledged in the Cass City Hospital building fund campaign, two-thirds of the goal has been reached.

Cass City Lions, working in teams, sold $180.00 worth of brooms during their two-day Broom Sale.

A former Cass City youth, Leroy Copeland, too small for football and basketball at Cass City High School a few years back, has gained national racing attention as a top harness racing driver at Rockingham Park race track, Salem, N. H.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City streets will be much better illuminated in the near future. The Detroit Edison Co. is installing poles for lights so there will be a street lamp on practically every street intersection.

Leonard Bartle expects to enroll as a student in the Detroit Institute of Television, Advanced Radio and Electronics. It is believed he is the first young man of Cass City to enter the field of television.

The house in which Mrs. C. W. Price has lived for a number of years on Downing St. has been sold to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Maharg of Grant township. Mrs. Price has moved to an apartment over the post office.

Chalmers Young, former coach at Cass City High School, was a guest of Lester Ross at the Gavel Club.

Remembering the heavy snowfall of last winter, village trustees decided to be adequately prepared for snow removal the coming season and Village Engineer C. U. Brown was told to purchase an efficient plow.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The hardware stock of George Hitechock was transferred to their new building on East Main Street. Mr. Hitechock was obliged to find new quarters because the building he has occupied on West Main Street for about 17 years was sold a few months ago to the Baker Electric Co.

Dr. R. N. Holsapple, pastor of the local Evangelical church, was elected president of the Tuscola Ministers' Association.

Rites Friday for Herman Rock

Final rites were conducted Friday at 1 p.m. for Herman Leonard Rock, 79, lifelong Deford area resident who died unexpectedly at home on Reed St. Tuesday morning, Sept. 19. He was born July 12, 1893, in Lapeer, son of the late Chester and Martha Sitzes Rock. He married the former Adeline Phillips July 29, 1916, in Caro. She died Sept. 10, 1954. Rock was a retired worker of the Tuscola County Road Commission.

Surviving are three sons: Henry, Deford; Charles, Sebewaing; and Albert, Oak Park; 8 grandchildren and 9 great-grandchildren.

Services were held at the Deford Methodist Church with burial in Novesta cemetery. The Rev. Walter Reynolds, Flint, officiated. Harmon's Funeral Home, Kingston, had charge of arrangements.

Some people doubt because it is easier than investigation.

THIRTY-TWO YEARS is the age of the horse, Copper, not its owner, Mrs. Nora McMillen, Hoppe Road, Gagetown. She wasn't impressed by the stories of the 24-year-old horse in Huron county.

Copper is still unbelievably spry and likes to roll in the sand, and would probably live to be a hundred if he had good teeth, said his owner. He's an American Saddlebred she bought when he was already 14 years old.

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on August 29, 1972, at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

The minutes of the regular July meeting and a special August meeting were read and approved.

Mr. Orville Hutchinson was present to ask the Council whether the modular home being put on Third Street meets the requirements of our building code. The Council was advised by Mr. LaPonsie that it did meet requirements.

Mr. Stan Guinther was also present to ask if Council could do anything about people bringing in trash and burning it in the incinerators in the alley located behind Damnn Implement. Mr. Althaver told Mr. Guinther that the Village could post a sign to the effect that there is to be no burning other than businesses in these incinerators.

Joe Frederick requested "No U-turn" signs in front of his place on West Main. Police Chief, Gene Wilson, stated that it was a legal U-turn. Council agreed that we would post a "No U-turn" sign on Main Street as soon as possible.

Bids were opened on the Old Firehall and Library Building. Mr. John McCormick submitted a bid of $10,550.00 and Mr. Tom Proctor also submitted a bid at $3,335.00. Following discussion, a motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bids for the Old Firehall Building be tabled for 30 days. It was passed by a vote of 5-1.

Mr. Jim Hubbell representing Hubbell, Roth & Clark, was present to explain a report on the expansion of the sewage treatment plant. It was reported previously by Nelson Willy that we had to file the application for federal funds for expansion by September 15. A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Bliss that the application be filed for federal funds for expansion of the sewage treatment plant. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Ross and supported by Trustee Holmberg that we accept the committee's recommendation to use Schedule A for the Village of Cass City's Recreation application for bonds. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss that we give the treasurer an extension of 30 days to collect the taxes. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Ross and supported by Trustee Bliss that we accept Mr. LaPonsie's recommendation to purchase an Elwyn Street Sweeper for $12,700.00. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Bliss that the bills as examined by the Finance Committee be approved for payment. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Ross and supported by Trustee Bliss that we appoint Mr. Lou LaPonsie as Street Administrator. Motion carried. President Althaver read a letter of resignation from Charlene Pranger, Deputy Village Clerk. A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Holmberg that we accept Mrs. Pranger's resignation. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Ross that we accept the employment of Mrs. Barb Rockwell as Secretary-Bookkeeper. Motion carried.

There being no further business, a motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Holmberg that the meeting be adjourned.

Karen S. Osentoski
Deputy Village Clerk

When a man has a brother

A man's got to look after his brother. That's what Timmy said the other day, as he stood beside our baby. And I told him he was right. "You are so much stronger than this tiny, little creature," I said. "From now on, you've got a real responsibility!"

A man does have to look after his brother . . . especially when that brother is weak. But there are moments, too, when even the strongest man may need a brother—especially on Worldwide Communion Sunday!

In the eyes of the Church, all men are brothers, just as all men are equally beloved. As long as there is a church near you, you are not alone. You have only to open the door and walk in and you will be at one with your fellow man . . . and at home with your brothers.

Hospital Auxiliary opens gift shop

TOYS GALORE are a part of the new Hospital Auxiliary gift shop which opened Tuesday at Hills and Dales Hospital. Co-director Mrs. Shirley Doerr, left, and Mrs. Karen Anson show a few of the items to keep young patients happy.

Helping a sick friend to pass the time while hospitalized may be a little easier now that the gift shop at the Hills and Dales Hospital has opened.

The shop created and run by women volunteers of the Hospital Auxiliary opened Tuesday in a remodeled room off the main lobby in what used to be the old records room.

The shop will feature toys to keep youngsters busy while in the hospital, infant wear, artificial flower arrangements, candy, candles, and other small gifts.

The auxiliary bought $550 worth of supplies to remodel the shop. Harry Little donated time to do the wood work, which began late August.

The shop will be run on a non-profit basis. Money from sales will be used to buy more stock. Whatever else is left over will go back into the hospital.

The shop will be open 2-5 and 7-8:30 p.m. every day except Sunday.

The gift shop has been under the direction of co-coordinators Mrs. Don Doerr and Mrs. Ken Martin who are working with a permanent committee of Mrs. Dick Eria, Mrs. Curtis Hunt, Mrs. Tom Herron, Mrs. Bob Wischmeyer and Mrs. Don Eria. Auxiliary president Mrs. Ed Fritz and president-elect Mrs. Don Wernette are advisors.

County gives funds for radio to Vassar

Federal support to purchase a police base radio station was given to Vassar Tuesday when the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners decided which of three villages should be awarded the facility.

Cass City and Millington, also contenders, will have to purchase new base radios or convert existing equipment at their own cost.

Sheriff Hugh Marr received notice Monday that the request for more than $70,000 worth of radio equipment had been approved. Federal funding through the Office of Criminal Justice will pay 75 per cent of the cost.

Only two new base stations were awarded for the county, one for the sheriff's office and one for the applying villages.

The new radio equipment is necessary because the radio frequencies used for police transmission are being changed.

Although Cass City did not receive the base station, it did get funding for two new car radios, two new portable radios, and two receivers to monitor state police, as well as a repeater unit to allow officers to transmit from outside the car to the sheriff's office. Cass City applied for $6863 worth of equipment.

In other action, the commissioners decided to make their solid waste disposal plan through the East Central Michigan Economic Development District, with assistance from county planners Vilcan-Leman. The $4300 program is needed by July 1, 1973.

The county board also officially designated the new position for the district judge's office. A deputy clerk with beginning salary of $5100 will be hired. At the last meeting, a fulltime assistant was voted for Magistrate John Bowles. The woman working part time for the magistrate and part time for the judge will work full time in the magistrate's office.

4-H ACTIVITIES
4-H Volunteer leader need increases

By Bernard Jardot

Our 4-H volunteer leaders are important and unique members of the nationwide Extension 4-H youth teaching team. Without volunteers, our Extension programs would be unable to involve as many youth and families in its educational programs.

In the 70's, Extension's need for volunteers will greatly increase. Other agencies and organizations also will be seeking more volunteers. This means that those who wish to recruit volunteers must make their needs known.

Our 4-H adult volunteers work with 4-H youngsters between the ages of 8 and 18. More and more the youth help determine the project or activity he will work with. And it doesn't have to be one of the "regular 4-H projects".

If the youngster is really going to benefit with our 4-H "Learning by Doing" concept, he'll need good adult advice. They've got to work together to come up with the best activity for each individual enrolled in our 4-H clubs. This way, the youngster can set goals that are reasonable and meaningful for him — and he can learn and develop as he goes along.

Do you feel you would be interested in knowing more about the 4-H volunteer's role? If so, contact me at the Extension 4-H office, Civil Defense Center, Caro.

County traffic death toll reaches 25

Several persons were injured in area accidents during a week that saw the traffic fatality rate in the county climb to 25 with the death of a Millington man Friday.

Edwin Duane Fritz, 20, Huron Line Road, Sebawaing, was listed in fair condition Tuesday afternoon in Hills and Dales Hospital, Cass City, where he was taken following an early morning accident Monday.

Fritz was injured when his car struck a tree on M-81 at 3:55 a.m., according to Tuscola county sheriff's deputies. Fritz was unable to explain what happened, but investigation showed that apparently he was driving east on M-81 at a high rate of speed when he ran off the road and struck a tree about 10 feet off the road.

Danny Gene Young, 18, 9346 Arbela Road, Millington, became the county's 25th traffic fatality victim when he was killed Friday night at 9:25 p.m. when he was thrown out of a packed pickup cab and crushed by the truck as it overturned on Brown Road in Vassar township.

Passengers Rodney Corkins, 18, Vassar, and Cheryl Warren, 17, Clio, received minor injuries. Uninjured were the driver, James Joseph Moore, 20, Obrian Road, Vassar, and passenger Jack McIntyre, 17, Vassar.

According to sheriff's reports, the pickup was traveling west at a high rate of speed when the driver apparently slammed on the brakes and lost control of the vehicle, which then flipped over.

Moore was arrested and charged with driving with a suspended license.

In another accident, a Port Austin woman, Mrs. Henrietta Carpenter, 68, was taken to Scheurer Hospital, Pigeon, for treatment of injuries when she fell out of a car driven by her husband, Joseph P., 78, after it struck a vehicle operated by Lee Wallace, Gagetown.

The accident occurred Wednesday, Sept. 20, at 11:45 a.m. at the intersection of Cemetery and Bay City-Forestville Roads, four miles north of Cass City.

According to reports of state police from the Bad Axe Post, the Wallace car was stopped at the intersection headed north. Apparently, Carpenter failed to see the stop sign, police said, and swerved to miss the Wallace car but struck it in the left rear, and continued across the intersection where Mrs. Carpenter fell out of the car.

Carpenter was cited for failure to stop in assured clear distance ahead.

Larry Lee Crittenden, 21, 2434 S. Kingston Road, Kingston, escaped injury when a deer ran out in front of him as he was traveling east on Deckerville Road in Novesta township, 1/2 mile west of Dodge Road. The accident occurred Sunday at 8:30 p.m.

Cass City police investigated an accident Friday when a car driven by John Arthur Connolly, 30, 306 Green St., Caro, backed out of a driveway onto M-81 and collided with a west bound car driven by Ervin Everett Walrod, 6268 Lincoln St., Gagetown. Neither were injured in the 1:45 p.m. mishap.

Determine arson in cottage blaze

Sanilac county sheriff's department is still investigating the blaze of a week-end cottage Sept. 16 in Sanilac county which was determined to be arson.

Sgt. John Voss, connected with the fire marshal's division of the Bay City State Police Post, investigated the scene Saturday, Sept. 23, and determined that the fire was deliberately set.

Several young persons were seen in the area at the time of the fire, but no charges have been pressed yet.

The building and contents, valued at about $2000, were uninsured, said Dick Root, fire chief.

The building was located four miles east, seven south and 1/2 west of Cass City and belonged to William Gordon of Detroit.

EXTRAVAGANCE

Lack of judgment in spending money causes more family trouble than the lack of money.

Trio taking gas nabbed in the act

Two Kingston area men and a Caro woman were arrested on a charge of simple larceny Saturday night by Tuscola county sheriff's deputies after they were apprehended by Mrs. Sophie Peters, owner of the Rainbow Bar, while she was on her way home.

Mrs. Peters told deputies she was going home when she passed a car with only the parking lights on parked along property belonging to Donald Lake at the corner of M-46 and Hurds Corner Road.

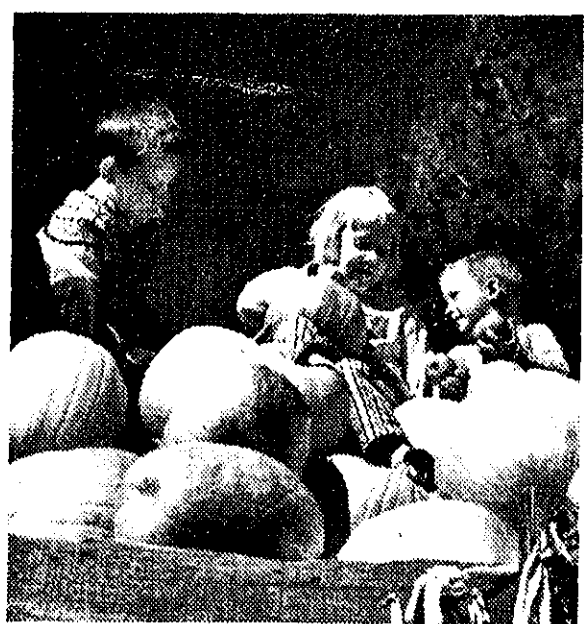

She turned around, stopped, and followed a trail over a hill where she met the trio carrying 5-gallon gasoline cans. They told her they were borrowing it, reports stated, because they had run out of gas.

After testing their car and finding the tank half full, she called police.

Charged with stealing approximately 12 gallons of gasoline were James Ralph McAlpine, 20, 4455 E. Sanilac Road, Kingston; David Wayne Crosby, 17, Froede Road, Kingston, and Brenda Diane McCloskey, 21, Silvernail Road, Caro.

Each pleaded guilty when they appeared before Tuscola County District Court Judge Richard Kern Monday. They were each sentenced to three days in jail and assessed fines and costs of $100.

Commission ponders salaries of state government officials

Can the governor of Michigan survive on a salary of $45,000 per year plus expenses?

Can members of the State Supreme Court get by on $42,000 per year plus free parking privileges?

Should the 148 members of the legislature get more than the $17,000 per year and $2,500 expense allowance they now get?

These are the questions now before the State Officers Compensation Commission. Sometime after the November election, the commission will give out its answers to the questions. If past form is followed, they'll decide more is needed.

The commission was created originally in 1968 when voters approved a constitutional amendment in the August primary. It meets every other year and makes its decision known after the November election.

The new pay rates go into effect Jan. 1, and will be in effect for the next two years.

The creation of the commission took away from the legislature the politically embarrassing job of raising its own salary base. Lawmakers still have the power to overturn decisions of the commission, but they must vote specifically to overturn it.

That means the pay raise goes into effect if the legislature does nothing—something the legislature knows how to do.

When the commission began, each legislator made $12,500 per year plus $2,500 in expenses. They had their pay increased in both 1968 and 1970 to put it at its current level of $17,000 plus $2,500 expenses.

The governor made $40,000 a year when the commission came into being. He received an additional $15,000 expense account in 1968 and a $5,000 salary hike in 1970.

Supreme Court justices didn't get anything the first time around, but in 1970 they received a $7,000 increase to $42,000.

The court's efforts for pay raises have raised more eyebrows than other branches the past few years.

In 1970 Court Administrator William Hart said it was "embarrassing" for the judges to be paid so little as they are. Then he suggested a $57,000 salary would be equitable.

Hart was accompanied that year by John Henderson, a Michigan State University economist who received $1,500 from court funds for his testimony. Henderson accompanied Hart again this year and told the commission the court needs at least another $6,000. Hart said Henderson would be paid from court funds again, but that he didn't yet know how much.

Hart also said he still thinks the court needs $57,000 and that the commission should be thinking in terms of $65,000 for 1974.

Even harder to figure than an equitable salary for the court, however, is an equitable salary for members of the legislature.

State Chamber of Commerce President Harry Hall had much sympathy this year while testifying before the commission. Hall said he didn't think any salaries should be raised this year to set an example for voters in the fight against inflation.

So far as the legislature is concerned, he said, "if you're talking about performance, some legislators are grossly underpaid and some are overpaid at any price."

LITERAL ADVICE

Some people have a tendency to read things too literally.

For instance, there are some of the people who ride Detroit's public buses.

The bus drivers recently began handing out leaflets to their riders urging them to support Gov. William G. Milliken's transportation package.

The 5 x 8 inch leaflets listed 18 members of the State Senate from in and around the Detroit area and a map showing their districts to enable the reader to identify his senator.

Each rider was urged to write a letter addressed to "Your Senator, State Capitol Bldg., Lansing, Mich."

And that's exactly who some of them wrote to.

Numerous letters already have been received addressed to "Your Senator, State Capitol Bldg., Lansing, Mich."

Miller retires from telephone career

Clarence Miller, 65, will end a career just one month shy of 27 years Friday when he retires from General Telephone of Michigan.

A native of Verona, he began his career in 1945 when he came to Cass City as a plant-man apprentice from Detroit where he had been working during the war.

Clarence Miller

Three years later he was reassigned to Elkton, and then Deckerville, but during those years he worked all over most of lower Michigan.

In 1955 he came back to Cass City as a combination man and saw the introduction of dial phones. In 1968 he became a test man and since 1971 a utility-man.

Recalling his lengthy career, Miller modestly brushed off a couple of falls he's taken, one of which landed him in a hospital for a week when a pole broke, and he also laughed and skipped over the episode when he wrecked one truck.

Not anxious to stop working, Miller said he will continue to care for his bee hives spread around the country side and will use the skill saw and sander presented to him by the company a week ago at a farewell party.

His fellow workers and union members presented him with a Swiss watch at the same time. Miller lives with his wife, Elanore, at 4193 S. Seeger, Cass City.

Free Booklet Helps... Master Plastic Worm Fishing

So, if you are a bass fisherman and haven't mastered the art of fishing a plastic worm, with a slip-sinker rig which renders it virtually weedless, then you are missing not only the biggest bass around but also the best fishing fun to be had.

Interested? Well, the Zebco folks just happen to have available a booklet titled: "Worm Fishing For Bass." It tells all you need to know to catch a world record bass, if you're that lucky. It's written by a feller named Homer Circle who has chased bass over three continents.

For a copy of Worm Fishing For Bass by Sports Afield Angling Editor Homer Circle, write Zebco, Dept GO, P.O. Box 270, Tulsa, Okla. 74101.

AROUND THE FARM
Prevent harvest tragedies
by William Bortel

If past trends continue, 110 Michigan farmers will be seriously injured by corn pickers this fall. Corn choppers and blowers will mutilate or sever the limbs of nearly 90 farmers, and wagon accidents will injure more than 75 members of farm families. Still others will suffocate in grain bins or be killed or disabled by toxic silo gas.

To help reduce the human cost of this year's harvest, and before using harvest machinery, review the Operator's Manual. Mount a pressurized dry-chemical fire extinguisher on the power unit of your corn picker or combine. Wear reasonably snug-fitting clothing, which won't catch on moving parts. Remember to set slip clutches.

Before making adjustments or repairs, disengage the power-take-off (PTO) and turn off the engine. Afterward, remove all tools from machinery.

Keep riders off tractor drawbars, forage wagons and harvest machines. When working around or under the raised picking heads of a corn picker, place jacks or other supports under the heads. Keep the hydraulic unit raised, but don't rely on it alone.

When forage harvester blades clog with dirt or corn, turn off the tractor engine and wait. Cutter heads in the blade box continue to spin momentarily after the power is turned off.

Keep people away from the discharge outlet, which might throw rocks or stalks while the harvester is running. When using a forage blower, walk around the feed table. Never step over it or kick at silage. You could lose a foot. Never run the blower faster than recommended by the manufacturer.

Before operating self-unloading wagons and portable elevators, make sure the PTO shaft guards and shields are in place. When unhooking the wagon on a slope, first block the wheels.

Make sure the portable elevator lifting cable is in good condition, and the power disengaged before starting the engine. Keep all shields in place, including the hopper safety cover on auger elevators.

Stay away from silos for 10 days to two weeks after filling. They may be full of poisonous silo gas (nitrogen dioxide) which can damage lungs and cause lifelong respiratory problems. Remove chute doors at silage level to vent the heavier-than-air gas. Open windows and close doors on silo rooms attached to barns.

Extreme care should be taken near grain storage bins, where flowing grain or a collapsing pocket of bridged grain can pull you under faster than quicksand.

When driving harvest machinery on public roads, display the Slow Moving Vehicle emblem. Replace faded emblems insuring a clean, bright warning. Let's try to make 1972 an injury-free harvest for Tuscola county farmers.

Great punt return lifts jubilant Hawks past Caro, 14-12

ONE REASON that the Hawks were able to top the Caro Tigers was good blocking. The Hawk forward wall opened a hole for Gene Salas and he dashed over for a Cass City TD Friday.

CLUTCHING THE BALL after snagging a Curt Strickland pass in the first quarter for a good gain is Scott Hartel. The Tigers dropped him immediately after the catch.

Capture Vacation Fun
With Camera-A Must

Whether it's fishing, hunting, or hiking trip, an action-oriented camping vacation has attracted ever-growing numbers of people to the Great Outdoors. And those who want to relive the fun and enjoyment of their outdoor experience consider packing a camera as important as a sleeping bag.

Memory is short. Camera takers know that they can recapture the beauty of unspoiled nature, the thrill of hiking to a mountain top, or the wonders of a child's first sight of woodland animals with pictures.

Action Shots Best

Too often though, the very same people forget that the most effective pictures are action shots. Once back home, the activity and excitement they most want to remember and share with friends is missing from their pictures.

Why? They're still snapping those stiff, fixed-smile, stare-into-the-camera photos that make people groan inwardly when offered the family album.

Your pictures of the Great Outdoors can be different. Put people into them! Get them moving and keep them that way. Nothing is more monotonous than viewing endless scenic views. Adding people in unposed situations will give your pictures meaning and perspective with lively personal involvement.

With camera in hand, only imagination limits the scope of the action pictures you take in the Great Outdoors.

Unposed Photos Best

Try to shoot when your subjects are absorbed in an activity and you'll snap them at their uninhibited best. The "props" that add to picture excitement are all around—trees, lakes, rivers, cliffs, animals and all nature's colorful foliage.

Shots of the family climbing hills, riding horses, fishing, making camp, chopping wood or cooking are all natural action situations. Take pictures from several different angles to capture the full flavor of the scene. Closeups of facial reactions or hands working with equipment can add interesting detail.

Keep Camera Handy

Remember to keep your camera handy for the unexpected shots when an animal scouts your camp, or a colorful bird lights on a nearby limb.

Games this week... Vassar at Caro, Cass City at Bad Axe, Frankenmuth at Sandusky, Lakers at Marlette.

Fresh from a glorious 14-12 victory over Caro Friday the Cass City Red Hawks are bubbling with confidence prior to Friday's game with the Hatchets at Bad Axe.

For the first time in years the Hawks will be the favorites over the Hatchets who have long been a grid powerhouse.

The circumstances could be ripe for an upset. There is no question that Cass City was geared up emotionally for the Tigers and must guard against a letdown.

Coach Roland Pakonen said that the Hatchets have looked good and bad in their first two outings... defeating Harbor Beach and losing to Vassar.

Bad Axe has speed. John DeChane is the Thumb B Conference champion in the dashes and gives the Hatchets a definite outside threat.

It's likely that the Hawks will also be strong defending against the wide plays. The Caro Tigers were stopped cold around the ends.

The Tigers had a wide edge in the battle of the statistics. They pounded the middle of the Hawk line for 193 yards rushing and moved for 16 first downs as compared to Cass City's 10.

Like most teams will be, the Tigers were bigger than the Hawks. We'll face this all season, Pakonen said.

The key to the Hawk victory was the defense on the second series of downs, Pakonen feels.

Caro opened the game and pounded down the field for a quick touchdown, moving through the center of our line for gain after gain. Then Cass City failed to move the ball. If Caro had been able to pound across another marker it may have been all over for us, Pakonen said.

But we held and the game turned around when we mounted a sustained attack to tie the score. Gene Salas capped the drive running over from close in for the touchdown.

Both teams threatened again on sustained drives but neither was able to score.

The Hawks went ahead when Kip Hopper took a Caro punt on his own 45-yard-line and faked a hand-off. Behind a wall of blockers he sped down the east sidelines and raced into the end zone.

A moment later in what proved to be the key play of the game, Salas smashed off tackle and scored standing up for a two-point conversion.

It was a team victory, Pakonen said. We decided early last week that if we won every player would receive the week's Red Hawk award and everyone did.

One of the keys to the victory was the punting of Hopper who boomed the ball for a 45.75 average in four attempts.

Chester Sieradzki continued to sparkle on defense with 14 solo tackles and 9 assists.

The statistics:

	CC	C
First downs	10	16
Rushing plays	41	49
Yards rushing	125	193
Yards passing	57	73
Passes complete	3/10	5/13
Pass intercept by	1	1
Total yards	182	266
Punt average	4/45	4/36
Fumbles lost	1	0

Easy win
for Hawk
JV team

The Cass City Junior Varsity is not about to let their big brothers on the varsity show them up.

The JV opened its season last Thursday against the Lakers and won going away, 32-0.

Actually the game was decided on the opening kick-off when Ed Stoutenburg ran 75 yards for a touchdown.

Stoutenburg had a rare day for the Hawks. He scored four touchdowns and missed another when his 99-yard punt return was called back.

Cass City also scored on a pass from Dave Zawilinski to Ron Sieradzki. George Buniack scored the only extra point of the night as he caught a pass from Zawilinski.

Leading the defense were Mark Phillips, Don Erla, Steve Frederick and Wayne Brooks.

For his efforts against the Lakers, Stoutenburg was named Junior Red Hawk of the week.

The JV schedule:

Sept. 28	at Caro
Oct. 5	Bad Axe, home
Oct. 12	Frankenmuth, home
Oct. 19	at Sandusky
Oct. 26	Marlette, home
Nov. 2	at Vassar
