Prison at Jackson to become medium-security facility

If the people who run Michigan's Department of Corrections have their way, the state someday will lose the distinction of running the world's largest walled prison.

Already the first phase of a plan which will ultimately result in abandonment of the main prison at the Southern Michigan Prison at Jackson has received a go-ahead from the Michigan Corrections Commission.

This summer the commission approved a $3.5 million plan to convert three existing cellblocks at Jackson into a separate, medium-security facility. Medium-security facilities are fenced, but don't have the high walls found in the stereotyped prison most everyone sees in his mind when the term penitentiary is brought up.

al institution has changed a great deal since then.

Gus Harrison, who ran the Corrections Department before he took over the new state lottery, says a change is necessary because Jackson is "obsolete as an effective correctional institution." He points out the second largest institution in the country, California's San Quentin prison, also is slated for closing.

"Modern correctional philosophy favors smaller, more manageable institutions where an inmate is known by his name and not his number," Harrison says. "That is virtually impossible in a prison the size of Jackson."

He says a vast remodeling of Jackson "seems impractical, especially in light of the likelihood that the facility may be abandoned in the future years."

The prison at Jackson was built 40 years ago and the philosophy behind a correction-

Honor 19 Sunday as 50-year members

Nineteen members of Salem United Methodist Church who have been members for 50 years or longer were honored in a special service Sunday at the church.

Honored guests present were Mrs. Elsie Anthes, Herbert Bartle, Mrs. Esther Benkelman, John Bohnsack, Edward Buehrly, Lawrence Buehrly, Mrs. Mary Buehrly, Clark Helwig, Miss Minnie Jaus, Mrs. Effie LaPeer, Mrs. Lena Schwegler and Mrs. Alma Seeger. Seven others of the group, who were not able to be present, include Dorus Benkelman, Mrs. Clementina Crocker, Francis Elliott, Mrs. Della Greenleaf, Fred Joos, Mrs. Rose Striffler and Mrs. Cecil Wood.

Former parishioners who were present for the service were: George Bohnsack of Bay City, Mrs. Lucile Anthes Bush of Caro, Mrs. Lena Joos Hanes of Snover, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Striffler of Detroit, Mrs. Carl Mantley of Fairgrove, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Elliott and Mrs. Mary Buehrly of Uby, Mr. and Mrs. George Dillman of Forester, Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Sten of Lake Orion, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dillman of Saginaw, Miss Marjorie Kinn of Flint, Rev. Wilbur Silvernail and daughter Sharon of Rives Junction.

In the afternoon, following a potluck luncheon in the church dining room, slides were shown and narrated by Mrs. Elsie Anthes. Mrs. Anthes related that her parents were among a group of 13 who came here from Germany in 1872. Unable to speak English, they enlisted the help of a circuit rider from Sebewaing who preached in German. Congregational services were first held in the Waimsey schoolhouse, which was located on the land now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tuckey. The present Salem church was built in 1885.

The week-end festivities in the church started with a harvest supper in the church Saturday evening attended by 115. There were 155 at the Sunday morning worship service with 125 attending the noon meal Sunday.

BETTER HEALTH

Glaucoma leads to blindness

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Glaucoma is a dangerous disease in which the pressure of the fluid in the eyeball increases, pressing on the retina (seeing part of the eye) and injuring it. Unless the pressure is lowered and kept low, it can eventually destroy the retina and cause permanent, irreversible blindness.

The trouble begins when, for some reason, more fluid enters the eye than goes out. I now read that glaucoma is one of the commonest causes of loss of vision in the United States. This is tragic because in practically every case, the person could have saved his sight if he had only gone to an ophthalmologist the day he noticed his sight was failing, especially in the lateral areas of vision. Failure of lateral vision means that the person does not see things to the right or left, although he can still see things directly in front of him. This happens so subtly that it is easy not to realize what is happening. A more noticeable symptom is seeing halos around lights.

To measure the pressure in the eye, an ophthalmologist uses a little instrument which measures what we doctors call tension within the eyeball. If it is too high, we may be able to lower it with the help of some eye drops; and if that does not work well enough, the eye man may make a little hole in the eyeball through which some of the fluid can get out.

There is an acute form of glaucoma which can suddenly produce severe pain in the eyeballs. In such cases, again, the patient should have an operation on his eyes. Sometimes glaucoma will produce headaches.

People over 35 who have a high blood pressure, some heart ailment, or diabetes, are particularly in danger of getting glaucoma. Sometimes an emotional storm, or the rapid drinking of much fluid, can cause a flare-up of a glaucoma.

IS THERE ANY WAY TO REMOVE FRECKLES?

Girls are often very distressed by freckles and wonder if they can get rid of them. Some skin specialists try repeated applications of slush ice—a little poultice made with the extremely cold dry ice which causes a superficial layer of skin to peel off, possibly taking with it some of the freckles.

Fortunately, today, freckles are not considered unfashionable, and girls don't feel that they have to cover up their freckles or get rid of them. They are even considered a mark of beauty.

What caused astigmatism? Is seeing double usually a symptom of a more serious disease? What exactly are cataracts and how can they be treated? Dr. Alvarez answers these and other important questions in his booklet entitled "How to Safeguard Your Vision." If you would like to have a copy, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

Every day people find that the easiest thing in the world to do is make a bad matter worse.

DREAM WORLD

There are countless numbers of people in this world who would much rather hug delusions than embrace opportunities.

Mrs. Johansen rites Saturday

Services were conducted Saturday for Mrs. Estrella Maude Johansen, 80. She died Thursday, Nov. 2, at the Royal Nursing Home in Highland Park where she had been a patient 1 1/2 years. She had been in ill health the past 5 years.

Mrs. Johansen was born in Novesta township May 30, 1892, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Lorenzo and Elizabeth Deer Gage.

She was married to Syver Johansen April 21, 1945, in Detroit, where they made their home following their marriage. Her husband died ten years ago.

She is survived by four daughters: Mrs. Helen Agar and Mrs. Archie Marks, both of Cass City; Mrs. Ward Roberts of Pontiac, and Mrs. James Harrington of San Antonio, Texas; 10 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren.

Also surviving are four stepdaughters: Mrs. Thomas Thompson and Mrs. Selma Gregory, both of Detroit; Mrs. Inga Cullen of Troy and Mrs. Gladys Zupanic of Ferndale.

Three brothers and two sisters preceded her in death.

Services were conducted from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, at 1 p.m., with burial in Novesta cemetery. The Rev. Melvin R. Vender, pastor Emeritus of the First Presbyterian Church, officiated.

The Cass City School District is determined to operate its hot lunch program on a break even basis and the results of scheduled attempts to increase efficiency at Deford ran point blank into a group of irate Deford parents who struggled to keep the program the way it is.

The computer age has caught up with Cass City High School. The board authorized a pilot system for the board that will have all of the forms connected with payroll and checks issued to the staff by a computer owned by the school's auditor.

TEN YEARS AGO

Two grand openings have been scheduled this week. Lloyd Bryant, Gamble Store manager, announced he has opened a toy store in the building next to the Pinney State Bank that formerly housed Hulien's clothing store. Bill Kritzman is celebrating the addition of extra space to his store.

Tuscola county voters reflected the state average as the 14,000 ballots cast represented nearly 80 per cent of the county's 18,380 registered voters. The turnout was a record for an off year election.

A girl's 4-H division of the Cass City Livestock Club was organized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Clarke. Officers elect were: Connie DeLong, president; Margie Clarke, vice-president; Margie Koepfgen, secretary; Ruth Cummins, treasurer; Margaret Battel, reporter, and Susan Tuckey, recreation chairman.

Major Donald Anker, Fort Sill, Okla., was recently promoted from captain to his present rank.

For the 14th consecutive year, Elkland-Novesta Community Chest proceeds have topped the quota, according to a report from Supt. Willis Campbell, general chairman.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

King's Cleaners are getting nicely settled in their new quarters in the building on East Main Street, formerly occupied by the McLellan Hatchery and purchased from Mr. McLellan by Mr. King recently.

Mrs. William Bystrom and baby are occupying the residence in the rear of the Brooker house, recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Webster, who have moved to the Flint house on Ale St. Mr. Bystrom is attending school in Elgin, Ill.

Miss Lorelie Doerr, who has been employed in Bay City, is changing positions and after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Doerr, will report for work as secretary at the Olds Auto Sales in Bay City.

"By June 1948 all of the 39,000 farms in the 7,600 square miles of territory served by The Detroit Edison Company, will have made available the many benefits of central station electric service, according to a statement of C. L. Bougher, Edison's district supervisor at Caro.

The main item of business at the meeting of the Cass City Extension Club was the annual election of officers. The following will serve the group during the ensuing year: Leaders, Mrs. Doris Benkelman and Mrs. Ernest Croft; chairman, Mrs. John Sandham; vice-chairman, Mrs. Chester L. Graham; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. E. W. Kercher.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Myron David Orr, Caro attorney, who has achieved a country-wide reputation as a writer of fascinating fiction, has recently completed a new novel, "Cathedral of Pines," which is running serially in the Michigan Farmer.

Frank Hegler of Novesta township will have a good hunting story to tell when he returns home from the Frutchey ranch near Alpena. He shot a 300-pound bear.

Nov. 14 is the date to remember. There will be a pie baking contest held in the Civil Defense Center in Caro from 1:00 to 3:00 p.m. Come and enjoy the message brought by Mrs. Jeanne Brown, Family Life Specialist from Michigan State University.

Mrs. Brown will speak on "Cutting Your Family Pie" while the real pies are being judged. She is well known for her work with families of pre-school children and with nursery school personnel. She will help the group understand how to handle small children's needs in today's families.

The meeting, planned by the Tuscola Extension Homemakers Council, is open to all homemakers. The pie baking contest itself is for young homemakers from 17 to 30 years old.

Here are other contest rules: Pie must be a two-crust fruit pie to be delivered to the Civil Defense Center by 12:30 p.m. Nov. 14. Contestant is asked to pre-register for the contest by noon of the 13th with the Extension Office, Civil Defense Center, Caro. After the judging, done by experienced personnel, the pies and coffee will be served to those attending. Prizes will be awarded for the best pies.

You need not be an Extension Study Group member to attend or participate.

Planning committee members are Mrs. Walter Schrader, Reese; Mrs. Leonard Russell, Fairgrove; Mrs. Grover Laurie and Mrs. George Hartman, Gagelown; Mrs. A. T. Sholty, Vassar; Mrs. Leon Grzyb, Fostoria; Mrs. Henry Airgood and Mrs. Wesley Karpovich, Caro.

Okay union at hospital

Hills and Dales General Hospital workers voted to organize under the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, Council 55, AFL-CIO, Wednesday, Nov. 1.

Licensed Practical Nurses voted 7 yes and 5 no. Non-professional workers voted 53 yes and 13 no, with one challenged vote.

According to staff representative Gordon Musgrave, negotiations will begin in about three weeks after the preliminary certification from the state labor board is given. He said the non-economic issues will be decided first.

An attempt to unionize the hospital two years ago failed. Workers at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility voted to join the union recently.

Okay pay boost at Evans Products

A three-year contract with a total increase of 72 cents per hour went into effect Thursday, Nov. 2, at Evans Products-Rack Division in Gagetown.

The contract for 165 hourly employees was signed Saturday of last week with Local 6368, United Steel Workers, after about three weeks of negotiations, according to plant manager John M. Weber.

The contract includes an increase of 24 cents per hour the first year, 25 cents per hour the second year and 22 cents per hour the third year.

The base rate under the old contract, including wages and fringe benefits (except those dictated by legislation) was $4.20. Improvements in the new contract include two new paid holidays (Good Friday and New Year's Eve) to make a total of 10 per year, changes in vacation provisions, a prescription drug provision in the medical insurance and changes in the pension program.

This is the fourth contract signed by the union and company since 1963. The Rack Division of Evans Products is a steel fabrication plant which makes handling containers and specialty interior equipment for railroad cars.

Missionary slated at Novesta

Jim Neahusan, area missionary for the Word of Life Bible Clubs, will be the speaker at the Novesta Baptist Church Sunday, Nov. 12, at 7:30 p.m., according to Pastor Jim Siebeneicher.

Word of Life was begun in 1940 under the leadership of Jack Wyrzten. Since that time, the Lord has enlarged this ministry into international camping programs, nationwide crusades, radio, television, and a Bible Club program.

As area missionary of the Bible Club program, Jim is responsible for introducing the program, training leaders, and showing them how to reach their teens.

As a teenager, Jim received Christ as Savior but it was not until after college at the age of 23 that he yielded to the Lord's will. Jim then became actively involved in the youth ministry at Riverdale Baptist Church in Flint, Michigan.

After attending Flint Junior College, and the University of Michigan, where Jim as a key member of their championship track team, he taught school a short period of time before going into sales work. Jim spent four years as a successful insurance salesman with Mutual Security Life Insurance Company until God directed him to Word of Life.

Jim is a man of purpose. His purpose is to give himself completely to the task of training laymen in winning teens to Christ through the ministry of the local church. His message will challenge and convict hearts!

Our daughter came in from the florist the other afternoon and laid a spray of lilies across the pages of the family Bible. I couldn't believe my eyes—for it was harvest time, not Easter.

I put them in a vase on the dining room table, and at dinner that night we exclaimed over their sweet fragrance. But, to me, it was vaguely disturbing—Easter lilies in New England in November—the leaves drifting to the ground in the yard outside, and a symbol of the Resurrection blooming, all at the same time.

And why not? What is the Resurrection but rebirth... a new beginning? Even in the fall of the year, even in the autumn of our lives, is it ever too late to begin again? Even if one has not been going to church, is it too late to start again? These were the questions I asked myself. I found the answers when I went back to church last Sunday.

AROUND THE FARM

Organic farming

by William Bortel

Is the organic gardening movement a new idea? Some people may believe they discovered composting and mulching. However, it has been reported that vineyards were manured 600 years before Christ.

Can organic farming feed all mankind? No! Most biodegradable refuse available to gardeners (leaves, straw, weeds, sawdust, wood chips, dung, garbage, etc.) is so low in nitrogen that soil organisms must use most of the available soil nitrogen as they multiply to decompose the added organic material. This causes temporary nitrogen deficiency for a growing crop unless nitrogen is applied when these materials are used. You get barely 3 or 4 lbs. of nitrogen out of a ton of dry sawdust or straw, only 12 lbs. out of a ton of fresh cow manure.

Is that why crops grown "the organic way" in some overpopulated areas are poor and pale? Certainly one reason. Often creating enfeebled people. Varieties of rice, wheat, and other crops in these areas have "adjusted, through centuries of natural selection to low nutrition... responding little to fertilizer. But recently released varieties, introduced by Nobel winner Norman Borlaug and others, respond to fertilizer with 4 to 5 times the yield increases of local types -- yields of much more nutritious food. Japan has reached "food self-sufficiency" by using more fertilizer and pesticides per hectare than any other Asian country. Her rice yields are highest and her young people are growing taller than their parents.

Are organically grown foods more healthful than chemically fertilized foods? If they are, someone better tell the Dutch. Holland uses the most concentrated rates of chemical fertilizers in the world. And with it, the Dutch enjoy the world's highest crop yields and health standards: (1) Highest birth rate, (2) Lowest mortality, (3) Life span two years longer than U. S. residents.

Report looting of Parrish home

The Roger Parrish home at 4585 N. Seeger St., Cass City, was discovered burglarized Wednesday, Nov. 1, and numerous antique and silver items missing.

The theft of valuable dishes, furniture and clocks was discovered when Veron Gingrich who was going to drain the pipes in preparation for winter, discovered the rear door of the home was broken.

The burglary is believed to have occurred sometime between Oct. 23 and Nov. 1. The value of the missing items was not estimated.

Missing are four pitcher and bowl sets, several clocks, lamps, Victorian style chairs, vases, platter, silver table service for eight and a silver tea service.

A suspicious truck was seen on the premises in the past week by neighbors, police reported.

Parrish is out of the state on a musical engagement.

Dick Wallace, 4693 N. Seeger St., Cass City, reported the larceny of an electric door opener stolen from his car while it was parked at the Cass City Bowling Alley, Friday. The door of the vehicle was unlocked and the opener on the dash. The loss is estimated at $20.

Alvin McKee, 4371 West St., Cass City, reported the theft of a tool box valued at $90 from his garage. The theft was discovered Nov. 1 and is believed to have happened within the last two weeks.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating a suspicious vehicle parked in a field off Koepfgen Road, 1/2 mile north of Bay City-Forestville Road. The car was covered with brush, had no license plates, a smashed front end, damaged tail lights and a disconnected battery.

He credits it to the elimination of DDT and hard pesticides. There are more Robins, more songbirds now than there were two years ago and that's good, he explained.

If pheasant hunting is better in the wild it will whet the appetite of the hunter and after the 3 weeks of the regular season is over why wouldn't they want to come to us for the remaining 7 1/2 months?

Why not indeed? Pruett is confident that they will and is betting his shirt that's his right.

We'll have more members than we can handle someday, the Trapper says, but meanwhile we've got something here that's available to sportsmen in the area. We provide guaranteed successful hunting at a cost per bird harvested that I am sure is cheaper than hunting for native birds.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Beatrice Hundersmarck, Bad Axe; three brothers: Ronald, serving with the U. S. Air Force in Holbrook, Ariz.; Fred and David, both of Bad Axe; two sisters: Mrs. Richard Clouse, Westland, and Mrs. Barbara Hodges, Freeland, and a half sister, Mrs. Robert Davison, Calif.

Services were held at the MacAlpine Funeral Home with the Rev. Ross Nicholson officiating. Graveside military rites were conducted at Grant township cemetery.

Cass City police investigated several minor accidents Tuesday, Oct. 31.

Marcia Lynn Logan, 22, 3806 N. Crawford Road, Cass City, escaped injury when her car struck a telephone pole as she attempted to avoid collision with another vehicle at the intersection of Oak and Huron at 3:50 p.m.

Susan Kay Hutchinson, 25, 6578 Seed St., Cass City, was injured when the car she was driving struck a deer as she was west bound on M-91, three-fourths mile west of M-53. The accident occurred at 5:30 p.m.

Cars driven by Richard Lee Sugden, 17, 5964 Cass City Road, Cass City, and Ronnie Thomas Austin, 17, Grassmere Road, Bad Axe, collided in the IGA parking lot at 9:25 p.m. when the two drivers were apparently having an egg throwing contest, according to Cass City police reports. Neither was injured.

Viney pleads

guilty to reduced charge

Robert Manning Viney, Cass City, entered a plea of guilty to the reduced charge of larceny in a building Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court before Judge Norman Baguley.

He entered the guilty plea when arraigned for breaking and entering a house belonging to Margaret Szagesh of Mayville located at Leix and Blackmore Roads.

A television was taken when the house was burglarized Sept. 29.

Entry was gained by removing plastic over a door window.

Viney was remanded to the custody of the sheriff to await sentencing Dec. 4.

Mock election increases pupil political awareness

By Kit McMillion

The Cass City High School looked like political bedlam last week as two campaign headquarters representing Republican and Democratic parties were set up by students along side the main entrance.

Probably the only place in town where literature was available from both parties, the mock headquarters was an exercise in learning the nitty-gritty of participatory democracy, according to teacher Robert Logan, who directed the program.

Logan considers the mock election and the voter registration two weeks before a success.

Some of the students, however, are disappointed in the reaction of their fellow students to the campaign.

The disappointing truth that gimmicks and name exposure are more persuasive than the hard-gut issues was proven when students swept the Republican table clean of buttons and balloons, whether they were partial to that party or not.

"A number of kids are learning that gimmicks win the election," said Logan, adding that the Democrats are really upset.

Students from his current affairs class traveled to Saginaw for literature, with the result that more gimmicks like red-white-and blue bags, bumper stickers, balloons and campaign pins were brought back along with the printed material from the Republicans.

Whether or not anything was really learned about politics depends on the student.

Friday afternoon the discussions around the two tables centered around that night's game against Lakers and the possibility of winning the Thumb B Championship.

Talking about politics was not on very many student minds, but in true partisan style, they ridiculed the practices of the "other side" anyway.

Kim Glaspie, student council president, and an active worker in a local political race, said he thought the students in general were aware of the issues, but were giving their loyalties to the party that has the most gimmicks available.

Logan said he didn't think most students really knew what the issues were. He added that when he started the program, the freshman and sophomores for the most part didn't even know the candidates' names.

But with the headquarters and the registration, a certain amount of political awareness has been made.

"It's starting to snowball to debate in the halls, he said, and even to some name-calling by opposing party supporters.

Classroom debate has also started, and one student told him she took literature home to her parents.

This made it worth the while, the teacher explained, saying he had had pessimistic visions of litter and bumper stickers strewn all over the school before the headquarters were set up.

Part of the apparent lack of concern among some students may be that only about a dozen seniors are eligible to vote in the regular general election.

In the school-wide voter registration for the mock election, however, about 66 per cent registered. By class the figures are: seniors, 90 per cent; juniors, 50 per cent; sophomores, 55 per cent; freshmen, 66 per cent.

Some students criticized the attitude of the teachers, who had only a 72 per cent voter registration.

The outcome of the election? Students responded with a heavy Republican vote, giving Nixon 59 per cent, Griffin 65 per cent, Harvey 70 per cent and Armbruster 70 per cent.

The only proposal that carried with the student body was Proposal A allowing daylight savings time. All others failed to pass.

School wide voter turnout of those registered was about 73 per cent.

REPUBLICANS received more name exposure at the high school when balloons and other gimmicks were made available as part of that party's headquarters. Supporters are, left to right, Roy Sefton, Linda Koepfgen and "Chito" Benags, Philippine exchange student.

Victory at Lakers does it

Hail the champs! Hawks nail down Thumb B crown

The Cass City Red Hawks came charging back after spotting the Lakers a one touchdown lead in the first quarter to win going away, 30-12, and nail down the first Hawk Thumb B Conference in 13 years. The win made Cass City odds-on favorites to end the year undefeated.

Only Reese stands in the way of a Hawk victory sweep and on the basis of previous games the Rockets appear to have little hopes for an upset. Reese lost to Mayville 46-0 last Friday.

If the game goes as expected, Cass City fans may get a glimpse at some of the boys from the junior varsity and the reserve ranks who will carry Cass City's banner in 1973.

But right now all the plaudits go to the Hawks of 1972.

They showed again the stuff that champions are made of.

It started like the game against Caro, like the game against Vassar. The Lakers punched gaping holes in Cass City's line and moved steadily down the field after recovering a fumble.

Tom Voss pounded over from the three and Cass City fans were uneasy.

But the Hawks helped stem upset fears on the next series of downs with a sustained drive of their own that ended when Gene Salas pounded over from close in to score. The Hawks ran for the extra point and moved in front 8-6. Cass City allowed itself a little breathing room in the second quarter.

Starting deep in their own territory they moved the ball down the field.

A key play was a fake punt on fourth and two on their own 38. The surprise worked and Cass City kept possession.

In the drive Curt Strickland threw two key passes to Scott Hartel to keep moving towards paydirt territory.

Cass City's second fumble set up another scoring opportunity for the Lakers and they took advantage of it as Voss rammed over from the two to cap a 38-yard drive.

At the half Cass City was ahead 14-12 but it was still anybody's ball game.

In the last half Cass City took control. Gene Salas scampered 45 yards for a touchdown, his longest run of the year. On his way to the end zone the Senior fullback bulled his way past several would-be tacklers.

The touchdown combo of Paul Bliss and Strickland clicked again in the final quarter as Bliss took the heave in the end zone in a play that covered 12 yards to end the scoring.

Salas ran for one of the successful conversions and Strickland hit Hartel and Kip Hopper for the other two-point plays.

Coach Roland Pakonen again stressed the play of the offensive and defensive lines as the key to victory. He credited the line with helping Salas pick up 24 yards in 38 carries for three touchdowns.

Pakonen calls Salas the best back in the league and also picked him for the Red Hawk of the week award.

As usual the defensive line came in for its share of the credit for stopping the Laker ground game after its strong start in the first quarter.

Chester Sieradzki posted his usual strong game and was credited with 13 solo tackles and 11 assists.

Record size area deer herd awaiting hunters, says DNR

Contrary to what is expected on the state level the deer herd in Tuscola county and the Thumb promises to be the largest in history, says Carlton R. Jarvis, Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologist from Caro.

All the deer are in good condition and the major problem facing the DNR is poaching. Killing deer out of season is widespread, says Jarvis, and we are doing our best to stop it. You can't catch them all, however, he sighed.

from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily. The primary purpose for the check is to gather information about the herd. If the entire deer can't be checked, Jarvis says, the head of the trophy is sufficient for checking purposes.

Junior varsity loses final game to Vassar

The Cass City Junior Varsity was defeated in its final game of the season by a fine Vassar team, 20-0. The loss dropped Cass City from a tie for second to fourth place in the Thumb B Conference.

Vassar dominated the game, scoring once in the first half and twice in the second. The players voted Ed Stoutenburg the team's most valuable player. Victor Eubank was voted the most improved player over the season.
