

FROM THE Editor's Corner

The election's over and it's time to clear up the odds and ends that have been accumulating while the more pressing events of the day have been stage center.

In other words, it's question and answer time again.

QUESTION - Was it because the citizenry was in a "no" mood that proposal C abolishing the property tax was defeated?

ANSWER - Partially. Two other important considerations carried weight. The first was the "you can't hide a house" theory. In other words, everybody has to pay as compared to income tax where many manage to escape. Without the property tax, many feared the tax load would be unequal. The second was that without the property tax local control would have slipped away more than it already has.

QUESTION - Why don't you print all the places in the county where the new lottery tickets can be purchased? I see it in all the dailies.

ANSWER - It's another case of government bureaucracy. It's illegal to tell about a lottery of any kind and send it through the mail. Ads in dailies are printed for carrier boys and newsstand delivery and removed from mail editions. Since the Chronicle has no carrier boys and only about 20 per cent of its sales on newsstands, it's not worthwhile to publish them at all.

QUESTION - I suppose that I'll have to read about local winners in a daily paper... if they print it at all?

ANSWER - Nope. The law won't let me tell you where to buy the ticket, but it will let me tell you about winners as long as I don't reveal where the ticket was purchased.

QUESTION - Now that abortion on demand has been defeated I guess you'll be sulking about it since you rushed right in and said it was the way to go?

ANSWER - Well, I still feel that there will be abortions performed, law or no law. Perhaps 20 weeks was too long a period. Something like 8 or 12 weeks may have been more realistic.

Still in the long haul I feel sure that abortion will be legal in Michigan. The only uncertainty is how many years away it is.

QUESTION - I'm constantly reading about motorcycle accidents in Tuscola county and the Thumb. Can't something be done?

ANSWER - I agree we have a problem. The trouble is I have no solution. What is needed is extra caution.

Cyclists should realize that in certain situations they are very hard to see by motorists in cars. Many of us have been startled when a bike appeared "out of nowhere" on a main drag. Main Street is a fine example. When motorcycles drive close to parked cars and cars arrive at the intersection they can be easily not seen at all even though drivers stop and take proper precautions.

The other side of the coin is that other drivers have to realize that there are more and more bikes on the road and the hazard may get worse, not better.

Most bike riders are young, gung-ho kids and, as any insurance company will testify, more accident prone than the average.

It's a dynamite situation and we should be more alert than ever to try and avoid the real tragedy that is just over the horizon for us all.

BULLETIN

Floyd Kennedy, 53, of Decker died Tuesday night at Caro Community Hospital. Mr. Kennedy, co-owner of Cass City Gulf Service, was a former supervisor in Evergreen township. Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday at the Mizpah Missionary Church.

LIVING RIGHT suits Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson, who have lived to the 80 plus mark without seeing the inside of a hospital.

FIRST DEER reported Wednesday was this husky 6-pointer bagged by Steve Papp. He was shot near the Cass River at Hadley Road, east of Cass City. It was the fourth deer in Papp's hunting career. Two others were shot in the area and the fourth in northern Michigan.

Like a Geritol ad

Pair has 166 years of no hospitalization

By Kit McMillan

Some people live right and others seem to have a lot of luck.

The Frank Hutchinsons reap benefits of both. Sitting in their old farm house on N. Cemetery Road and watching the cold November winds stir gray clouds, they both cheerfully laughed and said, "We're like the advertisement for Geritol."

Eat right, exercise and get plenty of sleep. Only they don't take the Geritol. They don't smoke or drink, either.

With only a few bodily complaints, both pooh-poohed the fact that at eighty-plus years, neither has been in a hospital.

The pair comes from sturdy English and Pennsylvania Dutch stock, and are the only ones left of their brothers and sisters.

Keeping active and maintaining a healthy outlook on life does the trick, according to Mrs. Hutchinson.

At 82 she suffers from arthritis and high blood pressure, and her husband, 84, is a little hard of hearing, but both still have full heads of silver gray hair and almost all of their own teeth. They laugh a lot, too.

Grimacing, Mrs. Hutchinson said, "Look for good in everybody and try to be cheerful."

"Don't sit down and rock," stated Hutchinson. "That's the worst thing to do."

Wearing overalls and the tough leather-laced shoes of a farmer, he explained that he had quit farming just four years ago, when his son Grant turned the family farm of over 40 years into a golf course.

Now he mows the course in the summer. And he and his wife often walk around the lake daily unless the weather is bad.

"You can't sit down with every ache," stated Mrs. Hutchinson.

Still filled with enthusiasm for life, they're looking forward to their first plane trip soon. For them, life began at eighty. They've putted their first golf ball since then and taken their first snowmobile ride.

They still attend church every Sunday and used to belong to the Grange. Other than that they don't go out often.

"We don't belong to senior citizens," said Mrs. Hutchinson coyly. "We're not old enough."

Taking the years as they come to them, the pair have slowed down just a little bit.

When they celebrated their 63rd wedding anniversary in October, they didn't drive to their cabin at their honeymoon site in Vanderbilt as they have for 25 years, but had one of their grandsons take them.

And Mrs. Hutchinson's garden consisted of only a row of lettuce and a few tomato plants this year.

Recognizing their good fortune and their good health, they said they had a few sick spells, too. During the influenza epidemic in 1917-1918 Mrs. Hutchinson became ill with pneumonia, but stayed home because the hospital was "crowded full." Another time she had a virus and the doctor thought she might have to go to the hospital, but decided she'd be better off at home.

Her husband had a few close calls when he was farming with horses, too, but he laughs "them off and said, "That goes along with life."

Thinking back over the years, Mrs. Hutchinson related she doesn't think they've ever had an occasion where they needed a hospital. Her son was born at home when they were still in Kingston township. And they both still have tonsils.

Even though they've never used it, they've carried hospital insurance all these years, just in case.

An ironic twist to staying healthy is that Medicaid and Medicare does little to lighten the burden of routine medical check-ups and medicines or dentist bills, which is what they have to pay, the healthy couple said.

"You've got to be in the hospital to get it," they said.

They both laughed again and said they'd rather not collect.

TRUCKS FILLED WITH CORN piled up this week as farmers waited their turn to unload at the busy elevator.

Early copy—Special edition next week

The traditional kick-off of the Christmas season comes with the Thanksgiving issue of the Chronicle next week. At that time special sample copies of the paper will be sent to all area homes and the paper will be printed a day early so that it will be in the hands of readers on Thanksgiving Day.

Correspondents and advertisers are reminded that deadlines are advanced. Advertisers are requested to turn in copy for the special edition this week end and contributors should see that news is turned in immediately after it occurs to be assured of publication.

Thank you for your cooperation.

OEO programs spur local job activity

The Office of Economic Opportunity for the Thumb is now channeling some $3.8 million into projects designed to help promote the economic welfare of the area, but Ray LeRoux, Deputy Director of OEO, feels that the four-county area under his direction is being short-changed.

Never mind that under the direction of the dynamic LeRoux the OEO is doing more for the area than it ever has before. What matters, LeRoux feels, is that the brass upstairs doesn't realize the rural problems and needs of the Thumb community.

It's almost as if there were a wall between the urban areas and all of the people who need help in the Thumb, LeRoux feels.

And the new deputy director is determined to tear it down.

He has scheduled a meeting in Caro Dec. 5 when one of the directors of the program will be in Tuscola county for a day-long look at the needs of the area and the results of the programs now underway. He has hopes that concrete results will be obtained via a bigger share of program revenues than are now available here.

Directly under the auspices of the OEO are five programs in which $800,000 is now being expended.

The programs and the amounts allotted to each in the Thumb are: OEO, $101,000; Headstart, $185,000; Neighborhood Youth Corps, $200,000; PHD grant, $25,000, and in kind private donations, $100,000.

LeRoux is especially proud of two of them: Mainstream and PHD grant.

Mainstream is the program in which persons on welfare or about to be on welfare are taken and given jobs and paid with Federal funds until they can join the regular work force.

LeRoux told the Cass City Rotary Club Tuesday noon that in Lapeer, Tuscola, Sanilac and Huron counties 207 persons had been taken from, or kept from being placed on, welfare rolls by the program.

The PHD program will provide the use of five persons with experience to work in areas that normally call for the use of high salaried experts.

They will be available to counties, townships and municipalities for use in manpower development, community development, municipal management and finance, recreational development and vocational development.

The experts will work here to complete thesis work for doctorates. LeRoux stressed that the men selected by Michigan State University to work will be experienced in the field. Persons who are returning to school for advanced degree work, not students without practical experience.

We hope that local governmental units will use them in development plans and we are sure that they will be able to save many thousands of dollars for governmental units involved, says the deputy director.

LOAN PROGRAM

While the OEO has no jurisdiction over Small Business Administration loans, it does help process applications and steer applicants in the right direction for a decision from the SBA.

In Cass City alone we have some $430,000 granted or pending and we see 75 more jobs from loans that will be coming our way from the SBA, LeRoux says.

That's small, of course, in comparison to the amounts that have been granted in the four-county area with OEO assistance.

SBA loans in which OEO has been involved in an advisor capacity approaches $3 million.

But if LeRoux has his way, it will be only a beginning.

He sees a future in which the Thumb is no longer the "poor relation" of Federal help programs. A time when these help programs will be much more significant than it is today. He is working to make it so.

Tim Guinther hurt in hunting accident

Timothy Guinther, 15, of 6397 Seventh St., Cass City, was discharged Tuesday from Hills and Dales Hospital where he was taken Saturday after he was accidentally shot in the leg by a shotgun while hunting partridge.

Approximately 40-50 bird shot pellets lodged in his right leg and the inside of his left leg.

The accident happened about 3:30 p.m. in Sanilac county while the youth was hunting with his father. According to sheriff's reports, he was not wearing bright red clothing.

The accident occurred when his father shot at a bird and did not see the youth in the brush, sheriff's reports said.

Corn harvest 3 weeks late

The scarcity of railroad cars and the possibility of snow are hampering the efforts of farmers and grain elevators in harvesting and shipping this year's corn crop.

Area elevators reported Monday that the crop is about half off the field but about three weeks late. Unlike some of the other crops, the average yield is good this year, about 100 bushels per acre. Last year the average was about 20-30 bushels per acre lower. The price is $1.05, about 10 cents more than last year.

In an effort to take in the crop, the Cass City Michigan Bean Elevator has been operating 24 hours a day, but is expected to cut back the hours soon, according to manager Bob Wischmeyer.

The J. P. Burroughs elevator in Gagetown is open 12 hours a day for delivery, with the dryers going an additional 5 hours, said manager Jim Turner.

Last year at this time, the elevators were done taking in corn.

With the crop three weeks late due to the spring rains and the late planting, the corn still standing in the fields could be lost if snow arrives before a frost freezes the ground, according to the elevator managers.

Michigan Bean has been taking in about 10,000 bushels per day and Burroughs about 10,000. Some of the grain is being stored, while the rest is being shipped in the few railroad cars available.

Wischmeyer said his elevator shipped corn to Saginaw via truck all week end.

The elevators are allotted whatever cars the railroad has available, and this year there just aren't very many. Turner said one car would hold about 3000 bushels or so. Last week they had only four cars.

Wischmeyer says they have had only 20 cars since they started taking corn Oct. 20.

Pass the mustard

BY JIM FITZGERALD

It's not what you eat, it's what you know that gives you indigestion. Ye Olde Philosopher has spoken.

What I mean is, my son Eddie hit me in the head with an olive (you might want to quit reading now, because this could get confusing).

This kid is always shooting baskets, see? He is also always eating. One of his favorite snacks is olive juice. Just the juice, not the olives. He pours the juice into a tablespoon and slurps it up, quiet as a busted vacuum cleaner.

Eddie is no Abdul Kareem Jabbar when it comes to making baskets. So naturally, he tilts the odds in his favor. So what could be more natural than popping tiny olives into huge wastebaskets, especially when he's usually got a jar of olives in his pocket anyway? And he doesn't eat the olives, just the juice?

(If you don't believe any of this, it's simply because you never had a 14-year-old son. Every word is true.)

Anyway, despite the odds, Eddie missed the basket this time and hit me in the head. I'll admit he was throwing all the way from the kitchen, through an alcove, and aiming at a basket half hidden by my chair. But it was still a lousy shot.

But I made the best of it. I picked the olive out of my lap and ate it.

Immediately there was a gasp from the kitchen and my daughter, who is 2 years nuttier than my son, said:

"Was that the olive the cat licked?"

Auughhh!

The next sound was me choking up 2 points into Abdul's basket. Followed by the sound of 2 bodies falling down laughing in the kitchen.

All of which serves as an involved introduction to the Michigan hot dog controversy (I warned you this wasn't going to be easy).

Michigan's meat standards are higher than federal standards. Some of the big meat packers—such as Hormel and Armour—have asked the courts to allow them to sell the same hot dogs in Michigan that they sell in other states. Michigan's meat packers are fighting back—"defending the integrity of the Michigan hot dog." The argument probably won't be settled until 1988 when, for the first time in history, a wienie roast will be held in the chambers of the U.S. Supreme Court. (If Justice Frankfurter had only lived to bring the mustard!).

I've eaten hot dogs in several states, including Michigan, and they all tasted the same to me. What's inferior about non-Michigan hot dogs? I had to ask. And some smart nutritionist told me: "Federal standards permit hot dogs to contain ingredients processed from animal ears, eyes, tongues, lips, snouts, udders, bladders, intestines, hearts and stomachs."

Auughhh!

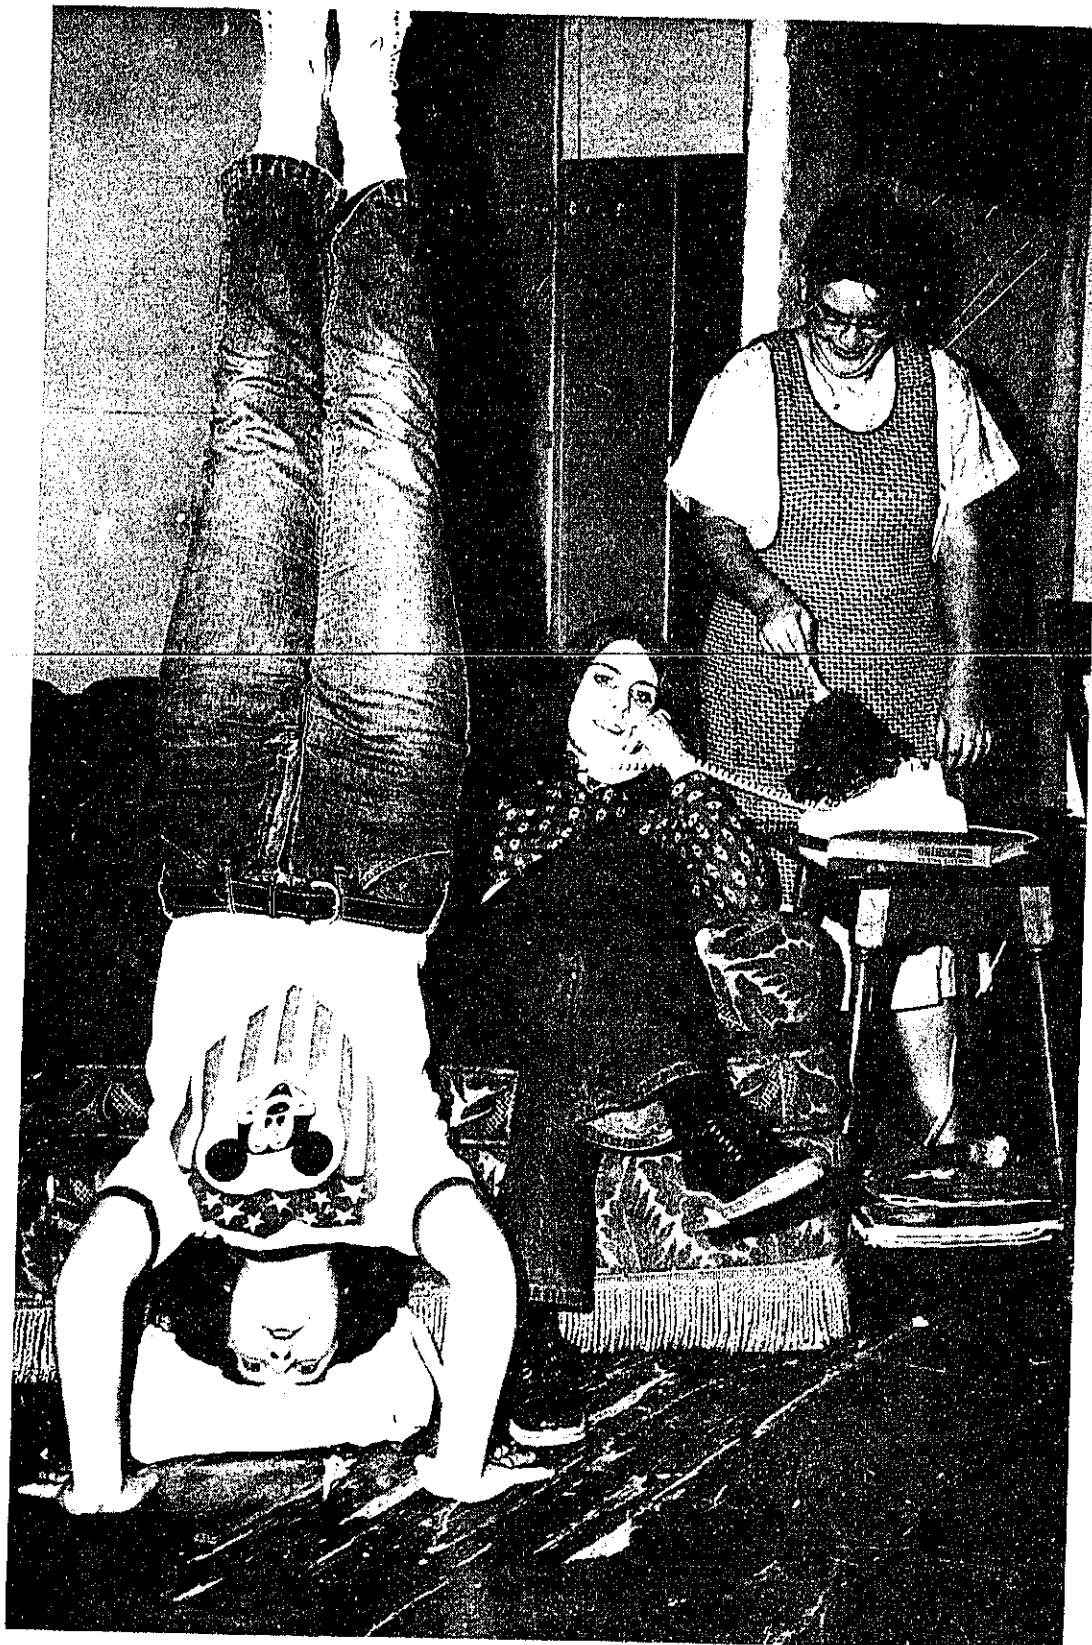

It's not what you eat, it's what you know.

Arrest 2 for drunk driving

Two area persons were arrested and charged with driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor in separate instances Friday, Nov. 10.

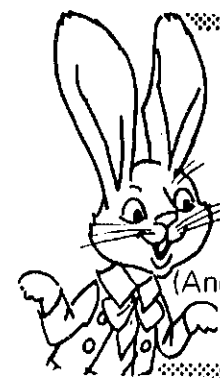

Charles B. McCloskey, 43, Rossman Road, Kingston, pleaded guilty to the charge, was placed on one year probation and given fine and costs of $150 by District Court Judge Richard Kern.

Edward Murawski, 36, 4069 Mushroom Road, Deford, was placed on $100 jail bond.

IN A SCENE from the Owen-Gage senior play "Rest Assured" by Donald Payton, Mary Morlock (Jean LaFave) attempts to speak to her lover by telephone, despite the distractions of her little sister (Deb Draschil) standing on her head and the persistent cleaning efforts of Mildred the maid (Elodie VanDePutte).

The three-act comedy will be presented Friday and Saturday evenings beginning at 8 p. m. at the Gagetown Elementary School Gymnasium.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, the Chronicle's ad gal, and I carry on a friendly feud about the Farmers' Almanac which she swears by and I swear at.

Just wait and see, she promised a week ago, we'll have eight inches of snow before Monday night. The Almanac says so.

It was with delight that I called her attention to the snow-free weather in Cass City Monday. And I made sure I was too busy to pay attention when she wanted to talk about all that white stuff that fell in other areas of the State.

Two little words made me the target for hunters all during the week. Not the ones I wrote, the two that I didn't write.

They failed to appear in a story about deer hunting prospects in Tuscola county. I wrote that antlerless deer hunting was legal and forgot to add "with permit". There are only 300 permits issued in this region for any deer, DNR reps said, and please, please make the correction.

Public service announcement: 1973 license plates went on sale Wednesday. A prediction: license sales will be slow at the start. Everybody and his brother will be sweeping down to the local outlets to buy lottery tickets at six locations that I'm not allowed to name. Vendors report brisk sales. Imagine. This land office business to buy when 55 cents of every dollar goes to the State of Michigan never to be returned.

Lambert Althaver makes a strong case this week in the letter to the editor column for the Cass City Cultural Center. Still, I think about all that room at five Cass City Schools and wonder aloud whether those meetings had to be held in the Main Street building?

Speaking of the Cultural Center, Mrs. Lucile Bauer called to bend my ear about it and came up with at least one thought about the building that holds more merit in my eyes than its use as a simple meeting place.

She says that the Cultural Center is one of the village's oldest buildings and could very well be turned into a museum for local history featuring items depicting the community's heritage.

Another Cass City alumni moves up the ladder. Dave Binder, former head basketball coach at Mattawan High School, has been appointed to the coaching staff at Kalamazoo College as assistant to head coach mentor Ray Steffen.

Binder lettered in baseball, basketball and football at Cass City and played two years of varsity basketball at Central Michigan University.

He gained state-wide fame in 1971 when he coached his team to a stalling 8-overtime win over Parchment, 10-8.

Ecology class beautifies Orr Woods

Orr Woods has been given a new look by the ecology class of the Cass City High School, modifying the natural wooded setting into a place where persons can rest and enjoy the natural woods.

The class of 16 boys and one girl designed and constructed a foot bridge and a small fort-like cabin and recently completed the work in the woods.

Under the direction of Miss Nancy Auvil, the project was sponsored jointly by David Custer's industrial education class, where the bridge and cabin were constructed.

With the approval and help of the village parks and recreation committee, Dr. D. E. Rawson and Mrs. Gladys Albee, students widened the small stream that flows through the wooded area and made signs that will be posted in the spring, identifying the various trees and flowers.

Special services at Sutton church

Special services are planned Sunday evening, Nov. 19, in the Sutton-Sunshine Methodist Church. Five youths who are members of Teen Missions, Inc., will be in charge.

A rap session from 6-7 p.m. for the youth is planned.

All interested persons are invited to attend a service following from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m.

The group are part of a group organized for International Youth Missions. During the summer months the teens and young adults are engaged in missionary projects.

Headquarters for the organization is in Florida. During October and November, the Teen Mission bus transports youth to make appearances in Eastern and Central United States and Canada.

FROM THE LITTER BOX

Growing old

By Kit McMillion

The realization that I am getting old slapped me in the face the other morning as I crawled out of the bed and tried to stand up, my knees creaking and my hand clasp that familiar aching pain in my lower back, the kind that is advertised in woman's magazines with the little stars and arrows shooting out of some poor housewife type's dorsal region.

The elections were over and I mulled some thoughts about my own independent political feelings and radical tendencies, thinking about the good old days when my college cronies and I were certain someday the government would return to the people.

It's got to be one of those growing old realizations that hurt so badly when I thought to myself, the landslide victory for incumbents has to be the will of the people. Darn it.

When I was less than one score, I was sure I had the answers. They were rational ideals that made a lot of sense to me after I spent hours working them over in my mind. Those were the days when I was more concerned with staying afloat with every skirmish in the war and every scandal that came out of the capitol.

Now I'm more concerned with getting a square breakfast and keeping my house clean. Gotta be getting old, man. That's all there is to it.

I feel like I can write a book called, "What Growing Old Means to Me."

It would include chapters about how growing old means no more school vacations, getting stomach aches from eating carryout foods—my old life stay—and worrying about paying the light bill so you don't have to sit around in candle light, which used to be "really groovy."

Growing old means learning there's more about death than finding your pet goldfish floating upside down and that there's more to birth than waiting for someone to bring home the new baby. Or leaving your blue jeans at home and wearing a skirt. Now that's old.

Ah, the old story about facing the facts of life, etc.

It takes a sledge hammer with some people, I guess, instead of the gentle but persistent tapping on the left shoulder.

I got another belt in the head last week when I read the advertisement for the new head shop in the old library building. I used to hang out at those kind of places almost all the time.

And I mean I didn't even know what some of the things advertised were! Man, that's growing old. Meow. Growl!

Consumer rights and obligations

Judy Marks Extension Agent

When we get indignant about our Consumer's rights do we lose sight of the fact we may be causing other consumers to complain about theirs?

An example of this is the woman who complains about high food prices but lets her children run loose in the market where they open packages, snitch cookies, sample fruit and try candy. The store owner has to raise the prices to cover the loss he suffers as a result of these actions.

We as consumers have certain rights - BUT at the same time WE HAVE CERTAIN OBLIGATIONS. They might be called a code of ethics.

-We should exhibit the same kind of honesty we expect to receive from a business firm.

-We should carefully read all contracts you are asked to sign. Many charges against businesses are the result of the consumer signing a contract he did not read.

-Have respect for merchandise you handle. Damaging merchandise makes all goods cost more money to all consumers.

-Don't be a shoplifter or a price tag switcher. You and all customers pay the price eventually. By not notifying the manager when you observe a shoplifter in action, you condone the action.

Remember consumers are a minority that consists of every-

OES Committees named at meet

Forty-two members, including one guest, attended the monthly meeting of Echo chapter OES held Nov. 8. The charter was draped in memory of Mrs. Mary Flint, who died Nov. 2. The transfer of membership of Mrs. Gertrude Falkenhagen from Decker chapter to Echo chapter was completed.

Members heard a report of the October Grand chapter session held in Grand Rapids and voted a $10 contribution to the local United Fund drive. A school of instruction for officers is to be held Jan. 8 and a practice for officers is set for Nov. 28 at 8 p.m.

The new worthy matron, Mrs. Marie Jett, announced appointment of standing committees for the coming year as follows: reception, Mrs. Dorothy Tracy; sunshine committee, Mrs. Donna Holm; dining room, Mrs. Betty Greenleaf; obituary, Mrs. Lois Binder and Mrs. Bertha West; auditing, George Jett, Helen Lorentzen and Mrs. Gladys Albee; publicity, Mrs. Reva M. Little, and proficiency, Keith Murphy.

On the examining committee are: Clarence Merchant, Mrs. Margaret Neitzel and Mrs. Alexia Cook; membership, Mrs. Colleen Krueger and Mrs. Mildred McConkey; by-laws, Mrs. Nelle Koepgen, Mrs. Ruth Morell and Keith McConkey, and ways and means, Mrs. Holm, Mr. and Mrs. Jett, Mrs. Ruth Ann Whittaker, Mrs. Greenleaf, Mrs. Doris Evers, Mrs. Krueger and Mrs. Mabel Wright.

Tables in the dining room were decorated in keeping with Thanksgiving when Mrs. Harlan Dickinson and her committee served cake and coffee at the close of the meeting.

SIGNAL INTENTIONS

Lots of car accidents could be avoided if the other driver did what we expect him to do.

SELF DENIAL

The only person who can deny us another chance is that fellow in the full-length mirror.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

All new decorations are scheduled to be erected on Main Street by the Cass City Chamber of Commerce and the village, Chamber President Dick Drews announced.

Bob Schott shot a large 10-point half-albino buck hunting in Alpena county.

Elected to Who's Who Among American Universities and Colleges for 1967-68 is Miss Nancy J. Sweeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Sweeney, Uby.

Another step towards a second vote for a Thumb Area Community College was taken when a new steering committee was organized in a meeting held at Bad Axe.

As a descendant of John Carver, who sailed on the Mayflower in 1620, to Rev. David Altman, pastor of the Novesta Church of Christ, Thanksgiving has a personal quality. He spoke at the Thanksgiving program of the Woman's Study Club.

TEN YEARS AGO

At a recent meeting, the board of directors of the Hills and Dales General Hospital voted to change the facility from a closed to an open staff hospital.

Students in Cass City High School's foreign language department are finding that the language laboratory is an increasingly helpful and pleasant part of their learning experience.

Reflecting its position in the final standings of the Thumb B Conference, Cass City High School for the first time since the league was organized failed to land a member on the first team of the mythical all-conference squad. John Shagena was named to the second team.

Members of Cass City Schools' four bands sold an estimated $1550 worth of candy during their recent sale, according to Richard Case, band director. Mick Pomeroy, junior, took the top prize by selling $80 worth of candy. He was followed in second place by Bruce King, fifth grade, with $63.50.

A deductible $10,000 coverage accident insurance policy will be offered to Cass City School students, Board of Education members decided at their regular session.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Bob Edmonson has leased a part of Mack's Barn on Church St. for his eavetroughing business.

At the meeting of the Gage-town Women's Society of Christian Service at the home of Mrs. Arthur Clara, the members packed a box of food and Christmas gifts which was sent to Mrs. Hecker, a missionary in Londoni, Korut, Hungary. She is the mother of five children and her husband, who is a minister, is still being held as a prisoner by the Russians.

Things look "messy" in front of the usually neat S.T. & H. Oil Co.'s service station. Gas pumps have been removed and the driveways broken up preparatory to the laying of new cement driveways and sidewalk in front of the station.

Harry H. Koffman and Arnold Fischer attended the fourth annual Detroit Tobacco Table banquet at the Book-Cadillac Hotel.

James Parker was brought from West Branch by ambulance to Pleasant Home Hospital, after he sustained a broken pelvis and other injuries when the car he was in was hit by a car and trailer.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Stanley Asher, manager of the Cass City Oil and Gas Company, is carrying a beautiful gold watch and wearing a gold signet ring, both of which were awarded him for the excellent refrigerator sales record made by him for his company.

At Pleasant Home Hospital, it was found necessary to take fourteen stitches to close a wound just above the left knee of Vera Lounsbury, eleven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emory Lounsbury, when she was bit by a horse.

When a WPA worker attempted to thaw out an outside water faucet with a torch at the John A. Sandham residence on West Main Street, he unintentionally set fire to the house.

"Cassmopolitan" a paper published by pupils of the Cass City High School, made its initial appearance. The staff are: Editor-in-chief: A. Papp; assistant editors, M. McCoy and S. Atwell; circulation manager: C. Auten; business manager, C. Rawson; art editor, F. Cranick; reporters, A. Schwaderer, B. Rawson, B. Stirlon, M. Croft, P. Kelgen, R. Lounsbury, W. Kelley.

Judson Bigelow has sold his store at Shabbona and has purchased the R. S. Streeter hardware business at Akron.

center of life

At our house bedtime reading ranges from the "just so stories" to the encyclopedia, from "Mary Poppins" to the Bible, depending upon Billy's interest.

And always there are the questions. "How high are the stars, Daddy?" "Where did the dinosaurs go?" "Daddy, did Adam love Eve?" "What makes electricity spark?"

How challenging to watch the alert mind of a youngster mature! I know I'll have to keep on my toes with new ideas in every field, if I want answers for Billy as his questions grow more profound.

Of one thing I am confident, the age-old truths of my church and the Bible never change. Integrity, responsibility and the love of God are a source of strength now as in every age. I have no qualms about teaching my son that God's Church is the center of a man's life.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

I have ceased to be amazed at the wonders of science. Evertime I get the idea that everything could be done has been thought of, someone comes along to show me they ain't no end to the marvels of this world. What come up at the country store Saturday night shore put the stopper in the jug of wonders, for this season at least.

Zeke Grubb told the fellers he had saw by the papers where they now got a drug to stop cussing. It's a fact, Mister Editor, Zeke had this clipping that showed where doctors have found people suffering the cussing disease, and they have come up with a drug to cure it. Zeke said the ailment is called cillies de la tourette, and that sounded to me like Zeke had caught it. He reported they is new cases popping up all over the country, and that shore ain't news.

General speaking, the fellers wasn't buying much of Zeke's report. Bug Hookum said cussing may be hereditary and it may replace baseball as the national past time, but it ain't no disease. If it was, Bug went on, ever mule skinner that ever come down the pike was burned with a cronic case of it and it is more common than the common cold.

But Zeke said they was a drug that was working to stop folks from cussing, and tests had showed that young girls that had to quit school because they couldn't stop cussing now was able to go back after treatment. This didn't satisfy the fellers. Clem Webster broke in to say he wasn't surprised that science had come up with a finding like that, cause they figgered out a long time back that licker drinking was a disease. Clem said he is looking for somebody to come out and say taking poison is a disease to.

Actual, went on Clem, we can come up with big sounding excuses for anything we do, from robbing a bank to eating to much. The way the courts and the research scientists figger it today, said Clem, they ain't no good guys and bad guys, just some that had happier childhoods than others.

Turning to other issues, Ed Doolittle said he final had saw a benefit from gitting old. He reported where old folks catch fewer colds than the younguns, and he said the reason was we have already run into most of the cold germs and worked up defense agin em. Ed was of the mind that so many things break down when you git old we can use all the help we can git in the germ department. Ed said he would settle for a head cold ever now and then if he could git his teeth back, but the report on colds did cause him to thank the Lord for small favors.

I wonder if the cussing disease is more likely to jump on young folks?

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

BETTER HEALTH

High blood pressure symptoms

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Quite a few people ask me when they should suspect that they have high blood pressure. What symptoms are they then likely to have? My impression after practicing medicine for 67 years, is that a considerable percentage of patients with what is called essential hypertension, in which there isn't much disease in the heart or kidneys, have either no symptoms, or only a few mild ones.

Much also depends upon whether the high blood pressure occurs in a man or a woman. My impression is that mild hypertension in women is rarely serious. For example, I'll never forget a day when I was visiting a male patient in my home. He was seriously ill with a blood pressure of around 190 systolic and over 100 diastolic. (Systolic means the top of the wave of pressure, and diastolic means the bottom of the wave. Commonly a doctor will give a person's blood pressure as, for example, 140 over 80, mentioning the systolic pressure first.)

My patient's pressure was much too high. At his age it should have been perhaps 130 or 140 over 90. When I told him this, he said to me, pointing to his young-looking wife of 45, "Take Alice's pressure." When I did, I was surprised to find that her systolic pressure was 220, which was way too high. When I told the couple how high the pressure was, she said, "But I'm as healthy as I can be, and I can even beat my two boys at tennis." I knew her for some time after that, and she remained perfectly healthy. Unfortunately, the husband was not so fortunate. His hypertension was so severe that he was dying with it.

So, as I said, there is the large group of persons with high blood pressure with no definite symptoms, like my patient's wife. Then, there is a second group in which the symptoms can be pretty severe and the disease can be dangerous and a threat to life; it can bring trouble with the heart, the kidneys, and the arteries if it is not treated. Fortunately, today it can often be controlled with drugs and diet. Finally, there is the malignant type of hypertension which can sometimes kill a man in a few months.

During my years at the Mayo Clinic, there was one eye specialist who used to help us internists much with the diagnosis of hardening of the arteries that often goes with a high blood pressure. He would look at the retina in the background of a patient's eye and tell us whether there was any marked hardening of the arteries.

I was much interested to see in the New England Journal of Medicine recently a fine article on high blood pressure. Dr. Noel S. Weiss wrote to say that during the years 1960 to 1962, he had studied 6,672 patients with high blood pressure, and he had found that in nearly all of the cases, the patients reported almost no symptoms. He asked each of the patients about such symptoms as headache, nose bleeds, and ear noises—symptoms that we doctors commonly associate with a high blood pressure.

The occurrence of dizziness was found increased only in persons with a very high diastolic pressure. As one would expect, fainting was seen mainly with a low blood pressure that fell suddenly when the patient stood up too quickly. A few patients did report headaches, ear noises and dizziness. Fairly commonly, with hypertension, the researchers found some hardening of the blood vessels in the retina.

In the same issue of the journal is an editorial written by my good and learned friend Dr. Irvine Page, who has spent much of his life studying high blood pressure. He says he was brought up to believe that essential high blood pressure had many signs and symptoms, such as morning headache, trouble with seeing, and nose bleeds. But as his knowledge grew, he learned of other vague signs and symptoms, such as anxiety, palpitation, sweating, flushing and giddiness—all of which can be due to severe nervousness.

Dr. Page says that Drs. Hyman and Pratt showed in studies that neurotic patients with a normal blood pressure could not always be distinguished by their symptoms from those persons with essential hypertension, or from the large group of people with average health. But emotional instability is often seen in patients with what appears to be an early essential hypertension, in which the pressure tends to go decidedly up and down. Many similar symptoms occur in persons who have had an injury to the brain due to high blood pressure—what I often call "little strokes." Efforts have been made to recognize a certain type of personality appearing consistently in hypertensive patients, but Dr. Page doubts if this can be done, and I agree with him.

Dr. Page says it cannot be denied that the long-term effects of an elevated blood pressure on the heart and blood vessels are manifested eventually by signs and symptoms of small or large strokes, myocardial infarction (the plugging up of arteries in the heart muscle) and failure in the functioning of the heart and kidneys.

As to treatment, Drs. Page and Dugan at the Cleveland Clinic have shown in recent years that hypertension can usually be relieved and sometimes apparently cured by giving a drug that lowers blood pressure, and another that helps the function of the kidneys. Also, every overweight person with hypertension can lengthen his life by reducing his weight. He also would do well to stop smoking cigarettes.

In his booklet "Little Strokes" Dr. Alvarez tells you about the common symptoms of little strokes, the mental and physical changes that sometimes occur, and what treatments are possible. For your copy send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Buying a '73 Ford or Chevy without comparing to last... beautifully. Part of the beauty is the great new styling. But part of the beauty is

'73 Fury...
part of its beauty
is the lasting quality.

also the way it starts on cold, wet mornings. (Electronic

The things you are going to do don't count—it's what you do that shows up on the record.

Airman Spencer completes basic training

Airman William B. Spencer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Spencer, rural Uby, has been assigned to Westover AFB, Mass., after completing Air Force basic training.

WILLIAM B. SPENCER

During his six weeks at the Air Training Command's Lackland AFB, Texas, he studied the Air Force Mission, organization and customs and received special instruction in human relations.

The airman has been assigned to a unit of the Strategic Air Command for further training and duty as a food services specialist.

Spencer graduated from Cass City High School in 1969 and attended Alma College.

Baptist society meets Monday

Seventeen were present Monday evening when the Baptist Missionary Society met at the home of Mrs. Edith Ward.

Mrs. Richard Shaw presided at the business meeting. Members voted to send note paper and note pads to students from the Cass City church who are enrolled in Christian colleges.

A nominating committee was appointed including Mrs. Stanley McArthur, Mrs. Ella Cumpner and Mrs. Clyde Wells.

Prayer time was in charge of Miss Mary Hanby. Mrs. Rosella Kretzschmer conducted devotions using a Thanksgiving theme.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Stanley McArthur.

2 die in county crashes; youth hurt in cycle mishap

Timmy Lynn Brinkman is hospitalized in fair condition in Hills and Dales Hospital with a broken leg and several other broken bones following a car-motorcycle crash Wednesday night, Nov. 8. Brinkman, 17, 4281 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, was injured when the motorcycle he was riding west on Main Street hit a car operated by Dale Leroy Damm, 40, 4307 Leach St., Cass City. Brinkman had just passed a car when he collided with the Damm vehicle, which was almost across the intersection.

Damm received minor injuries, and was cited for failing to yield the right of way. The accident occurred at 9:40 p.m.

In other traffic accidents, the 29th traffic fatality in Tuscola county this year was recorded Saturday at 5:35 a.m. when Mrs. Walter Mae Johnson, 41, Saginaw, was killed as she was walking on Saginaw Road near Vassar.

She was struck by a car driven by Nancy Lee Russell, 20, Mayville, who told Tuscola county sheriff's deputies she didn't see the pedestrian until she was right in front of her. Mrs. Johnson was wearing dark clothing, according to sheriff's reports, and visibility was obscured by rain and heavy on-coming traffic.

The victim was thrown 93 feet and was pronounced dead at the scene.

The 28th fatality of the year was recorded Friday afternoon when Mrs. Emma Liner, 72, Flint, died in Flint Hurley Hospital of injuries suffered in an Oct. 8 accident on Frankmuth Road at Richville Road in Tuscola township.

State police of the Bridgeport post said she was a passenger in a car driven by her husband, John, 74, when it crashed into a vehicle operated by Donald Kern, 23, of Vassar.

In other minor mishaps, Yvonne Antoinette Martin, 16, 4282 Sherman St., Cass City, lost control of the car she was driving and landed in a ditch on Deckerville Road at 3 a.m. Saturday. She was uninjured.

Garry Michael Viney, 16, 4956 Little Road, Cass City, hit a parked car on Main Street when he tried to avoid a collision with an unidentified car when it pulled into his lane on Main Street. The mishap occurred Thursday, Nov. 9, at 5:10 p.m. Viney was not injured.

Hay stolen from C. Wright

The theft of between 500 and 800 bales of hay was reported Tuesday morning by Calvin Wright of E. Deckerville Road, Cass City.

He told Tuscola county sheriff's deputies that the hay was taken sometime during the week end of Nov. 4 - 5 from its storage place on Froede Road.

WSC meets at McLellan home

The Woman's Study Club met Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. M. C. McLellan. Mrs. Elsie M. Mullin was accepted as a new member.

Mrs. Alice McAleer and Mrs. Esther McCullough gave reports of the East Central District held at Woodside church in Flint.

Mrs. McCullough read a Thanksgiving story from Ideals and a story by Harriet Beecher Stowe on Thanksgiving when she was a girl, and read a prayer.

Roll call was answered by "A reason for Thanksgiving".

Letters to Editor

113 activities in cultural center—more coming

Nov. 9, 1972

Mr. John Haire, Editor
Cass City Chronicle
Cass City, Michigan 48726

Dear John:

Several weeks ago you commented in "Rabbit Tracks" that since the township had now occupied the new fire hall that the former township hall, known as the Elkland Township Cultural Center, was a surplus building not being used and causing unnecessary expense to the taxpayers.

I beg to differ with you and would submit as evidence the fact that 113 activities have already been scheduled during 1972 in the Cultural Center and further that 21 different organizations and groups have used the Center so far this year. The list is too long to enumerate but is available at the Village Office for anyone to see.

The improvements, going back to Centennial time and including the ones that are being made this year (such as new heating on the second floor and a new fire escape from the second floor), have been paid for by private donations—not taxpayers' money. Upon the completion of work on the second floor, additional usage will occur and a permanent storage facility will be provided for both Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts in which to house their equipment.

It is estimated that total operating cost for the Cultural Center will be less than one thousand dollars per year. This is a very small amount when compared with the opportunities it provides the organizations mentioned above.

Yours truly,

L. E. Althaver
Village President

Here's the reason for absentee voters

Nov. 9, 1972

Dear John,

You indicated in your Rabbit Tracks Column, the reason for 160 Absentee Ballots was because these people were afraid of the Voting Machines.

This statement is incorrect. I thought the reasons for the large quantity of Absentee Ballots might be of interest:

31 - Students at College.
27 - Health reasons. In hospital - eye sight - unable to walk.
23 - Out of town, mainly on business.
16 - Wintering in Florida.
13 - Servicemen and wives.
The balance of ballots were for people over 65 years of age. We were very pleased with the amount of people that voted this year. Elkland township had 80 per cent of the registered voters, voting.

Sincerely,

Ferris Ware,
Township Clerk

EDITOR'S NOTE - I reported what I was told at the polling booth by an election official. At the time he read a half dozen names of persons I know that could have voted at the polls if they desired to.

CIE program to explain drug problem

To Mom and Dad,

Has your son or daughter ever smoked marijuana... or "popped pills"? If not consider yourself fortunate. Recent statistics show a steady climb in the number of drug abusers among Junior Hi, High School and College students.

Don't kid yourself! Drugs are the "in" thing today among our young people. Use of drugs has been widely publicized, glamorized, and merchandised. The prime target is the student.

Parents need to be alerted. Attitudes must be corrected. The idea that "IT CAN'T HAPPEN HERE"... or "NOT MY KID" reflects immature thinking... an unwillingness to face facts.

Start by attending the Drug awareness program sponsored by Citizens for Improved Education, (CIE), November 20, 7:30 p.m. at the High School Cafeteria. Guest speaker will be Helen Woloshen from Help-Line, Inc.

Program Committee (CIE)

Seeks history of railroad in Thumb

EDITOR'S NOTE: This letter was probably not intended as a letter to the editor but is published to see if readers can help him with the requested railroad data.

The Cass City Chronicle,
Cass City, Michigan

Gentlemen:

As part of some research I am doing on Michigan railroads in the Thumb Area, I am trying to obtain some history and/or photographs of three railroads namely the: Pontiac, Oxford & Northern ("Polly Ann") and the Detroit & Huron RR which were later taken over by the Grand Trunk Western RR; and the Detroit, Caro & Sandusky RR which I am told was the Detroit, Bay City & Western ("Handy Bros. Line"). I made the last run over the D&HRR from Cass City to Bad Axe on April 30, 1951 when the line was abandoned.

Any data, etc. you can furnish me with on the above subjects would be greatly appreciated; I would be glad to pay for copies of any photos relating to the above.

Yours truly,

Legion Auxiliary holds meet

Twelve members attended the monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary Monday evening at the Cultural Center.

The secretary, Elizabeth Stine, reported that with a membership quota of 71 for the coming year, 50 members' dues have been collected.

Members signed cards to be sent to those who are ill, Mrs.

Lorraine O'Dell, Mrs. Mae Wise, Mrs. Ruth Stapleton and Glenn McClorey.

The regular meeting and Christmas party will be Monday, Dec. 11.

Door prize for the evening went to Mrs. Elgene Keller.

Tables were decorated for Thanksgiving when refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

County agrees to deputy wage pact

Temporary agreement was made last Thursday between the Tuscola county Board of Commissioners and the Fraternal Order of Police representing the Tuscola sheriff's deputies for a new two-year contract.

The package calls for a new starting salary of $8000 a year and a top pay of $9500 after three years. Starting pay is now $7600 to a top of $8750 after two years.

Deputies ratified the contract Wednesday.

In other business at their Thursday meeting, the board adopted a $1.718 million budget as proposed three weeks ago following a public hearing.

No one showed up at the hearing, according to Golding.

Following an inspection of the remodeled building housing the social services offices, the board agreed to give Andrew Tallman, Caro, from whom the county is buying the building, another $30,000.

The board is withholding the final $7500 of the approximately $90,000 contract until the job is completed. The county agreed to buy the building in August, when a down payment of $55,000 was made.

The building will house offices for social services, district health and Act 54 Mental Health Board.

Improve soil structure

By Don R. Kebler

"Poor soil structure is contributing far more toward farm income reductions than many of the other crop management factors." At least this is what I am hearing in recent conversations with my fellow Extension Agricultural Agents, SCS and ASC staff.

I am also hearing a greater number of crop farmers expressing their affirmative views for soil structure improvement action. My greatest joy is to hear the comments of those who have used practices to improve the soil structure and experienced most favorable results.

As I have commented many times, soil organic matter and humus are the key to good soil structure. Minimized tillage and working the soil at the proper moisture level to minimize compaction is important too.

However, we should always remember a soil, with sufficient organic matter for good structure, can be worked harder with less resultant damage than a poor structure soil. Synonymous to this fact is that a good structure soil will rebound much more rapidly from compaction punishment than poor structure soils.

We can't under stress the importance of machinery compaction either. For instance some of our farm tools are fooling us into a sense of false security when used as indicators to judge a soil at its best tillage condition. Wider tires or adding another set of tires to a tractor could fool us as one example. It is true the more rubber area placed on a soil the less pressure per square inch one places on a soil. This helps to reduce compaction and allows earlier field work. However, if that soil is too wet, it will work up blocky, salve and stiff. This is something to watch out for when spring plowing as fall plowed soil in this condition tends to break up and mellow over winter.

We can expound indefinitely on the value of organic matter and good soil structure, but all will be in vain if not adhered to. To put the adopted practices into effect is the biggest stumbling block.

Rye as a green manure crop has not been acceptable among certified small grain producers as a contamination factor. Also good weed free seed is not always easy to find. If we could find a herbicide to kill rye in the spring and the operator grows his own rye in much needed strips to prevent wind erosion, they are in business.

Another possibility is an A. S. C. S. cost-share on green manure crop on both set-aside land and cropland to allow rapid organic matter incorporation.

I'm speaking of a fall crop of rye, a spring and summer crop of buckwheat or corn followed by fall seeded all in the same field over one cropping year. I hope to have more on this later next spring.

All in all, I'm sure more adaptable methods will develop to incorporate this needed organic matter. In the meantime we should be following more organic matter incorporation programs as our soil structure is deteriorating more every day.

A. L. O'Connor dies in hospital

Michigan Mirror

Funeral services for Albert L. O'Connor, 71, of Troy, were held Sunday at Little's Funeral Home. Howard Woodard, pastor of the Novesta Church of Christ, officiated and burial was in Novesta cemetery.

Mr. O'Connor, a retired tool-maker, died Nov. 10 in St. Joseph's Hospital in Pontiac where he had been a patient a week.

Son of the late Elasin and Sarah Lyan O'Connor, he was born in Tuscola county June 28, 1901. He married Miss Winifred McCracken of Deford in Detroit in 1918.

He is survived by his wife; two brothers, Ralph of Fairgrove and William of Flint, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Broken promises inspire voter distrust of politicians

Politicians often lament the fact that most people don't really trust them very far.

Why, they ask, won't people listen to them more trustfully and put more stock in what they say?

The answer is that past performance doesn't encourage that sort of reaction.

The most often cited examples are campaign promises, which are made and broken by the carload. Many politicians, instead of attempting to present their views on a series of issues to the electorate for an up or down vote, try to outdo each other in pandering to the current emotions of the crowd.

The hottest issue in this year's election was busing, a question which is in the federal courts and will be decided there no matter what the politicians say and do.

Left virtually undiscussed were such areas as the environment, where legislators have a great deal of control.

There are other reasons for this distrust.

Let's take a look at some promises made in 1971 by the Michigan Legislature and see what happened to them.

In 1971 the legislature raised the state income tax by 50 percent and put in a clause, a "promise," that the increase would expire Aug. 1, 1972, unless the legislature put on the November ballot a proposal for property tax relief.

The legislature did not put on the ballot any such proposal, it arrived there through the petition efforts of Gov. Milliken and the Michigan Education Association.

Does that mean the tax increase expired, since this was the promise the legislature made? No, as your pay check will tell you. The lawmakers decided they could not cut any expenses, so they made the tax increase permanent.

Another promise the legislature made in 1971 was that payments to recipients of aid to dependent children (ADC) would rise to $2.72 this coming Jan. 1. But this year the legislature changed that, saying if the welfare caseload goes up, the payment goes down.

Whether you approve of what happened or not, the fact is the legislature did not live up to a defined policy.

An agreement more obscure to the average voter but just as vital was made in 1971 when the legislature drew up a plan to help cities who help themselves by basing revenue sharing payments partly on population and partly on local tax effort.

It was decided this year that the formula would be too expensive, and it was cut back with the result that cities expecting a hefty increase in state money did not get it.

In each case it can be argued that the legislature had to take the action to keep a balanced budget. That is true. But if that is the case, then why make all those promises in 1971? Surely they knew back then they couldn't roll back a tax increase while increasing spending.

These sorts of things are why politicians in general and the legislature in particular aren't

Keilitz rites held Monday

Funeral services were held Monday, Nov. 13, at Huston Funeral Home, Caro, for Frederick W. Keilitz, 62. Rev. Raymond Prough, pastor of the Lutheran church, Caro, officiated. Burial was in Ellington cemetery.

Mr. Keilitz died Saturday, Nov. 11, in Caro Community Hospital.

He was born at Deford June 23, 1910, son of the late Lewis and Emma Keilitz. He was a former employee of the Caro State Home. His wife, the former Ina Wright, survives.

Also surviving are two sons, Robert of Caro and William of Colorado; a sister, Mrs. Vern McConnell of Cass City; two brothers, Elvin of Caro and Milton of S. Toms River, N. J., and several grandchildren. Three brothers died previously.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

It must be the time of year for folks to look back. I was writing last week about how fast things are changing, and at the country store Saturday night the fellers were talking along the same lines. Some of the changes they bring up won't make much difference to you folks in town, but for shore they're noticed out here.

Zeke Grubb said it was bad enuff when they quit putting nails in wooden kegs and started shipping em in cardboard boxes. A feller can do some powerful thinking on a nail keg around the stove, but a cardboard box just won't fill the bill. But Zeke said he final got used to setting on the edge of a pop bottle crate, and some of his best hours in the last few years had been spent on a crate. Now, allows Zeke, pop comes in cans, or the bottles are in cartons in a little dinky crate that won't support a thinking man.

They ain't no consideration give to tradition these days, agreed Clem Webster. Clem said he used to enjoy cutting a slab off them round cheeses that come in wooden boxes, and he'd allus take the boxes home for the old lady to use for flower beds. Now all the cheese is packed in little cellofane squares and nobody has figured out a use for em.

Actual, allowed Ed Doolittle, they ain't much left in this country for a feller to set on in comfort. They used to be porch swings and rockers, but now all a feller can find in the yard is them folding things that takes a engineer to git fixed and a tightrope walker to set in, and houses don't even have porches.

Changes is everywhere, agreed Ed. He saw this place where somepun called insectories is growing fast in this country. These places grow bugs that are turned loose to eat other bugs. Ed allowed, and they are being bred by the billions. Not long back, Ed said, farmers and ranchers was trying to kill the bugs, and now they're buying em.

General speaking, change ain't going to suit all folks any of the time, and any of us some of the time, was Ed's words. He said his preacher said Sunday that a survey shows 62 per cent of married folks say they're happy and 21 per cent say they're miserable. Ed said the preacher didn't say, but he figured the other 17 per cent didn't know the difference.

Fathermore, Ed said, it's hard to tell when change is change. He had saw where President Nixon was "winding down" the Vietnam war a few weeks back, and in the same paper he saw 800,000 ton of "bbs had" dropped there in the last six months, more than all of last year. With that kind of winding down, allowed Ed, he'd hate to see em crank it up.

For a change, the fellers was agreed on that.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

ALL ARE INVITED - PASTOR J. E. KIDNEY

New Patch to Boost Deer Studies

Successful Michigan deer hunters who stop to have their animals examined at the Department of Natural Resources' roadside checking stations this season will receive free, four-color shoulder patches (see insert). It's the DNR's way of saying "thanks" for helping provide the latest biological information on deer. In offering the handsome new patches exclusively to cooperating sportsmen, the DNR hopes to route more deer through these checkpoints to boost its studies for improved deer management. The patch incentive plan is also designed to build higher hunter interest in the DNR's deer programs. The roadside stations will be operated at the Straits of Mackinac (Nov. 17-20); south of Bay City on I-75 (Nov. 15-20 and Nov. 25-26); and near Alma on US-27, White Cloud on M-37, and Paris on US-131 (Nov. 15-20). Another checking station will be open Nov. 15-19 at the ferry docks on Drummond Island. Successful sportsmen may also obtain the free patches by having their deer examined at DNR district headquarters statewide during regular 8:00 to 5:00 working hours. --Michigan Department of Natural Resources

Set Thanks Service
Nov. 22

The annual community service of thanks will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 22, at the Cass City Missionary Church on Koepfgen Road.

The Rev. Dale Sherry of Deford will be the speaker at this special Thanksgiving Eve service. Music will be provided by area churches.

The Lucky Thumb Motorcycle Club, located on Stevens Rd. just south of Deford, held its annual Turkey Run Sunday, Nov. 5. Riders came from near-by towns as well as from Flint, Saginaw, Detroit and Midland. Although the day was just right for trail riding, it turned out to be a mud run. It took most of the riders 45 minutes to get approximately a mile from the club house. The race started at 12:00 noon and ended at 5:30 p.m. with Dave McGraph, Vassar, taking 1st place, followed by Jim Beutler, Drayton Plains.

Hard Luck Trophy went to Dan Miles of Midland. Dan, while riding the marked trail, failed to stop in time for a drainage ditch and wrecked his motorcycle.

Refuse guilty plea in Circuit Court

A plea of guilty by Charles E. Freeman, Saginaw, to the charge of larceny in a building was not accepted by the Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday when Freeman was arraigned before Judge James Churchill.

Bail was continued at $3000 and the case continued to Nov. 27.

Freeman was arrested Aug. 22 and charged with the breaking and entering of the Lyle Ackerman house at Dixon and Kirk Roads in Juniata township, which occurred Aug. 21.

Charles F. Burnash, Millington, was placed on three years' probation and given costs of $100 when he was sentenced for felonious assault with a shotgun. He was also given 6 weeks in the county jail beginning Jan. 2.

He was found guilty of assaulting an Arhela township man, following a three day jury trial in October.

Wednesday, Nov. 8, a verdict of guilty was returned following a jury trial for Clark Thomas Petty, 21, Vassar, who was tried on a charge of armed robbery. Sentencing will be Dec. 18.

Petty had pleaded innocent to the July 31 armed robbery of a Saginaw man in a Richville bar when $40 was taken from the man at gun point.

James Bedell, 28, Vassar, was sentenced in connection with the same incident Thursday, Nov. 9. He had pleaded guilty earlier to the charge of attempted armed robbery, and was sentenced to the state prison at Jackson for three years, four months to 5 years, with credit for 113 days.

A third person was arrested that same day and charged with the same armed robbery. Lee Wiley Sharp, 18, 525 Birch, Vassar, was placed on $15,000 bond.

FHA sees family planning necessary

The Future Homemakers of America, a national vocational education youth organization for students in home economics courses, conducted a cross section survey of 75 members of their national public relations committee.

The question included 1) how do you see your future role of homemaker as differing from that of your mother? 2) what is your main concern with regard to family life?

While most girls were satisfied with the way their mothers have run their homes, the three areas of difference seemed to be family planning, understanding children and the role men play in the family.

Family planning as a population control was almost unanimously mentioned.

The girls made reference to equal-status marriages - where the wife and husband would have careers and where the husband would share the responsibility for running the home and rearing the children.

Most indicated they needed skill in understanding children and communicating with them. They were very concerned about strengthening the family through better marital relationships and improved communications.

"What they are saying," according to Thumb Extension Home Economist Ann Ross, "is that a happy and responsible family unit should be an important goal in our society, and this goal should be reflected in public and private training efforts toward reaching this goal."

PAUL BLISS did again Friday against Reese what he has done so well all year for Cass City. . . slip behind the defense and catch a pass.

It was fun night as Hawks top Reese in final game

A funny thing happened at the final football game of the year for the undefeated Cass City Red Hawks Friday night. Cass City fell behind early in the first quarter and no one seemed really worried.

And as the game unfolded, all the confident Hawk players, coaches and fans proved to be right. Cass City walked away from Reese High School with a 37-20 victory to complete an undefeated season.

Maybe the reason for the unconcern was that in three previous games this year against clubs rated stronger than the Rockets, Cass City was able to come back to win.

Anyway it started as a "fun night" for the Hawks and after a brief flurry in the second and third quarter it ended that way as the winners coasted in for the victory.

Cass City's two outstanding ends, each added extra points on pass receptions. It was that kind of a night. Everybody got into the act. Everybody played. Chester Sieradzki who led the team all year with the number of defensive tackles made was at his best Friday. He was credited with 17 solo tackles and eight assists.

Local fans probably got a glimpse of next year as Mike Frederick took the helm in the second half and completed two of three passes for 31 yards.

The statistics:

	CC	R
First downs	21	12
Passes complete	10-19	3-11
Yards passing	113	57
Total yards	389	152
Penalties	6-70	3-25
Fumbles lost	1	0

The Curt Strickland to Paul Bliss combo clicked on a seven-yard touchdown play. Kip Hopper scored a touchdown on the longest run of the day, a 11-yard dash in the third quarter.

Chito Venegas, exchange student, slipped into the scoring column with an extra point boot while Dave Doerr capped a career as an outstanding line-man by moving into the back-field to score two points on the final conversion of the day.

Scott Hartel and Bliss, Cass

Hawks dominate Thumb B all-conference dream team

Cass City dominated selections on the 1972 Thumb B All-Conference football team in selections made Tuesday night by league coaches.

Seven Cass City players were selected on the 24-man dream team, four on offense and three on defense. In addition the Hawks placed five on the honorable mention list.

On offense Paul Bliss, Cass City's pass catching whiz, placed at end and his battery mate Quarterback Curt Strickland was honored at quarterback.

Gene Salas, the league's leading touchdown producer, made the offensive squad which was rounded out by Dave Doerr, a guard.

On defense Bob Ross, the captain of Cass City's defense, and Chester Sieradzki, the Hawks' premier linebacker, were honored.

At defensive halfback, hard tackling Drew Guernsey was named. All of the players except Sieradzki are Seniors.

Making the honorable mention list on offense by receiving at least one vote were Scott Hartel, end; Dave Brooks, tackle; Randy Wright, center; Ron Turner, guard, and Scott Guinther, back.

On defense Jim Kilbourn, interior line, and Kip Hopper, back, were named to the honorable mention list. Kilbourn missed all-conference honors by a single vote.

The complete teams:

THE FIRST man and wife basketball referee team are the Russell Richards of Cass City. It's a family thing with the Richards and the boys usually go along when the pair works a game.

Richards first man-wife referee team in Michigan

CIE slates drug awareness program

A drug awareness program under the sponsorship of Citizens for Improved Education (CIE) will be held at 7:30 p.m. Monday at the High School Cafeteria.

Helen Woloshen of Help Line will be the featured speaker.

The Thumb's first and only lady basketball official is Mrs. Harriet Richards of Cass City.

Not only is she the lone lady official in the Thumb. She may be the only woman anywhere who works basketball games with her husband as a co-official.

The effervescent Mrs. Richards came up with the idea by herself and talked her reluctant husband into doing it with her.

Russ wasn't all that eager to start. After all his daily responsibilities as principal at Cass City High School kept him busy, busy, busy.

Still, athletics has been a part of his life for more years than his life in administration so he said he'd give it a try.

It's worked out fine, the greying Richards said with a grin. It's a change of pace, a family outing. Our boys go along with us. They are our biggest critics.

For Richards it's been fun, but for Harriet it's been a ball. She's registered with the Michigan High School Athletic Association and the Central Michigan University board of women officials.

Because she is, she gets more calls than her husband and works games with other officials.

Strangely enough, many of the nine dates that they have worked together have been in the Oscoda-Mio area.

That's strange because when the Richards travel there it's almost like going home.

It was in Mio that the Richards met when he was the coach of all the school's sports while Mrs. Richards was a student and a darn good basketball player and athlete.

Our interest in sports brought us together and we still like sports, both of us, says Mrs. Richards.

The couple has avoided the obvious pitfall of a partnership on the basketball courts. Dis-sent.

We haven't had any. . . in fact, said Russ, we have worked well together. I've had experience refereeing and Harriet went to school at CMU.

Mrs. Richards points to the two games coming up in a holiday tournament in the northland with pride. The school made the selection after seeing us work together, she explained, and they want us back.

Actually, refs for girls' games work harder, or at least longer, than refs for boys. That's because they work both the junior varsity and varsity games, usually for less money than their cousins in the boys' division receive.

That doesn't bother Mrs. Richards. Already she is thinking about next year and games, games, games. She's confident that she'll have all she wants by the time another season rolls around.

And in the future she feels that there will be girls' tournaments. . . state wide. . . just like the boys' tournaments today.

When that happens, she added, it will pay to be known around the State. When we travel far from home to places like Alpena we are getting the recognition that will lead to working the better tournament games.

Right now there doesn't seem to be anything that would please Harriet more than to be the first woman official to work a State tournament game.

Don't bet that it won't happen.

Editorial Comment

Why the 1972 Red Hawks were so impressive

What was the most outstanding feature of the undefeated Cass City Red Hawks of 1972?

That's easy. They were winners. Winners because they refused to lose. Time after time as I roamed down the sidelines in the last half of the season opposing fans and football observers asked me: "How did this team beat Caro; how did this team beat Frankenmuth. . . or Vassar. . . or USA?"

And I invariably answered, "With difficulty." For the better teams in the league were tough for Cass City to handle. In several games we lost the battle of the statistics. There were better running teams and most every squad the school faced was taller and heavier.

And that's what makes this 1972 season more memorable than even a perfect won-loss record.

It's one thing to win when you have all the horses, all the talent.

It's another when you have a team that talent-wise was probably no better than two or three others in the conference.

To win against the odds is always greater than to win because you were supposed to.

It's a tribute to the players and the coaches that they were able to do it.

DALE McALPINE
Manager

A Freshman. A coach's delight. Tell him what to do once and then forget about it. A fine job for the team all year. One of the unsung heroes who do much for a football squad and receives little if any recognition for his important addition to the team.

The dedication that paid off is symbolized by the Thumb B Conference trophy that now rests in the school's trophy case.

the ingredients needed in successfully working toward any worthy goal - be it business, farming, housework, teaching, civic work or "putting it together" in football - have been very evident in the dedicated young men and their coaches on the team this year.

Capsule Review. . a great season

Undefeated seasons are rare. oh, so rare, and for most schools come along only once every 20 years or so.

That's enough, alone, to make this season an outstanding one. But when it follows 13 years of football at Cass City High School without even a Thumb B Conference championship it becomes simply fantastic.

There were highlights galore, moments of suspense and definite turning points in the games as the season progressed.

So you'll remember, we've run down a few of them in capsule form.

Sept. 15 - Sebawaing-Unionville. It was a non-conference opener played before a large crowd at Unionville. USA was an unknown quantity. They had never played together before. Cass City gave a hint of things to come with a passing attack that gained yardage and a team with explosive scoring power. Hawk fans were wondering just how good the 1972 edition really was.

Sept. 22 - Caro. By all odds THE game of 1972. Here were the undefeated defending league champions. . . the team to beat in the Thumb B.

It was a team that demonstrated raw power by bulling straight down the field for a touchdown the first time it took possession of the ball.

When the Hawks came back to tie the game at the half and win on Kip Hopper's great punt return in the second half Cass City was off and running. The players, the coaches and the fans now really believed, this was the year.

Sept. 29 - Bad Axe. The Hatchets, long a grid powerhouse, were underdogs to Cass City for perhaps the first time in 10 years. And in the first half Cass City made the predictions look good by racking into a big lead. The team probably learned here that there could be no letup if season long goals were to be achieved as the Hatchets roared back and made the final score close, 22-14.

Oct. 6 - Frankenmuth. Here was the second major hurdle for the Hawks. The glorious victory over Caro may have been for nothing without a victory at Chicken City. There never was a wetter night. The rain came down in sheets starting with the opening whistle and continuing without pause until the final gun.

It was remarkable that the only score came on a pass from Curt Strickland to Paul Bliss. The 8-0 victory made it practically certain that the worst that Cass City would do was tie for the title.

Oct. 13 - Sandusky. It was home-coming time in Cass City and the Hawks celebrated. It wasn't much of a football game, but Hawk fans weren't complaining. It had been so long since Cass City was on the long end of a 16-0 score that Hawk fans loved every minute of it.

Oct. 20 - Marlette was expected to provide little competition and the Red Raiders didn't as Marlette's home-coming throng saw the Hawks score early and late in a 30-0 decision. While appreciating the win, sober-minded fans were discouraged by a fight that developed in the last half and threatened to develop into a mini riot as fans from both schools poured on the field.

Oct. 27 - Vassar. Here was the third and the last of the crucial games. And as it did for other tough teams this season Cass City rallied to come from behind to win and win convincingly. More convincingly than the final 20-15 score indicated.

Behind at the half, 8-6, the Hawks rolled for two touchdowns and a 20-8 lead with about four minutes left. Vassar punched out a marker after a pass interception but the Hawks had the game and a Thumb B title on the ice and they knew it.

Nov. 3 - Lakers. It was a game that the Hawks had to have for an undisputed conference title. They had to have it and they won it the way they won many of their games all year. By becoming tough on defense when they had to and taking advantage of scoring opportunities. The score was 30-12.

Nov. 10 - Reese. This was the game that Cass City needed for the perfect season. There was no way they were about to lose. The 37-20 victory was a fitting end to the season and Coach Roland Pakonen was able to start his seniors and look over his Hawks of tomorrow against outmanned Reese.

That's it in a capsule. The way a determined band of lightweight, heavy hitting birds developed enough Hawk power to sweep to a perfect season. . . a team that was never able to use brute power to roll over the opposition, but one that had the spirit, desire and ability to win and win big.

Thanks for community support, say coaches

supporters. We hope that the support we received this year will continue for the "Red Hawk" teams in years to come.

The key to our undefeated season was the leadership and play of our seniors: Strickland, Guernsey, Hopper, Bliss, Kibourn, Salas, Turner, Wright, Doerr, Reed, J. Tuckey, Ross, Schram, and Venegas will all be sorely missed next year. It's hard to single out individuals when so many of them contributed to our season. We have a good nucleus to start with next season, and I am personally looking forward to defending the Thumb "B" Crown. We won't have the depth and experience, but we will have a little size and speed to work with.

Pakonen lauds seniors for

DAVE REED

Senior, 6 feet, 2 inches, 260 pounds. Biggest player on the squad. Number one substitute at defensive tackle. Only his second year of football. Developed late in season. 1st letter.

JAY TUCKEY

Senior, 6 feet, 1 inch, 155 pounds. Most improved ball player on team. Just coming into his own right now. Messenger guard who sends plays into game. Would be a starter on any other team. Our first substitute as a linebacker. 1st letter.

SCOTT HARTEL

Junior, 6 feet, 2 inches, 175 pounds. He and Bliss are the two best receivers in the league. Led team in pass receptions with 25 for 458 yards and 2 touchdowns. Excellent blocker and tackler. Plays short side defensive end. Kickoff man, more often than not he kicks the ball out of the end zone. 2nd letter.

BOB ROSS

Senior, 5 feet, 8 inches, 145 pounds. Our monster man. Leader of the defense, smart football player. Three year starter on defense. Calls all defensive signals on the field. Our backup fullback. Red Hawk of the Week vs. Frankenmuth. Intercepted 2 passes vs. Reese. 3rd letter.

Cass City Red Hawk season

KIP HOPPER

Senior, 5 feet, 9 inches, 140 pounds. Two year starter at both offensive and defensive halfback. Punt return specialist running two back for touchdowns, one which won the Caro game for us. Intercepted 3 passes, caught 10 passes for 200 yards and 2 touchdowns. Rushed for 2 touchdowns and threw one pass for touchdown, rushed for 300 yards. Excellent blocker and team punter, does it all. 3rd letter.

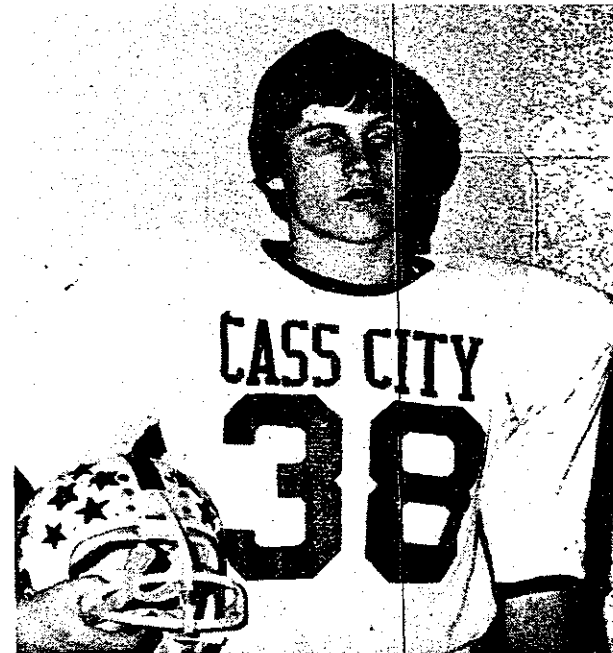

PAUL BLISS

Senior, 5 feet, 11 inches, 160 pounds. Offensive end and defensive halfback. Caught 23 passes for 405 yards and 9 touchdowns. Excellent hands, developed into fine blocker. Intercepted 7 passes to lead team in that department. Excellent competitor. All around athlete. Red Hawk of the Week vs. USA. 2nd letter.

CHESTER SIERADZKI

Junior, 5 feet, 11 inches, 160 pounds. Offensive tackle and defensive linebacker. Led defense in tackles, 121 solos and 65 assists. Intercepted two passes, recovered one fumble and caused numerous other fumbles. Hardest hitter in the conference. Player most responsible for holding 4 opponents scoreless. Dedicated to the game, loves contact, opened huge holes for backs at tackle position. Will return next year for bigger and better things. Red Hawk of the Week vs. Marlette. 2nd letter.

SCOTT GUINTHER

Junior, 5 feet, 10 inches, 160 pounds. Blocking back for Gene Salas. Excellent blocker, responsible for Salas' big yardage totals. Will be counted on to take Salas' spot next year. 2nd letter.

JIM KILBOURN

Senior, 6 feet, 160 pounds. Can be described in 2 ways; the smallest and best defensive tackle in the league, very strong and quick. Injured much of last year. Changed position for benefit of the team to tackle. Quickness off the ball and reading blocks on him are strong points; he and Doerr have been most effective pass rushers, also used as blocking back. Dedication, self-sacrifice, and toughness were his trademarks as well as the team's trademark. 2nd letter.

GENE SALAS

Senior, 5 feet, 10 inches, 170 pounds. Three year starter. Team's leading rusher and scorer. Also, led conference in rushing and scoring, 1086 yards in 186 carries, 111 points, 16 touchdowns and 7 extra points running and 1 extra point via the kick. Caught 7 passes. Excellent moves and speed. Knows what to do once he gets to the hole. Had individual rushing games of 107, 159, 174, 244, 161. Winner of Golden Helmet from Bay City Times. 3rd letter.

RON TURNER

Senior, 5 feet, 9 inches, 160 pounds. He and Dave Doerr are matched pair, both at position and attitude. Quickest lineman we have. Amazing lateral movement and quickness off the ball, excellent blocker, both 1-on-1 and trapping. Several times caught backs for losses by coming from behind. Best games against opponents with big fullbacks who run up the middle. 2nd letter.

CHARLES TUCKEY

Junior, 6 feet, 2 inches, 190 pounds. Back up center and tackle on offense. Came on strong toward the end of the year. Still growing. Just coming into his own. Being counted on heavily next year. 1st letter.

RANDY WRIGHT

Senior, 6 feet, 2 inches, 170 pounds. Two year starter at ever important center position. Most unsung of all linemen. Red Hawk of the Week against Vassar for his blocking. Hard worker. Worked on all phases of blocking to become one of the best centers in the conference. One of the reasons for Salas' big year rushing. 2nd letter.

PAUL BECKER

Junior, 6 feet, 1 inch, 175 pounds. Great potential, quick. First year of football, still learning. Will be counted on to shore up defensive line next year. 1st letter.

KEN WELLS

Junior, 5 feet, 10 inches, 160 pounds. Reserve tackle. Only his first year of football. Knee injury hampered him midway through season. Will be back next season to help the line. 1st letter.

DAVE BROOKS

Junior, 5 feet, 10 inches, 185 pounds. "Diamond in the rough", filled the off tackle and defensive tackle position better than we had expected. Strength and quickness for his size are strong points. Red Hawk of the Week vs. Marlette for his outstanding blocking. His finest performance was against Vassar. Will be one of the finest tackles in the area next year. 1st letter.

STEVE IZYDOREK

Junior, 6 feet, 2 inches, 160 pounds. Counted on to fill one of the guard spots next year. Broke his wrist in pre-season scrimmage or else he could be starter now. Excellent blocker. Still growing. 1st letter.

DAVE DOERR

Senior, 5 feet, 9 inches, 150 pounds. Most effective and consistent blocker on the team. Very aggressive, premiere defensive end in the conference. Excellent pass rusher, gets off ball quickly. Tremendous competitor. Third year starter at "Blood" End. 3rd letter.
