Intriguing stone home 'just a house' to owner

By Kit McMillion

With an air of mystery and fantasy, the little decorative stone house on North Seeger Street has intrigued passersby for almost 40 years.

Almost a local landmark, the house owned by Mrs. Edith Hoffman seems more appropriate cast in a Grimm's fairy tale as housing the kindly old woman who befriends lost children and keeps company with elves.

According to Mrs. Hoffman, the attraction of the house has resulted in cars slowly traveling the length of the circle drive to look and then slowly retreating back to the roadway.

"I didn't care," the practical woman scoffed. "But I thought it was silly."

Dec. 12 will mark the 38th year she has lived in the stone house, a house she never wanted to move into in the first place, but is content to live in now.

Frequently stating there wasn't much of a story about the mythical-looking home, Mrs. Hoffman explained how it came about.

In the spring of 1933 her late husband decided it was a nuisance to go every day from their home on Pine Street in town to the 40 acres and barns at the present homestead to take care of the horses he bought and sold.

Mrs. Hoffman adamantly stated she didn't want any part of it.

"I'm not going to come up on a farm, I said," related the woman. "What did I know about arms?"

She had worked in almost every store in town as a clerk before moving and wasn't anxious to give it up. So she stayed away from the house until it was done.

Recalling the details as precisely as possible, she said her husband had carted most of the stones from east of Cass City near Cumber.

How many wagon loads she didn't know. Apparently many persons have asked that question and Mrs. Hoffman thinks it's silly to expect her to have counted them.

What began in that spring during the depression was supposed to take only six weeks. Six months later the family moved into the comfortable and deceptively spacious house.

Before construction ever started, a lot of dirt had to be hauled to the site to fill in the muck land. At this time Cemetery Road was widened and the Hoffman's welcomed the fill the road crew offered.

The lumber for the frame came from Washington state, and the train it was on got sidetracked somewhere along the way, creating an initial delay. When that finally arrived, the one group of men who were doing all the construction business in the area were taken away from the job.

Hoffman let them go, his wife remembered, to fix the barn of the late Al Fort, which was damaged in a storm, and then the school needed working on so it could open that fall.

Eventually, the frame was up and they plastered the interior during the cold season, burning lots of coal and wood to dry both the plaster and later the varnish.

The interior of the home is no different than any other attractive and solidly built comfortable farm home.

The distinctive exterior, however, is singularly different.

While Mrs. Hoffman doesn't think the home is any different than any other, she added that her husband chose the exterior because he'd seen one somewhere else and thought it was pretty.

"Dad said he'd build a house that'll last 'as long as I do,'" stated his widow, who wistfully said it did. Hoffman died 17 years ago.

The stones for the exterior were chosen from fields in the Cumber area. Her husband roamed the fields looking for the ones that would split neatly. On either side of the front entrance are both halves of one stone that looks like fool's gold.

That particular stone was taken out of a pasture where Hoffman had to drive his truck through a creek to get it, and broke a spring in the truck as a result, laughed Mrs. Hoffman.

The house was built during

Sebewaing man is 30th traffic death

A 20-year-old Sebewaing man became Tuscola county's 30th traffic fatality Friday when he apparently lost control of his car on Colling Road and landed in a ditch.

Peter Leroy Deming, Meyers Road, Sebewaing, is believed to have died about 9 p.m. According to Tuscola county sheriff reports, the vehicle was north bound on Colling Road when it left the curve, hit an REA pole and rolled over.

Deming's body was found in the bottom of a ditch along the road the next morning.

In other area accidents, drivers escaped injury.

Clive E. Moore, 19, 4301 Seeger St., Cass City, was injured when his car struck a buck deer on Cemetery Road as the animal crossed the highway from River Road. The mishap occurred at 5:40 p.m. Sunday.

Patricia Kay Sowden, 30, 3225 Gifford Road, Deford, was also uninjured when she struck a buck deer on Hurds Corner Road near M-46 Tuesday, Nov. 14, at 6:15 p.m.

Cass City police investigated two minor accidents in Cass City Nov. 16.

In a 7:50 a.m. mishap cars of Robert William Roth, 28, 6285 Main St., Cass City, and Robert Arnold Fischer, 31, 6396 Pine St., Cass City, collided at the intersection of Leach and Pine Streets when Fischer, who stopped for the yield sign on Pine, failed to see the Roth car, which was northbound on Leach.

At 9:50 a.m. a vehicle operated by Roger Bergman, Cass City, was hit in the rear by a car driven by Shari Lynn Schott, 19, 402 1/2 E. Indiana St., Bay City. Bergman was turning into a driveway on Garfield when the mishap occurred. Mrs. Schott was unable to stop in time to avoid the mishap.

Drug problem: here, now in Cass City, says speaker

Sparked by a strong campaign by the Citizens for Improved Education (CIE) the drug awareness meeting held at Cass City High School Monday night attracted an estimated 100 persons.

They came to hear Mrs. Helen Woloshen, a member of the Tuscola County Drug Abuse Committee, and a driving force in the drug prevention program initiated at Caro Community Schools.

Drawing on her experience in the Caro school drug program and as one of the organizers of Help-Line Inc. in the county, Mrs. Woloshen said emphatically that there is a drug problem in the county and rolled out these statistics to prove it.

● In Caro Community Schools a survey of the pupils indicated that 9 per cent of the students used drugs.

● All types of drugs are in use in the county including heroin, judging by the calls received by Help-Line.

● In most cases children will not go to their parents or to the clergy for help.

● The problem is spreading in the county and starts at the elementary level.

● Drug problems are more likely to occur in affluent families than in poor families in this area.

Half the battle in combating the problem is recognizing that it exists, Mrs. Woloshen believes.

It's impossible to say how much of a drug problem there is in Cass City until a study is made, she added.

There are no easy answers to the problem and no experts in this field.

She then told the CIE how a committee worked with school officials in Caro to work on the problem.

Any student wanting to kick the habit can go to school authorities for help and get it without fear of punishment or without notification to the parents. Drug pushers are prosecuted to the full extent of the law.

A drug education program is started as a part of the regular curriculum.

Mrs. Woloshen is pleased with the progress to date, but sees an urgent need for a wider program.

What is needed is a drug education combined with a sex education program starting in the first grade and continuing throughout high school, she says.

One problem is related to the other. She also said that the parents have the basic responsibility for the children.

We should have education sessions for parents so they can talk to their children about problems.

Our surveys have shown, she said, that most children say that it is impossible for them to talk with their parents. . . there is no communication.

Deputy Larry Walker of the Tuscola county sheriff's department followed the talk by showing an exhibit of the various drugs used in the county and, together with Mrs. Woloshen, answered questions from the group.

2 homes razed, 1 hurt in 3 area fires

Wallace "Wally" Kappen of 3192 E. Cass City Road, Cass City, was treated for burns at Hills and Dales Hospital Friday following a fire at his lumber mill at the corner of Hurds Corner and Cass City roads.

An estimated $700 damage was done in the late morning fire. The exact cause of the fire is unknown, but it started in the gasoline engine used to provide power to the wood saw.

Kappen was just starting the engine up after filling the tank above it with gasoline, according to witnesses, when the engine burst into flame. Kappen attempted to pull the burning engine out of the metal shed to minimize damage when it apparently exploded, burning Kappen's back.

Several men working at the lumbering site shoveled dirt onto the blaze before the Elkland Township Fire Department was called to the scene about a quarter to noon. Flames were still shooting high out of the building when they first arrived, but were quickly extinguished.

The engine was destroyed, as well as tools and belts. Some lumber was scorched and the flames leaped high enough to burst a light on the peak of the one story structure and bubble the glass.

The loss was insured, but it is uncertain how soon operations will begin at the plant again.

In another fire earlier that morning, firemen were called to the Michigan Bean elevator where some corn dust overheated on top of one of the dryers. The 6:45 a.m. fire caused no damage.

FRIDAY NIGHT FIRE

Fire of unknown cause gutted and almost completely destroyed the home rented by the Wayne Menne family Friday night, located on M-53 just south of Deckerville Road.

Elkland township firemen were called to the scene by owner Theodore Vahovick, who lives nearby, at 7:50 p.m. Twenty minutes later, a second alarm was sounded, calling more men to fight the blaze.

No dollar estimate of the damage caused by flames, smoke and water was given by Vahovick. The house was completely gutted, and the east side was burned through the roof.

Wayne Menne, his wife and their 5-year-old child lived in the house.

MITCHELL FIRE

A two-story home owned by Gordon Mitchell of Caro, and formerly of Cass City, was totally destroyed early Sunday morning despite efforts of the Caro and Cass City fire departments.

Firemen fought the blaze for more than three hours. The family was left with only the pajamas they were wearing when the fire broke out about 2:40 a.m. The house is located near the Caro Honda Sales store, about a mile east of Caro.

The blaze is believed to have started as a result of faulty wiring in the kitchen area. The home had recently been remodeled.

No dollar estimate of the damages was given, but the house is totally destroyed.

2 arrested

from Cass City

Two area persons were arrested and charged by Tuscola county sheriff deputies over the week end.

Franklin Blake Holcomb, 19, 2284 McArthur Road, Deford, was arrested Sunday and charged with being disorderly. He was released on a $50 jail bond.

Frederick William Boyce, 33, 5870 River Road, Cass City, was arrested Friday for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquor. He was released on $1000 personal recognizance bond.

THE JOY OF THANKSGIVING and the appreciating of blessings can be shown in something as simple as this wall mural in Mrs. Sally Goodall's fifth grade class.

Virginia Gibas secures a piece of the crepe paper design with the help of several of her school mates. From left to right are Karen Schmidt, Virginia, Mark Guinther and Dan LaPonsie.

FIREMAN Ed Bergman hoses down the gasoline powered engine that injured Wally Kappen of Cass City when it exploded.

"If It Fitz . . ."

There is no Dr. Welby

BY JIM FITZGERALD

I phoned a doctor but he wouldn't talk to me until I assured him I wasn't sick.

Read that again. Sounds strange, when you think about it doesn't it?

But you wouldn't have to think about it if I said:

"I phoned an Oldsmobile dealer but he wouldn't talk to me until I assured him I didn't want to buy an Oldsmobile."

You'd know right off that the Olds dealer was nuts, or at least sleeping with Ralph Nader. Car dealers want to sell cars, don't they?

Yeah. But doctors want to sell their medical services, don't they?

You bet. But, you see, it's not like the old days when a doctor grabbed at your appendicitis as quick as he could. He didn't keep you waiting for fear you might take your business to another doctor. Today, most doctors practice in platoons. The ideal situation is to have at least 7 doctors in each platoon or clinic. That way, there can be at least 1 doctor on duty every day.

They take each other's patients, depending on the day, with animosity and no loss of income. All the money goes into the platoon treasury to be invested in real estate and growth stocks, with each doctor getting an equal dividend at the end of the fiscal period.

The platoon pays living expenses with monthly profits from its drugstore which patients must pass through to get out of the clinic. Any patient who doesn't get his prescription filled in the platoon drugstore risks severe amputation at his next appointment.

In cases where a platoon has less than 7 members, it is sometimes necessary that a medical degree be conferred upon an automatic phone-answering service. I know a mother who named her son Tape because he was delivered by a recorded message.

When I phoned Dr. Hippocratic at home, his daughter answered. In an unguarded moment, she readily admitted her father was there. (This is a capital offense for which the American Medical Society recommends forbidding the offender to use the family plane for 2 weeks.) Anyway, the doctor sent his daughter back to the phone to

buried Tuesday

Funeral services for Alva James MacAlpine, 61, Elkton, were scheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday from the MacAlpine Funeral Home, Bad Axe.

MacAlpine, a lifelong resident of Huron county, died Tuesday, Nov. 14, at his home near Elkton following a short illness.

He was born Nov. 18, 1910, in Grant township, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Duncan D. MacAlpine.

He farmed for many years and operated a trucking business.

MacAlpine was a member of the Acme Lodge No. 446 F & AM of Gagetown.

Surviving are one son, James, Boynton Beach, Fla.; two brothers: Earl, Pontiac, and Stanley, Caseville; one sister: Mrs. Charles French, Cadillac, and three grandchildren.

The Rev. William O. Cooper, Elkton, officiated at the final rites. Burial was in Elkland cemetery.

CASS CITY VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on October 31, 1972, at the Municipal Building. All trustees were present.

The minutes of the regular September meeting were read and approved.

The Public Safety Committee reported that the County will put up "45 mph" signs outside the Village so that drivers approaching Cass City will have ample time to slow down to the 35 mile per hour speed limit inside the Village limits. Council decided to set speed limits of 35 mph on Seeger from Garfield to the south limits and from the north limits. The balance of Seeger will remain at the 25 mph speed limit. Discussion was also held on changing the "right of way" signs on Garfield at West. A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Albee that any change in the signs at Garfield and West be deferred until West Street is reopened and a study of traffic patterns can be made. Motion carried.

The Public Safety Committee also reported on the school's request for crossing guards. According to the school, crossing guards would cost the Village approximately $1,000.00. A discussion was also held on a traffic light at Rose and Seeger, and on "Walk and Don't Walk" signs at the corners of Main and Seeger. Council was generally in favor of purchasing the mechanical means of controlling traffic and authorized the Public Safety Committee to meet with school authorities to propose these devices in place of crossing guards.

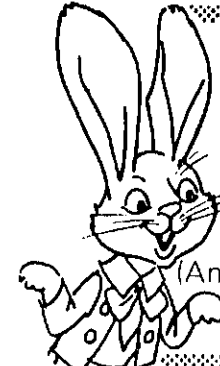

Permission was given to the Chamber of Commerce to use part of the Jackson parking lot for use as Santa's land.

A motion was made by Trustee Bliss and supported by Trustee Rawson that the bills as examined by the Finance Committee be approved for payment. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Albee and supported by Trustee Rawson that the money from the sale of the Old Firehall and Library Building be put in the Parking System Fund for Capital Investment.

The Special Assessment Roll for West Street Curb and Gutter was approved by the Council and is to be presented at a Public Hearing on November 28, 1972, at 7:30 p.m.

There being no further business a motion was made by Trustee Jones that the meeting be adjourned.

Rayford Thorpe looks much younger than his 71 years. He acts younger, too. In a way he acts younger than his teen-age granddaughter he loves to talk about.

As any parent can attest, teens and music go hand-in-hand and a blaring radio or tape recorder in a car comes as naturally as going to school in the morning.

But we don't know of any teen that goes as far as Rayford. He has two radios permanently connected in his station wagon. One came with the car, he says, and the other he uses for FM stations.

Did you notice? The school sign is functional again.

It was about a year ago that authorities gave up trying to keep it working the way it was first designed. Now with a change in the way the letters are erected and a little more vandalism protection the sign is operating.

It had good news, too (for students) Saturday. One side announced a Thanksgiving vacation and the other that Cass City was league champs in golf and football.

It's a new ball game. My younger daughter who attends Western Michigan and Ron Crandell, who is a Freshman at Michigan, both came home last week end and won't return until next Monday.

That's a week off in the middle of the college year. When I went to school if I took off one day I got behind for the term and never did catch up.

The first two days sales of lottery tickets boomed. But since then sales have slowed almost to a halt.

One day this week an outlet sold four, making a profit of 10 cents. What's more neither local bank is a depository so the local stores must travel to Elkton to deposit and pick up tickets.

It could be worse. The report is that Caro outlets must drive to Saginaw for tickets.

Because war pictures turn me off I didn't see "Patton" when it appeared in theatres. Sunday I saw it on television.

I didn't intend to, but I started and was caught up in the magnificent portrayal by George Scott.

Incidentally this show used more profane language than any I've ever seen on television. . . in a year when the standards on every network have been appreciably relaxed.

WCTU donates blankets, slippers

Blankets for lap robes and 16

pairs of terry wash cloth house slippers made by the Evergreen Women's Christian Temperance Union were collected

Thursday, Nov. 16, at their regular meeting for patients at the Caro Medical Care Facility.

A gift exchange was planned for the December meeting Christmas party.

Devotions were presented in keeping with Thanksgiving season.

Hostess Mrs. William Toner served refreshments at her Sherman Street, Cass City, home.

NASA scientist

to speak at dairy dinner

A NASA Scientist will be the featured speaker at the 1972 Tuscola County Dairy Dinner. The annual activity will be held Thursday evening, Dec. 7, at the Caro High School cafeteria. The dairy social hour will start at 7:00 p.m. with the dinner served at 7:30 p.m., states Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration will be represented by Harrison Allen Jr., an enthusiastic speaker on agriculture and the consumer in the space program. Allen will narrate a program through slides on space satellites and their important role in agriculture.

Ten dairymen will be honored during the program for high producing herds and cows in Tuscola county and presented trophies. The entire program is under the leadership of the Tuscola County Dairy Herd Improvement Association directors.

The dinner is open to anyone in Tuscola county wishing to have a good meal and hear a good speaker. Tickets are available from the following dairymen: Robert Carpenter, Don DeLong, Jack Laurie, Don Loomis, Dave Wilson, of Cass City; Don Curry, Unionville, Ron Elenbaum, Leo Marr, Claude Springsteen, of Mayville; John Foley Jr., Millington; John R. Graham, Walter Jackson, of Caro; Henry Gruber, Reese; Ron Hampshire, Hessel Venema, of Deford; Ben Hobart, Gagelown; Carl Keinath, Ron Keinath, Ron Opperman, Lloyd Walz, of Vassar; Wilfred Leix, Fostoria; Bruce Ruggles, Kingston; Frank Shaver, Silverwood; Marr Sherman, Fostoria.

Floyd Kennedy buried Friday

Final rites were held Friday for Floyd N. Kennedy, 53, lifelong resident of Evergreen township. He died Tuesday, Nov. 14, in Caro Community Hospital, where he had been a patient one day.

He was born May 1, 1919, in Evergreen township, Sanilac county, the son of Mrs. Jason Kitchen and the late John S. Kennedy.

He was united in marriage to Miss Erma Gibson in Evergreen township Nov. 1, 1941, where they made their home following their marriage.

He was a township supervisor of Evergreen township for many years.

Mr. Kennedy was affiliated with the Cass City Gulf Service. He attended the Mizpah Missionary Church.

Surviving are his widow; two daughters: Mrs. Robert (Carol) Parrott, Decker, and Mrs. Ray (Betty) Powell, Cass City; one brother: Emerson Kennedy, Cass City; one sister, Mrs. Theodore Wahl of Ann Arbor; his mother, Mrs. Jason Kitchen, Cass City, and four grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his father and one sister.

Services were held at 2 p.m. at the Mizpah Missionary Church. The Rev. Richard Culp, pastor, assisted by the Rev. Lewis Surbrook and the Rev. Ernest Gibson, officiated.

Interment was in Elkland cemetery.

Surviving are her husband; three daughters, Marilee, Laura and Tanya; two sons, Paul and Mark, and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bart Aiken, Owendale.

The Rev. William O. Cooper, Elkton, officiated. Interment was in Elkland cemetery.

FROM THE LITTER BOX
Getting touched

on busses

By Kit McMillon

Four hundred miles on the road and I'm gonna make it home—sounds like some kind of a trucker's song, but I think it's appropriate for bus riders, too.

I've been taking the bus to get from here to there for a good many years, and I think it's one of the best ways to travel if you really want to broaden your experience and get touched by the people between here and there.

Granted, you can really get touched and lose some money or some blood if you're not careful where you hang out in the bus stations, but I've never had any trouble.

My most recent trip home to help marry off my little sister was discouragingly uneventful. I got stuck in the Chicago terminal for a couple of hours due to the time change between Michigan and Illinois, but I did get to watch the police wake everybody up to ask them whether or not they were waiting for a bus. If you didn't have that magic ticket, you got kicked out.

It's those people, though, that make bus riding what it is. A friend of mine says I'm provincial because I've never flown. Frankly, I don't think it would be nearly as much fun because people that fly are in too big of a hurry to get somewhere and are provided with entertainment all along the ways, if I'm to believe the commercials—terribly antiseptic transportation.

But on buses, you get to watch "the salt of the earth", who usually have more responsive personalities to what's going on around them, and occasionally a well-to-do person who is trying to forget he is on a lowly bus by staring straight into space and not seeing some of the human misery around him.

Everytime I see a wizened grey-haired old man or woman struggling with bundles or wearily waiting for their departure to ring out over the PA system, I wonder if writers like Mark Twain or F. Scott Fitzgerald ever spent their spare time in bus terminals watching the people.

Paraphrasing Sherlock Holmes and wondering what those people are like by the clues that stick out all over is a wonderful way to rekindle a starving imagination.

And every now and again you get to meet one of those people. If all you want to do is watch and not meet, I advise not looking anybody straight in the eye.

That starts off some pretty strange occurrences. Like the time my eye caught sight of a different-looking chap carrying two very long swords in decorative leather casings. I looked at the guy and was met by a pair of deep mahogany brown almond shaped eyes, and decided the carrier of those long swords must be Indian.

He was Afghanistan.

Now then, the reason I know that is this. I sat down and peacefully minded my own business, burying my nose in a book, but still conscious of what was going on in the immediate area. This almond-eyed character sat down and produced a typical line, "Do I have the time?" Glancing up at the large round clock with very big numbers and prominent hands, I told him, and attempted to thwart further questions.

When in doubt, head for the ladies lounge.

As the departure time of my bus arrived, I headed for the gate and was met by the sword-toting Afghan. He even chose to sit next to me on the bus, so remembering those commercials about being nice to foreigners, I decided it wouldn't hurt to talk to the guy. One thing led to another and pretty soon I found myself being asked what I thought about raising children and could I cook.

Second line of defense, feign sleep. So did he, apparently, because as I feigned waking up, he grabbed my hand and asked if I'd slept well.

Yeah, sure man, I muttered as I sidled further into the window, wondering what would happen if I pulled on that "In emergency, pull here" button.

It looked like things could reach the emergency stage. He sidled over closer. This continued until we finally reached a rest stop and I rescued myself from what I believed was certain disaster. So much for being nice to foreigners.

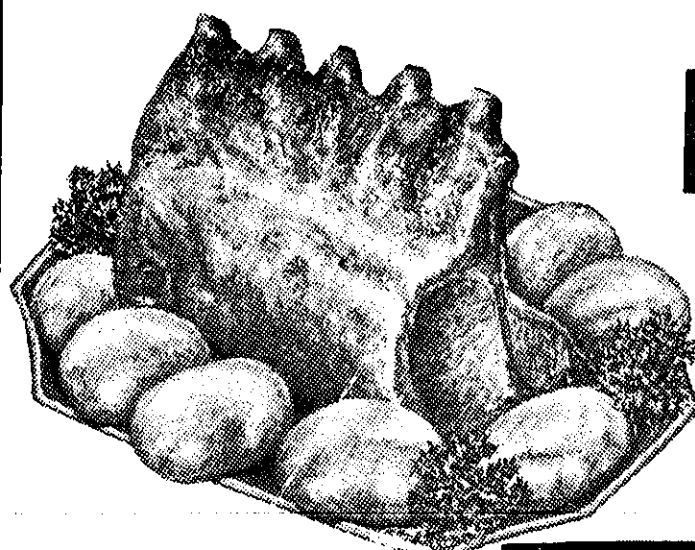

Like I said, bus trips let you be touched by people you'd never see by traveling any other way.

Meow.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Repshinska celebrated their golden wedding anniversary and received recognition and a $100 check from the village of Gagetown.

A former Cass City businessman, John S. Sommers, was awarded first prize for his art work entered in the Saginaw Area Art Exhibition.

Mary Sue Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burns, Decker, was one of Michigan's 4-H members attending the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago. Winners of this expense-paid trip are named as the best in their respective project in the state.

Cass City is looking for a Pied Piper. The magic flute should report to Cass City's old dump site and lure away the hordes of rats before they take off and infest farms and homes within five miles of the site, it was revealed at the regular meeting of the village council.

The village council optioned a little over nine acres from Mr. and Mrs. Robert Keating for use as additional park land in the village.

TEN YEARS AGO

Cass City area farmers are reporting a bumper corn crop for the second consecutive year, with yields just slightly under 1961's 100-bushel average.

Cass City Lions accepted the resignation of Lion Secretary Charles Newas. Newas, club secretary for the past two years, has accepted a position with a Saginaw grocery store. He is currently sales manager and assistant buyer for Eral Food Center.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

A fire at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Hennessey probably received the fastest service in the history of the Elkland Township Fire Department. When the fire whistle blew, most of the department was at a meeting in the Scout rooms over the fire hall.

The mothers of the Cumber school district have formed a Mothers Club which will meet once a month.

Miss Madelyn Muck, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Miller, of Colwood, has accepted a position as secretary to Dr. R. L. Dixon, superintendent of the Michigan State Hospital for Epileptics at Wahjamega.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Hitchcock have moved into the house on West Main Street, lately purchased from Mrs. Henry McConkey.

Thanksgiving Day, 1937, will be the outstanding one in the life of Neil Hicks, who took the vows making him a Benedict.

J. Ivan Niergarth, in charge of the Christmas Seals sale in this community, reports the purchase of $34.35 in seals within 48 hours after the seals were sent in the mails to prospective buyers. Mr. Niergarth expects the total to go over the $100 mark when returns are all in.

Schuckert & Stafford have added two more movie shows to their string of theatres which will make a total of seven amusement places of which they are owners. Other theatres of this firm include the Cass at Cass City. Mr. and Mrs. Nile Stafford and family have moved from Cass City to their new home in Saginaw.

Complaints have been made to village council about a number of property owners filling up street gutters in front of their residences. The council decided to make gutter maintenance strictly a village affair and as soon as a large grader can be obtained, gutters will be properly placed where needed.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Doerr were deer hunting near Oscoda. Mr. Doerr shot an 8 point buck at 12 o'clock and Mrs. Doerr also an 8 point at 3 o'clock of the same day.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The fellers had Thanksgiving on their mind Saturday night at the country store, but they was agreed that Santa Claus had beat em to the draw. Use to be, said Bug Hookum, that the old boy could take off from the North Pole a week afore Christmas and git here in plenty of time, but now he starts out six weeks ahead and stops at ever store along the way.

Bug said it must be his age creeping up on him, but he would rather take the holidays as they come. He said he allus enjoyed Thanksgiving, cause it was truly a American observance, but lately giving thanks has been playing second fiddle to Santa Claus. This is bad enuff, went on Bug, but Santa Claus is making so much racket he can't remember what Christmas is all about.

Seeing Bug was in a sour mood, Zeke Grubb tried to perk him up by pointing out some of the things to be thankful fer. Zeke said he had saw this country go from hitching posts to parking meters, and from not needing a lawyer unless you're in jail to needing one if you're going to buy a car. Zeke said this is the only country on earth where a man can make more on welfare than working, where the rich man's got his Cadillac and the pore man's got his catalog, where a housewife's best friend is her can opener and where air is still free if you don't try to clean it or cool it. Zeke went on to cheer up Bug by saying he lives in a land where you can put soil in the bank and git paid for not raising whatever there is plenty of.

Serious speaking, the fellers did spend part of the meeting counting their blessings, but Santa Claus at Thanksgiving and wimmen on the telephone wasn't among them. It was the feller that runs the store that got them started discussing a average woman that can tie up 200 miles of telephone line with her chin for two solid hours. All you hear on these country lines is wimmen, Mister Editor, and I reckon it's about the same way in town.

Fathermore, the fellers was agreed on truth and honesty. They ain't much of it around any more. Clem Webster said politicians never tell the truth unless they're caught in it, and lying is took as the usual condition fer lawyers fer the defense, fishermen and drunks, and that takes in a big chunk of the population. Clem said he had studied the situation up one side and down the other, and he had figgered more folks would be honest if they could pick their time and it wouldn't cost em nothing. Clem said he recalled attending a revival onct where this feller stood up and said he'd like to repent and confess, but the grand jury was in session.

Personal, Mister Editor, I didn't join in the honesty discussion. I didn't want to embarrass the fellers by being honest.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Zonta meet

A talk and display of antiques by Marilyn Schott highlighted the monthly dinner meeting of the Zonta Club, held at the home of Lottie Konwalski with Helen Agar and Dorothy Ballard as co-hostesses.

Plans were made for a Christmas party at the home of Florence Karr Dec. 12. Toby Weaver will be co-hostess. Members are to bring a guest.

A birthday party was planned for the patients at the Tuscola County Medical Care Facility in January, with Esther McCullough chairman.

It was announced that Doretha Wyatt, Governor of District 15, has accepted an invitation to be the guest speaker in February.

3rd quarter motor vehicle funds up 5.5%

Cass City will receive a total of $6455 or an increase of 5.5 per cent in third quarter Motor Vehicle Highway Funds, which are presently being distributed, according to John P. Woodford, deputy director-chief engineer of the Department of State Highways.

Tuscola county will receive a total of $292,931, up $16,017 from 1971.

Net receipts of the Highway Fund during July, August and September of 1972 amounted to $85,984,252, an increase of $4,522,846 or 5.6 per cent compared to the same period in 1971.

All state gasoline and diesel fuel taxes and license plate fees go to the Motor Vehicle Highway Fund. After deduction of collection costs by the Department of State and the share of 1.5 per cent for the State Waterways Commission, the funds are distributed under the formula of 46 per cent to the Highway Department, 34 per cent to the 83 counties and 20 per cent to the 530 incorporated cities and villages.

Under this formula, the Highway Department received $39,552,756 of third quarter collections; counties received $29,294,645 and the cities and villages, $17,196,850.

Area units and the amounts they received are: Huron county, $259,023; Sanilac county, $281,936; Caro, $12,020; Elkton, $3084; Gagetown, $2206; Kingston, $1625; Owendale, $1703; and Uby, $2862.

BETTER HEALTH

Abdominal epilepsy

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

I was happy to read an article on abdominal epilepsy in the Journal of the AMA by Drs. R. R. Babb and P. B. Eckman, of the famous Palo Alto Medical Clinic in Palo Alto, Calif. I am glad to see this disease described, because so commonly it is not diagnosed as it should be by doctors who never heard of it when they were in college.

What is meant by the term abdominal epilepsy? Drs. Babb and Eckman say that it consists of intermittent spells of abdominal pain, nausea, and vomiting. Most of us doctors stick to the training we got in college, and some of us are inclined to believe that all epilepsy is associated with convulsions, a fall to the ground, and then perhaps a half-hour of sleep.

Actually, great leaders in the study of epilepsy, like my dear friend in Chicago, Dr. Frederic Gibbs, and years ago that famous epileptologist of Harvard, Dr. Stanley Cobb, have told us many times that for every epileptic an expert sees with convulsions, he sees at least 10 epileptics with no history of convulsions, but with the typically irregular tiny electric waves running through the brain.

Because very few doctors know of, or have read, what the great epileptologists have told us about non-convulsive or abdominal epilepsy, its frequency, and the routine failure of most doctors to recognize it, it is seldom diagnosed. I just published a book, "Nerves In Collision" (Pyramid, New York, 1972,) in which I describe what happened to 274 of the many patients whom I saw who had suffered with very distressing forms of nervousness, and various abdominal symptoms and pains. These patients had been told either that they had "just nerves" or that their abdominal troubles should be treated by having their appendix or their gallbladder removed. Naturally, with the operation, they did not get relief because their trouble was coming out of their brain.

Dr. Gibbs assures me that if symptoms other than convulsions are recognized as being symptoms of non-convulsive epilepsy, they can be relieved with an anti-convulsive drug. Some epileptic symptoms are violent temper, horrible nightmares, spells of depression, spells of "the shakes" or "the jerks," spells of confusion, little blackouts, or brief spells when the person is "out" or "dreamy" and cannot talk. Often during these spells they will drop things, or a woman will perhaps burn herself on the stove.

Anyone who suffers much from nervousness or has a child who suffers much from nervousness and a quick and violent temper, or who gets "ice-pick" jabs of pain in his abdomen, or has spells of what some doctors call "chronic appendicitis," and who perhaps knows of epileptic relatives, should quickly get an electroencephalogram made (record of the tiny electric currents that are constantly running through the brain). In a normal person these records run evenly, but in eight out of 10 epileptic persons every so often there will be what we doctors call spikes and seizure discharges—or what I call little "storms."

Quite a few children have abdominal or non-convulsive epilepsy, and many infants die of it. I saw hundreds of patients with this disease during my years in a great clinic—and interestingly, I was in the "gastro" department, and these people came to me as a gastroenterologist (stomach specialist) because their main trouble was in their abdomen. They had no idea that they really had a type of epilepsy.

To show some of the curious symptoms that non-convulsive epilepsy can make, one day a man came to me who had spent nine years going to psychoanalysts because he suffered from premature ejaculation and hence he had never had satisfactory sexual intercourse with any woman. When I checked him, I found that his knee jerks were remarkably exaggerated, indicating an overly irritable nervous system, and his electroencephalograms were full of seizure discharges.

I gave my patient an anti-convulsive drug to try, and within 24 hours, he reported joyfully that he had had a satisfactory sexual experience. He knew of no convulsions in his life, but he had had many distressing "gastric crises," meaning spells of intense abdominal pain, many "spells of fear of he knew not what," and some depressions. Also, if he took three drinks, he was likely to become violent.

I hope that I can spend the rest of my life helping to find the perhaps 15,000,000 persons in this country who have symptoms that make their lives uncomfortable or sometimes even ruin their lives, and who have never gotten relief because no doctor had recognized that they had a form of epilepsy.

Such persons could be relieved of the distresses of a hair-trigger temper that causes them to constantly quarrel with their families or employers or friends. Children could be relieved of terrifying nightmares, or could be helped to get along happily at school, where before they were "trouble-makers" or simply "couldn't sit still long enough to pay attention." I would like to help women who have been paralyzed with unexplainable fears or depressions, or who become so enraged with a child that they beat him unmercifully, and then suffer intense feelings of guilt. These are the kinds of people that I much want to help with my book, "Nerves In Collision."

Depression is one of the most distressing problems in the area of mental sickness. Dr. Alvarez discusses the forms of this disease, the causes, and the available treatments, in his easy-to-read booklet "Depression." If you would like to have a copy, send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Dept. CCC, Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

4-H ACTIVITIES

National 4-H Center expanded

By Bernard Jardot

The W. K. Kellogg Foundation, Battle Creek, Michigan, on Nov. 9, granted $1.5 million to assist in expansion of the educational conference facilities of the National 4-H Center here.

Dean McNeal, chairman of the board of trustees of the National 4-H Foundation, said the grant represents the largest single contribution to the current expansion goal of $9 million and brings the total contributed or pledged to date to $6.6 million.

During 1972 more than 30,000 teen-agers, young adults, volunteer leaders and professional staff members participated in leadership development training at the center.

Phase 1 of expansion was completed in July 1971. The new buildings include 190 bedrooms, 21 conference rooms and dining facilities to serve 600. Still to be completed is a seminar hall containing an auditorium, library, conference rooms, chapel and exhibit and recreational areas.

The Kellogg Foundation, among the 10 largest philanthropic organizations in the nation, is supporting a number of 4-H educational programs in the U.S., Latin America, Norway and Ireland.

Gagetown club plans ice rink

The Gagetown Junior Women's Club met Nov. 13 at the home of Mrs. Paul LaFave. The meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. William Burrows, with 15 members present.

Construction and maintenance of an ice skating rink in Gagetown was discussed. The project was undertaken last winter by the club and their husbands. It was considered a success and worthy of trying again.

The Dec. 11 meeting will be with Mrs. Paul Burdon, featuring a potluck supper and gift exchange for patients at the Caro State Home and Training School.

They also plan to sell or exchange their used Christmas decorations.

Coming Auction

Saturday, Dec. 2 - Ellwood Eastman will sell household goods, antiques and miscellaneous items at the farm located one mile east and one and a half miles north of Cass City on Schweigler Road. Lorn Hillaker, Auctioneer.

Detroit man dies here while hunting

A Detroit man suffered a heart attack while hunting near the Cass City area Saturday and was pronounced dead at Hills and Dales Hospital.

George Watik, 47, was hunting with Ed Bullis of Decker-ville Road near the Cass River off Elmwood Road near Crawford Road when he complained of being tired.

He became ill and was taken to Hills and Dales, where he was dead on arrival.

Private services were held Tuesday at 9 a.m. in Little's Funeral Home and cremation took place in Flint.

He was born May 9, 1925, and was employed at the Silver Lady Lounge in Detroit. He is survived by one son, David of Plymouth.

Honor Dr. Donahue for continued study

Harold T. Donahue, M.D., of Cass City, has been named a fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians.

The degree of fellowship is an acknowledgement of successful completion of 600 or more hours of accredited continuing medical study, or attainment of diplomate status in the specialty of family medicine as a result of passing a certifying examination administered under the aegis of the American Board of Family Practice.

Fellowship entitles the conferee to use the title, "Fellow of the American Academy of Family Physicians," or "FAAFP." The degree was conferred September 26 upon more than 4,200 members of the Academy in conjunction with the AAFP's annual convention and scientific assembly in New York City. Ceremonies were held in Madison Square Garden's Felt Forum before more than 10,500 persons. Fellowship candidates wore academic robes, with hoods bearing the blue and gold Academy colors, and mortarboard caps. The oath of fellowship was recited en masse.

The American Academy of Family Physicians, representing more than 32,000 family doctors, is the only national medical group requiring members to take continuing study. Its members must take a minimum of 150 accredited hours every three years. Headquarters in Kansas City, Mo., the AAFP is observing its twenty-fifth anniversary this year. It is the largest of medicine's specialty groups.

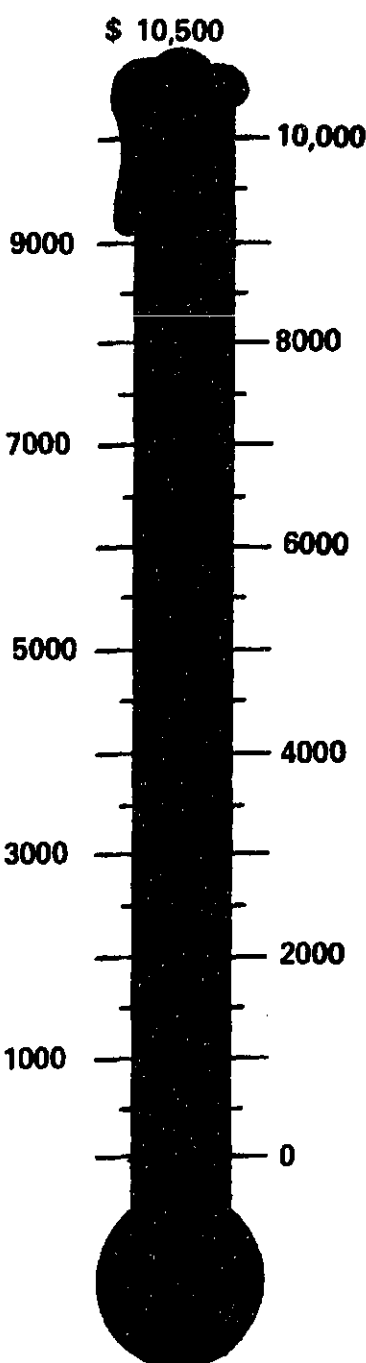

United fund tops goal

With 20 envelopes still out, the United Fund has topped its goal of $10,500 with a collection as of Monday of $10,997.20, according to Jon Fahrner, president.

Solicitors are urged to turn in remaining envelopes at the Cass City State Bank.

The victory dinner has been slated for 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 30, at Veronica's Restaurant.

Council promotes Dr. Kelley

The Rev. Arleon L. Kelley, Columbus, O., a former Cass City resident, has been appointed associate executive director of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Regional and Local Ecumenism, it was announced by Dr. R. H. Edwin Espy, general secretary of the council.

Dr. Kelley, for the past three years associate director of the Ohio Council of Churches and director of its Division of Church and Community, will succeed the Rev. Dr. H. Conrad Hoyer who recently retired, assuming the post on Nov. 27.

Outlining his new responsibilities, the Rev. Nathan H. VanderWerf, executive director of the commission, said Dr. Kelley will serve in such areas as liaison in relations with regional and local ecumenical agencies, research and planning in the cooperative work of ecumenical groups; and in working with member denominations of the commission to "help in ecumenical mission planning where possible and appropriate."

"Dr. Kelley brings the social scientists' point of view to ecumenism," said Mr. VanderWerf. "He is expert in looking at the religious community as part of the larger community; of examining it from a different perspective with the question of how the religious community could and should function."

Mr. VanderWerf and Dr. Kelley are co-authors of a paper titled Ecumenical Chaos, issued by the Audenshaw Project in Laity Education. The paper was developed in conjunction with the meeting of the National Association of Ecumenical Staff in the USA held at Lake Geneva Point, Wisc. last June.

Margaret Pinney rites held Tuesday

Final rites were conducted Tuesday, Nov. 14, for Mrs. Margaret Ann Pinney, 65, Saginaw, who passed away unexpectedly Sunday afternoon, Nov. 12, at their cottage near Tawas.

The wife of Dr. Lewis C. Pinney, she was born March 4, 1907, in Coral, and lived in Saginaw the past 25 years.

She was a member of the Saginaw County and Michigan State Dental Auxiliaries.

Surviving besides her husband are one son, Richard, New York, N. Y.; one daughter, Jerilyn, Cleveland, Ohio; one grandchild, and one foster-brother, Carson Bonn, Traverse City.

Private funeral services were conducted at the Cederberg Funeral Home with the Rev. Nels M. Anderson officiating. Burial was in Roselawn Memorial Gardens.

Cleft palate parents to organize groups

The Cleft Palate Parents' Association of the Thumb Area, in cooperation with the Saginaw Cleft Palate Clinic, is attempting to establish a "Parent Group" which will meet in Saginaw.

The Clinic is sponsoring the initial meeting at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 29, at St. Luke's Hospital in the lecture theater.

Interested persons are encouraged to attend.

Yes, you can insure your snowmobile with us just about the same way we insure your automobile. The coverages are about the same. In fact, we also insure all-terrain vehicles much the same way. And we can put them all together in one package, if you wish. We can also add snowmobiles to our Homeowners Policy; the combination could save you some money! Gas tax, housing authority issues still face lawmakers

Two big unfinished matters await the Michigan Legislature as it returned in late November.

The first, and better known, is the question of whether Michigan will use a small portion of its gas tax revenues to help pay for mass transit programs for the state's urban areas.

The second is whether the legislature will raise the bonding limit for the State Housing Development Authority from its current $300 million level.

Both issues currently are tied up in the Senate where virtually no action was taken during the brief session held toward the end of September.

The highway package, which Gov. William G. Milliken has at the top of his priority list, has been locked in the Senate Highways Committee since last spring.

It is a perfect example of how one man can prevent the entire legislature from doing anything if he is in the right position and is determined. Committee Chairman James Fleming has held the bill in his committee all that time, never even allowing the subject to be brought up for discussion.

Since he was so adamant against the package, nothing has been done. But now, three of the committee members have asked Fleming to have a meeting the first week they are back to consider the bill in committee. Under the Senate rules, he has to bring it up for discussion.

The subject is actually two bills which would raise the gasoline tax by two cents per gallon and allocate the increase. Three quarters of it, or 1.5 cents per gallon, would go for an accelerated highway construction program. The other one quarter, or one half cent per gallon, would go for mass transit.

Because of Fleming's intransigence, the package is in serious trouble. Lawmakers couldn't come back any sooner after the election because many of them wanted to go deer hunting rather than work, and the short time remaining reduces any chances for its success.

But the governor and the legislative backers of the program aren't going to give up on it without a fight, and there should be a great deal of action in the next few weeks behind the scenes to try to work out a package which everyone can agree on—at least everyone that is willing to consider.

The bonding authority bill is expected to be passed without much difficulty following some staff work and negotiations which cut back its total amount.

Milliken originally proposed increasing the limit from $300 million to $800 million. That brought wails of protest from bankers around the state, who were afraid the authority might help persons with its lower interest loans who otherwise would have to go to a bank and its higher interest rates.

The program financed by the bonds serves people with incomes ranging from around the $9,000 per year mark down to the $3,000 per year mark. It mixes the incomes to prevent the buildings if finances from becoming ghettos for low income persons only.

After some negotiations, the bill has been lowered to a $600 million ceiling and should go through at that level.

"LAKES BUILT"

The Michigan Highway Department normally is concerned with highways, since that is why it was created.

But it has some other concerns which result from its regular function. One of those side concerns has seen it construct 200 lakes during the past 14 years as a by-product of highway construction.

The lakes are built when roadside gravel and sand pits are excavated below ground water level.

The three newest lakes were dug out in heavily wooded areas where the new I-75 freeway is being built through Ogemaw and Roscommon counties. The largest covers 60 acres.

Many of the lakes have been sold for conservation and recreational purposes such as wildlife refuges and camping. Some were transferred to other public agencies and a few are still held by the department.

"This is one way in which Michigan's needs for good roads and for preservation of its environmental quality go hand in hand," said Highways Director Henrik E. Stafseth. "We are building better highways and getting more lakes as a dividend."

The lakes began being created in 1958 because some points on the freeway system demand enormous amounts of land to build up the roadbed. Rather than just digging ugly holes and letting them sit there, the department decided it might as well make scenic lakes out of them and that's what happened.

AROUND THE FARM

Mold toxins threaten corn

by William Bortel

Due to warm, rainy weather throughout much of October and early November, much corn is still in the field. A combination of weather and crop conditions this fall has been conducive to the development of fungus and molds which can produce mycotoxins and aflatoxins. These are now appearing in the 1972 Michigan corn crop, and can render the crop unfit for either animal or human consumption. It is imperative, therefore, that harvesting of the corn crop proceed at the earliest possible date, and at the fastest possible rate, without waiting for the fields to dry up or the ground to freeze.

This means "MUDDING" the crop out unless the weather improves at once. Kernel moisture is running from 8 to 10 points above normal this fall, adding complications to the harvesting picture. Most of the molds start at the tip of the ear where the kernels are typically small. Eliminating as many as possible of these contaminated small kernels from the stored grain may lower contamination in more heavily infested fields to a workable level where the corn could still be utilized as a livestock feed.

Combines - Use rice tires, tire chains, or "wrap-around" flat tracks wherever possible. Currently these are all in limited supply and will be available to only a small per cent of corn growers. Be sure there is adequate clearance between the drive wheel and the combine frame for chains or "wrap-around" tracks. With most machines, additional clearance can be obtained by switching the wheels to the opposite sides of the machine so that they "cup out" instead of "cup in". Check the operator's manual for each specific machine. Also, track-type drives are available for some combines for use in rice fields, but I doubt if any are available in Michigan at the present time. Probably the traction aid most readily available this fall will be tractor tire chains, which may require some modifications to fit combine tires.

Since most of the mold is currently concentrated around the small kernels at the tip of the ear, install screens in the bottom of the clean grain cross auger and elevator to screen out as much fine material and small kernels as possible. Use as large a screen opening as is available, up to possibly 3/16" size. Admittedly, screens of this type plug badly with wet corn, and may not be particularly effective unless checked and cleaned frequently.

Since the tip end of the cob is damaged by the mold, cob break-up may be a serious problem. Maintain recommended cylinder speed, but adjust cylinder-concave clearance somewhat wider than for normal harvesting conditions. (Don't go to extreme on this). This will tend to reduce cob break-up and kernel damage, but may leave some small kernels unshelled and on the cob. This may be one effective way of eliminating some of the contamination kernels from the grain tank.

Corn Pickers - It will probably be possible to harvest corn with a corn picker at times when it is impossible to work with a combine. Where corn is harvested as ear corn, pay particular attention to the husking bed to remove as much leaves and trash as possible.

Ear corn is difficult to dry, but if the moisture level is down to the 22 per cent now, it may be safely stored in long, narrow cribs not exceeding 5 feet in width, or in aerated bins. If stored at higher moisture levels, it may be necessary to shell and dry the crop as soon as possible.

Drying - Inspect all fields carefully before harvesting to determine if molds are present. Molds will generally be located at the tip of the ear, particularly on ears that are not well filled out. Visible molds get rubbed or knocked off during harvesting operations and are frequently not visible on shelled kernels. Toxins are still in the kernel, however, and cannot be reduced or removed by handling. Toxins will not spread by handling, only by mold growth.

If corn is to be stored or sold as dry grain, drying must take place soon after harvesting. Drying high-moisture corn to a point suitable for safe storage, and storage in a well-designed storage structure, will eliminate further mold development, but will not reduce or eliminate toxicity that has already developed in the field.

Hold services for Anna DeLong

Funeral services for Mrs. Annie E. DeLong, 70, will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday from Little's Funeral Home.

Mrs. DeLong died Sunday, Nov. 19, at her Port Huron home after a long illness.

She was born in Sanilac county Aug. 11, 1902, the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis and Mary Ann Sheppard Dean.

She was united in marriage to Maynard DeLong in Cass City March 13, 1921, where they made their home following their marriage. They moved to Port Huron 30 years ago, where she has lived until her death.

Mrs. DeLong was a member of the Novesta Church of Christ.

Surviving are her husband; five daughters: Mrs. Eunice Englehart, Cass City; Mrs. Claude Harrington and Mrs. Robert Cooper, both of Port Huron; Mrs. Charles Carlisle, Saginaw, and Mrs. George Miskell, Sacramento, Calif.; one sister, Mrs. Sarah Brown, Mt. Rose; 18 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

A daughter, Anna, died in March of this year.

Services will be conducted from Little's Funeral Home, Cass City, with burial following in the Novesta cemetery. The Rev. U. S. Lester, pastor of the Church of Christ of Port Huron, will officiate, assisted by the Rev. Ali B. Jarman, pastor of the Church of Christ of Lapeer.

Attempted coin box theft fails

Another attempt to remove the coin box at the Wash-King Laundry car wash at Main and West Streets was reported to Cass City police Saturday.

According to owner Roy Davis, the face of the box was bent by the would-be thieves with a pry bar and screw driver.

This is the third time an attempt has been made on the coin box, Davis said, and occurred sometime during the day time. The box is removed at night.

Bringing in the harvest is hard work! Just the thought of lugging this big pumpkin around is enough to make Carol and Sue tired and sleepy!

But what will Mommy do? She will make pies for Thanksgiving dinner. Then the house will smell sweet and spicy from the baking, and there will be a big table with the huge, browned turkey, and grandfather will say grace . . .

Thanksgiving is a day unique to Americans. In this troubled world of today Americans might count their blessings with hesitant hearts, but stop to compare your lot with your brothers in other nations, and you will soon find that God has given to you bounteously.

Give thanks, then, in the church of your choice.

THE FANTASY quality of this stone-faced house of Mrs. Edith Hoffman has drawn curious looks from passersby on N. Seeger Street for 38 years.

Letter to Editor

Nobody award —is it fair?

Nov. 18, 1972

Dear Mr. Haire,

The Chronicle was great this week as usual. Especially The Supplement congratulating the 1972 Football Champs. A very fine tribute to a very fine team.

I was unable to play football when in high school. Perhaps this is why I am doubly proud of my nephew, Danny Mellendorf. Danny chose to play football in spite of his handicap.

I am somewhat befuddled however with the award system. When a man plays an exceptionally good game he receives the "Player of the week award". If a man allows himself to be provoked into blowing his cool, he receives the "Nobody Award" for the entire year. One thing that must be said for the system. It certainly is fair isn't it?

I would very much enjoy receiving a picture and the write up that might have been. May I wish you and your staff best wishes for a joyous Holiday Season.

Thank you,
Morris Sowden

HOPES ARE HIGH that this group of cagers will be able to bring back Cass City High School's third Thumb B Conference championship during the 1972-73 school year.

Hawk cagers open season as team to beat for title

Cass City High School was to lift the curtain on an expanded 20-game basketball season Tuesday night and prospects were never brighter for another Thumb B Conference championship.

Coach Fred Hurlburt predicts a close, well-balanced race with Cass City, Caro, Frankenmuth and Sandusky rated among the better clubs.

But other observers feel that the Hawks will be the team to beat. At the end of the season last year, Cass City played two strong games against State semi-finalists Lakers and coming back for the new season are all the players that started that game with the exception of Fred Harbec.

As usual there is not a true "big man" on the squad.

Although you won't find a 6 foot, 6 inch tiger on the boards at Cass City, the team should be able to hold its own rebounding.

For the first time in years, the Hawks could average over six feet with its starting five.

Nick Gibas, Dave Hillaker, Scott Hartel and Randy Wright stretch well over six feet and Paul Bliss is five feet, 11 inches. These boys are all veterans with plenty of playing experience, as is Kip Hopper, five feet, nine inches.

The Hawks will have speed, rebounding and experience.

Handling the ball will be Bliss, a four-year veteran who will be counted on to make the offense go.

He can be paired with Hopper as the other guard to give the team outstanding speed at the position.

If Hopper starts, Hillaker will move to forward with Gibas at center and Scott Hartel at the other forward slot.

Hillaker has experience at guard and could move into the backcourt to make room for Wright in the front line.

Behind these veterans will be a bench that Hurlburt hopes will work in as replacements to spell the boys starting as regulars.

A strong bench may be more important than ever this year as high schools for the first time can play a 20-game schedule before tournament time rolls around the first week in March.

The schedule:

Nov. 21 at Millington
Dec. 1 at Lakers
Dec. 5, Uby, home.
Dec. 8, Caro, home.
Dec. 15, Frankenmuth, home.
Dec. 19, Marlette, home.
Jan. 5 at Vassar
Jan. 6, Deckerville, home.
Jan. 9 at Bad Axe
Jan. 12, Sandusky, home.
Jan. 16 at Uby
Jan. 19, Lakers, home.
Jan. 26 at Caro
Jan. 30, Millington, home.
Feb. 2 at Frankenmuth
Feb. 9 at Marlette
Feb. 13 at Harbor Beach
Feb. 16, Vassar, home.
Feb. 23, Bad Axe, home.
March 2 at Sandusky

Fans will notice a major change when the season opens. The first four fouls of the game won't result in the usual foul shot. Instead the team that is fouled will get the ball out of bounds.

When the bonus rule is in effect the shots will be given. Possibly the key to the season will be the continued improve-

35 report for wrestling
at school

Wrestling is the baby sport at Cass City High School, but it's a very healthy baby and growing fast, judging by the boys who have turned out for the teams.

Coach Paul Clabesch says that about 35 boys are working out daily in preparation for the season that opens Friday at Bangor John Glenn.

Because of the turnout there will be varsity and junior varsity teams, both with 12 matches for each team.

Since wrestling is in just its second year at the school there aren't many veterans returning. Four boys who earned letters last year have returned.

Boys competing in the meets will be decided by challenge matches that are held during the week with the winner of the weekly competition earning the right to represent the school in the regular meets.

An ambitious 12-meet schedule has been carded, including a tournament at Marysville Jan. 20.

The schedule:

Nov. 24 at Bangor John Glenn
Dec. 6, Marysville, at home.
Dec. 13, Caro, home.
Dec. 20 at Marlette.
Jan. 8 at Pinconning.
Jan. 10 at Caro.
Jan. 18, at Capac.
Jan. 20, Marysville Tournament
Jan. 22, Pinconning, home.
Feb. 9, Oscoda, home.
Feb. 14, Capac, home.
Feb. 21, Marlette, home.

What encouraged Hawk fans was the late season turn around when Cass City played like title contenders rather than also-
