Most farm taxes jump following equalization study in Tuscola County

Wide discrepancies in valuations were unearthed in a study by the Tuscola County Equalization Department of agricultural and timber cutover class lands.

According to Mac O'Dell, county equalization director, the valuations varied from a low of 35.75 per cent of the required 50 per cent of true cash value in Arbelia township to a high of 55.4 per cent in Columbia township. The required State Equalized Valuation is 50 per cent of true cash value.

What this means, of course, is that farm land owners in Arbelia will be receiving a substantial increase in taxes, as will most other townships in the county.

Elmwood township, already over the 50 per cent required figure, 54.6 per cent, will be cut.

The Arbelia township valuation was set by the State Tax Commission which conducted a study of the township following an appeal of its assessment.

Elkland township was at 43.25 per cent of the required amount and Supervisor Ed Karr was required to raise valuations $483,253 more on agricultural land. The boost will mean about $3.50 more in taxes for each $1,000 of present assessed valuation for persons owning land classified agricultural.

Total new agricultural assessment is $3,579,753.

In the timber class Elkland township is at 33.73 of the State Equalized valuation and the increase here will be 15.1 per cent to raise the valuation $57,589. The present assessment of timber cutover land is $111,400. The new total will be $168,989.

Director O'Dell said that he was prohibited from releasing dollar amounts of the changes in valuations.

He said that Novesta township now was at 39.36 per cent of State Equalized Valuation for agricultural land and 41.36 for timber cutover land.

The increase in agricultural land amounts to 12.62 per cent and for cutover timber, 12.08 per cent.

Ellington is at 46.1 per cent of the required valuation and at 32.64 per cent for cutover timber land.

Elkington township is now assessed at 46.10 of State Equalized valuation for agricultural land and 32.74 per cent for timber cutover land.

Kingston township must raise agricultural land from its present 41.45 of State Equalization and timber cutover land from 33.78 per cent.

Elmwood's agricultural land tax reduction should amount to 9.3 per cent.

Supervisor Karr said that farm land is appreciating in this area on an average of about 10 per cent per year.

Youth fined on 2 charges

Dale Pat Doyen, 17, of rural Cass City paid two fines totaling $177 this week in Tuscola County Justice Court after he pleaded guilty to charges of possession of illegal birds and practicing taxidermy without a license.

Magistrate John Bowles said that consideration in the sentencing was given to Doyen because officials of the Department of Natural Resources said that the youth was extremely cooperative.

The complaint was signed by John Walker of the DNR and also a Federal game officer. Walker would not comment on the arrest saying that he was under strict orders from his boss, Jim Geilhart, not to talk to the press.

The DNR is supported by State taxpayers and sportsmen. The fine for doing taxidermy work without a license was $21 plus a total of $29 fees and costs.

For possession of the birds he paid a total of $127. Bowles reported that if the youth had been prosecuted under Federal law he could have been liable for fines of $100 to $200 for each bird on the restricted list in possession.

The birds included two owls, Redtail Hawk, Blue Heron, Kingfisher and others.

Bowles said that Doyen evidently didn't realize the seriousness of the offenses before he was charged.

Authorities said Doyen is talented in the taxidermy field and is expected to apply for a license.

Receiving a license is simply a matter of applying, said authorities.

THESE ANIMALS are on the protected list and Dale Doyen paid a fine because he "didn't understand", officials reported this week.

CCDA board action

May is clinic target date

The annual meeting of the Cass City Development Corporation revealed little that is new Tuesday night when members of the board met at the Municipal Building.

Directors named two persons to the board and discussed the proposed dental clinic that will be built and leased to Dr. Paul Chappell of Marlette.

Re-elected to the board was Bill Kritzman while Mike Weaver was named to replace Lloyd Bryant, who resigned. President Cliff Croft said that Bryant made valuable contributions to the corporation while a board member and will be missed.

The annual financial statement was presented but not approved pending corrections noted by Treasurer Robert Keating. Other members of the board are Herbert Ludlow and Lynn Albee.

Croft said Tuesday that plans have not yet progressed to the stage where actual cost figures can be released.

He explained that the corporation will build a 24x44-foot clinic on a 10x187-foot lot at the corner of Hill Street and Hospital Drive, south of Hills and Dales General Hospital.

According to the directors, the CCDA will erect the building and fully equip it and then lease it to Dr. Chappell with an option to buy.

The lease will be based on the cost, plus a "reasonable" interest.

Directors said that it is possible that the building could be used to house two dentists, but that this wasn't a consideration in the original building plans.

Final specifications are now on the drawing boards and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupancy in May.

In another business item, directors reported that there was an error in the letter recently sent to stockholders. The letter said that the CCDA sold land to Bassett Manufacturing to erect a building.

The corporation was not involved in this valued addition to the community, Croft concluded.

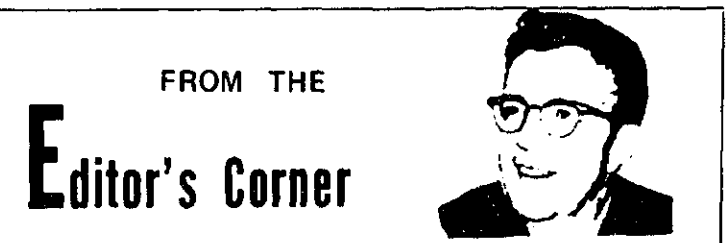

Wayne Whitten stands mute

Tuscola County Circuit Court was in session Tuesday following the Monday legal holiday.

Wayne Whitten, 21, of Gagetown, was arraigned on a bad check charge and stood mute. A not guilty plea was entered on his behalf and a pre-trial

AH! THAT MICHIGAN weather. Monday Dick Szarapski, Kelly Road, hustled in with a pussy willow in full bloom. That's the day the temperature hovered somewhere below zero. The pussy willow was a remnant of the 55-degree weather of the week before. Near the pussy willows, those harbingers of spring, was perched a Red-wing Blackbird, Szarapski reported.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

The movies of today bug me. Well, not the movies really, but the rating system.

You can only be sure of two things when you are trying to decide if you'd like to go to the show or not.

The first is that if it's rated X or XX or XXX, you'd better believe that it will be the raunchiest, most porno film you'll ever see... and that includes the traditional stag movies that once were shipped, I suppose, in "plain brown wrappers" like the books containing the "answers to your sex problems."

The second is that if Walt Disney has his name on it, it will be true "family entertainment" in the traditional sense of the word.

You'll never have to edit Disney to make it okay for television.

In between is a vast wasteland with no road markers. You can't tell by the title and most times by the stars involved.

There are a few old timers you can depend on. A John Wayne western is still a John Wayne western, glory be.

But if Marlon Brando parades around in the nude, anything's possible.

And then this movie rating system. The G, PG, X and so forth. That's about as reliable as Michigan's weather in March.

And the title, ho boy, the titles. Today if you saw "Miracle of 34th Street", it could turn out to be a story of a bawdy house in New York rather than a touching story about Santa at Christmas.

And if you didn't know would you think "Willard" was a story about a rat? Ugh.

If you have the idea that I'm prudish about movies, forget it. I wouldn't stay away from a movie because it had a nude scene. Anybody who does, won't find himself in front of the silver screen too often.

What I resent is a show that is intrinsically good. Something that I'd like the whole family to see with me only to have it on the taboo list because the producer shoved in a couple of nude, lewd scenes.

Scenes that add nothing to the story.

I've read that this trend in films has run its course and that there will be less sex without reason from the Hollywood grist mill.

If that's so, I have yet to discern it in the films that have trickled down to the hinterlands.

Most of the time we are a year or so behind big city trends.

That's a big plus to living in small-town America.

Most of the time, not all of the time. Not this time.

But then, you can't win them all.

Senior class trips: once to Caseville and now to Nassau, but the aim's the same

There will be fewer Senior students at Cass City High School whipping off for a traditional trip as a graduation bonus this year, but they very well could be enjoying it more.

That's because for the first time the traditional train ride, bus ride, or boat ride has been tossed into the junk can along with other traditions developed over the years.

This spring 57 members of the class of 1973 will head south in style... flying all the way.

It's a new approach by a new group. In other years the Senior trip was a school function. Now it is divorced from the school and students join the Senior Trip Club to be eligible for the annual junket.

The results this year could well determine the direction that the traditional class event takes in future years.

It's no secret that in many schools, especially larger schools, the Senior trip is as dead as the Dodo bird.

When the 57 members of the class of 1973 return their report to underclassmen could determine if it's all worth the effort.

For taking a trip does take effort... especially for the ramrods behind the event.

This year the executive committee includes Curt Strickland,

"We had a ball"....memories appear to be compelling reason for continuing Senior trip.

Lori Kilbourn, Steve Selby and Jeanne Alexander.

Under the new arrangement every member of the club gets credit for every dollar earned with various projects. The more the student works, the more credit towards the cost of a trip is received.

One thing not changed is the various campaigns to capture funds. The Seniors have sold $4,800 worth of candy (one-half profit), raffled a motorcycle, held a spaghetti dinner.

All of these events fall by a good margin to pay the $13,146.75 the trip will cost. After all you can't go to Nassau with a stop at Miami Beach for nothing.

Top money earner for this year's trip is Miss Kilbourn who has $150 credited to her account. Total cost per student is $236.75.

In previous years Seniors were given a few days off for the annual junket. This year the trip is during spring vacation

That's not all bad, the Seniors say, because it gets them to Florida at a good time of the year and breaks the monotony of the study grind.

Before the school abandoned the trip there was a rule that 60 per cent of the students had to go or the trip was cancelled.

This year less than 50 per cent will go. But a check of the records shows that many times less than 60 per cent took off and during some years you could hardly call the event a Senior trip.

Ken Maharg, of rural Cass City, graduated in 1933. That was depression times, he said, and there wasn't any money. We went to Caseville.

Back in 1920, evidently, a Senior trip had not been devised. According to the Chronicle a "class day" was held at the opera house and some familiar pioneer Cass City names performed. Highlight of the program was a singing quartet of McCoy, Atwell, Wood and Landon.

In 1930 the full effects of the depression hadn't reached the village and the Senior trip that year was a gala affair.

The class travelled to the Upper Peninsula on a four-day jaunt. And 38 of the 44 graduates went along. Maybe one reason for the nearly universal student acceptance was the cost: for the four days, $4.

Ten years later in 1940 the trip expanded. The class took a boat trip to Niagara Falls. But the interest wasn't all that great... just 38 of 69 went along.

In the 1950's boat trips were in vogue and in the 1960's New York or Washington trips were the thing.

One or more of the parents of three of the four members of the executive committee this year were on Senior trips at Cass City High School.

Mrs. Shirley Strickland said that in 1947 her class went to Chicago by boat.

We had a ball, she recalled, 25 years later.

Memories like this appear to be the most compelling reason for continuing the Senior trip whether the destination is a Caseville drive-in or a spot on Miami's million dollar beach.

VILLAGE CLERK

"If It Fitz . . ." Another lost weekend

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Constant readers (Mother and Aunt Madeline) will remember my report on that Monday when a co-worker asked me what I'd done over the weekend. "I softened the water," I told him. "That doesn't take all weekend," he said. "It does if you do it with a hammer," I said.

Well, this will be a similar report on what I did last weekend. I changed the license plates on my car.

I was armed with a screwdriver. I've been changing license plates for 25 years and a screwdriver has always been sufficient unto the task. But not this time. Not with the tricky, flippy plate-holder that hides the gas cap on my merry lousy Oldsmobile.

Honest, I thought I'd lost my mind. There were 2 screws with no slots for the screwdriver. What type of horrible mutation is this? I asked myself after skinning several knuckles in a vain attempt to carve my own slots.

I have cried real tears while attacking -- slotted screws with a + screwdriver. I've worried about violating the Carpenter's Code of Ethics while using a - screwdriver on a + screw.

But never before, dear God, have I thrust a screwdriver into a screw and found no slot.

Could it be a nail? Whoever heard of nailing a license plate to a car?

I looked at the flip side of the plate. Both screws were screwed into nuts. After thinking and cursing for several minutes, sitting there on my cold driveway, I hit upon the answer. I would have to unscrew the nuts, rather than the screws.

You can't do that with a screwdriver. + or -.

"I need a monkey wrench," I said to myself, wondering where I might borrow one. My do-it-yourself carpenter's kit is limited to 2 screwdrivers, a hammer no one can ever find, and a rusty saw borrowed from my father-in-law 14 years ago to shorten a Christmas tree.

It took awhile, but I finally found a neighbor willing to lend me a monkey wrench. By this time it was getting dark and my wife appeared on the scene with news about dinner. She looked at me and the monkey wrench and the license plate.

"What you need is a pair of pliers," she said, making public a secret suspicion which had been slowly prickling my skin as I discovered there was no room behind the license plate for both my hand and a monkey wrench.

It was then that I began to blubber and roll down the driveway. By the time I regained my composure, my wife had located a pair of pliers. Back to the job.

Unless I crawled into the gas tank and reached back up the spout, it was difficult to get decent leverage on the nuts. The plate hadn't been changed in 2 years and the screws were rusty. I finally loosened the nuts but the screws simply spun around with the nuts. Clearly it would be necessary to hold the screws firm while unscrewing the nuts. But how could I hold the screws firm when there were no slots for the screwdriver? My sobbing became uncontrollable.

"You need 2 pairs of pliers and another person," my wife said.

She was right. She dug up another pair and she held the screws still while I finally removed the nuts and changed the plate in the moonlight. She then helped me into the house where I collapsed in a state of shock for 4 hours.

That's what I did last weekend and I really don't give a damn what you did.

Help line Phone rings: don't panic

Written by Helen Woloshen

Professional answers by Marge Clos, Ph.D.

The phone rings. The caller sounds young--too young to die. She's in her teens and thinking of committing suicide.

An unusual call? Not for a Help Line volunteer.

Thoughts of suicide or actual suicide attempts have been the basis of many calls coming in to Help Line.

How does it feel to get a suicide call? Scary. You tell yourself, "Don't panic!". You'd sure like to, though.

Then some of your Help Line training seeps back into your mind so you play it cool. You remember that's a living, breathing human being on the other end of the line and they need you! His or her life depends on you and a thin strand of wire. They're confused, desperate and if you let them break the connection, you've lost them.

So what do you do? Suicide calls aren't limited to Help Line. Many people are faced with a suicide attempt within their family, their friends or neighbors. On the rise nationwide, particularly among young people, suicide also takes its toll in Tuscola county.

If you were faced with this problem, what should you do or not do to keep someone from taking their life? We put the question to Marge Clos, psychologist, and here's her answer.

This would be the crisis intervention part of the Help Line service. The person who calls about their intentions of committing suicide is truly asking for someone to help him or her. So you do just that. You keep them talking, find out where he or she is and send help to them immediately. Simple advice, but very difficult in practice.

An actual suicide attempt is a call for immediate action. You have to find out if they've already done anything to harm themselves and see that they receive help promptly. There's a difference between this call and one from a person who may be thinking of committing suicide but hasn't made an actual attempt. Both of them are serious.

Suicidal persons usually feel worthless, that their lives have been failures and death seems to be the only answer. So you try to offer them hope of finding solutions to their problems, alternatives besides suicide.

The volunteer tries to reinforce the caller's feelings of being worthwhile, of his own basic goodness. The volunteer Regular followers of this trivia will recall last week that I said the best way to advertise national apple week was for Mrs. Chris Erla to bake me a pie.

Well she did. And what I said last week goes double in spades. That pie was wonderful. And delivered to the door. How can you beat that?

That successful little stratagem opens a wonderful new vista of possibilities. Just think! There have to be weeks commemorating cherries, apricots, pumpkins... I could go on and on but you get the idea.

That address again is 4172 South Seeger.

At first I thought it was a generation gap. But it's more than that. It's both a generation and gender gap. Last week I used the coined word "snafu" in a head. Mrs. Marsha Moore was in the office and asked what it meant.

After recovering from the shock I sort of figured that her generation never experienced that famous World War II-generated descriptive word. It was partly that. But two gals from two older generations didn't know how it all started. They knew what it meant. That's all.

Every GI could tell you that snafu stands for "situation normal, all fouled up." Except that I changed one of the words to make it conform to the standards of a family newspaper.

Imagine! Not knowing about snafu. The next thing you know someone will tell me they never heard of Kilroy.

There never has been a time that the gym at Cass City High School has been full. Prediction: the first capacity house will come when and if Cass City meets Unionville-Sebewaing in the district tournament here in March.

I awarded myself a silver hero medal with two oak leaf clusters Monday. I reached for the phone three times to call my friendly banker and then remembered before ringing that it was holiday time for bankers or workers for the government.

Time does fly by. In connection with a story background I called Mrs. Shirley Strickland to find out about her Senior trip. She couldn't remember where she went because she confused a Junior trip with a Senior trip.

After graciously looking it up for me she reported back: Chicago by boat. Evidently the scrapbook recalled some pleasant memories. Oscar Brooks wrecked a bike at Mackinac Island and the Great Lakes were rough, she said.

Most of the class was sick, she laughed. We had a hall. You couldn't call it total recall but it is a remarkable memory recovery considering that an hour earlier she didn't even remember the class jaunt at all.

Cass City police charge DUIL in early Sunday morning arrest

Two area men were arrested on driving charges during the week by Cass City village patrolmen.

Robert Harvey McCreedy was arrested and taken to the Tuscola County Jail after he was arrested Sunday at 3:20 a.m. by John Rands on a charge of driving under the influence of alcohol.

Rands reported that McCreedy was spotted leaving Cass City on M-81 at a high rate of speed. After he was outside of the village limits his car left the road, according to Rands' report.

Michael Dennis Karr was ticketed Friday at 10:55 p.m. on a charge of careless driving by Patrolmen Donald Miller and Rands.

According to the complaint, Karr was observed sliding his car sideways on a 45-degree angle on Sherman Street in front of the Post Office building. An injury accident was reported Tuesday afternoon. Stanley Francis Hutchinson, 41, of Decker was treated for injuries suffered when the car he was driving collided with the rear of a truck at the intersection of Robertson Road and Hadley Road, east of Cass City. He was listed in fair condition Wednesday morning by hospital officials.

Hutchinson was driving north on the Hadley Road and failed to see a truck driven by Leo Clark Emmons, 54, of Caro.

It is an open intersection and Sanilac county sheriff's deputies said that neither driver appeared to see the other.

There was just one other minor injury accident reported during the week. Jaque Renee Merritt, of 4334 Seeger Street, and Gerald Francis Walsh of 9914 Knolson, Livonia, suffered minor injuries in a crash on M-81, just west of Cass City last Thursday.

Miss Merritt, sheriff's deputies said, pulled from the IGA parking lot onto the highway and failed to see the car driven by Walsh.

Owen-Gage

awaits nod in merger vote

Authorities at Owen-Gage and Unionville-Sebewaing school districts were still waiting Tuesday for authorization to hold a consolidation election Monday, April 30.

The approval is expected to be merely a formality but must be secured from the State Department of Education before the vote can proceed.

After the green light is received the voters in each district must approve the merger for it to become effective.

The boards are studying possible sites for the new school.

Selecting an acceptable site and securing the necessary money to build a new school has plagued USA since consolidation.

Several attempts have failed and the district is still using the pre-consolidation school buildings.

A man may be full of promise, but that's a poor testimonial.

A thermometer's silver lining has been too prominent lately.

Michigan Mirror

Democrats face uphill battle in power struggle

Hard times have fallen upon Michigan's Democratic Party in recent years.

It has been attacked and fragmented on both its left and right flanks by the dual issues of Vietnam and busing. It hasn't won a gubernatorial race in Michigan since 1960.

The task of trying to put things back together the way they were in the 1950's and early 1960's now goes to Morley Winograd, the new party chairman from Troy.

Winograd saw close up the effect busing had on party fortunes as chairman of Oakland county last year. Republicans had a field day in large part because of this issue. They even captured a Congressional seat which had been all but conceded to the Democrats.

The task for Democrats is no easier because of the fact Republican Gov. William G. Milliken is expected to seek another term in 1974.

Milliken's standing in the polls has remained high through the past year, when he wasn't running for office. His support won't be hurt by the tax reduction proposal he presented to the legislature.

The Democrats also won't have the benefit of a popular figure like Sen. Philip A. Hart was in the 1970 election when he walloped Lenore Romney by a 2-1 margin. Hart's coattails then almost carried State Sen. Sander Levin to victory over Milliken.

But Milliken will likely be alone atop the ticket in 1974 and that will help him.

What Winograd must do is figure out a way to get the old line labor forces, many of whom deserted the party in 1972, back into the party. He must do so without alienating the more liberal forces who stayed with the party last year and are suspicious of any moves which appear too conservative. The selection of Winograd's showed some of the party problems. He was handpicked by the United Auto Workers as their candidate, and the UAW is still by far the single most powerful force in the party. Yet he needed two ballots at the state convention and could only master a few votes more than the 50 per cent needed before his opponents moved to make it unanimous in the interests of party unity.

Winograd was hoisted by the party's youth caucus the night before his election and will have to convince that segment that he can work with them and is interested in them.

The task isn't hopeless.

There are still many more Michiganders who consider themselves Democrats than Republicans, and the labor forces in Michigan can still turn out quite a few votes on election day.

But Republicans in the state have discarded the rigid conservatism which laid them open for the Democrats in the 1950's. George Romney changed things around in the early 1960's. Milliken has a liberal philosophy that has a lot of conservative Republicans grumbling he's really a Democrat.

Winograd has about a year to put together an organization, the financing, find a strong candidate and develop some issues to unseat Milliken. At this point all that can be said is that he has his work cut out for him.

QUESTIONABLE "SAVINGS"

Millions of Michigan people are inconvenienced.

Once again, the Michigan Treasury Department is making the state's taxpayers find their own income tax forms rather than mailing forms as the federal government does to people who paid an income tax the previous year.

The forms are available at banks, savings and loan associations, credit unions, Internal Revenue Service offices and state revenue division offices.

The Department figures it saves about $100,000 by not mailing the forms at eight cents per form to the estimated 3.3 million people around the state. We would imagine there are a lot of taxpayers who would be glad to shell out the eight cents or even 50 to eliminate the time, gas, aggravation and other factors involved in making a special stop to pick up a form which might cost them a lot of money. Or perhaps state officials hope those with small refunds won't bother to secure forms to get their money back.

It might be easier to swallow the inconvenience for the public as an economy move if it weren't for the many wastes people see in government.

The decision not to mail the forms was made several years

BETTER HEALTH

Why frequent urination at night?

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

A number of elderly men have written to me to ask if I can guess why they have to get up so often to urinate at night that it interferes with their sleep. They wonder what they can do to get help.

Unfortunately, I can only describe some of the possible problems here, and I always have to answer my correspondents that I cannot tell specifically what is wrong with a person without first examining him or getting a urologist (kidney expert) to examine him.

There are several laboratory tests which will show whether the kidneys are working well or if they are working poorly, and if they are diseased. When the person has his blood creatinine level tested, that is an excellent test for kidney function. Another one is the blood urea nitrogen test (BUN for short).

Also, I would want to make sure there is no infection in the bladder or in the kidneys. An infection can sometimes cause a frequency of urination, often with a painful burning sensation. Women who have frequency of urination should have their urine studied by someone who will see if there are any bad germs, or some pus or blood in the urine. We now have a very helpful drug that is likely to be successful in killing the bad germ.

Sometimes frequency of urination can be due to nervousness. There is an easy way of determining whether or not this is the case. First, one should ask the person about any mental distresses, but also there is another clue. If the person can sleep through the night, without once or twice being awakened with an urge to urinate, and if the frequency of urination comes only during waking hours, that is more likely to be due to nervousness.

In a man past 50, I want to find out if his prostate gland has become enlarged, and is perhaps obstructing the emptying of urine from the bladder. Often there is a so-called transurethral operation performed. Some of the prostate gland is removed by a knife or a cold instrument that is passed down the urethra, or urinary tube, through an electrically lighted tube.

The symptom most typical of prostate trouble is that the man may urinate, and a few minutes later, feel another urge to urinate. Also, he will have to wait perhaps a minute before he can begin to urinate.

In many cases, I will want to know—with the help of the patient, who should keep a record—what were the foods and drinks taken before a bad night with frequent urination. Perhaps he will find that the frequency of urination came because he drank quite a bit of beer or wine or whiskey, or perhaps he drank a few cups of coffee at the close of his dinner, or perhaps he drank a glass of milk, just before bed time. Possibly he ate some food to which he is allergic. The best way to find if there is such a food is to keep a record of the unusual, seldom-eaten foods or drinks that were taken for supper on the bad night, when urination was frequent.

Sometimes the man may have a better night if he doesn't eat a big dinner. Perhaps a man who had a bad night had a strenuous evening with perhaps an excited group of friends, playing poker.

Many a time, a patient has told me that a quiet and restful evening was followed by a restful and uninterrupted night's sleep. The elderly man might do well to have a urinal beside his bed so that he won't have to get up and go to the bathroom and get wide awake. Elderly people who have to get up and urinate at night should always leave a light in the bathroom or in the hallway to the bathroom so they will not fall over something in the dark.

Another thing that a person with an irritable bladder can do is to take at bed time, a strong sleeping pill. This may carry him through the night, or at least until 4 a.m. or so.

Some people have an idea that to be healthy they must drink seven or eight glasses of water during the day. Throughout my life I have rarely touched the water in my glass at the table and I have been very healthy. I take a glass of milk at noon, and that seems to give me all the fluid I need.

My good friend, Professor Thomas Addis, a great kidney expert some years ago, used to tell me that one of the best tests to show that a person's kidneys are working well is that they should hold back the flow of urine that the person can sleep through the night without once having to get up to go to the toilet.

AROUND THE FARM

Wet fall creates new problems

By William Bortel

During 1972 there was adequate to abundant rainfall in Tuscola county. As a result, Tuscola had the best corn crop in its history. However, during the fall months, rainfall became excessive, and harvesting was difficult, if not impossible. As a result, the soils in many fields were badly puddled while farmers attempted to "mud-out" their crops. Also, crop losses during the harvesting season were unusually high.

All of these factors have created new problems for 1973, or intensified old ones. The following list of suggestions need to be given special attention as the 1973 production season approaches:

- DO'S AND DON'TS FOR 1973
1. Check tile lines for broken or plugged tile.
 2. Look for evidence of soil compaction, such as standing water. Surface-drain impounded areas if at all possible.
 3. Spread stalks as soon as possible, while ground is frozen to reduce snow accumulation.
 4. Allow the soil to dry adequately before starting field operations.
 5. Forget about deep tillage on deeply compacted soils until fall, when the subsoil is dry.
 6. Combine tillage operations to reduce the number of trips over the field.
 7. Use minimum tillage.
 8. Reduce tillage depths.
 9. When plowing, run tractor "on land", if possible.
 10. Give consideration to "no-plow" tillage, combined with a good herbicide program. Apply herbicide as a part of the planting operation.
 11. On fine-textured, poorly drained soils - if the spring opens up slowly - consider "no-plow" tillage methods.
 12. Plant shallow, unless the surface soil is dry.
 13. Use dual tires, or "floatation-type" tires on both tractors and implements wherever possible.
 14. Work around, not through wet spots.
 15. Use the smallest tractor possible for the job being done.
 16. With corn-after-corn or beans-after-corn, be prepared to cultivate or hoe to knock out volunteer corn.
 17. If planting in 20-inch rows, plan to equip a tractor with 19-inch tires for emergency cultivation.
 18. Consider delaying the spreading of manure until after corn is planted, then applying it as a top-dressing.
 19. Next fall - if subsoil is dry - deep-till to break up deep compaction.
 20. Be ready to GO when the field is ready.

A child's faith is beautiful in its simplicity and in the little things it encompasses. Like, for instance, the nightly ritual that comes at the end of prayer. "God bless Mommy and Daddy and Cousin Peter and Kitty Kat and my blue teddy bear."

To a child, there is no reason why God should not bless also a crumpled and slightly soiled teddy bear, and a pet kitty. For God is goodness and love and kindness and tolerance... not perhaps in those words, but in the feeling this child has as she says her prayers.

Prayer, to the child who has been taught to pray, is a natural thing. It should be as much a part of everyday life as eating and sleeping and playing. To pray for what is good... to give thanks for what one has is an all-important step in that all-important right direction on the road of life.

the little THINGS!

Auxiliary holds silent auction

The Cass City Lions Auxiliary met Monday, Feb. 12, at Veronica's Restaurant. Eighteen members and 15 guests were present.

After dinner and a short business meeting, President Linda Herron introduced the program for the evening.

Members and guests enjoyed a "silent auction" planned by Mrs. Roy Tuckey and Mrs. Tim Grassman. Over 50 items, many of them handmade, were available. Items not purchased during the silent auction were auctioned off in a spirited round of bidding conducted by auctioneer Kathy Tuckey.

5 qualify for state festival

Students at Cass City High School walked off with five division I, five division II and three division III ratings at the annual District Solo and Ensemble festival held Saturday at Davison.

Division I is the top rating among five ratings that can be earned at a festival and students who receive the top rate qualify for the State Festival slated March 24 at Bridgeport. They received blue medals.

A top rating went to Carolyn Smith and Linda Battel for their clarinet duet and to the woodwind trio of Lauri Reed, Randy Wright and Katherine Kloc. Miss Kloc also received a top rating for a bass clarinet solo. A piano duet, Becky and Vicki German, received Division I ratings and Becky also received a top rating for her piano solo.

The Division III winners were: Daryl LaPeer, Sue Pobanz, Bunny Hill and Vicki Vandiver, clarinet quartet; Alan Crouse, trombone solo; Kris Murphy and Robin Lapp, clarinet solos.

Division II (red medal) winners are: Jeanne Alexander, Susan Bond, Cheryl Kozan and Judy Venema, flute quartet.

Ladies nix union in sheriff's office

The eight women, employed by the county in the sheriff's office, voted eight to three against having union representation for negotiations with the County Commissioners.

The women voted Tuesday against representation by the Federation of State, County and Municipal employees union, the union now representing Hills and Dales Hospital as well as two hospitals in Caro.

The county employees have reportedly been restless and seeking union information since the unveiling of a classification and salary study by the firm of Yarger and Associates of West Virginia.

The sheriff's women employees would have been a single unit had the union been approved.

Flat heating surfaces for smooth cooking

Forty-three million Americans live in homes 10 years old or older, which accounts for the present and continued growth of the remodeling market.

The American Institute of Kitchen Dealers has estimated that 2.44 million kitchens are being remodeled annually. The average price of a remodeled kitchen is from $3,500 to $5,000.

When a tight-money situation resulted in a decline in housing starts, remodeled kitchens continued to increase, AIKD statistics indicate.

A survey by TIME magazine, in conjunction with the AIKD, tells why families remodel their kitchens:

- 59 per cent want new styling
- 56 per cent want up-to-date equipment and new features
- 36 per cent have appliances that need replacing
- 17 per cent moved to another home
- 10 per cent noted other miscellaneous reasons

(The total exceeds 100 per cent because many respondents noted more than one reason).

Another survey of American homemakers indicated appearance and the self-cleaning oven were ranked first and second in priority by persons buying new ranges.

This explains why in kitchen remodeling and in new housing starts, kitchen designers and builders have begun to show a preference for mixing kitchen elegance with practicality.

One indicator of this is the use of smoothtop cooking appliances, as standard features in many new kitchens, according to Corning Glass Works, the originator of the smoothtop concept.

The large number of options available with smooth-top cooking appliances — built-in cooktops and both slip-in and free-standing ranges — combined with built-in wall ovens, makes them a natural in kitchen design.

The built-in cooktops are available in both two and four-element units, ideal for virtually any kitchen counter or cooking island installation.

Being a flat, smooth sheet of glass-ceramic, these cooktops double as additional countertop space when not being used for cooking and add to the "clean appearance" of the kitchen.

Corning reports the use of smoothtops in a number of projects from coast to coast — condominiums, apartments, and housing developments. Some of these are:

- Pinchurst Estates, townhouse condominiums adjacent to Pinchurst Country Club, in Denver.
- Costa Brava, prestige condominium, in Miami.
- Ashborough, a community of distinguished homes, being built in Dorchester County, S.C.
- Golden Heritage Homes, Phoenix.
- Regency Apartments, Naples, Fla.

Builders and architects, as well as kitchen remodelers, seem to agree that convenience kitchens with the latest in modern appliances can become a persuasive plus in generating interest among their prospects.

Motivation: key at Caro State Hospital

Take four women, all of whom are retarded to varying degrees, one of them a "fighter", one a habitual thief, one very argumentative, all very easily disturbed, and you have four human beings with serious problems in facing life. Put them in a living area with one attendant from eight in the morning until eight in the evening and you have the Caro State Home and Training School Mod Squad.

The CSHTS Mod Squad, more formally known as the Behavior Modification Treatment Program, was designed to handle the behavior problems of the emotionally disturbed retarded. It is one of many innovative changes that have occurred in individual care and treatment at the Caro State Home in the last few years.

The program was developed in July 1972 by Woodrow McHarg, Program Director for the Vocational Education and Training Program, as a method of dealing with the underlying causes of disturbed behavior.

"Up until this program was implemented there was no real way of handling the ten percent of our population who exhibited some type of major behavior disorder, characterized by fighting, arguing, screaming, etc.," said Mr. McHarg. "Although none of the residents are continually exhibiting these negative forms of behavior, the frequency is enough to disturb others or to interfere with effective programming. In order to deal with the problem residents, a special behavior modification program was established. An apartment which had previously been used for employee housing was approved for use, and four young women were selected to participate."

"Although the ladies sleep and eat with the other women back at the cottage, the rest of their time is spent in the apartment. None of those se-

VILLAGE OF CASS CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on January 30, 1973, at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present except Trustee Holmberg.

The minutes of the regular December meeting were read and approved.

Representatives from the 4-H Junior Wrangler were present to ask Council's approval to hold a horse show in the park. The request was granted.

The preliminary financial report for December was reviewed.

The Public Safety Committee made a report about the "Walk and Don't Walk" signs at Main and Seeger Streets and three-way light at Rose and Seeger Streets. They met with the committee from the school and these mechanical means were favored over the crossing guards. Provision has been made in the 1973 budget for these signs.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Rawson that a 6 per cent salary increase for all employees except Donald Miller, who will receive 10 per cent, and the secretaries in the office, who will each receive a $.50 an hour raise, be approved. Discussion was held. Motion carried. A commitment was made on improving the Village employees' hospitalization insurance program.

A motion was made by Trustee Albee and supported by Trustee Rawson that the street program as outlined in the 1973 budget be approved. Motion carried.

THUMB CONFERENCE

League	W	L	Overall
Sandusky	9	3	14-4
Cass City	9	3	11-4
Lakers	9	3	11-4
Frankenmuth	8	4	11-5
Caro	7	5	11-7

Bad Axe	2	10	5-11
Marlette	1	11	2-15

The Cass City Red Hawks have been a Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde cage team this year and if form is followed the club will put out another Dr. Jekyll performance Friday when Bad Axe comes to town.

That's been the pattern the team has followed all year. Against the league's also-rans the Hawks look like one team, against the better teams they look like another.

Certainly anyone watching last Cass City play Friday against Vassar would have figured that the Red Hawks couldn't possibly be in contention for the Thumb B League title. The Hawks won, 66-54.

After all the Vulcans have won but three league games all year and the team was decimated when six boys were suspended for the season.

But Dr. Jekyll reigned, really reigned, Friday.

The Hawks played listless defense, uninspired offense.

Most fans expected the game to be a mere formality and evidently the team thought so, too.

Although the Hawks were never behind and the lead stretched to 12 points midway in the third period the Vulcans kept chipping away and were never really out of contention until late in the final period.

After a slow first quarter when the Hawks moved in front 19-14, Cass City moved into a comfortable lead in the second period with a 15-9 margin and an 11-point advantage at intermission.

The lead saw-sawed back and forth between seven and 12 points in the third period and until midway in the final quarter.

Vassar then narrowed the lead to seven points and the fans started to stir uncomfortably in their seats. A giant upset could have been brewing.

For at this point Nick Gibas and Dave Hillaker had fouled out and Paul Bliss was perched precariously on the verge with four fouls.

Scott Hartel, nursing an ankle injury, was not available.

After a time out Coach Fred Harburt moved Bliss into the pivot position and went into a control ball offense.

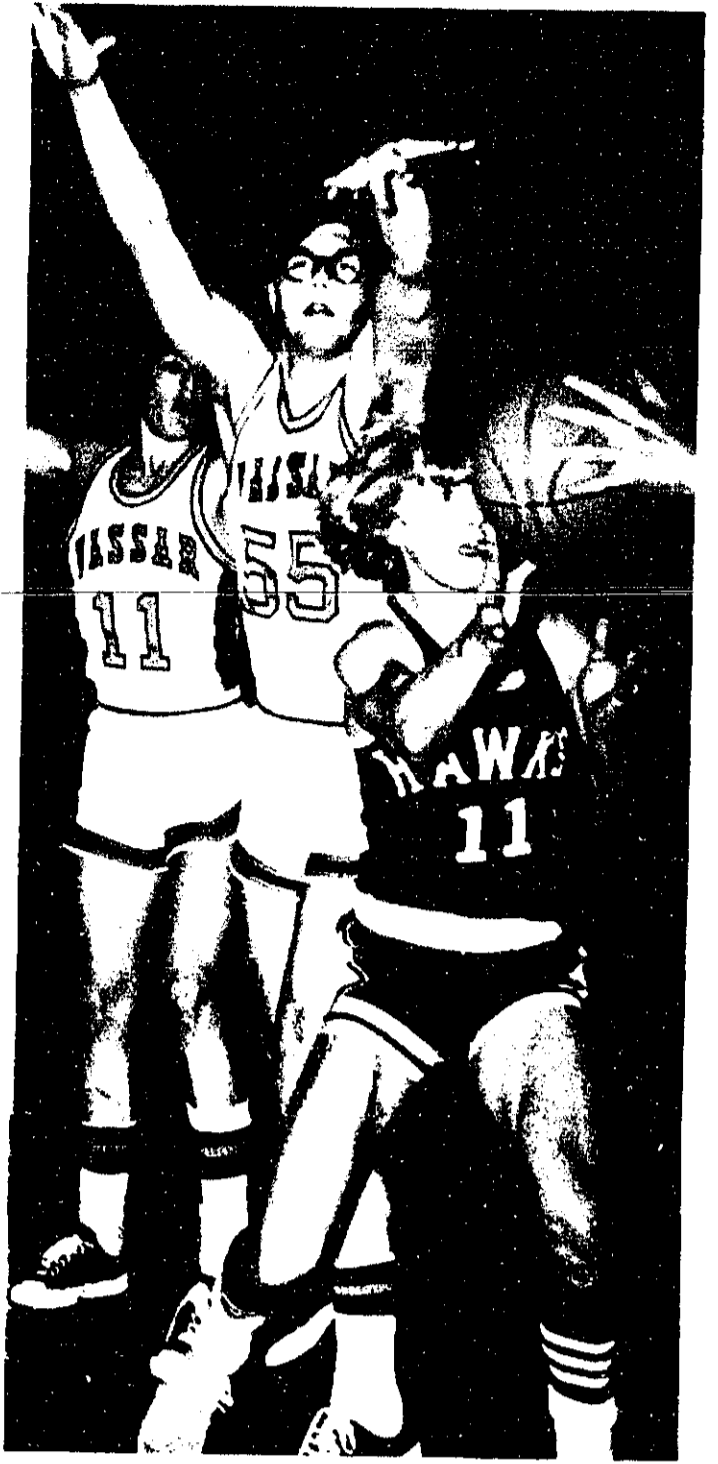

The move worked. Bliss canned a couple of key hoops and the Hawks handled the ball without a turn-over to up the final margin and post a valuable, if not artistic, victory.

Jerry Toner whipped in 18 points to lead the scorers. Bliss had 14. Other scorers were: Gibas, 9; Kip Hopper, 8; Randy Wright, 8; Kim Gaspie, 5; Hillaker, 4.

Bob Bishop with 17 led the Vulcans. Joe Smith played a strong floor game for the visitors.

JV GAME

The Cass City Junior Varsity had little trouble rolling over the Vassar JV's, 79-58.

INTENT ON snagging this loose ball Friday is Kip Hopper who filled in well for the Cass City Red Hawks when several starters were on the bench with fouls.

Name pair to Sanilac fair board

Preparations are well under way and "all systems are go" for the 1973 4-H Fair.

The dates of the Sanilac County 4-H Fair this year are Aug. 13 through Saturday, Aug. 19.

Last week two new fairboard members were elected to and seated on the board. The new members elected were Mrs. Virginia Auslander of Decker and Richard Loading of Snover. These new members were elected for a three year term.

Fairboard members are elected by any county family that had children enrolled in 4-H during the past year. Each year the County 4-H Council nominates individuals for the fair-board. Each member serves a 3-year term.

The two new fairboard members join the current members who are Lloyd Severance of Decker; Charles Hooper of Deckerville; Dale Berden, Snover; Dr. James Turbok, Deckerville; Martin Graham, Brown City; Oliver Wood, Marlette; Clare Wait, Sandusky, and Robert Groat of Crosswell. Bob Loghe of Peck represents the 4-H Council on the fair board.

Mrs. Joseph Bell of Brown City is secretary to the fair board. Mr. A. Rex Sieting, County Extension Director and the County Extension Service staff serve as advisors.

Seventh Grade ends successful cage year

By Coach Vern Palmer

The Cass City 7th Grade posted a fine 9 wins, 1 loss record for the 1972-73 basketball season, their lone defeat coming in the next to last tournament game against Frankenmuth.

The Junior Red Hawks were paced by a good balanced scoring attack from Clarke Haire averaging 9.0 points per game. Jeff Hartel averaging 10.7 and Mike Richards leading the team with a 10.9 average. Rebounding for the most part was handled by John Tuckey averaging 12 per game while John Guc grabbed in 9 per game and Dean Alexander pulled down 6 per game. Steve Ballard was the leader on defense, holding opposing players he guarded to a mere 2.3 points per game. Other standouts on defense were Dean Severance, Loren O'Harris and Ross Ridenour.

Although the 7th grade B-team didn't fare quite as well in the win-loss column their competitive spirit never faltered.

Scoring leaders for the B team were Rick Hollis, John Doerr, Jett Martin, Durrell Caister and Glen Guilds. Rebounding was handled by Jess Groth, Keith Frappert, Wayne Wood and Greg Moore. In the defensive department Joel Palmtree, Al Pratt, Craig Kelley, Jim Molnar, Mike Pine, Don Koepfgen, Bill Francis and Mike Gilliam were able to hold opposing teams to only 26 points per game.

Coach Palmer said with such fine young athletes as these fellows at the Jr. High level, Cass City will be known and respected by everyone for many years to come. This would include not only on the basketball court but any other sport they participate in.
