

Arrest murder suspect

Timothy Michael Kreger, 25, Caro, was arrested late Monday afternoon and charged with first degree murder in the shooting death of Dan Anger, 30, Caro. The shooting occurred early Friday morning.

Anger was shot in the left side of the neck with a shotgun as he drove east on Hunt Road just west of M-24 around 3:00 a. m. Friday. Anger's wife, Marlene, who accompanied him at the time of the shooting, drove to the residence of Robert Kreger, father of the defendant, and the two of them then drove Anger to the Caro Community Hospital where he was dead on arrival.

According to Tuscola County Sheriff's Officers, a motorcycle known to have been driven by Kreger was found at the scene of the shooting.

Kreger was brought before visiting Judge Michael Dionesse of Lapeer county. Kreger demanded examination and is being held in the Tuscola County Jail without bond.

Kreger also faces two counts of arson in Dayton township. He was arraigned Monday before Tuscola County Circuit Court Judge James P. Churchill on charges stemming from a fire at a house in Dayton.

CONSTRUCTION CREWS continue work on Houghton Street near Seeger. Curb and gutter will be installed along with repaving the street. Present project also calls for resurfacing on one block of Maple Street along with work on Houghton.

Council to proceed with additional park area

Cass City Village Council will proceed with plans for an additional recreation area near the present park pavilion, it was determined at the special meeting Tuesday night.

The project, originally to include a swimming pool, will consist of two little league diamonds along with restroom facilities and a general meeting room. Funding for the estimated $28,209 project will come from both state and village sources on an 85-20 split, the majority of monies coming from Lansing.

It was decided to move immediately on the project due to the fact that to delay further would mean the loss of opportunity for state funds. Under a recreation bonding proposal approved three years ago, municipalities are eligible for a lion's share of state money for park and recreation projects. The time limitation on this program runs out this year.

If the plans are not finalized soon, then the opportunity for the funding will be lost.

If approved, Cass City's share of the cost will amount to $5,739. Under the program, the village would have to build the facility, pay for it and then be reimbursed by the state.

Village president Lambert Althaver stressed the need for action now, saying that if the option were not exercised now, it would be lost.

Althaver asked council for approval to proceed on preliminary work with architects on the project, being handled by the parks and recreation committee. He said he hoped final plans could be presented to council at either its next meeting or a special meeting sometime in July.

The facility, as planned, would be built just south of the existing pavilion. It would call for the construction of water and sewer lines to the site, along with an access road.

The original plan called for the inclusion of a pool in the facility. This could still be constructed, Althaver said, if the pool issue does not meet with voter approval. He commented, however, that the desirability of the facility could be great without a pool.

Council passed a resolution unanimously requesting the parks and recreation committee to proceed with preliminary plans immediately.

The pool issue itself also came before council. Althaver said that results of the recent pool survey showed a slightly negative response from voters for the project being constructed at the high school.

Of 1980 survey questionnaires sent out, 550 were returned. Of those, 53 per cent said they did not favor the project while 47 per cent said they would support it.

Althaver said that the 550 responses represented about 1,116 votes out of around 2,700 registered voters, or 35 per cent of the registered voters were represented by the survey.

He said most of the comments on the questionnaires involved feelings against increased taxation for any project. Concerns were also raised regarding availability of the pool to the public all year 'round.

On the plus side, comment ranged from the addition a pool would make to the physical education program at the high school to the indoor facility being a better deal than an outdoor, three month facility.

He said the school board has agreed to carry the issue to the voters and said perhaps Aug. 13 would be the earliest date a vote could be taken. "I feel the project will take a lot of selling," Althaver said. He said one ray of hope in the project was expressed by school Supt. Donald Crouse who Althaver quoted as saying the pool could be built on two and one-half mills, plus additional monies for operation. He did not speculate on how long such an extra levy might have to be in effect.

Althaver estimated the total cost of the project attached to the school would run about $600,000.

"This is really the best way to go if the millage passes," he added. He said the council made no recommendation to the school board on the matter, but said the council will support the school board.

Albee, Hoag elected to school board in Monday polling

Millage issues were approved and candidates elected to school board posts in balloting held Monday in Cass City and Owendale-Gagetown districts.

In Cass City, Lynn Albee was elected to a four-year term on the board of education and Dean Hoag was elected to his second term.

Final results showed Albee the top vote-getter with 417, followed by Hoag with 367, Donald Doerr with 314 and Joanne Eskilsen with 183 votes.

Cass City voters also approved a one-mill levy for four years to be used to purchase approximately 60 acres of land from Dr. H. T. Donahue for future expansion. The vote showed 378 voting for the mill, 331 voting against it and nine ballots were spoiled. A total of 718 votes were cast.

Commenting on the results of Monday's polling, Cass City School Supt. Donald Crouse said the closeness of the vote speaks well of the district.

"Most districts don't begin to think about the future until it's too late," he said. "Here we are doing some long range planning that will be beneficial to us."

Crouse said the additional mill would begin to bring in funds with December's tax collections. Plans for exercising the district's option to lay the land will be finalized as soon as these monies begin to come in.

In the Owen-Gage district, voters approved an increase in millage to eight and one-quarter mills for two years. This represents a jump of two and one-quarter mills. Final results show 195 votes in favor of the increase, 120 voters against, and one ballot was spoiled.

Candidates Eldon Dietzel and George Wilson were elected to the school board. Vote totals show Dietzel with 227, Wilson, 208; Jack Brinkman with 123. Dietzel was elected to his third term. Wilson was elected to his first term on the board.

Owen-Gage Supt. Glenn Sanford characterized the turnout as light and speculated the good weather kept the farmers busy at home.

Sanford said the results were an encouraging sign to him that the voters in the district wanted to keep their school and are willing to pay for it. He said the results give a basis for optimism with regard to the construction of a new school.

"This lends credence to the belief that the people of this district are willing to pay for their own school," he said.

"The millage increase that the voters approved Monday was bigger than any one jump before."

He said that it appeared to him that those who could vote Monday seemed to be concerned about keeping the district going and a majority were in favor of increased millage.

"This vote reaffirms my faith in the people," Sanford said. "The increase in millage in Owen-Gage will go exclusively for operating expenses, with some being channeled into re-viving the band program at the high school."

50 Owen-Gagers seek schooling at Cass City

Some 50 requests have poured into Cass City Schools from residents of the Owendale-Gagetown School District to attend school at Cass City Schools next year, Supt. Donald Crouse told school board members Monday night at their regular meeting.

The students are scattered among all grades, kindergarten through 12, and is 40 more than attended school here from Owen-Gage this year.

Although the Cass City district makes it easy for these students to attend, the parents who send the children do so at an additional cost.

Cass City does not charge tuition for out-of-district students. They are included in the school census and State-Aid payments are received for them.

The school accepts them on a space-available basis and it is Crouse's contention that the school makes money on these students because of utilization of facilities that otherwise would be idle.

The school, of course, does not receive any local tax money from out-of-district property owners who pay taxes in the Owen-Gage district.

Parents of the students from out-of-district must provide their own transportation. There is a risk that there will be no room in some grades. Crouse said that two students wishing to transfer are on a waiting list now because of lack of space in the eighth grade.

Crouse also told the board that there is a move afoot by Gagetown area property owners to transfer into the Cass City district.

pay from $4,800 to $7,000. The dollar amounts of the raises went from $264 to $460 annually.

The same percentage raises were granted hourly rated workers. The new scale ranges from $2.65 to $3.95 per hour.

In addition the twobus supervisors were granted raises for this duty to $1,400 and $1,550, based on seniority.

The amount is in addition to the amounts paid the two men for their regular job as custodians. The new custodian rates are $3.85 and $3.95 per hour for these two non-union workers.

The entire package will cost the school some $4000 more than this year's costs.

In other business the board accepted resignations from three teachers and authorized a college class at the high school.

The teachers resigning are all in the elementary system. Nancy Sivula, elementary physical education, Lynette LaFave and Loretta Brontak, third grade teachers, submitted letters of resignation to the board that were quickly accepted.

Student counselor Jerry Cleland received board okay to offer a college class next year through the cooperation of Saginaw Valley College.

He explained that a survey indicated that 13 of this year's graduating Seniors and 12 1973-74 Seniors indicated an interest. He said that any basic college credit course in math, sciences or humanities would probably be available.

It is likely that the school will be too late to start a course in the fall, Cleland said, because teachers at SVC are now committed.

After secret discussion following the regular meeting, the board voted to raise the salaries of non-union employees about six per cent.

The raise will boost the book-keeper's job to $8,000 yearly. Other secretary positions will

'Gold' squabble aftermath

Consider new library standards

Protesters were not successful in removing "Acapulco Gold" from the shelves of Cass City High School library during a recent controversy but it appears as if they will be successful in establishing guidelines for the selection of books in the future.

It was the contention of the group protesting that there were no standards at all in book selection at the school.

Monday night in its regular session the board took under consideration a suggestion from Supt. Donald Crouse to use the Senior High School Library Catalogue for book reference.

He said the reference book was recommended by the Michigan State Library and books are reviewed by panels from all areas of the country.

"Acapulco Gold" was not listed in the master reference book, but each year an update of the recommendations is issued and this was not available for examination.

It is nearly a foregone conclusion that the reference work will be adopted at the next meeting. School board policy is never to change guidelines without waiting a month to act after the subject is aired at a regular meeting.

While the selection process appears cut and dried now, another policy change is still very much in the air.

Principal Russell Richards asked that guidelines be established for eligibility for valedictorian and salutatorian honors. He wanted it to be mandatory that students earning the honor be students at the school for at least two years to become eligible for top honors.

Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn suggested that valedictorian and salutatorian be abandoned and an honor grouping for students replace it.

There was no clear-cut decision. The request sparked a debate about graduation ceremonies. The question was whether or not to abandon a special guest speaker and to have the Seniors speak to the Seniors or to follow traditional exercise patterns of the past.

There was no conclusion and the question is apt to recur in future board sessions.

Dr. Chappel to begin Cass City practice

Dr. Richard P. Chappel, DDS, will begin his dental practice in Cass City sometime next week, depending on the availability of facilities.

DR. RICHARD P. CHAPPEL.

Dr. Chappel is a native of Marquette. He graduated from Marquette High School and attended Michigan State University for three years and attended the University of Michigan for four and one-half years where he received his degree.

He graduated with his Doctorate of Dental Surgery degree May 5.

Dr. Chappel will practice evenings at the offices of Dr. D. E. Rawson until his new dental clinic, located on Hill Street, is completed.

Bernard Ross resigns as council trustee

Cass City Village Trustee Bernard Ross has announced his resignation from the Village Council, citing health reasons.

In a letter to council made public Tuesday night, Ross said his slow recovery from recent surgery made it impossible for him to continue to serve as a trustee.

As a result of the vacancy, the post will be filled temporarily by council until the next general election, next March. At that time, a trustee will be elected to serve out Ross' term which will run until 1975.

Tuscola County records 11th traffic fatality

Tuscola county recorded its 11th traffic death of the year Friday afternoon when Clyde R. Ridley, 52, Millington, was killed. The accident occurred on Lewis Road near Willard Road, southwest of Millington.

According to deputies' reports, Ridley lost control of the pickup he was driving and skidded sideways across Lewis Road. The vehicle then hit a patch of soft dirt and flipped. Ridley was thrown six feet from the truck, which rolled over on him, police said. The truck rolled some 27 feet before coming to a stop.

An engine Ridley was carrying in the back of the truck was thrown 198 feet from the scene of the accident.

Authorities said Ridley died instantly.

The accident occurred at 4:00 p.m. In other county accidents, on Saturday, a car driven by Lois Binder, 6857 Garfield, collided with a car driven by Allen Quick, E. Dayton Rd., Caro.

According to deputies' report, Quick attempted to make a left turn into a driveway off M-81 west of Cass City, when he was struck by Ms. Binder's car, which was attempting to pass. Deputies said Ms. Binder tried to pass two cars and did not see Quick making his turn. Turn signals on the Quick car were operating at the time of the mishap.

No injuries were reported and no ticket was issued. The accident occurred at 9:45 a.m.

Three accidents were reported Sunday. At 2:30 a.m., a car driven by Kenneth Nicholas, 4593 Maple St., ran off Elmwood Road near Dickerson Road. Nicholas told officers he fell asleep at the wheel and lost control of the vehicle. He was not injured in the mishap.

At 3:50 p.m., a motorcycle driven by Thomas Tyo, 3853

Cemetery Rd., went out of control and tipped over on Colwood Road south of Colling. He told officers he was traveling north when the cycle went out of control.

Tyo was taken to Caro Community Hospital for treatment of injuries sustained in the accident.

At 9:50 p.m., a car driven by Richard Laethem, Fairgrove, struck and killed a deer while traveling west on Deckerville Road just east of Hurds Corners Road. He told officers the deer jumped out from the side of the road into the path of his car.

Laethem was not seriously injured.

On Monday, a car driven by Hazen Stevenson of Colwood Road, Caro, collided with a car driven by Opal Schneeburger, 4365 S. Seeger St., on M-81 near the intersection of Cameron Road.

Stevenson told investigating officers he saw the Schneeburger auto start to make a left turn into a driveway directly in front of him. He said he swerved to the right, but was struck in the door.

Mrs. Schneeburger told officers she did not see the Stevenson vehicle coming and took her eyes off the road for an instant before turning.

No ticket was issued in the mishap that occurred at 10:15 a.m.

Tuesday, Shirley Kappen, 3192 E. Cass City Rd., escaped injury when the car she was driving struck and killed a Holstein heifer on Colwood Road a half-mile south of Dutcher Road.

She told officers she was traveling south on Colwood when a herd of cattle ran into the path of her car from the west. The accident occurred around 5:45 a.m.

BETTY CARMER is $2000 richer this week, thanks to a lucky draw. Ms. Carmer won the prize in a raffle drawing at the 20th anniversary celebration of the Caro Association for Retarded and Epileptic Children held Sunday, June 3.

Ms. Carmer, who earlier this year won $25 in the Michigan Lottery, said she's already spent her big windfall, paying off a note on her house.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Damm

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Damm will celebrate their golden wedding anniversary Sunday, June 17, with an open house from 2-5 p.m. in St. Pancratius social hall on S. Seeger St. Their children, Mr. and Mrs. William Johnston (Shirley) and Mr. and Mrs. Dale L. Damm, will host the celebration. Leonard Damm and Miss Laura Haist were married June 13, 1923, at Pigeon. Besides their two children, the Dammes have five grandchildren. Relatives and friends are invited to the open house.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

It's either feast or famine for workers around here. In the office at the paper Monday's warm air made us take the wraps off the air conditioner. Only it wouldn't work... something about the motor. Anyway we sweated, sweated and cursed our fickle fate.

Meanwhile, the Dale Damm (Mary Damm is a key typographer here) installed an air conditioner in their home. Monday night her boys used it and used it and used it. It worked so well that Tuesday morning the furnace in the house switched on.

Chances are if you've just become members of the community in the last couple of years that you don't know Cliff Ferguson.

If you lived here prior to that chances are 100 to one that you do. Everyone knew Cliff. . . or at least knew of him. His reputation as a wheeler dealer is remembered by all. It's nice to report that he hasn't changed.

He steamed into town from Florida a couple of weeks ago and immediately set up a household auction that's slated June 23.

One of the items up is 2,000 golf balls (that's right, 2,000.) Where did he get them? From his Florida golf course. How did he get them? Hired a diver to pick them off the bottom of course ponds. It's easy to see that Cliff isn't overlooking any profit opportunities just because he migrated to the sunny south. He took that Yankee ingenuity with him.

It appears to be the week for Florida visitors. Another in town was a guy you won't know unless you've been around for awhile. He's Norm Huff, former bowling alley owner and car salesman.

He always could turn a phrase and he hasn't lost the touch. Speaking at Rotary he said he lived in Cass City from 1946-57 and didn't appreciate the weather but did appreciate the people here. . . the finest anywhere.

My pet peeve is finding someone with a pet peeve only to discover that this person doesn't want to tell about it for publication. It must rank right up there for Jim Ketchum, Chronicle reporter, too.

It's Jim's job to find a new subject each week to fill that little corner on the light side of the news.

We've had lots of interest from readers. Evidently they like reading what pesters friends and neighbors. So give Jim a ring about your pet peeve and he'll dash out camera in hand to tell our little world all about it.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS,

Hills and Dales Medical Center, Inc.,
Cass City, Michigan, 48726

Clinic construction plans start taking shape

Plans are underway for the construction of a four-man clinic on Hill Street as a part of Cass City's effort to expand its medical facilities.

A five-man corporation, formed earlier this year, is currently awaiting state approval before it can begin selling shares to finance the project. According to Fred Auten, treasurer of the corporation, the request for state approval has been in Lansing for about 10 days and an answer should be forthcoming within the next few days.

"This will be a tentative approval of the corporation," Auten explained. "Then we can begin to finalize plans and be ready to sell shares when final approval reaches us."

Plans call for the sale of stock at $100 per share with no fixed guarantee of return. Auten said that a profit on each share is expected.

Formally known as the Hills & Dales Medical Center, it plans to construct a clinic large enough to meet the needs of four doctors south of the present Donahue clinic. Parking will be provided between the two buildings.

According to Auten, the corporation will provide the doctors entering the clinic with free rent for the first year. At that time, the doctors involved can opt to purchase the structure. Once this is done, the corporation can either dissolve or choose to build another clinic.

Auten said there have been problems getting doctors lined up for the facility.

"It's difficult to lure doctors to town when you don't have a building to show them," Auten said. "Right now, all we can show any interested doctor is plans."

Couple wed at Harrison

Miss Cindy Elton of Harrison became the bride of Steve McCarty in a ceremony Friday, June 8, Rev. Gillett officiated at the 3 p.m. rites in the First Congregational Church of Harrison.

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Hilliard of Harrison. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Sarah McCarty of California.

The bride wore a floor length white gown with matching veil, which she made, and carried a bouquet of red roses and white carnations.

Miss Kay Walker of Cass City, aunt of the bride, was bridesmaid and wore a floor-length yellow gown of lace over satin and carried a bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations. Wayne Elton, brother of the bride, was best man.

The bride's mother chose a multi-colored blue and white dress and wore a corsage of red roses and white carnations. The grandmother of the bride, Mrs. Ila Walker, wore a pink lace dress and her corsage was pink roses and white carnations.

Friends and relatives attended from Cass City, Reed City, Millington, and Gaylord. A reception was held at the home of the bride in the evening. The wedding cake was presented to the couple by her uncle and aunt, Wesley and Joyce Walker of Reed City. The newlyweds left Saturday morning for Lansing from where they were to fly to North Dakota where they will reside.

Currently, 10 organizers in the corporation have pledged a total of $30,000. According to Auten, when state approval finally comes, this money will be called in to begin actual construction. While this is being spent, more donations and sales will be sought.

Auten said he sees a good deal of local interest and sees a large number of shareholders eventually buying into the corporation. He ventured a rough guess of 400 or more.

The corporation directors have also been active in a second project. Auten said that a land contract purchase agreement has been signed for the acquisition of the Donahue clinic. This purchase, Auten explained, came strictly through donations to the hospital especially earmarked for this purpose. Operation of the clinic will come under the control of the hospital board of trustees.

Auten estimates that the purchase of the Donahue clinic and the construction of the new facility will total in the neighborhood of $225,000. The new clinic's cost of construction will run approximately $130,000.

The five directors of the corporation serve without salary. They are: Tom Proctor, president; Mike Weaver, vice-president; Geraldine Prieskorn, treasurer, and B. A. Calka, director.

Auten said corporation funds would not go exclusively for construction purposes. He explained that each time a doctor comes to Cass City through the auspices of a finder's agency, it costs about $4,500. Thus, it will cost the corporation nearly $20,000 just to find tenants for the building.

The project is being financed strictly through sale of stock and private donations. No state or federal funds are involved.

According to Proctor, construction could begin almost as soon as approval is received. He said the corporation could break ground within one week of state action.

FROM THE

Editor's Corner

When I read about the ordeal of silence that James J. Peloski endured to graduate from the United States Military Academy at West Point I was tempted to check to see if I still had my GI haircut.

Man, if that's the new Army it's acting like the old one that thousands of GIs grew to know and hate.

In case you missed it, Peloski, a West Point cadet, was ostracized for 19 months when the Corps wouldn't eat, sleep in the same room or talk with him.

The reason was that Peloski was accused of answering a question on a quiz after the examiner ordered the class to stop.

He was found guilty by a senior honor committee but he denied the charge. His case was later dismissed for lack of evidence after the charge went before an officer board. Enter the rest of the prospective officers and gentlemen. Just because there wasn't any evidence, or at least enough to convict, doesn't cut any ice with them.

The code is the code is the code. I experienced it in the service during World War II when I was detailed three afternoons a week from my job at headquarters company to help build an officers' swimming pool.

I still haven't figured out how

Williams-Tracy vows said May 3

Mr. and Mrs. Leo Tracy entertained at a reception Sunday, at the Theodore Furness home at Rescue, honoring newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Williams, who were married May 3. Their daughter, the former Miss Teresa Dawn Tracy, and Mr. Williams have left to make their home in Bloomington, Ill.

Mr. Williams is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Williams of Flora, Ill., and is employed by the General Telephone Co. of Illinois.

The bride was a member of Cass City's graduating class this year.

that helped the war effort. But never mind. It's the system. The code of honor that produced the same silent treatment that a black endured just because he was black and tasted the four years he was at the Academy.

It's the same system of high honor that took Peloski's clothes and soaked them in the shower and dragged them over the latrine floor.

The system that produced the anonymous threatening phone calls. The code that produced guys willing to rip up his personal mail.

I'm sure that the explanation will be that this is discipline and it holds the service together.

These gentlemen would be agast if they heard the suggestion that it's a system that produces a clique of officers all cast from the same mold.

Sort of like a fraternity, only one with dictatorial power. A system that produces officers with very little regard for anyone outside the circle. A system that kills individual initiative and forgets about individual rights.

No matter how the advertising boys try to dress it in recruiting drives, the Army is still basically the same as it's always been.

At least this latest episode from West Point indicates that it is.

It's a fine place to be if you don't care much about working too hard. Don't mind if someone takes over even the most routine decision making options for you.

If you're willing to trade guaranteed security for a robot-like existence.

That's what baffles me. Why Peloski decided to gut out the last 19 months after he had been cast out of the tight little military circle.

Anyone with this determination should be able to make it big in any field. He'll probably make a darn fine officer, too.

But it'll be a changed Army if he doesn't wear Second Lieutenant bars until they rust off.

He broke out of the circle and he's gone forever. Gully, if you will. . . guilty forever. And never mind worrying about the proof.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Terrible Jean at court

BY JIM FITZGERALD

You could have knocked me over with a weak backhand.

55-year-old Bobby Riggs whipped Margaret Court, a young Amazon, at tennis. And she promptly alibied that he had played a sneaky game.

Female tennis players must be all alike. The same thing happened to me, 35 years ago, when I would beat another Amazon. Terrible Jean, on the tennis courts of Pine Grove Park.

You remember Terrible Jean. She was my big sister. Well, she still is, for that matter. But today I call her "big sister" only in reference to the fact that she is much older than I.

Likewise it is also for age reasons only that I call my 3 younger sisters "little sisters." The "fittest" one, for instance, could pound me into the floor without raising her fists above her hips. And the next time she sees me, she probably will. Lord have mercy.

But that's another battle named Linda. You'll have to excuse my emotional rambling when the subject is sisters. I grew up with 4 of them, no brothers, a father who traveled a lot, and a mother who volunteered me for the draft when I was 16. The experience left scars on my psyche which still throb today when the right trauma is touched.

Before I became hysterical, I was recalling the bigness of Terrible Jean about 1938, when I was still a puny little boy and she was the tallest thing in town without an elevator. We used to play tennis. She would stand at the net with both arms raised and dare me to hit the ball by her. When the sun was behind her, my side of the court was in darkness. I was trying to hit the ball out of a tunnel with the eye, blocked by a giant redwood that snarled.

The first summer we played, Terrible Jean was unbeatable. Her strategy was to smash the ball into my mouth. I was too skinny to swallow it and too weak to spit it back over the net. The pure in heart lost. Might won out.

Terrible Jean was a marvelous winner. To celebrate each victory she'd do something exciting such as throw me in the St. Clair River. I couldn't swim but the tennis ball stuck in my mouth kept me afloat.

The 2nd summer I got cut. I learned how to lob the ball over her head (the ball didn't come down for 5 minutes). I also learned how to put English on the ball so it took weird bounces. Terrible Jean would run and swing and miss. It was glorious. Suddenly I was winning, winning, winning.

But the glory was short-lived. Terrible Jean took the exaltation out of my triumphs by accusing me of being a dirty player. She said it was illegal to make the ball bounce funny. She said it wasn't good for the tennis balls. She threatened to report me to the playground supervisor and she said she'd tell Daddy when he got home.

Everytime I beat Terrible Jean, for gosh sakes, she made me feel like a crook. I used to run and hide when the park policeman drove by.

So can it be any wonder my psyche quivered when big Margaret Court made unfair accusations against little Bobby Riggs? He's lucky she didn't throw him in the river.

Jamboree set

for June 16

Michigan's annual youth livestock judging jamboree, to be held June 16 at the Calderone-Curran Ranch in Grass Lake, will have a new attraction this year, reports Bernard Jardt, Tuscola County 4-H Youth Agent.

In addition to livestock judging and a tour of the world's largest ranch of registered polled Herefords, the jamboree will feature an opportunity for 4-H members to meet Gordie Howe, says Jardt. Howe, former star hockey player of the Detroit Red Wings, owns several head of cattle at the 15,000 acre ranch.

The livestock judging portion will include training in judging swine, beef and sheep, followed by a practice judging contest. For more information, contact the County 4-H Office.

Opportunities by themselves are of little value—it's your ability to use them that counts.

AGENT'S CORNER

Sugar consumption on the rise

Allene Mills - Extension Agent

If you've heard that Americans are eating more sugar than at any time since early this century, you've heard right. We are eating more of it in refined form, and we are getting much of it in ways that are not even obvious to us.

For instance, the total sugar content of the U. S. Diet, that is sugar from all sources including the naturally-occurring sugar found in many foods as well as that in sirups, honey, beets, and cane, has gone up about 25 per cent since the early 1900's.

However, today's consumers seem to have less control over the sugar content in their diets than people did some 60 to 70 years ago. Why? There are five reasons: (1) Most of the increase has resulted from greater use of refined sugar in prepared foods and beverages before the products get into the home. Beverages, primarily soft drinks, comprise the largest single use of refined sugar, accounting for over one-fifth the total intake of the average American diet.

Second, development of new uses for sugar; (3) Higher income which increases the demand for food and sugar containing products; (4) Higher proportion of teens and sub-teens in the population who are likely to drink above-average quantities of soft drinks; and, (5) withdrawal of cyclamates from the market in 1970 and their partial replacement with sugar.

Americans are now consuming about 102 pounds of refined sugar per person per year.

People are using less flour, and eating fewer cereal products which has decreased calories. Also, people are eating more protein and fat which are high in nutrition. But, the calorie level has dropped only about five to ten per cent since the early 1900's, currently averaging about 3300 calories per person per day. Why? Because of the sugar consumption. Plan your meals and snacks using the basic four foods to balance the diet.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Doggone that dog

By Jim Ketchum

There is a dog in Cass City who has it in for me. He's using psychological warfare on me and, to this point, I think he's winning.

Either this canine has mental telepathy or an awfully good alarm clock. He is succeeding in driving me up the proverbial wall.

I don't know where he lives, and, for his sake, he'd better hope I never find out.

This dog barks. Not just your average, run-of-the-mill bark. This dog cuts loose with lungs the great Caruso couldn't match if he tried his entire life. Any prowler hearing this animal would immediately drop his gunny sack and take off running for the nearest monastery in hopes of changing his ways in time.

The problem is not just the barking. What gets me is his schedule. This mutt starts in with his serenade around 4:30 a.m. (that's even before any self-respecting chicken would stir a feather in the coop), and manages to keep going until the moment my alarm clock sounds off, a few minutes before seven. Then, as if the dog could tell time, he quits, probably knowing full well through some mystical power, that I am up and he can now cease the commotion and go back to sleep.

I am a notoriously light sleeper. Robins in the tree next to our bedroom window continuously jar me out of my slumber by chirping madly at first light. Not that I'm against robins. They're great little birds. But why do they have to scream in my window? I've done nothing to them.

Then there is the occasional motorcycle over on Main Street without a muffler. These, after a time, I can get used to. I can even tolerate the souped-up autos that fly by at any hour of the night.

But that dog! It's as though he has a score of some kind to settle with me and somehow, he's gotten wind of my schedule. No doubt he has it posted in some kind of dog-language somewhere in his doghouse.

And, while this caterwauling canine keeps the din going, do I get any moral support from my faithful spouse? Are you kidding? She could sleep through the San Francisco earthquake, the Johnstown Flood and the Red Army's capture of Berlin without so much as a stir. She is incredible.

And, even this mouthy mutt does not bring so much as a stir from her side of the room. I don't know what's worse—the dog barking or her sleeping through it all.

What could I do to counter the problem and regain some sleep? I've thought about it a lot. The ideas at 5:00 a.m. are much more drastic and probably border on the unlawful, but temptation is great.

In quieter moments, other ideas come to mind. I could try changing my schedule and see if it makes any difference. I'd have to change it to an earlier set-up, however, and that doesn't appeal to me much either. Arranging a later time set-up wouldn't go over too well at this publication, though, especially on Wednesdays.

We did do one thing that will eventually solve the problem. We bought a house on the other side of town. This will come as shocking news to the dog, who no doubt reads this column on the floor of his doghouse. But he still has about three months of pestering to go.

In the meantime, the problem must be met. I've considered lining the walls and ceiling with pillows and then stuffing cotton over the windows. This would muffle sound and also stop any air circulation. After a night of that, I wouldn't have to worry about hearing anything again. So that's out.

Another idea might be to install a giant glass globe over the dog while he's in his house. The only problem here is that I don't know where he lives. Until a solution can be found, however, it looks like it will be serenade time.

Why is it people who own dogs never seem to hear them bark at night? I remember back home we had a neighbor who had not one, not two, but four dogs, all tied outside. When conditions were just right, which was usually four or five nights a week, this bunch of mongrels would cut loose with walls that would make most of the residents at the local cemetery turn over a couple of times.

A barber shop quartet this outfit wasn't. Finally, after hours of this wailing, a phone call over there would awaken the woman who owned this breed. She'd open that upstairs window and let out a yell that would frighten the dogs into whimpering submission.

Add to this din, the usual centlight or two under the bedroom window, and you would realize that there would be no sleep that night.

In spite of my canine adversary, Cass City is still quieter. I just hope that, somewhere in my new neighborhood, this dog doesn't have a friend with the same evil scruples. If he does, then those 5 a.m. solutions to the problem would be very hard to ignore.

The ultimate solution would be for the dog to observe "Be Kind to People Week". Peace, Bowzer.

APPEARANCES

A universal problem is keeping up with the neighbors while keeping up with expenses.

Cass City Bethel installs officers at Kingston

Installation of officers of Cass City Bethel 77 was held in Kingston Masonic Temple, Saturday, June 9. Miss Karen Cameron, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cameron of Kingston, was installed as Honored Queen for the ensuing term.

Installing officers were: Installing Honored Queen, Marie Seddon; Installing Guide and Marshall, Miss Shelly Leitch and Fronda Mellendorf; Installing Chaplain, Mrs. Dorothy Tracy Caverly; Installing Flag Bearer, Mrs. Teresa Tracy Williams; Installing Recorder, Miss Sandra Hawley, all past honored queens of Cass City Bethel, and Mistress of ceremonies, Mrs. Isobel Cameron, and Installing Musician, Mrs. Lucille Wotton.

Installed were Honored Queen, Karen Cameron; Sr. Princess, Elaine Cummins; Jr. Princess, Robyn Fuester; Guide, Lori Hind; Marshall, Valerie Shelton; Chaplain, Pam Hind; Treasurer, Jean Parker; Messengers, Sally Dykes, Marilyn Monger, Donna Shelton, Janis DeLand and Cheryl Price; Custodians, Marie Seddon and Kim Curry, and Inner Guard, Deanna Seddon. Choir members are Sandra Hawley, Debbie Francis, Donna Francis, Jean Alexander and Shelly Price.

Introductions were given to past Honored Queens of Cass City Bethel; Master of Kingston Lodge; Matrons of Cass City, Gagetown and Kingston; members of Tuscola County Chapter of DeMolay, and the Executive Council of Cass City Bethel, Mrs. Carol Furness, Guardian and past Honored Queen; Lewis Surine, Associate Guardian; Mrs. Lucille Wotton, Secretary; Betty Surine, Treasurer, and Janice Hubbard, Director of Music; Past Guardian, Claire Leitch, and Past Associate Guardians, Edgar Cummins, Edward Mellendorf and Basil Wotton, who is also member of the Board of General Purposes of the Grand Lodge of Michigan F.A.M.

Miss Seddon was presented with her past Honored Queens pins by Karen Cameron, H.Q. The Honored Queen was presented with a Job doll by her family and a gavel and a basket of flowers from her aunt. Her cousin acted as flower bearer. The Honored Queen presented her installing officers with gifts and a luncheon was served following the ceremony.

Named to Dean's list

Philip J. Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harmond Nichols, 5340 Argyle Rd., Decker, was named to the Dean's list for the winter semester at Western Michigan University.

To win the honor, students must have taken at least 14 hours of class work and maintained a grade point average of 3.5 out of a possible 4.0. Nichols is a 1967 graduate of Cass City High School.

Mark Martin 'looks' forward to life

Mark Martin, 18, son of Mrs. Maynard Martin, Cass City, who has been attending Michigan School for the Blind in Lansing for the past 13 years, is "looking forward" to whatever life has to offer following his graduation Wednesday night. He is one of 24 graduating students from the school.

Mark has been blind since soon after his birth, a blindness caused from complications induced by too much oxygen. This condition, "retrolental fibroplasia", caused irreversible eye damage.

MARK MARTIN

His handicap has not gotten in his way. He is able to travel independently through downtown Lansing and walks regularly in the business district. Downtown is only a few blocks from the school.

Mark's teachers say he has mastered all his traveling skills well and should continue to gain poise, confidence and skill in everything he does. He walks with a white cane.

Mark has maintained an A or B average in most of his academic classes. One of his favorite subjects is Spanish. Spelling intrigues him also. He reads braille at conversational speed.

He participated in the school band the past six years and played snare drums. He has also taken piano tuning courses at the school the past two years and has had some on-the-job training on week ends, which helped him earn extra money.

Mark plans to keep piano tuning only as a sideline job. For the past year, he has worked at the snack and vending stand at MSB and later worked the stand, in which he plans to make his career.

After graduation, Mark will be coming home for one week, then will return to MSB for five weeks of the summer program and will be an aide to Mr. Jim Graetz in the teaching of daily skills to summer students.

Then, after this program and three more weeks at home in August, Mark will journey to Cleveland, Ohio, on Aug. 24, to begin a 16 week training program for operating of vending stands. This program will involve bookkeeping mathematics and on-the-job training, working with other vending operators in the Cleveland area.

After his course, he will return to Michigan, hoping to find a position in a vending stand.

FACTS OF LIFE

Sometimes friends can help a man find his place in this world—even if they have to put him in his place to do it.

MUST DELIVER

The fellow who dreams accomplishes nothing at all success comes to the one who carries out his dreams.

Publicity has always been a great reformer—it has corrective and deterrent qualities.

Retiring teacher to be feted

Miss Ava Hind, a teacher in the Bad Axe school system since 1956, will be honored at an open house at the Masonic Hall on Park Street in Bad Axe, Sunday, June 17. Miss Hind is retiring after completing 40 years of teaching.

Miss Hind began her teaching career at the Pople School in Colfax township, September of 1933. She also taught at Becking, Brown, McIntyre and Stenton schools before entering the Bad Axe system.

She plans to continue with her many hobbies following her retirement.

Miss Hind requests no gifts.

Bean prices pleasantly surprising for farmers

By William Bortel

The bean grower has been pleasantly surprised to see the price of beans move upward. No one even dreamed of $12.00 beans much less $16.00 or even $18.50 beans.

Growers are still grasping as to why the price moved up when we heard the estimate of 6.4 million bags would keep the price from moving much higher than the $8.00 price we saw during the winter. However, many things have happened since then that no one had control over or could even guess was going to happen.

The devaluation of the dollar certainly has helped foreign trade. Opening markets in Russia and China have helped the corn and soybean trade.

Then Argentina, Egypt, Romania and other countries in that area experienced a short crop at harvest. No one had any idea that these countries would start buying beans when they have always been an exporter. Inquiries have even come from Africa where we never have exported beans before. All of these countries have used the large white bean which is produced in Argentina, Egypt and that area but the beans are not available. Therefore, countries are now looking to our small white navy bean which looks good to them when the large bean is not available.

Along with this, the devaluation of the dollar certainly has prompted more trade. We will export more beans this year than we have in a long time.

Some bean growers are disappointed because they contracted beans or sold beans before the price raise. The $9.00 contract actually helped many growers with quick money at harvest and many were forced to sell with wet beans.

Everyone was left in the dark prior to the price raise. The elevators were not expecting a raise and the canners were not either. The canners normally buy ahead when expecting a large price rise; however, the canners during the whole time were only buying their normal supply. It only appears as if foreign countries caught everyone by surprise when they decided to buy beans with a food shortage and their short bean crop.

Growers followed a good marketing program this past year. An orderly amount of beans were sold throughout the fall, winter and spring. Beans harvested with high moisture last fall caused many growers to sell early before beans would go out of condition this spring. However, Tuscola county experienced a higher per cent of their beans stored until May and June and this certainly made the growers money this year.

It appears as if beans planted this year will realize the grower a fair return this fall and winter. I don't think it is fair to visualize present prices to carry into the fall; however, a potential shortage of food will help the price.

We also have no idea what to expect with our exports next year. Their bean crop and demand for beans will determine total export.

Top DHIA herds announced

Top Tuscola county dairy herds for the month of May were announced this week by County Extension Director William Bortel. Cass City area dairymen placed high in several categories.

Top herd honors went to Leo J. Marr, whose 21-cow herd produced 51.7 lbs. of milk with a daily butterfat rate of 1.76. Donald Koepgen's 64-cow herd ranked third, producing 40.5 lbs. of milk and averaging 1.63 butterfat production. Loomis Brothers ranked fifth with their 56-cow herd producing 42.9 lbs. of milk at 1.54 daily butterfat rate.

Graham Brothers' 113-cow herd ranked sixth and produced 38.6 lbs. of milk at a 1.52 daily butterfat rate.

Of the DHIA rolling herd averages (above 500 pounds butterfat) five area dairy herds placed high in statistics.

Ronald Hampshire's 45-cow herd ranked third and produced 15,626 lbs. of milk and 578 lbs. of butterfat. Donald Koepgen's herd ranked fifth and totaled 14,395 lbs. of milk and 556 lbs. of butterfat.

Loomis Brothers herd ranked seventh and produced 14,630 lbs. of milk and 534 lbs. of butterfat. Donald Doerr's 65-cow herd produced 14,559 lbs. of milk in May, along with 532 lbs. of butterfat. Graham Brothers' herd produced 13,525 lbs. of milk and 526 pounds of butterfat, good for a ranking of 11.

In the owner-sampler rolling herd averages above 500 pounds of butterfat production, Hessel Venema's 38-cow herd ranked second and produced 14,605 lbs. of milk along with 522 lbs. of butterfat.

Top owner-sampler herds for May found Ben Hobart's 18-cow herd second in the statistics averaging 42.5 lbs. of milk per day along with a daily butterfat average of 1.50.

The James Milligan herd of 29 cows produced an average of 33.4 lbs. of milk daily, along with 1.24 lbs. of butterfat.

Hessel Venema's herd ranked 10th averaging 30.3 lbs. of milk per day with a daily butterfat average of 1.07.

Tree pests on the move

By Don Kehler

I don't have any field planting notes to report for last week's activities but there sure have been other problems.

Many requests have come into the office on tree problems. Many of the maple and sycamore trees are showing effects of diseases as intensified by the rainy conditions. I even found canker disease on willow to the point of true mortality. The worst part of these tree disease problems is that now is not the time to use chemicals to control the diseases satisfactorily. From now on is the time to identify the problems to prepare yourselves for next spring's control program.

Insects are not taking a back seat either. We are still having a few soft maple leaf bladder gall samples coming in even though we can't do any good spraying insecticides as controls now.

The sawfly larvae are out now and eating vigorously on those pine trees. You can spray Sevin on the worms now and kill them.

Bronze birch borers are being noticed now and dead tops and branches of the birch should be removed now and the tree sprayed with lindane within the next week.

While talking about chemical spraying programs, let me strongly caution you to be careful of herbicide drift while spraying those weeds in crops, ditches, waste land and lawns. Last week I visited three rural home sites. At every one, I saw herbicide damage on different types of lawn trees and shrubs. This damage was caused by drift from fields that were sprayed.

I can't over-emphasize that herbicides will drift and extreme precaution must be used when applying those herbicides. Also, the wind does not have to be blowing and still drift will occur. Lastly, if you have shrubbery or trees damaged by herbicide don't become over anxious to tear it out and replant. Leave it there until at least late next spring. There is a good chance that the specimens can grow out of the damage with no future ill effects.

Earl French, Reese's Voc-Ag instructor, brought me seven bean booster campaign entries made by his agriculture students. These young fellows will be reporting their bean production data as they normally produce their crop. I and other bean producing county extension agents will be carolling bean producers in this campaign, and so will cooperating elevators, fertilizer and farm chemical dealers.

It is hoped the grower data received will give us important farm applied techniques we can publicize for our bean producers' use for better bean production. Bean producers interested in allowing me to work with them should contact me before July 1, 1973.

were Wednesday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ferguson. Also callers in the Ferguson home were Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ferguson of Florida.

Dave calls this his wedding picture. He was best man when Jane and I were married, and a prouder boy you'll never see.

He loved Jane from the first. He never thought of her as a stepmother.

Jane's zest for life, her merry ways, her love for God were happily contagious. The unhappy years we'd known faded. Soon we were marching off to church with her as though it were our own idea.

Tomorrow Dave will be married, and I'll be his best man. He and Susan are a fine couple. Jane and I don't worry about their marriage. Their relationship has a depth that comes from a mutual love for God and His Church. In the years ahead, their church will be a bedrock of understanding and strength.

The Church is the starting point for the happiness that every family needs.

BETTER HEALTH*Allergies often difficult to isolate

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

In 1926, when I began work in the Mayo Clinic, I learned that the Rochester allergists had given up using skin tests in an effort to find out what a patient's food allergies were. When used to find the cause of an asthma, the skin tests often were successful, but the results of a search for a food allergy were often poor.

I had suspected that, because I had been seeing many people who, after skin tests, had been told never again to eat some 12 or 16 foods. Unfortunately, in those early days, hardly anyone thought to have the patient, after the results of the skin test were in, test each one of the suspected foods to see which ones, if any, really were causing trouble.

I have helped hundreds of people with food allergy, and most of them, like me, were sensitive to only one or two or three foods, such as the skin tests commonly indicate.

Another fact that always has bothered me is that in the old days, most allergists did not seem to know that there are two ways of finding the foods that are poisoning a person allergically. If a person has severe abdominal pain, and perhaps nausea and mental depression almost every day, he should be put for two days on an elimination diet, as I call it, made up of foods that rarely cause allergic reactions.

What should the elimination diet consist of? I prescribe nothing but lamb, rice, oatmeal, butter and sugar, and canned pears. For example, a woman came in to tell of abdominal pain and a mental distress that hit her every morning. The day I put her on the elimination diet, she felt like a new woman. Then we started testing the foods that she ate regularly, by adding one new food to her diet each day.

None of them brought back her symptoms until we added coffee, and then she was again miserable until about noon. Obviously, that was the food she should avoid. A few years later, when again I saw the woman, she said, "Every so often I try coffee, but every time it makes me sick."

For people who get a "digestive storm" only occasionally, I say, "Keep a diary of the unusual foods you have eaten just before the upset, and soon we may find your offender." There is no sense in recording all the foods the person has eaten each day, because the list will be so long as to be unmanageable.

It may take a few weeks before the person begins to see a pattern to the unusual foods and his spells of abdominal distress, but finally he may say, "I think I have found the cause of my trouble; every time I eat crab or some other particular food, I feel miserable afterward." Then the simple solution to the problem is for the person to avoid the troublesome food. Interestingly, besides abdominal distress, a food allergy can sometimes dull the brain. I learned this years ago when a man of about 40 came to me, saying that almost every day he suffered from abdominal pain -- for which no cause had ever been found, even with extensive studies. He remarked that his father, when he died, had left him a large business, but his mind was so dull that he could never do any work in the business, and so he had had to employ a manager.

Because the man's abdominal discomfort was associated with the passage of much evil-smelling gas, I suspected a food sensitiveness, and put him on the elimination diet. Two days later, he came into my office bubbling over with excitement, and looking like a different man.

His formerly dull countenance had been replaced by an animated, intelligent-looking one, and he almost shouted, "Doctor! I not only have lost the soreness in my abdomen, but I have lost the dullness in my head; for the first time in years, I feel bright and wide-awake, like I used to be at college. I am going back now to take over the management of the factory."

Later, he telephoned from his home city to say that by each day testing a new food, he had discovered that the cause of his troubles had been a fish of which he had been so inordinately fond that he had eaten it every day.

For many years, most doctors would not accept the idea that there is such a thing as food allergy, and I often was criticized for talking about it.

But today, I think that it is generally accepted, and a good deal of research is being done to learn more about the effect of various chemicals on the brain and nervous system, and the role of these chemicals in causing such mental distresses as depression and schizophrenia.

Jumpy nerves play miserable tricks on otherwise healthy persons. Read about it in Dr. Alvarez' booklet, "Triumph Over Nervousness." You may obtain the booklet by sending 25 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it to Dr. Walter Alvarez, Dept. C.C., Box 957, Des Moines, Iowa 50304.

Officers named for Legion Auxiliary

Election of officers for the coming year highlighted the meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held Monday evening.

Longhorns Short on Beef

The much talked of Texas Longhorns, popularized in fact and fiction of the old West, were cattle of Spanish extraction not noted for their beef. Starting about 1600, cattle were brought over as work and milk animals in connection with the chain of Christian missions which the Spaniards had established. By 1833, the missions owned about 424,000 head of these cattle, many of which were semi-wild. They had little commercial value except for their hides. Today, only a few Longhorns remain, and they're used for show and novelty purposes, not for beef on the table.

Mrs. Dorus Klinkman, vice-president, presided over the business meeting, attended by 15 members. Mrs. Verna McConnell gave a report of the annual poppy sale, in which gross receipts were $494.15.

Elected were: president, Mrs. Dorus Klinkman; vice-president, Mrs. Rosella Cherry; secretary, Mrs. William Anker; treasurer, Mrs. Anna McComb; chaplain, Mrs. Lillah Wilhelm; sergeant at arms, Miss Gertrude Erla; historian, Mrs. Eva Bair, and executive committee members, Mrs. Arthur Little, Mrs. Garrison Stine and Mrs. Vern McConnell. Officers will be installed at the July meeting.

Cards were signed to be sent to the ill and hospitalized. Games and dessert refreshments were enjoyed following the business meeting.

First step taken to annex 6 properties

The first step was taken in the annexation of six pieces of property lying at the north limits of Cass City at a special meeting of the Village Council held Tuesday night.

At that meeting, signed petitions requesting annexation came from six property owners along North Seeger Street whose lots now lie outside the corporate limits. Petitions returned came from Paul Craig, Steven Franks, Andrew Barnes, James MacTavish, Hazel Barnes and Harold Craig. A seventh property owner chose not to annex to the village.

The council adopted a resolution at the meeting which directs Village President Lambert Althaver to petition the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners for the change in boundary lines. Once this is done, then the board must approve the move as well as the state before it can be finalized.

The need for annexation arose when a waterline serving these properties began to fail. Under existing council policy, a new line was run serving properties within the village beyond the affected area and these owners were told that they could tap into the new line if they would annex to the village.

Had they chosen not to do so, they could still have used the old line until it failed altogether.

The council, under a resolution passed at its last meeting, now must furnish these properties with sanitary sewer facilities sometime in 1974.

Petition will also be made shortly to the state highway department for funds to include street maintenance on North Seeger in the annexed area. When annexation comes, this street will become the responsibility of the village. The Tuscola County Road Commission currently maintains the thoroughfare.

In other business, the purchase of property for expanded off-street parking was approved.

The property, currently owned by Keith Pobanz and located at the corner of Pine and Leach Streets just behind the flower shop, will be purchased for $15,500. This money will come out of a special off-street parking fund established at the time of the sale of the old fire hall. At this time, there is approximately $20,000 in that fund. No general fund monies will be used for the purchase.

The lot measures 66' by 132'. Trustee Dr. D. E. Rawson said the price for the property is not exorbitant and would relieve traffic congestion on nearby streets. The house which occupies the property currently would have to be moved and the land graded and eventually paved.

Arrest 2 youths on charges of shoplifting Wednesday

Two local youths were apprehended Wednesday, June 6, and charged with shoplifting. The two boys, whose names are being withheld because of their ages, were caught after one of them attempted to steal a cigarette lighter from Wood's Drug Store.

According to a clerk in the store, one of the boys took the lighter from a closed case and started out the front door without paying for it. She told store owner Tom Proctor who notified police.

Further investigation revealed the two boys had also stolen a pair of sunglasses and a water pistol from another store.

Total value of the goods was placed at $20. Later in the day, one of the boys ran away from home after being released to the custody of his parents. Police located the youth at 1:15 a. m. walking on Main Street. He was returned home, pending the outcome of probate court proceedings.

The shoplifting incident took place at 11:35 a. m. What police termed a "quick artist" struck Thursday night at the IGA Foodliner on the west side of Cass City.

According to police reports, a black male, about 30 years old, came in the store around 9:30 p. m. and asked for change, along with a package of cigarettes.

He handed the clerk a large number of one dollar bills and asked for three five dollar bills. Then he laid down three more five dollar bills and asked for three tens. After this, he put more money on the counter and asked for three $20's.

Before the clerk realized what had happened, she was short by $30.

Chief Wilson explained that culprits of this type usually strike in Cass City about once a year. Normally, he asks for complicated amounts of change and talks continuously in order to confuse the cashier.

One of the witnesses who did not wish to be identified said it appeared as though the culprit had a gun under his shirt, but she could not state this positively.

The investigation into the incident continues.

Sunday, police received a report that someone had sprayed paint in eight different locations on the outside of Rawson Library.

Police have no suspects. Monday, several pieces of equipment belonging to Lasky Construction Co., Bad Axe, were discovered missing on Houghton Street, where crews are installing curb and gutter. The firm told police that between 16 and 20 steel pins each two and a half feet long were missing, along with six radius plates. Both are used in forms for construction work.

Police said the theft took place in the early morning hours of Monday. No suspects were apprehended and the investigation continues.

Tuscola County Sheriff's Officers reported burglary Saturday near Kingston. Someone broke into a cabin belonging to Bruno Mazen of Dearborn Heights sometime the previous week.

Deputies found a set of tire tracks on the south side of the cabin. The thieves took off a back bedroom window screen and crawled through the window into the cabin. Once inside, they broke out a window in the south door and removed their loot to the waiting car. The thieves took about four pounds of hot dogs and three pounds of bacon, along with breaking two windows.

Deputies found fingerprints on a jar the culprits moved in the kitchen to get at the food.

Total loss amounted to $35. The investigation continues.

Sunday, deputies received a report that someone had stolen a barrel of beer and tank of carbon dioxide from an auto belonging to Michael Talko, Kingston.

The theft took place at the Poloski flat on M-24 near Caro. No clues were found and deputies continue to investigate.

Nine area students MSU graduates

Nine area students graduated from Michigan State University, E. Lansing, in commencement exercises held Sunday. Noted CBS correspondent Walter Cronkite gave the commencement address to some 5,672 graduates.

Arnold L. Karr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karr, Gagetown, received a bachelor of science degree in Fisheries and Wildlife.

A 1969 graduate of Owen-Gage High School, Karr is currently employed as a biologist's aide in Valonia, Indiana.

Florence A. Sweeney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sweeney, Udy, received a bachelor of science degree in Medical Technology. She is a 1969 graduate of Udy High School and will begin an internship in a hospital in Boston in the fall.

Neil W. MacCallum, son of Mrs. Anna MacCallum and the late Malcolm MacCallum, received a bachelor of arts degree in social science. He is a 1969 graduate of Cass City High School.

He will be working at MSU for the summer. His long-range plans are indefinite at this time.

Other area MSU graduates include: Elaine J. Sweeney, Kingston, who received a master of business administration degree in finance; Marjorie Green, Kingston, who received a bachelor of arts degree in social science; Marilee Turner, Decker, who graduated with high honors with a bachelor of arts degree in accounting; Patricia Deitzel, Oronoke, who received a bachelor of arts degree in elementary education; and Margaret L. Ford, Oronoke, who received a bachelor of arts degree in social science.

Fire in a gasoline storage tank caused burns to one man Tuesday evening.

The Elkhart Township Fire Department responded to the alarm at 9:30 p. m. on Hurds Corner Road, one-half mile north of M-81.

According to Edward Bergman, a member of the department, the owner of the tank apparently tried to break loose a stuck spigot by striking it with a pipe wrench. This caused a spark which touched off gasoline fumes, it was believed.

Firemen fought the blaze for about one hour.

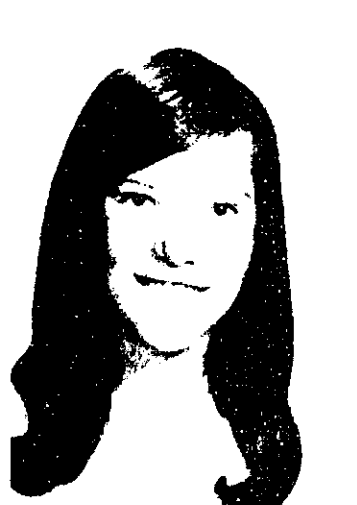

ARNOLD L. KARR

Arnold L. Karr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Karr, Gagetown, received a bachelor of science degree in Fisheries and Wildlife.

A 1969 graduate of Owen-Gage High School, Karr is currently employed as a biologist's aide in Valonia, Indiana.

township on March 31, which he is accused of setting.

In the second count, he is charged with attempting to defraud an insurance company when he tried to collect on a fire he allegedly set in a house trailer, also in Dayton township.

Kreger stood mute on both counts and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pretrial examination was set for July 9.

Anger had been convicted of conspiracy in March of 1972 in the theft of a $15,000 farm tractor from Gettel Implement Co., Pigeon.

On December 18, Anger was placed on 36 months' probation, fined $500 and ordered to spend 90 days in jail.

A truck and trailer furnished the two men who admitted stealing the tractor were traced to Anger.

At the time of the theft, police said the vehicles were not used in the actual theft, apparently because the tractor would not fit onto the trailer.

Mr. and Mrs. Reid Hedley, Unionville, were killed a few hours after the theft when the car they were driving slammed into the rear of the empty trailer, which had been left on the roadway after the truck stalled.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

The Cass City School Board authorized some $25,000 for improvement of the parking lot and grounds at Cass City High School in its regular session Monday night at the school and okayed $3,460 for new electric typewriters.

Six members of the Dale Smith family escaped injury Friday evening when a tornado struck at their home southwest of Cass City.

Gerald Hicks and Arthur Severance were elected to the Cass City school board this week. Evergreen township proved to be the key in the election, with a large voter turnout.

The newly formed retail committee of the Cass City Chamber of Commerce organized this week when Paul O'Harris was named president and other officers elected.

Authorization of a new circuit judge has been effected for Lapeer and Tuscola counties in the form of an amendment to a bill now awaiting Governor George Romney's signature.

TEN YEARS AGO

In a surprisingly light vote Monday, Cass City School District electors authorized a one and one-half mill tax for three years for capital improvements at the school. Only 568 votes were cast.

Deford Community Schools turned down a request for three mills for three years for additional operating funds by the narrow margin of 50 to 47 Monday.

Owendale-Gagetown voters nixed a proposal for a two-mill levy for one year for a sinking fund for construction and repair. The vote was 108 yes and 143 no.

Danny Copeland, 9, Kingston, became Tuscola county's first gravel pit drowning victim this year Wednesday at Green's gravel pit, two miles east of Caro on East Dayton Road.

Tim Finkbeiner, 14, son of Mrs. Ruth Finkbeiner, broke both arms and narrowly missed a fatal accident Thursday at the gravel pit seven miles north of Cass City.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The Michigan State Highway Dept. has offered to resurface the center 22 feet of Main Street from the eastern to the western village limits provided the village will make the same improvements on the sides of the 22 foot stretch.

Willis Campbell, superintendent of schools at Cass City, was among the 110 who were awarded master of arts degrees at Michigan State College Sunday, June 6.

Larry Randall, former superintendent of schools at Cass City, has been elected governor of Rotary district 143.

E. L. Anthony, dean of agriculture at Michigan State College, has been named feature speaker at the Grass Day program to be held in Tuscola county June 21.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The stage practically is set for Uby's big day, Saturday, June 16, when America's largest Rural Electrification project will be dedicated. Governor Frank Murphy will give the dedicatory address.

Work has begun on the substitution of the Detroit Edison Co. here to double its capacity of electrical output.

The amount of milk being processed at the Nestle's Milk condensery in Cass City is up 50 per cent over two years ago, according to an announcement from the company this week.

Local boosters journeyed to Lansing this week to urge the State Highway Department to include paving of M-53 for seven miles south of M-81 in its July pavement lettings.

The new swimming pool opened this week with rules prohibiting smoking, writing on walls and walks or chewing gum.

Coming Auctions

Saturday, June 23 - Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Ferguson will hold a household auction including antiques at 4607 Huron St., Cass City.

Thursday, July 12 - Hayes Brothers will hold a Holstein dairy sale, including dairy equipment and farm machinery, eight miles southwest of Cass City on M-81 to Ellington, then 3 miles west on Dutcher Rd. Boyd Tait, auctioneer.

Fire destroys camper unit

Saturday night

A fire, possibly caused by an overheated muffler, completely destroyed a pickup truck and attached camper Saturday night on M-53 about eight miles northeast of Cass City.

According to Elkland Township Fire Chief Richard Root, the blaze broke out around 6:30 p.m. and totally destroyed the vehicle owned by an Otter Lake man.

It is believed that the muffler on the truck overheated, igniting the wood floor of the camper.

No injuries resulted from the blaze.

In Saginaw for a luncheon. Fifteen members and two guests, Mrs. James LaFave and Miss Maybelle Clara, attended.

Following the luncheon, the group toured the Georgetown Manor. A short meeting took place at the Manor to make plans for the rummage sale and hobby show to be held June 25-30 at the Mosack building in Gagetown.

Arrangements for the luncheon and tour were in charge of Marge Rice.

SCOUTS HIKE

Twenty-two girls of Gagetown Girl Scout Troop No. 711 went on a hike Thursday, May 31. They hiked from Gagetown to the home of their leader, Mrs. Richard Ziehm, for a cook-out.

Assisting Mrs. Ziehm for the event were Mrs. Gary Rockefeller, Mrs. William Lenhard and Cadette Scouts, Mary and Ann Lenhard and Deldre Rockefeller.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

The gas shortage has hit out our way, Mister Editor, and the feller that runs the store has cut back on his sales. The fellers was sitting around at the store Saturday night when this car pulled up that was so long it needed hinges. The driver said filler up, but the feller that runs the store told him he was limiting out of state cars to $2 worth of gas. The driver looked at that big car and thought about it, and final he said, "well, give me $2 worth, maybe it'll get me to the next station."

Ed Doolittle got to thinking about all the trouble we have on account of cars. Half the laws on the books in this country must have somepun to do with cars. Ed allowed, dealing with everthing from the speed they can run to the roads they run on. If it weren't for no-fault car insurance, went on Ed, the state legislatures in this country wouldn't have a thing to show for their efforts. All of em have argued about insurance and turning back the miles on cars, and them that ain't passed laws about this can be sure of somepun to do the next time they meet.

The truth is, said Ed, folks have a hard time knowing if their luck is good or bad. For instant, he said, if we don't have gas to run cars we can look for a dip in traffic accidents and deaths. Ed said he had saw where the Russians reported that men in them Siberia salt mines have a real break cause the air in them holes is pure and the miners don't ever have asma. That's the first the fellers had heard of a good side to the salt mines, and Bug Hookum offered the notion that slaves working in em would heap ruther have double newmonia on the outside than no asma inside.

Bug was agreed with Ed that it's a good thing we can't pick our luck, cause we wouldn't allus know which way to go. Bug was thinking of all the graduating programs at schools and colleges over the country. If a student could know about having to set through all them speakers, he probable would choose to stay ignorant. One good sign, Bug allowed, is that the papers ain't carrying reports on them commencement speakers like they use to. Bug said he reckon when you've wrote up one 10 minute talk crammed into a hour about how the world is out there waiting you've wrote em all up.

Actual, said Ed, our luck depends on balancing our biting and our chewing. He reported where this man and woman that was going to ride a raff from North Carolina to Portugal got seasick and come back afore they got out of sight of land, which probable was the best thing that could of happened to em.

I'm with Ed, Mister Editor, and I wish the folks at Emory University had luck in teaching that ape to talk. What could a talking ape tell us?

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Physician's career won out for Dr. Yongkyun Kim

For Dr. Yongkyun Kim, the newest addition to Cass City's corps of physicians, two careers always held great interest for him. One was, of course, becoming a doctor.

The other was to become a military pilot.

"I remember from the time I was three years old, being asked what I wanted to be when I grew up," Dr. Kim recalled in his office last week. "I always answered either doctor or pilot."

After reaching high school, the idea of flying giant fighter planes in Korea, along with the dangers connected with such a profession, lost its appeal for Dr. Kim, who decided to cast his lot with medicine.

Dr. Kim was educated at Seoul National University in Korea and graduated in 1965. It was at this point that the dream of America became a reality.

"Every ambitious young person in medicine or the sciences in Korea naturally looks to the United States as the most advanced nation for study in their field," Kim said. "That is why I came. It was a dream of mine from my high school days."

Upon graduation, Kim left his homeland and came to the U. S., interning at hospitals in New Jersey and in the Detroit area. In 1972, he entered into a group practice in Fairmont, West Virginia.

Dr. Kim stayed at this practice for 14 months, still looking for a place to open a private practice. Group medicine did not appeal to him.

Early this year, Dr. Kim was put in touch with Dr. Paul Scott in Cleveland who operates a placement agency which brings communities in need of physicians together with available doctors. Through Scott, Dr. Kim met the citizen's group of Cass City who wanted to bring qualified physicians here.

From his first visit, Dr. Kim has liked Cass City and is rapidly becoming one of its most avid boosters. He smiles broadly as he explains why he enjoys the atmosphere of a small town.

"I particularly enjoy my homelife," he said. "This is the first time we owned a house. Before, we always lived in apartments. I enjoy spending time in the back yard and doing little things around the house."

Dr. Kim has also made professional acquaintances and says his practice is steadily increasing. He said he has seen several hundred patients since he opened his office April 23.

The atmosphere of a small town appeals to Dr. Kim and his wife. He especially enjoys the tennis courts at the municipal park. He said he would be interested in finding some good competition for evenings after work.

Dr. Kim, who specializes in gynecology, shares quarters with Dr. H. T. Donahue at the clinic across the street from Hills and Dales General Hospital. While a specialist, he engages in general practice as well.

Dr. Kim has become involved in bringing more doctors to Cass City and is working with pharmacists Mike Weaver and Tom Preston to encourage more physicians to come. He boasts Cass City enthusiastically.

"I want to meet all the people who come and encourage them personally," he said.

Dr. Kim said he hopes to visit with his family from Korea sometime next year, and plans to meet them either in Japan or Guam. It has been eight years since his last visit with them.

"Eight years is a long time without a visit," he said.

The Kim's have one daughter, nearly two years old.

Plan for police protection at Gagetown

The Gagetown Village Council reviewed the possibility of having the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department supply police protection to the village at a special meeting held Tuesday night.

The need for such protection arose last week with the suspension of village officer Ronald Wark. Wark is on suspension until June 18, at which time, a decision on his status will be made.

According to Village President James England, the council and the sheriff's department met to discuss Gagetown's police requirements and to consider having the department provide police protection.

No cost figures were available, pending a complete study. England said that such an arrangement would assure Gagetown of a trained police force. He cited similar arrangements in Genesee and Grand Traverse counties where the county itself takes over providing police forces for villages as a central service.

Until such an arrangement can be worked out, Gagetown will be serviced by sheriff's patrols and state police. England said the arrangement thus far has proven "very effective".

Wark was suspended after being accused of unfair and unreasonable law enforcement in Gagetown, according to informed sources.

Wark reportedly issued a ticket to a farmer because one of the tail lights on the truck he was driving was burned out. The farmer protested the action to council. Council voided the ticket at that time.

Jury finds Preston innocent of charges

A Pontiac man has been acquitted of first degree murder and armed robbery charges in Tuscola County Circuit Court.

Ronald Preston, 24, was found innocent Thursday in the shooting of Ronald Davis, 19, Elba, last Sept. 18, on a Lapeer county dirt road.

The court returned the innocent verdict on both charges in the second trial of Preston, whose first trial ended in a hung jury May 9.

Previously, a second man, James Goble, 22, Lake Orion, was found guilty of first degree murder and armed robbery by a Lapeer County Circuit Court jury and is now serving a life sentence in Jackson Prison.

Preston's trial was moved to Caro when the defense claimed that he could not receive a fair trial in Lapeer county, where Goble was tried.

Davis was killed during an armed robbery on a country road south of Lapeer.

Pet peeve

Pessimistic view

The inability of people to look on the good side of life is a pet peeve of J. E. Courtney, manager of the General Telephone office in Cass City. "Too many people these days can't look at the positive aspects of life," Courtney says. "Generally, whatever the matter is will pass. Too much concern is placed on things that will be forgotten about ten years from now."

J. E. COURTNEY

Courtney's philosophy centers on not allowing little things to upset him.

"Give things time and they will work out," he says.

Courtney, along with his wife and family, came to Cass City last September. He comes from a "telephone family", since his father worked for the company in management a number of years. Prior to Cass City, Courtney lived for five years in Muskegon and four years in Manistee.

Got a pet peeve? Sound off. Call the Chronicle and tell us. Dial 872-2010.

7th streeters are eating dirt

June 11, 1973

I want to sound off. But maybe this isn't the right place to do it. But I'm sure the right ones will read it. And I know my neighbors will agree with me.

Why do we people on Seventh Street have to eat dirt? If you took a ride down here right now and looked out your rear view mirror you couldn't see behind you for dust.

I feel this road is traveled heavily day and night, with cars, trucks and tractors, and not always at normal speed limit either.

They grade the road maybe, safe saying 4 or 5 times a year, and water it down 3 times but yet the dust keeps right on flying.

Bumpy roads help slow down the traffic some, but not the dust. This end of town was good enough to build a fertilizer plant in so why can't the roads be maintained too. We pay taxes like everyone else, and we are proud of our end of town too!

Mrs. Wayne Parker
Cass City, Michigan
6445, 7th Street

P.S. Excuse the mistakes, I have dust in my eyes.

Letters to the Editor

No questionnaire irks resident

Dear Editor,

Since my family and I moved here two years ago we have come to enjoy, more and more, this city and its people. Our children have progressed immeasurably in school, and it seems our list of good friends and acquaintances has increased immensely.

As a result of this good fortune we have purchased property and plan to settle here. Perhaps for the rest of our lives.

So now that we are property holders and will be paying taxes directly, naturally we are very concerned about how our tax dollars will be spent. It seems however that we will not be able to do this as we are not registered voters. The reason we are not registered voters is that we have felt up to now that we did not know the area or its people well enough. Last night it was brought to my attention that a family must have a registered voter within the household to be able to have any say on whether or not we spend an additional 3 mills for a swimming pool. We are going to register at the first opportunity.

One question - or call it a pet peeve, if you will - why must a property owner be a registered voter to be able to receive a simple questionnaire asking whether or not this village should or should not have a swimming pool?

County bridges to cost $112,000

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners will spend $112,000 this year in bridge and tube construction on county roads. The monies, which will come from federal revenue sharing funds, and the one mill county bridge program, will be spent on bridge building along with aid to villages bordering on affected areas.

According to Commissioner Maynard McConkey, $72,000 will be spent to aid villages in the construction of tubes on county drains which border the municipalities. Some of the projects will run in the neighborhood of $25,000 apiece.

None of the projects is located in Elkland township.

In other business, Garvin Brasseur, an engineer with the East Central Development District, presented a series of plans to the board regarding township dumps. According to Brasseur, many dumps in the county would not pass state health inspections.

A meeting with the townships will be held to determine what plan to adopt in conforming to standards. McConkey said Elkland's dump would probably pass inspection, according to what information he could gather from Brasseur.

In other action, the board approved the hiring of Willis Johnson by the Thumb Health Board to head up its alcoholism program. Johnson, a recovered alcoholic, is a resident of Millington and has worked for the Flint Journal.

His salary was fixed at $13,500 which will come out of a $43,000 grant from the state. Monies in the grant come from one percent of sales of alcohol by the state.

Extra inning loss ends Hawk quest for regional title

The Cass City Red Hawks bowed out of the State Class C baseball tournament Saturday when they were narrowly defeated by Saginaw Saint Peter and Paul, 4-3, at Sebewaing.

Fans who traveled to Sebewaing in near perfect baseball weather were treated to a fine exhibition of diamond talent on both teams.

The game actually boiled down to Cass City's over-all talent against five very super hitters for the Saginaw nine.

And the best of the five Saturday was Scott Dangel who pitched the victory and slammed the hit that scored the game-winning hit in the eighth.

Meanwhile, it was an uphill struggle for Cass City. Saginaw Saints came out swinging when Dave McCoy led off with a hit, the next batter was safe on a swinging bunt and a third hitter safe on a fielder's choice when an attempt to cut a run at the plate failed.

Some good defensive plays and some sloppy base running by Saginaw helped the Hawks out after the opening hit spurge. Chuck Bliss rifled the ball from right field to third base to knock off a runner trying to move from first to third on a base hit and Jerry Toner picked another off first base and suddenly Cass City was out of the inning.

Saginaw added another run in the third on a long home run blast by the shortstop to move in front 3-0.

Cass City started to come alive in the second. Scott Guinther, who rapped off two hits, singled. But he was picked off a moment later when port-sider Davidson made a tricky move to first.

It cost a run. A moment later a walk and Scott Hartel's double were wasted. Hartel rapped out a pair of doubles and a single in four tries during the game.

In the fourth Guinther started the rally that tied the score. He socked a triple. Toner hammered out a double and Hartel followed suit.

With two runners on Kip Hopper smashed a long fly to center that the fielder missed and two runs scored to tie the game.

And that's the way it stayed until the fatal eighth. The Hawks had several chances to put it away after the fourth inning rally but fell short. . . . once with the bases loaded.

The Hawks let a run score in the eighth, but avoided more damage by pulling off a double play, short to second to first. . . . a rare event in high school competition.

The Hawks gave it a try in the eighth when Hopper got on and stole second with one out. But a moment later it was all over as Hopper took off for third and the batter whiffed.

The throw nipped him at third and the double play ended the game and the Hawks' chance for a regional title.

Saginaw also fell by the wayside Saturday, losing to Novi later in the afternoon. Novi defeated Richmond in its opening game before taking the measure of Saginaw Saint Peter and Paul.

Bosch perfect; Erla's win 2 in league

It was a delightful week for Erla's softball team in the Thumb B Traveling League. The Foodmen won a pair of games including a victory over previously undefeated Sebewaing Old Heidelberg and the club hit well and showed strength on the mound.

It was veteran Al Bosch who propelled Erla's past Old Heidelberg Monday. Bosch was at his best as he pitched a perfect game, striking out 16. He finished with a flourish, striking out the side in the last inning to end the game.

It was the first defeat for Old Heidelberg. Cass City rammed out eight hits including two for three by Charlie McGill. The Foodmen scored four times in the first to sail away the game.

Thursday it was no contest as Erla's shut out Fairgrove VFW 14-0 behind the two-hit pitching of Don McGill.

Nearly everyone got in the hitting act with Charlie McGill and Jim LaRoche picking up three hits in four tries and Gene McGill and Wally Hempton hammering a pair of hits.

SERVICE PROJECT - for 16 Cass City Boy Scouts this year was six hours of work at the Cass City Recreational Park. The boys cleaned out the sod, removed the crumbling fence at the tennis courts and helped erect a new one. They also painted the posts in the troop's once-a-year work project to keep the village beautiful. It wasn't all work and no play, for a picnic lunch was served as part of the day's program. That's Wayne Wood at the end of the shovel facing the camera.

BACK SAFELY at first was Kip Hopper in the regional game against Saginaw St. Peter and Paul Saturday. Pick-off plays at first played a key role in the tournament game.

Church League now underway

The Cass City Church League opened its rain delayed schedule Thursday, May 31, and now have racked up five games this season.

It's still far too early to pick a favorite but it looks as if the league's defending play-off champions will have their work cut out to repeat. The Catholics lost their first game.

Meanwhile, Cass City Methodists, the regular season champions in 1972, continued to roll with a decision over Snover-Laing in the first game of the year, 8-6.

Mike Murphy took the decision and Gene Dorman was charged with the loss.

Don Galbraith, Mike Murphy and Jerry Toner picked up two hits each. Toner slapped a home run.

Lamotte United Missionary was unable to get enough players to play a rain out, rescheduled game June 7 and forfeited to Deford while in the 9 p.m. game, Cass City Missionary measured the Lutherans, 4-2.

Mark Tuckey got the win while veteran Nelson Willy took the loss. Luis Arroyo went two for four for the winners and Al Romig picked up two for three for the Lutherans.

Another rain out game pitted Novesta Church of Christ against Shabbona, with Shabbona winning a slugfest, 12-6. Dan Calster got the win and Don Englehart was charged with the defeat. Leading hitters were Roy Sefton and Russ Smith, each with a pair of safeties.

The Catholics lost their opener when they bowed to the Baptists, 8-2.

It was a father-son combo that led the winners. Son, Craig Helwig, tossed a no-hitter, whiffing seven, while dad, Elwyn Helwig, helped out at the plate with two hits in two tries.

Gals start fast with 2 softball wins

For the first time in recent history, at least, Cass City has a women's softball team and judging by the results maybe the gals should have started sooner.

After two games the distaff-side sluggers are 2-0 with a one sided win over Argyle and a narrow victory over Snover Stamping.

The ladies rapped out a 19-5 decision over Argyle in a game called after five innings because Cass City was more than 10 runs ahead. Sharon Reid was four for four and Karen Martin also had a perfect night at the plate with three hits in as many tries.

Thursday night Cass City was forced to come from behind to win, 13-11. The girls scored four runs in the top of the seventh, Kally Blue preserved the victory by ending the game with an unassisted double play.

Becky Ingles slapped four hits in five tries to lead the attack. Char Fahrner pitched and won both games.

The schedule calls for a game to have been played Tuesday in Sandusky against Peck and a home game Wednesday at Cass City Recreational Park at 7:15 p.m.

Best sellers at library

Several new best-sellers just arrived at Rawson Memorial Library. They are "Laughing All the Way" by Barbara Howard, "The Implosion Conspiracy" by Louis Nizer, "An Untold Story" by Elliott Roosevelt, "Evening in Byzantium" by Irwin Shaw, "The Matlock Paper" by Robert Ludlum, and "The Duchess of Bloomsbury Street" by Helene Hanft. Other new books are "The Garage Sale Manual" by Jean Young, "Nobody Else Will Listen: A Girl's Conversations with God" by Marjorie Holmes, "Apostles of Light" by Ellen Douglas, "Tyler's Row" by Miss Read, "The Devil on Lamma's Night" by Susan Howatch, "Limmerston Hall" by Hester Chapman, and "Masquerade in Venice" by Velda Johnston.

The summer reading program is under way at the library. Children in grades three through eight may sign up for the "Treasure Hunt Reading Club". Story hours for children three years old through third grade will begin Friday, June 22, at 10:00 a.m. Volunteers are still needed to help with story hour.
