Accidents claim three lives in tri-county area crashes

Tuscola County recorded its 17th traffic fatality of the year Thursday afternoon when a Croswell man was killed after the truck he was driving ran into a ditch on M-46, about eight miles southeast of Caro.

Benito Gonzales Mendoza, 50, died when he lost control of the truck he was driving and slammed into a ditch. Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies who investigated the accident said the right front tire on the truck blew out, causing the vehicle to swerve to the right.

The truck traveled some 150 feet and ended up in a ditch on the north side of the road. Mendoza had the truck filled with pickles which slid forward in the accident and crushed the cab.

Deputies noted that all the tires on the truck were badly worn.

KINGSTON FATALITY

A Kingston man was fatally injured in an accident on M-53, one-half mile north of M-46 early Saturday morning, bringing Sanilac County's traffic fatality count to 22 for the year.

Dead is Alick H. Harris, 51, of Kingston. According to state police from the Sandusky post who investigated the accident, the Harris vehicle collided with a truck loaded with slabs of lumber and driven by James H. Young, 51, of Fontana, Calif. Harris was dead on arrival at Marlette Community Hospital.

OWENDALE GIRL KILLED

A 12-year-old Owendale girl plunged to her death Saturday night in a shallow creek, seven miles southeast of Owendale, after she was thrown through an open window of the family car when the vehicle struck a bridge abutment after hitting a deer.

Dead is Betty Lynn Schulz. She was found lying in about two feet of water over the west branch of the Pigeon River at Bach Road.

The entire Schulz family of eight was in the car when the accident occurred around 9:15 p.m. and all the others were injured, at least two seriously.

Ferdinand F. Schulz, 42, driver of the car, told State Police he was headed east on Bach Road just east of Elkton Road when a deer leaped out of a deep ditch on the north side of the road. Schulz lost control of the car and struck the bridge abutment on the south side of the road, then hurdled a 12-foot ditch that runs near the river.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Donna Schulz, 40, sustained fractures of the jaw and cheeks, along with other injuries. She was taken to Hills and Daies General Hospital and later transferred to St. Luke's Hospital in Saginaw.

Betty was a seventh grade student at Owen-Gage Junior high school. She is survived by her parents, two sisters, three brothers; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben McAlpine of Cass City and Mrs. Hanna Schulz, Caro, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. Thomas Forstner, Bad Axe.

Funeral services were held Wednesday at the Dinkel Funeral Home, Sebewaing, with Rev. James VanDellen of Good Shepherd Lutheran Church officiating. Burial was in Grant Cemetery, Owendale.

UBLY DEATH

An 18-year-old Uby youth was killed early Monday when his car ran off M-142 about a mile and a half southeast of Pigeon, sheared off a telephone pole, then overturned.

Dead is Conrad G. Olsway. His body was discovered lying in a farm field about 75 feet from the wreckage of the car, which landed upside down.

State police from Bad Axe said Olsway was headed east and lost control of his car just east of the Gagetown Road. Troopers said skid marks on the highway indicated the vehicle traveled over 200 feet before leaving the road.

Olsway's body and the car were discovered at least three hours after the mishap by a passerby. His death was the 22nd fatality in Huron county this year.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

An auto accident Thursday morning at the corner of M-53 and Bay City-Forestville Road sent three persons to Hills and

Board, parents battle over curriculum for school year

Some 50 residents of the Cass City School district attended the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board Monday night to push through a last minute change in the art program in the elementary school.

The measure was adopted by a 6-1 majority with President Arthur Severance voting against the change in the curriculum.

The board acted on a motion by Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn and seconded by Dr. Edward Scollon. Both have long advocated a boost in the program.

The visitation by the group was the end of a campaign that started with 11 form letters addressed to the school board requesting an art teacher for grades K-6.

What the board authorized was an art teacher for grades 3-6 who would coordinate the remainder of the program in the elementary school.

It was one of two curriculum problems that the board wrestled with Monday. The second was the girls' physical education program.

Mrs. Brenda (Breidinger) Murphy asked the board for the addition of track and gymnastics as competitive sports at the school.

She also requested that the

Ponder next step after pool defeat

Cass City's first attempt to build an indoor swimming pool attached to the school went down to defeat by a 687-408 margin with 9 spoiled ballots as 1,104 electors trudged to the polls to decide the issue.

Some authorities felt that the confusion over the last minute change in the tax rate as well as the ballot wording may have been partially responsible for the defeat.

However, the final balloting in a large measure reflected the straw vote taken before the issue was presented.

The defeat leaves the pool issue still very much in the air.

The next move is probably up to the village council which will have to decide whether to forge ahead with plans for a pool to serve the area but paid for by the residents of the village.

Board defies union, open school Sept. 4

PRICES UP

Cass City Schools will open Sept. 4 over the objections of the Cass City Teachers' Association, the school board voted Monday evening at the high school.

Supt. Donald Crouse reported that the teachers had turned down several proposals presented and stuck to the Aug. 27 opening date.

David Stafford, executive director of the Northern Thumb Area Center of MEA, said that the teachers were ready to talk but wanted to make up the opening delay by eliminating record days and deer hunting day.

The school, he said, was not willing to talk about this so no calendar was agreed upon.

Actually, the teachers have little power in the opening day bargaining. Short of failing to appear on the new date they can do little to change the board's decision.

Although the calendar is still open, representatives of both the union and the school are guardedly confident that a master contract will be reached before school opens as a result of the long bargaining sessions in progress early this week.

When school opens the traditional hot lunch program will be offered at an increase of 5 cents per meal bringing the totals to 45 cents for elementary, 50 cents for high schoolers and 65 cents for adults.

But the current meat shortage and the price squeeze have placed the hot lunch program in a precarious position.

The program will be reviewed in the October session to see if it merits continuation.

Bids for supplies received illustrate the problem.

No meat bids were received and the problem appears to be finding meat at almost any price. Milk is available. London Farm Dairy was low among three bidders. White milk will cost .0769 per half pint and chocolate milk will cost .0799 per half pint.

However, none of the dairies would guarantee the price for the school year.

Finally, the board adopted the millage previously voted. This year the total will be 21.1 mills for all purposes.

language for girls' softball, basketball and volleyball be changed to formalize the program.

This language change would then be used at contract time and, if authorized, be a negotiable item in schedule B of the salary schedule now under study by the union and the school.

The board okayed the language change and will listen to a presentation about gymnastics and track. It is the position of the administration that track be added but that varsity gymnastics be deleted.

One reason for this, Athletic Director Bob Stickle said, was that only one area school (Vassar) has any program and that the school does not travel excessive distances to compete in any sport.

William Zimba reappeared before the board to find out about transportation for his deaf daughter to Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint.

Although no action was taken the board agreed to send two representatives to the Intermediate School District to find out what sort of a county-wide program can be worked out.

TEACHERS HIRE

Ten new teachers were added to the staff with the approval of contracts by the board. They will replace teachers who resigned. In addition, two new teachers, additions to the staff, were okayed.

One, of course, is the new elementary art teacher. The second is a special education teacher at the secondary level.

Because of State reimbursement and new laws requiring teaching of exceptional children Supt. Dan Crouse told the board it would be cheaper to hire a teacher for the four children needing the training than to transport them to classrooms in other communities. The figure released was $1,050 for a teacher here vs. $3,000 for transportation.

Crouse said that hiring of both the art teacher and the special education teachers would hinge on whether they were available this late in the school year.

Other teachers hired were: Karen Moylan, high school social studies, replacing Palmer; Russell Biefer, social studies and wrestling, replacing Clabuesch; Bonnie Bruner, Campbell first grade, replacing Mrs. Pakonen; Mary Smith, Campbell second grade, replacing Marcia (Knechtel) Scheurer; Nancy Brown, Campbell second grade, replacing Lynette LaFave; David Hoard, high school industrial arts, replacing Custer; Jeanne Donner, elementary physical education, replacing Sivula; Nancy Ratkos, intermediate home economics, replacing Rosinski; Cheryl Ross, intermediate speech and English, replacing Pakonen; and Rosemary Tail, Deford third grade, replacing Scott

Pied Piper sets grand opening

at Erla Center

The third store added to the Erla Shopping Center in Cass City will hold its grand opening this week when The Pied Piper starts its celebration Thursday morning.

Mrs. Mary Lou Erla, owner, has had the store open for several weeks ironing out the bugs in the operation prior to this week's formal announcement.

The store features children's clothes to size 14 exclusively and Mrs. Erla has succeeded in acquiring many of the top brands in children's wear.

The store will be giving away five prizes to winners of a free drawing and there will be gifts for children who visit with parents.

Seek funds to finance new doctors' clinic

Members of the committee trying to build a four-doctor clinic in Cass City report that a massive effort is still needed to raise enough money to put the project across.

The problem is, Fred Auten reported to the Chamber of Commerce Board Tuesday, finding enough persons with enough time to make citizens acquainted with the program.

The clinic is now under construction using funds from the corporation organizers. In addition to their $30,000, another $80,000 is needed before the local banks can accept a mortgage. Of this amount $20,000 has already been subscribed.

None of this amount will be spent until the entire $80,000 is raised, Auten stressed.

Shares of stock in the corporation building the clinic are available at $100 each and any amount can be subscribed.

At the meeting with the Chamber Tuesday several plans were discussed to get information to persons who can invest to help the area secure needed physicians.

No definite decision was reached but the consensus was that manpower is needed to get the message to the entire area that will be serviced by doctors in the new clinic building.

Dick Hendrick makes success of Cass Theatre

How do you continue to operate a theatre in a small town when the trend is toward drive-ins that show movies which leave nothing to the imagination? How do you successfully work against high costs of theatre ownership and management?

Dick Hendrick, owner of the Cass Theatre, has done these very things.

Hendrick maintains that a clean, well-kept theatre that shows quality films can still be made to show a profit and can meet the entertainment needs of the community. It can, in this day of television, multi-theatre buildings and widescreen drive-ins, continue to draw from a wide rural segment of the population.

Hendrick is no new-comer to the theatre business. His interest in movies goes back to his days in the eighth grade in school. He and his family were friends of a couple who owned a movie theatre in Argyle and, from time to time, would assist in the projection room threading film into the machine.

The following year, as a freshman in high school, the theatre in Argyle closed down. "Argyle needed movies of some kind," Hendrick recalled as he stood in the lobby of his theatre on Main Street, "and I wanted to do something about it as well as make a little money. So we went to Detroit where I rented 16 millimeter equipment and arranged with a small company to rent movies."

THE PARSON STORE

is going out of business, 2 more weeks. 8/16/1

He remembered that he was too young to drive in those days, so his mother would chauffeur him to Argyle where he began something called "free movies."

"They weren't really free, of course," Hendrick smiled. "Nothing ever is."

"What we would do is go to each businessman in the town and offer to advertise his store for a one dollar charge. This involved going to maybe 18 or 20 different businessmen, all before showtime each night."

"Then, between films, the people who got in free would have to listen to these advertisements."

The circuit grew from Argyle and expanded to take in Gagetown, Elkton, Tyre, Cumber and Kinde. He recalled that these towns did not have chambers of commerce which would help in gathering advertising. Hendrick himself had to contact each advertiser in person for one dollar per night.

"As I look at it now, I walked an awful long way for a buck in those days," he added.

Eventually, his price went up to $1.25 per ad per night. On his circuit, he would carry two changes of shows. Crowds flocked to see the free movies, he remembered and, at one time, 200 cars filled with patrons came to his shows staged at the corner of M-53 and M-81.

During this time, he also acted as a relief projectionist at the Cass Theatre.

"I remember the owner used to ask me just how many more years I was going to keep up my business because I was hurting the established theatre," he said.

After high school, the draft put an end to Hendrick's free movie circuit in the Cass City area, but did not stop him from showing films completely.

"I was scheduled to go to Japan," he said, "but by the time I got there, my orders had been changed and they shipped me to Korea as a cook and baker. I still have a baker's license and could run a bakery if I wanted to."

"After I got settled in, we arranged to use an old, bombed-out building as a makeshift theatre. We hung sheets at one end for a cinemascope screen and got some 16 millimeter equipment. Then we set up an officer's movie house and one for the enlisted men. We even brought girls from Seoul to dance before the pictures to spice things up a little."

The night after his release from service in 1957, Dick Hendrick was back at the Cass Theatre as a projectionist. He ran the theatre from that time until 1963 when the owner of the business decided to retire. Hendrick bought his interest in it and undertook an extensive remodeling of the interior which included new carpeting, improved equipment in the projection room, paneling in the outer lobby and other technical improvements.

In 1957, Hendrick began work with General Telephone, and used earnings from there to aid in renovating his theatre.

Today Hendrick shows top-quality, first-run films in a setting that must meet his rigorous demands for cleanliness.

"You could take your shoes and socks off and walk anywhere on my carpeting in the theatre and come out with them still clean," Hendrick said. "People who come to a theatre expect that. They don't want popcorn boxes strewn all over or pop bottles under the seats."

Hendrick said a theatre patron is someone who is interested in seeing a good show, who tends to dress up for the occasion and who is generally selective on the type of movie he sees.

Hendrick takes pride in the fact that his theatre provides quality movies and a comfortable atmosphere in which to view them. He does not tolerate noisy children in the theatre and has reprimanded especially misbehaved youngsters personally.

A slide on the screen prior to each presentation asks the audience to refrain from talking and making unnecessary noise during the performance.

"I feel I have an obligation to present quality entertainment," Hendrick said. "People are good about calling to find out what type of picture we have playing. I also try to let them know something about the picture so that no one will be particularly shocked or offended."

Hendrick said he likes to stick with action and comedy pictures basically because these types of films draw good audiences in this area. Musicals for example, tend to bring in a different kind of crowd, usually smaller, he said.

"During a musical, the men tend to come out in the lobby and have a smoke when the singing starts," he said. "If it's a war picture, then the women tend to get out of their seats during battle scenes. But basically, I do pretty well with action and comedy."

Hendrick screens films for the coming weekend on Thursday. He reads summaries provided by a trade publication and sets the lenses on the giant projectors tucked away in the back of the theatre, high above the audience.

He also stressed the fact that he edits all coming attractions.

"This can be done without too much trouble," he explained. "Even for an X-rated picture, you can get or make a G-rated coming attraction segment."

He said he loves the rating system because, if it is used properly, it can be helpful to both theatre owner and patron alike.

"Just because a picture is rated PG doesn't mean that everyone will necessarily enjoy it," he pointed out. "Ratings don't mean that. They don't say just because a picture is rated G or PG that everyone who is allowed in to see it will like it."

Hendrick recalled that television hurt the movie business for about five years and succeeded in killing the average small-town theatre. The Cass was spared demise because, for a time, it stayed open only one night per week and Hendrick worked for no wages on Friday nights just to keep it open.

Business has now come back, he said, because television is now an older thing and cannot compete with a wide screen as it once did.

Through all the years he has been showing films, who are Hendrick's favorite actor and actress?

"Of course, John Wayne is a favorite," he answered. "He's never made a bad movie, really. He's made some that have bombed at the box office, but never a really bad picture. But give him another five years and he'll be a has-been."

Hendrick said he does not see anyone coming on the scene to replace the Duke.

What about Clarke Gable? "He was good in 'Gone With the Wind'."

Hendrick said his favorite actresses are Debbie Reynolds and Barbara Streisand. "Of course I have to think of them in terms of the box office as well as acting ability," he added. "For example, Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton are poison on my marquee. People stay away in droves if I show one of their films."

Hendrick credits his booking agent with allowing him to show first-run movies in Cass City and calls him one of the best in the nation. He recalled that he arranged for the Cass Theatre to be one of only six in the state of Michigan to show the world premiere of "Airport" three years ago.

He said he was set to show "Last Tango in Paris" but cancelled out at the last minute, not because of its X rating but because he simply did not like it.

"It was boring. My wife fell asleep half way through it. If I hadn't been a guest, I'd have walked out."

DICK HENDRICK, owner of the Cass Theatre, looks over a section of film in the projection room. Hendrick has owned the business at the Cass since 1963 and has worked with films much of his life.

Mrs. Ladd S. Lubaczewski

Mr. and Mrs. Ladd S. Luba- czewski are planning a honey- moon trip to Greece in the near future. The couple were married in a candlelight ceremony in St. Mark Lutheran church in Roseville.

The Lubaczewskis are living in Warren following their wed- ding June 22. She is the former Connie Jean Hawks, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Hawks of Warren, and he is the son of Mrs. Helen Lubaczewski of Caro.

The bride wore an ivory organza gown with lace bodice and sleeves. She carried an arrangement of white carna- tions, pink orchids and star flowers.

Yellow and white gowns were worn by Mrs. Edward Sokol Jr., matron of honor, and Robin Pel- ton, bridesmaid. Their flowers were white chrysanthemums and star flowers.

Edward Sokol Jr., cousin of the groom, served as best man and Mike Hawks, brother of the bride, was usher.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in Tassie's Tavern.

The bride attended Lincoln High School, Warren, and Har- per Hospital Nursing School. The groom earned his Masters Degree in physics from Michi- gan Tech. University, Houghton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Finkbeiner

St. Pancratius Catholic Church was the scene of an old-fashioned wedding Satur- day, Aug. 4, when Jan Glasple became the bride of Alan Fink- beiner in a candlelight service with Rev. Leo Gengler officiat- ing at the Mass.

The bride, with her parents, met the groom and his parents at the altar. She is the daugh- ter of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Glas- ple of Cass City. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Fink- beiner of Owendale.

The bride approached the altar in a gown of white organ- die with a low neck, edged in ruffles, Empire waist and A-line skirt with ruffles around the bottom and bishop sleeves.

Her headpiece was white roses and seeded pearls in a face frame with illusion veil and cathedral veil that flowed over a long train. She carried a cascade of red carnations en- twined with ivy and baby's breath, and also carried a white parasol with ruffled edge.

Maid of honor was Miss Patty Doerr of Cass City. The other attendants were Miss Janet Denzer of Bloomfield Hills, Miss Sue Rohr of Dearborn Hts., Miss Nancy Miller of Lansing and Miss Kathy Kovach of Owende- dale, cousin of the groom. They were matching red and white checked gingham dresses with ruffles around the high neck, bodice, sleeves and hemline. They carried red parasols de- corated with white carnations and baby's breath.

Best man was Jeff Davidson and groomsmen were Mill Mel- lendorf, Gary Geyer, all of Owendale, and Kim and Chris Glasple, brothers of the bride.

The bride's mother wore a long sleeve, long blue gown with rhinestone accents on the bodice. The groom's mother wore a long sleeve, long apricot gown. Both had identical white orchid corsages.

Following the wedding, the couple left for the reception in an old Model A. The reception for 300 guests was held at the Ugly Fox Hunters Club.

The couple spent their honey- moon in Las Vegas and are mak- ing their home in Cass City.

"If It Fitz..."

Adding to Watergate wisdom

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Worrying and wondering about Watergate...

H. R. Haldeman reminds me of every lieutenant I had during World War 2. John Ehrlichman reminds me of every captain. And John Dean reminds me of the sniveling corporals who always told the sergeants when the privates goofed off.

Of course, I was in the German army. Sauerkraut on a shingle.

President Nixon may not be a burglar but he certainly has been running around with a lot of weird types. I think he hires his help the same way they do on the loading dock. Whoever is first in line at 5 a.m. gets a day's work.

A lot of people wonder why Nixon has handled Watergate so stupidly from a public relations standpoint. If he is so innocent, why won't he release those tapes to Top 40 disc jockeys? People are bound to be suspicious.

I think I have the answer. Nixon wants you to get so steamed about Watergate you won't notice what else is going on. Right now he's probably sorry he wasn't caught driving the get-away car at Watergate.

That would have caused such an overwhelming stink you wouldn't have noticed a secondary odor when it was revealed that we bombed Cambodia for 14 months and almost no one knew it except the people getting killed and they never told.

If you weren't so hypnotized by Sen. Ervin's eyebrows, you might be wondering what else we've been bombing. Has anyone heard from Castro lately? Or Massachusetts?

Remember that marvelous movie about Dr. Strangelove? There was that delicious scene when the Pentagon brass got into a squabble while discussing policy in the war room. And the President brought them quickly to heel with the stern reminder that: "There is no fighting allowed in the war room."

Which naturally brings us to Robert Seamans, Secretary of the Air Force during all those months when Cambodia was being bombed. He admits he didn't know about the bombing. That's what makes this country great. President Nixon lies to everybody, no matter what their race, creed or station in life.

Has anyone seen Peter Sellers lately? I think he is Robert Seamans.

If J. Edgar Hoover had only died a few years earlier, the Nixon administration could have blamed him for inflation, continuation of the Vietnam war, and Dutch elm disease.

When John Ehrlichman hinted that Hoover might have been soft on Communism, E. J. Zimbalist Jr. grabbed a plunger and stormed the White House, insisting he wanted to be a plumber.

Mother asked me please not to write anything about Watergate because she is sick of reading about it. What she doesn't understand is that, these days, if a columnist doesn't write wise things about Watergate, he might lose his job.

Which would put me back in line at the fruit pickers' hiring hall, hunting for a day's work. Do you want your son to end up as a Presidential assistant, Mother?

Mrs. William C. Gucwa

Christine Ann McCullough and William Carl Gucwa exchanged vows Saturday, Aug. 11, at St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Cass City. The Rev. Leo Gengler performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. J. Glenn McCullough of Cass City and the late Scotty McCullough. The groom is the son of Mrs. Stanley Gucwa Sr. of Bad Axe and the late Mr. Gucwa.

Miss McCullough was escorted to the altar by Lester Ross of Cass City, a family friend.

She chose a candelite organza gown with a flared skirt and sweeping train. The lifted bodice, with a square yoke and high neckline, was outlined with lace and jade green entwined and accented with tiny yellow rosebuds. The deep cuffed shepherdess sleeves were also accented with the same trim. Her veil of candelite illusion was secured to a matching lace frame and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow daisies, white roses and baby's breath.

Kathy McCullough, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. C. T.

Decker of Swartz Creek, friend of the bride, and Miss Theresa Gucwa, sister of the groom. They wore identical gowns of Jade green voile with flounced hemlines. Bands of embroidery outlined the square neckline, the lifted bodice and Juliet sleeves. Each carried a bouquet of yellow daisies and white baby's breath.

Kelth Curtis of Pontiac was best man. Groomsman were Phillip Wasierski, friend, and John Gucwa, the groom's brother, both of Bad Axe.

Sending guests were Stanley Gucwa Jr. of Port Huron and Joseph Gucwa of Troy, both brothers of the groom.

A reception was held at the Dom Polski Hall at Caro.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Lady luck smiled Sunday. Laughed out loud. It happened in Marquette. I was there to take a 13-year-old to camp. That's 500 miles.

I spent the trip trying to figure out how to avoid making the return trip the next week.

When I arrived my lady luck turned out to be no lady. It was George Bushong, Cass City High School band director. George is at Northern Michigan University working in music this summer. He hailed us and after rapping a moment said that he was returning to Cass City Saturday and would be happy to drive our youngster home. You just can't be any luckier than that.

*****

Bushong also asked to pass on the information that band practice starts Aug. 27, one week before school opens. Usually a letter is sent, he said, but this year it was impossible because of the uncertain starting date.

*****

It was a bad scene Monday at the school board meeting. It was bad because the school board succumbed to a pressure group of some 50 parents. The pressure was for an art teacher in the elementary school.

Let's not debate the relative merits of the program here. Rather, let's talk about the action of the board.

Elementary art is not a new issue. Perhaps the parents were right: maybe more is needed. If it is, it will be needed as much one week from today as it is now.

In that week each board member could weigh the expenditure of tax dollars against program merit. Each board member could confer with the administration, with teachers, with authorities in other systems.

Make a reasonable effort to find out what is best for the system.

With that approach there would be no objection here to an art teacher or any other teacher. When the board makes a last minute addition to the school curriculum on the basis of a discussion of about two hours before 50 parents the question persists: what about the interests of the parents of the remaining 1,950 students in the system?

It might be that in the future the best interests of all the taxpayers will be served by a mandatory tabling for review of any proposal brought from the floor by special interest groups.

In the long run, decisions reached rationally will better serve us all.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lorentzen

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lorentzen will be honored at an open house Sunday, Aug. 26, in observance of their 40th wedding anniversary. The affair is being given by the Lorentzens' children, at their home at 6306 Pine St. between 3-6 p.m.

Mrs. Lorentzen is the former Helen Steinmann of Peck. The couple were married Sept. 10, 1933, at the bride's home in Peck. They have lived in Cass City since their marriage.

He is employed by Hunt Construction Co., Cass City. Both are members of Trinity United Methodist church and Echo chapter OES. Mr. Lorentzen is a member of Tyler Lodge F & AM No. 317.

They have three children, Anne Marie Lorentzen of Saginaw, Donald of St. Charles, Ill., and Rick of West Haven, Conn. They also have two granddaughters.

Officers elected were: president, Dan Hennessey; vice-president, Bill Patch Jr., and secretary-treasurer, Debbie Parrott.

The reunion is to be held next year at the same place the second Sunday in August.

Editor's Corner

You forget how great Northern Michigan can be on a warm summer day in August.

You forget how peaceful just sitting on the banks of a cold, pure swift running stream can be.

You forget because you become wrapped up in life's treadmill.

It's times like this that the question of priorities emerges.

Sitting on that river bank it's a rare person who wouldn't wonder for a few moments whether his job, his work, his leisure activities really measure up.

Measure up and are really worthwhile.

I know really that the indolent he wouldn't suit me for long. I'd tire soon of sitting by that river and watch the water gurgle.

I appreciate knowing that it's there and applaud the real workers who are doing their best to keep it intact for me to enjoy. All of the Ralph Naders of today's world.

And keeping it like it is... that's a man-sized challenge. Perhaps too big a challenge.

For Northern Michigan today isn't like it was 20 years ago... 10 years ago... five years ago.

The people pressure continues to swell and swell like a giant balloon fastened to an automatic pump.

You can see it when you pick up a couple of recently discarded beer cans from the stream bank or reach into the water to rescue a glass bottle heaved without thought into the stream itself.

You see it in the no trespassing signs that dot the area where once everyone was welcome.

It's bad. But there is hope. Hope that more of us finally know what we have and are willing to change to protect it.

Change the way we think... that's the hardest to do. Much harder than changing the way we act.

I'm a trout fisherman. I used to measure success by the number of fish I killed.

It took awhile, but now I measure success by the number of fish I don't kill.

If I can catch a trout and release it, I've a chance to catch it again. And so have you.

Meanwhile, I've enjoyed every REAL thing about the fishing trip. The outdoors. The fun of catching the fish. The treadmill reprieve.

I talk about fishing because I know about fishing. It's the same for snowmobilers, for hunters, for hikers, for bird ### watchers.

The problems for them are different, yet the same.

What it's all about is the renewal that getting away brings. They have to learn to protect the forests, the game, the birds. Learn to share, to enjoy.

If they don't everything will be simpler. There will be nothing left to remember... or forget.

Loretta Briolat feted at shower

Miss Loretta Briolat of Cass City was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower Saturday evening, Aug. 11, in the Uby Bank building. Hostesses were her bridesmaids: Yvonne Edzik, Laurie McCrae, Diane Murray, Debra Smalley and Marilyn Sweeney.

Miss Briolat wore a corsage of orange roses and carnations, a gift from her fiancé.

Gifts were displayed on a table under a blue bridal umbrella. A blue and white decorated cake served as the centerpiece. Games were played and prizes awarded. Miss Denise Grifka won the door prize.

Approximately 65 guests attended from Bad Axe, Cass City, Davison, Detroit, Minden City, Richmond, Saginaw, Uby and Warren.

A dessert luncheon was served by the hostesses.

Miss Briolat will become the bride of Marvin Smalley of Uby Sept. 29 in St. Pancratius Catholic Church, Cass City.

Summer trip to Spain may open door to new career for Lynn Rayl

An eight-week summer study trip to Spain may turn into something much more permanent for Lynn Rayl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Rayl, 7884 E. Deckerville Rd.

Lynn, who spent the summer in the Madrid area with Lois Field, 7729 Deckerville Rd., was offered a job teaching English to students from ages 4-6 in a private school. She has 11 days to decide whether or not to leave family and friends here and return to the land she fell in love with during her stay.

Lynn and Lois left New York June 20, and lived for eight weeks with a family in Madrid and became a part of the Iberian way of life.

Two other students planning to make the trip cancelled at the last moment. Accompanying the girls was Cass City High School instructor Miss Susan Slavin.

They found Madrid much like any other large city in America. Lynn did say that there are more things for young people to do in the city that features a wide array of parks, discotheques and shops. A large student center near the university also provides a gathering place for those who enjoy the nightlife and fun of the city.

Prior to settling into approximately five weeks of study, Lynn and Lois took a 10-day tour of southern Spain along with short side trips to France and Switzerland.

Lynn found family life in Spain much more formal than the family in America, with a much slower pace the routine.

"We couldn't go barefoot in the house or on the street," Lynn recalled. "And we couldn't wear shorts, even in the warmest weather. The only place you could wear a halter in Madrid and have your back bare," Lynn said, "but you could never show your navel. If you did and walked down the street, the guys would all go 'ringa, ringa'."

common to find youngsters consuming wine.

The girls both were impressed by the beauty and cleanliness of the Spanish countryside.

"People in Spain really have a respect for their land," Lynn said. "You don't see papers and cans and bottles lying around the way you do here. In Madrid, they wash off the streets every morning at 4 a.m."

Part of this respect comes from the fact that there is less to be consumed in Spain. About $70 will buy the same amount of goods and services in Spain that $200 will buy in America, according to the girls.

"In Madrid, you can be ticketed for picking flowers or walking on the grass," Lois said.

Another feature of Spanish living that pleased the girls was the fact that they did not have to fear being outside at night. Both agreed that the streets were much safer in Madrid than in most American cities.

"We would hitchhike from the university to home each day without any fear at all," Lois said. "In fact, people will even go out of their way to take you where you are going. They'll even take you right to your door."

Another departure of custom for the girls was dating. In Spain, it is the custom for the man not to come to call for the girl at her home. Rather, they arrange to meet at another location such as a park or restaurant.

The seniors do not know where the girl is going or with whom.

Lynn said Spanish men "go crazy" over American girls and have been known to leave their dates in a restaurant in favor of the company of a girl from the United States.

"You can stand them up and they aren't even offended," Lynn said. "They're much more friendly than other men and really dress sharp."

As far as her possible job in Madrid is concerned, Lynn hasn't yet made up her mind whether she'll accept it or not.

"I simply love Spain and everything about it," Lynn said. "I like the people very much and the countryside. But I have ties here and it's hard to leave the people here at home."

She said she hasn't had time to discuss it in depth yet with her parents. She explained that her job would pay her $42 per week, adding that she would have very few expenses. During her first month, she would be in training and stay with the director of the school and his wife. Her salary would not begin until she began her actual teaching.

Once she had passed her training period, she would then arrange an apartment where she would live with another girl she met on the trip from Wisconsin, Colleen Collier. She, too, would teach at the same school.

On their own, she would still receive compensation for her living quarters which would make her paycheck go even farther.

Right now, Lynn is on the fence, torn between family and home ties and the beauty and excitement of Spain. She'll know by the 27th.

Whatever that decision may be, her first trip to the land of the conquistadors will remain one of the highlights of her life.

Legion Auxiliary meets Monday

Nineteen attended the monthly meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary held Monday evening at the Cultural Center.

President Mrs. Ann Klinkman presided over the business meeting, in which members voted to pay to Department of Michigan headquarters, $68.25 in mandatory funds, $25 to the nurses' scholarship fund and $25 to the up-coming muscular dystrophy telethon, which will be conducted over the Labor day week end.

Annual dues are payable at this time and Mrs. Eugene Keller, membership chairman, has collected 17 dues to date.

Mrs. Keller reported briefly on the Seventh District meeting held Sunday at Caseville. Installation of district officers took place. Mrs. Eileen Tait of Caseville is the new district auxiliary president and her husband, James Tait, is the new Seventh District commander.

Cards were signed by members to be sent to the sick members, Mrs. Ruth Hartwick, Mrs. Mae Wise and Mrs. Elizabeth Gruber.

There was group singing at the close of the meeting under the direction of the music chairman, Mrs. Marion McClorey.

There were games and refreshments following the business meeting.

The door prize went to Mrs. Anna McComb.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Another shortage

By Jim Ketchum

The age of shortages is upon us. It seems things will continue to worsen before they get any better. I quote the following Associated Press dispatch dated Chicago:

"First gasoline, then beef, and now the toilet shortage is on America."

"The shortage may delay the occupancy of the upper floors in the new Standard Oil Building in Chicago, according to the contractor."

"And homebuilders too, are feeling the commode crunch. 'Toilets are impossible to get', Lynn Krause, president of the Chicago Home Builders Association, said. 'They're just not available.'"

"A spokesman for one toilet manufacturer says his company is trying to keep up with orders."

Alas, is Armageddon really upon us? Have we mechanized and consumed ourselves into a position of rationing even these modern, sophisticated instruments of health and leisure?

How, in short, have we reached this sorry state of affairs? A number of factors are involved. One that stands out in my mind immediately is automation. Compare the modern toilet with the efficient, old-fashioned privy, euphemistically referred to in more cultured society as the outdoor toilet facility.

In the old days, the homeowner did not have to fight with a plumber to come to the house to install this medium of comfort. No $13.00 per hour labor charges went into this device which accomplished the identical task of its modern antecedent.

It's sad to think that most of them are now gone and that the Michigan Health Department would summarily deal with anyone trying to erect such a device in about one minute.

The departure of the privy--pardon me, the outdoor toilet facility, fills me with dismay, for it was easy to construct, was inexpensive and, outside of the hinges on the door, had no machined parts.

Top DHIA herds for July told

Figures for top DHIA herds for July were released this week by County Extension Director William Bortel.

Among the top ten herds in the county, the Leo J. Marr herd of 34 cows ranked first, producing an average of 58.9 lbs. of milk per day with a daily butterfat average of 2.24 lbs.

Area herdsman also made respectable showings in the top ten. The 75-cow Donald DeLong herd ranked fourth with a daily average of 43.7 lbs. of milk and 1.57 lbs. of butterfat.

Graham Brothers' herd of 109 cows averaged 40.4 lbs. of milk daily with 1.56 lbs. of butterfat, and ranked sixth. The 59 cows of the Loomis Brothers herd ranked ninth with 38.6 lbs. of milk and 1.46 lbs. of butterfat.

Among the DHIA rolling herd averages above 500 lbs. of butterfat, the Marr herd again placed first with 16,651 lbs. of milk and 619 lbs. of butterfat.

Area herds again did well in the standings. Ronald Hampshire's 45-cow herd placed fourth with 15,324 lbs. of milk and 569 lbs. of butterfat. Graham Brothers' herd ranked seventh with 13,619 lbs. of milk and 536 lbs. of butterfat.

Loomis Brothers placed eighth with 14,809 lbs. of milk and 537 lbs. of butterfat. Donald Doerr's 64-cow herd followed in ninth slot with 14,375 lbs. of milk and 531 lbs. of butterfat.

In the Owner-sampler rolling herd averages, Hessel Vene-ma's 40-cow herd ranked second with 14,304 lbs. of milk and 512 lbs. of butterfat. Ben Hobart's 21-cow herd placed third with 14,156 lbs. of milk and 509 lbs. of butterfat.

VBS features

"talking dolls"

Daily Vacation Bible School at the First Baptist Church will feature Marge Randall and her talking dolls and will be held Aug. 20-24. The programs will begin at 7:00 each evening and will last for about one hour.

Mrs. Randall, who owns more than 300 puppets, will use many other visual aids in telling Bible stories.

The Monday through Friday program is especially designed for ages 4 - 12, but all ages are invited. Parents are encouraged to attend the program.

BETTER HEALTH

Ear cleaning requires care

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Experts on ears advise people not to try to clear the wax out of their own ears by poking with some metallic hook, stick, bobby pin, comb, or paint-brush handle. At the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary and at the Children's Hospital in Philadelphia, some 27 persons were treated for damaged eardrums caused by using a pointed object in their ears. Even when the instrument was cotton-tipped, some of the people tore a hole in their eardrum - a hole that was bad because it lessened their hearing and it took much time to heal.

In most cases, it was bad enough just to punch a hole in the eardrum; in other cases, the three very important tiny bones in the middle ear were smashed, and that made for poor hearing. Often the pain produced was severe. Usually an expert ear surgeon could with much long continued effort close the hole and restore hearing.

What then is the proper way to clean wax out of a person's outer ear, and thus give him back much hearing? Many years ago when I worked for a while in an ear clinic, I was taught to use a metal syringe with a short spout at the end and back of this spout a guard to keep the water from going back onto the operator's hand. With this instrument I got the wax out of many an ear and gave back lost hearing, and I never did the ears any harm. The lay person should have his ears checked periodically by his doctor, and should allow the doctor to remove an accumulation. He should not try to do it himself.

DRIVE BICYCLES SAFELY

I have become distressed on reading of the growing number of bicycle and motorcycle accidents. Daily I see kids on motorcycles going sometimes as much as 70 miles an hour on busy streets. One touch of the motorcycle to an automobile and that man and perhaps his girl on the cycle with him will go flying through the air, either to a skull fracture or death.

Seeing how careless bicycle riders are, also, and how they ride through the congested city traffic, often disobeying the traffic rules, I am not surprised to read that some 1,100 persons were killed and 50,000 were injured in bike accidents in 1972.

The National Safety Council, hoping to cut down on the number of accidents, has published a list of safety rules for bike drivers:

1) Obey all applicable traffic signs and regulations. Bicycle riders are subject to the same rules of the road as are cars and trucks. It is a good idea to avoid riding on congested streets, and to use bikeways or paths wherever they exist.

2) Obey all local ordinances pertaining to bicycles.

3) Drive with the traffic, and keep to the right. Also drive single file. Some states require bicyclists to ride single file.

4) Watch out for soft shoulders, drain openings, and holes in the road.

5) Watch out for car doors opening, or for cars pulling into traffic.

6) It is better not to carry a passenger.

7) Never hitch a ride hanging onto a truck.

8) Be careful at intersections, especially when making a left turn. Most accidents happen at intersections. If traffic is heavy, it is a good idea for the rider to get off his bike and walk with the pedestrian traffic.

9) Use hand signals to indicate turning or stopping.

10) Protect yourself at night with good lights in front and in back.

11) Be sure your bicycle is in good working condition.

12) Drive your bike defensively. Be aware of what the driver ahead of you is doing, and the driver ahead of him. Be sure you have time and room to stop if you have to.

has party
at Caseville

Twenty-two were present Thursday evening when 17 members of the Progressive class of Salem United Methodist church and five members of their families, attended a monthly social and business meeting of the class at the home of Mrs. Evelyn Wells at Caseville. A wieners roast was enjoyed.

Plans were made for a hayride Sept. 13 which will start at the Dale Buehrly home and will include couples from both Trinity and Salem churches.

Sanilac to hold
clinic

The Sanilac County Health Department will hold two immunization clinics each month during the summer. Parents whose last name begins with A-M should attend Wed., Aug. 22, and those whose last name begins with N-Z should attend Fri., Aug. 24. Clinic hours for both days will be 9:30 - 11:30 a.m. and 1:30 - 4:00 p.m.

Protection against measles, whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus, rubella, and polio will be offered. Tuberculin tests will also be offered.

Children three months of age and over are invited to attend. A parent or guardian must accompany the child.

Tuberculin tests will also be offered to school personnel on either of the above dates.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

An "informal petition" was presented to the Owendale-Gagetown School Board Wednesday requesting that the proposed merger of the district with surrounding districts be cancelled, at least temporarily.

The letting of bids for fuel oil, gasoline and bus insurance resulted in another "bustle" among members of the school board Tuesday night at Cass City High School.

The Cass City School Board authorized the leveling and grading of land near the school for use of students for recreation classes and perhaps a practice football field.

Cass City teachers and the school district are reported very near a contract.

TEN YEARS AGO

A lucrative pay scale has been set for workers for the construction of the village's new water system. The minimum pay rate will be $2.65 per hour, with most workers receiving $3.00 per hour.

The new roof on the Cass City High School building will cost less than anticipated by the school board. It was reported Monday. Bid price for the work was $5,024.

Plans are nearing completion for the opening of the 82nd annual Tuscola County Fair at the Caro fairgrounds.

Unidentified thieves broke into Erla's Food Market Monday night, but a preliminary inspection by store personnel revealed only a slight loss.

Cass City School Board members, flustered with the success of a trial summer program, made informal plans to expand the program next year. Reviewing the four-week summer reading program Monday, trustees said that next year there will be a six-week course offered at the school.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Tuscola county's first annual bean tour is scheduled for Wednesday, Aug. 13. Two farms where special variety and tort.

Goods entertain past matrons

Fifteen were present Aug. 7 when Mr. and Mrs. Ed Good Sr. entertained the Frances Belle Watson past matrons' club of Gifford chapter OES of Gagetown.

Members signed cards to be sent to the ill, Mrs. Sybil Roth, Mrs. Maude Sarosky and Mrs. Marion Laurie. Prizes in cards went to Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis, Miss Bernice Clara and George Hendershot. Mr. Hendershot also received the door prize.

The next meeting is scheduled for Sept. 4 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The general contract for the new addition to the Gagetown High School building was awarded to J. R. Heineman and Son of Saginaw at a base bid of $22,534.00.

Bids on contracts for the paving of the seven mile stretch of M-55 south of M-31 are to be opened Aug. 25 in Lansing.

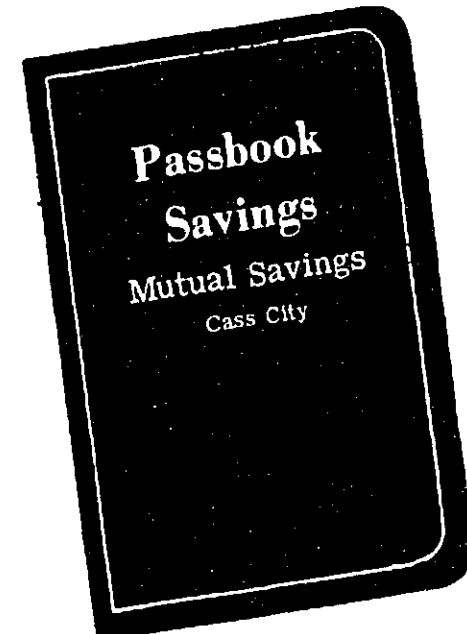

The outlook on Aug. 1, for Michigan's general field crops, taken as a whole, was the best for that date in many years.

The Tuscola County Fair is scheduled to open next week. Wheat at the Cass City Markets was selling for 52 cents per bushel, oats for 21 cents, cattle from four to six cents per pound and hogs for eight cents per pound.

Special Ed

program to begin Aug. 28

The Tuscola Intermediate School District's special education program will begin this year on Aug. 28.

The Intermediate Training Center (Darbee School) will provide four trainable classrooms. Debbie Schroer will teach the primary group, Joyce Henry, intermediate program, Ren Cramer, a newly employed teacher, will instruct the secondary group and Dave Battenhouse will teach the young adult students. Allen Jones will supervise the services to the mentally handicapped.

The students' first day of attendance will be Aug. 29, at Darbee School. Transportation will be basically the same as previous years. Parents will be notified about pick up times the first day.

A classroom for orthopedically impaired students, taught by John Leahy, a new teacher to the district, will be offered as a classroom program in place of the multiply-handicapped classroom offered in years previous.

The intermediate school district is the designated unit for offering day care training services to area students. This program is offered 230 days a year and during the school year parallels the trainable school calendar.

Speech therapy, school psychologist, school social worker and teacher-counselor services will be initiated on August 28 and services will start at the local school districts shortly after the local districts starting dates.

Mrs. Ann Kuelmel joins the intermediate school district as a new speech therapist.

The intermediate school district, as a service district, also provides record-keeping and administrative functions, speech therapy pre-school program and film library services to the nine local public school districts and eight parochial school units.

Services held

Sunday for

Harold Asher

Harold Asher, 51, 6618 Lake-side Dr., died Friday, Aug. 10, in his home.

He was born Feb. 24, 1922 in Elwood Township. He married Mary Kelly on May 31, 1947.

He was a retired appliance salesman. He was a veteran of World War II and was a member of the Tri-county Post #507, American Legion, and the Saginaw Chapter, Disabled American Veterans.

He is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Gerry Bergman, Pigeon, Mrs. Thomas Kellogg, Davis, Mrs. John Fields, Caro, and Miss Peggy Asher, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Asher of Cass City; a sister, Mrs. Harold Fox, Cassopolis, and seven grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Sunday, Aug. 12, from Little's Funeral Home with Rev. Melvin Vander, pastor emeritus of First Presbyterian Church officiating.

Burial was in Elkland Township Cemetery.

You're Never Too
Old To Hear Better

Chicago, Ill. A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it. Thousands have already been mailed, so write for yours today.

Try this non-operating model in the privacy of your own home to see how tiny hearing help can be. It's yours to keep, free. It weighs less than a third of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit. No wires lead from body to head.

These models are free, so write for yours now. Write Dept. 5310, Beltone Electronics, 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Ill. 60646.

AGENT'S CORNER

Blanching techniques simple

Ailene Mills - Extension Agent

Many people have called the County Extension Office and asked about blanching vegetables before freezing. An important step in preparing vegetables for freezing is heating, or "blanching" before packing. Practically every vegetable, except green pepper, maintains better quality in frozen storage if heated before packing.

The reason for heating vegetables before freezing is that it slows or stops the action of enzymes. Up until the time vegetables are ready to pick, enzymes help them grow and mature. After that, they cause loss of flavor and color.

If vegetables are not heated enough the enzymes continue to be active during frozen storage. Then the vegetables may develop off-flavors, discolor, or toughen so that they may be unappetizing in a few weeks.

For home freezing, the most satisfactory way to heat practically all vegetables is in boiling water. Use enough water to cover vegetables. Do not blanch more than one pound at a time. Put vegetables into a wire basket, colander, or cheese-cloth bag and immerse in briskly boiling water. Start counting time when vegetables are immersed. If water takes more than a minute or two to return to a boil, blanch smaller quantity at one time. Water may be used several times for the same kind of vegetable.

After vegetables are heated, they should be cooled quickly and thoroughly to stop the cooking. To cool vegetables, plunge the basket of vegetables immediately into a large quantity of cold water, 60 degrees or below. Change water frequently or use cold running water or ice water. It will take about as long to cool the food as it does to heat it. When the vegetable is cool, remove from water and drain thoroughly.

Go by the Cooperative Extension Office nearest you and ask for the bulletin on "Home Freezing of Fruits and Vegetables."

Edward Glaza dies Saturday

Edward J. Glaza, 92, an Ubyl resident since 1952 died at his residence Saturday, Aug. 11.

Cleft Palate

parents to meet

The Saginaw Valley Cleft Palate Parents' Association will have a family picnic Monday, Aug. 20, at the Beth Memorial Park at the Fairgrounds in Caro, beginning at 6 p.m.

Hot dogs and buns will be provided. Those attending are to bring a dish to pass, their own drinks and table service. All interested persons are encouraged to attend.

He was born Feb. 19, 1881, in Paris Township. He married Julia Smalia in 1918. She died June 16, 1949. He then married Mary Glaza in 1951. She died in 1966.

Mr. Glaza was retired from the Ford Motor Co.

He is survived by his brother, Walter, of Ubyl and a number of nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Monday, Aug. 13, in St. John's Catholic Church, Ubyl, with Rev. Bernard Skornia officiating.

Burial was in the church cemetery.

Enough would satisfy all if the neighbors didn't have more.

DON'T BE AFRAID!

Jeannie is still at the age when she can look at life unafraid. She's a happy and trusting little girl, and she is sure Daddy will catch her at the bottom of the slide.

As we grow older, our fears accumulate and sometimes they rule our lives. We grow afraid of losing our job, our health or our possessions. There is fear of being "different." We often go along with things that we know are wrong, just because we're afraid to take a stand. Many of our fears have no foundation. Yet we go through needless suffering, worrying about things that will never happen.

The Bible says, "If God is for us, who can be against us?" Through the Church, we receive assurance of God's constant love and protection in all our adversities. And we come to understand the comforting Truth... "Perfect love casteth out fear."

Commissioners vote to increase dog license fees

Man's best friend will cost you more to own in Tuscola County next year after action Tuesday by the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners.

The board voted to increase the price of dog licenses beginning January 1, 1974. On that date, a dog license will cost four dollars until March 1, when the price jumps to seven dollars.

Kennel owners will also pay more for Fido's companionship. Kennel licenses will start at $10 until March 1, and then jump to $15.

Previously, dog licenses sold for two dollars in the first two months of the year increasing to four dollars after March 1. Kennel licenses were $7.50 for the first two months and $12.50 after that time.

Rising costs in operating the office of dog warden were given as reasons for the fee increase.

Commissioner Maynard McConkey pointed out that the deputy dog warden is currently making house to house calls to check on unlicensed dogs and will sell licenses at that time, if the dog has had proper vaccinations. If not, the warden will return later on. Non-compliance at this time results in a report to the dog warden who will then attempt to pick up the animal.

Additionally, he said the warden travels about 500 miles per week checking on animals for licensing and picking up unwanted animals. McConkey said animals cannot be picked up free of charge, contrary to popular belief, saying that such a procedure would be too expensive to operate.

Additionally, the commissioners approved a motion to advertise for bids on a new truck for the dog warden to use. In other action, the board set the salaries of employees of probate court for the coming year. Probate register will earn $8,029, court stenographer will earn $6,594, two secretaries will earn $6,282 each and two probation officers will earn $8,840 each.

Total salaries will be $44,867 as compared with $39,637 last year.

Police report 3

last week

Cass City Police reported three incidents last week, involving vandalism, larceny and reckless driving.

On Thursday, police arrested Henry James Sherman, 3988 Lamton Rd., Deford, and charged him with reckless driving on Herron Drive the night before.

According to police, four witnesses said they saw Sherman make what they described as a power turn on Herron Drive, striking a curb and breaking part of it, in addition to breaking a part of one wheel of the car.

Police identified the vehicle through the license number and were able to match the broken piece of wheel with a wheel on the car.

On Wednesday $40 was taken from a purse belonging to Mrs. Ella Cumper, 4182 Maple St. She told officers she was at a beauty shop in Caro and laid her purse down. When she picked it up about two hours later, the money, all in cash, was gone.

Police have no leads in the case.

On Friday, vandals ripped a radio antenna from a car belonging to Irving Parsch, 6455 Main, while it was parked in an alley. Police said the culprits broke the antenna from the fender of the auto and struck the hood twice with it.

No other clues were left at the scene and the case remains open.

Also on Friday, thieves struck a house owned by a Warren man located at the corner of Stevens and Froede Roads near Kingston.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies said the home, owned by Walter Krajewski, was entered by breaking a window in the back door sometime between Aug. 7 and 9.

Police said the house was ransacked and a radio, a BB gun and a .20 gauge shotgun were found missing.

The investigation continues.

Area accidents kill 3

Dales General Hospital for treatment of cuts and bruises.

A car driven by Suzanne Osentoski of Bay City-Forestville Road, Uby, collided with an auto driven by Robert McKenzie of St. Clair Shores.

State police from the Bad Axe post who investigated the mishap said Ms. Osentoski was travelling west on Bay City-Forestville Road and stopped at the intersection of M-53. She told police she looked both ways and started across when she collided with the McKenzie auto.

Police said two trucks parked alongside M-53 might have tended to obstruct her vision. McKenzie, his wife Louise, and their two children were taken to the hospital for treatment of injuries.

Ms. Osentoski was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way. The accident occurred around 9:30 a.m. Seven Cass Cityans sustained injuries late Tuesday, Aug. 7, when the car in which they were riding collided with a vehicle driven by a Fairgrove man at the intersection of M-25 and Bradford Road.

Receiving minor injuries were Harold L. Likens, 39, driver, and six of the nine passengers in the car. They are Diane C. Likens, 13; Charles H. Matthews, 8; Terry L. Likens, 14; Harold L. Likens II, 3; Marcella A. Likens, 29, and David W. Likens, all of Cass City.

Three other children in the car were unhurt. Driver of the other car, Manley J. Matthews, 57, Fairgrove, was taken to Mercy Hospital, Bay City, suffering multiple bruises. He was traveling alone. A third vehicle involved in the collision was driven by Raul M. Gonzales, 29, Unionville. He received minor injuries.

State police from the Bay City Post said the Matthews car pulled from Bradford Road onto eastbound M-25 in front of two vehicles. Likens told police he pulled the car to the left to avoid a collision, but could not. The cars careened and the Gonzales car sideswiped the Likens auto, then the Matthews and Likens cars collided.

Three other minor accidents took place in the area last week. On Thursday, a car driven by Wayne Brinkman of Caro, collided with a vehicle pulling a wagon being driven by Dean Hutchinson, 4630 Spence Rd., on M-81 a half-mile west of Koepfen Road.

Tuscola deputies said Brinkman was traveling east on M-81 following Hutchinson. As Hutchinson attempted to make a right turn into a private drive, he was hit by the Brinkman vehicle. Brinkman later told officers he saw no turn signal on the other vehicle or wagon. No ticket was issued and no injuries were reported in the mishap that occurred around 3 p.m.

Pre-school nursery holds fashion show

The high school cafeteria was the scene of the annual luncheon-fashion show Monday, Aug. 13, sponsored by the Cass City Pre-school Nursery.

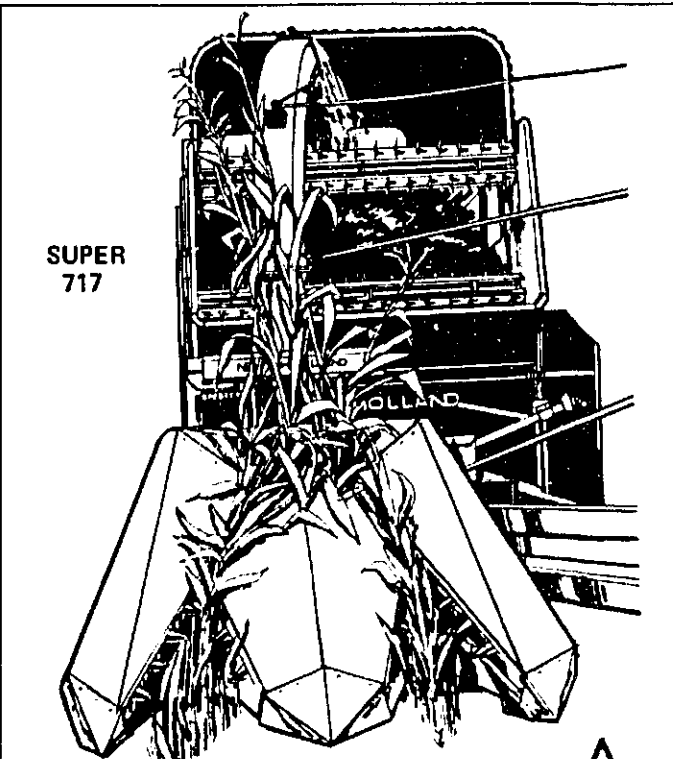

Fashions were shown from the Pied Piper children's shop and the Clothes Closet and fabrics from the Family Fabric store were displayed. There were also many outfits which were created and modeled by home seamstresses.

Local merchants who donated door prize certificates included Ouvry Chevrolet-Oldsmobile dealer, the Clothes Closet, the Pied Piper shop, and Pat's Beauty Salon (Mrs. Larry Smith, stylist.) The remaining door prizes were created by local handicrafters: Mrs. Richard Hunt, Mrs. Harold Isard, Mrs. George Fisher, Sr., Misses Barbara and Brenda Herron, Mrs. Tim Grassman, Mrs. Roger Deering, Mrs. Hollis Seeley, Mrs. Carole Seeley, Mrs. Wilbert Goodall, and Mrs. Bob Bliss.

Over twenty-five door prizes were won by lucky ticket holders. Some of the recipients were Liz Anson, Joan Erla, Carl Palmateer, and Rebecca Priekorn. Also, Mrs. Aime Ouvry, Mrs. Gilbert Albee, and Mrs. Kenneth Eisinger.

Victims of violent crime may get state compensation soon

A sad aspect of modern society is the plight of the victim of a violent crime. The person who is shot, knifed or beaten by a robber or rapist may have months of rehabilitation and thousands of dollars of medical bills to pay without any financial help.

The criminal, if apprehended, is furnished with free legal advice if he shows he can't afford to pay for it and is fed, clothed and housed in a jail. The victim can lose his job because he is unable to work.

Some help for this tragic situation may be on the way from the Michigan Legislature.

do much to lessen their financial troubles.

It would provide benefits of up to $15,000 to victims of violent crime. In no case could the benefit exceed total medical costs or wages lost as a result of the injuries suffered in the crime. These would be limited to $100 per week.

Safeguards are put in so that criminals injured in a crime won't be eligible and persons injured by a close relative wouldn't be eligible.

The bill has much to recommend it from a humanitarian viewpoint. If it does become law, the cost to the people of the state could be substantial.

income and a child fatally ill would receive help with its medical bills when they went above $1,500 in one year.

Fifty years ago when crime was not so prevalent, the state was much more rural and medical science was not nearly so advanced, such measures were not needed. Medical bills were smaller and neighbors could be counted on to help in the crunch.

But modern medical advances make many diseases treatable which were previously fatal. In many cases those treatments are highly expensive. The help for catastrophic illness measure -- jointly sponsored by Rep. Joyce Symons, D-Allen Park, and Sen. Robert Vander Laan, R-Grand Rapids, -- says basically no one should die because they cannot afford medical treatment or be impoverished for life by treatment.

*****

The federal government took a similar view this year when it made most artificial kidney users eligible for Medicare, putting the prohibitively expensive treatment at the disposal of everyone.

Things are much different now than "the good old days" when neighbors would get together to harvest a farmer's crops if he broke a leg or make sure a family was fed if the mother was sick.

But the principle behind these actions, even if stated in modern terms, is still the same: "You are your brother's keeper."

POSSIBLE RELIEF

Victims of catastrophic illness might receive aid next year. If a program approved by the Legislature moves along, some people who face large medical expenses can expect help.

Some $25,000 has been set aside for a study of alternative ways to get money into the hands of such families so that money will not be misapplied. The report is due Jan. 1.

The state has set aside $475,000 to be used for this purpose next year if acceptable plans can be approved. The Department of Public Health is already working hard to devise logical plans.

The present idea is that any family hit by a disease where the costs exceed 15 per cent of its annual income will receive state aid above that percentage. Thus, a family with a $10,000

Waiting for House action when the lawmakers return Oct. 16 is a bill which would compensate victims of violent crime in Michigan. The bill, which has passed the Senate, would for the first time provide state assistance to the victims as well as the perpetrators of the crime.

"We take care of all the needs of the criminal after he commits the crime," says Sen. Patrick McCollough, D-Deerborn, chief sponsor of the bill. "But for the victim it can be an entirely different story. It can mean loss of job, loss of money with no help from society."

"It seems to me we need some minimal standards to provide protection for citizens of this state."

The McCollough bill wouldn't make victims rich, but it could

Fire fighting can be frustrating

Sometimes being a volunteer fireman can be frustrating in more ways than one. Take Tuesday night for instance.

About 9 p.m., an alarm was turned in that a house trailer was burning on Argyle Road about three miles east of M-53. Firefighters raced for the station, jumped into their gear and sped away.

Upon arriving at the scene, all they could find burning was a dead tree in the middle of an open field.

Fire officials said later that the owner of the trailer, who they did not identify, flagged them down and told them it had all been a mistake. Seems he had been standing some distance west of the trailer which was in direct line with the tree.

When the tree burst into flames, he thought his house trailer was burning and summoned firemen. It was not until afterward that he discovered his error.

To top it all off, the man burning the tree had procured a burning permit. "I can't really blame the guy," Elkland Township Fire Chief Dick Root said. "If I'd been him, I would have done the same thing."

Normally a fire run of this type is assessed at $100.

Harvey visits Cass City Friday

Man on the move---that was the best way to describe Congressman Jim Harvey during his whirlwind tour of the Eighth Congressional District last week. Harvey's schedule called for a half-hour stopover at the Elkland Township Cultural Center in Cass City and nearly every second was taken by citizens who came to voice concerns and ask advice on problems peculiar to them.

Harvey, who is "100% recovered" from surgery last January, according to an aide met with 10 persons during his stop in Cass City. He said later that each stop covers a wide spectrum of issues and concerns.

"We try to do what we can for each person," Harvey added. One comment the 13-year veteran congressman said he heard repeatedly concerned his expected appointment as a federal judge for the Eastern District of Michigan.

"They don't want to see me go," he said. "They want me to stay on."

He said any subsequent information concerning the appointment would have to come from the office of U.S. Senator Robert P. Griffin. Griffin has recommended Harvey for the post to President Nixon, who will make the appointment.

Harvey's schedule called for stops in 28 communities in the district on this tour which may be his last as a U. S. Congressman. It is expected that the president will name Harvey to the judgeship in the early autumn.

Meanwhile, Harvey said, he will continue to serve his district as in the past. His reputation for accessibility and prompt action have made him extremely popular with his constituents.

One citizen who stopped by to see him recalled a time he telephoned Harvey in Washington, seeking his aid in a pressing matter. He said Harvey arranged to reverse the charges on the phone call, as well as acting on the problem.

Another person drove from Saginaw just to see Harvey for three minutes to air her views. She explained that she was a former resident of Cass City and always made it a practice to see the congressman on his tour through the area.

Some came in pairs, others alone. All with the same idea, to meet their representative in Washington and to feel as though they had a say in what was happening.

After the last citizen left, the last case sheet filed away in the briefcase and the lights turned out, it was into the van and away for another stop in another town with other constituents waiting to have their say.

Another day on the move for Jim Harvey.

WILLIS LABLANC discusses a matter of importance with Congressman Jim Harvey during Harvey's stopover in Cass City Friday. Harvey met 10 constituents from this area in the half-hour visit.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

It's powerful hot out here in the country where the air is the way the Good Lord made it. I reckon, Mister Editor, that you've took to using your air condition umbrella to get from office to car and from car to house. When they is a breeze it's nice on my porch, but when the air is dead still like it's been some days lately I spend a heap of time rocking. I have been reminded how a feller can do some mighty good thinking setting and rocking.

For instant, I figgered out quick to rock with the grain cause when you rock agin the grain the floor squeeks and reminds the old lady of the chores she had laid out for you. I was thinking jest this morning that you don't see front porches, much less rocking chairs, in new houses, and I think that explains a lot about the way things is going in this country. Rocking for a spell puts a feller at peace with hisself and his world.

I was thinking about the fellers at he country store talking about privileges of paying taxes, and I thought how everything can git turned around. It used to be a feller would brag about his youngun making the dean's list at school, but now everybody that knows anybody on John Dean's list is worried about what the CIA, FBI and IRS will find out about em. And I can recall when a feller was sent to prison for punishment, and now I see by the papers where convicts go to Jaycee conventions and they get co-ed prisons. The boys in the old CCC would of gladly traded them camps for a modern prison term. It ain't no wonder the Ex-Convict Clubs is growing, they got a tradition to keep up.

General speaking, Mister Editor, you can't trust tradition. Time was a preacher was give the benefit of ever doubt, but nowadays a heap of em keep their business and the Lord's business a fur piece apart. This feller out here used to trade horses, but now he trades and fixes tractors and lawnmowers. He was telling me this preacher come in some time back with a tractor to trade for a smaller one cause he couldn't tend emuff garden to need the big one. The preacher said his tractor was in perfect shape, so the feller give him a good deal on a trade. After the preacher left the feller tried to crank the tractor and found out the engine block was busted.

As luck would have it, the preacher come back to his shop the other day with his boy's motorbike he wanted fixed. The feller figgered the job and told the preacher he wanted pay in advance. The preacher got upset and said it looked like the feller didn't trust the Lord. "Well, I wouldn't say that," allowed the old horse trader, "I ain't never traded tractors with the Lord."

Actual, Mister Editor, I reckon human nature is like crab grass. The Lord put em here to stay. You can cuss em, pray over em, plow em under and beat em with a stick, but you can bet your bottom dollar they'll still be there.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Solid waste problem faced by Cass City, county

BY JIM KETCHUM

Disposal of solid waste has become a nationwide problem. No community, township, county or state is immune to the ever-increasing tons of trash which require proper treatment and disposal each year. Our highly industrialized society, our high standard of living and changes in packaging have all caused solid wastes to climb alarmingly.

Today, the trash burner in the back yard and the local dump cannot do the job it once did, many communities are finding. Federal and state laws have been passed regulating disposal of wastes which prohibit open burning and regulate management of dumps.

In Michigan, the Department of Health has been given responsibility for the proper handling and disposal of wastes. They, along with the Department of Natural Resources, have established criteria which must be met by each county.

By July 1, 1974, all counties must submit plans for solid waste disposal on a county-wide basis. Planning with the East Central Michigan Planning and Development Region has resulted in a rough plan which would call for a one-site system of disposal on which Garvin J. Brasseur, Natural Resource Planner for the region, is currently working.

A formal presentation of the plan is expected at a meeting of the Board of Commissioners later in the summer or in early autumn.

The one-site plan reportedly will cost the county less than another plan calling for development of three disposal sites. These would be located in Caro, Vassar and Cass City. Total cost of such a plan would have run in the neighborhood of $346,000 and taken up about 145 acres of land in total.

Under the plan currently being finalized, one site would be utilized which would service the county's approximately 50,000 residents and handle about 111 tons per day or 34,700 tons per year.

Total cost of the one site would be about $123,000 and cover about 173 acres. Planning calls for the site to meet the needs of Tuscola County residents until at least 1990.

While no one wants a dump in their midst, Cass City's existing 40 acre facility has proven an excellent model for county-wide planning. The facility, located south of the village, currently serves the disposal needs of Elkhart, Ellington and Novesta Townships at a cost of about $5,000 per year.

According to Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie, the area is in better than average condition and ranks as one of the highest in terms of procedure used in disposal. It is, in fact, the only state-licensed disposal area of its kind in Tuscola County.

Burning at the disposal area is limited and a burning permit must be obtained from the fire department before the area may be incinerated. Ideally, no burning is to take place, but occasionally piles of brush and trees are disposed of in this manner.

LaPonsie foresees the day when all burning, even in back yard trash burners, will be banned, either by village ordinance or by state directive. He added that disposal problems would then be eased, because the most efficient use can be made of a solid waste disposal area if burning does not occur. Problems with smoke and fly ash, for example, are eliminated.

"Garbage and food wastes would be separated from papers and other solid materials," he said, "and each would be treated in its own way. By doing this, you make your landfill last up to twice as long."

When the day comes that back yard burning is eliminated, LaPonsie sees little extra problem in changing over to a collection system which would haul wastes away.

He indicated that the village could go one of two routes: either pick it up itself or contract the job out to private industry. He said the second option would probably be more economically feasible, citing the example of Marlette and its trash collection system which employs a contractor who covers a wide geographic area.

LaPonsie also said that in the upper peninsula, virtually no back yard burning is allowed in any community and has been prohibited since 1971. He indicated that, since residents have gotten used to the idea, they seem satisfied with the system.

"People don't have to put up with papers blowing around, they don't have dogs getting into things and messing the trash up and they don't have to put up with smoke," he said.

Collections are made once a week in residential areas and twice a week in commercial and industrial areas.

LaPonsie said glass recycling in this area was not economically feasible, due to the fact that the low volume makes costs for the facilities required prohibitive.

On the state level, the practice of back yard burning is also frowned upon officially and local units of government are being asked to pass non-burning ordinances.

According to Fred Kellow, Chief of the Division of Solid Waste Management for the DNR, the state does not want to hire enforcement personnel to police such an ordinance and stresses the need for local government to handle the job, preferably on a township-wide basis.

According to Kellow, no state of federal monies are available to handle the upgrading of solid waste disposal and financing must come at the county level. This, he added, could be done one of two ways—either through a direct user charge or by a property tax. Usually, this type of financing is developed on a fee for services rendered basis, Kellow said.

Kellow pointed out that there are several ways of approaching the operation of such a solid waste disposal unit at the county level. The law permits the county board of commissioners to designate a public works department to handle it or it can designate the road commission as the agency.

Additionally, a combination of governments within a county can handle the task.

"We do not want to leave the impression that the state has the ultimate answer to the problem," Kellow said. "We are trying to work with local units of government to solve the problem. The local units can run a landfill much better than a state agency can."

Should a one-site facility be approved for Tuscola County, Kellow said, it would not preclude the continued operation of Cass City's own landfill.

"We don't have the authority to say your town can't run its own landfill if it meets state requirements," he said.

Location of a single site has not been determined yet and will not until the board of commissioners has a chance to look over data supplied by ECMPDR and decide for itself.

CASS CITY'S sanitary land fill currently ranks as one of the best in Tuscola County and is the only state-licensed facility of its kind in the county.

Your neighbor says

We buy less meat

Meat continues in short supply and observers believe things will get worse before the price freeze on beef is lifted Sept. 12, Mrs. Morris Meredith of Snover is one who is feeling the pinch, like many others. She says she is buying cheaper cuts of meat these days and is buying less of it.

"We have casseroles once in a while, but my husband is a meat and potatoes man and so we still buy meat," she says.

Mrs. Meredith adds that substitutes such as chicken and fish are not too popular at their home.

"I don't like fish and my husband doesn't like chicken, so we buy meat," she says. "And it all comes out of the store. We don't have any of it in a freezer."

Her husband is a steam boiler repairman and they have lived near Snover many years.

Owen-Gage sets opening dates

School opening for the Owendale Gagetown Area School students will begin on Tuesday August 28 with all day sessions for grades 1-12. The kindergarten children will begin their half day sessions also on August 28. The afternoon session will begin at 11:45 a.m. due to the earlier student dismissal this year. Students will begin their day at 8:30 a.m. and be dismissed at 2:25 p.m. All teachers will have their preparation conference period from 2:25 - 3:20 p.m.

School bus routes will be essentially the same as last year, until the enrollment pattern dictates changes.

Parents of children new to the district that have not registered their children are urged to do so before the opening of school so bus routing and class assignments can be made with a minimum of trouble.

The school lunch program will begin on the 28th also. Due to increased costs, the price of lunches has to be raised. The price for the present will be $ .30 per day or $1.50 per week for grades 1-5 and $ .40 per day or $2.00 per week for grades 6-12.

Teacher orientation meetings will be held in the Owendale building beginning at 8:30 a.m. on Monday, August 27.

Schedule for senior high students to report to school for class schedule, books, and locker is as follows: Seniors August 20, Juniors August 21, Sophomores August 22, Freshmen August 23. Call to come between the hours of 8:30 - 4:00.

Grades 1 through 5 will be at the Gagetown center and grades kindergarten, sixth through twelfth will be at the Owendale center.

Registered voters are reminded of the Huron Intermediate school district election of August 28. The issue being presented is to build and operate an area vocational center for the Huron Intermediate School district which includes the Owen-Gage district. The election will be held in the Elmwood township hall in Gagetown. Absentee ballots are available at the superintendent's office in Owendale.

Big Brothers watch Tigers trip Chisox

A group of 65 men and boys accompanied Tuscola County Big Brothers to Tiger Stadium Sunday to watch the Tigers take a 6-2 decision from the Chicago White Sox.

This was the largest group outing for the organization thus far. By the end of August, over 20 big and little brother matches will have been made. Director Dave Parsch says that men are especially needed in the Cass City area. About 20 boys are currently on the organization's waiting list.

Anyone interested in becoming a Big Brother should call 673-6996 for more information.

PREPAREDNESS
Don't expect opportunity to knock at your door tomorrow unless you really made an honest bid for it yesterday.

STEVE RICHARDS (left), is on offense while brother Mike guards during practice at the second in a series of three basketball camps currently being held on the campus of Northern Michigan University, Marquette. The boys, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Richards of Cass City, participated in the camp designed to emphasize individual basketball skills that can be improved upon by individual practice and maneuvers. Head NMU basketball coach Glenn Brown watches the action.

Erla's lose in finals; prep for play-offs

A disputed decision in the final game of the District 8 Class C softball tournament at Port Huron went against Erla's Sunday and as a result the Foodmen from Cass City were eliminated by Jonsey's Bar of Port Huron.

As divisional champs, Erla's will face Mayville VFW, National division champs for the league title.

Manager Dan Erla said that the play-off date is not yet decided. It undoubtedly will be sometime next week, he added.

Shortages felt in area school systems

The Cass City School System finds itself in the same position as many households in Cass City--unable to buy meat.

The board of education has received no bids on meat for the school's hot lunch program for the 1973-74 school year. No meat does not necessarily mean curtailing the program, according to Supt. Donald Crouse.

"We plan to start in September and then review how we've done at the October board meeting," Crouse said Tuesday. "The school is like anyone else when they have to buy food and fuel."

One bid on fuel oil was turned in by the same firm that sold to the school last year. Crouse said this denies the school the advantage of comparing prices but does say that the school will have oil.

"Allocations will be made on the basis of last year's deliveries," he said.

The school burns number two fuel oil.

The board received three bids on milk.

The situation is markedly different for the Owendale-Gagetown system. According to Supt. Glen Sanford, the school district buys food and fuel on the open market, making the use of bids unnecessary.

"We buy gas out of the pump," Sanford explained. "Of course, we pay pump prices. On fuel oil, we deal with local people and we don't have to bid.

"On milk, we deal locally, so no bid there. When the price goes up, we have to pass it along to the students."

He said other food used in the hot lunch program is available through routemen who come through the area, again with no bids involved.

He indicated that an effort would be made to eliminate all non-essential trips by school buses and other district vehicles to hold costs down. He hinted that travel for students to events such as away sports events could be arranged on a fee basis per student.

"The situation won't kill us," Sanford said. "We can survive."

At Uby, inquiries regarding bids for fuel oil and gasoline have begun to come in following the disclosure last week that no price quotations on these two items had been submitted at the last board meeting.

According to Supt. Joseph Calmi's office, new letters of inquiry have been sent to last year's bidders with an Aug. 20 deadline. It was felt that publicity stating that school might be faced with closing brought out these new inquiries.

"The people around here won't let school close," a spokesperson in Calmi's office said. "With these new bids, things may work out."

Petroglyphs Park gets state funding

Two bills were signed into law last week which will provide a total of $547,000 for development of Sanilac County's new Petroglyphs State Park in 1974. According to State Senator Alvin Degrow, Governor William Milliken approved the legislation designed to preserve the ancient carvings.

One bill provides $97,000 for the construction of roads, parking facilities and a building to protect the rare Indian rock carvings from further weather deterioration.

The second bill provides the Department of Natural Resources, which now controls park development, with another $450,000 for new land acquisition to expand existing park facilities, if and when this land becomes available. Nineteen state parks are listed to possibly benefit from this money, including Petroglyphs Park.

To get to the finals, Erla's was forced to defeat Ketterwell's twice.

The Foodmen opened the tournament with a 5-4 decision as Al Bosch picked up the win. He was touched for six hits and struck out five. His teammates backed him with a 10-hit attack led by Wally Hempton with two hits in four tries.

The two teams met again Saturday and Al Bosch was near perfect as Ketterwell's was eliminated via a 3-0 shutout.

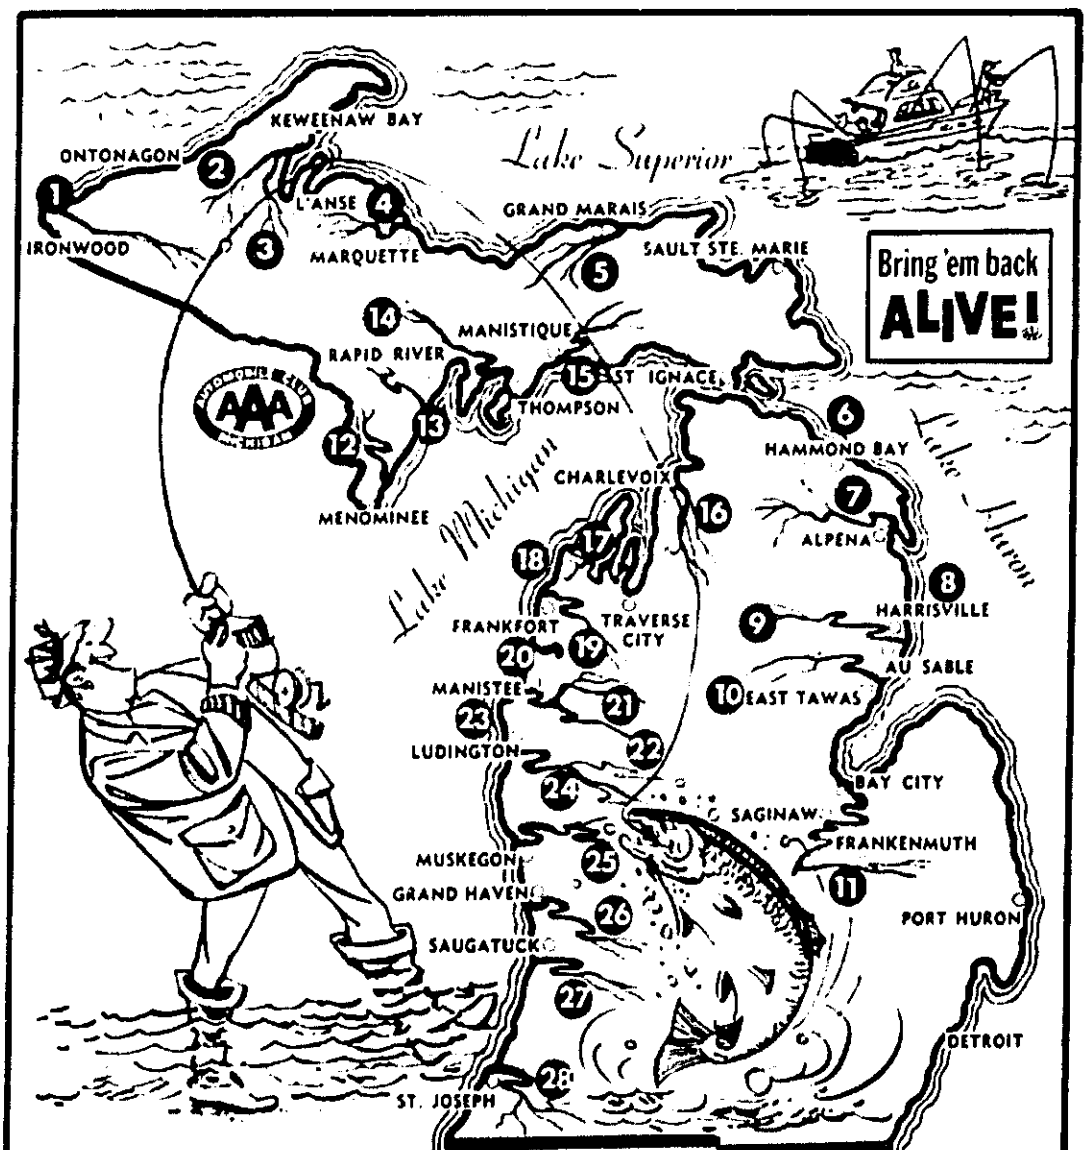

Erla's broke open a tight game by bunting three of their six hits in the sixth when all the runs in the game were recorded.

But all the victory did was set the stage for eliminations in the finals in the action already described.

LEAGUE PLAY

Erla's do have the American division of the Thumb Traveling League wrapped up as a consolation prize. Erla's finished the season with a 17-2 record.
