

Hawks bow to league co-champs Vassar

It was Vassar's first chance to share in a Thumb B Conference title since the league was formed and there was no way that the Vulcan gridders would be denied Friday as they measured the Cass City Red Hawks, 37-0.

It was obvious that the players were sky-high for the game and they showed early that this was the year they had been waiting for. While the Vassar offense was doing its job, the defense was even more effective for the co-champions.

It was the defense that picked off seven of Quarterback Jerry Toner's passes. In the Junior quarterback's defense, four of them went through the hands of the receiver before being intercepted on the rainy, wet field Friday.

Still, the best Cass City was able to do was a total of 109 yards in 40 offensive plays. Vassar piled up 256 yards rushing.

Vassar started the scoring early in the first quarter when Larry Martin cashed a 32-yard field goal.

Later in the period Jim Baranski scored on a six-yard spurt and a two-point conversion was good.

Baranski scored twice more in the second quarter to remove any doubt remaining about who was going to win the final league game of the season for both clubs.

He scored on runs of four and one yards for a 23-0 halftime lead.

In the third quarter a costly Cass City fumble resulted in another Vulcan TD. Wade picked up the loose ball and rambled 29 yards to paydirt.

Toby Proffler picked off a Cass City pass in the fourth quarter to complete the touchdown parade. Martin's successful conversion completed the scoring for the night.

It was the final game for 11 Cass City Seniors. Among them were two standouts who played three years for the varsity. End Scott Hartel and All star Chet Sieradzki.

SCOTT HARTEL catches another pass for Cass City Friday. The Senior end finished a brilliant three-year varsity career against Vassar.

Also completing careers were Dave Brooks, Charles Tuckey, Paul Becker, Kevin Corvett, Gary Eisinger, Steve Izydorek, Mike Frederick, Scott Gunther and Dale Lanning.

JV's lose to

Marlette 30-8

Thursday

Cass City's Junior Varsity played the strongest team in the Thumb B Conference last Thursday and were defeated, 30-8.

The loss brought the team's season's record down to four wins and three losses.

Marlette touched the year undefeated. The Red Raiders scored first on a sustained drive.

Cass City charged back to even the game with a touchdown of its own and then forced briefly in front on the strength of a two-point conversion.

That was the last bright spot of the night for the Hawks. Marlette took complete control of the game after the Cass City score.

Showing a bruising ground game the Red Raiders moved steadily through the Cass City defense to score four more times before the final whistle.

A BRIGHT SPOT in a dismal season was provided by Ed Stoutenburg, a halfback who steadily improved all season. He'll be back next year. Number 45 is Scott Gunther who completed his grid career.

Increased attendance brings smiles to State Fair board

Red ink on the books of Michigan State Fair accounts turned to black this year, reversing a downward trend that began in 1970.

"It looks like happy days are here again for the Michigan State Fair," says Ralph Morrow, deputy director of the Agriculture Department and acting State Fair manager.

Gross receipts for 1973 were down from the previous year's figures, but those numbers don't tell the story. For one thing, the '73 Fair ran for 12 days, while the '72 Fair lasted 17. And another important matter to consider: the Fair finished in the red last year, but Dr. Morrow says "estimates show the 1973 Fair finished solidly in the black."

The Department reports average daily paid admissions this year were 30,495, up 22 per cent from the 1972 daily average. Other things were up too: daily average amount paid at the gate, up 27 per cent; midway revenue to the Fair, up 49 per cent; parking revenue, up 28 per cent; and total daily revenue, up 36 per cent.

Why was attendance up at the Fair this year?

"Each year the Fair becomes more centrally located," comes the suggestion from one closely connected with the Fair. "We're not moving the Fair—the people are moving to the Fair."

He points out that the Fair location, in the Woodward and Seven Mile Rd. area of Detroit, is "really in town now, and that's a big plus factor."

BUZZING MICHIGAN

"THE PEOPLE OF THE STATE OF MICHIGAN ENACT (Proposed):

"Sec. 1. The honey bee is designated as the official insect of the state."

Such is the goal of Rep. R. D. Young, a Republican from Saginaw.

The honey bee? Why not? The fuzzy buzzing little creature helps pollinate Michigan crops and put food on many tables.

The "rent-a-bee" business is a relatively modern one, especially for blueberry plantations. Not so many years ago, it was thought that the bumble bee could not effectively pollinate blueberry bushes, that honey bees didn't do the job effectively because their tongues were too short to reach far enough into the flower.

But research at Michigan State University disproved that theory, and honey bees were in a business other than making honey.

Rep. Young figures the busy bee should join the ranks of official Michigan symbols, like the robin and the Petoskey stone.

Intermediate school faces fuel crisis as supplier terminates heating oil deliveries

FIRE DESTROYED much of the Caro Farmers Co-op Elevator Sunday night, causing an estimated $90,000 damage. Elkland Township Firemen assisted Caro and Mayville fire departments in battling the flames for over seven hours before bringing the fire under control.

Sunday fire destroys Caro grain elevator

Elkland Township Fire Department assisted Caro and Mayville Fire Departments in containing a huge fire which destroyed much of the Caro Farmers Co-op Elevator in Caro Sunday night. Elkland firefighters stayed on the scene until approximately 2:00 a.m., fighting the blaze being fed with grain and natural gas from a ruptured line.

According to Ralph Hartman, Supt. of Public Works for Caro who acted as spokesman for the Caro Fire Dept., the fire was discovered around 7:30 p.m. by two unidentified youths who spotted smoke coming from the top of the elevator.

Hartman said the youths turned in the alarm and stayed at the post until firemen arrived on the scene. Hartman said Monday a cause had not yet been determined. Damage was estimated at $90,000.

He said the elevator and grain dryer was a total loss. Also destroyed was a storage bin. The office area of the complex escaped serious damage, according to Hartman.

Mayville Fire Department also assisted Caro and Cass City fire fighters in confining the blaze to the elevator area. Two Caro firemen were injured when a timber fell. They were taken to Caro Community Hospital where they were treated and released.

The fire reportedly started in the north end of the elevator in an upper section. Hartman said. Wheat and corn fed the fire, along with natural gas from a 1 1/4 inch gas line which ruptured at the height of the blaze.

Consumers Power Co. workmen had previously shut off gas to the building itself, but the line running from the main to the building apparently ruptured and fed the flames before workers could shut the gas off.

Hartman said the fire fighters' largest concern was to keep the fire from spreading to a nearby Detroit Edison pole storage area, to the Walbro plant and to natural gas storage tanks.

Sparks, fanned by stiff winds, flew over much of the area. Hartman said the fact that the grass and most other vegetation was wet at the time helped firemen keep the blaze contained to the elevator complex.

At one point, the three fire departments were pumping as much as 1,400 gallons of water per minute on the raging inferno.

Caro firemen were still on the scene Monday, hosing down burning debris, primarily burning timbers and smoldering grain.

Fire officials are continuing their investigation into the cause of the fire.

There is enough fuel oil left at the Cass City Intermediate School to heat the building until Dec. 1 and after that there will be no more available from the school's present supplier.

The dilemma was revealed this week by Supt. Donald Crouse after Enterprise Oil Co. revealed that there would be no more oil for its 250 industrial customers following the embargo that cut the flow of an estimated half million gallons of Canadian oil that was imported in Detroit every day.

Al Cytacki, president of Enterprise, said that once present customers run out of fuel they're done.

Fortunately, the supply problem concerns only the Intermediate School. The elementary schools in Cass City, Deford and Evergreen are furnished oil by Standard Oil which apparently has oil now. These schools burn a different grade of oil.

Supt. Crouse reported Wednesday that he has contacted the governor's task force on fuel supply for hardship cases in Lansing.

What the result will be is not yet known. However, according to the guidelines established, schools are not at the top of the priority list.

According to a letter dated Nov. 1 from Dr. John Porter, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, schools will rank after hospitals, institutions, private homes and, in some cases, industry.

The embargo has affected other area institutions and industry. Apparently homes and local industry are in a better position. (See story page 15, section two.)

Michigan Sugar officials report that there is enough oil to last until Dec. 1 and then the plant will close.

The Caro Retardation Center was nearly out of fuel last week end. Temperatures were cut drastically. Some rooms were in the 60's instead of the normal 74.

Patients remained in bed to keep warm. An emergency shipment of fuel at the Center arrived Monday and should last 10 days.

There is no more insight for the facility at the present time.

Detroit Edison said that oil accounts for about 20 per cent of fuel it uses to supply electricity. The company is making emergency plans, but at the present time has enough to meet demands.

There is virtually no chance for aid from local sources. The school burns a number four fuel oil and in cold weather burns about 8,000 gallons every 21 days.

Crouse said that there is also no chance that the estimated 600 students in the Intermediate School could be shifted temporarily to other schools in the system.

Provincial House denies pullout

While Provincial House, Inc., no longer owns the recently-completed nursing home complex in Cass City, it will continue to lease the structure and operate the business for at least the next 20 years.

"Provincial House has no intention of pulling out of Cass City," Richard Palm, Provincial House director, said Monday. "We like it there and we're definitely going to stay."

Rumors had been circulating earlier that the organization had sold the 117-bed nursing home and would soon leave the community. Palm sought to clarify the situation and explained that the transfer of the property to an investment group was strictly procedural.

"What happens is a simple change of ownership of the bricks and mortar," Palm explained. "What we do is hire our contracting firm to build the building. Then, when it's completed, we sell it to an investment group and immediately take HUNTER BOB WATSON of rural Cass City put his bow and arrow to good use late Saturday when he bagged this 10-point buck on land he owns east of Cass City. He explained that the deer, the first he ever shot with a bow and arrow, came into sight around 5:00 p.m. After hitting the animal, it ran about half a mile. Watson explained he recovered the buck the following morning.

"It was a real thrill," Watson said after the kill.

Area prospects good for deer season, DNR says

Deer hunting prospects for Tuscola county and the Thumb area look good this year with a herd as good or better than last year's, according to Carlton R. (Bud) Jarvis, Department of Natural Resources wildlife biologist from Caro.

Two Caro firemen were

There is a large number of deer in the Deford and Tuscola game areas, Jarvis reports, with the Minden City state game area a particularly "hot spot" for deer. With a good portion of the corn harvest out of the way Jarvis adds, prospects for hunters bagging an elusive whitetail look promising.

Jarvis also reports a large amount of poaching in both the Deford and Tuscola game areas. He indicated 19 cases of either shining deer

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Van Erp

St. Columbkille Catholic Church was the setting for the wedding of Susan McRae and Robert Van Erp Saturday, Oct. 27. Rev. Fr. George Klimas officiated at the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McRae of Cass City. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Van Erp of Bad Axe.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and wore a gown of polyester double knit, trimmed at the neckline and at the Empire waist with chantilly lace. A finger-tip veil and a bouquet of white mums with yellow sweetheart roses complemented her attire.

Maid of honor was Laurie McRae, sister of the bride. She wore a gown featuring a bodice of white lace with Victorian sleeves bordered with deep flounce in emerald green. She carried a bouquet of bronze, orange and gold mums surrounded by lace.

Bridesmaid was Kay Van Erp, sister-in-law of the groom. Her gown matched that of the maid of honor. Bridal attendants wore large picture hats to match the taffeta skirts and featured long white streamers and bands encircling the crown of each hat.

Best man was Bill Van Erp, brother of the groom. Groomsman was Dennis Sweeney, friend of the groom. Ushers were Randy Rayl, cousin of the bride, and John Cieslinski, friend of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a gown featuring a bodice of silver metallic on a white background, with a long skirt of hunter green. She wore a corsage of yellow sweetheart roses.

The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length light blue gown trimmed with white lace on collar and cuffs. She wore a corsage of pink sweetheart roses.

The church was decorated with vases of yellow gladioli.

Organ music was provided by Mrs. Homer Pickering and songs were sung by Tom Wolschlagner.

A reception for 475 persons was held following the ceremony at the Pigeon VFW Hall.

Following a wedding trip in northern Michigan, the couple will reside in the Bad Axe area.

Sensible, safe driving saves $$$

Safe, sensible driving not only saves lives but also can mean a $232 annual reduction in gasoline costs for the average motorist, Automobile Club of Michigan fuel economy tests have revealed.

The tests, conducted with a 1971 Chevrolet Impala over a 22.8-mile commuter route, showed a maximum 44 per cent fuel loss when the car was operated by a "poor driver" as compared to a "good driver."

"Driving habits had a dramatically larger impact on gas mileage than either an untuned engine or air conditioner use," Ari Gibson, Auto Club Safety and Traffic Engineering manager, said. "Our tests showed there was about a 10 per cent fuel loss due to air conditioning and slightly less than a seven per cent loss as result of a badly untuned engine."

Good driving techniques used in the tests included smooth acceleration, travel at an even rate of speed and never using brakes more than required to make routine stops.

To demonstrate bad driving habits, Auto Club's test driver made "jack rabbit" starts, rapid stops, weaved in and out of traffic and several times accelerated to the point where he had to apply brakes to avoid hitting the car in front of him.

Traveling in mid-afternoon traffic, the test car got 14.36 mpg with good driving habits and 8.11 mpg with bad driving habits for the maximum 44 per cent fuel loss. Morning "rush hour" test runs resulted in 14.38 mpg with good driving and 8.24 mpg with bad driving. The fuel loss was 43 per cent.

The tests, supervised by Auto Club by the Detroit Testing Laboratory of Oak Park, covered a circular route which went south into downtown Detroit from the Lodge Freeway, north on Woodward Avenue and then west on Eight Mile Road.

In calculating that $232 a year in gasoline costs can be saved by safe driving, Auto Club estimated that the average motorist drives 10,000 miles annually. Regular gas was priced at 43.3 cents a gallon—the current state average, according to Auto Club's weekly "fuel gauge" survey of Michigan service stations.

"We used a '71 Chevrolet with a 350 cubic inch, V-8 engine because our research showed this represents the average type of car on the road today," Gibson said.

Another phase of Auto Club's fuel economy tests showed a 23 per cent maximum fuel loss due to bad driving habits when the test car was operated at 70 mph expressway speeds.

On the ten-mile expressway route, 13.93 mpg was recorded for good driving habits and 10.7 mpg when poor driving habits were used.

"Previous tests have established that above a certain level, higher speeds do result in fuel losses," said Gibson in explaining that Auto Club's tests showed a better maximum gas mileage for its city route than for the expressway route.

"However, since there were fewer occasions to stop and start than in city driving, the effects of bad driving habits on gas mileage were less than on the commuter route," he added.

Gibson noted that testing cars for expressway gas mileage performance at 70 mph is an "important facet of any effort to determine fuel economy."

"The federal Environmental Protection Agency, in testing all 1974 car models recently for gas mileage, limited the significance of its findings by confining tests only to lower-speed urban travel," he said.

The Auto Club car used a special two-gallon gas tank and a "fifth wheel" device attached to the rear bumper. The tank was measured before and after each run, and mileage was calculated by comparing the amount of gas consumed with the fifth wheel's measurement of speed and distance traveled.

"Our test results add one more excellent reason why all motorists should drive safely," Gibson said. "Motorists who are feeling the pinch of increased gas prices should be heartened by the fact that if they watch how they drive, they can significantly cut fuel costs."

She carried a bouquet featuring carnations and baby's breath.

Bridesmaid was Rose Nicholas, sister of the bride. She was attired in a gown matching that of the maid of honor and carried a similar bouquet.

Best man was Robert Tate, brother of the groom. Groomsman was Tim Tate, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother wore a dark green floor-length gown featuring long sleeves and an Empire waist and sequins surrounding pearls. She wore a white carnation.

The bridegroom's mother wore a long, burgundy gown featuring a stand-up collar with silver trim. She wore a white carnation.

Flowers at the church were carnations and roses covered with baby's breath. Music included "Perfect Love," the "Lord's Prayer" and "One Hand, One Heart".

A reception for family members was held following the ceremony at the Lamp Lighter in Pigeon.

The bride is a 1969 graduate of Cass City High School and is now employed at Walbro Corp. in Caro.

The bridegroom is a 1969 graduate of Laker High School and is employed at Saginaw Steering Gear. After a brief trip through northern Michigan, the couple will reside near Caro.

Annual request: Deer season opens Tuesday. Yes, the Chronicle wants a picture of the first deer shot and any deer with outstanding racks. We also want to list the details of every successful hunt. So call and tell us, won't you?

You can tell that deer season is fast approaching. Perhaps it is the bow and arrow hunters or hunters scouting the woods for ideal locations that causes it. But every year about this time there is a sharp upsurge in the deer-auto accidents. This week four have been reported in the Cass City area.

Deer season looks good, DNR says

or apprehending hunters with loaded guns.

He says the physical condition of the herd appears to be good, adding that the increased highway kill rising by a greater percentage than the traffic flow, indicates the deer are there.

Despite poaching, there should be a good number of legal targets for opening day, Thursday, Nov. 15.

As was done last year, successful hunters are asked to check their kill at the Caro field office. In addition, Jarvis says, checking stations will be established in Sandusky and Bad Axe. A possible station in Cass City is under discussion, but nothing definite has been decided along these lines.

The reason for checking is to allow the DNR to evaluate where the deer are being taken and the condition of the animals being killed.

All hunters reporting to the checking station will receive a successful hunter armband.

In Tuscola county, deer of both sexes may be taken, providing the hunter carries both a regular hunting license and a special antlerless permit.

women meet

The St. Pancratius Women's Council met Monday, Nov. 5. It was decided to send monthly checks and work on special projects for Sister Jerry Megel to help in her mission at South Carolina.

The Women's Council will also purchase a share of stock to help the new doctors clinic. Michele Zdrzewski spoke on projects the council could do to help the patients in the Provincial Nursing Home. Refreshments were served afterwards.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Just to set the record straight before I start: I voted for George McGovern in the last presidential election.

I didn't think much of King Richard then and I don't today.

But I'm 100 per cent against impeachment. If the president resigns, well, okay. Not good, but okay. We could limp along with Jerry Ford.

If nothing else all of us could boast that a Michigan man finally became president of the United States, for whatever that's worth. A good many of us could say that we met and talked with the president.

More to the point is that Ford will be able to carry on in a patchwork executive office until the next election. The key word is carry on. If the president resigns the work would carry on.

If impeachment talk continues, this nation will be in a state of limbo for months, perhaps years, before things are settled.

It's hard to see how a successful impeachment could be sustained.

The roadblocks are considerable.

Private reservations or suspicions about the actions of the executive office are not proof of offenses that make impeachment possible.

If it gets to the Senate it's hard to see a two-thirds majority voting to oust the president.

So it fails. And a year or so from today we are in substantially the same position that we are today.

Much of the news media and many qualified political observers fear that the president's ability to run the country has been so impaired that he can't run the country.

I can't buy that. It will run. Not as well. But it will run. Run about as well as it would if Jerry Ford were president.

This whole mess will be over quicker with Nixon in than with an attempt to put Nixon out. We'll start moving again sooner with him than without him.

Before Watergate I was more concerned about our government than I am today. I feel safer now than I did then.

run roughshod over the press and political opponents, I worried.

When Agnew was castigating the press and a good many citizens were applauding, I worried.

When reporters were being thrown in jail for protecting the people's right to know, I worried.

Now there is no way that King Richard can mount an unassailable throne. Put himself above the constitution. Above the people.

That worry is over. Now, more important than showing the president how we feel is turning our attention to the affairs of the nation that have come to a standstill.

That's why we should resign ourselves to the president until his term ends.

It's not a pleasant prospect, but it's the best choice that is available.

CASS CITY VILLAGE COUNCIL MEETING

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on October 23, 1973, at the Municipal Building. All Trustees except Trustee Bliss were present.

Mr. James McCoy representing C. A. T. V., was present to report on his progress. He has received his Federal Communications Commission permit and hopes to have a tower up and the system in operation by the end of the year.

A motion was made by Trustee Ware and supported by Trustee Rawson to accept the recommendation of the Streets and Parking Committee to purchase the Keith Pobanz property at an additional $1,000.00 for a total amount of $16,500.00. Disposition of the house was tabled until the next meeting.

Ed Karr, Elkland Township Supervisor, and Ferris Ware, Elkland Township Clerk, were present to request the Council to approve the Village's half of re-roofing the Cultural Center. A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire and supported by Trustee Jones to accept the recommendation of the Elkland Township Board to repair the Cultural Center roof at a cost of $375.00 to the Village, total $750.00 with a five year guarantee. Motion carried.

A letter was read from Daniel Toshach, Architect, estimating the cost of the facilities to serve the Orr Woods and Orr East parts of the park at $54,646.00. No further action was taken, pending final specifications for public bids.

A motion was made by Trustee Tuttle and supported by Trustee Hampshire to give authorization to proceed with digging of an additional trench at the landfill. Motion carried.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Ware to accept the following resolution:

"That the Village Council dedicate Ale Street and Water Tower Road and the continuation of Hospital Drive for public street uses."

Motion carried. It was reported that Edward Anthes had received his license to operate the Village Water Department.

A letter from the State Highway Department acknowledging Village compliance with signing recommendations and agreeing to make Hill Street a major street was read.

A motion was made by Trustee Jones and supported by Trustee Ware to accept the following resolution:

"That the Village Council accept the resolution from the County Road Commission relinquishing 1320' of North Seeger to Village jurisdiction."

Motion carried. A motion was made by Trustee Rawson and supported by Trustee Tuttle that the bills as examined be approved for payment. Motion carried.

Bill Juhasz was also present since attendance at a Council meeting was required in order to earn a Scout badge.

A motion was made by Trustee Hampshire and supported by Trustee Jones that the Village proceed with the construction of a crown in the center of Rose Street in an effort to control the run off water. Motion carried.

There being no further business, a motion was made by Trustee Tuttle and supported by Trustee Ware that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Lawrence Cummings named mayor of Gagetown Monday

Lawrence Cummings was named the new mayor of Gagetown by the village council at a regularly scheduled meeting Monday night.

Cummings fills the unexpired term of the late James England who died Oct. 1. Cummings has lived in Gagetown for over 30 years and has served as mayor previously some 10 years ago. He has also served on village council.

He is employed in the circulation department of the Bay City Times.

In other business, council voted to offer Elmwood township the option of purchasing the village landfill site, which would then be used by both the village and the township.

The action was taken because the Elmwood township dump has been ordered closed within 20 days.

Mayor Cummings said the council will meet with the township, probably next week to work out details, but would not predict what would eventually happen. The Gagetown landfill covers a little over 10 acres.

A park memorial fund for the Gagetown Village Park was established by council. Persons may give memorials to the park in the name of loved ones who have died or in honor of individuals.

She completed her undergraduate work in three years, having graduated from Ubyly High School in 1970. She graduated Cum Laude in her class. Students must begin their final semester with a total cumulative grade point average of 3.15 and must have completed at least 45 hours of credit in residence.

Cum Laude students must fall between 3.15 and who may deserve special recognition. The money will be used for park improvements.

Three building permits were approved. Amasa Anthes was given a permit to install a 12,000 gallon gasoline tank underground on Cleaver Street at a cost of $20,000.

Charles Parker was given a permit to improve an entrance to his home on State Street. A permit was also approved for the construction of a 30 by 36 foot steel building on the Texaco Service station lot at a cost of $5,000.

Four area students graduate from CMU

Four area students were among 650 to be awarded degrees from Central Michigan University at the end of the summer sessions in August.

Commencement exercises were not held at CMU during the summer or fall, but August graduates have been invited to participate in the mid-year commencement, to be held this year on Dec. 15.

Barbara A. Sageman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl R. Sageman of McAllister Road, Ubyly, received a bachelor of science degree in office administration.

She completed her undergraduate work in three years, having graduated from Ubyly High School in 1970. She graduated Cum Laude in her class. Students must begin their final semester with a total cumulative grade point average of 3.15 and must have completed at least 45 hours of credit in residence.

Cum Laude students must fall between 3.15 and 3.39 grade point average in order to receive the honor. Ms. Sageman is currently employed by the Chevrolet Division of General Motors in Saginaw.

Gerard N. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Miller, 6201 Severance Rd., Decker, graduated with a bachelor of science in education. His major course work was in the field of social science.

He is a 1969 graduate of Cass City High School.

Mrs. Linda M. Grika of Ubyly Road, Ubyly, graduated with a bachelor of science degree in education with a major in English.

She is a 1969 graduate of Ubyly High School and plans to teach in the area.

Joyce M. Frederick of Jurgess Road, Ubyly, received a master of arts degree in special education. She has been employed by Ubyly Community Schools and currently works with the Special Education Section of Huron county.

She is a former Cass City resident.

Let The Buyer Beware

Manhattan Island is a case in point. Bought from the Indians for beads, the problem is now ours.

Its poverty and wealth, its shame and glory, its tragedy and gaiety—all are the buyer's responsibility. So we possess this great city—with no one to take its problems off our hands.

If we had it to do over, wouldn't we build our cities with more respect for spiritual values... more concern for each other... more attention to the blueprints of the Architect of life?

That's what usually happens to man. He tries his own way first.

On Manhattan Island, as in every village and city, churches have their doors open to searching souls. Now that we've tried our own way and lived with the results... isn't it time to try His?

Dear Editor,

Your October 25 issue stated that Prime, Toshack and Speas estimates that it

Farm Bureau thanks area newspapers

Dear Editor:

At the 1973 annual meeting of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau members adopted the following resolution:

At this time when it is even more important than ever to get the story of the family farm to the buying public, the Tuscola County Farm Bureau wishes to thank all the county newspapers for doing an outstanding job this past year. We hope that this fine cooperation can continue in the coming year.

Yours very truly,

LeRoy R. Schluckebier
President

will cost Cass City $204,311 to build an outdoor swimming pool. They estimated $54,646 extra to build a separate toilet facility. This is, I suppose, to be built in our park.

In the Oct. 3, 1973, issue of the Sanilac County News, I read that Deckerville is getting an olympic-size pool 30x75 feet built by Testolin Construction Co. of Detroit for $87,000. Architectural fees and other costs will be $10,000 extra. This pool will have work started on it Oct. 10. This low price was no doubt due partly to competitive bids, as there were other bids. This price also includes a fence and bath house and will be constructed on a site owned by the school next to the gymnasium, and will be for summertime use only.

Did Cass City Village Council ask for competitive estimates on this? Why do we not get Testolin to make Cass City an offer? Unless something like this is done, I see a credibility gap. Why should Cass City pay two or two and one half times as much as Deckerville for the same facility? It is little wonder that the voters are afraid to say yes on a vote for a bond issue.

Yours truly,
Willard L. Dodson

Today's biggest problem in getting an education seems to be in finding a place to park.

Uncle Tim From Tyre Says:

Dear Mister Editor:

Did you see where a group of factory workers in Seattle wants the company to put foot stamps in the plant lunchroom? Them folks, that makes aaver-see $380 a month, say they are eligible for stamps, but they can't get off work to go get it without losing half a day's pay.

Now that's a fix to be in. I everybody that holds down a job can get food for free, what are the pore bums coming to? It looks like it has got to the place in this country where they ain't no advantage to loading. If folks that work and pay taxes can get the same benefits as them that don't hit a lick it knocks the starch out of them that finger they can allus go thru the door on somebody else's push.

The subject of working for a living come up at the country store Saturday night, Mister Editor, and after studying it up one side and down the other, the fellers was general agreed that this country is working harder and harder to come up with more and more of less and less. Clem Webster said he remembered a song that went "I got plenty of nothing," and he said it looks like we're coming to the place we got plenty of money but nothing to buy.

Josh Clothopper, that don't usual have much to say at these sessions, was disagreed with Clem. Josh was of a mind that money is what's got us in a bind cause it's going out of style. Josh said he saw by the papers where banks was giving steaks to folks that open accounts, and who wouldn't part with cheap money for meat these days? And Josh said eating places are reporting a run on doggie bags. Folks don't mind tipping the waiter a dollar if he'll bring them a bag to take their leftovers home in, was Josh's words.

General speaking, said Clem Webster, the ways to measure a man's success in this country is fast getting away from the number of cars, boats and color televisions he's got, and it's coming around to the things that money can't buy, like food. Clem said he wouldn't be surprised any day to read where some feller died and left six T-bones to his wife, seven pork-chops to each of his three younguns and remainder of his estate to be divided amongst the various levels of government he supported thru the years.

Actual, Mister Editor, Clem hit on somethin. I saw a item in the paper where people in this country spent $332 billion in 1971 to buy food, clothes, housing and cars. The same year, Americans spent $346 billion to keep up their local state and federal governments. And I reckon they ain't nothing more inflated in this country than government services.

Zeke Grubbs put the stopper in the food and service jug. He said his church has a home-coming picnic Sunday, and that's one fine service that's short on sermon and long on groceries.

Yours truly,
Uncle Tim

Draft board reminds men to register

November 2, 1973

Gentlemen:

We are having a nationwide registration campaign reminding the young men they are still required by law to register with Selective Service either 30 days before or 30 days after their 18th birthday.

We have placed our new posters in the high schools. Post Offices and other public establishments reminding the young men, though the Draft is over the Local Boards are still alive.

We have a Registrar in the Cass City High School and a Registrar at the Kingston High School assisting us in effecting these registrations, thereby, saving the young men having to take the time to travel to this office.

We would appreciate your publishing the above information as a public service to the young men in your area.

If you have any questions, please feel free to call this office. Our telephone number is (517) 753-0471 and our office hours are from 8:00 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. Monday through Friday. Thank you.

Arraign three Monday

Four arraignments were heard in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday before Judge Norman Baguley. Bernard Stratton Jr., 18, no address given, was arraigned on a charge of larceny from Jim's Restaurant, south of Caro Oct. 3. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf.

Pre-trial examination was set for Nov. 19, and bail was continued at $300.

Stratton is charged with having stolen a 75-cent tip from a waitress at the restaurant.

Stratton was also arraigned on a charge of breaking and entering a residence in Wells township the night before and taking a quantity of alcoholic beverages.

He stood mute on this charge and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pre-trial examination in this case was also set for Nov. 19, and bail was continued at $500.

Linda Rulka, 26, Tuscola, was arraigned on a charge of attempting to pass a bad check. She stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in her behalf. Bond of $200 was continued.

At a pre-trial examination also held Monday, she attempted to plead guilty to a lesser offense of attempting to pass a bad check under $50. The plea was not accepted by Judge Baguley. The offense occurred May 10, in Tuscola.

Ronald Ray Hendrix, 17, no address given, was arraigned on charges of breaking and entering and larceny in a building. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf.

A pre-trial date was not set and bond was reduced to $500.

Hendrix is charged with breaking into a residence in Denmark township Oct. 10, and taking a color television set.

Hand tools, auto equipment stolen from rural home

Tuscola County Sheriff's Deputies are continuing to investigate an apparent breaking and entering of a house located on Rossman Road near White Creek sometime last week.

According to Mrs. John Klein of Detroit, whose mother owns the house, the break-in was discovered Saturday.

Investigation revealed entry was gained by prying open a door on the west side of the house. Detectives found a one and one-quarter inch pry mark on the door casing.

No tracks were found and deputies found no clues.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

A Christmas card

By Jim Ketchum

My wife informed me the other day that it is time to begin Christmas shopping again. That is tantamount to telling a condemned man the energy crisis won't have any delaying effects on his execution.

It seems like we just got through depleting the checking account and wearing out three pairs of shoes in that annual trek to the shopping malls in search of the right gift at the right price. After going through a number of these campaigns reminiscent of Guadalcanal and Iwo Jima, I've determined there is no such thing as the right gift at the right price.

Everything is either too large, too small, too outlandish or too conservative. And always, always, it's too expensive.

I greet the Christmas shopping wars the same way Atlanta must have greeted General Sherman as he marched to the sea. Pushing, shoving and crowding becomes more determined and frantic than Monty Hall and his Let's Make a Deal staff ever imagined.

I look with foreboding at the coming year. I got lucky last year and bought my wife the first dress I saw. She liked it, surprisingly enough. Even though we lived on beans the next month, she did like the dress.

I've given up trying to sort out what to give wife, family and friends and buy on impulse, usually late in the game. My father set the pace for his son by doing all his shopping on Christmas Eve about an hour before all the stores closed.

I have to start just a little sooner, because I do not possess his nerves of steel or his uncanny ability to find something. To him, it was just a matter of course.

Our mailbox has been the receptacle for numerous Christmas gift catalogs which my wife eagerly digests and then bombards me with the suggestions she has garnered. It makes it tough to follow the plot of "Cannon" or "Ironside."

when a new "perfect gift idea" comes shooting before my eyes from the sunshine of my life.

"Yes, dear, it's fine. Fantastic," I will mutter if for no other reason than to try to follow the man who put ground glass in Cannon's spaghetti and meat balls or who dumped sand into the bearings of Ironside's wheelchair.

It's not that I don't love the idea of giving gifts or wanting to be reasonably pleasant at the most mercantile time of the year. It's just that I believe in the spirit of the thing and not in size, color or usefulness.

The business community has been attempting to beat Christmas into submission for more years than Budweiser has been brewing suds. Each year, the onslaught starts a little bit earlier than the year before and each year, the ads become more and more obtrusive.

There isn't enough money in Fort Knox to buy one of everything sold during the Christmas season.

Toy manufacturers really clean up in December. They make expenses the other 11 months, drooling as the October page drops from the calendar and November begins the push. It's all gravy from here on out and they are all ready.

I, however, have stumbled onto a solution. I will give to my children, all those toys I got when I was a kid, with the expressed instructions not to break anything because when they tire of the amusements, they'll go right back in the closet until grandkids come along.

I'm not being cheap. I just want to let all my battle scars heal and hope that the hearing returns to the ear that the nice old lady poked her bony elbow into last year.

I've thought that when I have children, I might try taking a rifle outdoors, firing one shot, returning to the house and telling the kids Santa Claus just committed suicide. It's worth a try.

Ho, ho, ho.

Main. Police reported that the night before, vandals had broken a window on the garage near the house and also broke the windshield in an auto parked inside.

No clues leading to the identity of the culprits were turned up in the investigation.

VILLAGE VANDALISMS
Cass City Police report two incidents of vandalism during the week. Thursday, someone threw stones through two front windows in a house belonging to Ervin Thompson of 6274 W.

Also Thursday, police reported vandals threw two stones through the front window of a building belonging to Jim Johnson at 6352 Garfield.

The incident occurred sometime during the night. No clues were found.

Tuscola death toll climbs to 25 as Mayville woman dies

Tuscola county's traffic death toll rose to 25 late Monday night when a Mayville woman was killed while riding in an auto on Snover Road a half mile east of Leix road.

Dead is Karen Faye Scott, 25. She died when the car in which she was a passenger struck a parked car sitting partially on the roadway. The driver of the car which struck the parked vehicle was identified as Gary Scott of Mayville, her husband.

According to Tuscola County Deputies who investigated the mishap, the parked vehicle, a truck, stuck out some six and a half feet into the path of oncoming traffic when the accident occurred. Deputies said the Scott car was east bound at the time of the collision.

Skid marks measuring 23 feet were found at the scene.

According to the report, the parked truck had apparently run out of gas and the driver had been picked up by another motorist to get more fuel. As they returned to the disabled vehicle, they witnessed the tragedy.

The driver told deputies he did not remember whether he left the lights on the pickup or not. The witness said the lights were on in front.

Deputies said that, approaching the truck from the west, the lights could not be seen until only a few feet from the vehicle.

The accident remains open pending further investigation.

CAR-DEER COLLISIONS

Four area car-deer collisions were reported by the sheriff's department last week.

Friday, a car driven by June Howens of Bad Axe struck and killed a deer while traveling east on M-81 a quarter mile west of Krapf Road.

She told Cass City Police who investigated the accident that she attempted to pass a car and, as she did, the deer darted in front of her car.

She escaped serious injury in the mishap which occurred at 9:45 p.m.

Saturday, a Deford man struck and killed a deer while traveling south on North Kingston Road, about a half mile south of Decker-ville Road.

Danny Ray Whittaker, 1424 N. Kingston Rd., told deputies that, as he proceeded south, he spotted a herd of deer standing in the roadway. He managed to avoid all but one of the animals.

He was not seriously hurt in the accident which occurred at 6:40 a.m.

Sunday, Helen Rock of Caro struck and killed a deer as she traveled south on Cemetery Road a half mile south of Gilford Road. She, too, escaped serious injury in the 6:45 a.m. mishap.

Monday, Leo Talaski of Ubyly also struck and killed a deer while traveling west on M-81 near the intersection of Greenland Road. He said the deer appeared suddenly in the path of his vehicle and he had no time to avoid the collision.

The accident occurred at 2:00 a.m.

CASS CITY ACCIDENTS

Cass City Police reported two minor accidents in the past week.

Wednesday, cars driven by Ruth Grassman, 5139 Penny Rd., Gageton, and Elwyn Helwig, 6765 Pine St., collided near the intersection of Main and Weaver Streets.

According to the police report, Ms. Grassman was attempting to make a left turn from Main Street into a driveway while traveling east. She was struck in the rear by the Helwig vehicle. A third car passed on the right, failing to stop.

Both drivers blamed this vehicle for causing the accident.

No ticket was issued and no serious injuries were caused in the 9:30 a.m. accident.

Saturday, a car driven by Galen Baker, 8196 Hadley Rd., collided with a car driven by Walter Zmierski, 6192 Ritter Rd.

According to police, the Baker vehicle was traveling west on Main. The Zmierski auto, also on Main, had stopped at Ale Street to make a right turn.

Police said the brakes on the Baker car failed and the cars collided. Baker was ticketed for having defective brakes on his auto. The mishap took place at 8:35 p.m.

A Bad Axe man was injured slightly Saturday night after the van in which he was riding was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Douglas J. McIntyre of Ubyly, on M-142, a half mile east of Bad Axe.

Ernest Walter Bucholz told Huron Sheriff's Deputies he was headed east when the McIntyre auto struck the rear of his van. McIntyre refused comment on the mishap.

Officers said the McIntyre car, after hitting the van, swerved northward and struck an unoccupied house located next to the Huron County Sheltered Workshop. The house sustained minor damage.

The van, according to officers, ended up in a small ditch.

The accident occurred at 10:05 p.m.

Tire studs illegal in some states

Motorists whose cars are equipped with studded snow tires are advised by Automobile Club of Michigan that studs are illegal this winter in Florida, Hawaii, Louisiana, Minnesota, Mississippi and the Canadian province of Ontario.

"Michigan motorists whose cars have studded tires should plan to avoid states with stud bans, or have studded tires replaced before leaving home," Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager states.

Currently, Minnesota is the only state in the northern snow-belt region which does not permit use of studded snow tires during winter months. Auto Club points out.

Minnesota's statutes have been amended to completely outlaw use of studded snow tires on any vehicle traveling the state's roads, with a $10 fine for violations.

Until this fall, Minnesota prohibited the use of studded snow tires only on vehicles registered in that state. Out-of-state motorists were permitted "occasional use" of up to 30 days.

In Florida, Ratke says, statutes governing use of studded snow tires are being interpreted so strictly as to have the effect of prohibiting the use of metal studs. Rubber studs are permitted.

"Some motorists using metal studded tires were stopped by the Florida Highway Patrol during the past year," Ratke adds "and were forced to buy regular tires to replace their studded tires before they were permitted to continue their trips."

In Michigan, use of studded snow tires will be permitted this winter between Nov. 1 and April 1, according to Auto Club. A bill to restrict—but not necessarily ban—their use has been passed by the state legislature and sent to Governor Milliken for his signature.

Ratke points out that if the governor signs the bill, it specifies that next winter (1974-75), use of studded tires will be allowed on Michigan roads between December 1 and April 1. Thereafter, the type of studs permitted and the time period they may be used each winter are to be determined by the Michigan Department of State Highways and Transportation.

Elsewhere, 28 states allow studded tires with time restrictions and 16 states have no restrictions on the use of studded tires.

Repaving work continues on Cemetery Road

Work continued this week on repaving a fraction over six miles of Cemetery Road north and south of Cass City, with crews striving for an early completion date. According to a spokesman for the Tuscola County Road Commission, five and one-half miles of Cemetery Road from the south village limits to Deckerville Road will be resurfaced at a cost of $64,060.00. Also to be resurfaced is one-half mile of the road running from the north village limits to Milligan Road. Cost of this project was set at $16,127.00. The two projects were awarded to Frank Strasberg and Sons Construction Co. Completion depends on the weather. The road commission has told the firm to proceed with as much of the project as possible before inclement weather sets in. No binding target date was set.

Red Ball sticker drive completed

Elkland Township Fire Chief Dick Root reports his department has completed its distribution drive on Red Ball stickers in conjunction with Fire Prevention Week. The stickers are designed to be placed on windows of rooms in which young children or invalids might be trapped in case of a fire to warn firemen of the situation. Root said anyone wishing to obtain stickers should get in touch with any member of the fire department. The stickers are free of charge.

The covering being placed on the road is a bituminous mat. Strike out on your own - it's your responsibility to make your mark in this world.

Fuel crunch pinching Cass City slightly

By Jim Ketchum

Cass Cityans should be able to stay warm this winter and not face the specter of not being able to obtain oil or gas, if present predictions hold out for the heating season.

Concern regarding the availability of fuel rose last week in the wake of an announcement from Washington that the nationwide fuel shortage could take on drastic proportions, unless immediate steps are taken to alleviate the situation.

Administration officials began work on a mandatory program which could lead to rationing of gasoline, heating oil and natural gas, should the winter prove to be a severe one.

Locally, fuel distributors expressed cautious optimism that the situation could be weathered, but none could guarantee a problem-free winter. Of those oil distributors contacted, all say they have enough fuel for present customers but are not taking on new orders.

Duane Chipp of Cass City Oil and Gas Co. said he still has enough oil for regular customers and does not anticipate cutbacks presently. He added that he could not guarantee how the shortage might change the outlook later on.

On the gas front, Southeastern Michigan Gas Co. is still in the midst of a freeze on new customers until further notice. The company has not taken on any new deliveries since Sept. 15, citing a reduction in the amount of gas being supplied by Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Co.

Southeastern serves 50,000 customers in the state.

Consumers Power Company has filed an application with the Michigan Public Service Commission for authority to establish a system of priorities in the event it should become necessary to curtail natural gas service to commercial and industrial customers.

Consumers serves approximately 920,000 gas customers in 40 counties of Michigan's lower peninsula. Of these, 851,000 are residential customers. Consumers serves customers in Gagetown, Bad Axe and Caro.

John B. Simpson, senior vice-president for gas operations, said the curtailment program should be regarded solely as prudent contingency planning. It establishes six categories of gas service, with highest priority being assigned to residential customers, and to customers providing services essential to public health and safety.

Simpson added that the company does not presently anticipate that it will be necessary to impose curtailments during the forthcoming heating season. At the same time, he said, it cannot predict when a worsening of its gas supply situation or an unanticipated increase in demand may make it necessary to impose such curtailments.

The present situation has placed increased demands on the bottle gas industry, which is already working under mandatory propane allocation program instituted by a branch of the Department of Interior.

Kenneth Eisinger, manager of Fuelgas of Cass City, said so far the demand has not been dramatic, but more customers have been added, primarily in mobile homes.

He explained that, under the propane allocation program, priority and non-priority accounts have been established and the amount of gas being used by these accounts must be recorded and sent to Interior department officials.

Priorities include home heating at the top, followed by farming usages and government buildings, along with schools.

Non-priority customers include industries using over 15,000 gallons per account and churches.

Eisinger explained that his firm is currently working on a yearly allocation broken down into monthly quotas. He said these monthly amounts may be exceeded if emergencies arise, but must be made up at the end of the season.

"We did have a godsend when the crop drying season turned out to be so dry," he said. "This helped us a lot."

Eisinger explained the biggest factor placing added pressure on his operation is the projected pullout of Gulf Oil from the state, along with the cut-off of grain drying and milk house accounts by Standard Oil Co. Thus far, Fuelgas has been able to handle these accounts, although the situation is admittedly tight.

"I look for real tight supplies for the next five years," Eisinger added.

He said the fuel industry's only "salvation" is the proposed trans-Alaskan Pipeline which will move crude oil from the north slope some 800 miles to the port of Valdez and awaiting tankers.

"The biggest deterrent to this has been the ecology people and the government," Eisinger said. "When the oil depletion allowance was cut from 27 per cent to 20 per cent, it took away seven per cent net margin from the oil companies. Most of them said why bother drilling and simply stopped."

Eisinger blamed ecological pressures for contributing to a major part of the present shortage. He added that with a loosening of restrictions and a raise back to 27 per cent for the oil depletion allowance, the condition could ease over a five-year period.

"It takes just so long to develop and refine oil," he said. "It can't be done any faster."

Area fires plague Ubly firemen

Fire did an estimated $2,000 damage to the Clifford Robinson home, located six and a half miles southwest of Ubly on the north side of Huron Line Road in Huron county late Wednesday afternoon.

Ubly firemen were called to the scene around 5:30 p.m.

Fire Chief Lambert Jaroch said the fire started in a dresser in the bedroom, but said the exact cause of the blaze is unknown.

He added that arson was not suspected and said the fire must have been a "freak accident." The room was believed to be empty at the time, he added.

Most of the damage was done from smoke and water, Jaroch added.

Halloween pranksters were blamed for setting two other area fires, which consumed two barns Ubly firemen extinguished a fire at about 10:30 p.m.

Wednesday in the remains of a demolished barn located one mile west of Ubly on the Fred Hagen property.

Fire Chief Jaroch said the barn had no value and firemen let the blaze burn out. He said the fire was started as a prank. No one was injured.

Halloween vandals were also believed to have destroyed a 40 by 90 foot barn owned by Ryerson Puterbaugh located at 3070 N. Wheeler Rd. Sanilac county sheriff's deputies said the fire broke around 1:50 a.m. Thursday, and destroyed the barn, an adjoining 14 by 40 foot silo and a wagon stored in the barn and owned by Merrill Kreger of Snover.

Deputies said the Moore Township Fire Department answered the alarm. No exact cause of the blaze was determined and the fire is still under investigation.

Sattelbergs look over 20 years of farming

By Jim Ketchum

Vincent Sattelberg, 2777 E. Dickerson Rd., and his brother Ray of rural Unionville, struggled with a balky sugar beet harvester as the skies darkened. About 130 acres of beets awaited harvesting. If things didn't start soon, the entire crop might be jeopardized.

The Sattelbergs owned about 645 acres jointly, farming as much of it as they can. Everything is done within the partnership. They will tell you that if they each had to run as independent farmers today neither could survive.

Farming has not always been this way according to the Sattelbergs. When they began on their own back in the early 1950's, you did not need the land you need today, they will say.

"Each year it takes just a little more land," Vince said. "By the time you figure investment for new machinery, debts, labor costs and the other expenses, you sometimes get a little scared."

He pointed out that today's farmer must be much more knowledgeable than in the days when they began operating on their own. Chemical fertilizers, insecticides and herbicides call for a chemistry background the earlier farmer replaced with natural fertilizers.

"Conditions have to be just right for us, too," Ray said. "Before, weather was not as important as it is now. If conditions aren't perfect, you've wasted your time. It makes farming a more exacting thing than it used to be."

The biggest changes the Sattelbergs point to is in commodity prices. Today's $30-plus beans, $5.00 wheat and $2.00 corn go beyond either of their wildest expectations. But neither of the brothers is necessarily dancing for joy.

"These wild prices are kind of frightening," Ray said. "I personally think most farmers would be happier with a stable market and wheat at, say $3.00, than with the way things are now."

He related that they sold wheat at about the $3.00 level and lost about $2,000. But there is no bitterness. "They say you don't miss what you never had," Ray said, "but still it would be nice to have that extra two dollars."

Both agree that the large Part of the reason for this, according to Vince, was the fact that the federal government held the large grain surpluses in existence as a weapon against higher prices.

"Then we woke up one day and we didn't have a surplus anymore," he said.

Rising prices for land and equipment have been a fact of farming life for all farmers, including the Sattelbergs. Ray pointed to the tractor and beet harvester and stated that the two will today spoil $25,000.

"I figure it takes about one third of a farmer's life earnings just paying for equipment," he said. "People will hear that and ask if we're crazy for staying in it. But we like it. You have to like it."

Vince added that once you have gone into the farming business today, it is not easy to get out.

Vince, at age 44, and Ray, at age 42, both agree that today's farmer has as much responsibility as a corporation executive. He needs more information than he did 20 years ago to function, along with much more capital.

"Just to operate is a great investment," Vince said. "By the time you figure investment for new machinery, debts, labor costs and the other expenses, you sometimes get a little scared."

He pointed out that today's farmer must be much more knowledgeable than in the days when they began operating on their own. Chemical fertilizers, insecticides and herbicides call for a chemistry background the earlier farmer replaced with natural fertilizers.

"Conditions have to be just right for us, too," Ray said. "Before, weather was not as important as it is now. If conditions aren't perfect, you've wasted your time. It makes farming a more exacting thing than it used to be."

The biggest changes the Sattelbergs point to is in commodity prices. Today's $30-plus beans, $5.00 wheat and $2.00 corn go beyond either of their wildest expectations. But neither of the brothers is necessarily dancing for joy.

He related that they sold wheat at about the $3.00 level and lost about $2,000. But there is no bitterness. "They say you don't miss what you never had," Ray said, "but still it would be nice to have that extra two dollars."

Both agree that the large wheat deal made with the Soviet Union in the summer of 1972 is largely responsible for today's skyrocketing wheat prices and feel as though farmers were cheated.

"The government made farmers look like fools when they made that sale," Ray said. "They did it right after most of them sold and those that hadn't really made money. I just think they made most of us look pretty stupid."

Exporting, they agree, has pushed prices upward, along with increased demand at home. These pressures were far less when they began in the early '50's. All these pressures have tended to take some of the enjoyment out of farming.

"The job would be more interesting if we didn't carry the pressure we do," Ray said. "Too much pressure takes the enjoyment out of it."

He recalled how they lost 2,500 bales of hay this summer because they couldn't get it in before rain spoiled it. Years ago, they would have hired a couple of high school kids to come in and help with the haying.

Now, they are more reluctant because the law now stipulates that they must pay workman's compensation on anyone they hire to help with the harvest. Added to the increased cost of labor generally, this puts more pressure on the Sattelbergs to do more themselves.

This results in numerous nights in the fields and some days totaling 20 hours.

In spite of these changes and the increased pressure placed on them, the Sattelbergs plan to continue their operation as long as they can. Both love the land and look back with pride on the 20 years they have spent on the land.

"Farming is one of the biggest gambles today," Ray said. "And a farmer is one of the biggest gamblers alive. But we like it."

Hicks named Farm Bureau Vice-President

A Deford man has been chosen vice-president of the Tuscola County Farm Bureau at a recent meeting which also completed plans for a delegation to attend the state wide annual meeting of the Michigan Farm Bureau.

Gerald Hicks, 192 Crawford Rd., was elected to the post along with LeRoy R. Schluckebier of Frankmuth as president, Marvin Rupprecht of Vassar, third member, and Loretta P. Kirkpatrick, secretary-treasurer of the corporation.

Tuscola county will send 18 voting delegates plus alternate delegates to the state wide meeting to be held in Grand Rapids Dec. 11-14. Business will include action on resolutions, reports and election of directors.

Baptist Society holds meet

Fourteen women attended the monthly meeting of the Baptist Missionary Society Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Richard Shaw.

Devotions were given by Mrs. Rosella Kretzschmer, who asked each member to respond by relating something for which she was "thankful".

Prayer time was under the direction of Mrs. Vera Bears.

Mrs. Shaw presided at the business meeting in which members voted a contribution of $30.00 to be sent to the St. Louis, Mich.,

children's home for Christmas.

Election of officers will take place at the December meeting and the following nominating committee was appointed: Mrs. Myrtle McColl, Mrs. Fay McComb and Mrs. Ella Cumper.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and Mrs. Cumper.

Soil District taking tree orders now

The Tuscola Soil Conservation District is taking orders for tree seedlings that will be available for planting in the spring of 1974, according to Director Maynard McConkey.

White pine, red pine, Scotch pine, Austrian pine, white spruce, Norway spruce and Colorado Blue Spruce are the species in supply. A shrub, Autumn Olive, is also available.

These trees may be used for windbreaks, reforestation, Christmas trees, wildlife cover, erosion control and beautification.

Orders may be placed at the Tuscola Soil Conservation District Office, 852 S. Hooper Street, Caro. District Conservationist Cyril M. Jacot and Conservation Technician William L. Siems will be able to give technical assistance regarding planting and care.

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Richard Nixon was elected president of the United States, and carried Tuscola county by 64 per cent, though he failed to carry Michigan.

In other local races, Ed Golding Sr., was elected to the county Board of Supervisors and Norman Baguley was elected to a judgeship of the Tuscola County Circuit Court. Other winners included State Senator Alvin DeGrow, Congressman James Harvey, Sheriff Hugh Marr and Register of Deeds William Profit.

Tuscola county voters turned down a proposition which would have permitted the sale of liquor on Sunday by just over 1,000 votes.

7,088 to 6,080.

Elkland township's drive for a new fire hall was boosted Tuesday when voters okayed a one-mill levy for three years by a vote of 686 to 545.

Chief Nelson Willy estimated damage at about $2,500 in a fire in a small building owned by Eugene Smetek on DeLong Road, southeast of Cass City.

TEN YEARS AGO

The struggling Tusco Products plant in Cass City will either be sold or closed within the near future, it was announced this week by Herbert J. Siegel, Board Chairman of the Baldwin-Montrose Chemical Co., which owns Tusco.

The American Agriculture Chemical Company's warehouse now under construction in southwest Cass City will be completed in about a month. Don LeCruex of Saginaw, manager of Michigan sales for Agrico, said this week.

Members of the Band Boosters of Cass City were gratified by the help the organization received in its first fund-raising effort—an auction which raised $300 for new uniforms.

Gagetown will vote on natural gas at a special election scheduled for Wednesday, Dec. 18. Asking for a 30-year franchise is Consumers Power Co.

A suit to foreclose on two mortgages totaling $20,313.37 has been filed by Pinney State Bank against H. O. Paul Co., former Cass City farm implement dealership owned by H. O. Paul Jr.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Harry S. Truman was re-elected president of the United States in one of the biggest political upsets in modern political history. Truman and his running mate, Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, defeated Thomas E. Dewey by some two million votes.

In Michigan, Governor Kim Sigler was defeated by Democrat G. Mennen Williams by over 100,000 votes. Cass City was scheduled to meet Pigeon in the Thumb league championship game Friday night, highlighted by the crowning of Cass City's first homecoming queen, Mary Jane Lessman.

Edward Baker, prominent Boy Scout leader from Cass City, was elected Tuscola District chairman for the coming year at the annual district meeting held in Caro Monday.

Gagetown High School basketball team has scheduled nine games on the home floor the coming season.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Frank D. Fitzgerald was elected Governor of Michigan by over 80,000 votes. Audley Rawson was elected State Representative pulling 704 out of 780 votes cast in Elkland township.

Use of the village library has grown from 35 volumes to 130 volumes in circulation per week.

Some 173 local citizens have enrolled in the Red Cross, reports Guy W. Landon who is in charge of the roll call.

A research professor from St. Petersburg University in Florida said this week that the earth will freeze into a solid ball in 71,799 years.

The 1939 Studebakers went on sale this week at Fred H. Morris Motor Sales in Cass City.

Community chest drive behind

1972 pace

Elkland-Novesta Community Chest officials reported this week that the current fund drive has thus far fallen substantially short of the level reached at this time last year.

While declining to state exactly how much had been collected to date, officials said they hope the drive will gain momentum soon.

According to J. E. Courtney, vice-president of the Community Chest Board, a number of envelopes still remain to be picked up at the Cass City State Bank by canvassers.

The drive has been underway about two weeks.

"We are somewhat disappointed by a lack of a turnout for the drive," Courtney said. "It takes a lot of cooperation from a lot of people to make the drive a success. We'd like our people to pick up their envelopes as soon as possible."

Courtney explained funds collected by the Community Chest go toward such causes as scouting, Little League and providing food baskets for needy families.

The drive is scheduled to culminate in a victory dinner tentatively scheduled for Nov. 14.

Marge Randall scheduled for children's rally

Mrs. Marge Randall of Vassar is scheduled to hold a children's rally Sunday, Nov. 11, at 10 a.m. at First Baptist church. All boys and girls of the community are invited.

Mrs. Randall has a collection of over 300 puppets, which she uses along with scenefelt and other objects to illustrate Bible stories. She writes much of her own material and recently won a contest sponsored by the National Association of Ventriloquism.

The rally will be held in the new fellowship hall of the church during the regular Sunday School hour.

Mrs. Randall, who was in charge of vacation Bible School this summer at the Baptist church, will also be assisting in the children's church program.

"If It Fitz . . ." Walk, do not run

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Photographers caught up with Elliot Richardson the Sunday morning after he quit being Richard Nixon's man for all jobs. The result, in newspapers all over the world, was pictures of Richardson in short pants, running when he could have been walking.

Just when I was beginning to trust him.

The trouble with this country is it is run by men who could sleep in on Sunday mornings, but don't. I am sick of reading about presidential aides who chin themselves 1,456 times every morning before eating railroad spikes for breakfast.

I gag at congressmen who skip lunch and go to a gym where they pound on each other because it feels so good when they stop.

It was easy to stifle a sob when I heard about the sweat-suited senator who was mugged while jogging through a slum. What did he expect, rose petals strewn in his path?

If God had intended man to swim or sink, He wouldn't have invented Ivory soap. The big shots should learn to float with the tide, coast in neutral, and walk on the grass.

Relax. Sure, the fastest runner will get free TV time to explain his shortcuts. But what does it profit a man if he wins the sweepstakes but loses his place in line at the Laurel and Hardy Film Festival?

It is a paradox. The big problem is there are too many Gung Ho men in Washington. But if a guy isn't Gung Ho, his only chance at the White House is on a guided tour.

This nation respects — and elects — men who never waste a minute. Men who do push-ups in the backseat and go to bed with dictaphones. This nation rejects men who loiter around pretty girls and are always late getting back from lunch.

Obviously, it should be the other way around. The ambitious men, with rowing machines and cots in their offices, have made a terrible mess of things. They have forgotten that noses weren't created for grindstones. Noses were created to smell a flower or a dirty little kid wrapped around your neck at 5:30 every evening.

A lazy man knows about noses. And he knows that sometimes the greatest thing to do is to do nothing.

at all. Just sit and watch and remember nice things. Go fishing without a pole. Go walking without a sweat suit.

The Wall Street Journal told about a high-powered businessman who had a marvelous aquarium in his office. But he ordered it removed because too many visitors wanted to talk about the fish, instead of talk business. He didn't have the time to waste. Poor man.

The Washington wizards never waste time. They waste money and people and consciences as they run, run, run for the power and the glory and the wealth. Breathing deeply all the way, and doing isometrics at stop lights.

Ironically, when the world begins to blow up, the official advice will be:

Walk, do not run, to the nearest exit.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION General

Keep the Cultural Center

Cass City's role in operating and maintaining the Elkland Township Cultural Center has been discussed and reviewed in recent years with some calling for the village to dispose of its interests in the building entirely, citing the expense. Recently, Village Council voted to spend $375 toward putting a new roof on the structure. Other improvements and renovations have also been made.

Mrs. Ruth Hoffman, 4607 N. Seeger St., thinks the present arrangement is just fine and hopes it will continue.

"It is an added expense to the village; that's very true," she said. "Yet it is a part of our heritage and I really think it ought to be preserved and the village should continue its interests in it."

She added that the building serves a useful purpose in providing a meeting place for civic groups.

Ms. Hoffman has lived in Cass City the past 27 years and is employed at Wood Drug. She is also active in the American Cancer Society chapter of Tuscola county.

BETTER HEALTH

Hope for cancer patients

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ and DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

At present, only surgery is capable of curing lung cancer. There has not been much success with the use of radiation or anti-cancer drugs. But now I read some encouraging news from the fine Roswell Park Memorial Institute for the study of cancer, which can give some hope to people with cancer of the lung.

In a report by Drs. Hiroshi Takita and Antonio Brugarolas, of the department of thoracic (lung) surgery, I read that the doctors have been able to prolong the survival time of several lung cancer patients by giving them a tumor vaccine prepared from the patients' own tumors.

Eleven patients with lung cancer were selected for the study; six of these patients were operated on to remove the cancerous tissue, and then were given the conventional post-surgery therapy, and all of them died within 3 to 19 months after surgery.

The other five patients were given injections of "autologous tumor vaccine" immediately after surgery. Fortunately, three of the five patients who received the tumor vaccine have stayed alive for up to 31 months. That certainly is hopeful, and the doctors are making further studies to help them, and the doctors are making further studies to help them.

The Roswell Park Memorial Institute is located at 666 Elm St., Buffalo, N. Y. 14203.

A DISCOVERY ABOUT
BODILY RESISTANCE TO INFECTION

Recently, in a release from the great Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City, I read that with the exceedingly powerful electron microscope, scientists have discovered that lymphocytes, a type of round white blood cell, are not uniformly smooth and of only one type, as for some 60 years or more it had been thought when the cells could be looked at only with an ordinary microscope.

With the electron microscope it can now be seen that there are two types of human lymphocytes: one type, which the researchers call B cells, has large numbers of tiny finger-like projections from the surface; and the other type, called T cells, are relatively smooth.

The two types of cells seem to have different functions; the B cells give one type of immunity and the T cells give another. The T cells apparently are responsible for the rejection of transplanted organs, and may also be a factor in the immune defense that healthy people are thought to have against cancer.

The scientists have counted the different cells, and have found that in the blood of normal individuals, about 20 per cent of the cells have the tiny rods, while 80 per cent of the cells have the smoother surface. Interestingly, in persons with lymphocytic leukemia, a sort of cancer of the blood, most of the lymphocytes are of the rough surface type.

Much study is being done now to see if people with cancer have mainly rough cells. Much good to man may come out of this discovery of the smooth -- and rough -- surfaced lymphocyte cells.

I mention the work here to cheer people with cancer, showing them that an enormous amount of research is being done which someday will doubtless result in a cure.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS AND WHEELCHAIRS

For years, I have been interested in the fact that many of our buildings should have entrances such as can be used by people in wheelchairs. It is to be hoped that more and more architects will become aware of the difficulties of persons in wheelchairs, and the barriers posed by many buildings today, and will design buildings, especially public buildings, with features which will enable people in wheelchairs to move around comfortably in them.

There should be a ground level entrance or a ramp. There should be an easily opened door, wide enough to permit passage of a wheelchair. There should be some ramps in a building.

An elevator should be accessible to the handicapped. The doors should be at least 32 inches wide. A water fountain and a public telephone should be low enough to be used by persons in wheelchairs. There should be handrails on all stairways, and special parking spaces wide enough to enable a person to get out of a car and into a wheelchair.

Certainly in a building where there are doctors' offices there should be ample space for wheelchairs. There should be special space also in public buildings such as libraries.

Grudge — a heavy load

Margaret Ross - Extension Agent

A sign on a busy highway says that "The heaviest load to carry is a grudge". Yet how often do we play games with our grudges in order to "get even"?

One author speaks of grudges as being like trading stamps or coupons that can be cashed in to get a special favor or gift - or to "get even". But there are other ways to deal with grudges that are kind.

Many of us behave as children sometimes, as parents sometimes, and occasionally as thinking adults. How can you tell when you are acting like a child - or "bossing" like some parents? Or perhaps acting like a rational adult? Dr. Eric Berne devised terms to analyze behavior and help people to see what they are as persons in a 1961 publication "Transactional Analysis in Psycho Therapy". Other writers have applied these theories and been able to help explain behavior.

If you are interested in learning more about behavior theories and application, spend from 9:30 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. with Walt Bradtkie Tuesday, Nov. 13, in the County Building at Bad Axe, or Thursday, Nov. 29, in the Civil Defense Center at Caro. Social worker Walt Bradtkie of the Saginaw Catholic Family Service will be visiting instructor for the Thumb Extension Service Family Living lesson on "Self Understanding Brings Change".

In a FUTURE SHOCK world where changes are taking place with impossible speed, relating to other people becomes critically important. These sessions will help people gain meaning and understanding for personally coping with changing values and behavioral patterns of the 70's.
