

Police nab 4 juveniles

Cass City police apprehended four juveniles Monday in connection with a series of window-breaking incidents in the village Wednesday night, Dec. 5.

Police Chief Gene Wilson said the group took responsibility for three of the incidents reported to police that night, but deny a fourth.

The first incident was reported to have occurred at 9:45 p.m. when Robert Brown, 6329 Main St., called police to report someone had broken out a top and bottom glass in a bedroom window in his home.

Brown told police his son saw the culprits. Wilson contacted another witness who said he, too, saw three men in a car near the scene.

Five minutes later, Stanley Kirm of 4317 Maple St. reported someone threw a marble at the window of his house, breaking a hole in the storm glass.

Kirm told police he and his wife were sitting in the living room when they heard a noise that sounded like a shot. When Mrs. Kirm pulled back the draperies to investigate, she discovered the hole.

Police later recovered a marble they suspect was thrown at the glass.

At 10:15 p.m., Roger Marshall of Marshall Distributors reported a window broken in his store at 6703 Main St.

Marshall told police he was leaving his office when he saw a car pull up in front of the store. He heard a sharp crack and something hit the floor inside.

He said he found the front window broken, with a hole in it. He said he tried to get the license number of the car and attempted to find the vehicle later on, but failed.

At 11:15 p.m., Carl Crow of Pine Street reported the glass on the driver's side of his car had been broken. Police said the window was found shattered.

Wilson said no formal charges have yet been placed against the youths, ranging in age from 13 to 16.

IT WASN'T THE heaviest snowfall in Cass City's history, but it was the first of the season, and Tina Guinther, 6, (left) and Larry McNair, 3, got out to enjoy the white stuff Tuesday morning.

Owen-Gage board mulls bond issue vote

The Owen-Gage Board of Education mullied over the results of last week's bond issue defeat and aired a number of alternatives it might take to deal with the present educational situation in the district.

A number of citizens appeared before the board to suggest three basic possibilities, according to Supt. Glen Sanford.

One would split the district among surrounding school systems. A second would run the bond issue again in six months.

A third suggestion made involved tuitioning all secondary students to other area districts.

"While we would still be a K-12 system, in effect, we would only be educating through the eighth grade," he explained.

It was not made clear how the plan could be implemented or the effect of a cut in state aid payments to the district. These payments are based on the number of students enrolled in high school students enrolled in other districts would not be counted as a part of the Owen-Gage district.

Sanford emphasized no action will be taken on any plan until the January meeting. He said he remains hopeful the board will come up with a next step for the district at that time.

In other business, the board agreed to go along with other Huron county districts in and when daylight savings time is re-instituted due to the energy crisis.

He said this would mean school would start one hour later than present starting times, he explained, although it would still be as light outdoors as it is now.

Energy crisis spurs new stringent school bus rules

The energy crisis has spurred the Cass City School Board into adopting semi-stringent rules for operation of school buses until the gas supply picture clears.

The decision was reached Monday night in the regular meeting of the board at Cass City High School.

New rules were adopted after Supt. Donald Crouse reported that he has been informed that the school's quota for the year could be cut 30 per cent of the amount received last year.

The rules are:
● No backtracking of school buses on evening runs. This means that some students could be walking further than they are today.

● Elimination of all extra bus trips not already scheduled. Trips already planned will be allowed, but to basketball games, and other sporting events. However, trips such as a ski club jaunt to northern Michigan and practice basketball games over the holidays have been abolished.

● Purchase of gas for special trips from local stations when possible. Buying at retail will raise the cost about 25 cents a gallon but will not apply against the school's quota if rationing comes. An average bus trip would cost less than $3 extra at the retail price.

Crouse emphasized that these measures would not get the school through the year if a cut of 30 per cent materializes.

Nothing we can do would be enough, he added, and school would have to close or run without bus pick-up with a gas reduction this big.

The board adopted the stop-gap measures and are ready for more drastic curtailment if it becomes necessary.

COSTS UP

Costs are going up for services. The board approved purchase of gas from Fuelgas Co. of Cass City at a gallon rate of 25 cents.

In previous years the school purchased propane at a bulk yearly rate. Last year the cost was $362.

If the gas had been purchased by the gallon it would have been $696, Crouse reported. However, because the home economics room has been under repair for the entire school year, it is likely that only about $250 worth of propane will be used this school year.

Hunt Construction Co. was awarded the contract for clearing snow from the school parking lot. Charges were up $1.00 per hour over last year.

The rates are: 2.5 yard loader, $17.00 per hour; 4-yard loader, $26.00 per hour, and grader, $14.00 per hour.

The beauty treatment in store for Cass City High School grounds will cost taxpayers nearly $8,000 as the board voted to landscape the west in addition to the south side of the property.

Previously the board had okayed spending $4,900.50 for the south side of the building. Monday they authorized another $2,850.50 for work on the west side (front) of the building.

The contractor is Oscar Brooks who was low bidder for the south side work and negotiated the work granted Monday.

For its money the school board will receive 206 shrubs, plus flowers on the west grounds and the labor required to install them.

CURRICULUM STUDY

Campbell Principal Mrs. Bernard Freiburger reported to the board results of a teacher curriculum survey. She said that most teachers said that a remedial teacher is the most urgent need. Others high on the priority list include elementary guidance, a new language book and a grading system.

Committees have been formed to look into the language book, math problems and the grading system.

High School Principal Russell Richards asked the board how much credit toward graduation should be given for correspondence courses and how many credits should be allowed if the student is to participate in graduation exercises at the school.

The board took the questions under advisement and answers are expected at the next meeting.

Police identify three in alleged abduction

State Police from the Bad Axe Post have tentatively identified three area men who allegedly abducted a Snover man early Sunday at the Cumber Bar, forced him in their vehicle and drove him, much of the time with a shotgun at his head, some two-and-a-half miles.

Ronald Grifka, 27, of Patterson Road, told police the subjects drove him to a point on E. Cass City Road before releasing him, advising him to forget the incident.

Grifka told police he observed three male subjects between the ages of 23 and 25, as he left the Cumber Bar just before 2:00 a.m. Sunday. He said they were firing at street lights and road signs near the intersection of Wheeler and Cumber Roads in northern Sanilac county.

Grifka said he approached the men and asked them to stop shooting. At this point, the three allegedly pointed a shotgun at him and forced him into their car. The subjects, according to Grifka, threatened to kill him as they held the shotgun to his head.

A few minutes later, he said, his abductors agreed to let him go if he agreed to forget the incident and tell no one.

Police said Grifka told them two friends of his followed the kidnap car and picked him up after he was released. They verified his story, adding however, that all they knew was what they could see from their auto. Grifka and his two companions said they had never seen the subjects before.

Tuesday, police said they had identified the subjects. They said the trio denied any malicious intent in the incident, claiming instead, that Grifka and his two companions followed them out of the tavern and threatened to start a fight.

The subjects allegedly say they fired their shotgun only to scare Grifka and his companions off. When this did not work, they added, they shoved Grifka in their car, drove a little over two miles, and then released him.

They deny threatening his life.

Police said it is questionable whether a warrant will be issued in the incident.

Police declined to release the names of the subjects or of Grifka's two companions, pending action from the Sanilac county prosecutor's office. A description of the subjects' car showed it was registered to a Scheweaing man.

Grifka is employed in Ypsilanti, but maintains a residence near Snover.

Walbro ups dividend to 10¢ a share

At a regular meeting in Chicago, Ill., Dec. 6, the Board of Directors of Walbro Corporation declared a regular dividend of 10 cents per share, plus a special year-end dividend of 2 cents per share, on the outstanding 766,320 shares of Walbro common stock.

This dividend is payable Jan. 25, 1974 to shareholders of record Dec. 23, 1973.

For 1973, Walbro dividends will total 12 cents per share of common stock, compared with 16 cents in 1972.

Mrs. Osentoski produces 'energy crisis' quilts for fun

By Jim Ketchum

While the energy crisis may be slowing down some businesses, it's created a boom for Mrs. Sylvester Osentoski of Lamton Road south of Cass City. And, as long as her fingers and her sewing machine hold out, she'll be in business.

Mrs. Osentoski makes quilts. Perhaps that, isn't the proper word. Maybe creates quilts is better. Maybe produces quilts is even better. She's made, created or produced 24 quilts since August, up three times from just a year ago.

"I call them my energy crisis quilts," Mrs. Osentoski laughed as she explained how she makes them and displayed some of her finished work.

"Ever since this energy thing came on, I've been getting more orders than I can fill," she continued. "And a lot of them come from Detroit."

Mrs. Osentoski was born in Detroit, but has lived south of Cass City since 1933. She and her husband live in a cozy house situated on 100 acres of land. The couple has built a new home and will be moving soon, about a half mile away from their present house. But it's a sure bet Mrs. Osentoski will not let the move hamper quilt production.

She explained how she became a quilter as she showed some of her results.

"I started when I was just a little girl," she said. "I can remember pushing the yarn through the needle and that was before I started school."

From there the love and fascination for new and creative designs grew until today she produces a myriad of patterns, designs and colors. Many are her own invention. Currently, she makes quilts with a star pattern she invented for the season.

Other designs include a rail fence, Jacob's ladder, other stars and a pattern she calls "West to California."

QUILT PRODUCTION

Her standard-size quilts measure 78 by 95 inches, while queen size quilts measure 86 by 96 inches. Most of her creations sell for $40.

"They tell me I'm underpricing them terribly," Mrs. Osentoski laughed. "I'm told some go for as much as $80 and $100 from the stores. I heard about a quilt that sold in New York for $400."

Most of her quilts that stay in this area are sold to church bazaars or are purchased as presents for birthdays and Christmas. Currently, business is booming and no end is in sight.

"I've worn out five belts and three switches on my sewing machine since I got it," she said. "I try to keep it oiled and maintained properly. Maybe it would have worn out by now if I hadn't."

Mrs. Osentoski prefers to use cotton blends that are permanent press. She fills her quilts with dacron filler which allows them to be washed and tumble-dried. Additionally, this makes the quilts light and warmer than the kind made of old-fashioned quilting bees.

She assembles patterns, three-inch strips of cloth and squares on a backing which can be a sheet. It takes three yards of white material, three yards of stripping, three yards of mixed colors and six yards of backing material to produce a standard quilt.

She said, however, that a shortage of white material and dacron filler exists presently, and these items are hard to find. This, Mrs. Osentoski adds, is probably a direct result of the upsurge in demand for quilts.

"I heard about a couple in Detroit who had to literally wrap themselves in some of my quilts until they could get some fuel oil to heat their home," she recalled. "They said they were thankful they even had that."

Mrs. Osentoski is extremely fussy about her work. Each stitch, each seam, each square must be perfect or she will rip up the quilt and start over.

"I wouldn't be satisfied with a quilt if it wasn't perfect," she said. "I would be ashamed to say it was one I had done if it wasn't right."

She said she could not possibly begin to count the number of quilts she had made in her life, but it must number in the hundreds.

"It's a joy to do it," Mrs. Osentoski explained. "It acts as therapy and occupies my time. Each time I start a new one, I can't wait to see it completed."

SURGERY

She underwent painful spine surgery several years ago which left her fingers stiff and unable to function properly. Another operation eased her spinal condition, but it took finger manipulation, in the form of quilting, to allow her to regain use of her hands.

"I've done so well, I even bought an organ," she added. "I just love to make quilts. It's a hobby and a love."

Mrs. Osentoski said she can make two quilts a week at top production. When she is creating her masterpieces, most of her time is taken up with the challenge of straight seams and square corners.

With her business picking up, she hates to refuse a request for a quilt. Many requests still come by telephone from Detroit weekly. Usually, quilting orders ceased for a few months after Christmas.

This year, she has four orders waiting for her after the holidays. She suspects more will follow as her fame as a quilter spreads.

"I don't mind though," Mrs. Osentoski said. "We never had any children and I'm allergic to our cats. This gives me something to do."

She said her husband encourages her in her work, and helps pick colors. His praise for a job well done acts as a boost for her, she added.

She sews all her own clothing and occasionally makes clothing for other persons as well.

"I could make it a full-time business if I wanted to," she laughed. "I wouldn't mind. It's lots of fun."

As long as she can keep getting material and as long as the orders keep coming in, Mrs. Osentoski will continue to turn out her masterpiece "energy crisis" quilts.

And, if the energy crisis deepens, those orders may keep coming for a long time.

MRS. VIRGINIA OSENTOSKI works on another of her quilt creations in her sewing room. Mrs. Osentoski has made 24 quilts since August, and has worn out five belts and three switches on her trusty sewing machine.

MRS. OSENTOSKI shows off the finished product. This quilt will become a Christmas present.

The Trade Winds

CASS CITY, PIGEON, MARLETTE, FRANKENMUTH

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard R. Smolarkiewicz

Karen Lynn Kilbourn became the bride of Leonard R. Smolarkiewicz Saturday, Nov. 17, at Saint Pancratius Catholic Church, Cass City.

Rev. Fr. Ralph Shores officiated at the 11:00 a.m. ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Kilbourn of Cass City. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Edward Sopchik of Dearborn and the late Raymond Smolarkiewicz.

The bride escorted to the altar by her father, chose a long gown of white organza, featuring an oval neckline, long sleeves with lace trim and a flounced hem. Her long veil of bridal illusion was outlined in scalloped French chantilly lace. She carried a bouquet of pink rose buds, white cushion mums and baby's breath.

Arlene O'Toole of Saginaw, was matron of honor for her sister, Bev Dorman, Midland. Linda Zawilinski and Deb Chipi, both of Cass City, served as bridesmaids.

They chose hot pink floor length gowns, featuring Empire waistline, long sleeves and high ruffled neckline. They carried bouquets of pink and burgundy cushion mums with baby's breath. They wore pink and burgundy mums in their hair. Jim Kovacs of Dearborn served as best man for the groom. Groomsman were Paul and Dave Lalko, both of Kingston, and Jerry Rzucido of Dearborn Heights. Ushers were Tom O'Toole of Saginaw and Mari Osentoski of Cass City. They wore black crushed velvet tuxedos with hot pink ruffled shirts.

Flower girl was Lisa O'Toole, niece of the bride. Her dress was identical to that of the bridesmaids. She carried a basket of pink and burgundy cushion mums.

Ringbearer was Michael O'Toole, the bride's nephew. He carried the rings on a heart-shaped white satin pillow.

A dinner and reception for 150 guests was held following the ceremony at the social hall in Cass City.

That evening 500 guests attended a reception for the newlyweds at the PLAV Hall at 7:00 p.m. in Dearborn.

After a two-week honeymoon in northern Michigan and Canada the couple will make their home in Holiday West, Belleville.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Think about something else

BY JIM FITZGERALD

General Eisenhower considered divorcing Mamie in 1945 simply to take your mind off the energy crisis in 1973.

No wonder everyone liked Ike. He had the tremendous responsibility of running World War II, but he still took time to worry about the welfare of future generations.

Every statesman recognizes the value of giving a distressed public a new stress. The principle is the same as driving a nail through your nose to take your mind off your toothache.

A few weeks ago, President Nixon didn't fool me when he ordered the troops to the edge of the cliff. He said it was because of the crisis in the mid-east. But actually he just wanted you to think about something besides the firing of Archibald Cox. When and if Nixon sends our boys to fight in Egypt, he will use his now-familiar Cambodian method. He won't tell you about it until the war is over.

You see how it works. . . . Was Nixon really naive enough to believe you'd believe those 2 tapes never existed? No. He just wanted to help you forget that Spiro Agnew does exist.

If Gerald Ford is ever caught stealing, the plan is to distract you by sending American advisors and equipment to Ireland to defoliate the potato paddies.

And, of course, there is that big smoke screen, the energy crisis. Actually, the U.S. has plenty of gasoline and fuel oil. But it is all hidden in Nixon's basement in Washington, San Clemente and Key Biscayne.

The problem was to take your mind off Watergate. The solution was to make it patriotic to drive slow. A man going 50 mph on the freeway is too busy counting the Communists passing him. He doesn't have time to fret about the CIA breaking into the Vatican to protect this nation's mackerels from being snapped. Brilliant.

Naturally, there is the danger of backlash. People might get madder about the energy crisis than they were about Watergate. In such cases where a rapid sequence of distractions is required, the White House often leaks something from its titillation file, officially known as SLPP (Sex Lives of Past Presidents). This always gives the public something else to talk about.

That's why, years after their deaths, it is revealed that President Harding made out in the White House broom closet, or Franklin D. Roosevelt and Eleanor had separate love lives, or Eisenhower was driven wild by his chauffeur.

These presidents were not so promiscuous as they were patriotic. Soon after a U.S. President is sworn in, he is told about the SLPP file. He is encouraged to leak something out of it whenever the American public badly needs something else to think about. And he is asked to contribute something to the sex file so as to return the favor to a future president. The only requirement is that the sex secrets not be told until after the burial of the president involved. It is sort of a reciprocal agreement to rest in peace unless the good of the nation demands otherwise.

You may wonder what Nixon is currently contributing to the SLPP file, to possibly titillate and distract your grandchildren some day. It is probably a tape with an 18-minute hummm in the middle.

Owen-Gage tells closing procedures

Owendale-Gagetown Area Schools have announced the following school closing procedures in the event of bad weather. Radio stations WLEW, Bad Axe, WKYO, Caro, and WNEM TV 5 will be notified prior to 7:00 a.m. newscasts. Residents of the district are asked not to call the school or school personnel to determine if there will be school. School officials add these lines will be needed to make essential calls and must be kept open.

Keep your ambition in the future tense by devoting most of your time to eyeing the goal.

FROM THE

Editor's Corner

For Cass City area folks it's not hard to understand the situation in Hastings now that the Hastings Manufacturing Company's takeover fight has been aired in the metro press. If you haven't been reading, the story is that McCord Corporation of Detroit has made an offer of $1 per share over the market price for stock in Hastings Manufacturing. The big Detroit company is trying to assume control of the little Hastings company at a time when the stock is depressed because of current market conditions.

The reason I say that it's not hard for area folks to understand the Hastings company is that it is amazingly similar to Cass City's Walbro Corporation. Both have their roots in the community. Walbro grew from infancy in Cass City. Hastings started and prospered in its community.

There are striking similarities in the company's community service. Both have established scholarships for local high school graduates. Both are strong in helping with funds to promote school activities.

Both provide local leadership in non-paying public service jobs in the community. Stock of both companies is locally owned.

These are the surface things. Reading between the lines, a more important similarity is the intangibles.

You sense when reading about Hastings that the company regards itself as a community citizen.

Its top people live in town. It's a family run business. There is a personal relationship between the company and the town it lives in and the people that work there.

And that's why the attitude of the town is predictable. It would be insane for them to feel any other way.

According to the report, nearly everyone in Hastings is on the side of local management, hoping to keep the bigger company with headquarters in Detroit away.

The story didn't say so but the reason must be the same as it would be if a foreign based outfit tried to take over Walbro. It's the self interest of the workers and the town.

Hastings people, like residents here, know that as long as Walbro is going the chances are 99.9 per cent sure that it will be in Cass City.

They know that if a recession hits hard next year there could be a loss of jobs, but not a loss of company. As long as Walbro has jobs to offer where else will they be but in Cass City?

They also know that if a larger company took over, a big recession could not only mean temporary loss of jobs but a permanent loss of company.

As local persons who worked at Baldwin Rubber or Nestles Co. can attest, there is nothing easier for a large corporation to do than to close up and move out when the going gets tough.

That's why 99.9 per cent of local area persons are glad that it's happening in Hastings, not in Cass City. And hoping that it never will.

and milk out for you and hay for your Deers too. Also remember all my cousins and little friends that I have around the Cass City area and else where. I have been a good girl too. Would also stop at all the big people houses that I know and Troys house near Bay City. My goodness Santa I almost forgot to mention don't forget all my Grandma's and Grandpa's in Michigan and Florida. Last but not least my Mommie and Daddy. Also a toy doggie that barks like they have at the gas station.

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Fred Jaus was in to renew his subscription Monday looking hale and hearty as always. We don't know how long Mr. Jaus has been a subscriber but I suspect it isn't as long as he has been paying taxes. . . and paying promptly, too.

The 92-years-young oldster informed us with his friendly smile that he was paying his taxes for the 68th consecutive year.

That's just got to be a record.

I can't tell you where Cass City students go on a snowy day in mid-week. But I can tell you where they don't go.

They don't go to see non-league basketball games. I'd guess that outside of cheer leaders and players there weren't 25 Cass City students at the Ugly game.

The school administration is still wrestling with a student problem at Evergreen School. Monday night a discussion among school board members started trying to figure what to do about it.

It barely started when Supt. Donald Crouse shut it off and moved the topic to a closed door session following the regular meeting. No solutions have been announced.

What really gets to you about this energy shortage is that one day it's crisis and the next day it's not, depending on the expert you happen to tune in.

When even the experts disagree can you blame us ordinary people when we look at the whole thing with a jaundiced eye?

I suspect that Don Stein of Gagetown is living it up with the $10,000 he won in the recent Michigan lottery millionaire drawing.

The reason I feel this way is that Jim Ketchum has been trying to interview Stein, a bachelor, ever since he won the money a couple of weeks ago.

Stein has no phone and frequent trips to his home have been unrewarding although our spies tell us he has returned and is in Gagetown again.

Given a windfall like this and no marital responsibilities what else would he be doing but living it up?

Most of us would.

Community

Chest drive

stands at $7,600

A total of $7,600 has been collected so far in the Elkland-Novesta Community Chest drive, according to President Gary Christner.

He indicated that funds from payroll deduction plans at Walbro and General Cable Corp. have not yet been received. He added that it is hoped these monies will be turned in within the next two weeks.

Last year, a total of $2,300 was realized from these plans.

Christner said the drive should meet its goal of $10,500, but indicated the total might be down somewhat, due to the present tight money situation.

Christner added the Community Chest will begin spending funds Jan. 1.

Area churches plan Christmas services

Behind the tinsel and bright lights of the Christmas season lies the true meaning of the holiday celebrated by Christians all over the world.

The following is a list of area churches sponsoring special Christmas services and programs. All persons are invited to attend and share in the celebration of Christ's birth.

FIRST BAPTIST

Sunday schoolers of First Baptist Church will present their annual Christmas program Sunday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. All students will participate in the event.

Sunday, Dec. 30, a film entitled "A Thief in the Night", dealing with Biblical prophecy concerning the coming of Christ will be presented at 9:00 p.m.

PRESBYTERIAN

The traditional Christmas Eve Communion service of lessons and carols will be celebrated at 8:00 p.m. Dec. 24. Sermons for Dec. 16 and 23 will deal with the Songs of Christmas. The third and fourth advent candles will also be lighted at these services.

NOVESTA
CHURCH OF CHRIST

The Sunday school Christmas program will be presented Sunday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. Teen-agers of the church will present the play "The Little Lamb Shepherd" Sunday, Dec. 23, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

GOOD SHEPHERD
LUTHERAN

The annual Sunday school program will be held Christmas Eve at 7:30 p.m., with a special birthday party for Jesus to follow briefly afterward.

Other holiday events include a festival worship service in celebration of Jesus' birth Christmas Day at 10:00 a.m. A New Year's Eve service with Holy Communion will be held at 7:30 p.m.

A Christmas service will also be provided for the residents of Provincial House Sunday, Dec. 23, at 3:00 p.m.

ST. PETER LUTHERAN
(COLUMBIA CORNERS)

Sunday schoolers of St. Peter Lutheran Church will present their Christmas program Monday, Christmas Eve, at 7:30 p.m.

Worship services will be held Christmas Day at 10:00 a.m. A special New Year's Eve worship service will be held Dec. 31 at 7:30 p.m.

TRINITY UNITED METHODIST

Sunday, Dec. 16, a children's Christmas program will be presented by the church school. Monday, Dec. 17, a senior youth caroling party will be held at Provincial House and at the homes of shut-ins and senior members of the congregation. Following the singing, the group will meet at the home of Anne Lawton for refreshments.

Sunday, Dec. 23, the junior choir will combine with the chancel choir in presenting a selection of Christmas music at the 11:00 a.m. worship service. Monday, Dec. 24, a Christmas Eve candle-lighting service will be held. The program will feature the singing of carols, scripture reading and a dramatic interpretation by a senior high youth group.

Sunday, Dec. 30, a student recognition service will be held. Robert Baker, Principal of John Glenn Junior High School, Saginaw, will deliver the morning's message. He is a former Cass Cityan and a former member of Trinity United Methodist.

SALEM UNITED METHODIST

Advent worship services will continue through Dec. 23. The Junior choir will sing Dec. 20. Christmas Worship will be held Dec. 23 at 11:00 a.m., and will feature special musical selections by the chancel choir and the junior choir.

At 7:30 p.m., Dec. 23, the annual church school Christmas program will be presented, featuring recitations, songs and drama.

The combined chancel choirs of Salem and Trinity United Methodist Churches will present the Christmas Cantata, "Night of Miracles", by John W. Peterson, in Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday Dec. 16, at 8:00 p.m.

The cantata is under the direction of Mrs. Ruth Hoffman, with Mrs. Joan Merchant as organist.

Soloists for this production are Mrs. Beverly Nieboer, Mrs. Eunice Wood, Robert Copeland, Frederick (Fritz) Neitzel, Harold Gunther and Ira L. Wood.

Another feature of the evening will be the musical presentations of the guitar group from St. Pancratius Catholic Church.

A coffee hour will follow in the church parlors.

CASS CITY UNITED MISSIONARY CHURCH

Cass City United Missionary Church will present a special musical program Sunday, Dec. 16, at 7:30 p.m. featuring the "Shalom" gospel team from Bethel College, Mishawaka, Ind.

The following Saturday, Dec. 22, the youth Christmas play will be presented at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Dec. 23, the Sunday school Christmas program will be presented at 11:00 a.m.

Wednesday, Dec. 26, a prayer and praise service will be held beginning at 7:30 p.m.

NAZARENE CHURCH

Youth of the Cass City Church of the Nazarene will decorate the church Christmas tree Dec. 19 at 7:00 p.m.

Sunday, Dec. 23, a children's program, "Journey to Bethlehem", will be presented at 10:00 a.m. At 6:30 p.m., a Christmas story cantata entitled "The Heavens Declare", written by Floyd W. Hawkins, will be presented by the choir.

Trinity women

meeting

Trinity United Methodist Church Women met for a regular monthly meeting Dec. 3, with Mrs. Ed Baker presiding.

Recommendations of the executive committee were read and voted upon. Among them, was a decision to eliminate the mother-daughter banquet which was to be served in May. The men's spring rally will be scheduled the same month.

The women also voted to sponsor a Brownie troop next year. Another Christmas bazaar will be held in 1974.

Mrs. Gary Christner presented Mrs. Baker with her past-president pin, following three years of service in that capacity.

Mrs. Roy Chisholm presented Mrs. Sam Blades with her life membership pin. She has been a member of the society for 35 years.

Inger Granlund from Lidings, Sweden, an exchange student from John Glenn High School in Bay City, related Christmas traditions of Sweden to the group. She dressed in her native costume as a part of her discussion.

She explained the Christmas holiday begins on Dec. 13, which is Lucia Day. The oldest daughter wears a crown of evergreen and lighted candles and serves coffee, ginger cookies and rolls to honor Santa Lucia.

Mrs. Nancy Shagena sang "O Holy Night", after which she led the group in Christmas carols.

A dinner was served by Group V to 50 members and guests preceding the program.

People put us through hell

Dear Editor,

I would like to thank the person or persons responsible for dumping sugar in our gas tanks. That was a cute little trick. You ruined my car but we were wise when it came to the 3 trucks. I hope you can live with yourself or selves. If you people think you're going to run us out, you have another think coming.

Ever since our house burned down you (the people) have been doing nothing but putting our kids and us through hell. What is it with you people? Just because you don't like someone doesn't mean you should destroy their property or pass judgement on someone unless you were there.

I didn't know how many two-faced people there were until our house burned. They talked to us before it burned, but after it burned they won't even look our way.

Ever since our house burned, all we've heard was "I'm glad your house burned cause we didn't like you and we didn't want you moving back in." It's too bad that all of us weren't in that fire. That would have pleased a lot of people, wouldn't it? When the kids go to school they come home and say that someone said "Here comes the Gray trash."

Are you people prejudiced against us for having seven children? Should the kids have to suffer?

Do you know what it's like to have to stand up and fight for your name just because your name is "Gray"? Just ask your kids. I hope you can live with your conscience and have your fun.

Letters to the Editor

This is not a Santa letter

Dec. 7, 1973

Dear Editor, John and Jim:

This is not a letter to Santa Claus.

I received several letters a year similar to Jim's from Buckley, commending me for community leadership and other bla-bla and then telling me how I need their Journal or what have you in order to be informed on foreign affairs, Watergate (sic) etc.

However the import of this communication is another value of living in a small town. To wit: We received a Christmas greeting from Grand Rapids a couple of days ago addressed: To Aunt Blanche and Uncle Mel.

Yours for knowledgeable mailmen.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

A refugee speaks

By Jim Ketchum

I talked with a refugee from Detroit the other day and, as a result, my opinion of the total depravity of mankind has been momentarily altered.

The refugee moved here from the murder capital of the nation in mid-summer and told me she finds Cass City a welcome change of pace from Motown. The mere fact that her family had the good sense to pull up stakes and escape before great bodily harm befell them is not what made the gloom of Nixonia momentarily lift. Something much more meaningful accomplished the feat.

She explained that she is starting to look for a career and is at the age when indecision generally rules most lives. But she told me her mind is pretty well made up. She wants to become a physical therapist.

Perhaps this doesn't sound too unusual. Pick any graduating high school class in the country and you'll find a variety of occupations reminiscent of the want ad section of your favorite newspaper.

You'll find engineers, plumbers, farmers, accountants and even an occasional misguided soul who doesn't want to get an honest job and instead opts to become a reporter. So becoming a physical therapist may seem like just one more vocation in the endless list.

But there is more to it than that. Consider, if you will, the number of young persons whose first act after graduation is to dash madly to the courthouse, take out a license and, with practically no knowledge of the institution whatsoever, get married.

I see the lists every week. I also see the lists of divorce judgments ruled upon in Circuit Court each week.

These kids will save their "I do's", dash away and begin saying their "I won'ts" until they tire of the whole mess and file for separate maintenance.

My refugee friend, however, sees it another way. She believes in living a little, getting some education, seeing a little of the world and, in general, maturing before taking the plunge. Attitudes such as these are like a refreshing breeze on a hot summer night.

My refugee friend also has a good line on a job. She believes strongly that people ought to help other people. That's why she wants to become a physical therapist. She tells me all her life she's wanted to do something to help others.

Her goal isn't the moon. It's not something so far out of reach that it can conveniently be given up for something easier and less demanding. The goal she has set is an obtainable one and I'll bet my last typewriter ribbon that she'll succeed.

The refugee related some of Detroit's horrors in that same conversation and she is bound and determined not to go back for her training there. She would like to stay as part of a hospital staff and not as a patient or victim.

By comparison, she readily admits, Cass City doesn't have bigtown's action—but, she adds, who needs that kind of action?

Her idea of a good time doesn't involve getting beaten up on your doorstep or having to lock every door, including the screen at all times. She's made friends here and, I think, likes life in smalltown.

My refugee friend's fresh approach to life makes the gloom of rising prices, shortages, and constant complaining about nearly everything seem just a touch on the superfluous. Go get 'em, refugee.

Sugar beet pay averages $401

Growers for Michigan and Monitor Sugar Companies are being mailed checks this week totaling $22,446,180, or an average of $15.00 per ton, as their share of the initial gross payment for 1973's record $59,000,000 sugarbeet crop.

Industry officials predict that, depending on final factory production figures and sales of the crop and by-products during the coming year, an eventual gross return of $25,533,000 before expenses will go to the two sugar processing companies while growers should garner about $13,063,000 as their share of the 1973 crop.

Growers will be paid the balance owed for their beets in subsequent payments to be made next April and October, after production is completed and more of the crop is marketed.

All figures above represent gross revenue before any costs, such as land rental and taxes, seed, fertilizer, fuel, herbicides, labor, equipment, harvesting and delivery have been deducted by growers, or any factory operating costs such as fuel, raw materials, labor, taxes, interest or equipment have been paid by the processors.

Company officials indicated that the $15.00 per ton gross initial payment figure is the highest average ever paid in the 75-year history of Michigan's beet sugar industry. Growers at the state-wide average of 17.62 tons per acre with average sugar content should gross a total of about $401 per acre from the three payments on 1973's crop and the conditional payment.

Monitor growers will receive an initial gross payment of $6,217,500 for 414,500 tons of sugarbeets from 24,298 acres.

Michigan Sugar Company growers will receive:

District	Initial Gross Payment
Breckenridge-Sanford-Ola	$ 1,619,370
Caro	3,728,865
Carrollton	3,723,015
Crowell	2,826,795
Sebewaing	4,330,635
Total:	$16,228,680

Most of the growers' returns from the 1973 sugarbeet crop benefit their local communities as purchases, including farm equipment and trucks, fertilizer and chemicals, taxes, wages to custom harvesters, laborers and truckers, and operating capital for their own farms, which enables them to purchase

Postal rates to jump January 5

Merry Christmas! Your postal rates are going up.

That's the word from Cass City Postmaster Grant Gaspie. He said Monday first class postage will jump from eight cents to 10 cents Jan. 5. Additionally, air mail will rise from 10 cents to 13 cents.

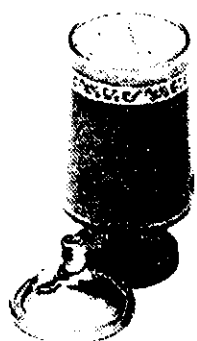

The rate increase will go into effect, subject to approval of the Cost of Living Council. Gaspie added, however, that the rate can be instituted on a 90-day basis, subject to approval.

He said this may be a contributing factor to the increase in mail being processed at the Cass City office.

"Perhaps some people are trying to get their mail in before the rates go up," Gaspie said.

Slippery roads, deer lead to numerous traffic accidents

A rash of minor traffic accidents plagued area police agencies last week, none serious.

Thursday, a Cass City woman and two companions in her auto were injured when their car went out of control and landed in a ditch on Vassar Road a quarter-mile north of Murphy Lake Road.

Carol Jean Thane, 22, of 3677 E. Cass City Rd., told Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies the right wheels of her auto dropped off the pavement and, when she attempted to bring the car back onto the slippery road, it slid across into the ditch on the opposite side of the road, striking another car already in the ditch.

Ms. Thane and her two companions in the auto, Martha Cardon, 67, and Ethel Horwig, 62, both of Vassar, sought private medical treatment for their injuries.

The vehicle struck by the Thane car belonged to Mary Thelken of Vassar.

No ticket was issued in the mishap which occurred at 8:45 a.m.

Friday, a car driven by Mark Nieman, 16, of 4355 Woodland St., collided with a horse as he drove north on Hurds Corner Road about a half-mile south of Cass City Road.

Nieman told Tuscola deputies the horse came out of a ditch on the east side of the road and ran in front of his car before he could stop.

The animal belonged to Albert Herrapp of 4761 Hurds Corner Rd.

Neither Nieman nor his passenger in the auto, Cathy Hobart, 14, of Gagetown, was seriously injured. The mishap took place at 11:15 p.m.

SATURDAY MISHAPS

Three auto accidents were reported Saturday. At 1:45 a.m., a car driven by Paul Voss, 16, of 1919 Crawford Rd., Deford, went out of control on Cemetery Road a half-mile south of Kelly Road and landed in a ditch.

Voss told Tuscola county deputies he fell asleep at the wheel while traveling south on Cemetery Road, lost control and landed in the east ditch.

At 9:30 a.m., a General Telephone service van driven by Kim Copeland, 5517 Pringle Rd., Decker, struck a parked car owned by Grace Nemeth of 6305 Main St., at the corner of Vulcan and Garfield Streets.

Cass City police who investigated said Copeland was attempting to turn onto Main Street and did not see the parked vehicle because of a buildup of frost on the windshield.

No ticket was issued. Copeland was not injured.

At 6:20 p.m., Robert Zywowski, 25, of Rossman Road, Kingston, struck and killed a deer while traveling west on Rossman Road about a quarter-mile west of English Road.

Zywowski told Tuscola deputies he had no chance to avoid the collision when the deer darted in front of his car. He escaped serious injury.

CAR-DEER MISHAPS

Deer were responsible for two other accidents last week, both occurring Thursday.

Richard A. Plummer, 33, Bad Axe, escaped serious injury around 5:30 p.m. when his car struck a deer on M-53 near Wright Road, north and east of Cass City.

Plummer told State Police from the Bad Axe post he was headed north on M-53 when the animal darted in front of his car before he had a chance to stop.

David S. Erla, 17, of Cass City, escaped injury around 9:30 p.m. when his car struck and killed a deer as he traveled west on Bay City-Forestville Road, four miles east of Gagetown.

CAR-STEER MISHAP

An Ubyl man escaped injury Wednesday, Dec. 5, when his car struck and killed a Black Angus steer that wandered onto Bad Axe Road, a mile and a quarter south of Bad Axe.

Gerald R. Taylor, 33, told Huron county deputies he could not avoid a collision with the animal, which belonged to Roy Collins of Bad Axe.

The mishap occurred at 8:45 p.m.

Board accepts police car bids

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners accepted total bids of $15,640 on four Ford police cars for the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department. The bids were accepted Tuesday at the board's regular meeting.

Additionally, the board will take bids on a pickup for the maintenance department.

In other routine business, commissioners voted to approve the taking of bids on carpeting and draperies for the Circuit Judge's chambers and the courtroom. Commissioner Maynard McConkey placed proposed specifications before the board, estimating total cost at $7,500.

Three bids will be taken—one for the carpeting, one for the draperies and one for draperies in the courtroom alone.

The board also voted to pay $1,100 toward the completion of the county-wide soil survey being conducted by the state. All field work has been completed on the project, it was revealed. Remaining work involves updating the report.

This payment will come out of federal revenue sharing monies.

The board also agreed to pay $1,163 as its share in a matching funds program to finance the probation department of District Court. The county's payment will be matched by federal and state monies.

Commissioner Charles Woodcock pointed out that the payment hinges on approval of the federal grant.

Working agreements for 1974 with county banks regarding the deposit and checking accounts were also approved. Among the banks involved in the agreements are Pimney and Cass City State Banks and Farmers and Merchant's Bank of Gagetown.

Commissioner Kenneth Kennedy indicated the recently inaugurated Alcoholism Information Agency under the direction of the Thumb Board of Health may expand full-strength into Lapeer county.

Kennedy said Lapeer county has indicated a willingness to enter into the program.

The agency, under the direction of Clarke "Spoke" Johnson, would add a counselor in Lapeer working in the same capacity as Earl Day presently works in Caro. Counseling would involve those persons referred by district and circuit courts with alcohol-related problems.

Commissioners also voted to spend $1,300 for a complete study of the heating and air conditioning system in the court house with an eye toward modernizing it.

The study is the result of inquiries made last summer regarding the system.

Two persons were arraigned Monday in Tuscola County Circuit Court before presiding Judge James P. Churchill.

Lamont Whitlock, Caro, was arraigned on a charge of larceny in a building. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pre-trial examination was set for Jan. 7 and bond of $250 was continued.

Whitlock is charged with taking a quantity of cigarettes from a Caro gasoline station Sept. 3.

George Rivar, Silverwood, was arraigned on a charge of larceny of a steer. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Pre-trial examination was set for Jan. 7.

Rivar is charged with taking a Holstein Feeder steer from a barn Oct. 20 in Dayton township.

A Forstoria man was sentenced after having been found guilty on charges of conspiracy to receive stolen property.

James R. Bentley was sentenced to pay fines and costs of $100 plus $260 in restitution. Additionally, he will serve 30 days in the Tuscola County Jail.

Bentley was found guilty of conspiracy in the theft of $1,200 in U.S. currency. The incident took place March 19.

CASS CITY CHRONICLE

Need some firewood? The Department of Natural Resources is giving it away. All you have to do is come and get it.

Wood will be available mostly from the Deford State Game area.

"We've received probably five times as many calls this year regarding firewood as we did last year," Jarvis said. "In past years, we've been charging 40 cents a cord, but now it's free. All people have to do is come and get a permit."

The permit instructs the holder what land he may cut on. The program will last all winter, Jarvis added.

The permit procedure helps the DNR control the amount and variety of timber taken from state lands, as well as assuring that timber removed is not already spoken for and that no person takes more than he needs to meet his own heating requirements.

Timber retrieved under this program may not be sold, the DNR points out.

Jarvis said a variety of hardwoods will be available, including oak, hickory, ash and some popple.

The program is a direct response to the energy crisis, Jarvis said, and also aids the DNR by clearing certain lands free of cost to the state.

Mrs. Ellicott shuns publicity as Grant Twp. supervisor

"I don't think it's much of a story. In fact, you really don't have to say much at all about it."

She doesn't sound like someone holding an elective office, but that's how Mrs. Helen Ellicott of rural Owendale feels about her appointment as Grant township supervisor. In fact, the less said about it the better.

"I'm not a publicity seeker," she said. "I'm just a common, everyday woman who's been asked to do a job."

That job makes her unique, for she is the first woman in Huron county to hold the position of township supervisor. However, she shuns any notion that she has achieved anything special by it.

"I already told them (the township board) I wasn't going to stand for election," she said. "This is just a temporary thing."

Mrs. Ellicott succeeds Kenneth Maharg who resigned because of the illness of his wife. She explained she was approached by the board because of their difficulty in finding a suitable replacement for Maharg.

"When they asked me if I'd do it, I told them I would think about it," Mrs. Ellicott said. "I talked it over with Mr. Maharg and with the board and decided I would do it."

According to Robert Osborn, county register of deeds, Mrs. Ellicott is indeed the first woman in Huron county ever to be officially named as a township supervisor.

He said in 1955, Mrs. Les Ender of Port Hope served as supervisor of Rubicon township for a short time when her husband was named to the Huron Road Commission. But

Mrs. Ellicott is the first woman to be named to the office.

Township supervising runs in the family. Mrs. Ellicott's father-in-law, Arthur Ellicott, served as Grant supervisor for nearly two decades.

"Other than that, I really don't know why they chose me," she said.

Mrs. Ellicott indicated she has taken a lot of good-natured teasing from her family and friends about the appointment. She said she does not believe in Women's Lib and this is not the reason she took the job.

"I like to be waited on and have doors opened for me," she said.

She said her four children think her appointment is very special and tease her about it.

She also is the grandmother of seven.

As an avowed non-candidate, Mrs. Ellicott seeks only to do her job and then turn the reins over to someone else.

Cagers split 2 games

Slim Red Hawk title hopes center around 'must' win over Caro

JERRY TONER drives for two points on a fast break. The Hawks made many points like this against an inexperienced Uby team Tuesday night.

History is repeating itself for the Cass City Red Hawks basketball team.

Fans with long memories can remember how Hawk cagers got off to a horrendous start last season, losing two of their first three games before turning it all around.

After those early losses the team came on fast and was in the fight for the Thumb B Conference championship until the final game of the season when a narrow loss to Sandusky let the championship slip away.

This year Cass City is in an even greater early season slump. Losses to Lakers and Sandusky have the team right at the bottom of the league.

But even though Cass City has yet to win in Thumb B it's too early to write off completely their chances for a share of the title.

But to become a factor the team will have to stage a turn-around. . . and fast. So far this season the quintet has been erratic.

There hasn't been anyone to hold them all together as Paul Bliss did when he was at the helm. Jerry Toner has been very effective, but it's a lot to ask to replace two veterans. Bliss and Kip Hopper—and have the team function like it did at the close of last season.

Still, Coach Fred Hurlburt is undaunted. "We'll be tough as nails before the year is over," he said Monday. "We just have to get it together and start playing as a team."

One player who seemed to put it all together for the first time this season was Nick Gibas, who rebounded well and shot well in a losing cause.

But it wasn't enough as Tom Matteson and Ray Leppien did yeoman duty on the boards for the Lakers, who notched a narrow, 74-70, win Friday at Cass City High School. Their efforts on defense coupled with hot shooting by James Barbret was enough to lead the visitors to the narrow win.

It was close for the first period as the two teams exchanged baskets with the Lakers in front 17-15 at the end of the stanza.

In the second period the Lakers pulled into a lead that they never lost.

The margin saw-sawed from three to 15 points.

At the half it was 38-32. Early in the third period the margin shot to 15 points and it looked as if the issue was decided.

But Cass City came charging back and started whittling away at the lead. At the three-quarter mark the score was 57-50.

The Hawks moved within three points with about three minutes left, but this was as close as they were to get.

Cass City fouled in desperation in the closing minutes, but the Lakers were deadly from the charity stripe and held on to win.

Accuracy from the free throw line proved to be decisive in the game.

Cass City converted 10 of 19 for 53 per cent while the Lakers cashed 18 of 26 for 69 per cent.

The Hawks outscored the visitors from the field, 60 to 54, and racked up a rebound edge, 46-35.

The Hawks were guilty of nine turnovers while the Lakers were charged with just six.

Gibas led the attack with 19 rebounds and 26 points while Scott Hartel had eight rebounds and 19 points. Dave Hillaker chipped in with 10 rebounds and 12 points.

Barbret scored 28 to lead all scorers. Matteson accounted for 15 and David Fritz was credited with 12.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Junior Varsity had little trouble topping the Laker JV's, 59-35. It was one of the smaller Laker squads to play against Cass City in recent years.

UBLY GAME

Cass City has a perfect record outside the Thumb B Conference today following its lopsided victory over winless Uby Tuesday night, 92-32, at Uby High School.

The game, before a sparse crowd, had little meaning for either team and the Hawks used the game as a tune-up for tough Caro which lies ahead Friday.

When the Hawks travel to the county seat to take on the Tigers many cage observers feel that they will be meeting the team that has the best chance to go all the way for the league title this season.

Cass City's problem will be stopping Mark DeNoyelles and Jay Owens inside and John Golecki on the outside. No team has done so yet this season.

But if Cass City tradition is followed, the Hawks will come to play and could make the Friday contest one of their season's highlights with a victory.

Certainly a win is a must if the team is to stay in title contention.

The club proved little against the short, green Uby team. Several players expected to bulwark the club are not out for the Bobcat team this year.

There was little to the game. Uby failed to score a field goal in the first period and it was not until six minutes were gone that the host club cashed a free throw.

At the end of the first period the score was 18-2.

From that fast start Cass City continued to roll up the margin. At the half the score was 43-14 and that was stretched to 65-27 at the three-quarter whistle.

The Hawks scored on fast breaks and interceptions and turnovers caused by two variations of a zone press.

It was the first time this year that the club used its pressing zone defense. Meanwhile, Uby was having trouble finding the basket all night and missed several easy shots in each quarter.

Four starters were in double figures for Cass City and nine of the 11 men that played scored.

Jerry Toner led with 19. Dave Hillaker hit 16 and Nick Gibas and Scott Hartel scored 15 each.

The Uby scoring was well divided.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Junior Varsity made it three wins in four tries by scoring an equally impressive victory, 70-40.

Personalized Gifts for Christmas

Most gifts for dad can take on a more meaningful air with just a little creativity. For example: if dad's lucky enough to receive a color TV for Christmas, why not have a small plaque engraved to read, "Made especially for . . ." The plaque can then be affixed to the set.

If he's a jogger, a new sweat suit with his name embroidered across the back would certainly add to his individuality.

Of course, jewelry gifts can easily be engraved.

Crowds halved at Deford put-take pheasant hunt

Put-and-take pheasant hunting has resumed in the Deford State Game area following the firearm deer season and, according to Department of Natural Resources regional director Bud Jarvis, all indications point to a continued growth of the sport.

Put-and-take returned with the planting of 120 birds Friday, Nov. 30. This is a drop from the 140 birds per week with which the program began in late September.

Budgetary cuts, along with the rising costs of feed has forced a reduction, Jarvis explained. Additionally, an extra game area elsewhere in the state has aided in the reduction.

Hunting is permitted Saturday through Wednesday in put-and-take areas, although Jarvis admitted most birds are usually gone by late Sunday afternoon.

"Our kill percentages have run between 75 and 90," Jarvis said regarding the number of birds harvested.

So far, about 1,200 birds have been planted in the Deford game area. Around 20,000 pheasants have been released statewide and another 35,000 will be planted through March 1, the final day of the season.

Jarvis said the reaction of local hunters to put-and-take has been favorable generally and all indications point to repeating the season next fall. However, planned increases might have to wait.

"The original planning called for a doubling of production of birds in 1974," Jarvis said. "But now, we may have to hold our same level again."

He said complaints came mostly from hunters who went out the first day of the season who did not like the swarm of hunters they encountered.

"Our crowds at Deford have been cut by a half each week until now we have it to a manageable figure," Jarvis said. "For instance, last Saturday, there were something like 100 cars."

The DNR plans to poll selected put-and-take hunters at the conclusion of the season through a questionnaire which will be sent out. Results of this survey should give the department needed information to plan the next season.

Put-and-take permits may be obtained through Feb. 16, by postcard addressed to Put-and-Take Pheasant Program, P.O. Drawer M, Lansing, 48926. Applications are accepted only by mail.

3rd year of wrestling program starting to pay off for Cass City Red Hawks

Now in its third year at Cass City High School, the wrestling program is showing steady improvement as the Red Hawks garnered medals in tournament competition and tied a dual meet with Marysville.

The Hawks opened with a tournament at Richmond and the matmen won eight medals.

Dan Lowe, at 155 pounds, brought back a first place medal with three wins, all by pins.

Wayne Brooks, 145-pound class, and Mike Gaszczyński, 130 pounds, won second place medals.

Third place medals were earned by: Rick Doerr, 95 pounds; Dave Langmaid, 105 pounds; Kurt Wagner, 126 pounds; Roy Pierce, 132 pounds; and Chester Sieradzki, 155 pounds.

Cass City lost 12 points to Marysville in the first dual meet of the year Wednesday, Dec. 5, because they had no wrestlers in the 119-pound and heavy-weight classes and then rallied to tie, 32-all.

The results: Zepp pinned R. Doerr, Cass City, 3:38; Langmaid, Cass City, over Campbell, 11-9; Burley pinned Bob Adams, Cass City, 2:55; Endeau pinned Wagner, Cass City, 1:29; Pierce, Cass City, over Samples, 5-1; Gaszczyński, Cass City, pinned Havens, 3:54; S. Speirs, Cass City, tied J. Speirs, 5-5.

Other results were: Sieradzki, Cass City, pinned Brinker, 6:32; Auten, Cass City, pinned Rogers, 2:46; Lowe, Cass City, pinned Porrett, 1:40. The Hawks Junior Varsity also tied Marysville, 9-9.

BIRCH RUN TOURNEY

Saturday the Hawks competed in a tournament at Birch Run. The team finished third among the eight entries behind champion Pinconning and St. Charles.

Cass City placed five men in the finals and chalked up a first and four seconds.

The winning wrestler was Kurt Wagner at 126 pounds. Second place finishes were won by Rick Doerr, Roy Pierce, Chester Sieradzki and Dan Lowe. Wayne Brooks and Skip Speirs finished fourth.

The Hawks were to have met a tough Marlette squad, Wednesday, Dec. 12.

THE CASS CITY wrestling team has shown steady progress since the sport was organized three years ago. The boys helping the team pile up the points are, from left, front: Dave Langmaid, Dave Rogers, Bob Adams, Dave Cooper, Kurt Wagner, Jerry Langmaid and John Mocan.

Great Fire, abandoned road recalled at Sanilac county centennial farm

Most of the buildings on the Keith Mitchell farm, located at 6125 Wright Rd., don't sit parallel to the road. This isn't because the original architect didn't know what he was doing—it's because the road he built the buildings along no longer exists.

Mitchell's farm, located in Greenleaf township, has been designated a centennial farm by the Division of Michigan History of the Department of State. In back of the farmhouse, reconstructed after the great fire of 1881, traces of the old angling road can still be found.

"That road ran straight from Bartnick's Corners past this place and on to the town hall," Mitchell explained as he pointed into a thicket of trees that have grown to partially obscure the abandoned pathway.

"They used it into the 1920's, I'm told," he added. "In fact, in some fields, when they're plowed, you can see where the old roadbed went."

The Mitchell farm holds much history. Originally, it comprised 80 acres and was purchased by Wilson J.W. Jones, great-grandfather of Mitchell on Nov. 8, 1872. Jones bought it from another private party who had purchased it as government land at $1.25 per acre.

The farm had barely been established when the death and destruction of the Great Fire of 1881 cut a path through much of northern Sanilac county, laying waste to everything it touched. The Jones farmhouse was destroyed, but, according to Mitchell, the original barn survived and still stands.

Mitchell explained the present farmhouse was built following the Great Fire with relief lumber. In the basement, overlays made of logs, some of which still covered with bark, are in evidence. Near the furnace, scorched logs can be seen.

"Those logs didn't get burned from the furnace," Mitchell laughed. "Those, I presume, are some of the logs that went through the Great Fire."

After the turn of the century the farm was split between two sons and remained so until Mitchell took over ownership. He bought back the western 40 acres and expanded until today he owns 200 acres.

Mitchell takes pride in the old farmhouse which he said was completed around 1885. He chuckled when he recalled one of his remodeling efforts.

"When I put down that hardwood floor," he said, pointing in the dining room, "I really had problems. It seems that the guy who built it alternated a hardwood board with a softwood board on the original floor. Well, the softwood wore out lots quicker than the hardwood did and I really had a time shimming things up to make it come out right."

Mitchell, who was born three and a half miles south of the old homestead, moved to the house with his bride in 1960 and faced a mountain of work. In their first winter, they stayed in a small addition on the north side until running water and a furnace could be installed in the rest of the house.

"It wasn't all that bad," Mitchell recalled. "It was bigger than a house trailer."

Since then, numerous improvements have come to the farmhouse. And more are planned, including paneling and aluminum siding.

Mitchell raises steers for beef on the farm, along with working full-time for General Telephone Co. Mrs. Mitchell is a nurse at Hills and Dales General Hospital.

Mitchell had been advised of the age of the farm by his mother years ago. They got in touch with Don Weston of the Department of Natural Resources who advised them where to obtain centennial farm forms.

The old roadbed remains a curiosity. Mitchell said two other farms which were built along it still stand. No record of the road's name has yet turned up. Mitchell said, but added some of the area's older residents might know it.

As far as the future is concerned, Mitchell and his family plan to stay on the farm at least another ten years.

"After the kids are grown, I'm not sure what we'll do," he said. The Mitchells have two children, ages 12 and 11.

In the meantime, however, farming will go on at the Mitchell place, just as farming has gone on for a century.

DAUGHTER DEBBIE MITCHELL poses with an antique sideboard in the dining room of her farmhouse. The Mitchells have lived on the centennial farm since 1960.

AGENT'S CORNER

Maximize use of goods

Ann Ross - Extension Agent

Energy, Energy, Energy - it's a popular word these days. Herman Koenig, chairman of Michigan State University's Electrical Engineering and Systems Science, says our life support systems cannot sustain themselves "as we are now" through our generation or at best through the generation of our children.

So we are now considering what alternatives we have and how to bring them about without a major disruption of our social system.

Koenig suggests that we must maximize the use of material goods. Our affluence has made us wasteful. So our values will have to change. It can become the "in" thing to save instead of waste goods.

We also need to ask for and expect greater durability in material goods - a longer life expectancy with satisfactory service.

And we may find ourselves looking more to ways that our local communities and indeed our own families and households can meet human needs. Can we change fast enough to allow support systems to last or to regenerate? Can we hang together while we're doing it?

Huron Home Care Assn. meets in Bad Axe

The Huron County Home Care Association held its annual Christmas party Wednesday, Dec. 5, in the Methodist Church dining room in Bad Axe, with 115 persons attending.

Patluck lunch was served. Entertainment was provided by the Gordon Mosey family of Bad Axe.

Santa Claus made an appearance and presented gifts.

Guests were Wilfred Coulston and James McGillen from the county Social Services office, Robert Van Oeyen of the Mental Health Department and Mrs. Alan Adler, supervisor of the Sheltered Workshop.

The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 17.

Lamotte Township fire department faces fire protection challenge

By Jim Ketchum

"It didn't really take a lot of planning. In fact, it wasn't 30 days after the idea first came up that we had plans drawn for it."

That's how Lamotte Township Supervisor Cecil Hayward described the inception of the township's own fire department which went into operation just a month ago. The department now provides fire protection previously hired from Marlette Township and Moore Township.

The result of Hayward's own offhand suggestion regarding a fire hall and community center resulted in a 6,000 square foot building constructed on Snover Road a half mile east of Hemans. He explained the chain of events leading to its construction as he puffed on an ever-present pipe in the fire department section of the structure.

"In the past, we hired our fire protection," Hayward, who has served over 30 years as supervisor, said, "but it wasn't the best arrangement because of our location geographically. We split the township between Marlette and Moore township, but we really needed our own."

In the meantime Lamotte township became the recipient of federal revenue sharing which Hayward described as a "windfall". In 1972, Lamotte received $28,000 and in 1973 will receive $27,000.

With these funds available voters of the township approved the construction of the community center-fire hall building at their annual meeting in April.

Hayward explained the idea of the building came up as he was planning the budget for 1973.

"We had no plan when we sat down to talk over the budget," he said, "and when the township board met, we asked what people wanted and sort of talked our way into it."

Immediately after approval at the annual meeting, construction of the cement block and steel structure began. Work continued through October when the building finally became usable.

In the meantime, Lamotte township purchased two pieces of fire-fighting equipment, a water wagon from the Department of Natural Resources and a used fire engine from the Presque Isle Fire Department, located near Detroit.

After the major work was completed, volunteer firemen, the auxiliary and a group of children sponsored by an Office of Economic Opportunity grant pitched in. The 18 volunteer firemen painted the outside trim of the building and plan to complete painting the interior.

The auxiliary is raffling off a snowmobile later this month as part of a fund raising drive and plan to hold a Christmas party.

The group of children added their touch by painting the inside walls of the community center portion of the building.

Hayward said total cost of the building will run about $36,000 which will include grading of the site and finish work inside.

In the community center portion, kitchen facilities will be installed to accommodate wedding receptions, parties and dances. Rest room facilities include a shower area for firemen. Eventually, a suspended ceiling is planned, along with some type of floor covering.

The building represents a focal point for Lamotte township which it has not had in past years. There are no towns the size of Cass City in the area, the closest settlement being Hemans.

The building provides a meeting place for government, housing for a volunteer fire department and eventually may become part of a park and recreational area. Hayward explained current planning calls for a softball diamond and other recreational areas in back of the building on part of the 10 acres it occupies.

The need for a building of this kind has existed for years,

Hayward said. The former township hall did not have even an outdoor toilet, he said.

Hayward cited the township's growth along with the need for better protection of the grain elevator in Hemans which has burned twice in the last seven years as justification for the move.

He indicated most township residents have accepted the idea of the building, especially after they realized it was not taking a bite out of their township property taxes.

"I had a person yesterday stop me and ask just how much was this building costing the taxpayers," Hayward said. "I told her as far as what we spread on property rolls, it wasn't costing the taxpayers a cent. This is the great thing about it and I'm real happy about it."

Hayward takes pride in the building, something he said neither Sandusky nor Marlette has.

"You know," he said thoughtfully puffing on his pipe, "this is quite a step to take for us. To see this thing and how the people in the township have accepted it and their enthusiasm for it is really wonderful."

The stocky supervisor who served 12 years as a sergeant at arms in the House of Representatives also takes pride in the fact that practically no changes were made in the structure from the planning stage to final construction.

He said the township board had studied other fire halls, including the Elkland Township Fire Hall, but decided its plans could not be as large.

The result has apparently met with approval by most township residents, judging by the response to it.

"After you've been at this job as long as I have," he said thoughtfully, "you get the feel of the people. I think most of them realize now that it is a good thing."

Hayward said $6,000 was set aside to purchase equipment for the fledgling department. This, he added, has already been exceeded by about $1,000.

Once these initial purchases are out of the way, the department will be financed from the township general fund. He said there is no way a firm budget for the first year can be set up. For 1975, however, a separate budget is expected to be established for the department.

"I can't honestly say what it'll cost to run it," Hayward said.

Chief of the new department is Adam West of Snover. West is employed in Pontiac and became chief largely because of his prior experience on the Commerce Township (Oakland county) Fire Department.

West was chosen by a vote of the department members for a one-year term. The position of chief, according to the department bylaws, is filled by member election each year.

West said stickers will eventually reach each resident listing the emergency fire number in Sandusky.

West said his department maintains a mutual aid agreement with the Elkland Township Fire Department and with Moore Township. Contracted service for Lamotte from Marlette will not be renewed when the contract expires in the near future, West said.

West explained his department is trying to collect $150 for each run. However, a recent attorney-general's ruling made such collections illegal.

Cooperation and community enthusiasm toward the new department has been very good, according to the fire chief. Additionally, he praised his volunteer firemen.

"They've been around," West said. "They'll do all right."

OPERATION

West explained the operation of the department depends on a combination telephone and shortwave link with the Sandusky County Sheriff's Department. He said all fire calls go to the department in Sandusky, and firemen are then notified by either telephone or shortwave message.

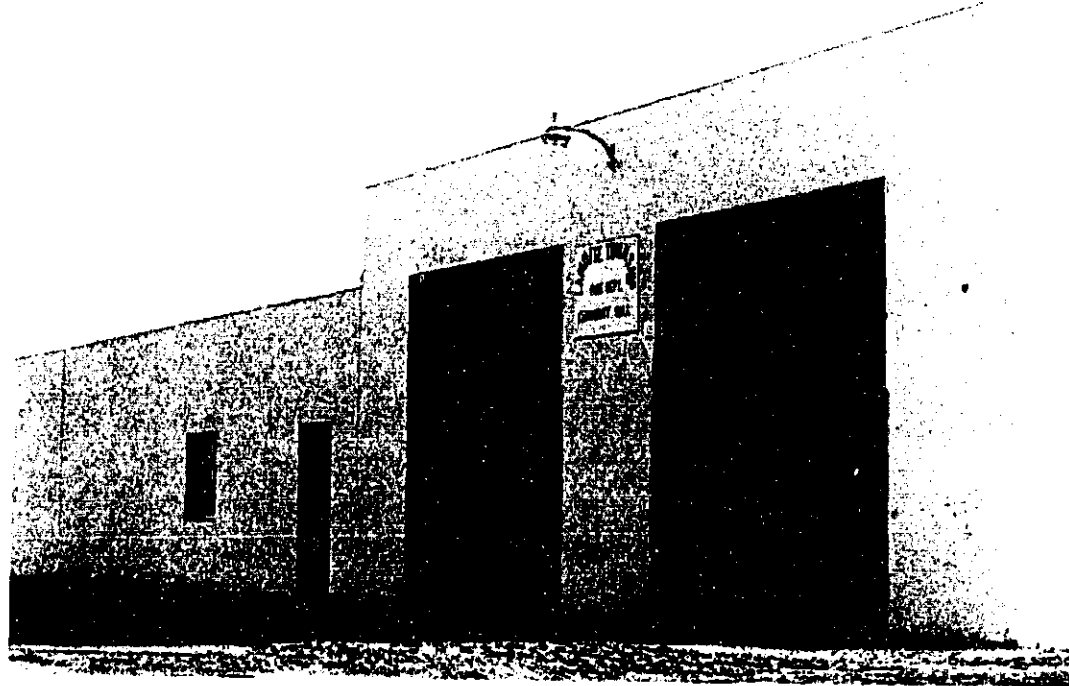

Eventually, each fireman will have his own receiving set to monitor fire calls.

West admits a major problem is the fact that the township is serviced by three telephone exchanges and that for most residents, the Sheriff's department is a toll call. He said he would like to eventually see the universal 911 emergency telephone number instituted. This, he said, is a possibility and discussions are continuing with the Sheriff's department on implementing such a system.

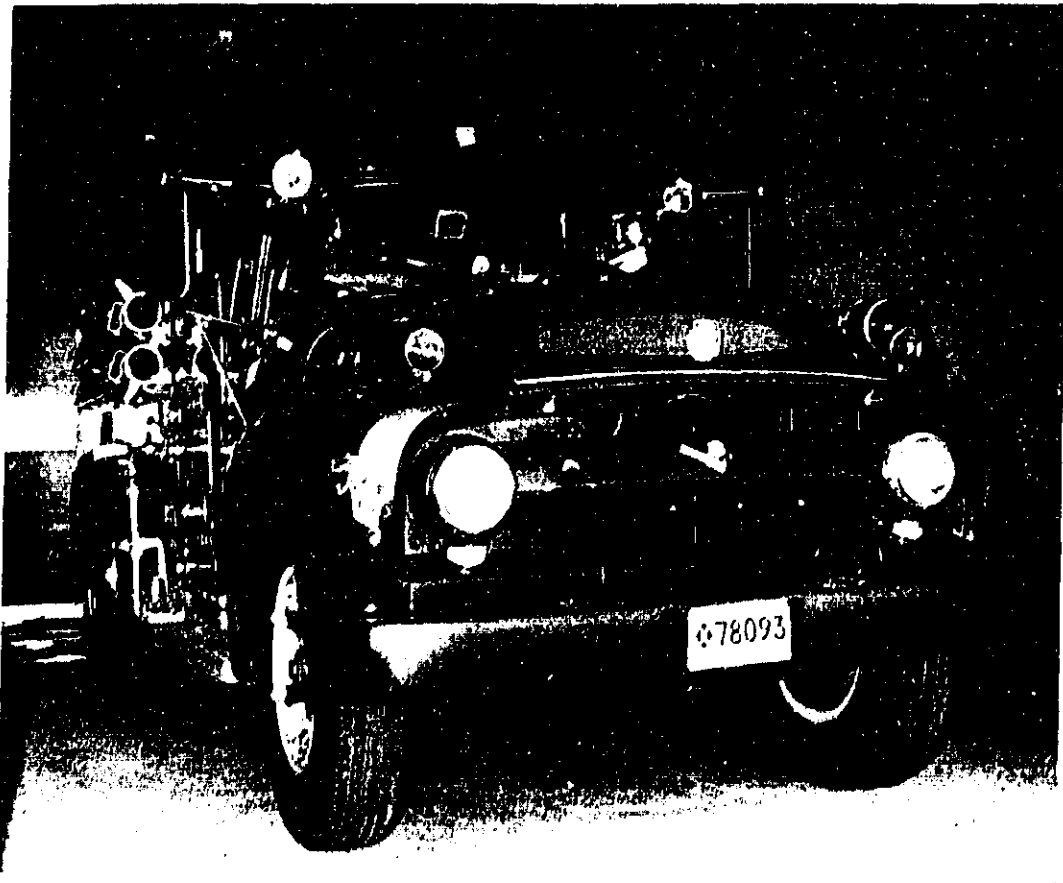

Presently, Lamotte residents must call 646-2131 in case of fire. The department has no whistle at the firehall and does not plan to use one.

LAMOTTE TOWNSHIP Supervisor Cecil Hayward checks out telephone communications in the newly constructed fire hall. Eventually, scanners will be provided each fireman to monitor calls through the Sanilac County Sheriff's Dept.

LAMOTTE TOWNSHIP's new fire hall and community center provides a meeting place and a focus for township activities.

THIS USED fire engine is part of Lamotte township's newly created fire department. Fire equipment is housed in a recently completed fire hall and community center near Hemans.

Hills and Dales receives full accreditation

Hills and Dales General Hospital has received full accreditation for the next two years, according to hospital administrator Byron Landholt. Landholt's announcement said full accreditation was given by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals and is the result of a survey made Aug. 2, by Dr. J. William Peelen and Stephen J. Beaudry. "Accreditation is for two years for maintaining standards deserving of approval and for constant effort to improve the quality of patient care," the statement said. The announcement was made Thursday.

BETTER HEALTH

Sleep disorders get closer study

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ and DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

Perhaps because sleeping, as distinct from "sleeping with," is something we do alone and in the dark, disorders of sleeping have until recently failed to come under serious scrutiny by medical investigators.

But it is none too soon, faced as we are by millions of patients who, thanks to us, have become drug dependent in their efforts to sleep better. And that is quite aside from their opposite numbers, the daytime noddors, who in order to keep from falling asleep at the wheel of their cars have become habituated to "wake-up" pills or, as the kids call them, "uppers."

In the past few years, doctors have begun to study sleeping subjects first hand in order to observe and measure what happens when we fall asleep, what is going on in us if we do not sleep, and what characterizes both normal and abnormal patterns of sleep.

The results of their work have already begun to uncover the facts that all doctors need when they are faced with a patient who says, "I can't sleep at night," or "I never get enough sleep. . . I'm drowsy all day."

For now it is possible to chart the physiological events that take place during sleep, and although treatment may not always be at hand for all disorders of sleep, when a precise diagnosis can be made, unnecessary or harmful treatment can be avoided.

It is clear, for example, that most of the 100 million dollars spent each year on prescribed sleeping pills, plus the more millions spent over the counter for patent medicines, is largely wasted. The fact is that most of such drugs not only fail to help but make the sleeplessness worse.

As for the daytime noddors, those who never can get enough rest, together with true narcoleptics, a group of sleep investigators in California estimate that these sufferers number at least a quarter of a million in the U.S.

The significance of this ominous figure is borne out by recent statistics, which indicate that accidents involving sleepy drivers cause almost twice as many deaths on turnpikes as those involving drunken drivers.

So what is it we now know about sleep? Well, first of all, there seem to be two kinds of sleep, differentiated chiefly by whether or not rapid, side-to-side eye movements are present.

During the period of sleep when there is no rapid eye-muscle movement, called "non-REM" (non-rapid eye movement), the brain is resting, the body is quiet but, electrical measurement shows, the muscle-tone remains. The eyes may drift slowly, the breathing and heart rate are slow and the body temperature tends to fall.

In contrast to non-REM sleep, REM sleep is characterized by rapid eye movements, tumultuous brain activity, generalized muscular paralysis, except for the eyes, and a speeding up of breathing and heart beat.

It is during the REM phase that dreaming occurs. In normal sleep, non-REM and REM phases alternate in a rhythmic cycle, first one phase and then the other, more or less predictably. Five cycles represent an average night's sleep. About one-quarter of the entire night is spent in REM or the dreaming phases of sleep.

With this fundamental knowledge at hand, variations from the normal can now be categorized, and specific diagnoses are emerging to define those who cannot sleep and those who cannot stay awake.

As the field of study widens and more facts come to light, we may be able to escape the self-defeating sleeping-pill habit, and the indiscriminate use of equally self-defeating wake-up pills.

December 1903—the law of gravity was questioned when the heavier-than-air machine left ground. Man was no longer chained to the earth.

It's a long way from Kitty Hawk to "jumbo jets." Although we can fly farther, faster today, one fact remains: sooner or later, we must return to terra firma, for earth—not sky—is our home.

Yet our house is not in good order. Pollution, war, hatred, misery mar this world. It shouldn't be like this—and it wouldn't . . . if we would let the Church help us transform Christ's example into human action.

your thermostat

THERE ARE MANY WAYS TO CONSERVE NATURAL GAS AND THE PROPER USE OF THE THERMOSTAT IS ONE OF THEM.

• DURING THE DAY, SET YOUR THERMOSTAT AS LOW AS YOUR COMFORT WILL ALLOW. IN REALITY, IT MAY BE HEALTHIER THAN KEEPING THE HOME TEMPERATURE SET TOO HIGH.

• WHEN YOU GO TO BED AT NIGHT, LOWER THE THERMOSTAT FIVE DEGREES. WITH THE WARMTH OF YOUR BLANKETS, YOU CAN ACTUALLY BE JUST AS COMFORTABLE AS YOU WERE DURING THE DAY.

• IF YOU TAKE A WINTER VACATION OR LEAVE FOR A WEEKEND OR EXTENDED PERIOD OF TIME, TURN YOUR THERMOSTAT BACK TO AT LEAST SIXTY DEGREES.

• MAKE SURE YOUR HUMIDIFIER IS WORKING PROPERLY. IMPROPER HUMIDITY WILL AFFECT THE OPERATION OF YOUR THERMOSTAT AND RELATED HEATING SYSTEM.

THE ABOVE SUGGESTIONS, IF PRACTICED, WILL SAVE NATURAL GAS AND MONEY TOO.

The Village of Cass City will receive sealed bids for the house formerly owned by Keith Pobanz, located on the corner of Leach and Pine Streets, 4454 Leach.

The successful bidder will be responsible for removal of the building which must be off the premises no later than June 30, 1974. Foundation removal and lot leveling will not be required.

Submit bids no later than 4:00 p.m. January 29, 1974, to the Village Clerk, Municipal Building, 6737 Church Street, Cass City, Michigan. Bids will be opened at 7:00 p.m., January 29, 1974 at the Municipal Building.

The Village Council reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

ey, the Cass City School Board discussed methods of improved communications with parents Monday night at the regular board meeting at Cass City High School.

Maynard McConkey, 56, the new Elkhart Township Supervisor, said last week that he favors pushing ahead with a new building for the Elkhart Township Fire Department.

Despite the space age gadgetry used at Cass City High School to teach foreign languages, the school board and visitors learned Monday evening that nothing replaces the traditional study methods with which millions have labored for generations. That's the opinion of Mrs. Leone Shaw, foreign language instructor.

Retiring Elkhart Township Supervisor Ed Golding Sr., said the new district board of supervisors will set precedents to be followed for years to come when it convenes Jan. 6.

Keith McConkey of Cass City became the fifth person in the village to earn Scouting's highest award, the Silver Beaver Medal, awarded for his 40 years of volunteer service to scouting.

TEN YEARS AGO

A search for a superintendent for Cass City Public Schools got under way Monday night following the surprise report by Principal Arthur Holmberg that he did not wish to be considered for the post.

Parents to two Cass City High School students, irked at citizenship grades given their children, appeared before the Board of Education Monday night and sparked a review of marking techniques.

A rural Cass City youth is expected to be released sometime next week from Hills and Dales General Hospital where he is recovering from a stomach wound suffered Thursday evening when a rifle he was cleaning went off. Larry Shagena Jr., 17, is "progressing well."

Eight Cass City school children escaped injury Tuesday morning when their school bus and a Tuscola County Road Commission truck collided at the intersection of Hurds Corner Road and M-81.

Cass City has been granted an extension by the Accelerated Public Works Commission on the start of construction of a new water system here.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Cass City youthful cattle breeders' awards at the Detroit Junior Livestock Show this week included champion and reserve champion steers of the show and four prizes in the Angus class.

Dairy, poultry, swine and beekeeping committees of Tuscola county met with county agricultural agents during the past week.

The music department of Cass City High School will present its annual Christmas concert Thursday evening at 8:00 p.m. at the high school.

The Cass City Cardinals opened their season with a 39-36 win over a rugged Marlette five. The Cardinals are an independent basketball team.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The new auditorium gymnasium at Gagetown Public School is nearly completed. The addition was made possible by a $13,500 allotment by the Public Works Administration and a $16,500 bond issue voted by taxpayers.

Christmas festivities in Cass City churches begin Wednesday, Dec. 21, when two Sunday Schools are planning to present programs.

The average production in the North Tuscola Dairy Herd Improvement Assn. was up about eight per cent this month over last month, according to Clayton Reid, tester, in his monthly association report.

Ben B. Reavy was chosen president and Audley Rawson, vice-president of the Tuscola County Fair Association at a meeting of the board of directors Tuesday evening.

"Dracula" and "Frankenstein" were appearing on the same program at the Cass Theatre.

AROUND THE FARM
Agriculture can save U.S. dollar
By William Bortel

Americans have a great deal to be thankful for during this holiday season. Agriculture has a bountiful harvest and record prices to go along with it.

Amidst our plenty, the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations is predicting that 10 to 30 million people in the world will starve this winter or die of diseases brought on by malnutrition. There have been severe droughts in India, Pakistan, Bangladesh and in several countries in West Africa. Conditions are particularly bad in Africa where the cattle that support whole tribes have perished in the drought.

Unfortunately, the granaries of the world are almost empty. There's no surplus to rush to the starving at a time when stocks are at a 20-year low. Prices are nearly double the long time average. That makes it very difficult for the poor, underdeveloped countries to compete for food today.

Along with the poor starving countries, there are advanced countries with a lot of money who are after our agriculture produce. Such countries as Japan and Western Europe are now able to bargain at much stronger competitive prices for food today.

This is the world food situation and a healthy atmosphere for the American farmer. Agriculture produce is one of the few things United States has in abundance for a balance of trade. It appears as if agriculture is the only thing left to save the dollar.

The United States has lost, probably forever, its edge over Western Europe and Japan in manufacturing efficiency. At the same time, we are burning imported oil at an ever-mounting rate. How do we pay for the oil if we can't export enough manufactured goods?

That's where farming comes in. The U.S. is fast exhausting its once-plentiful natural resources. We are importing more than 30 per cent of our oil from abroad. But there is one resource that, if cared for, never becomes exhausted—farmland. The U.S. has the acreage, the climate and potential surplus over its own needs to become the granary of the world—a world where both population and ability to pay are rising fast.

Agriculture can save the dollar.

Calvin Earl Wright of Cass City in Indianfields township was ticketed for excessive noise. He paid fine and costs of $6.

Harley Lewis Morell of Kingston in Novesta township was ticketed for no trailer plate (two wheel assembled). He paid fine and costs of $10.

Lewis Lyle Gemmell of Owendale in Elmwood township was ticketed for excessive speed, 65 mph in an allowed 55 mile zone. He paid fine and costs of $20.

Don Guy Tonti of Cass City in Elmwood township was ticketed for exceeding day state speed law, 75 mph in an allowed 65 mile zone. He paid fine and costs of $20.

Edwin Merle Venema of Cass City in Indianfields township was ticketed for exceeding state wide night time speed law, 65 mph in an allowed 55 mile zone. He paid fine and costs of $20.

Roger Fredric Bader of Kingston in Denmark township was ticketed for having no operators license on his person. He paid fine and costs of $6.

Martin LeValley of Cass City in the village of Cass City was ticketed for unnecessary noise (mufflers). He paid fine and costs of $15.

Fertilizer outlook topic at Dec. 17 Bad Axe meeting

Total plant food available to farmers in the United States will be 10 per cent to 15 per cent short of demand. The shortage could even be greater in Michigan. The situation can be summed up in one sentence. We don't have the rail cars to ship the material we don't have.

What does this mean to farmers in the Thumb? The Cooperative Extension Service will have a meeting Monday, Dec. 17, at the Huron County Courthouse in Bad Axe on what farmers can expect and do this crop year. The meeting will start at 1:30 p.m. All interested people are invited.

Don Le Cureux of Agricola will discuss the supply situation of basic fertilizer materials. Le Cureux has taken part in several meetings throughout the country and in Washington on the problem. His knowledge of the supply situation nationally and in the Thumb is very good. Also Le Cureux will be able to indicate what the fertilizer industry is doing to maximize utilization of the available fertilizer supply.

Jim Olson, Extension agent, will discuss the alternatives available to farmers. There are several things we can do to stretch available supplies. According to Olson, not only will fertilizer likely be allocated, but many farmers will have to substitute new sources of plant food into their programs.

Olson said the tight fertilizer supply is mainly due to three factors. First, the depressed prices of past years stopped expansion and replacement of old production facilities. Secondly, the change in government policy from limited crop production to all-out production. Finally increased world demand.

Your neighbor says Holiday means work

What does Christmas mean to you? We all have our special idea of the holiday season and what it signifies for us.

For Mrs. Phyllis McIntosh of Kelly Road, it means a lot of extra work.

"It's a busy, hectic time for us," she said. "There never is enough time to get the shopping done and plan a large dinner."

She said she has two children and five grandchildren, which makes Christmas special.

"When it's over, there's a great sense of accomplishment," Mrs. McIntosh said. "You get a thrill out of it and it leaves you happy."

Mrs. McIntosh is a lifelong resident of the Cass City area and works as a cosmetics saleswoman.

Mrs. Kilbourn, 85, dies Saturday

Mrs. Maude G. Kilbourn, 85, died at her residence in Cass City Saturday, Dec. 8. She had been in ill health the past five months.

Mrs. Kilbourn was born in Pontiac April 1, 1888, the daughter of the late Murray and Agnes Bradford Van Cise. She came to Cass City 60 years ago with her parents.

She married William Kilbourn in Cass City Feb. 17, 1914, where they made their home on a farm near Cass City, retiring a number of years ago.

She was a past member of Echo Chapter OES No. 337 of Cass City.

Mrs. Kilbourn is survived by her husband, William; one son, Dr. Donald Kilbourn of Mt. Pleasant; two grandchildren, Richard Kilbourn of Mt. Pleasant and Sandra Kilbourn of East Lansing. One sister preceded her in death.

Funeral services were conducted Monday from Little's Funeral Home with Rev. F. Kenneth Starr officiating.

Interment was in Novesta cemetery.

Governor's race already crowded with hopeful Dems

Who wins your vote for governor?

Too early to ask, you say? Too early to think about an election months and months and months away?

Not if you're a contender it isn't.

Take Michigan Democrats, for instance. Three already are in the running for their party's nomination for governor.

Only one, former State Sen. Sander Levin, who lost the big one last time around to Gov. William Milliken, has officially admitted his candidacy. Levin makes no bones about it. He's said he'll be a candidate.

Two others are unofficial candidates. Former Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh, who's putting together a campaign staff, has yet to formally announce. And House Majority Floor Leader Bobby Crim of Davison still contends his political future is undecided. A "Draft Crim" committee already is at work on his behalf, however.

There aren't any bumper stickers in evidence yet for any of the Democratic candidates-to-be. And that puts them just a little behind the action in California.

Bumper banners in San Francisco now are touting that city's mayor, Joseph Alioto, for governor in '74.

Michigan's win-a-million lottery is going on two.

Nov. 24 was the first birthday for the lottery, which returns anywhere from zero to $1 million for the purchase of a 50 cent ticket.

It's made a lot of folks happy over the past year.

But there's been some grumbling too--and not just from those who lose. At one recent million-dollar drawing, there was a bit of bitterness displayed when an out-of-state ticket-holder came up with the top prize, beating out a Michigan resident through the luck of the draw.

Sales to out-of-staters do, however, boost the lottery revenue, and that's not a result to be sneezed at. Forty-five per cent of the gross lottery take goes back into prizes.

Under the present lottery law, the whole thing goes out of existence next year unless the Legislature acts to renew the program.

And betting folk will give odds there'll be a new lottery

Highway "comfort stations" are going modern near Marshall and Jackson--but old trees in the way of progress won't be allowed to die.

The Department of State Highways plans to transplant nearly 100 medium-sized trees and large shrubs at the two rest areas; switch the rustic facilities (the kind that should have half-moons on the doors) to modern buildings; and replant the trees near the new buildings.

Involved in the plan are Norway maple and white ash trees, some as tall as 20 feet with eight-inch diameters.

Facilities at those two sites are among 24 old-fashioned rest stops scheduled for updating between now and America's bicentennial year of 1976. The remaining 41 freeway rest stops already have running water.

Everett J. Philpot, 62, of rural Snover, died Saturday in Huron Memorial Hospital, Bad Axe, following a brief illness.

He was born Oct. 8, 1911, in Argyle township, and was a lifelong resident of the area.

He married Elizabeth Moore May 24, 1932, in Marlette. He was a Snover area farmer.

He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth; two daughters, Mrs. Clair (Bonnie) Brinker of Roseville, Calif., and Mrs. Marshall (Carol) Ertman of Snover; four sisters, Mrs. Doris Hood of Sandusky, Mrs. Clair Dorman and Mrs. Joseph Moriarty, both of Snover, and Mrs. Olive Hartzell of Bad Axe; four grandchildren and three step-grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Tuesday from the Hacker Funeral Home, Sandusky, with Rev. Allen Lewis of Snover officiating.

Interment was in Cultural Memorial cemetery, Peck.
