Village Council votes to retain 13-mill tax levy

Cass City's millage for 1974 will remain at 13 mills, following action at Tuesday night's regularly scheduled Village Council meeting held at the Municipal Building.

The levy, in force for about a decade, was approved by a 5-1 vote, with Trustee Nathaniel Tuttle casting the lone dissenting vote.

Village President Lambert Althaver stated that the state equalized valuation for Cass City presently stands at $11,-342,550, up nearly two million dollars from 1973's figure of

Most of the increase, he explained, came in the area of real-property-with-about-aquarter of it as a result of age might work one year, but Provincial House coming onto the tax rolls.

Additionally, he said, resito be raised by the state tax commission since its figures show most such property selling for from 15 to 20 per cent above assessed values. calls for revenues of $136,400. Based on a 13-mill levy, Althaver said, this should produce a little over $147,000. One mill equals $11,000.

Tuttle voted against the 13mill levy, advocating instead a 12 or 12.5-mill figure. He said taxpayers in the village deserve a break wherever they can get one.

"Even if our millage remains the same, taxes will still go up because of higher valuation," Tuttle said, "We have fat in the budget, it seems, and I think we could afford to cut millage."

Althaver said cutting millit almost certainly would have to be increased the following year, A millage reduction of dential property was required either one-half or one mill would not be that noticeable, he added.

Trustee Dr. D.E. Rawson said additional street work might come out of any excess urged council to approve the 13-mill levy.

Staying at 13 mills, the villto sealcoat. age will take in $147,300, as opposed to $121,863 last year.

STREETS

Council also took under consideration a proposed sealcoating program for several village streets, in the absence of a major street program this year.

Streets and parking committee chairman Trustee James Ware outlined a program to sealcoat nine streets at a cost of $11,161, Included in the plan are Sherman from Third to Garfield, M Street and two blocks of Sherman north from M, Pine Street from Brooker to the elevator, Huron from Seeger to Ale and Maple between Church and Huron. Also included and budgeted for sealcoating are Sixth,

The 1974 village budget revenues, for example, and Seventh, Leach and West streets in the southwest portion of the village. These four streets will cost about $5,000

> The other streets were essentially added in the absence of a curb and gutter program this year. Costs for sealcoating these streets were set at $6.161. Trustee Rawson took issue with sealcoating such streets as Huron, saying it would be a complete break with the present village program which calls for no hard-surfacing of streets without curb and Rawson said council should instead encourage people living in such areas to petition for curb and gutter.

Althaver replied that part of the problem with curb and gutter is the budget's inability to come up with the funds to pay for it. Any such work this year would have to come from monies in the general fund, Rawson cited the superiority of curb, gutter and blacktop, adding that such streets last longer and require less maintenance.

Trustee William Bliss Jr. suggested a bond issue might be placed before voters to do all village streets needing curb and gutter at once. Such an issue was defeated in recent years.

Sealcoat costs the village $1.50 per foot to install, or $500 per block. This compares with $3.61 per foot for curb and guttering.

The village master plan calls for curb and gutter exclusively, but Althaver said some exceptions could be made. He advised holding off on Huron Street in hopes of receiving petitions for curb and gutter.

but is expected to decide the question at its next meeting. no SANITARY LANDFILL

Council received a setback in its efforts to maintain Cass City's sanitary landfill operation. A letter from the Department of Natural Resources informed village trustees that the northern half of the 40acre site does not meet state requirements for a landfill and cannot be used.

Additionally, another quarter of the site in the southwest section is presently not acceptable due to large amounts of surface gravel. DNR officials said stripping away this gravel might solve the problem.

The DNR said the present area and 10 acres in the southeast quarter of the landfill meet requirements.

Dr. Rawson suggested the southwest part of the site might be usable by stripping Council took no formal act- away gravel and using it for ion on the proposed program, fill in the present area. He added that the landfill is in immediate danger of running out of space.

Another meeting with DNR officials, similar to one held in November, was also suggested. The matter was referred to the public utilities committee for study.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, council decided to take bids from local contractors on the North Seeger Street sanitary sewer. Council decided that the village would supply the pipe for the project and would contract labor only.

Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie supported the move, since the village has no equipment to handle the 10-foot deep trench which will be required on the project.

Approval was also given to seek prices on chain-link fencing along Ale Street adjacent to the park. The fence would be designed to seal off the park during athletic events demarcation between the park and street.

Council also learned that state law will not let the village borrow funds for the new swimming pool against anticipated revenues in order to get the project going sooner. It had been hoped that such a loan would have speeded up work on the pool, which is assured the village thanks to a bequest by the late Helen Stevens.

No bids were received on the Pobanz house, although council was informed several persons looked at the structure recently. Council decided to place the house, located at the corner of Leach and Pine Streets, up for bids again, with a deadline of the next council meeting.

The house is to be removed by Sept. 30 to make way for expanded parking.

Council also voted to purchase a new radar gun for the police department at a cost of

burden seen to Cass City district

Should voters in the Owen-Gage school district approve an annexation election, that part of the district coming to Cass City would be absorbed without additional hardship to the district, according to Supt. Donald Crouse.

Crouse said Tuesday present facilities would be able to handle additional Intermediate and high school students without placing excessive burdens on the system. While nothing is definite,

Crouse indicated that the Gagetown elementary building would probably become part of the Cass City system, should the district be split at the county line. This, he said, would accommodate elementary students.

Crouse commented that the Intermediate school could probably handle any influx of Owen-Gage students, although it might be pressed two or three years. He added that trends show enrollments holding fairly steady and said he foresees no major problem with the structure in the near future. Room would not be a problem at the high school, either, Crouse said.

Little opposition was voiced by the 32 district voters who attended the meeting, many authorized Supt. Glenn Sanof whom are involved in the ford to begin setting the move to Cass City. Basically, a number of things could happen if voters give their approval. Presumably the entire district would be annexed to the Laker school district. Following this, those properties at the southern edge of Owen-Gage who want to transfer to Cass City could do so by approval of the Laker board and the intermediate district.

These transfers, Supt. Sanaccomplished in stages so that no more than 10 per cent of the combined valuation of Lakers-Owen-Gage would go to Cass City at any one time. Presumably, this would also allow those residents in the western edge of the district who wished to transfer to Unionville-Sebewaing to do so in a similar manner.

While no dates are yet definite, the annual school election would probably be the earliest opportunity to hold an annexation vote. Such action would not require a vote in the Laker district.

Sanford indicated this move would have the best chance of succeeding, as opposed to the type of vote held a year ago in which voters in Owen-Gage and Unionville-Sebewaing turned down a move to

If voters approve annexation to Lakers, Sanford said, land lying south of the county line might end up in the Cass City district if it is determined that this should be used as a line of demarcation. About $6.5 million worth of the district lies in Tuscola county.

In a combined situation, the total valuation of the new Laker district would be about $71 million. In April, 1969, Owen-Gage voters turned down a move to split the district among three surrounding districts. At that time, two votes were scheduled. The first would have allowed the Tuscola county portion to transfer to Cass City and the second would have transferred the Huron county portion to Lakers. That first vote failed. This time, only one vote would be held under the plan discussed Monday night.

Between now and the next regular board meeting, Sanford will be assembling alternatives to this plan and, it is presumed, a single course of action will take shape by

"If It Fitz..." The birth of streaking

BY JIM FITZGERALD

Streaking nad to happen. I was explaining this to my daughter when out of the mouth of that babe came an ultimate wisdom which finally explains why I never want to take a bath.

College boys and girls are currently running around naked in public. This is called "streaking." Sociologists and historians shrug and say it's just another seasonal fad. Their grandparents swallowed goldfish in the spring and their parents raided panties.

So forget it; this too shall

I don't believe it. There is more to streaking than young people simply celebrating the end of winter, Streaking is the final product of a civilization that is washing itself to death.

This nation is saturated with advertising that guarantees you romantic fulfillment and business success if you bathe with the right soap everyday. And if you don't, your stench will offend people for miles around and the bank will reject your loan application. Everybody knows the wet-head is dead. The with-it man must wear his hair long and fluffy. It won't fluff unless it is shampooed everyday. If you are going to wash your hair, you might as well take a shower. You can hurt your back crawling under the faucet in the kitchen sink.

Our culture demands so many baths it is hardly worth getting dressed anymore, Naked people are continuall; running from the bathroom to the bedroom or to the phonor to the door. It is hardly surprising that some youngsters have run a few step:

further. It all began, obviously, as Joe College finished his evening shower. He suddenly remembered he'd forgotten to return a book to the library So he unconsciously ran to the library the same way he'drun down the dormitory hall to the Coke machine,

Thus was streaking born. Given the exceedingly soapy circumstances, it was inevitable. Men quit wearing hats because they tired of tipping them to women, removing them in elevators, and ransoming them from hat check girls. People are quitting clothes because they are tired of taking them off to bathe every time a guy on TV says he smells something.

I have never been much for bathing. I went out for all sports in high school so I could tell my mother I showered in school and tell my teammates I showered at home. Later I joined the country club,

I tried to tell my daughter why: "I hate getting all wet because it only means I have to dry myself off which seems like a waste of time. After all. I wanted to be dry shouldn't have gotten wet in the first place. A man should get all wet only by accident, like falling in the punch bowl." "I used to feel that way when I was little," my 17year-old kid answered, "but grew out of it long ago."

I think that sassy girl told her father he has never grown up. If I were a shower fan, I'd probably become the first person to have a stroke while streaking.

Onward and Upward.

I'm all for recycling but I'm not quite ready for the Chin-Pao Huang method. It's sort of eat your cake and then eat it again proposal. What the good Wayne State University scientist said the other day at a meeting at Michigan State is that the United States should convert five per cent of its land and waters to algae ponds.

And to think that I've always regarded algae as that slimy weed that gets between the toes and spoils the swimming.

Not so, says the good professor.

What you do is establish a "natural" eyele using industrial wastes, solid wastes and sewage to produce the algae and other micro-organisms to be used as food supplements and take what's left and convert it into methane gas, Dr. Huang said that algae ponds are already in use in China and Japan and the animal fodder produced by algae is more nutritional than currently used animal fodder. Man, I'd have to be hungry to take on a plate of algae for dinner. I don't even like spinach. And those exotic foods. . . I just have too much imagination to eat them. I tried a couple of times, My first experience came when I was about nine My dad loved raw oysters. A little salt and pepper and plop, down the gullet they went. Down they went for him. Anything my dad did I wanted to do. . . so-o-o I tried, I tried seven times by actual count. That oyster would slip down to the very bottom of my throat and up it came again. I just couldn't swallow one,

So much for oysters, My next bout came about 20 years later.

It was in a restaurant and muskrat was the dish. Now gourmets will tell you that muskrat is very good and that it tastes like succulent chicken when prepared right. . and the restaurant where I went to the mat with muskrat was widely renowned for serving it. Maybe if I'd been blindfolded I could have made it. But when that muskrat appeared on my plate. . .black as pitch, I was licked. Licked before I started.

Oh, I tried. I made brave small talk while I cut a piece off my rat. But for me that rat wasn't dead. He was running around the dump and I was shooting at him with a .22. He was running between the office walls and I was after him with rat poison.

I took one chew and discreetly spit the remainder into my napkin.

So much for muskrat. Now that I know how they propose to make algae you can see how I'll react if that weed ever becomes a staple of the dinner table.

But I'm not too worried. In the words of Dr. Huang, "using algae as a food supplement in this country would take a change of public attitude"

Amen to that. It's going to be much harder to recycle guys like me than it is to recycle all our waste prod-

Marr reportedly assured commissioners Monday that the employee would be able to get gasoline from now on.

Kennedy said the sheriff's action was unwarranted and that the employee had been on that job at least two weeks prior to the incident. Kennedy decried the action and said incidents of this type could not be tolerated in the future.

Operations of the dog warden ground to a halt Friday because Warden Mike Franco was out of town, leaving his assistant in charge. Kennedy said he contacted the employee when he heard about the situation and had him keep track of the calls which could not be answered.

Marr was also reportedly out of town Friday. Kennedy did not specify what kind of understanding would be reached with Marr.

OTHER BUSINESS

In the regular business meeting, the board heard from Roy Allen, head of Operation Mainstream in Tuscola County. He urged the commissioners to support the formation of a three-county consortium to better obtain and use funds under the revised federal manpower training act.

Allen urged the commissioners to join with Huron and Sanilac counties so that funds could be obtained directly from the federal government instead of going through the state department of labor ...

He said such a consortium would allow the local units of government to directly control manpower programs and obtain funding for specific needs

Presently, Tuscola County's Mainstream program operates with some $383,000, Allen said. In a consortium, the three counties could at least triple that amount and gear spending to needs which they cannot do presently.

Commissioners voted to join the three-county con-

Chet Huntley died last week. You remember him as the anchor man who, with David Brinkley, formed the most popular news reporting team

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Goodnight, Chet

By Jim Ketchum

Huntley died in his native Montana where he grew up and where he spent the last three years of his life after retiring from the nightly news routine that had won him fame and numerous honors for achievement in the business. Though he worked mostly in the eastern part of the country for a large part of his career, his first love was Montana and the ranch he owned there. The mountains, the clean air, the sun--he loved them all While he was involved in The Big Sky development, which some environmentalists charged would upset the balance of nature in the wideopen spaces, what he loved to do most was sit on his front porch, and watch his cattle grazing in the sunshine without another house or human being in sight, It was from this land that he had come and it was to this land he returned last week for the final time.

·My memories of Chet Huntley go back nearly to the beginning of his nightly news assignment for NBC in 1956. His first story involved the Hungarian uprising and, strangely, his last, in 1970, involved a temporary ceasefire in the mid-East.

During my years of growing up with the magic tube, Chet Huntley not only told me the news -- he was the news. If I, an upstart grade-schooler or junior-high student, didn't hear Chet Huntley tell it, it wasn't so.

Apparently, a lot of others felt the same way. When the first Telstar communications satellite went into operation in 1962, the first voice and picture that shot from America to Europe was that of Chet Huntley, telling all of us that, indeed, this new miracle was fact.

During that four-day seige of the television set during the aftermath of President Kennedy's assassination, it was Huntley we waited to hear with news--any news--of what kind of madness was loose in

"We have often heard it said by some, Those Kennedys ought to be shot," he bitterly intoned at one point. Now we see the bitter results of this kind of hatred, he said, and do not know how to react.

Again, five years later when Dr. Martin Luther King was shot in Memphis, it was Huntley who sat down in front of a color TV camera and, looking drawn and bitterly remorseful, lashed out again at that same hatred.

"It will now be almost impossible to appeal to the kind of nonviolence Dr. King so eloquently preached," he said. "This one terrible act has made the rest of the world look upon us as a nation of killers. But it is not so important what others think of us as it is what we think of ourselves. This nation is still less hatred." Two years later, perhaps finally fed up with it all, Chet Huntley bid farewell to New York and went home to Bozeman, Montana, where he lived a good nation, a compassionate nation that will not succumb to this kind of sense-out the remainder of his days. All his fellow newsmen at NBC agreed he was dedicated, loyal, courageous and, above all, uncommonly kind and considerate. Perhaps that latter quality came from that Montana country he loved.

Perhaps he was one of the best examples of the rural culture to come into the big city in recent memory.

David Brinkley, his longtime partner at NBC, summed it up best the other night when he simply said, "For the last time, Goodnight Chet."

Cass City's first team in 30 ears to make it to the arterfinals of the Michigan igh School basketball tourament bowed out Thursday. Bowed out with honor in a 1-63 loss to Bay City Allaints at Frankenmuth High

It was the closest any team ad been to the top rated lougars in the tournaments nd the game was even closer han the final score indicated.

What pleased Cass City ans is that throughout the (ame the talented All-Saints ive had opportunities to blow the Hawks off the floor and each time Coach Fred Hurlburt's charges came storming back to keep the final outcome in doubt.

Cass City scored on a bucket by Jerry Toner to start the scoring and it was the only time that Cass City was in front all night.

After the opening bucket, All-Saints came back to score seven straight points before Cass City could find the hoop

Chuck Bliss came off the bench to provide the spark that kept the Hawks in the game. He scored nine of Cass City's 15 points in the opening stanza and at the end of the period Cass City trailed by just two, 17-15. It was the second pressure performance by the young sophomore in the tournament. Earlier his clutch shots had moved Cass City past Michigan Lutheran Seminary in the regionals.

The long cage year: This is how it was in 1973-74

On the eve of the 1973-74 basketball season hopes were high and prospects were bright for the Cass City Red Hawks.

After all, the team had gone to the final game of the year the previous season before losing the Thumb B Conference championship and then raced to a district championship.

With four lettermen returning from that squad there was reason for the optimism.

But the season opened as dismally as it ended wonderfully for Cass City.

What happened was something that plagued the squad all year. a key player-was missing. This time it was Dave Hillaker.

And when Nick Gibas sat out a good part of the game with fouls Sandusky sprung an upset and Cass City lost its first conference game. 68-62.

It was lapses like this that spoiled a year in which the Hawks appeared to be as good as there was in the league. . .but never proved it. Never proved it, that is, until tournament time came around.

After the unexpected loss to Sandusky, Cass City journeyed outside the league to play Kinde. Little. Kinde just didn't have the material to cope and the Hawks rolled to a 77-26 decision.

But the non-league win didn't help much when the Hawks entertained the Lakers three days later. The Lakers played a fine game and came from behind after trailing at the half to nip Cass

It was about as poor a start as could be imagined. Two league games and two losses. The team that was expected to challenge was at the very bottom of the standings. . and powerhouse, undefeated Caro was next on the list.

Another defeat and it was all over before it began. But Cass City showed the fans what could happen when the team was playing to its capabilities.

Trailing at halftime, the Hawks came roaring back to win 72-65. It was the only league loss Caro was to suffer all year.

The joy of local fans was short lived. For on Dec. 21 the game that was the turning point of the regular season was played. Cass City met Frankenmuth. All started well. The Hawks rolled into a 16-point lead in the first half and appeared ready to move into solid contention for the crown.

But the Eagles, behind sharp shooting by Black, came roaring back to tie the game in the fourth quarter and then win the barnburner by one point, 66-65.

That ended Cass City's conference title hopes and the remainder of the season was to determine the won-loss record of the club. Cass City swung back onto the victory trail after the holidays with a one-sided decision over Marlette.

It was the first of three league games against teams that were slated to be among the league also-rans.

The second of the easy victories with these teams was chalked up

The Vulcans were a green, short team and fell 71-57. The Hawks rounded out the first half of the season with a comparatively easy win over Bad Axe, 68-56.

The first round of the schedule was completed and fell short of what fans and players alike had expected.

The second half started auspiciously. Cass City met Sandusky and rolled to a 64-54 decision to conquer one of the teams that defeated them in the first round.

After the victory the Hawks stepped out of conference competition again. This time the game was of more than casual interest. Cass City was playing Harbor Beach. The Pirates were rated the team to beat in the upcoming district tournament. The 58-48 decision over Ron Wruble and charges served notice of what was to come.

After the non-league win the Hawks returned to the conference against another team that defeated them in the first round. It was the Lakers. Cass City jumped off to a big lead in the first half and then coasted to a 71-61 decision.

Best Wishes

With the win Hawks fans took a look at the standings and decided there was still hope. But it was short lived. League leading Caro was the opponent and the Hawks were unable to duplicate their opening victory and with the loss the faint hope for the league title was dashed. THe score was 58-43.

The loss ushered in the dark days of the season for Cass City. Following the Caro defeat the Hawks travelled to Frankenmuth where the Eagles literally blew them off the floor. The score was 98-73. It was the beginning of the low point in the Cass City season. After the loss to Frankenmuth, Cass City won another league game. This time it was Deckerville that bowed, 78-68. During the season Cass City lost only one game outside the conference.

Cass City simply had too much talent for Marlette when the team swung back into league action and the Red Raiders bowed for the second time during the year, 76-56.

The non-conference loss was sustained in the next game. It was against Harbor Beach. The Pirates took command early in the game and there never was a doubt about the outcome of the game. It was Harbor Beach 71, Cass City 53.

Cass City's darkest hour came on Feb. 22. The team played Vassar that night. The same Vulcan team that was an easy victim in the opening game between the two schools.

It was a snowy, miserable winter day and Cass City was as cold and as miserable as the weather. The Vulcans defeated the Hawks

It took a weak Ubly team to put Cass City back on the victory trail. The Hawks won 66-44 although the performance was ragged. A hint of things to come was apparent in the final regular season game of the year. Cass City played its best brand of basketball in several weeks and rolled to a 92-67 decision. The same two teams met in the district tournament and the Hawks were even more impressive. Sophomore Ken Lowe led the team as the Hawks mopped up Bad Axe, 79-52. Cass City rolled to the finals of the district tournament two days later with an 84-75 decision over Sandusky. It was a game that saw the Hawks lead all the way over the stubborn Redskins who refused to fold under Cass City's pressure. That set the stage for the championship game against Harbor

Beach. It promised to be a rough, tough fight for the title. Remember, the teams split during the regular season and Harbor Beach had the better season's record. But records mean nothing at tournament time and Cass City maintained a slight edge during the entire game and walked off with a 66-54 decision in a game that was closer that the final score

With the district toga safely tucked away it was off to Grand Blanc for a game against favored Michigan Lutheran Seminary.

And what a game it was! A see-saw affair that saw first one team then the other spurt to leads of 10 points only to fall back again.

Cass City lost a 10 point lead in about two minutes in the final quarter and it was all tied with 3 seconds left and Cass City with the ball out of bounds. Delirium descended when Chuck Bliss tossed the ball in from the center of the court to give the Hawks a 76-74

It was on to the regional finals where Sebewaing-Unionville had advanced by defeating Flint Bendle.

Both teams were tight and it was a sloppy game. But what was important for Cass City fans is that the Hawks won, 67-53, to bring home the first regional trophy for the school in 30 years.

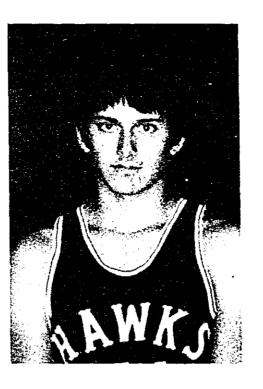

The tournament trail ended for the Hawks in the next game against Number One rated All Saints, but every local fan was more than pleased with the team's performance against the Bay City team in the 71-63 defeat

It was a glorious year for the cage fans in Cass City.

DAVE ROMIG-Was the leading scorer for the Junior Varsity. His outstanding season moved him to the varsity for the tournament. He played against Ubly in the districts.

FRED HURLBURT-The first tournament championships in a dozen years were recorded by Cass City under his coaching. Last year Cass City won the district, this season the district and regional titles. It was the first regional win in 30 years.

The Coach looks at the season

Early losses created situations whereby the Team never reached potential during regular season. As tournaments neared and goals again revisualized, the seniors reasserted their leadership and pulled the Team together.

The results are history, winning our 2nd consecutive District Championship, defeating a strong Harbor Beach team in the finals. The Team kept gathering momentum in the Regionals, defeating a very good Michigan Lutheran Seminary team in a thriller at the buzzer, 76-74, and defeating in the Regional final a physical U.S.A. team. This was a goal not reached by a Cass City team in thirty years.

In the quarter finals at Frankenmuth the Team faced No. 1 All-Saints in a pressure packed game, giving All-Saints a great game before losing by eight points.

As a result of this and last season a proud tradition has been re-established and the graduating seniors can well be proud of their efforts. May they for years enjoy the many thrilling memories they shared together.

As their coach, it is with pride that I look upon their achievements, but the greatest feeling has been seeing them as individuals and as a Team reach their potential. This has been personally a very rewarding experience. May you place the same efforts into whatever goals you may have

You left a legacy for the underclassmen, a challenge to be as great as they can be.

Funeral services were held Saturday for John A. Dicknson, 88, who died at his residence on Kelly Road, Thursday, March 21, following a long illness.

Mr. Dickinson was born in Almer township July 17, 1885, son of the late Gideon and Jennie Montague Dickinson.

He married Nancy DeLong in Cass City, April 11, 1905, where they made their home following their marriage. He was a retired farmer.

He was a member of Salem United Methodist Church and was a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America. He is survived by his widow, Nancy; one son, Jack of Cass City; two grandchildren. One son, two sisters and four brothers preceded him in death. Rev. Ira Wood, pastor of

New hospital device lets doctors see inside patients

A new device designed to let doctors literally see into the lower abdomen and pelvic region of a patient is presently in use at Hills and Dales General Hospital, the only hospital in the Thumb area to take advantage of it. The device, a laproscope, was purchased by Dr. Yongkyun Kim and has been used primarily for pathological examinations which ordinarily might have required exploratory surgery.

The laproscope, which cost Dr. Kim $4,000 of his own money, is also being used in a sterilization are that a patient new method of sterilization at the hospital which avoids painful surgery and long recovery both Fallopian tubes are cauterized with electricity and the instrument is removed.

"Usually this operation is performed on Thursdays," he explained, "By the following Monday, the woman can return to work. Generally it involves only a one-day stay at the hospital,

He said the method aids in cutting down on hospital expenses for the patient, along with post-operative pain which is virtually non-existent.

Dr. Kim said the instrument and procedure in no way could be used in connection with an abortion. Its use is limited only to contraception. He added that, once the operation is done, it is irrevers-

"Most women who decide to have such an operation do not take the step quickly," Dr. Kim explained, "Before I will perform the operation, I generally interview the patient at some length. I can grasp pretty well in the interview what's needed.

He said in the two cases he has handled involving laproscopic sterilization since March 8, one was performed for medical reasons involving hypertension and the other was elective.

Both women were in their 30's, he said, and each had had at least two children prior to the operation.

In all, the process takes from a week to 10 days from the time of the first interview with the doctor.

Dr. Kim sees the popularity of the procedure increasing as more doctors and patients become aware of its use, especially in large urban areas. He said he does see the possibility of its misuse if it fell into the wrong hands, but is confident that such a situation is not likely to develop in the Cass City area.

"The operation can be done on the request of the woman without consent of her husband," he said, "A patient must also be age 18 or over. Those are the only requirements.' Dr. Kim does not minimize the risks involved in the pro-

Says thanks for great season March 25, 1974

John Haire Editor Cass City Chronicle

Dear John:

In behalf of the sports fans of the community I would like to express our congratulations to the players and coaches of the Cass City High School-basketball-team-on-avery exciting season.

After some tough losses early in the season, they demonstrated their ability to stick with something and come out a winner. Many times people give up if things don't go exactly as planned at first, but they showed that they were not quitters and came out winning a regional championship, something a team from Cass City has not done for 30 years.

All of the fans, even those who were down early in the season, were very proud of their performance against the number one-rated team in the state. A few breaks and who knows what could have hap-

I am disappointed with the press, however, and wonder where they received such information. I do not believe that the residents named said things of which they have been accused, because I have discussed the situation with them.

1) There are five grades at Deford, compared with six at Evergreen.

2) The Deford principal has a secretary, Evergreen principal does not. The Evergreen principal takes care of secretarial duties in addition to teaching a 5th grade class in the afternoon and giving tests to various groups.

3) Evergreen is the only building in the system with split grades.

This letter is particularly for the benefit of new residents in our township. I wish to give them a favorable impression of Evergreen of which I happen to be very proud.

Decker, Mich.

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Chronicle is happy that Ms. Bye is pleased with the teaching at Evergreen and the paper has no opinion pro or con about it. But the paper does dispute that it presented inaccurately what was said at the meeting. The meeting went as it was reported and we stand by the original article.

Reader proud of Evergreen education

To the Editor:

In regard to the article about Evergreen School. I am proud that my children go there. Mrs. Smith is a fine teacher and principal. She cares for each one of her students. As for her teaching only half days, I for one can tall you that in the afternoon she has my daughter in reading class. She has also offered special help when it is needed.

The classes are very crowded and with a few problem children the teachers may not have the time they need for each child. I stand behind Mrs. Smith that we need another teacher.

OPPOSITION

The move to annex the district is not assured by any means. Board member Ronald Good cast the lone dissenting vote on the resolution and stated later he believes district voters should have one more chance to approve a new high school building.

He said a building costing $1.8 million could probably be approved.

Thelieve the people should have the right to one more vote on the issue," Good commented.

Former board member Tom Laurie questioned the legality of the action at the special meeting and said his citizen's group working to keep the district is far from

He said plans are still under way to campaign to maintain an independent school distriet, but at this point, the committee will have to take a

Private gas tanks OK, council says

Want to help beat the energy crisis by installing an aboveground gas tank on your property in the village of Cass City?

That's OK with Village Council, just so you keep it 40 feet from buildings and 25 feet from property lines.

While no village ordinance exists on the subject, state law requires such specifications, Trustee Richard Hampshire said Tuesday night he has been approached on the subject and asked for a ruling from council. If quantities exceed amounts in the neighborhood of 50,000 gallons, according to Police Chief Gene Wilson, then zoning ordinances would probably take over, prohibiting them.

The committee is set to meet Sunday to discuss subsequent moves. Laurie did indicate that it will run two members as candidates for board of education posts in the June elections.

Board members would still have to be elected if a split vote failed

One of the biggest obstacles standing in the way of constructing a new high school in Owendale involves sewage treatment. Indications from state and federal officials are that an adequate wastewater system could not be installed at the present building site. Additionally, no municipal sewage_disposal_system_in Owendale is in the immediate

The Laker Board of Education earlier indicated it would accept properties from Owen-Gage as part of its district. In regard to the latest transfer request, Sanford advised the board to maintain the same posture it did with the earlier transfer and op-

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the board wrestled with an increasingly clouded fuel situation. Normally, buses receive fuel from gasoline stations in Owendale, However, with the energy crunch, the board has been advised by energy officials to obtain at least a 5,000-gallon tank for its ex-

Fire damages truck Monday

Fire of an undetermined origin extensively damaged a large truck belonging to Allen Merchant of 5732 Milligan Rd., about 8:15 p.m. Monday.

Fire Chief Dick Root said the truck had been parked a short period of time before the blaze broke out. Damage figures were unavailable.

No one was injured.
