

Cass Cityan charged with manslaughter in cycle deaths

A Cass City man demanded examination on a two-count manslaughter charge Monday in Midland County District Court in the aftermath of an accident Sunday night when two Saginaw bicyclists were killed.

Charles Mester, 21, was charged with manslaughter in the accident which occurred on old U.S. 10 north of Midland.

Douglas A. Allman, 24, and Nila J. Hamilton, 23, were pronounced dead at the scene of "multiple injuries" by Midland County Medical Examiner Dr. Daniel J. Cline.

Midland County Sheriff's deputies who investigated said the couple was pedaling in single file westbound on the highway shoulder when the Mester car approached from behind.

Deputies said it appeared that the Mester car first went off the roadway to the right, then veered back, striking the cyclists and continuing across the road into a south side ditch where it rolled over.

Mester was taken to Midland Hospital for treatment of minor injuries and then into custody pending examination.

Court officials indicated examination in Mester's case will be held Aug. 13 at 9:00 a.m. He is free on $3,000 bond.

KINGSTON FATALITY

A Saginaw man was killed late Sunday night when the car he was driving slammed head-on into another vehicle on M-46 just west of Kingston.

Joseph Miceli, 49, was pronounced dead of multiple injuries at Caro Community Hospital by medical examiner Herbert Niggs, according to Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies.

Miceli's son, Joseph Jr., 12, and a second passenger in his car, John Grabitz, 11, of Sandusky, were reported in serious condition but out of intensive care at Saginaw St. Luke's Hospital Tuesday.

A second son, Casper, 11, and Oscar Moyer, 61, Kingston, the driver of the other car, were treated and released from Caro Community Hospital.

Sheriff's deputies said Moyer was eastbound on M-46 and crossed the centerline, striking the Miceli auto head-on in the westbound lane.

The investigation into the accident is continuing, police said.

FOUR INJURED

Four persons were injured, three seriously, when two pick-up trucks collided late Saturday afternoon at the intersection of Mushroom and Cemetery Roads.

Listed in fair condition Tuesday at Hills and Dales General Hospital were Bernice Johnson, 33 of Detroit, driver of one of the vehicles, and two passengers, Virginia Napier, 15, and Arthur Johnson, 39, both of Detroit.

Driver of the second vehicle, Stephen Andrew Papp, 35, of 5744 Pringle Rd., Cass City, was treated for injuries and released.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies who investigated said the Johnson pick-up was headed west on Mushroom Road and slammed into the Papp vehicle which was southbound on Cemetery Road.

Deputies noted neither driver saw the other and that the intersection has no traffic control devices.

Each vehicle skidded over 15 feet before impact.

No ticket was issued. The mishap occurred at 4:35 p.m.

ONE-CAR MISHAP

A Forestville man escaped serious injury Monday when he fell asleep at the wheel of his car westbound on Bay City Forestville Road, went out of control and struck a utility pole.

Danny Allen Lee, 8124 Third St., told Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies he fell asleep at the wheel, ran off the roadway on the south side, through a ditch and struck a utility pole head-on before rolling the vehicle twice and coming to rest in a field.

Police noted no skid marks at the scene.

Lee chose to seek his own medical treatment. The accident occurred at 7:45 p.m.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Several other accidents were reported in the area. Monday, cars driven by Gail Ann Miracle, 18, of 6458 Garfield St., and Linda Marie Ballagh, 20, of 8977 Van Dyke Concluded on page 14.

A SAGINAW man, Joseph Miceli, 49, was killed when his car he was driving collided head-on with another vehicle on M-46 just west of Kingston Sunday night. Miceli became Tuscola County's 13th traffic fatality of 1974.

Meeting set Wednesday

Sanilac rock fest still in doubt at Thunderoad

Whether or not a proposed rock fest scheduled for Thunderoad Raceway will take place this week end or not is still an open question, according to Sanilac County Prosecuting Attorney James Marcus.

Marcus indicated late Tuesday the rock fest was being planned in spite of objections from Greenleaf Township officials who fear it may be in violation of their zoning ordinance.

The proposed rock fest comes just three weeks after it was announced that the track had been sold to John Thomas of Bloomfield Hills. Thomas announced at the time he planned to expand the track's use to 12 months and would include rock fests among scheduled activities.

Township officials reacted negatively initially and continued to fight the fest planned this week end.

Marcus said officials of the track and township planned to meet Wednesday to reach an agreement that would allow the concert to take place.

"If they don't reach an accommodation, then the crunch will come," Marcus said.

Some six weeks ago, Tuscola County experienced its first rock concert at Meadow-brook Trout Ranch which came under close scrutiny of county police agencies and officials.

News that Thunderoad had been sold stirred fears among many Greenleaf Township residents that the track would become a mecca for rock concerts and would detract from area land values.

Township officials say the concert would violate zoning regulations because the land is zoned commercial and this is a recreational activity. No formal action has been taken to stop the concert and none is planned, Marcus indicated, until after track and township officials meet.

The prospect of opening Seed and Huron Streets onto a proposed extension of Ale Street north of Church brought several residents to Cass City Village Council Tuesday night to protest during the regular meeting held at the Municipal Building.

The plan under consideration by council and already budgeted, would extend Ale Street north to terminate at Rose Street, opening both Seed and Huron in the process.

This would, in the opinion of 18 residents who signed a petition submitted to council, create new problems and destroy presently-quiet neighborhoods.

The petition as presented to council requests that if Ale is extended, Seed and Huron remain blocked off.

Such a request, if honored, would violate state regulations. Under the law, streets such as Seed and Huron would have to open onto the Ale Street right-of-way.

The proposal touched off the campaign to keep the streets closed and brought five residents before council.

Bernhardt Rasmussen, who lives on Seed Street, said residents cannot see any advantage in opening the streets.

"I don't see the necessity in opening two additional streets onto Ale for access when you already have Rose Street open," Rasmussen said. "It seems to me you are creating more problems than you would solve by opening the streets."

Village President Lambert Althaver explained to the group that opening the streets would aid in snow removal during winter months since equipment would not be forced to turn around.

He added that traffic control into the park would be improved with fencing along the east side of Ale and would separate park activities from traffic.

He said traffic already exists to justify the openings, especially at football games.

In their petition, the residents said they foresee increased traffic loads on their streets if they are opened, adding to hazards for pedestrians and children.

They also said added street congestion would result, in addition to problems of fire safety during football games. They cited the fact that Rose Street is only 173 feet north of Seed Street.

Although the Ale Street extension has been in council's definite plans most of the year, trustees voted to table the move for at least 30 days to study the petition and the general situation. Council indicated it may decide the question at its next meeting.

PEDDLER ORDINANCE

Council struggled with a proposed updated ordinance governing peddlers in the village, but failed to do more than leave the present ordinance on the books unchanged.

Village Attorney Clinton House presented council with a proposed new ordinance to replace the 1951 statute trustees agreed was unworkable at their last meeting.

House indicated, however, that the new ordinance was not much better than the old one because it tended to discriminate against individuals and groups and would generally be unenforceable.

Trustee James Ware questioned the necessity of having an ordinance against peddling, saying the present statute isn't really working now.

Trustee William Bliss Jr. agreed, saying most laws governing peddling in the state are vague at best and many verge on being unconstitutional.

State Police from the Caro Post investigated the theft of a couch valued at $350 from a cabin belonging to Gladys Fort and located near Chapin and Cemetery Roads.

Police said entry was gained by breaking a window at the rear of the cabin.

No suspects have been apprehended, police said.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported vandals struck two mobile homes on Chapin Road near Kingston sometime in the last two weeks.

The homes, owned by Thomas Hetler and Gerald

Buxton, both of Livonia, were discovered vandalized Sunday.

Police said the culprits gained entry by prying a vent on the roof of the homes and removing a screen. They indicated nothing was taken.

The case remains open.

Sheriff's deputies also investigated a suspected larceny from the Bill Krowston residence at 1539 Cedar St., Deford, Thursday.

A set of china valued at $160 a swing set valued at $80 and a bicycle valued at $15 were reported stolen.

The incident is still under investigation.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Toohey

Sacred Heart Catholic Church, Caro, was the setting for the afternoon wedding of Dianne Masters and Patrick Toohey, Saturday, June 8. Father Charles O'Neil celebrated the double ring ceremony with a Nuptial Mass.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Masters of Munising. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clara Toohey and the late Raymond Toohey, of Caro.

The bride was escorted to the altar by her father and mother. She chose a gown of ivory sheer organza featuring a ring collar, deep cuffs and a V-bib bodice. They were all enhanced with Cluny lace and pink pull-through ribbon. From the empire waistline fell a softly gathered skirt featuring a ruffled hem which swept into a cathedral length train. A Cluny lace Camelot cap secured the three-tiered veil trimmed with matching lace. Her arm bouquet consisted of pink roses and baby's breath tied with ivory satin ribbon.

Maid of honor was the bride's sister Yvonne, of Grand Rapids. Bridesmaids included another sister, Joyce, of Munising, and Joyce Henry of Caro, a roommate and collegemate, Delores Melin of Lansing. They wore pink dotted swiss organza gowns with tiny flocked flowers and short puffed sleeves accented with deep ruffled flounce of matching fabric. They wore large pink picture hats and carried one green spider mum.

Best man was Tom Herremans of Capac. Groomsmen were John Matuszak, Monroe, Ren Cramer, Caro, and Timothy O'Leary of Southfield.

The mother of the bride and mother of the groom were attired in blue floor length crepe gowns complimented with corsages of pink sweet heart roses, white carnations and baby's breath.

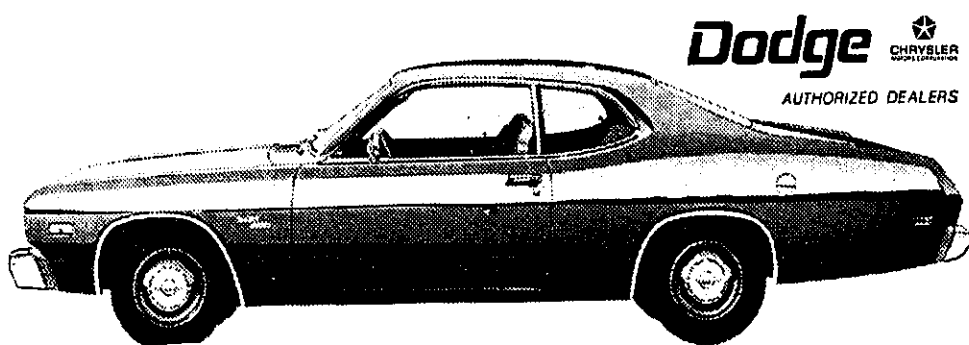

The church altar was adorned with green spider mums and pink carnations. Musical selections included "The Wedding Song", "A Wedding Prayer" and "Like Olive Branches". Soloist was the bride's roommate Linda Swanson, accompanied by Mrs. William Markham, organist.

A reception was held following the wedding ceremony at Zehnders in Frankenmuth. After a week's honeymoon in Montreal, Canada, the couple will reside at 1475 Edgewood Drive, Apt. 6-F, Lima, Ohio.

IN ECONOMY CARS, THE DODGE BOYS ARE RIGHT ON TARGET.

DART SPORT GOT 27.3 MILES PER GALLON.

Our Darts feature USAC-proven economy.

Our big winner was the six-cylinder Dodge Dart Sport which got 27.3 mpg. That was better gas mileage than the Chevy Nova or Ford Maverick got in the USAC test. (All three cars were six-cylinder, manual shift models.)

In addition, our popular Dart Swinger hardtop with automatic transmission got 23.6 mpg—which was better than the Nova stick shift got. (Both Dart and Nova had six-cylinder engines.) For you V8 fans—the real topper was a Dodge Dart Sport with 318 V8. It got 21.7 mpg. Again, this was better than the Nova Six got. (Both the Nova Six and Dart V8 had manual shifts.)

The USAC "Miles-Per-Gallon Showdown" was a three-phase test using nonprofessional drivers. Mileage figures appearing in this ad are from the open road phase of that test which covered a distance of 972 miles at an average speed of 53 mph. The Dart Sport six-cylinder car had the new standard 2.76 rear axle. For complete results and more surprising facts, see your nearby Dodge Dealer.

"If It Fitz . . ."

Be Prepared? Not me

BY JIM FITZGERALD

The Boy Scout scandal prompts me to proverbial: The higher you fly, the bigger grease spot you make when your parachute doesn't open.

Or: The purer you aspire, the more heads you turn when you suffer an attack of gas.

Or: Mud looks worse on a white suit.

I could open a lot more Confucius cookies but that's enough wisdom for now. You get the idea: When a truck driver murders his unfaithful wife, it is back-page stuff. But when a U.S. Senator clings on a love triangle, Walter Cronkite is there before the body stops twanging.

The point of all this is really more of a hope. Perhaps now my mother will finally forgive me for quitting the Boy Scouts 35 years ago, before I even made Tenderfoot. I knew what I was doing. I was seeking the security of obscurity rather than risking the possible shame of fame.

Everybody read about the Boy Scouts last week. Their top leaders were caught cheating and the nation gasped. It was as though quintuplets were born to the president of the Planned Parenthood League.

Some Boy Scout leaders borrowed a trick from politicians who dig votes out of cemeteries. Paper scouts were created to meet membership quotas, impress the brass at national headquarters, and qualify for a bigger allotment of sticks to rub together.

This is not nice, of course. Mythical Boy Scouts leave a lot of knots untied, and a lot of flags unsaluted. But is padding membership rolls really a front-page sin, deserving of nationwide scorn and ridicule?

Only if you're a Boy Scout. Get the idea, Mother? Your son, like a lot of sons, has always been leery of lofty goals.

Boy Scouts must pledge to keep themselves "physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight." For me, it is a weary thing to even think of keeping such a ramrod pledge. I was always a skinny kid who fell asleep reading dirty books.

But what if I had stuck it out and slept in the woods and sung by the fire and earned all those badges? What if I'd become a leader? What would I be doing today? I'd be sharing the shame of all Scouts who now must prove they don't say "HERE" 6 times when the membership roll is called.

I've done a lot worse things than multiply when I should have subtracted. But who cares? Nobody ever expected much of me anyway. That's the way I planned it. I lived my formative years so as to make my adult years look good by comparison. My family and childhood companions have to be proudly surprised at anything I accomplish outside the occupational therapy room at the state penitentiary.

There will be none of those screaming "Ex-Eagle-Scout-Robs-Bank" headlines about me. If my misdeeds are recorded at all, it will be in my school alumni newsletter under "Class prophecies fulfilled."

Which is not to say I have grown up to be an all-around person. The truth is, I sometimes do good deeds today to make up for all those yesterday's.

My mission this week is to rescue all those little old ladies stranded on curbs by mythical Boy Scouts.

Flint man chooses prison

A Flint man turned down five years' probation in Tuscola County Circuit Court

Friday and chose instead to serve from one and one-half to four years in Jackson Prison for breaking and entering.

Raymond Franklin Long, 19, turned down the sentence which would have sent him to the Tuscola County Jail for six months and required him to pay fines and costs totaling $400.

Instead, he requested to be sent to prison. He was convicted of breaking and entering a home in Arhela Township and attempting to steal a guitar, amplifier and stereo March 17.

Long was sentenced by Judge James P. Churchill.

Jimmy S. Claeys, Fairgrove, was arraigned on charges of fraud. He stood mute and a plea of innocent was entered in his behalf. Claeys is charged with selling a motorcycle with intent to defraud the mortgage holder, Akron State Bank.

Pretrial examination was set for July 22. The incident took place May 1.

Philip Thayer, Akron, pleaded guilty to probation violation which was accepted by the court. Sentencing was set for July 8 and a presentence investigation was ordered.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

They call it the heavy look. But every red blooded American male probably will call it something else. The heavy look for you who may have missed it, is the in-thing in fashion coming this fall. At least if you believe what you read it is coming this fall.

The heavy look includes near-ankle-length dresses and accessories to match. Colors are mostly neutral...chamois, camel, grey and black will be featured.

It's a little hard to determine if the new fashions are expressly designed to obliterate a girl's best features or if it just happened that way.

For sure it takes much of the fun out of girl watching. Nostalgia is the current craze and I suppose it was inevitable that the dress designers join in.

The dresses look a lot like those worn in other periods of insanity in the 30's, 40's, and wasn't it the 50's that we had to put up with the sack dress?

It's sad but true, women (and to a lesser degree these days, men, too) are really slaves to the fashion mongers in the clothing industry.

Let a Calvin Klein or a Stephen Burrows say this is what you girls will wear and presto! Before long every lady in America is draped in whatever the stylists are selling that year.

I can remember when middle-aged matrons felt positively uncomfortable in dresses that extended three or four inches below the knee.

That's when skirts were going up and the seamstresses were busy tucking in the hems to comply.

It's nearly positive that for the next three or four years we'll be suffering with the long skirt again. And the rush will be on to take those hems out again.

But all is not lost. When skirts extend to the calf a glimpse of a knee cap under a swirling skirt titillates the confirmed girl watcher and the exposed top of a stocking might well bring a nudge in the rib from one guy to another watching on the street corner.

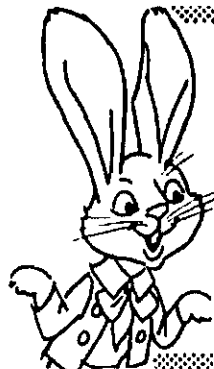

And no matter what the designers do to the clothing, for some girls it won't matter.

These are the ones that won't (or can't) hide their light under a bushel or their charms under a gunny sack dress.

Any girl watcher can tell you about them.

Rabbit tracks

They don't make cleaners like they used to. That's what Dick Hendrick learned the other day. Among Dick's myriad duties at the Cass Theatre is the cleaning of reflectors used in projection. Don't ask me how.

Anyway they cost 100 bucks or so, says Dick, and they became useless in much less than the normal life span. Why? It's the modern soap he used to clean them.

Go get Bon Ami, said the factory expert. Tried to buy any lately? Don't. Bon Ami is as extinct as the Tucker car. After scouring the country he found a can at Wickware store. The can was rusty but the powder worked. From Dick I learned that Bon Ami has been taken from shelves for many years. Isn't that something? Before you know it Arm and Hammer baking soda will disappear, too. If Bon Ami is gone anything is possible.

I cuss when holidays are celebrated on Mondays. I do except when they are celebrated on Monday when otherwise they fall on Tuesday or Thursday. Thursday is the bane of the weekly publisher's existence.

That's because the post office closes for the holiday and to get the paper to you on time we must publish a day early...ruining all normal schedules. In case you've forgotten the Fourth of July falls on Thursday this year.

All of which is a sneaky way to ask your cooperation for early copy to meet advanced deadlines and to thank you in advance for your usual good cooperation.

Regular readers of this trivia will recall that last week Dave Seurnyck said that the rain was welcome when I said we'd had too much of a good thing. This week Ed Golding Sr. came in to make me feel good.

You were both right, he says. We needed some rain, but we didn't need 10 days of rain. If you don't believe that, ask some farmer with hay cut and rotting in the field, he said.

Okay, things are expensive here. But compared to New York, nothing at all. Gerald Priesskorn and Bernard Freiburger, owner and manager, respectively, of Ben Franklin in Cass City and Mill End in Bad Axe and Tawas City, made a flying trip to Big Town Sunday and Monday to buy merchandise. To paraphrase an old bromide, it's a nice place to visit but you can't afford to live there.

Priesskorn was reiterating the cost of food and lodging and ticked off some fantastic prices. One that I remember was a pair of beef sandwiches and two coffees at a delicatessen. All for a measly $7.50.

Idle thought. Suppose they had ordered steak?

Class of '24 holds reunion in Gagetown

The 50th anniversary for the Gagetown High School Class of 1924, with 10 graduates and their spouses, met Sunday, June 23, at the Gagetown Methodist dining room for a 1:00 p.m. dinner.

Mrs. Amasa Anthes and Mrs. Jack Laurie were in charge of the dinner and the open house from 3 to 5. Fifty guests attended and enjoyed pictures of bygone days and reminiscing.

Classmates attending were: D.A. Crawford, Arda (Halllock) Bovee, Genevieve (Willis) Malling, Estella (Tamblyn) Meredith, Mary O'Rourke, Marie (Fournier) Howe, Basil Ziehm, Gertrude (Anker) Evans, Arletta (Fischer) Poole, Helen High and Elizabeth Fischer, who was one of the teachers.

Mrs. Malling, of California and Helen High of Florida were class members who came the farthest to attend. Bruce Williams of California was the guest who came the greatest distance.

Guests attended from Reed City, Pontiac, Bridgeport, Adrian, Dearborn, Garden City, Cass City and Gagetown.

BETTER HEALTH

Treatment for depression

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ and DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

Periods of profound, sometimes self-destructive, depression alternating with agitated, talkative, maniacal excitement characterize the two opposite extremes of manic depression. Either mood may be extreme or low-keyed and either may last for days, weeks or months. Indeed, sometimes in its more benign form, low-grade manic behavior may last for years and be socially productive.

A person may be, as we say, "hypo-maniac" (meaning nearly but not quite manic) and perform prodigious feats in the business world or the arts for many years, and then abruptly fall into a period of depression. This often accounts for the otherwise inexplicable suicide of a prominent man who seems to have conquered the world and yet at the height of his success we read that he has blown his brains out, or thrown himself from a high building.

There is hardly anything that is ever productive about depression, and many people who are not obviously mad suffer periodically from wholly unprovoked attacks of deep sadness, hopelessness and feelings of guilt that may or may not alternate with periods of over-activity.

When we have lost a loved one, or suffered a serious illness, there is nothing inappropriate about feeling sad or depressed. But when there is no adequate cause, or when the sadness goes on and on, outlasting what we normally consider a time appropriate to the cause, then you can be pretty sure you are seeing a depression that is not normal.

One of the most distressing things about feelings of inappropriate depression and sadness is that the sufferer invariably blames himself for his state and regards it all as the result of his personal weakness and lack of character. Happily, there is increasing evidence that pathological depressions, and even the normal feelings of sadness, have a biochemical basis in the internal conditions of the nervous system.

This is verified by the fact that there are now many medications that can reverse a depressed mood and bring the sufferer back to a quite normal outlook on the world and on himself or herself.

Even electro-shock therapy, which so often terminates a depression, probably is effective by altering the internal chemistry of the brain.

One of the most recent steps forward in the chemical management of manic depression is the use of lithium salts (lithium is first cousin to sodium and potassium, both of which in salt form are natural constituents of the body fluids and cells).

Lithium will often terminate a manic psychosis, but (equally important when taken every day in carefully prescribed doses) it can also effectively prevent the alternating mood swings that characterize the manic depressive disorder.

It does not seem to help much in treating an acute depression, but once the acute phase is over, it can very often prevent the recurrence of either depression or over-activity.

The discovery and application of lithium in the treatment of acute mania and prophylaxis of depression is credited to Dr. John Cade of Australia and Dr. Mogens Schou of Denmark. They have been given the 1974 Kittay Foundation International Award of $25,000 in tribute to their psychopharmacological work with lithium.

Your neighbor says

We need strong drug laws

Recent drug arrests in Cass City and Tuscola County reminded many that drug abuse isn't confined to metropolitan areas. It can happen anywhere and anyone could become involved.

What would you do if your son or daughter were arrested on drug charges?

Mrs. Helen Vollmar of Cedar Run Road isn't sure. "It would almost have to happen before I would know exactly what I would do," she says. "Believe me, I've thought a lot about it, being the mother of three boys. But I'm not sure what my reaction would be."

Mrs. Vollmar says drug laws aren't strong enough and disapproves of persons arrested on drug charges being released on bond or being paroled early from prison. "I think they ought to go after the pushers harder," she says.

Mrs. Vollmar's husband, Dwain, operates a farm west of Cass City. She is a native of this area.

BIBLE SCHOOL

The Gagetown Nazarene Church invites parents and friends of the children attending Vacation Bible School this week to a special program Friday, June 28, at 8 p.m.

The program, in part, consists of crowning a king and queen, with an extra added attraction of Rev. Couey, pastor, who is a magician and will perform.

Friday afternoon, the Vacation Bible School students and their leaders will hold a picnic.

BOY SCOUTS

Rev. Paul Amstutz, pastor of Gagetown - Owendale Methodist churches, with Mr. and Mrs. R. Wheelery left Sunday afternoon June 23, on a bike hike to Niagara Falls. Seventeen young people from the district accompanied them. This trip is the first bike hike held this summer. Gifford Chapter No. 369 of Gagetown met last Tuesday. The Worthy Matron announced a rummage sale to be held the last of August. There will be no meetings during July and August.

BOY SCOUTS

Elmer Shope, leader, and Boy Scout Troop No. 569 of Gagetown are on a week's camping trip at Paul Bunyon camping ground. Drivers were Leader Elmer Shope, Merton Hendershot and William Burrows.

He is the grandson of Mrs. Mabel Heck of Elkton. He and his wife, Chris, are living at 1100 Dorchester Circle, Lansing, 48910. Apt. 306.

Seed grower featured on tour

Tuscola County will host the 1974 State Farm Management Tour on August 13. Agriculture will be saluted as visitors will tour the eight special Tuscola farms located throughout the county. The eight farms are being featured during the weeks prior to the State Farm Management Tour.

An outstanding certified seed grower and processor in Tuscola County has been chosen to be featured on the 1974 State Farm Management Tour.

Tour visitors can view the Arnold Krumnauer cash crop partnership, two other top cash crop operations, two dairy farms, a swine farm, poultry operation and a horse breeding business.

Four farms are slated for morning viewing, with family farm interviews at 10:30 at each site. The remainder will be visited in the afternoon, with interviews at 2:00 p.m. Arnold Krumnauer and his son, Arnold, Jr., produce 75 acres of sugar beets, 340 acres of wheat, 75 acres of oats and 180 acres of dry edible beans. A major facet of the partnership, which began in 1967, is an outstanding seed cleaning and processing operation for the Michigan Crop Improvement Association and others.

The Krumnauers' remodeled home with business center and unique furnishings will be open the day of the tour.

Tuscola County produces over one-half of Michigan's Certified seed.

A noon luncheon at the Caro fairgrounds will feature a prominent agriculture speaker.

Veteran Cass City teacher Dave Ackerman closes book on 44-year education career

For Dave Ackerman, 65, the time is now. After 44 years the time is now. Retirement. It's hard to quit after that much time on a job you really like, especially hard when you feel and look much younger than the calendar says you are. The veteran Cass City teacher isn't in mourning because he completed his last lesson as a regular teacher, but he acknowledges that the parting will come with a wrench and create a change in life style.

"I know that come September it will be strange not to be preparing for school as the kids come strolling by," he says.

That's why he's not completely divorcing himself from the school and its activities.

That's the reason he has agreed to take tickets again at high school sporting events, a job that he's handled for several years. And that's the reason he's contemplating doing a little substitute teaching when his retirement schedule permits.

While active in many school affairs over the years, Ackerman has been especially active in the Michigan Education Association. He's a life member and held many offices. In Tuscola County MEA he served as treasurer for two years and as vice-president. In the Cass City chapter he's been the local president for two years and secretary for nine years.

Perhaps his most important contribution for the MEA has been serving on the bargaining committee. No one representing the teachers has served more. It's a job that most teachers don't want. It takes many, many hours and during the seven years that Ackerman has served, the teacher union team has changed several times.

Ackerman is representing the teachers again this year. He likes the give and take of bargaining and he's quick to point out the improvement that the union has brought teachers in general and in Cass City.

For his efforts he was honored twice last May. First by TUSCRON and then Cass City MEA at a retirement dinner at Frankenmuth.

While a MEA booster, Ackerman is not blind to the drawbacks. One is that there are teachers protected that may not be doing their best, he admits.

But, he says, the administration has three years to weed these teachers out.

That's enough time, Ackerman says. Walking down the hall, an experienced teacher can tell if other teachers are doing their job.

And when it comes to experience, few can match that of this retiring teacher.

He started in Fairgrove and spent six years at Chesaning before coming to Cass City for 34 years.

In Fairgrove he taught the 6-7-8 grades and was the coach of winning Junior High athletic teams. He continued to coach for a year at Chesaning at the JV level in basketball and also handled farm shop for a year.

In Cass City he spent two years teaching sixth grade and was Junior High coach.

It was all a prelude to finding his niche in the teaching profession...high school history. He spent 32 years teaching World, American, Michigan history as well as biology, English and government.

Many of his former students say that pupils who really wanted to learn were happy in one of his classes.

Some of these students were in his classes when they were harder than they are today. Tests I gave 25 years ago would flunk 25 per cent of today's students, he says, and there were advantages to the small schools of the past.

But Ackerman doesn't mourn the "good old days". We educate more kids these days and the curriculum is wider, he points out. If a way could be designed to separate the college bound pupils from the vocational bent students, we would have an ideal situation, he believes.

Those problems are for others now, including his wife, Emma, who teaches fourth grade at Deford school. For Ackerman there is his family: daughter, Sharon Laursen, Fairgrove, and three sons, David of Midland, Edward of Mt. Pleasant and Scott, at home.

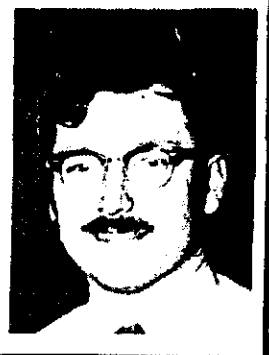

And there are other interests with more time to give to them. The gardening and landscaping, the rock collection and the traveling.

His hobbies and his part time work will keep him busy and Dave Ackerman wouldn't have it any other way.

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Women are their own men

By Jim Ketchum

In this election year, finding Republican candidates to run for office is tougher than paying your taxes with a smile. Since most tax collectors prefer money, so many Republicans seeking office in more urban parts of the country would just as soon play down the fact that they carry the banner of the Grand Old Party.

How can that be, you say? In Tuscola County, there sure isn't a shortage of candidates. I agree. In Tuscola County and in Sanilac and in Huron County, you can find Republicans ready and willing to run. And that's fine.

A friend of mine told me not long ago that in some parts of the Thumb, you could run Donald Duck on the Republican ticket and he'd beat any Democrat including Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

But in more urbanized parts of the state, Republicans are hard to come by. Genesee County, in particular is hard hit. Election officials report a strong lack of solid GOP candidates in county and township races.

We know why and so do the party bosses. The question is how to remedy things.

Some now say running women for office is the cure-all for the GOP's present troubles. Women office holders have been largely untouched by the political scandals that have swept the nation in recent years.

Someone tried to pin a bum rap on Rep. Shirley Chisholm of New York but that was less successful than starting an Edsel dealership.

So the drive is on by the GOP to recruit women for office. But all you Democrats better not chuckle up your sleeves too loudly, because your party is doing the same thing.

Any office holder, of either party, is under suspicion by the majority of voters and most aren't taking out extended leaves past election day in Washington.

The parties, which have largely ignored women throughout most of their history, now find it convenient to put those pretty, smiling honest faces before voters.

This is fine, I suppose. Except women have not had much exposure to big politics and the big money it takes to support it. So far no woman has been indicted for anything approaching today's scandals.

Maybe this is because they haven't had the opportunity. Or, more hopefully, maybe the sociologists are right when they say women aren't as easily led down the money-laden path to ruin as are their male counterparts.

Whether chromosome make-up predestines women to be more honest is still an open question and the jury is still out. While Lucretia Borgia, Marie Antoinette, Jane Fonda and Lizzie Borden stand out as exceptions, basically women are trusted much more than men will be in the next generation.

So it makes sense to recruit every available Ms. possible to the political cause. Some bosses may think they can run women for office and control them from the back-ground.

Boy, are they in for a shock! I've never known a woman in my life that anyone could control in that sense or in any other. Ask any husband.

Women will be their own men (or something). Don't kid yourselves. Besides, if women campaign in bikinis, that'll really get out the vote. Let's hear it for the girls.

Commissioners okay DNR landfill report

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners approved a preliminary report by the Department of Natural Resources covering a county-wide sanitary landfill at its regular Tuesday session.

Commissioner Maynard McConkey told the board the county is virtually back at the beginning in selecting a site for the landfill following DNR rejection of an earlier location.

The board has wrestled with the problem of county-wide solid waste disposal since the state mandated such disposal systems. McConkey said presently one site in Juniata township would be acceptable geographically but it is not known if the DNR would approve it.

In the report the board accepted, the DNR calls for purchase of an acceptable site in 1974 with completion by July of 1975. Until then, township landfills would be allowed to operate.

It is not known what the future of township landfills would be if the county failed to complete work on its site by July of next year.

McConkey reported that transportation of solid waste to the county-wide facility would have to be financed by the townships and villages.

McConkey told the board that only 11 counties in the state have filed preliminary landfill plans with the DNR and many have simply ignored the law. Funds for landfill development would come from state and federal revenue sharing as well as from county coffers. McConkey said final costs are not known but should range in the $300,000 category.

PROBATION

In other business, the board heard a report from District Court probation officer Roland Price. Price reported that in the office's first year of operation, 308 persons were placed on probation, with 216 having alcohol-related offenses.

Price said 100 have attended alcohol education classes. At the same time, 90 persons were referred to Alcoholics Anonymous, 60 to the Tuscola County Alcoholism program, and others to varied programs in the Thumb area.

He said the emphasis of probation is to take first offenders and give them a basic education of alcoholism and to put them into a productive role instead of jail.

Price indicated his office handles an average of 22 new probation cases each month with 25 pre-sentence investigations per month.

He told the board probation is a viable means of rehabilitation.

"If we can keep people out of jail and put to work with therapy, this is much more economically sound," Price explained.

He said 25 persons with alcohol-related offenses have been successfully returned to society in the county.

Put-Take

Southern Michigan's put-take pheasant program, successful in its debut last season, has been modified and, in some areas, enlarged for the coming year by the Natural Resources Commission, meeting in Gaylord.

While the number of pheasants released will be the same as last year, about 60,000, the number of areas open to hunting will be increased from 15 to 17.

The season for 1974-75 will be shortened and split-to be open Sept. 18 - Nov. 14, and Dec. 1-Jan. 5. The break will come during the regular firearm season for deer. This will permit deer hunting in the put-take areas without complicating put-take pheasant regulations.

Shooting hours have been shortened and will be from 10 a.m. to 7 p.m., but hunters will be permitted to hunt for all seven days of the week during the season. Last year there was no hunting on Thursdays and Fridays.

While releases of birds were made on a standard Thursday-Friday basis last year, resulting in a crush of hunters on Saturday, this coming year releases will be made on unannounced days twice weekly.

Open areas for the put-take pheasant season are: Deford, Barry, Dansville, Flat River, Gourdneck, Gratiot-Saginaw, Gregory, Lapeer, Portland, Rogue River, Sharonville, and Three Rivers State Game Areas; Bald Mountain, Holly, Ionia, Sleepy Hollow and Wetzel State Recreation Areas.

VBS program held Sunday

A program was presented Sunday evening in the Missionary Church, marking the close of Vacation Bible school. Mrs. Wilton Hull reports the average nightly attendance was 212, ranging from 185 for the opening session to 228 at one session. For the first time in a Bible school, there was a class for adults, to which some 15 responded. Classes began at six-thirty each evening.

An organ prelude to the program was given by Philip Martin; the invocation by Pastor Hull, and the welcome by Mrs. Hull, who served as director of this year's school.

Working in the adult department was Pastor Hull and with the youth, Mr. and Mrs. Clair Tuckey. Mrs. Marcia Schember and Miss Deloris Sherrard were in charge of music and Mrs. Lila Arroyo headed the craft department. Working in transportation were Bill Hightower, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Becker and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin.

Other workers included: Jane Becker, Cheryl King, Joan Merchant, Fonda Tuckey, Evelyn Sherrard, Eleanor Dietzel, Esther Good, Joyce Palmateer, Ruth Wildis, Vera King, June Farnum, Pat Kivel, Wanda Moore, Ilene Soldan, Sandy Smith and Edwina Thompson. Others assisting were Arlene Perry, Lucille Collins, Patty Moe, Shirley Tuckey, Louise Wright, Mark Tuckey, Wanda Tuckey, Judy Merchant, Marge Smith, Ethel Whitaker, June Hosner and Sherry King.

Bauer receives

U-M real estate honor

Lorenz C. Bauer, 4534 Oak St., was one of 150 persons scheduled to receive University of Michigan Certificates in Real Estate at annual recognition exercises Thursday.

The certificates are awarded to persons who successfully complete eight courses in the real estate program offered by the U of M's graduate school of business administration and extension service.

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

Voters in the Cass City School District will be asked for the third time to approve extra funds for operating at a special election Aug. 11.

adopted immediate increases in swimming fees at the village pool.

Although their original bargaining demands were sharply sliced as expected, the Cass City Chapter of the Michigan Education Association succeeded in securing substantial economic benefits in its new one-year contract.

Area kids are keeping a weather eye out these days for construction men at the municipal pool at the Cass City Village Park for installation of a new heater scheduled soon.

Some 100 persons attended Job's Daughters installation ceremonies at the new temple at the corner of Maple and Garfield Streets.

TEN YEARS AGO

Workmen began spreading out still-smoldering hay Wednesday as they prepared to start cleaning up the debris from the $100,000 fire that wiped out Dr. H.T. Donahue's dairy farm at the northern outskirts of Cass City early Monday morning.

Tuscola county became a county divided, at least politically, with the State Supreme Court decision Monday for the one-man-one-vote redistricting plan.

What it costs to run Cass City Public Schools is apparently of little interest to school district voters as only one person attended the annual budget hearing Monday night in the High School auditorium.

A special hearing Monday will kick off a drive in Gagetown for a new water system estimated to cost $40,000, President William Downing announced this week.

An ambitious plan, spearheaded by Jim Ware and Mrs. Lucille Bauer, calling for turning the old Elkland Town Hall into a cultural center, has begun.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

The number of persons of school age -- five to 19 years -- in the Cass City School district increased 12 per cent in the last four years, according to school secretary, Mrs. Florence Brown. Presently 466 students are enrolled.

A huge plastic cake with electric candles and a background denoting the 20th anniversary decorated the state of the high school auditorium where members of the class of 1929 gathered here Saturday evening for a reunion.

The new edifice for the Cass City Assembly of God was nearly filled to capacity on the day of dedication last Sunday.

Vincent Paul of the West side Tennis Club, New York City, will instruct at the tennis courts at Cass City Saturday at 10:00 a.m.

Mrs. Partickadies Thursday

Mrs. Florian (Margaret Ann) Particka, 52, Ubyly, died Thursday afternoon, June 20, at her home in Ubyly after suffering a heart attack.

She was born Jan. 25, 1922 in Detroit, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Rossi. She and Florian Particka were married Nov. 5, 1949 in Detroit where they lived until 1962, when they moved to Ubyly.

Mrs. Particka was affiliated with the United Auto Workers Union for about 30 years.

She was employed at the Precision Spraying Manufacturing Co., Detroit, and for the last nine years worked for the Hamill Manufacturing Co., Ubyly.

She is survived by her husband; three sons, Michael of Owendale and Joseph and James, both of Ubyly; three daughters, Patricia Particka of Ubyly, Sharon Particka of Battle Creek and Mrs. John (Linda) Murdock of Portage, Ind.; two sisters, Mrs. Anthony LaMarra of Sterling Heights and Mary McFadden, Garden City.

A rosary was recited Saturday evening at Zinger Funeral Home in Ubyly.

Funeral services were conducted Monday at St. Raphael's Catholic Church in Garden City. A rosary was also recited Sunday evening at the Caldwell-Mulligan Funeral Home in Garden City. Burial was in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery, Southfield.

AROUND THE FARMTractor safety*important on roads

By William Bortel

How long has it been since your Slow Moving Vehicle (SMV) sign has been replaced on your farm equipment? Some emblems have faded badly and most need to be replaced every three or four years to maintain the effective fluorescent orange color of the center triangle.

Don't underestimate the necessity of maintaining bright, clean SMV signs on all equipment used on Michigan highways. The number of traffic accident reports involving farm equipment has increased since 1966. The number of injuries remains the same as in 1966. However, rear-end collisions into farm equipment have been reduced since the use of SMV emblems was required by state law.

Nevertheless, 10 fatalities and 228 injuries were recorded in 393 Michigan accidents last year that involved farm machinery on public roads.

Of that figure, 324 were collisions with vehicles, 33 were collisions with other objects and 36 were noncollisions, such as overturns, roadway run-offs and other types of noncollision accidents.

Reports show that 85 per cent of the accidents occur in daylight and 80 per cent occur on country roads. In only one of 15 accidents after dark did the farm equipment have proper lighting.

Today, there is increased use of public roads by farm machinery as well as increased flow of automobiles.

The potential for farm equipment accidents on public roads has increased to the level that several safety practices have increased in importance.

These include:
--Tractor drivers on public roads should be over 15 and under 65 years of age with a good knowledge of traffic laws.

--Keep equipment off the road as much as possible, especially at night and on holidays.

--Have lighting on all tractors and self-propelled equipment.

--Use protective frames or crush resistant cabs to help reduce seriousness of accident.

WCTU meets at Thompsons'

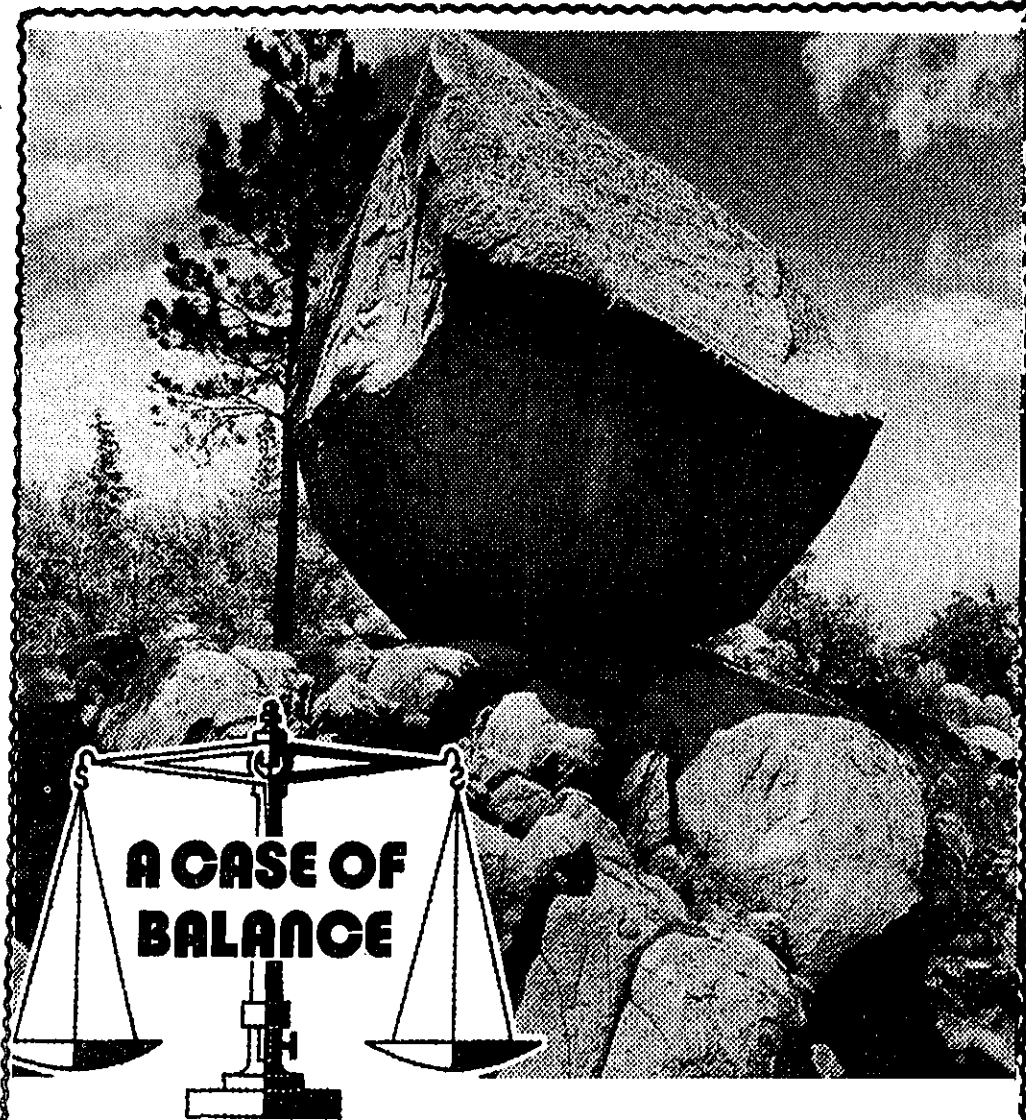

Mrs. Elsie Thompson and daughter Georgia were hostesses Wednesday, June 19, for the Cass River Women's Christian Temperance Union at their farm home. Fourteen were present.

Mrs. Hosner had devotions. Lap blankets and scuffles are to be made by the group for Medical Centers. Luncheon was served.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. William McVety.

The Want Ads Are Newsy Too!

Nobody needs a vacation as badly as those who just had one.

You don't have to be a scientist to realize that these tons of rocks are held in check by perfect balance. You wouldn't want to be sitting nearby if they weren't!

This kind of balance results in inertia. There is another state of being that results in sound initiative and worthwhile action.

You've heard men speak of a balanced background, a balanced education, a balanced life. They're usually referring to the fact that no important element has been ignored or neglected.

Religious sincerity is one necessity for this kind of balance. It cannot take the place of any of the other essentials. Nor can anything else take its place. The Church is constantly helping us gain—and keep—our balance!

Letters to the Editor

Readers dread track expansion

June 21, 1974

Cass City Chronicle
6550 Main Street
Cass City, Michigan 48726

To the Editor:

We read with a sense of horror and dread the proposed expansion of the Thunder Road Raceway in Greenleaf Township. Granted we are not residents of Greenleaf Township, but we would be adversely affected by the proposed expansion as we live on Milligan Road off Greenland Road.

Mr. Thomas uses the siren song of "potential" three million dollars worth of business and seems to feel the only problem would be traffic congestion. He does not mention the destruction of the quality of life for the area. Included in this would have to be noise pollution, increased security, destruction of property and rowdiness. The aforementioned are only the first things that come to mind and the list probably in all actuality would be much longer.

With regard to the "three million dollars" this would for the most part go back to Bloomfield Hills with Mr. Thomas. We doubt very much if employment created would in anyway offset the costs for the area. Besides - what price tag can be put on tranquility? Another thing, if Mr. Thomas even made such a proposal for Bloomfield Hills, he would not get to first base with it. His disregard for the area and its people - as reported by the Chronicle - does not offer much hope for satisfaction of any complaints if he did get the permit.

We have stated our objections in writing to both the Elkland and Greenleaf Township Supervisors.

Very truly yours,
John and Jane Ryba

Coming Auctions

Saturday, June 29 - Kenneth Copeland will hold a household and antique auction at the home located four blocks south of the stoptlight in Cass City and two blocks west on Garfield St. Harold Copeland, auctioneer.

Cass Cityans at Grand Bethel

Job's Daughters Grand Bethel sessions were held last week in Grand Rapids. Installation of Grand Bethel officers took place Saturday at 2 p.m. following the business sessions. The Grand Council installation was held that evening at 8 p.m. The new Grand Bethel and Grand Councilor's breakfast and instruction school were held Sunday morning.

Those from the Cass City Bethel who attended the Grand Bethel were: director of music, Mrs. Denise Hind; secretary, Mrs. Lucille Wotton; director of paraphernalia, Mrs. Elaine Fuester; Honored Queen, Roblyn Fuester; senior and junior princesses, Lori Hind and Valeria Shelton; marshal, Donna Shelton, and fifth messenger, Pam Hind.

Joining them later in the week were Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Surine, Marilyn Monger and Louise Hill. Others included DeMolay members Timothy Fuester and Dean Monger; Ralph Fuester and daughter Nicki and Mr. and Mrs. Dean Monger.

Taking part in all formations were Roblyn Fuester who was installed as Grand Bethel Jr. custodian; Marilyn Monger, installed as Representative of Grand Bethel to British Columbia, and Pam Hind who was Grand Bethel Christian flag bearer.

Roblyn Fuester also received the Coy Honor Award in her Bethel and Pam Hind received a second place rating for casual wear in the sewing contest.

En route home Sunday afternoon from Grand Bethel, Honored Queen Roblyn Fuester, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fuester and daughter Nicki and Mrs. Lucille Wotton visited the Masonic Home at Alma.

Harlan Hobart ends 37 years as Elmwood clerk

When Elmwood Township voters go to the polls in this year's primary election, one familiar name won't be on the ballot. It will be the first ballot he's missed since 1937.

Clerk Harlan Hobart is calling it quits after nearly four decades on the township board—an era that has seen American involvement in three wars, economic highs and lows and a multitude of changes in the way we live.

The soft-spoken Hobart, who never faced opposition in his long career as clerk, will turn his records over to the new clerk at the end of the year and will take life easy on the family farm where he was born 72 years ago.

Hobart took the clerk's job in September of 1937, following the death of then-Clerk M.P. Freeman that summer.

"Shortly after his death, the township board contacted me to see if I'd be interested in running," Hobart recalled as he sat reflectively at the kitchen table of the farmhouse located on Hobart Road. "They asked me to consider it and I talked it over with my dad. He thought it might take up more of my time than I could spare and so I told the board maybe they'd better find somebody else for the job."

Hobart recalled that in another few days, the township officials were back knocking on his door, renewing the offer.

"So I finally took it," Hobart said smiling.

Hobart found the job agreeable and each time an election year rolled around, he filed for the post. He kept right on doing it until this year when he decided to give it up.

"Bruce Brown was the first supervisor I worked under," Hobart remembered. "Then there came Roy LaFave, Grover Laurie, Milt Hofmeister and now Roy Messer."

Hobart's main function was, and still is, supervising elections and registrations. Township officers were elected each year when he first took the job, he recalled. Now voters choose a board every two years.

He said the job of clerk has not changed a great deal in his 37 years. In the early days, the clerk handled birth and death certificates, but these have since been taken over by the county.

He said in recent years, the advent of revenue sharing and more complicated methods of bookkeeping have been added to the job. Audits now must be performed on all township books annually, he said.

Generally, he observed that the state is exerting more control over the affairs of the township than in earlier times.

"Our books have to be audited even though we don't write over 125 checks a year," he said. "Revenue sharing has added to our work, too."

He observed the switch from the old County Board of Supervisors to the Commission form of government put township voters in less-direct contact with their county government.

"I don't think it was a good move to create a county commission," he said. "When the supervisors got together, it gave them a chance to talk over their problems and helped keep them together as a unit."

LITTLE CHANGE

Over the years, Hobart observed, things haven't really changed too much in the township. Farms tend to be larger now than they used to be, Hobart said, ranging in the hundreds of acres instead of from 40-80 acres.

Among some of the changes he has seen is a new zoning ordinance for the township which recently went into effect. He said zoning is sometimes a mixed blessing but the intent is to provide a better township for the majority of its citizens.

Hobart said while more persons are registered to vote today than 37 years ago in the township, overall population has not changed a great deal in those years.

Elections have always been quiet affairs, the retiring clerk said, recalling one notable exception when both candidates running for treasurer tied in popular votes and lots were drawn to see who would win.

In those days, candidates were nominated in caucuses instead of direct primary elections, he said. In all those years, Hobart said he never aspired to any higher office in the township.

Hobart said another change came when the township and Gagetown combined resources to form a fire department. Many hours were spent by the township board and village officials in order to make the department a reality, he said.

Now that he won't be running for re-election again, Hobart doesn't plan to change his life style too much. Election days won't be as hectic anymore and chances are he'll miss that just a little.

And, chances are, it will take some doing to match his longevity in office as well.

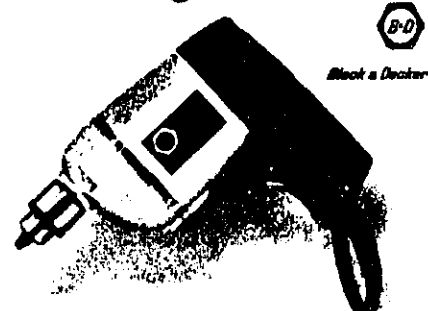

HARLAN HOBART will retire this year as Elmwood Township Clerk after 37 years. Hobart has served under five township supervisors.

July 4th holiday marks travel upswing in Michigan

Michigan's July 4th holiday period should show a resurgence of summer tourist travel as motorists are expected to log more than 700 million miles on state roads during the 102-hour holiday period, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

"With gasoline supplies more plentiful now than anytime in recent months, Michigan motorists will be driving at proportionately the same level this holiday as they did during last year's 30-hour July 4th period," said James Moffat, Auto Club general manager, adding that:

"We consider this an encouraging sign for tourism since over the Memorial Day weekend, state motorists traveled an estimated seven percent fewer miles than the year before."

Auto Club is also expecting this July 4th to be one of the safest summer holiday periods in recent years.

Not only are Michigan traffic fatalities down 31 percent for the first 5 1/2 months of 1974, but highway traffic deaths also decreased 27 percent this past Memorial Day weekend.

The July 4th holiday weekend will begin at 6 p.m. Wednesday, July 3, and end at midnight Sunday, July 8. Although the state's camping and resort areas should have capacity crowds, Auto Club is not expecting any major traffic jams until Sunday from 2 to 10 p.m. when the bulk of holiday vacationers head home.

"With many persons working on Friday--the day after the Fourth--we anticipate few traffic jams developing as vacationers head to northern Michigan," Moffat said. "Holiday travelers will be leaving home at staggered times, with peak periods on the afternoon and evening of Wednesday and Friday plus Saturday morning."

Auto Club advises motorists departing from urban areas at peak times to drive with special caution since they will be sharing the highways with normal heavy rush hour and commercial traffic.

Auto Club points out that near-home driving is a major factor in traffic fatalities since many motorists tend to be more relaxed and less conscious of traffic safety when traveling in familiar surroundings.

"Statistics show that roughly two out of every three fatal accidents over the last five years have occurred within 25 miles of the motorists' homes," Moffat said. "This fact was reflected last July 4th holiday when 10 of the 15 drivers involved in fatal accidents were within a 25-mile radius of their home."

An Auto Club analysis of last July 4th holiday, when 13 persons died on Michigan roads, also shows alcohol and two-lane roads as two other lethal factors in accidents.

Auto Club noted that 50 percent of the drivers at fault in July 4th fatalities had been drinking while an overwhelming 92 percent of the holiday's fatal accidents occurred on two-lane roads.

Auto Club urges motorists to concentrate on safe driving every mile they travel this holiday weekend--especially by wearing their safety belts and by avoiding alcohol. "Our research shows that highway travelers could help cut fatal accidents by more than 50 percent if they take these two latter precautions," Moffat said.

To help the July 4th motorist, Auto Club will operate its "Bring 'Em Back Alive!" Holiday News Service from 3 p.m. Wednesday to 11 p.m. Sunday. This service will provide more than 130 Michigan radio and TV stations with hourly reports on traffic conditions, congested areas to avoid, available motel and camping space, the gasoline supply situation and safety tips to keep drivers alert.

Besides listening to their radio for the latest in highway information, holiday motorists should be on the look-out for freeway rest areas manned by civic groups offering free coffee to combat travel fatigue.

THESE MODELS FEATURE:

Allegro 3000 speaker system
Zenith's new speaker system has a 10" woofer and a 3 1/2" horn tweeter plus an opening on the front, called a tuned port. The tuned port works in conjunction with the woofer to reinforce and extend low, bass response. The result is amazing.

FM/AM/Stereo FM tuner with Target Tuning
Target Tuning visually indicates when you've tuned in on a station frequency. It consists of three lights located on the dial pointer.

Digilite Automatic Scale Selector
When you select the FM band, only the FM tuning scale lights up, select the AM band, only the AM tuning scale lights up.

Stereo Precision III record changer and Micro-Touch* 2G Tone Arm
This fully automatic changer plays 33 1/3, 45 or 78 rpm records. Won't damage your fine records if you accidentally drop or slide it.

Two Plus Two Matrix
Simply add two more optional Allegro speakers and you can enjoy 4-dimensional sound from your regular stereo records and added realism from the new 4-channel matrix records.

Models Can Be Converted to 4-Channel
Simply add Zenith's optional adapter C9029W complete with two speaker systems.

CASS CITY Lions Club installed officers for the 1974-75 year in ceremonies held Saturday night.

NEW LIONS Auxiliary officers were also installed Saturday night. They include, from the left, Pam LaBelle, treasurer; Carolyn Martin, taitwister; Jackie Davis, secretary; Edith Little, historian; Donna Wischmeyer, vice-president; Ruth Grassman, president, and installing officer Webb Whitmer, past district governor of Montrose. Rd., collided at the intersection of Church and West Streets.

State Police from the Caro Post who investigated said the Ballagh auto was traveling south on West Street and failed to stop for a stop sign at the intersection, colliding with the Miracle auto.

Ms. Ballagh was ticketed for disregarding a stop sign. The mishap took place at 9:30 a.m.

Saturday, a car driven by William Van Allen, 17, of 6386 Severance Rd., struck a deer while traveling west on M-81 a quarter-mile west of Dodge Road.

He told Sheriff's deputies the deer ran into the right front fender of the car and flew over the vehicle into the eastbound lane. Neither Van Allen nor his passenger Jim Warju, 17, of 5043 Severance Rd., was injured.

The accident took place at 10:30 p.m.

Sunday, a car driven by Andrew Jay Parker of Lamton Road, Decker, went out of control and landed in a ditch on Lamton Road south of Deckerville Road.

Sheriff's deputies said he swerved to miss three deer standing in the road and lost control of the vehicle. He struck a bridge railing and rolled the car over into a ditch.

He escaped serious injury. The accident occurred at 2:30 p.m.

Council studies street program

Cass City Village Council began a long-term study of the village's street situation at its regular meeting Tuesday night at the Municipal Building.

A detailed report, prepared by Trustee James Ware, looked toward some kind of improvement eventually being made to all village streets. Among other proposals, he strongly advocated increased use of sealcoat on gravel streets in the village.

He called sealcoat a maintenance item instead of a construction item and said the process can be applied at $350 per block as opposed to $5,000 per block for curb and gutter and blacktop.

"Sealcoat will pay for itself in five years time," Ware told trustees. "It will last five to ten years depending on traffic and the base."

This year, the village plans to sealcoat 12 blocks in the southwest section including Sixth, Seventh, Leach and West Streets south of Garfield.

Village President Lambert Althaver took the opportunity to respond to criticism from some Seventh Street residents that the village is doing nothing to sealcoat the street. He said sealcoat should be construction is nearly completed.

He said attempts are still being made with the attorney general's office in Lansing to borrow against the Helen Stevens estate to begin swimming pool construction yet this year.

The estate is not expected to be settled until late this year.

John McCormick appeared before council requesting a change in zoning to allow two-family occupancy of a house he owns at 4606 Seeger St. Presently it is zoned for one-family occupancy only. Council is expected to decide the question at its next meeting.

Supt. Lou LaPonsie announced that Strausberg Const. Co. was low bidder on the M-81 project with a bid of $329,000. Construction is expected to begin in July.

LaPonsie also informed council that allegations of police brutality against Patrolman John Rands will probably be dropped due to lack of evidence.

A bid of $300 for the 1971 Chevrolet police car from August Schenk of Gagetown was accepted.

President Althaver reported that an investigation of a water problem raised by two Church Street residents against runoff from the new apartment site on Hill Street shows the situation has been corrected.

Little League

Tigers-Pirates in double no-hitter

It's hard to see how the Tigers won't win at least a share of the regular season Little League championship this season.

With seven games under their belts the rampaging Tigers are the only undefeated team in the league. Only the Yankees have a chance of winning a share of the title with the Tigers this season.

That showdown game will be the final regular season game of the year and already both teams are pointing towards the climactic finish.

YANKEES - CUBS

Monday, June 17, the Yankees beat the Cubs, 7-3, as Craig Tonti pitched for the Yankees and got the win while striking out 3.

Tim Johnson went 2 for 4 to pace the Yankee hitters. Joe Smith started for the Cubs, striking out six. He was victimized by his teammates, who could come up with only four hits including a double by Joe Decker in the sixth.

TIGERS - PIRATES

Tuesday, June 18, the Tigers edged the Pirates, 3-0, in a classic pitching duel.

Neither team got a hit and the double no-hitter was marred only by a few walks and errors.

Dean O'Harris took the heart-breaking loss and Ken Martin pitched the win for the Tigers. He walked only one runner and whiffed 11.

CUBS - ORIOLES

Wednesday, June 19, the Cubs topped the Orioles, 11-5. Joe Doerr pitched for the Cubs with relief help from Joe Smith. Doerr received credit for the win.

Mike Martin pitched for the Orioles and was handed the loss. Scott Murphy went 1 for 2 for the losers.

GIANTS - YANKEES

Thursday, June 20, the Yankees stayed on the heels of the Tigers by hammering out a 17-5 win over the Giants.

Tim Severence was on the mound for the winners and struck out 12. Shawn Papp got a hit in one try for the Yankees.

Ernie Stoutenburg pitched for the Giants and struck out 11. Bob Erla and Stoutenburg were the only Giants to rap two hits.

CUBS - PIRATES

Friday, June 21, the Pirates posted a 16-5 win over the Cubs. Phil Zawilinski was hurling for the Pirates and struck out 8. Tim Fahrner collected 2 for 4 to help out at the plate.

Scott Stine took the loss for the Cubs. Joe Smith led the Cub stickers with 2 hits in 3 tries.

The second stage of a four-phase building program started Sunday at Deford Community Church as the congregation and church board participated in ground breaking ceremonies.

The ceremonies marked the start of a new $35,000 building for the Christian education department. The 50 x 50-foot two-story building will provide space for about 150 children.

Included will be nine classrooms downstairs and nine classrooms on the second floor. A large assembly room is also designed for each floor.

Last August the first phase of the program was completed as the members finished a new church building.

In 1976 plans now call for the erection of a sanctuary and in 1980 a recreational wing is on the drawing board.

Pastor Dale Sherry reports that the cost of the new building will be cut because most of the labor will be contributed by men of the church under the direction of Bob Sweeney, general contractor.

When the new building is completed, Pastor Sherry estimates the total value of the church property to be over $250,000.

He said that church membership is 130 and that average attendance this year has been over 215.

The congregation has made rapid strides in its brief history. It was organized in November of 1970 and met for the first six months in the Deford School.

Church starts $35,000 education addition

Girls scramble for loop lead

The scramble for top slot in Cass City Girl's Little League softball continued last week with the Braves and Cubs sharing first place with 3-1 records.

Last week's action saw the Cubs take two victories from the Hawks and Lions while the Braves lost to the Lions.

The Cubs defeated the Hawks 7-5 Thursday, blasting through with 14 runs in the first inning and 21 in the second. In only the third frame were the Cubs held to single-digit scoring when they pushed seven across the plate.

The Cubs gathered 60 hits and committed 30 errors in the contest, while the Hawks tallied 21 hits and 10 miscues which Coach Missey Kelley said cost her team the game. Friday, the Cubs had their hitting clothes on again as they disposed of the Lions 39-34. The Lions started with a bang with 12 runs in the first inning and 10 in the second. But the Cubs came back with 11 runs in their second inning and 11 more in the fourth.

The Lions tried to pull it out of the fire with 10 rallies in the fifth inning. The Cubs proved equal to the challenge, however, and scored 14 more runs in the last three innings to ice the contest.

The Braves lost their lone contest Tuesday, June 18, to the Lions 35-20.

The Braves struggled to play catchup from the second inning when the Lions pushed across 11 runs, icing the game with 14 more in the third.

For the Lions, Nancy Tonti went seven for seven at the plate and the team showed aggressiveness on the basepaths, according to coaches Chris Craig and Norma Rabideau. They gave high marks to Andrea Barnes' pitching effort.

In last week's other contest, the Tigers downed the Reds 37-22. The Tigers struck first with three runs in the first inning, 13 more in the second and seven in each of the next three innings.

The Tigers pounded out 37 hits against 10 for the Reds.

3 share league lead

Form was followed in the second week of play as the Catholics and the Methodists, pre-season favorites, share the top spot with the Lutherans.

Methodists-Church of Christ

The Methodists continued their heavy sticking as they hammered out a 14-4 decision over Church of Christ. Randy Kozan picked up his second victory in as many tries. Don Englehart took the loss in the game played Thursday.

The Methodists were led by Mike Murphy, who cracked two hits including a home run, and Randy Damm, who also banged out two hits.

Lutherans-Baptists

The Lutherans had little trouble hammering out a 12-5 decision over the Baptists in the nightcap. Al Romig, showing steady improvement, pitched a strong game for the winners. Jim Belk hammered two hits to help his team to the win.

Catholics-Missionary

Thanks to the slugging of John Smentek, the Catholics had little trouble pounding out a 12-3 decision over Missionary, Friday. Smentek made things easy for winner John Maharg as he slugged a home run with two men on. Ron Ouvry also blasted one for the circuit for the winners. Paul Bliss got a save as he relieved Maharg. Mark Tuckey took the loss.

Missionary-Shabbona

Missionary got on the winning trail Monday night with a 14-4 decision over Shabbona as Roger Root bested Keith O'Dell.

Cooper, Hartwick and Martin helped make things easy for Root with two hits each for the winners.

Catholics-Baptists

In the nightcap the Catholics won a tight game from the Baptists, 10-8. But it wasn't Gary Mellendorf's fault that the Baptists were unable to win. Gary rapped two home runs off John Maharg.

But the Catholics' balance was too much for pitcher Jack Hillaker and his mates and the Catholics remained undefeated.
