

Seek Evergreen rezoning for $1 million development

A proposed $1 million recreation area to be erected on 120 acres at the corner of Deckerville and Leslie Roads is the stake in an upcoming meeting of the zoning board at Evergreen township Friday, Aug. 30.

The developer, Peter Murray, has applied to the zoning board for rezoning of the property from agricultural to commercial to get the project off the ground.

According to a brief proposal presented to the zoning board, Murray says he will include "a year-round facility which will include such things as horseback riding, fishing, swimming, playgrounds for the children, ball field, tennis and basketball courts for summer, ice skating, snowmobile trails, ice fishing, tobogganing, indoor swimming, game rooms. Activities such as hayrides, sleigh rides, dances and such will be handled by a social director.

"People will be able to take advantage of these activities from a modern camping site centrally located to all areas. The site will be leased on a yearly basis....I would like to make it clear that the site cannot be occupied as a residence, but only on a part-time basis as a recreational activity."

Murray says that adequate water from five wells and a reservoir will be available while sewage disposal will be handled by septic fields.

One township official says that the sanitary fields in the preliminary sketch are higher than the area they would serve.

Murray says that any disposal system would have to have the approval of the county health department.

There is a concern among some township residents that the development as proposed is too big for just 120 acres.

There is an even greater fear that a development of the size suggested will remove the "country living" flavor of the township.

Property owners in the area are aware of how urban expansion has forced farmers from the land in more metropolitan areas and they don't want to see it happen in Evergreen township.

Murray counters by saying that the development will be open to families in the township on a membership basis in addition to those who lease a site.

He says that township revenue will jump due to real estate taxes and sales tax monies.

He added that persons renting sites and local members will be required to use the land and follow regulations restricting them from infringing on the rights of others.

Land owners immediately surrounding the proposed recreational site have been notified by mail of the upcoming meeting at the township hall at 1 p.m. Aug. 30.

Other interested residents are invited to attend, says Clerk Otis Dorland.

It is probable that many of them will.

Owen-Gage board to probe school attorney controversy

A session of "who called the attorney?" and the resignation of a board member highlighted Monday night's Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education meeting at Gagetown.

The flap regarding board attorney John Thomas erupted during a routine examination of board bills and the discussion of the retainer paid Thomas.

Former board member Kenneth Voelker, who was one of nine persons present for the meeting, told the board Thomas had been in the district July 31, allegedly to advise the citizen's group not connected with or sanctioned by the board.

Voelker stated the attorney was unaware he would be addressing this group until he arrived. The meeting was reportedly held in the basement of the Gagetown Methodist Church.

Three of the six board members present said they were unaware of the attorney's visit. Board President Ronald Good, and members Jack Brinkman and Ronald Reinhart said they were aware of the visit.

A dispute developed over who would pay for the attorney's services and whether or not the action on the part of the citizen's group was improper.

Voelker said the citizen's group, headed by former board member Tom Laurie and not connected with the Citizen's Study Committee headed by Jack Laurie, invited Thomas. He indicated this action could border on misrepresentation.

Supt. Glenn Sanford said he learned Thomas bore the expense of the visit himself.

Board member Fred Cooley said such action on the part of the unsanctioned citizen's group "makes things touchy."

"It looks a little underhanded to me," Cooley said. He urged the citizen's group to get their own lawyer.

He added that apparently there was no clear definition of who was being represented in the letter the lawyer received, asking him to come.

Board member Jack Brinkman said it didn't matter who Thomas contacted in the district as long as the board didn't have to bear the cost. This met with sharp disagreement from Voelker, who said one attorney should not represent both board and citizen's group.

Sanford confirmed that no one sanctioned by the board invited Thomas to appear.

The board approved other bills and decided to check further into the situation.

Tom Laurie could not be reached for comment.

RESIGNATION

The board received the resignation of vice-president George Wilson Monday night.

Asked Tuesday why he resigned, Wilson said he felt his year on the board had not produced any results.

"My time was being wasted. I like to show production when I work on something and when you can't produce, it's time to look for another job."

Wilson said too much of a distinction is being drawn between "citizens" and "board members" and added he could not work for a better district if he were confined as a board member.

He again asked why the latest citizen's committee was formed when one already existed. "They keep saying that when we do something constructive, they'll join," he said. "But so far they haven't."

Wilson expressed disappointment that the board had been rebuffed on the last three votes—merger, build and split the district.

"They (voters) have said no, no, no to everything," he said.

He defended Supt. Sanford's action in the split campaign, saying Sanford can do nothing without board approval. Wilson stated the split vote would have been beneficial.

"If Cass City had gotten the Gagetown students and if Lakers had gotten the Owendale students, it would have helped everybody out," he said. "And I believe that if you can help yourself and others out, you should do it."

Wilson's successor on the board must be chosen by Sept. 1, according to law. If this is not done, the Intermediate Board must name a successor.

INMAN RESIGNS

The board accepted High School Principal Deloss Inman's resignation, effective Tuesday. Inman also served as athletic director of the school.

Supt. Sanford said interviews will begin shortly to find a replacement for Inman.

Inman will become principal and athletic director of Vanderbilt High School in Vanderbilt. He has served at Owen-Gage the past two years.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business, the board agreed to pay for the initial mailing of the Study Committee's newsletter which will go to all district voters regularly.

The board also approved a resolution supporting the proposal to build a Vocational Technical Center in Huron County. Voters will decide the question county-wide Sept. 9.

The board also heard complaints from two bus drivers who asked for salary increases. They also said they never received contracts for approval until after school started.

One driver, Mrs. Joan Alexander, asked that she be allowed to take her bus home at night or be paid mileage to and from it. The board turned this idea down.

Supt. Sanford said he would be willing to meet with the drivers and hash out any problems.

A hearing regarding properties at the northern fringe of the district petitioning to transfer to the Laker School District will be held in Lansing Aug. 26 at 1:00 p.m., it was announced.

Probe cheating charge at fair

Richard Condo of Snover is mad. He lost $13.50 Friday night at the Huron County Fair in a game-of-chance booth and decided the proprietor was cheating him.

Monday Condo contacted Huron County Assistant Prosecutor Douglas J. Lee to investigate the possibility of filing criminal charges.

Condo told the Chronicle he was playing the "basketball" game at the fair Friday night and came within eight points of winning a television set. He charged the proprietor of the booth then refused to allow him a chance to complete the game.

He claimed he was denied the television set and asked to accept a stuffed animal instead.

"After I'd gotten that far, he told me that was just a house prize and that I was playing for something under the table," Condo said. "I got within eight points of winning and he changed the rules." Huron County Sheriff's deputies said the proprietor of the booth defended his action by saying Condo did not understand the rules of the game.

The proprietor reportedly refunded Condo the $13.50 he spent on the game and offered him another prize. Condo declined, deciding to see the county prosecutor instead.

Condo said Monday the question still unresolved involves criminality. To win his case, he would have to prove the proprietor's action constituted a criminal offense.

"I'm not doing this just to get the prize," Condo said. "I'm doing this because I want to stop him (the proprietor) from doing this to somebody else."

A spokesman for the prosecutor's office indicated Tuesday no early action in the case is planned.

Historic drawing breaks Evergreen tie Friday

LARRY PUTERBAUGH (left), winner in Friday's drawing for the Republican nomination as Evergreen Township Supervisor, shakes hands with loser, incumbent Laurence Hyatt. Both men garnered 52 votes in last week's primary. The tie was broken Friday at the court house in Sandusky. It's the first time in Sanilac County's history a tie for office occurred, clerk Walter Behn said.

"It's been a momentous week, I guess," Sanilac County Clerk Walter Behn intoned Friday. "Not only in Washington but here as well." Behn, a secretary and the two Republicans who tied for the Evergreen Township Supervisor's nomination in last week's primary election, were about to make history.

The two men, Supervisor Laurence Hyatt and challenger Larry Puterbaugh, who each garnered 52 votes for the GOP nomination, would decide by drawing lots who won the election.

The drawing was held in the second-floor Circuit Courtroom of the Sanilac County Courthouse in Sandusky. Before the drawing, Behn told them this was the first time in his 12-year tenure as clerk that a tie ever occurred.

In fact, he said later, it was the first tie for an office other than party delegate that ever occurred in the history of the county.

He explained the meaning of the drawing as both men stood, arms folded on their chests and leaning against the court rail.

"This drawing will decide the name which will go on the November ballot for the Republican nomination only," Behn said.

Following his explanation, Puterbaugh reached gingerly into the wooden box containing two capsules, one reading "Elected" and the other reading "not elected."

Then Hyatt reached in for the remaining capsule.

Both were opened and Puterbaugh smiled. "Well, this one says elected so I guess I am," he said.

Both men smiled and shook hands. It was all over.

After the drawing, Hyatt said he felt the township voters should have made the decision instead.

"I really don't think it's proper to do it this way,"

Hyatt said, adding quickly that he felt nothing against Puterbaugh. Both men are lifelong friends.

Hyatt added that had he known Puterbaugh had filed for election, he would not have run.

Behn explained that, after the election is certified by state officials, Hyatt could request a recount.

Hyatt said later he has not made up his mind if he will request one or not.

If he does not, then Puterbaugh's name will appear on the November ballot. Presently, he has no Democratic opposition.

Zimba battles board again

A couple of old problems returned to the agenda at the regular meeting of the Cass City School Board Monday evening at the high school and sparked what was an otherwise mundane, short meeting.

Bill Zimba, the fighting father of deaf Jennifer Zimba who attends a special school at Flint, appeared again before the board to seek an increase in travel allowance for his daughter.

Last year Zimba received $266 from the school district and $100 from the Tuscola County Intermediate District to pay for transporting his daughter home on week ends.

Zimba claims that he spends $1,000 or more for travel and that it will be much more this year. He also claims that the law requires the school district to reimburse him for the travel.

Supt. Donald Crouse said that no adjustment in payment will be made before the Intermediate District establishes guidelines for payment. He also feels that the Zimbals should car pool with other deaf children travelling to the Flint school.

Zimba balks at this and promised to return before the board if a satisfactory adjustment is not made. The angry father has appeared before the board several times in recent years.

HOT LUNCH

The second familiar item on the agenda is the price for hot lunches at the school. The board boosted them a nickel, but not without objection from Trustee Mrs. Geraldine Prieskorn.

With the boost in prices, elementary students will pay 50 cents and students in the intermediate and high school will pay 55 cents. Adult meals will be 70 cents.

What bugs Mrs. Prieskorn is that neighboring schools sell hot lunches for considerably less than Cass City charges.

Supt. Crouse feels that these schools are subsidizing the program from the general fund. Cass City operates on a pay-as-you-go basis. Last year the lunch program was $2,385.28 in the red and the increase of a nickel will bring in some $7,000.

Mrs. Prieskorn said that she's received many comments about the price of lunches and it bugs her that Cass City is higher than other schools. Others sided with the pay-as-you-go theory and the price boost was approved by a 5-1 margin.

NEW TEACHERS

Several new teacher contracts were approved. Polly Pakonen will teach first grade. Jeanette Trepkowski will handle Intermediate

Cass City schools to open September 3

School will open this fall on the day after Labor Day, Supt. Donald Crouse reported. The opening date has been set and a school calendar tentatively agreed upon.

However, all union negotiations are still in progress. The teachers and the district have not reached agreement and neither have the Operating Engineers, the union that represents most of the non-teaching personnel at the school.

English and Jan Finkbeiner will handle special education. Eric Wilmore replaces Skip Pranger for Intermediate boys' physical education and typing. Nancy Wichar was hired to teach speech and English.

Meanwhile, the appointment of assistant basketball coaches at the high school level was confirmed. Dale McIntosh is the new Junior Varsity coach and Jim Mastie is the new Freshman coach.

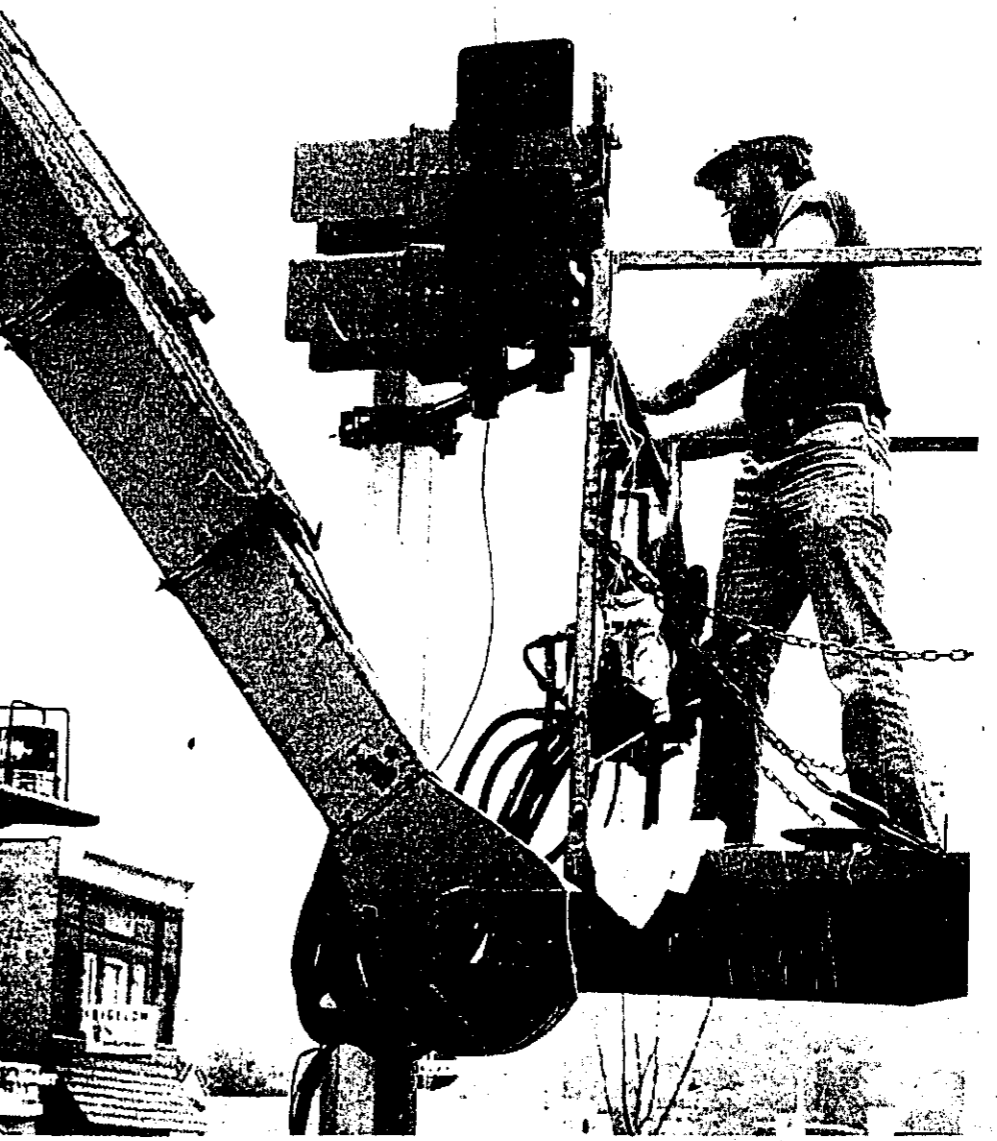

OTHER BUSINESS

The board authorized a new copy machine for the school at a cost of $1,345. Bob Hirn and J.D. Tuckey were appointed to receive bids for milk, bread and bus insurance.

The shell of a demonstration car will be sold to the highest bidder. It is in the farm shop and Lyle Clarke, instructor, reports that he needs the room.

Mrs. Dan Toner was recommended to serve on the parent advisory committee for special education to replace Mrs. Andrew Eubank, who is moving.

A WORKMAN puts the finishing touches on Cass City's new "Walk-Wait" signs Thursday. Installation of the devices, designed to increase pedestrian safety at Main and Seeger, came just one year after council okayed the project.

"If It Fitz . . ." Let the other guy quit

BY JIM FITZGERALD

In my hometown, officials are currently disagreeing over who should pay to fix up the old railroad depot.

Which is similar to fighting over the cost of carpeting running boards.

Amtrak is restoring passenger service through our county but it says it won't stop here because our depot is too rundown and ugly. But for a few thousand bucks worth of paint and paving, they'll change their mind. Golly gee.

For 75 years, that depot was plenty good enough. And that was when people were using it. Now nobody takes the train. That's why it quit stopping here a few years ago. So Amtrak says pretty up the depot or they won't use it.

I haven't felt so intimidated since a sergeant told me to clean my rifle or he wouldn't shoot me with it.

The energy shortage was supposed to restore the popularity of passenger trains. You remember the energy shortage. That was when you drove into a gas station and nobody cleaned your windshield. If you complained, the gasoline company said the men who used to clean windshields were now offshore, drilling.

That's why gasoline now costs 30 cents more a gallon. It costs more to drill for oil than it does to wipe windshields. And you should thank God gas now costs more because this means the friendly Standard dealer on your corner will never wear a turban and ride to work on a camel.

The gasoline shortage is over now, which is a remarkable thing. Gas is a fossil fuel, so there has to be less gas in the world today than there was during the shortage. But today there's plenty of gasoline to buy and no long lines at the pumps. It just costs more now. And that's how cynics are born.

Sure, you should think of your great grandchildren. If you spend your life driving to work alone, they may spend their lives trying to bum rides on that Standard dealer's camel. We have to run out of gasoline some day.

I asked a car dealer if he didn't think people should ride trains today so his great grandchildren won't have to walk tomorrow. He didn't.

"Let them dig up their own energy. They'll think of something. We've got gasoline today and I want it or I can't sell cars. Everybody wants it. Nobody wants to worry about their great grandchildren's transportation," he said.

Yeah. That's why it would be dumb to spend dough on our old depot. Nobody is going to use it. Paint applied today will be all flecked away by the time your great grandchildren come by, following the rickety railroad tracks to see if they lead to the edge of the earth. They may discover India.

Everybody knows the way to avoid a gasoline shortage is to quit burning so much of it. But let the other guy quit. You expect more from Standard and you're going to get it, by God.

Meanwhile, back at the depot, they should forget today and build for the future. How about hitching posts?

The burden of responsibility always carries within itself compensation in an equal amount.

THINGS ARE changing at Cass City's municipal building. Work is progressing on a 23 by 28-foot addition that will provide much-needed office space. The addition will cost about $12,000. Another $6,000 will be spent on an addition to the village garage.

Owen-Gage board okays teacher pay hikes

The Owendale-Gagetown Board of Education gave its approval to an overall contract which will give teachers an across-the-board seven and one-half per cent pay increase. The approval came at the regularly scheduled board meeting held at the Gagetown school Monday night.

Under the terms of the proposed contract, beginning teachers with a bachelor's degree would receive $8686.96, and increase to $12,443.63 after 10 years.

Teachers with master's degrees would start at $9274.03 and increase to $13,617.55.

Supt. Glenn Sanford described the negotiations as "cordial" and viewed the contract as something both board and teachers could live with for the year.

Included in the contract, which still must be approved by the Owen-Gage Education Association, is insurance coverage of $50.50 per month, paid by the school board.

For extracurricular activities, the dramatics instructor will receive an additional three per cent for every three-act play directed, the girls' JV basketball coach, an additional two per cent, and the cheerleading coach, an additional three per cent.

In explaining insurance coverages, Sanford said the $50.50 per month is a maximum and represents amounts of coverage, not actual dollars. He said this maximum represents coverage for a family provider.

Under terms of the contract, school will begin Sept. 3, one week later than usual. The move brings the district in step with the majority of Huron County districts. Classes will begin at 8:30 a.m. and dismiss at 2:30 p.m.

Days off include Nov. 28-29, Dec. 23-31, March 28 and 31, April 1-4 and May 26. Last day of school is June 6.

One teacher's institute day will be established later.

Sanford urged all students to register as soon as possible at the superintendent's office in Owendale so that bus routes can be drawn up and students can be assigned to their proper school.

Students may register any time during business hours.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

Okay, I'm nuts. But I'm going to try it again.

I'm going fishing Thursday on Lake Michigan near Manistee. Not only that, but when I board that boat my family will be boarding with me.

I'm not sure that taking them along is the wisest thing to do. Not sure at all. After all my son is only 14. I want him to look up to me. How can he if I'm lying on the bottom of the boat weakly waving the skipper towards shore?

I've been fishing several times before at Manistee. The last couple of times it's been something not to write home about.

The first time I figured it was just one of those things. I was getting my just deserts... a penalty for what happened the night before.

The second time I was careful, careful the night before. No more misery for me. It turned out to be a rough day at sea. Most of the crew were briefly ill as the boat rocked and bounced, rocked and bounced.

After awhile the rest started feeling better and started fishing. Eventually I felt better, too, but only after I talked them into pushing to shore for a moment and I rushed off, rented a room and went to bed.

That must have been three years or more ago and I swore never again.

But time dims all and I'm committed. This time could be the magic charm. I keep telling myself. Maybe I won't get sick, no matter what. Maybe Lake Michigan will behave itself and the wind won't blow. There are days, you know, when that lake is as calm as the surface of your bathtub.

I spent a day on it like that once. I was the captain of the ship, Popeye the Sailor and fisherman deluxe all rolled into one. I felt great, great. Great all day.

But those calm days don't come often. What I regard as a rolling sea, experienced boaters call a light swell and when I see whitecaps you don't see me on the sea.

I have little faith in pills for seasickness, but I'm leaving no stone unturned. I've loaded up with Dramamine just in case.

Every time that I've been fishing before the results have been predictable. The weather has been uncertain, the fishing certain. Lousy.

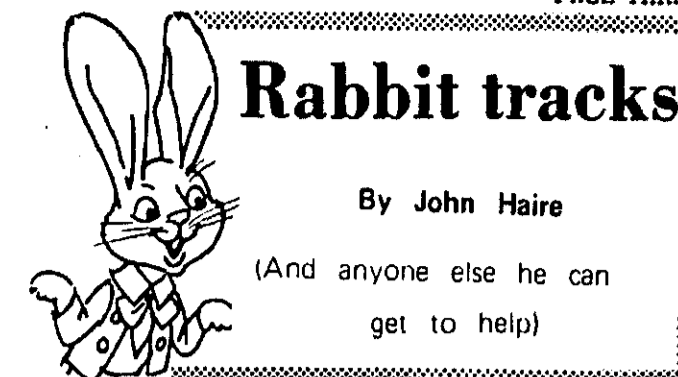

A half dozen fellows went on each of three previous excursions and among the lot of us we have caught a total of one coho salmon.

Catching big trout or coho on this trip would be wonderful. But the real icing on the cake would be a whole day's fishing without bombing out.

My wife says I'm crazy to try.

But I'm going to do it anyway.

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire

(And anyone else he can get to help)

Dick Hampshire must have set a record last week. He was digging out from the bottom of a three-foot hole for one of the trees on the main stem when he came across two wires hanging loose underground.

He was warily looking them over when Fritz Neitzel slipped up and flashed a picture. The word is that Dick set a new record leaving that hole and those "hot" wires.

Speaking of Main Street trees, I'm from Missouri. It's claimed that those trees without leaves or buds will grow... just as long as the bark is green.

Maybe so. Those trees are guaranteed. But the labor that goes into installing them isn't and wouldn't it be a shame...?

A "sidewalk survey" indicates about half the trees are receiving tender loving care. Merchants watered them the day after they were planted.

I can remember a year when crops were as good as they are this summer. But I can't remember a year when the crops were so good here and so poor elsewhere. Barring an unlikely disaster this fall, beans and corn should join wheat, oats and hay in the bumper crop category.

Certainly, I can't recall a year when the yield was so great and the prices so good...even allowing for inflation.

It's discouraging to see a movie that always appears on the verge of being great entertainment only to have it end while you were waiting for it to swing into high gear and become the gripping story that it hinted being from the opening scene.

"Chinatown" was one like this...and the name has absolutely nothing to do with the story. The show leaves you mildly discouraged because you leave the theatre thinking about what might have been with only a story rewrite and character change here and there.

Loser of the week: Bill Wallace. He confessed this week that he always wanted to see what one of those big balloons looked like so when the one from Caro came flying over early Monday evening he took off and chased it.

He followed it from his home east of town to the southeast edge of the village only to see it start drifting back where it came from.

It landed not 200 yards from where Bill started out to follow it. Unfortunately, by this time the balloon had attracted much attention and created a traffic jam and Wallace was unable to get close to see it land.

Hold MacKichan reunion Sunday

The MacKichan family held its annual reunion at Lakeside Park in Port Huron Sunday, Aug. 11, with 54 in attendance.

Some of the clan migrated to Michigan from Ontario, while other members remained in Canada. As usual the Canadian cousins were well represented Sunday. Other out-of-state families came from North Dakota, Nebraska and New Mexico.

Music on bagpipes and drums was presented by three members of the Brigden, Ontario, Kiltie band.

TO THE CUSTOMERS OF SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN GAS COMPANY NOTICE OF GAS RATE HEARING

On May 20, 1974, Southeastern Michigan Gas Company (the "Company") filed an application with supporting testimony and exhibits with the Michigan Public Service Commission in Case No. U-4588, which requests authority to amend its retail gas rates so as to increase its retail gas revenues by at least $2,064,843, on an annual basis. On July 19, 1974, the Company filed its supplement to application with the Commission with additional direct testimony and exhibits, such materials relating to procedures followed by the Company in certain municipalities where its rates and charges are fixed by franchise agreement. In its application the Company has stated that increased costs of service caused by (a) increased cost of capital, (b) increasing capital requirements, (c) increased wages and other labor costs, (d) increased cost of materials and supplies, and (e) other increased operations and maintenance expense, have caused the return on the Company's investment to be below that required by sound regulation; that rate relief is required to permit the Company to continue to achieve its goal of rendering adequate service to the public; and that rate relief effective in the near future is necessary to protect the statutory and constitutional rights of the Company. The Company also represents that, to continue to render adequate service to the public within its service areas, the Company will be required to continue to make increasing investments in its public utility plant; that in order to do so, the Company's return must be such that it can attract the necessary capital at fair and reasonable prices; and that the Company's present rates and charges, if not increased, will produce inadequate revenues to the Company, and thus, will be unjust and unreasonable.

Applicant's proposed Residential Service Rate and Commercial and Industrial Service Rate Schedules also provide for a minimum monthly service charge and a commodity charge for gas used, in lieu of the current "block" type rates.

The Company has not filed for immediate and partial rate relief but in its application reserves the right to do so.

Also the Company has represented that in certain municipalities its rates and charges are fixed by franchise agreement; but with respect thereto, the Company has followed certain necessary procedures so as to vest requisite jurisdiction in this Commission to grant the relief sought by the Company in its rate application, as supplemented.

The Company, with its Supplement to Application, submitted certified copies of resolutions vesting jurisdiction in this Commission adopted by the following municipalities; the cities of Litchfield and Port Huron; the villages of Concord, Homer and Parma; and the townships of Clarence and Homer in Calhoun County, Litchfield in Hillsdale County, and Concord, Parma, Pulaski, Sandstone and Spring Arbor in Jackson County.

In other municipalities where rates are fixed by franchise, the Company has represented that the filing of its application invokes the jurisdiction of this Commission. These other municipalities are the city of Albion and the townships of Albion and Sheridan in Calhoun County; and the village of Springport and the township of Springport in Jackson County.

The Michigan Public Service Commission has scheduled hearings on the application of the Company in Case No. U-4588 and has ordered that notice be given that:

A. The initial hearing in this case shall be held at 9:30 a.m. on August 27, 1974 in the offices of the Commission, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan 48913, for the purpose of exploring and, if possible, agreeing upon matters which will expedite these proceedings including, but not limited to, the following:

- Determining the parties to the proceeding, the nature of their appearances and the positions they are taking in the proceeding as well as the facts they intend to controvert or give evidence of, all in accordance with the provisions of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission.

- Simplifying and defining the issues in this proceeding.
- Obtaining admissions as to, and stipulations of, facts not remaining in dispute, the authenticity of documents, and matters of public record.
- Determining the number and identity of witnesses.
- Specifying the schedule for the exchange of proposed exhibits and written testimony and the reduction of oral testimony to written form.
- Establishing procedures for the hearing.
- Specifying a further schedule of dates of hearing.
- Expediting any other matters that may aid in the orderly conduct of the hearing and the disposition of the proceeding.

B. The Commission, on its own motion, will commence an investigation and hearing on August 27, 1974 into the existing rates, charges, revenue deficiencies or excesses, services, practices, procedures and operations of Applicant, and that the investigation and hearing will not necessarily be confined to matters contained in its application, as supplemented, but will include all matters pertaining to the reasonableness and justice of its rates, charges, operations and practices as may be necessary to enable the Commission to determine whether the existing or proposed rates and charges are unreasonable and excessive and should be reduced or altered.

C. Any party seeking to intervene, in accordance with Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission, shall file with the Commission, at least five (5) days prior to the initial hearing of August 27, 1974, an original and 11 copies of a petition to intervene, together with proof of service upon the Company.

Subparagraph (2) of Rule 11 of the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission (R 470.21) provides as follows:

"(2) A petition to intervene shall set out clearly and concisely the facts supporting the petitioner's alleged right or interest, the grounds of the proposed intervention, and the position of the petitioner in the proceeding, so as fully and completely to advise the parties and the commission of the specific issues of fact or law to be raised or controverted." (Emphasis added)

D. The Company shall, on or before August 27, 1974, serve upon each intervening party a copy of the written direct testimony of its proposed witnesses and its proposed exhibits as filed with the Commission. Proof of service shall be filed with the Commission on or before September 3, 1974.

E. THE INCREASES DESCRIBED IN THIS NOTICE HAVE BEEN REQUESTED BY SOUTHEASTERN MICHIGAN GAS COMPANY. THE MICHIGAN PUBLIC SERVICE COMMISSION MAY EITHER GRANT OR DENY THE REQUESTED INCREASE, IN WHOLE OR IN PART, AND MAY GRANT A LESSER OR GREATER INCREASE THAN THAT REQUESTED FOR ANY CLASS OR CLASSES OF SERVICE.

Jurisdiction in this matter is pursuant to 1909 PA 300, as amended, M.C.L.A. 462.2 et seq.; Sections 3 and 4 of 1919 PA 419, as amended, M.C.L.A. 460.51 et seq.; Sections 4, 6 and 6a of 1939 PA 3, as amended, M.C.L.A. 460.1 et seq.; Chapter 4 of 1969 PA 306, as amended, M.C.L.A. 24.201 et seq.; and the Rules of Practice and Procedure Before the Commission, 1954 Administrative Code, Supplement No. 54, R 460.11, et seq.

A summary of the proposed rate increases by classes and their impact on the various classes of service offered by Southeastern Michigan Gas Company is set forth below:

SUMMARY OF PROPOSED RATE INCREASES TWELVE MONTHS ENDED DECEMBER 31, 1973 AS ADJUSTED

Line	Description (Col. 1)	Number of Customers at 12-31-73 (Col. 2)	Revenues as Adjusted (1)		Revenue Increase (3)
			Present Rate (Col. 3)	Proposed Rate (Col. 4)	Amount (Col. 5)	Percent (Col. 6)
Residential Service Rate
1	Residential	48,933	$11,726,397	$13,041,279	$1,314,882	11.2%
Commercial and Industrial Service Rate
2	Commercial (2)	4,339	3,947,900	4,443,069	495,169	12.5
3	Industrial (2)	89	2,280,291	2,535,083	254,792	11.2
4	Total	53,361	$17,954,588	$20,019,431	$2,064,843	11.5

(1) Present and proposed revenues have been adjusted to reflect 30 year normal weather, current use of gas by customers for heating and the number of customers at December 31, 1973. Revenue under present rates were calculated from rates in effect on February 1, 1974.

(2) Revenue from present rates includes revenue from 8 commercial heating and 22 industrial customers who presently purchase gas under the Large Volume Commercial and Industrial Service Rate, which rate is being discontinued.

(3) Due to a deficiency in gas supply, no sales to the Company's ten interruptible customers have been included in revenues for the last year as adjusted, although a revised rate schedule has been proposed. If the proposed rate was applied to the actual volumes sold in 1973, it would result in a revenue increase of 16.2% for this class of customer.

Any interested persons may examine Southeastern Michigan Gas Company's rate application (as supplemented), proposed rate schedules and supporting testimony and exhibits in the offices of the Commission, 5th Floor, Law Building, Lansing, Michigan, 48913 or at Southeastern Michigan Gas Company's Division Offices located in Sandusky, Port Huron and New Baltimore (in the Company's Eastern Divisions) and Albion (in the Company's Albion Division).

KETCHUM'S KNAPSACK

Shuffle board

blues

By Jim Ketchum

My wife's father has probably given up on me. To his chagrin, I'll never become an ace shuffleboarder.

Her father, no doubt, came to that reluctant conclusion during our recent stay with them at Chautauqua in western New York.

Since his retirement, he has copped a carload of shuffleboard trophies both in Florida and up north. His skill on the courts is comparable to an Al Kaline in baseball, a Joe Namath in football or a Jimmy Connors in tennis.

It's so easy for him, but oh, so difficult for this poor, uncoordinated reporter.

Dad plays strategy the way Generals Patton and Rommel played it to the hilt. His calculations include the drift of the court, wind direction and whether or not the discs have too little or too much wax on them.

And, like a bowler, he has favorite and un-favorite courts.

With this background, he apparently thought his son-in-law could quickly master the game and meet him on his terms. I'm afraid I disappointed him miserably.

I knew things weren't going too well when, in the fifth frame of our fifth game, I heard him say, "You're finally catching on", when through luck I managed to place a seven-point shot where it could be protected.

In my non-strategic mind, I think I do pretty well. That is, until Dad comes along and knocks all my 10-point shots into the "kitchen", which takes 10 points of my already anemic score.

Then he will turn around and set up a defense that Eisenhower couldn't have penetrated with the entire American Army. You just can't beat a champ at his own game.

Dad loves shuffleboard. At Chautauqua, you'll generally find him at the courts before 9:00 a.m., ready to take on all challengers. The week before we arrived, he won a shuffleboard tournament and had already entered another.

This trophy will go with the already-crowded array of loving cups he's won that are on display at his Florida home.

My mother-in-law is no slouch either. She can dispose of opponents quicker than the Republicans can dispose of President Nixon. Given the final shot, she's usually good for at least seven points, and generally cops eight or 10.

I don't know if it says which one is better, but Dad did defeat Mom on his way to his most recent title.

But their poor son-in-law, yours truly, causes them nothing but disappointment. I have trouble remembering which end of the stick to hold and which end shoots the discs.

In fact, I upset my father-in-law so much that he actually lost a best-of-three match on the last shot of the last frame of the last game. I'm sure my performance of the day before did it.

Since I can't shuffle with his finesse, it looks like I'll be forced to do exciting things when I retire like change my oil or vacuum the living room rug.

Oh well. Just because I can't shuffle doesn't mean I can't recognize someone who can. Besides, it isn't every family that can boast a real, live shuffleboard champion. I guess I'll just shuffle on.

Family 'sews' love for 50th anniversary

By Jim Ketchum

How do you say "I love you" to very special people in your family? You could buy them a television set or furniture or a trip.

Or you could sew them your love.

That's what the family of Myrtle and Ira Banks of Eden-ville decided. And, barring any last minute hitches, the effort should be something to remember.

The project is a family-made quilt depicting facets of their lives on their 50th wedding anniversary. The chief architect behind it is Mrs. Alex Harrison of 5994 French Rd., Unionville.

The idea began nearly two years ago, but wasn't translated into fact until last Christmas when Mrs. Harrison sent out blocks of white material with Christmas cards, asking each person to embroider a scene.

The entire project rivals governmental top-secret operations and has been dubbed "Project 75". While her grandparents do not celebrate their golden anniversary until early next year, the gift will be presented to them later this month.

"When I first got the idea, I didn't say anything for a year because I was afraid I'd get laughed at," Mrs. Harrison explained, taking a break from stitching the quilt, mounted on an old loom she discovered in the attic of the house she and her husband, who is USA track coach, rent.

She persisted, however, and committed herself to the quilt after finding the loom.

By May of this year, the 23 blocks she sent out returned, ready to be sewn into the quilt. This left 13 undone. These she farmed out to brothers and sisters of her grandparents.

"Each one holds a specific meaning for my grandparents," Mrs. Harrison explained. "They involve birth dates, anniversaries, weddings, places they lived and things they did."

TOTAL SECRECY

So far, Mrs. Harrison believes, her grandparents know nothing of the project, although the cat nearly slipped out of the bag at a family wedding in June.

"I was sitting three places down the dinner table from my uncle with my grandparents in between when he blurted out, "Hey Penny, how's the quilt coming? I said fine and turned a little pale. But I don't think they caught on," she said.

Finding the quilt loom was a stroke of luck. Until then, she was not sure she could handle the 90 by 108-inch project which has consumed 16 yards of material.

The loom was owned by Mrs. George Bitzer, now deceased. The Harrisons rent their large farmhouse from Bitzer, who resides in a mobile home nearby.

Mrs. Harrison said the project has moved smoothly, in spite of the fact that it has been handled strictly by telephone and letter. She has also found that she has had enough help.

"At first I thought I'd be pleading with members of my family to come help work on it," she said. "Now I find they're calling, asking if they can come help. And they're driving from as far away as Flint, Davison, and Beaverton."

The quilt has grown into a neighborhood project as well. Neighbors stop by regularly with needle and thread to lend a stitch or two.

To date, Mrs. Harrison estimates that over 1,000 hours have gone into the quilt. She, the neighbors and other family members are working against an Aug. 24 deadline. That's when the presentation is scheduled.

How does Mrs. Harrison stand up to all this?

"Well, I was on schedule until recently when a neighbor died suddenly," she said. "After that, I fell a week behind. That's when everybody really started pitching in."

She said one day, she and two shifts of workers spent 13 hours on the quilt before stopping. To date, half the quilting has been done.

A SPECIAL THANK YOU

Mrs. Harrison has the callouses on her fingers to prove that her labor of love hasn't all been easy. But she really doesn't mind. For her, the quilt says thank you in a special way.

She explained that when she was four, she sustained a severe head injury requiring massive blood transfusions. Much of that lifesaving blood came from her grandfather. In fact, she said, he gave more blood than he should have.

"He's always teased me by saying I owe him some blood," she quipped. "Maybe this will help repay him."

Mrs. Harrison said, glancing at her fingers, scarred by needle pricks, that the group has literally shed blood over the quilt. "I just tell them not to bleed all over it," she added.

The hardest part to accomplish was the top which reads, "Made for you on your golden wedding anniversary by those who love you."

Asked what will happen to the quilt, Mrs. Harrison said her grandparents, who winter in Arizona, might use it.

"Then again, they might just want to save it for an heirloom. I kind of hope it stays in the family a couple of generations anyway," she said.

Mrs. Harrison said the family could have given her grandparents any number of expensive gifts, but none would carry the sentimental value this one will.

"Each time they look at it, they'll know we love them," she said. "To me, this carries much more value than anything else ever could."

A QUILT of love--that's what you could call this creation, the brainchild of Mrs. Alex Harrison of rural Unionville. The quilt is destined to be a 50th wedding anniversary gift for her grandparents and depicts individual good wishes sewn in by members of the family. Mrs. Harrison is shown posing with the 90 by 108-inch creation.

It is often all up with a man when he starts going down hill.

Set awards day at Rawson Library

An awards day, planned for Wednesday, Aug. 21, will mark the end of this year's summer reading club at Rawson Memorial Library. Librarian Barbara Hutchinson asks all children enrolled in the "Circus Fun Reading Club" to come to the library at 1:00 p.m. Aug. 21 when certificates, pins and ribbons will be awarded.

It is not too late for those who have not yet completed the 10 required books, she said. Many new books arrived at the library in the past week. Mrs. Hutchinson invites children and parents to come in and check out these new books.

New books that arrived this week are "The Dogs of War" by Frederick Forsyth, "The Land Beyond the River" by Jesse Stuart, "Murder on Board" by Agatha Christie, "Aaron" by Henry Aaron, "Plants are Like People" by Jerry Baker, and "Kissinger" by Marvin Kalb.

Other new titles are "Your First Garden", "The Complete Book of Boating", "Pregnancy, Birth & the Newborn Baby", "Family Circle Home Decorating Guide", "The Pruning Handbook", "Woman's Day Book of Sewing", "Aircraft: the Story of Powered Flight", and "A Picture History of the Automobile".

INSURANCE PROBLEM

Cass City Schools have been using volunteer help in recent years to run special practical programs. Trustee Tuckey said that he heard rumors about an insurance problem.

Crouse acknowledged that a case had come up (not in Cass City) where a volunteer was sued while working at school. The school insurance did not cover the volunteer but did protect the school.

It is probable that some changes will be required if the volunteer program continues.

Ms. Sheila Kolb and Ms. Jayne Krohn, members of the school negotiation team, attended the meeting. Asked to report to the board, Ms. Kolb made a classic non-committal statement. "The teachers hope to be working under a contract this fall, but right now there are a great number of differences to be solved."

Your neighbor says

Resignation was right

Did Richard M. Nixon do the right thing by resigning instead of fighting impeachment through the House and Senate? Some persons believe he should have stayed. Others, including Alvin Hutchinson of 4129 Leach St., believe resignation was proper.

"I think he did the right thing," Hutchinson says. "I think it was better for the country that he did. If he did wrong, then he shouldn't have been in office."

He said resigning makes it easier for the country to continue with its business rather than consuming more time.

Hutchinson says President Gerald Ford will probably receive the support of most Americans.

"I think he'll do all right," he said.

Hutchinson is a lifetime resident of the Cass City area. He and his wife, Barbara, who is librarian at Rawson Memorial Library, have five children.

He is an employee of General Cable.

Yucca and Yellow Bee

Something wonderful happened yesterday. I was walking in Grandma's garden, feeling a great sadness that she would never again walk there with me. Her favorite flower, the creamy-blossomed yucca, stood out delicately against the blue sky, breaking my heart with its loveliness. A yellow bee trembled over it a moment, then settled on a pearly petal. Bright-hued blossoms waved in the gentle breeze, pond ripples sparkled in the sun, and for one golden instant, I felt her presence. A prayer she'd taught me years ago came to my lips, "Grant me, God, eyes of the Spirit to see, in the beauty of Your world, reflections of infinity."

I thought of how clearly Grandma had seen God's goodness. Her love of God and devotion to His Church had shone in everything she said and did.

Because of her devotion I too felt God's love all about me. I knew then and there that I would never be lonely again with the Church to sustain and guide me.

BETTER HEALTH

Return of the midwife

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ and DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

When the familiar delivery-room exhortation, "Bear down, Mother," is pronounced in the casual throaty baritone of a busy obstetrician, it strikes some young mothers-to-be, bulging in their sweat-drenched hospital gowns, as yet another example of today's inhuman doctor. The recollection of the quick-step, monthly check-ups, however technically adequate, and the general feeling of having been treated in an assembly line can become overwhelming when her nine months' ordeal is climaxed by what comes through to her as little more than the bored cheerleading of a non-playing captain.

Of course, if she had had twins, or triplets, or a breech delivery, or a Caesarian section, or required forceps, her obstetrician would have been "interested," and she would have been grateful.

But since more than 90 percent of deliveries are uncomplicated and, for the most part predictably so, he is not always that "interested" and she is not all that grateful.

Perhaps this is why the American College of Nurse-Midwives is able to report that the number of midwives now practicing in the United States has tripled in the past year.

Some 1200 highly trained young women, not only with nursing degrees, but with up to two years of obstetrical and parturition and post-partum training as well, are standing in for overworked obstetricians in delivery rooms all over the country.

They are present from the day the pregnancy is confirmed, take part in counseling the mother-to-be at her regular checkups and are responsible for the delivery itself for all normal births. Many women welcome the sympathetic camaraderie of another woman, and the sense of being attended with the concern of an understanding friend.

A return to the Middle Ages? Not at all. It is estimated that throughout the world, midwives deliver eight out of every 10 babies, and that includes the majority of

Detective to speak to foster parents

Don Trowhill, a detective for the Sanilac County Sheriff's Dept., will address a meeting of the Sanilac County Foster Parent's Assn., Tuesday, Aug. 20, at 7:30 p.m. in the courthouse at Sandusky.

Trowhill will deal with drugs and their effect on young persons.

Trowhill and his wife have been foster parents 12 years and have dealt mostly with teenagers.

Also present will be Mr. and Mrs. James Woodhouse, who serve as the area vice-presidents to the Michigan Foster Parents Assn.

Persons interested in becoming foster parents are invited.

AROUND Hints for

By William B...

STORED GRAIN—should be thoroughly ventilated by natural or mechanical means for two or more weeks after harvest, and checked regularly. Unclean and/or high moisture grain (above 12 percent) are susceptible to insect infestations; if either condition was present at harvest you might consider fumigating six weeks after harvest. Use extreme caution when using fumigants.

ALFALFA SEEDINGS—should be made as soon as possible. Don't forget deadlines for ASCS cost-sharing. Varieties used for long term stands should be wilt resistant and winter hardy. We have comparison information on most all varieties.

TESTING—IT PAYS TO KNOW

1. Test your soil now for fall seeded crops.
2. Test your rations for livestock feeding—are they balanced? Are they economical?
3. Test your dairy cows to know if they are good milk producers. We now have 4 good milk testers on the job.
4. Test your management decision by making use of many computer programs.

DAIRYMEN: AVOID IBR AND BVD

Dairymen should vaccinate herds against infectious Breders Virus (IBR) and Bovine Virus Diarrhea (BVD). These diseases cause considerable economic loss each year.

Most dairymen are unaware of IBR and BVD until their cattle have been infected.

For IBR, inactivated, intranasal and modified live vaccines must be given annually. Modified live vaccine produces permanent immunity for BVD and IBR, but can't be used on pregnant cattle. Veterinarians should advise as to which to use.

To develop IBR-BVD vaccinated herd, all replacement heifers should be vaccinated with modified live virus between nine and 12 months of age.

Laud marriage enrichment leaders

Pamela and Lee Kahler and Kathy and Jim Leishman received certificates of recognition recently from the Michigan Cooperative Extension Service. These couples gave outstanding leadership in extending the Marital Enrichment series to couples in the Thumb. Framed certificates carrying the names of State Extension Director Gordon Guyer and Huron County Extension Director Tony Rapas were presented by Ann Ross.

The Kahlers and Leishmans received training in the group process of Marital Enrichment through Home Economist Ann Ross of Extension Family Living Program. They subsequently conducted the series for other couples in the area.

The process builds on the positive aspects of marriage and is designed to strengthen relationships within marriage. The process is specific so that trained lay-leaders can take couples through the exercises. Other leaders are expected to continue the training for other couples.

Mrs. Kahler and Leishman are affiliated with the Thumb Catholic Family Service at Bad Axe.

Extension to expand learning opportunities

The Family Living Education program expects to have a program assistant beginning Sept. 1, to assist in providing educational opportunities for homemakers and other family members. She will help homemakers develop skills in resource management, citizenship responsibility, leadership, and child rearing.

Ann Ross. "The new program assistant will work with me for this purpose."

Through this position, Extension plans to make educational programs more readily available in various parts of Huron County by mass media, direct mail, group meetings and individual contacts.

The assistant will be a person trained in home economics with the teaching skills necessary to meet the needs of Huron's families.

The Michigan Employment Security Commission is now handling the applications for the program assistant. They indicate that the position can be filled by Sept. 1, and that unemployed persons will have preference.

The lessons for fall will be beginning in September with one on "Sewing Knits", another on "Pattern Alteration," and a third on "Foods: Fact or Fad."

"With inflation and a growing scarcity of resources, we expect families to be looking for ways to make the most of what they have and this Family Living assistant will be a step in that direction," according to County Extension Director Tony Rapas.

Canning tips for green beans

Allene Mills - Extension Agent

When canning green beans and all other common vegetables except tomatoes, use a steam-pressure canner. To process these low-acid foods safely in a reasonable length of time takes a temperature higher than that of boiling water. This means that the water-bath method is not recommended in canning green beans.

Bortel finishes 2-year study travel program

A special certificate of recognition was recently awarded to Bill Bortel, Tuscola County Extension Director for completion of the "Quest for Quality" program. For the past two years he has participated in this special professional improvement effort. He was one of 30 Michigan Extension agents selected for this study-travel experience to look at Community Service Activities and Land Use Planning programs.

The training took place primarily in seminars where the focus was on such topics as "Understanding Individual Human Behavior", "Understanding Groups", "Focus upon a Metropolitan Area", "Focus on Rural Development", and "Land Use Planning Educational Program". These seminars were held in various locations throughout Michigan but two major out-of-state visits were also made for comparative purposes.

Kellogg grant funds provided for two "Quest for Quality" groups-one completing in 1973 and this one completing in July, 1974. Representatives of both groups are now working with MSU's Extension administration with hopes for continuing similar special professional improvement efforts.

Directions for canning green beans using raw pack method are, wash beans, trim ends, cut into 1-inch pieces. Pack raw beans tightly to 1/2 inch of top. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to pints; 1 teaspoon to quarts. Cover with boiling water leaving 1/2 inch space at top of jar. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees F). Pints at 20 minutes and quarts at 25 minutes.

Directions for canning green beans using hot pack method are, wash beans, trim ends, cut into 1-inch pieces. Cover with boiling water; boil 15 minutes. Pack hot beans loosely to 1/2 inch of top. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt to pints; 1 teaspoon to quarts. Cover with boiling hot cooking liquid, leaving 1/2 inch space at top of jar. Adjust jar lids. Process in pressure canner at 10 pounds pressure (240 degrees F). Pints at 20 minutes and quart jars at 25 minutes.

Stick to the truth and you'll seldom talk about yourself.

FOAM PLANKS

Planks for the ceiling which resemble limed and weathered wood are now on the market as well as "hand-hewn" beams molded of lightweight plastic foam. These "planks" are easy to handle, and cost much less than their natural wood counterparts.

$50,000 shelter assured for Sanilac Petroglyphs

ANTHROPOLOGY STUDENT Patty Leary demonstrates how valuable material is separated from dirt by using this sifter at the Sanilac Petroglyph site. Explorations near the ancient rock carvings will continue for several years, archaeologist Don Weston indicated.

By Jim Ketchum

The long-awaited shelter for the Sanilac Petroglyphs should become a reality by late fall, barring any last-minute hitches. According to authorities, $50,000 has been appropriated for protecting the delicate rock carvings and construction should begin soon.

Construction of the shelter will mark the end of a long battle to protect and develop the Petroglyph area waged largely by State Rep. Quincy Hoffman (R-Applegate).

Hoffman told the Chronicle Friday he has been assured that the shelter which will be partially enclosed will be in place before winter. Archaeologists and historians have long pushed for a shelter to keep the carvings, etched on soft bedrock and exposed to weather, from being worn away.

According to Don Weston, who Friday completed a limited excavation project at the Petroglyph site, the only reason the carvings still exist is that they were sheltered by vast virgin cork pine forests prior to the Great Fire of 1881.

Weston said recent diggings at the site, conducted by anthropology students from several Michigan universities, show traces of cork pine destroyed by the fire.

"If the trees hadn't been there, I'm sure the carvings would have been obliterated long ago," Weston said.

He said the latest excavation raised as many questions as it answered. He theorizes that early Indians journeyed to the Petroglyphs from the Saginaw Valley region and says the site probably carried some religious significance.

"We know there were Indians here," Weston said. "We can't say who they were, but we do know that they probably did not camp near the site or establish settlements nearby. So it must have carried some religious significance."

Weston declined to be specific regarding what the latest dig turned up, but said the finds were valuable archaeologically.

He expressed concern about recent incidents of vandalism, including looting, in the Holbrook area.

"There isn't anything here for treasure hunters," Weston said. "Things like this just make it bad for everyone."

EARLY MAN

Weston traced dates of early man in the area date back to several thousand years B.C., but that most were there between 800 and 1600 A.D. He said no controlled excavations were ever conducted until recently. More are planned in succeeding years.

The latest one consumed three weeks and, together with other finds, produced hundreds of artifacts that must be cataloged.

Weston emphasized the importance of the Petroglyphs by saying this is the only example of Indian rock carving in Michigan. The beauty of it, he added, is in the fact that the carvings were done in bedrock, making it virtually impossible to remove them to a museum.

Protecting them, he said, is the most important thing now.

"There were four holes chiseled in the rock years ago by people who thought they could carry them away," he explained. "That was one of the reasons for the fence."

The area is cordoned off by a cyclone fence, constructed in 1967. Lynn Spencer, who lives a half-mile south of the site, keeps the key to the gate. Weston said the fence, while offering some protection, was never meant to keep people out entirely.

"The key is there anytime someone wants to look at the carvings," he said.

The ideal solution is the shelter. Weston said while a partial enclosure will help, he would prefer that a complete building be constructed around the carvings. Artifacts uncovered from excavations in the area could be displayed in the building, he said.

Greenfield Village welcomes tourists

At Greenfield Village, the outdoor museum of Americana founded by auto pioneer Henry Ford, the days of yore live again throughout the year. But summer and early fall have a special appeal, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

The Old Time Summer Festival currently is the big attraction in the Village, while adjoining Henry Ford Museum offers Industrial Heritage USA, a display of artifacts representing 200 years of our industrial progress contrasting products of the past with those of today. Both of these special events will continue through Labor Day.

Either is worth a trip to the village or to the museum itself and, if time permits, both should be seen," says Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager.

"The Old Time Summer Festival recalls for visitors the entertainments of yesteryear," Ratke points out. "There are strolling minstrels, a musical revue called Town Hall Variety, a Punch and Judy show, a medicine show played from the back of a gaily painted wagon, stories drawn from the writings of Mark Twain, a dialogue with Benjamin Franklin and a re-enactment of the famous debates between Stephen A. Douglas and Abraham Lincoln."

There's also a melodramatic skit called "The Trial," in which the audience acts as the jury in a case of women's rights. The village entertainment and skits are presented by the Greenfield open late last summer when both departments claimed authority over the project.

Hoffman explained the settlement gives the DNR jurisdiction over the area but will allow the Secretary of State's office some input in planning.

"We finally had to knock a few heads together and simply order them to reach some kind of an agreement on this thing," Hoffman said.

Presently the DNR's engineering division is determining whether or not it can build the shelter or whether it should be let out for bids.

Hoffman explained that the latest plan calls for the shelter to be partially enclosed with a lighting system.

Village Players, a semi-professional group of actors who perform at the village and museum at times throughout the year.

Summer visitors also have a chance to see Greenfield Village's "new look," part of a 10-year expansion plan costing $25 million that began in 1969.

Suwanee Park and Island, a new family entertainment center deep in the Village, has been attracting crowds since it opened partially in early June. The park, with Suwanee Island surrounded by a lagoon, typifies an area where Americans spent their leisure time at the turn of the century. The colorful steamer Suwanee, a longtime village favorite, still carries passengers around the island.

You get to Suwanee Island in the center of the lagoon by raft. The island is a wooded haven with scenic lookout points, nature trails and a visitor picnic area.

Other Suwanee Park attractions include a Victorian-style arcade building, a riverfront restaurant with open-hearth grill, and one you shouldn't miss—a century-old ice cream parlor which serves ice cream made from a specially developed old-fashioned formula.

The big event to kick off the fall season is the Old Car Festival, an annual event which draws more than 300 antique cars, none later than 1925. The 1974 attraction will be held Sept. 7-8.

The two-day, noon to 5 p.m. event features stunts, contests, parades and judging. It's the biggest event of its kind in the nation.

Commissioners, workers end labor dispute

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners and the County Employees Association ended their seven-month labor dispute Wednesday, Aug. 7, after each side agreed to give on the key question of arbitrary pay increases.

The settlement, worked out by attorneys for both sides, in effect brings three employees which the board had raised a step ahead of other association members, back in line.

Specifically, the agreement rescinds the extra step for the three, cancels out an unfair labor practice suit against the board and gives the association a voice in the advancement of employees in the future.

According to Commissioner Maynard McConkey, the agreement amounts to a compromise. He said the settlement makes it more difficult for the board to exert its authority in judging employees.

"This is a unique situation because it's the first time an employees association ever objected to a wage increase," McConkey said.

Marilyn Griffis, speaking for the association, said her group was satisfied generally with the settlement and clasped it as a "slap of the hands" of the commissioners.

She expressed concern over the board hiring a labor consultant at $7,800 per year at taxpayer expense while the association must obtain legal counsel with its own funds. The consultant, Charles Miner, represented the board at Wednesday's action.

On one point both side agree...negotiations for next year's contract will be tough. Both the board and the association came away critical of the present contract's language, calling it ambiguous.

McConkey said the new contract will have to be exact in all areas and could take a long time to reach. Ms. Griffis said negotiations may start in late September and predicted they would not be easy.

The dispute erupted Jan. 25, when salaries for Account Clerk III in the Treasurer's office, Account Clerk III in the Clerk's office and the Deputy Circuit Court Clerk were jumped one step ahead of all other employees.

The increases for the three amounted to just over $1,000. Under the terms of the agreement, the board must consult with the association before a determination on an employee is made. McConkey called this "employees judging employees".

THUMB TAC DISPUTE SETTLED

The waters were apparently smoothed between the director of the Thumb Treatment Assistance Center, the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department and doctors following a recent meeting of the county Medical Society.

According to Commissioner J. Benson Collon, the society agreed that the center's director, Dr. Fulvio Ferarri, was performing his duties satisfactorily. Collon said that understandings have been reached between Ferarri and the Sheriff's department regarding future admissions to Thumb TAC.

The dispute erupted at the end of June, with the Sheriff's department blasting Ferarri for failure to admit emotionally disturbed persons to his clinic, opting instead to send them to jail.

Collon, who served on a committee investigating the situation, said more cooperation now exists between both departments.

He said no future meetings on the situation are scheduled.

Police seek clues in 3 area larcenies under investigation

Area police reported a series of larcenies last week in which two motorcycles, farm equipment and hand tools were taken in three separate incidents.

Friday, David Wilson of 3678 Akron Rd. reported that a hydraulic cylinder which had been connected to the power take off shaft for a hay rake was stolen.

No suspects have been apprehended. The cylinder was valued at $160.

Saturday, Caro State Police investigated the theft of two motorcycles stolen from the Leona Curtis residence at 1525 N. Kingston Rd.

Police said Mrs. Curtis returned from a vacation to discover the motorcycles missing from the garage. Police said there was no sign of forced entry and that a padlock on the door was found intact.

The two motorcycles were valued at $375 each and belonged to Mrs. Curtis' son, Eldon Rabideau of Pontiac. The thefts are under continuing investigation.

Thursday, Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies reported vandals destroyed part of a vegetable garden owned by Charles Nemeth of 2138 Cemetery Rd., Deford.

Deputies said culprits destroyed 21 pepper plants and a quantity of onions. Value was set at $25.

Monday, Ward Pangborn of Uly reported the theft of three shovels, three wood extension ladders, a sledge hammer, four anchor posts, several steel fence posts, a potato fork and a quantity of hay.

No surprises as Church League play-offs open

There were no surprises in the first round of the Cass City Church League play-offs Monday as the second place Catholics topped the Baptists, 9-6, and Shabbona-Colwood hung a defeat on Missionary, 11-1.

The early game was marked by fine pitching by Les Severance as he almost completely halted the Missionary attack. Meanwhile, his mates were providing plenty of hitting support. Severance and Kim Copeland were the leading stickers for the winners.

The Baptists put on a surprisingly stubborn battle against the Catholics even though many of their better players were absent.

The Catholics came from behind to win. Don Ouvry slashed a key double to drive in two runs to pace the Catholic victory. Paul Bliss started on the mound for the Catholics and was relieved by John Maharg. Gary Mellendorf took the loss.

REGULAR SEASON

The last week of the regular season proved disastrous for the Lutherans, who lost three games and slipped from second place all the way to fifth place in the league.

The Baptists continued their strong late season surge with a 10-7 decision over Snover-Laing Tuesday, Aug. 6. Randy Brown rapped a home run and Gary Mellendorf had two hits. Bill Hicks rapped two hits for the losers. In the 9 p.m. game, Church of Christ backed up shutout pitching by Don Englehart with a lusty attack and Shabbona bowed, 5-0. Les Severance took the loss. Tim Knoblet and Dave Speirs hit home runs for Church of Christ while Phil Bader, Kim Copeland and Bill Bader collected hits for Shabbona.

METHODISTS CHURCH OF CHRIST

The Methodists continued to show why they walked off with the regular season title Wednesday, Aug. 7, as they bested Church of Christ, 6-4. Eldon Stoutenburg pitched steady ball to pick up the win. Don Galbraith and Stoutenburg each hit home runs over the short right field fence. Galbraith's clout would have been a homer in any park. It cleared the first fence by a country mile and rolled to the parking lot fence before stopping.

In the nightcap the Lutherans' week long nightmare started. The Baptists moved into third place in the league with a 7-6 decision. Gary Mellendorf hung on for the win and Nelson Willy took the defeat.

Mellendorf helped his own cause with three hits while John Hacker banged out three hits for the losers.

MISSIONARY-LUTHERANS

The Missionary nine behind Roger Root had just enough to win over the Lutherans in a tight game, 4-3.

Bert Curtis and Luis Arroyo rapped two hits for Missionary while Steve Selby, Russ Beifer and Dave Hoard slapped two hits each for the Lutherans.

In the nightcap, the Catholics rolled over Deford, 12-2. The hard hitting Catholics were led by Dave Bliss and Ron Ouvry with two hits each. Paul Bliss got the win and Alvin McKee took the defeat.

METHODISTS SNOVER-LAING

The final night of the regular season saw the Methodists roll over Snover-Laing, 14-3. Snover was unable to win this season. Mike Murphy made a rare start on the mound for the Methodists and won. Leland Hirsch took the loss.

Church of Christ ended the Lutherans' horrible week with an easy 16-6 decision that could have been worse. Don Englehart and Rich Lowe rapped three hits each while Hoard picked up the only hit for the Lutherans. Englehart got the win and John Hacker took the loss.

Set practices for girl cagers

Ms. Kally Maharg announced this week that all girls in grades 9-12 interested in playing basketball this fall should report to the high school gym Monday, Aug. 19, at 7 p.m.

Practices will last two hours, she said, and there will be four pre-school sessions. Other practices will be Aug. 21, 26, 28, all at 7 p.m.

CHAMPIONS OF THE Cass City Church League for 1974 are the Methodists who finished 11-1 for the season. The team started strong in the play-offs with an easy victory over Church of Christ Tuesday. From left: Ed Stoutenburg, Ricky Damm, Don Galbraith, Henry Cooklin, Mike Murphy. Standing: Watergirl Frances Kozan, Randy Kozan, Dave Doerr, Eldon Stoutenburg, Doug O'Dell, Jerry Toner and Mike Lowe.

By Richard Jones

There are two kinds of people who don't say much: those who are quiet, and those who talk a lot.

Best time to relax is when you don't have the time.

Flattery is the only arrow that never misses its mark.

Back in the days of gunslingers, before deodorants, a shoulder holster was the only "underarm protection."

Confidence is simply that quiet, absolutely assured feeling you have just before you fall flat on your face.

You can have confidence in the Westinghouse long lasting washers and dryers at Richard's TV and Appliance Sales with service, Cass City, phone 872-2930.

Richard Law Huron county's sixth traffic fatality of year

A 30-year-old Freeland man died instantly early Tuesday evening, Aug. 6, when the car he was driving was struck by a runaway trailer on Owendale Road just north of Rescue Road.

Richard J. Law was pronounced dead at the scene. Huron County Sheriff's deputies who investigated said Law's southbound station wagon was apparently struck by the left rear corner of a small panel truck being driven north by Ricky D. Ziehm, 19, of Owendale.

The truck was towing a triple-axle trailer on which two hobby class tractors were being transported to the Huron County Fair.

Deputies said the trailer slipped into the east shoulder of the road, then fish-tailed across the road, pulling the rear of the truck into the path of the station wagon.

As they collided, the trailer broke loose, riding up the front of the station wagon.

Law was killed instantly, officers said.

Ziehm and a passenger, Dale Rodney Kundinger, 19, of Sebawaing, escaped injury.

The fatality was Huron County's sixth of the year. The mishap occurred at 5:40 p.m.

OTHER ACCIDENTS

Area police reported several minor accidents in the area, none serious.

Friday, a car driven by Robert Bruce Holcomb, 33, of 6730 Pine St., struck a horse while traveling north on Kingston Road at the Mushroom Road intersection.

Tuscola County Sheriff's deputies who investigated said Holcomb was traveling north when a horse owned by Ray Zabroski of rural Deford ran in front of the car.

Deputies noted that the horse had to be destroyed. Holcomb was not seriously injured.

The mishap occurred at 4:25 a.m.

Sunday, a car driven by James Edward Spencer, 16, of Phillips Rd., Deford, went out of control and rolled over on Dodge Road just north of Severance Road in Novesta township.

Sheriff's deputies said Spencer was traveling north a high rate of speed when he lost control of the car, ran off the west side of the road and rolled over.

Spencer escaped serious injury. The accident occurred at 3:15 p.m.

Monday, a car driven by Carol Ann Hewitt, 17, of 4534 Downing St., collided with a parked car owned by Joyce Mae Januchowski of 6367 Main St. on Main near Downing.

Cass City Police reporter Ms. Hewitt had backed out on a driveway and apparently did not see the other vehicle until it was too late. She was not ticketed. The accident took place at 2:20 p.m.

21 attend auxiliary meet

Twenty-one women, including three guests, attended the American Legion Auxiliary meeting Monday evening at the Cultural Center.

Mrs. Eugene Keller presided over the business meeting. Plans were made for a white elephant sale to be held at the September meeting. Mrs. Keller announced chairman appointments for the coming year. The brief business meeting closed with group singing. Games were played and dessert refreshments were served.

The door prize for the evening went to Esther Buchery.

Letter to Editor

"Real John" captured

August 9, 1974

Dear Editor John: My commendation on your tribute to John West and your excellent characterization of the "real John" - as I have known him for 30 years. Very cordially yours, Mel Vender

YOUNG JERRY Tallieu of Marlette put up a 15-minute battle before landing this 33-inch, 8 lb. 11 oz. northern pike early Friday morning. The youth used an X-5 lure to land this whopper. It's his largest catch. Neither he or his Big Brother, Walter Arn of Wilmot will say exactly where they caught this one. They'd been fishing since 7:00 a.m.
