

Rabbit tracks

By John Haire
(And anyone else he can get to help)

My elder daughter, Lynn, arrived home from Germany for a six-week stay and because of her I got a little inside story about major league baseball.

Visiting us (Lynn) for the week end was Chuck Kline, a friend, who played three years in professional ball, including two games with the Chicago White Sox, before arm trouble sidelined him.

If you wonder what a manager tells a pitcher when he comes to the mound, listen:

One game that Kline relieved was fine, the other was... well, it was horrible.

Some days I had control, some days I didn't, said Kline. This day I didn't. I walked the first two men and had two balls on the next. No way was I going to walk him, he continued, and I burned a fast ball right down the middle. "That ball is still in orbit," he said with a chuckle.

After that disaster the manager, Eddie Stankey, came out, took the ball and said, "Welcome to the Major League."

The Chronicle was to do a story about the bingo games at St. Pancratius Church this week but don't look for it. The story was killed when committee members were confused by the complex law concerning the game and advertising. They knew that advertising was strictly controlled... and a story to them was advertising. (In a sense it is).

But advertising to the government means paid advertising and that is controlled.

Stories about Bingo are legit... primarily I suspect because the powers that be know that any law infringing on the freedom of the press is unconstitutional.

Dr. Ed Scollon, committee chairman, not present when the debate occurred, found out about all this with a call to Lansing. He came into the office the next day and welcomed a reporter back when time permits.

Okay, moms and dads. The date's been set. Saturday, Sept. 28, at 10 a.m. and again at 2 p.m. the Cass City Rotary Club and the Elkland Township Fire Department will sponsor bike safety clinics at the fire hall.

It's for any youth with a bike and there will be free popcorn and soft drinks at each meeting and a free light reflecting patch for every bike from Gen-Tel. A short film strip will be shown.

Mark the date on your calendar and hustle the small fry down to one of the life saving meetings.

Football fans attending the first high school home game should be prepared for something a little different, says Bob Stickle, athletic director.

Tickets will no longer be sold at the entrance to the park. Now the ticket sellers will be in a small shed in the parking lot in back of the stands.

Tickets will be sold there and picked up at one of the two gates in the recently installed chain link fence.

The good neighbor policy is alive and well in Cass City. I rediscovered this when a machine malfunctioned and I needed a small, odd-sized spring.

Larry McClorey searched the spring selection at Walbro to come up with one that looked like it might work. Louis Salas cut it to size and installed it for me... only to find that it just wasn't the right one.

After chasing all over town without success, a call to Jack McDaniel at Anrod Screen Cylinder Co. solved the problem. A spring Jack dug up fit like it was made for the job.

RUBBER STAMPS

Use rubber stamps to clearly mark papers, documents, packages and many items. Stamped impressions have an official look, get attention and save time. You can buy made-to-order rubber stamps in any size with any wording or any special marks or trademarks. Rubber stamps pay for themselves many times over.

A day in the life of a Michigan Bean elevator manager

I start early in the morning getting the elevator ready for the day... setting up job assignments, arranging for shipment to the Michigan Bean Terminals, and posting the latest prices on the commodities board.

Throughout the day I answer growers' questions and explain new products and marketing techniques. After a Chamber of Commerce luncheon, I'll visit several local farms to see how their crops are coming and try to help them solve any problems they might have. And of course, I have administrative duties waiting for me, so it's back to the office. During harvesting we might be open 18 hours a day. The important thing is to help the grower get his crops in when the time is right.

OUR BUSINESS IS MAKING YOUR BUSINESS BETTER.

Saginaw man stands mute Monday

An 18-year-old Saginaw man stood mute on a charge of negligent homicide when he was arraigned in Tuscola County Circuit Court Monday before presiding Judge James P. Churchill.

A plea of innocent was entered in Joe Robert Koopman's behalf. Bail was continued and pre-trial examination was set for Sept. 30.

Koopman is charged in connection with a fatal auto accident July 6, in Denmark township that took the life of James Edward Singer, 31, of Reese.

In other court action, Donald D. Clouse, 20, of Caro, entered a plea of guilty to larceny in a building during pre-trial examination Monday. The plea was accepted by the court and sentencing was set for Oct. 15. Bail was continued.

Clouse is charged with stealing a cash register from a Mayville auto supply store June 15.

There's nothing wrong in planning for the future if you don't overlook the present.

FROM THE Editor's Corner

I'm all for equal pay for equal work. But I'm against paying the girls' basketball coach as much as the boys' coach.

If that's male chauvinism, make the most out of it. Naturally, I don't believe it is. Coaching boys' basketball is not like coaching girls' basketball.

I can see paying the girls' softball coach as much as the boys' baseball mentor. With the exception that the boys' season may run longer because of the State tournament, there is little difference in the responsibility for the coaches of either sport.

But to pay the same in basketball would be like paying the Michigan State football coach the same as the fencing coach.

There's little doubt that it costs the district more to field a girls' team than it does a boys' because of the difference in gate receipts.

That's not a valid argument for a difference in pay scales. Not to me.

But the difference in pressure because of community interest is.

Let's face it, a coach who doesn't win in basketball or football over an extended period either quits because of community pressure or is fired by the school board for the same reason.

Eliminate the parents and a handful of dyed-in-the-wool fans and not one in 10 could tell you anything about the baseball or girls' softball teams last spring.

Compare that with basketball when much of the town went mad as Cass City progressed in the State tournament.

What brought all this on is that one of the issues in teacher contracts here and in many schools is that the coaches be paid the same for coaching a girls' sport as they are a boys' if the hours worked are the same. Paid the same regardless of the sport.

I'm for equal pay for equal jobs... but right now the jobs just aren't equal.

If the girls' brand gets the interest and thus generates the pressure that the boys' brand has then equal pay is not only necessary, but right.

How can you tell when this occurs? Easy. Just count the gate for the season.

Standardization of pay scales is a by-product of most union negotiations. And it's sure that if the same pay scale prevailed there would be no lack of applicants for the top coaching jobs in Cass City... even if they paid less than they do today.

Still I'm imbued enough in the American system to feel as long as the job is more demanding the rewards should be greater.

I recognize the quiddity of the issue and realize that it is quixotic to think that the present arrangement will continue.

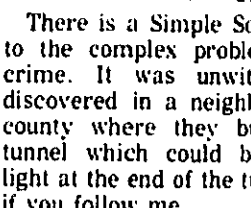

But I'm for it anyway.

Scott exam set Oct. 4

Examination was set for Oct. 4, in Tuscola County District Court for Earl Scott, Caro, Caro test promoter, who was arraigned last week on charges of selling a stolen motorcycle.

Scott was arrested by State Police from the Caro Post Tuesday, Sept. 10, on the charge.

"If It Fitz..." Criminals should be tunneled

BY JIM FITZGERALD

There is a Simple Solution to the complex problem of crime. It was unwittingly discovered in a neighboring county where they built a tunnel which could be the light at the end of the tunnel, if you follow me.

Mother and Aunt Madeline will remember I am always interested in finding Simple Solutions to complex problems. In 1967, for instance, I proposed the perfect solution to the population explosion. It occurred to me after that massive power failure blacked out much of the east coast — 9 months after. That's when hospitals noticed unusually big business in their maternity wards. Even Doris Day could figure out what most people like to do in the dark. So there was the Simple Solution to the population problem. Turn on the lights all over the world and leave them on.

Get the idea? Like it? You'll love the tunnel.

It was recently built in Genesee County for $156,450. The tunnel connects the jail to the court house and its purpose is to prevent prisoners from escaping. Some people call it a bridge because it's built several floors above the ground. But I call it a tunnel because it is completely enclosed with not even a peephole through which a crook might sneak one last look at a Coca-Cola billboard. Besides, if I didn't call it a tunnel, I couldn't have made that clever remark about seeing the light at the end of it. It is not easy being a columnist.

The tunnel provides the "maximum security" needed to protect the public from muggers and welfare cheats. "It's a wonder we haven't had an incident in the parking lot as we escort prisoners from the jail to the court house," said Sheriff John O'Brien. "We have been completely exposed to the public."

The only lawbreakers who can be safely exposed to the public are Presidential aides and other lawyers. They are taken to court in open convertibles, slowly moving, so

The prisoners can easily explain to TV cameras how they are sorry they sinned and are going to become priests after they serve their sentences — 15 days in a Howard Johnson's motel.

The tunnel contains lockers so prisoners can change clothes. There is also an area where they can visit with their families. So here comes the Simple Solution...

All we have to do is make the tunnel longer and add some coin machines that dispense food and Kool-Aid. Whenever an arrest is made, it should be immediately determined if the crook went to law school with the President. If not, he should be nudged through the tunnel entrance with instructions to keep moving until he finds justice.

The delicious gimmick is that the tunnel doesn't really lead to a court house. It doesn't exit anywhere. It is so long no prisoner can live long enough to reach the end. Several times a poor slob might think he sees the light at the end of the tunnel but it turns out to be just another neon sign advertising grain ground exceedingly slow.

And soon, presto! The streets are free of crime. The cheap crooks are all tunneled. If an innocent citizen is slugged, he can crumple secure in the knowledge it

Down Memory Lane

FROM THE FILES OF THE CHRONICLE

FIVE YEARS AGO

An unexpected increase in enrollment has enabled Cass

City Schools to cut in half the time that grade students in the system will attend school half days. Supt. Donald Crouse announced this week. After six hours on the operating table for open heart surgery at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit last week, tiny Tammy Ann Spaid, 13-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Spaid of Cass City, is recovering.

Although the final vote was unanimous, there was a heated debate among members of the Tuscola County Board of Supervisors Monday before the county tax rate for 1974 was established at four mills.

Methodists flocked to the Trinity United Methodist Church Sunday to observe the centennial celebration of the organization.

TEN YEARS AGO

Cass City area National Farmers Organization members presented a quiet front Tuesday at the Michigan Livestock Exchange auction yard with only a few farmers on hand to greet incoming traffic.

Mrs. James Bauer, Centennial chairman, surprised Chamber of Commerce members Tuesday night at their Centennial organizational meeting by announcing her withdrawal from the chairmanship.

Cass City civic and community organizations may now use school facilities at a somewhat reduced rate following the adoption Monday night of a new rental policy by the Cass City School Board.

Deford and Cass City school district voters will be offered a second chance to approve annexation of Deford Community Schools to Cass City Public School District in an election Friday, Oct. 2.

A split between Tuscola county's two feuding Democratic parties grew wider this week as the New Era Democrats held a second county convention Monday night and named their own delegates to the state convention in Lansing.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

School enrollment in Cass City schools Tuesday totaled 885 students. In senior high, there are 352 pupils and 45 in junior high. The lower grades and kindergarten have 440 pupils.

In an inter-city shoot at Caro Sunday, Cass City bowmen defeated Caro archers by 55 points. All persons interested in the future of Tuscola county are urged to attend a conference dealing with county planning and development set for Sept. 20 at Caro High School.

The State Mental Health Commission Friday promoted Dr. Willard W. Dickerson, a former Cass City physician, to the position of medical superintendent of the Caro State Hospital, effective Oct. 1.

Something of a record for Pleasant Home Hospital was set Tuesday when ten patients were admitted in one day.

THIRTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

Sportsmen in the Cass City community may look forward to better hunting and fishing because of planting made of birds and fish here recently. New 1940 Hudson cars, crowned with 84 new American Automobile Association records for performance and endurance, are now on display by Cass Motor Sales, Hudson dealer here.

World War II, which broke out earlier this month, is already having a stimulating effect on Michigan industry and agriculture.

The committee in charge of the fourth annual flower show, sponsored by the Cass City Woman's Club, Mrs. J. Ivan Neirgarth, Mrs. Lyle Bardwell and Mrs. Mason Wilson, are greatly pleased at the interest shown in the exhibition this year which was held in Baker's Electric Store Tuesday.

A bass clarinet, a front action alto and a flute, all new instruments, a Bb sousaphone and a used tenor saxophone are recent additions to the Cass City High School Band.

Being weighted down with money seldom hinders one from swimming in the sea of life.

Regular Meeting Village Council

The regular meeting of the Cass City Village Council was held on August 27, 1974, at the Municipal Building. All Trustees were present.

Cliff Croft was present to report on the Rail Reorganization Workshop.

A motion was made by Trustee Tuttle and supported by Trustee Bliss that the Treasurer be given an extension of 30 days to collect taxes. Motion carried.

Cut corners—save sugar

By Cynthia Crain — Extension Home Economist

Is the high cost of sugar threatening to keep you from canning or freezing fresh fruit this year?

Then you ought to know that you can cut sugar costs without sacrificing quality. You'll cut calories, too -- that's an extra bonus.

To reduce the amount of sugar you use for preserving fruit, try using a thin syrup instead of medium or heavy one. Using a thin syrup rather than a medium one cuts sugar cost by a third. Use a thin syrup rather than a heavy one and you'll cut sugar cost in half.

You can freeze or can fruit without sugar, too. Use water or juice as your canning liquid. Sugar is not needed to prevent spoilage.

Processing is the same for unsweetened fruit as for sweetened.

Saccharin undergoes flavor changes during the high temperatures of canning.

If your family likes a sweeter product, let each person add sugar at the table. You'll find you use much less sugar that way, and your family may decide they really like fruit "straight."

Jam and jellies take a great deal of sugar...so how about making fruit butter this year instead? It's a good, sweet spread for toast that doesn't require as much sugar as jelly and jam.

Band tour of Europe—great!

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following are selected excerpts of a report by Becky Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Robinson of W. Huron Line Road, Ubyly, on her recent European tour with the American Musical Ambassadors. She is a student at Ubyly High School.

When I arrived in New York, we rehearsed 20 hours within two days. On July 30, we were off for Europe on an Air France flight. While in New York, we rehearsed, shopped for last-minute items and took care of financial problems. We stayed at the MacAlpine Hotel, which was across from Macey's Department Store and on the same block as the Empire State Building.

Our tour director was Maxine LeFever from West Lafayette, Ind. Mrs. LeFever organized the American Musical Ambassadors band three years ago and is still head director of the group. She does a wonderful job.

We arrived at London's Heathrow Airport at 12:30 p.m. and checked in at Lancaster Hall Hotel. The following morning, after breakfast, we had a sightseeing tour of London.

What really made London was the beautiful parks. The English take much pride in their parks, and it shows. A typical day in London is seeing their parks, cobbled streets, soccer games, people riding horses and carriages. The main shopping was at Piccadilly Circus. Aug. 1, we went through Windsor Safari Park and Zoo, then in the afternoon, we played (our first) concert in the park.

Aug. 2, we headed for Liverpool Street Station. We then were going by train to Harwich and from there by ship to Holland. We slept on the ship that night going across the English Channel.

Aug. 3, we arrived in Hook of Holland. We ate breakfast, then left by private motor-coaches for Amsterdam. We took two buses since there were 110 band members. When we arrived in Amsterdam, a canal boat sightseeing tour was planned for us. It was beautiful. While traveling through Holland, we saw many beautiful windmills and Dutch houses, along with rows of colorful tulips.

Our next stop Aug. 4, was Paris. By this time, we were not only there as a band group, but as a family. They were all a great bunch of kids.

The next day after breakfast, we had a sightseeing tour of Paris. We saw Notre Dame Cathedral, which was remarkable, the main museum of Paris, the Arch of Triumph and many official buildings. But the main attraction was the Eiffel Tower.

That afternoon we had a concert directly underneath the tower. At many of our concerts, people from the U.S. would come up and compliment us on how proud they were to be represented by us in Europe.

The following day, Aug. 6, we headed to Versailles. This was a picturesque place. We saw beautiful paintings, and elaborate rooms where kings and rulers of the 16th and 17th century lived. We saw where the Versailles Treaty (ending World War I) was signed.

The gardens surrounding Versailles were unbelievable with beautiful flowers, water fountains and statues.

Aug. 7, we were on to Lucerne, Switzerland. The following day, we took a boat trip around the Lake of Lucerne. The mountains were big and breathtaking. Before our concert, the staff took us to jewelry and souvenir shops where most of us bought watches. In the early evening, we played a concert at Promenade Bandshell.

Aug. 9, we took a trip to Mt. Palatus, which is over 7,000 feet high. We took a mini-train to the top. While we were there, we were actually walking through clouds.

Planned next was Milan, Italy, Aug. 10. We arrived late in the afternoon and saw the Alla Osceolo Opera House.

Aug. 11, we headed for Florence. We made it there late in the evening, Aug. 12, we had a morning sightseeing tour of the city. We saw two Cathedrals and attended a mass. Then we went to the highest part of Florence and had a beautiful view. Most of the time, we wore our uniforms when we went as a group.

We also saw graves of da Vinci and Michelangelo. In the evening, we played a concert at Montecauini Terme.

Aug. 13, we departed for the village of Villach, a small town in Austria. The next day, we were on our way to Vienna, arriving late at night. Here, we saw Beethoven's birthplace and also where he wrote his last composition. We saw the Danube River, a beautiful sight.

The Cathedral St. Stevens was a lovely place where we saw the catacombs. That afternoon, we played a concert and took a tour of Schonbrunn Palace where our concert took place.

After supper, we went to an amusement park where we enjoyed many rides and games. Later we stopped at the Danube and listened to many pretty waltzes played by an orchestra.

Aug. 16, we arrived at Salzburg, Austria. The next day, we visited Mozart's home, then on to the Catholic Cultural Center for a concert, our last.

Aug. 19, we left for Munich, Germany, where we spent only a few hours. Then, we left by train for Paris, arriving at 9 a.m., Aug. 20. The next day, we flew into New York at 4:10 a.m.

It was a wonderful, educational experience for all of us and something we will never forget.

BETTER HEALTH

That non-fatal glass of beer

BY DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ and DR. WILLIAM J. WELCH

If you have long since given up hope that scientific investigations would ever find any merit in the minor vices of mankind, take heart, because now there is good news for tipplers, especially for those who are no longer young and stick to wine or beer -- and do not overdo it.

Astonishing as it may seem, what most of us thought we always knew without requiring proof, namely, that old folks who have a ration of beer or wine each day perform better and communicate more warmly, has been established, albeit a bit solemnly, by several carefully controlled scientific studies.

I can hear my late father who "came back alive" each day in his 80s when it was time for his twilight glass of beer, expostulating, "Do they have to do a study to prove the obvious?" Unfortunately that seems to be how it is, Dad. One of the studies was done among the institutionalized elderly, where there is so often a failure of camaraderie and a virtual absence of social interchange. Two groups of 20 patients each were studied for a month to establish a specific picture of both groups in an "untreated" state.

The members of one group were then given one or two glasses of wine daily, the others, grape juice. After three weeks, the groups were switched for a similar period, which was then followed by an extended free-choice period. In both groups there was a marked increase in sociability and the changes were more marked in the wine group.

In another study, 34 senile men received a bottle of beer daily and T.L.C. (tender loving care). The whole atmosphere of their ward lit up. The number of incontinent men dropped from 26 to 9, jacket restraint, which was required in 26 of them before the new regimen, was reduced to only 4, and the bedridden dropped from 25 to 7.

In still another study, 34 patients were divided into a beer group and a fruit juice group, then switched at the end of four weeks. The beer group promptly became more alert, friendly and communicative, and then less so when the daily beer was stopped.

All of which tends to confirm the obvious, but it is reassuring that we now have such convincing evidence, and we no longer have to depend on the possible apocryphal story that Winston Churchill in his 80s kept going by having a bottle of "bubbly" with his morning boiled egg.

There is no question that abuse of alcohol is sometimes the wholly undesirable result of the doctor's advice to have a drink or two with one's elderly friends. But when the emphasis is on one or two at the most, and the patient understands that and follows it out, the results are usually good, especially with the no-longer-young who stick with a glass of wine or a bottle of beer. This is particularly true in circumstances in which social interchange is possible and is encouraged.

Honor four area Ferris State students

Four area students were among 472 students at Ferris State College honored for scholastic excellence during the summer quarter by being named to the Academic Honors list.

Students named were Debrah A. Zichm of Owendale; Randy W. Grekovicz and James Quigg of Ubyly and James P. Vatter of Snover.

To be named to the list, a student must earn at least a 3.25 average and carry a full academic load. A full load is defined as 14 quarter hours of credit.

Success that's not planned and worked for is never enjoyed.

Sherril Thane named to Dean's List

Your neighbor says New season's nothing great

With the new television season in full swing, we've all had a chance to take a peek at the new fall fare. The jury is still out on that favorite new show with no one sure whether or not it will last beyond 13 weeks.

For Mrs. Sherry Kappen of Cass City, so far the new season is "nothing great."

"It seems as though a lot of the new shows are just copies of the old ones," she said. "Mostly I like musical shows, or comedy - something like Carol Burnett."

Mrs. Kappen said she watches between two and three hours of TV each night and so far her favorite new show is "Get Christie Love".

"Maybe I like it because it's about a woman," she said. "I'm also curious to see

There are dietary philosophies that may or may not be healthy and there are food fads that can be dangerous. If you're puzzled about nutrition, come to classes at 7:30 p.m. as follows:

Tuesday, Sept. 24 - County Building, Bad Axe
Wednesday, Sept. 25 - Civil Defense Center, Caro
Thursday, Sept. 26 - PCA Building, Sandusky

You'll hear about "crazy" diets and why they may injure your health; you'll see a new film about short-cuts to good nutrition; you'll explode the myths about vitamins; you'll learn why NOT to overfeed your child during infancy. And more.

And of special interest will be a display of home canned foods that participants are invited to bring to the class - just for fun.

The basic scientific tenets of what food is; what man needs from it and how he gets it are generally agreed upon among true and qualified scientists. The faddists, quacks, and promoters are fools. With today's food prices, consumers need to know what's what about nutrition.

DNR's pheasant farm purchases take best land—McConkey

The Department of Natural Resources wants you to visit a Tuscola County Pheasant farm. Most are in Elkland township and the DNR is proudly lauding them.

But chances are Commissioner Maynard McConkey won't be one of the visitors.

McConkey is still upset over the DNR's acquisition of what he deems valuable farmland, for pheasant rearing.

"Our major complaint is the fact that it's good farmland," McConkey said recently. "I'm not opposed to the idea in principle. What I do oppose is buying up good farmland to do it."

In a statement released last week by DNR Wildlife Biologist Carlton R. "Bud" Jarvis, the DNR claims approximately 25 per cent of the land in each farm is being set aside for pheasant habitat, while the remainder is still farmed, either by former owners or neighboring farmers.

McConkey questioned this figure, saying possibly more land per farm is being taken out of production. He said complaints have arisen regarding weed control problems on DNR land, mainly from neighboring farmers.

The DNR stated it plans to control weed growth and plans to use sweet clover, sudan grass and other sorghums to provide winter cover.

McConkey said tax questions are not a problem in the scheme. He said the DNR pays taxes on the land just as private landowners did.

"We have marginal or totally unfarmable land that could be used to raise birds on," he said. "There's 160 acres just south of my place that has a high water table and that would probably work well for something like this. This is all right. What isn't is using good land."

The land acquisition program began following voter approval of a 1968 Recreational Bond Issue. The program originated after drastic declines in the pheasant harvest in the late 1950's and early 1960's.

Sportsmen's lobbies in the State Legislature prompted the DNR to take three courses of action: Put and Take pheasant hunting, stocking of Korean Pheasants in Huron county and the land acquisition program in Tuscola, Bay, Saginaw, Huron, Ottawa and Allegan counties.

To date, according to DNR figures, 11 farms have been purchased in Tuscola county totaling 1,397 acres, five farms totaling 527 acres in Huron county and the remainder in Ottawa and Bay counties.

Theoretically, buying entire farms, setting aside 25 per cent for pheasant habitat and farming the rest as usual should bring the crop of pheasants back.

The DNR maintains that many Thumb farms do not provide adequate nesting cover or adequate food, especially during severe winters. Winters with unusually deep snows and iced over conditions prevent pheasants from finding food, keeping warm and hiding from predators.

A side effect of the program, Jarvis said, is to bring other small birds and animals into the same habitat.

One, practically next door to Commissioner McConkey, has 280 acres and is located in Section 23. Access to hunting areas is from Reed, Buehrly and Schwegler Roads.

Another, 240 acres, lies in Section five, with access from Bay City-Forestville and Ritchie Roads.

The third, 234 acres, is located in Sections 16 and 17 with access from Muntz and Koeppgen Roads.

In Elmwood township, the DNR owns 191 acres in the west half of Section 23, with access from Dale and Green Roads. This excludes building lots and parcels of private land.

In Huron county, DNR lands comprise 373 acres, with 65 per cent, or 243 acres in the immediate Cass City vicinity.

This includes 40 acres in Section One of Brookfield township, with access from Nolter Road.

Another 80 acres in Brookfield is situated in Section 13, at the intersection of Rescue and Gagetown Roads.

At that same intersection, the DNR also owns 123 acres in Section 18 of Grant township.

Another 130 acres in Huron county lies in the northeast one-quarter of Section 13, Oliver township at the intersection of Pigeon and Grassmere Roads.

COMMISSION?

McConkey thinks large land acquisition by the DNR is symptomatic of the wide power the agency wields. As presently structured, he said, local government has little input.

McConkey said a local commission, similar to the county road commission might be one answer.

"All the funding for the road commission comes strictly from the state through gas and weight taxes," he said. "I think something along those lines might work out well. It would give local government a chance to have a say."

He cited the already-vast power the DNR uses regarding landfill operation and soil erosion as reason for limiting its power. He admits, however, that the legislature has so far been unwilling or unable to place restraints on the agency.

"The sportsman's lobby is strong," he said.

Of total DNR farmland owned in the county, 56 per cent, or 754 acres is in Elkland township. Critics of the program say too much emphasis is being focused on the usable farmland in the township.

The purchases comprise three farms.

PURCHASES AT AN END

Major pheasant farm purchases are at an end, however, according to Dee Weaver, supervisor of wildlife management in the DNR Lands Division.

Weaver, whose department has overseen pheasant farm acquisition since 1969, indicated emphasis, and money, is being shifted to other department projects.

"Outside of closing in our existing holdings with a 40 or 80-acre plot, we're pretty much finished with big land purchases," he said. "We are still looking at small acreages, though."

Weaver denied most of the DNR-owned farms were tiled, saying at the most, the department owns about a half-section of tiled land. He said the DNR has tried to steer clear of buying highly-improved sites.

He said enough money remains of the 1968 Recreational Bond Issue to keep the land purchase program going another two years at most. This could change, however, if substantial funds are withdrawn and given to other agencies within the department.

Weaver said generally, comments from neighboring landowners have been favorable. The only major objections came over weed control, which Weaver indicated has been largely resolved.

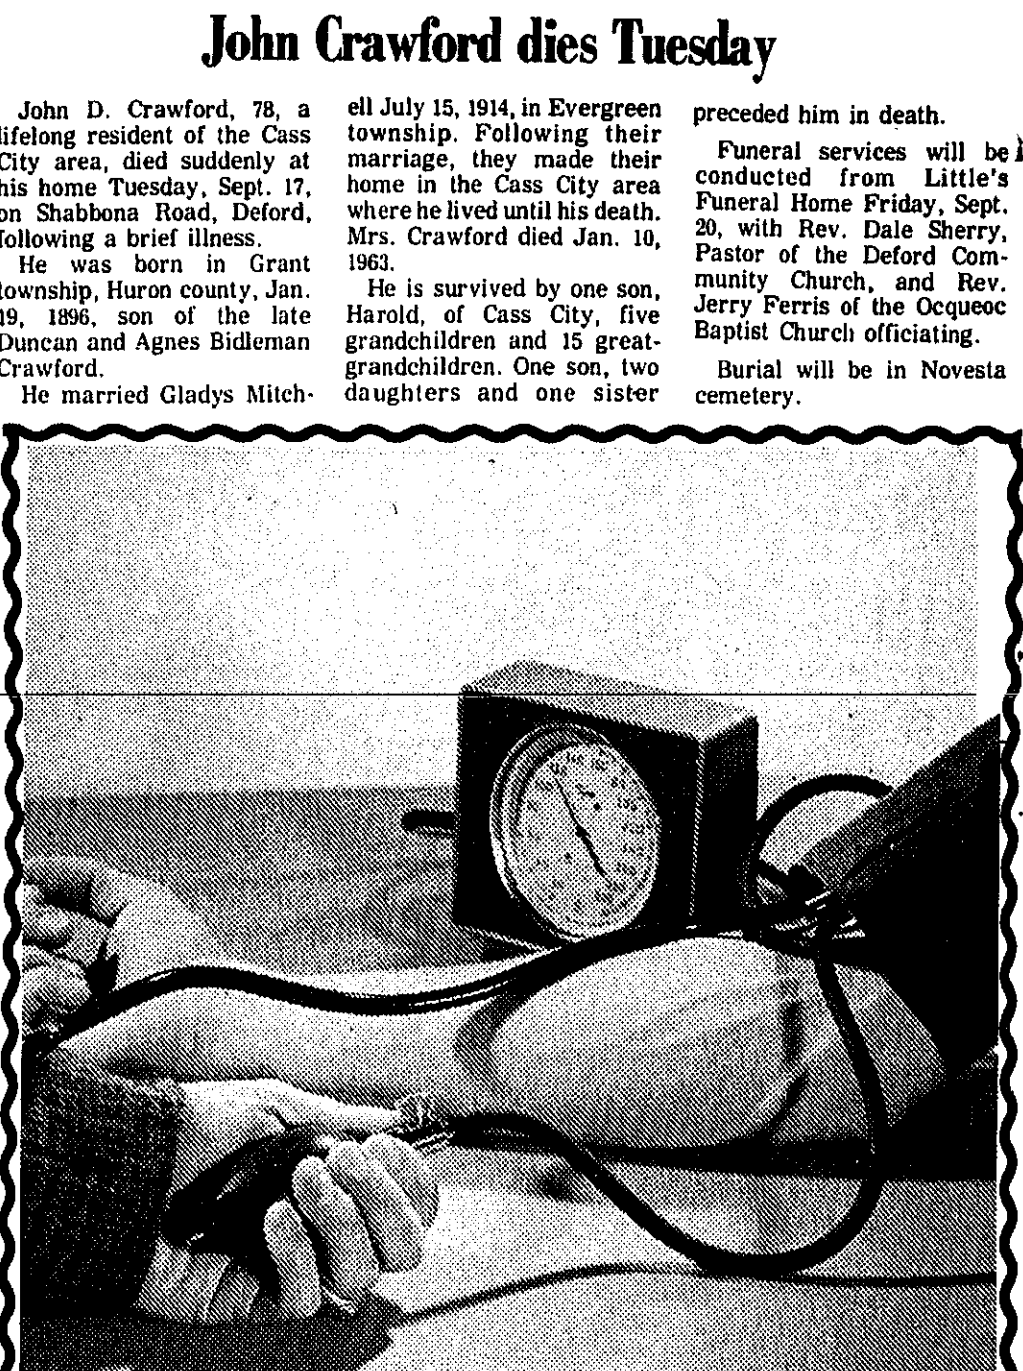

"The reason we didn't cut weeds sooner was that we didn't want to risk destroying any nesting birds or their eggs," he said.

Weaver said the purchase program was set up so that the 65-75 per cent of each farm still in production is the most desirable land. "We want the farmer to make a go of it," he said.

"All we furnish is the land. The farmer furnishes everything else."

He explained taxes per se are not paid on the land, but payments made in lieu of taxes are sent to the county.

Weaver was unable to furnish figures on how much money the DNR has spent for farmland in the county.

It's thinking about that $250 seat—the one that was empty last Sunday.

Haven't you figured out what your seat at church is worth? Say the building—at yesterday's prices—cost roughly a hundred thousand. And there are four hundred seats. That's an investment of $250 per seat.

That's little enough for a seat occupied regularly by a person eager to worship the Lord. (Men have given their lives for the Gospel.)

But to preach Christ to an empty seat—$250 is a lot of investment in the man who isn't there! I realize my kind of arithmetic isn't likely to save souls. But it would do a lot for my blood pressure if just a few people in every congregation across the land would start thinking about that empty seat the way I do!

I don't mean the money. Just the fact that spiritual opportunities are here to be claimed... and only when wasted do they cost us dearly.

Anti-freeze crunch here

"If people want to buy anti-freeze, they'd better get it now or they'll be in trouble," he said. "It wouldn't surprise me to see people lining up for it when the snow flies."

One dealer who has anti-freeze but who predicts he won't have it long is Lloyd Bryant, Gamble Store owner. Bryant is currently rationing sales to two gallons per customer. Once his present stock is gone, however, no more is coming.

"I got the same amount I received last year at this time," he explained, "but I got a letter the other day saying not to expect any more."

Today, Bryant sells antifreeze for $5.79 a gallon, compared with $2.29 last year.

Other dealers who sold it for as little as $1.99 a year ago say $7.50 to $8.00 is the common going rate and by January, $13 anti-freeze, if you can get it, won't be uncommon.

Bryant said the shortage will affect farmers especially, who use as much as three cases a year to service trucks and tractors.

"Generally, they buy early, so they may get by," Bryant speculated.

He said Gambles bought anti-freeze as far back as a year ago and has some ready stock for dealers. But once it's gone, he said, the dealers can't count on more soon.

Howard Gross of Western Auto is fresh out of anti-freeze and shakes his head at the thought.

"I've got a car of my own that needs some and I'm getting worried," he said. "If I can't get some soon, I may have to drain it for the winter."

He said a small stock received last spring evaporated quickly under increased customer demand.

Last year, he said, he sold both Prestone and Dow for $2.29 per gallon. This year, if he had it, it would go for $5.29 or more.

SERVICE STATION PINCH

Service stations are feeling the pinch along with other retailers. Jerry Parsell of Cass City Boron said his station is out and he isn't sure when he'll get any anti-freeze.

When and if it does come in, it will cost over $5.00.

"Some of these companies had some money to throw away so they bought up a lot of anti-freeze," he said. "It's not that it doesn't exist; it's that someone's going to make a lot of money on this."

Louis Salas of L&S Standard indicated last week that his station will receive 75 per cent of their 1973 allocation. Price ranges near $6.00 per gallon.

Other service stations report similar tight buying conditions.

"Bud" McDonald, service manager at Ouvre Chevrolet-Olds, says the situation is no better there. In past years, he said, the dealership bought anti-freeze from General Motors in bulk lots.

"This year, we didn't get a drop from them," he said. "Now we'll buy from any jobber that's got it. We'll buy anywhere."

McDonald said currently supply is down by 80 per cent.

"The supply just can't keep up with the demand," McDonald explained. "A lot of that stuff's going into double-knit slacks. I've got three pairs of pants hanging at home that equal about five gallons of anti-freeze."

Lee Rabideau of Rabideau Motors said Thursday he bought 30 cases that afternoon from an outlet in Detroit. This, he explained, should meet normal customer demand for the year.

He said price runs $7.00 retail now and predicted $10 anti-freeze by January.

"We've been searching all over to find some," he lamented. "I even bought some from the Gamble Store to get by. Our normal suppliers just don't have it."

"But what some people don't realize is that anti-freeze really doesn't wear out. If they put 75 cents worth of rust inhibitor in the cooling system twice a year, they could probably run their coolant indefinitely. But that's the most neglected part of a car."

Rabideau said he doesn't expect a run on anti-freeze because it's something that's needed year-round. Today's cars and trucks cannot operate on plain water.

Rabideau said normally he uses between 400 and 500 gallons of anti-freeze each year.

About the only drivers unaffected by the great anti-freeze shortage of 1974 are Volkswagen owners whose cars sport air-cooled engines.

Inflation, rising costs pinch police budget

By Jim Ketchum

If you think maintaining a car in the midst of double-digit inflation is rough, you're not alone. Cass City village government thinks so, too.

Since 1970, the cost per mile to operate police cars in the village has risen from 2.88 cents per mile to 3.48 cents per mile so far this year.

And, while mileage has increased from 66,000 miles in 1970 to 82,269 last year, so has everything else. According to Village Supt. Lou LaPonsie, there really isn't much that can be done to help.

"So far this year, we're still within our budget estimates for maintenance on our police cars," LaPonsie said Tuesday. "We budgeted $3,000 for maintenance and for the first six months, we spent $1,503. I think that's pretty good in spite of our rising costs."

LaPonsie places most of the blame for rising maintenance costs on increased prices for parts and labor. He said these cost figures do not include gasoline.

Over the last four years, here's what it's cost to maintain police cars in Cass City:

Year	Cost	Mileage	Cost Per Mile
1970	$1,878	66,000	2.88 cents
1971	$1,933	59,891	3.23 cents
1972	$2,484	76,000	3.26 cents
1973	$2,630	82,269	3.20 cents
1974 (7 mo.)	$1,694	48,700	3.48 cents

LaPonsie estimates police cars travel between 80 and 100 miles per day, which gives nearly complete coverage to the village. These figures also include special runs made at the request of the Tuscola County Sheriff's Department out of town.

"I don't see our increasing miles patrolled (so much from now on)," the superintendent said. "So I'm hoping this will help us keep our costs down somewhat."

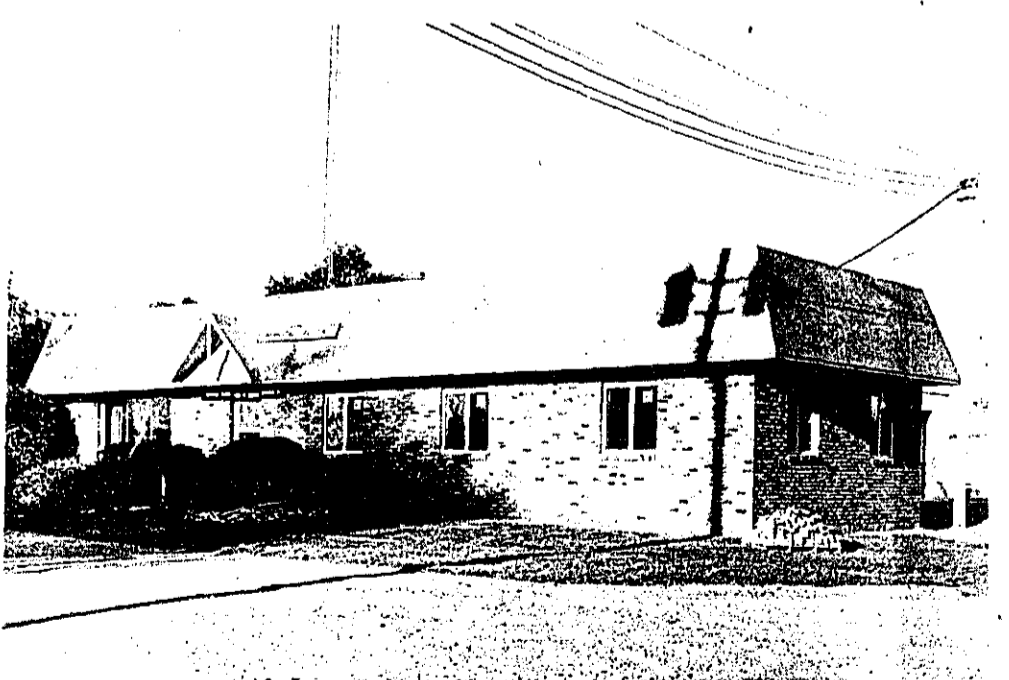

LaPonsie credits most of the jump in maintenance costs per mile to double-digit inflation, now pegged at somewhere near 12 per cent annually.

"As far as maintenance goes, there isn't really much we can do about it," he said.

If the village makes it through this year within its maintenance budget, next year's purchase of a new patrol car will pinch even more. LaPonsie predicted proposed cost increases of new vehicles ranging near $500 will be passed on to Cass City.

As presently operated, the village buys one new patrol car every year, turns the oldest one over to the superintendent for his official use and sells the superintendent's car. Generally, the car sold has clocked from 90,000 to 95,000 miles in the three year period.

The oldest police car, in its WORKMEN CONTINUED to put finishing touches this week on Cass City's Municipal Building. The addition, which doubles available office space, is expected to cost about $12,000.

Tax shift?

Could the tax bite on your dollars really be a bit smaller?

Just might happen--at least for a little while--if voters decide to repeal the current four per cent food tax and the two per cent drug tax. That proposal, assured of a spot on the November ballot because of recent Board of State Canvasser action, would take effect January 1 if approved.

But don't expect removal of those taxes to mean any permanent relief. The state would almost certainly have to find a way to make up for the approximate $200 million it now collects from the food and drug taxes. Most likely route would be an increase in your state income tax.

Hawks prep for Vassar in Thumb B League opener

For the first and perhaps only time this year the Cass City Red Hawks will be facing a team that is no bigger than they are when the Vassar Vulcans come to town Friday in a game that Coach Roland Pakonen rates about even. Pakonen says that Vassar is much like Cass City. They have a veteran backfield, a green line and depend on speed and quickness to make their team go.

Toner, Phillips earn Red Hawk awards

Coach Roland Pakonen announced this week that two Senior players have been selected as Red Hawks of the week. Jerry Toner was cited for his work on offense and Mark Phillips was named for his defensive efforts. Phillips playing the middle on defense was credited with seven solo tackles and two assists and played an extra fine game, Pakonen said. On offense Jerry Toner was the whole show. He scored both of Cass City's touchdowns on runs of nine and 20 yards. He was credited with 55 yards on 16 carries. In addition Toner played all the way on defense. He was the team punter and averaged 38 yards in four attempts.

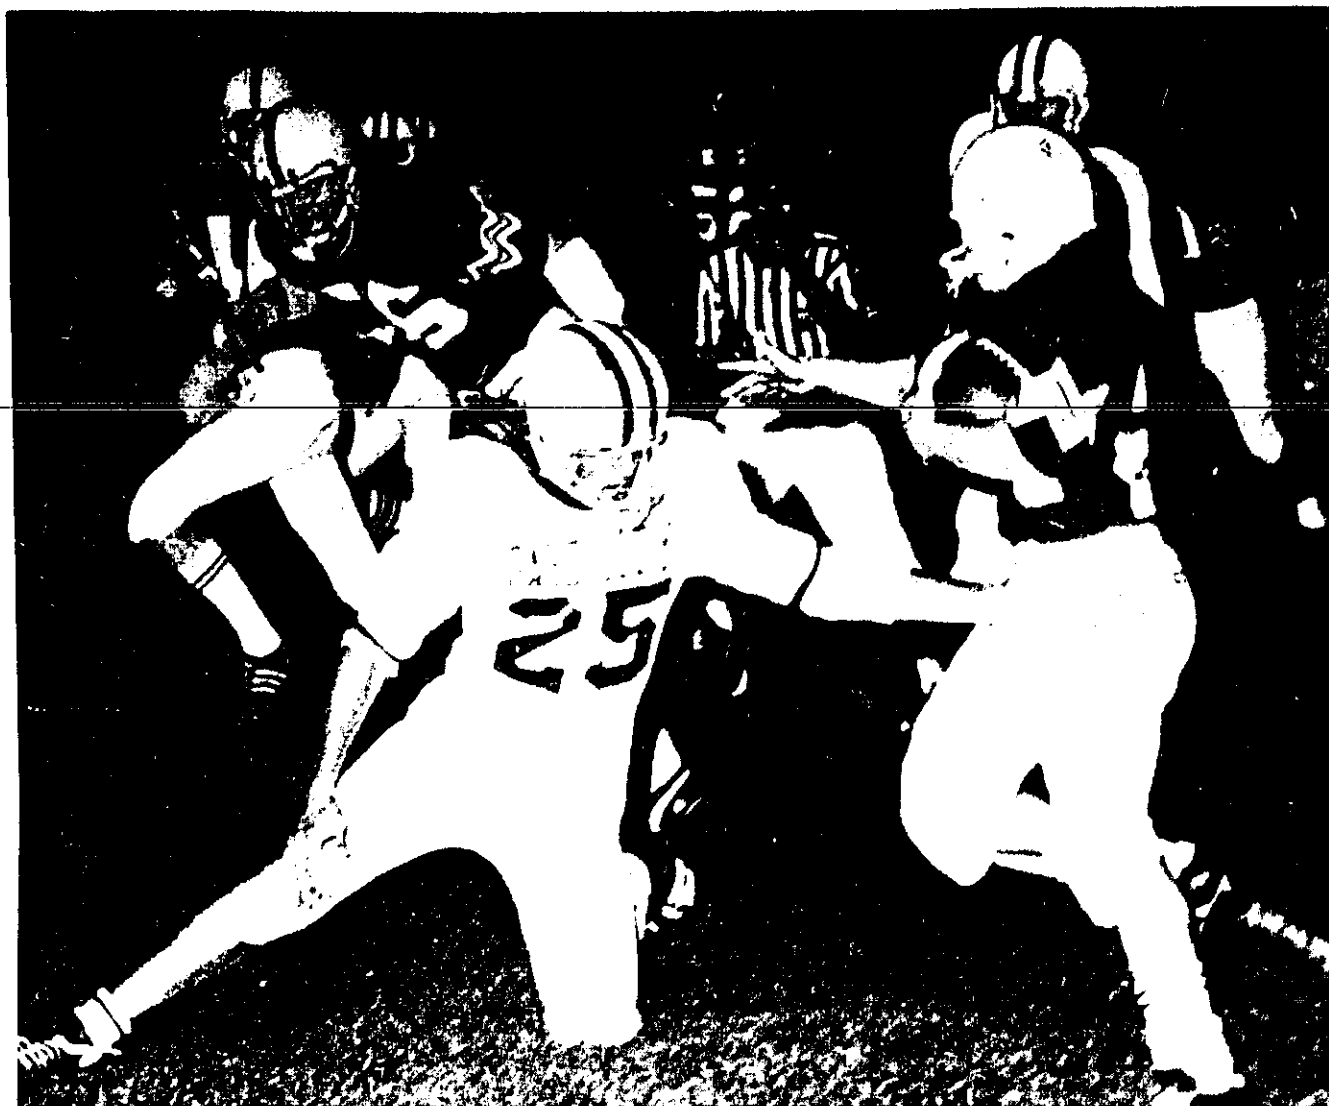

JERRY TONER

MARK PHILLIPS

It will be the Thumb B Conference opener for both teams. Vassar is coming off a victory over Millington while the Hawks must rebound from a 14-12 loss at Yale last week. Pakonen said that he was not unhappy with the performance of his team against Yale. Of course, he added, you are never happy with a loss, but we had some bright moments in the game. One was the play of the defense. The team held Yale to a total of 209 yards and generally were tough when they had to be. It was the defense that gave the team its good field position that resulted in the first touchdown. A Yale punt was partially blocked and Ken Lowe caught the ball returning to the Yale 29. From there the Hawks moved in to score. Ed Stoutenburg moved the ball to the 14 on two carries. Wayne Brooks slammed to the nine in two tries from where Jerry Toner skirted left end to chalk up the marker. Yale evened the score later in the second quarter. It was a freakish play that set up the winners' first marker. With third and long yardage Quarterback Randy Hicks tossed a long arching heave towards End Joe Ryan. Halfback Stoutenburg appeared to have the play well covered. He jumped in front of Ryan and intercepted the ball and prepared to come back up the field with it. Before he got the ball tucked under his arm, Ryan snatched it from his hands and instead of possession of the ball Cass City faced a team with first and 10 inside of their own 10-yard line. Four plays later Fullback Mark Halsey smashed over from the one to score. The winning marker came in the third quarter. Cass City fumbled twice in a row and the second bobble proved too much for the defense to overcome. Halsey capped a short Yale drive after the recovery deep in Hawk territory to score from the three. The winning two points came on a pass. Ryan lined up in a tight end position, delayed a moment at the line and then went into the flat and took a perfect Hicks' pass over his shoulder and just over the head of Stoutenburg for the two points that proved decisive. Cass City got back into the game as the third quarter was coming to an end. Toner took a hand-off, dashed off tackle and then outran the Yale secondary in a play that covered 20 yards. The try for point was missed and Cass City was unable to mount another drive.

LINE BACKER Ron Sieradzki made this tackle on Fullback Mike Halsey Friday, but not before the big fullback had rambled for a sizeable gain. Sieradzki was credited with seven individual tackles against Yale Friday.

The man who hangs on stands the best chance of success.

Fire believed caused by lightning leveled a large barn on Ivanhoe Road west of Ubly early Friday morning, destroying a large inventory of used furniture and appliances being stored there by William Sturgill of Bad Axe. Loss on the barn was placed at $5,000 by Ubly Fire Chief Elmer Brahmier, with no figure available on the contents. No one was injured. The barn was owned by Henry McLelland. ## Girls look for brighter cage season

It shouldn't be as long a season this year for Cass City High School's Girl's Basketball team. With four returning starters plus a stronger bench, Coach Kally Maharg looks for something better than last year's disappointing 3-7 record, which was an improvement over a winless season two years ago. Now in its third year, the team is beginning to pull on experience from the JV squad, as well as two years of its own. Add to that help from transfer students and, according to Ms. Maharg, you have the makings of a strong contender. "We'll definitely be a better

Kerbyson leads girl cagers past Vassar

Cass City's Girl's Basketball team started out the season with a win over Vassar 31-23 at Cass City Tuesday night. Cathy Kerbyson tallied 18 points for Cass City, for team high honors. Elvia Pozzi contributed another six points in the winning effort. Cass City scored mainly on the fast break, Coach Kally Maharg said, scoring a 13-3 advantage in the third quarter to put the game away. The JV squad also started their season with a 33-24 win over Vassar's JV's.

Pair win golf tourney title

The team of Gary Christner and George Heins won the annual Cass City Golf League best ball tournament held Sunday at Scenic Golf and Country Club. It was a close match and after the end of the regulation 18 holes three teams were tied. In the play-offs with the eventual champions were the teams of Don Crouse and Bob Walpole and Russ Richards and Tom Proctor. The Christner team won the event when Christner chipped in a shot from just off the green for a par. Finishing second was Richards-Proctor. After the tournament trophies and prizes for various events were awarded. The presentation followed a steak dinner served at the Scenic clubhouse.

team this year," she says. "We've got four returning starters and five more who could start." Her four returning cagers included Nancy Koepfgen, a senior; Elaine Stoutenburg, a sophomore; Cathy Kerbyson and Kelly Gee, both seniors. Adding shooting strength will be foreign exchange student Elvia Pozzi. Ms. Maharg gives her high marks for her shooting eye. Elaine Stoutenburg, a sophomore with already one year's varsity experience, should provide help shooting, along with hustle. Another sophomore, Lisa Zimba, will probably see a lot of action on the court this year as well. Ms. Maharg said one of the major problems last year was executing the fast break. "We aren't a tall team," she says, "so we'll just have to outrun them. Most of our opposition will probably play zone against us, so speed is important." She admitted a lot of work remains to be done. The girls lost a 52-25 scrimmage game against Akron-Fairgrove Thursday afternoon, although all 14 players saw action.

OPPOSITION

Ms. Maharg rates Frankennuth and Vassar as still the teams to beat in this year's league competition. Vassar lost only one senior this year and threatens to repeat its championship season. And, while they aren't in the league this year, both Lakers and Bad Axe look strong. Cass City will play two tilts against Lakers and one against Bad Axe. Both teams will join the league for the 1975 season. Ms. Maharg said interest, both among the girls and spectators, is growing for girl's basketball. This year, 35 girls showed up for practice on varsity and JV teams combined, compared to 22 last year and 18 the first year. "The parents are really into it, too," she adds. "They get just as excited about their daughters playing as they do their sons."

The team was scheduled to take on champion Vassar in their opening game of the season Tuesday night at home.

CHESTER SIERADZKI

Making a determined bid for a spot on the Saginaw Valley football team is Chester Sieradzki of Cass City. The former all-state linebacker from Cass City has looked good in practice, according to qualified observers.

Custodian salary $3.85 in '75-'76

In the story of salaries for custodians at the school the Chronicle printed the wrong amount for wages in the 1975-'76 year. The story read $3.68 per hour and the correct figure is $3.85 per hour.

CASS CITY'S GIRL'S basketball team shows promise to improve its 3-7 record of last year, with the help of returning starters. First row: Coach Kally Maharg, Kim Ouvry, Maxine Smith, Kathy Clarke and Lisa Zimba. Middle row: Marcey Miller, Karen Krug, Cindy Urban, Kris Ridenour and Cathy Kerbyson. Back row: Elvia Pozzi, Elaine Stoutenburg, Kelly Gee, Sandy Hartel and Nancy Koepfgen.
