Michigan leads nation in snowmobiling with more machines than motorcycles registered in state

Michigan continues to be the most popular state in the nation for snowmobiling, with the number of registered snowmobiles approaching the 400,000 mark as the 1974-75 season gets underway, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

Minnesota, the state with the second largest number of registered snowmobiles, trails far behind Michigan, Auto Club notes. Michigan currently has 392,000 snowmobiles registered as compared to 276,000 in Minnesota.

Just 10 years ago, there were fewer than 1,500 snowmobiles operating in Michigan," said Joseph Ratke, Auto Club touring manager. "Now the number of registered snowmobiles surpasses the total of licensed motorcycles in Michigan by more than 85,000 vehicles."

The Auto Club official said that despite a decline in sales related to fears of gas shortages last winter, Michigan's snowmobile industry is expecting an improved sales season this winter. Michigan snowmobilers will have access to more than 6.3 million acres of public land for their sport this winter.

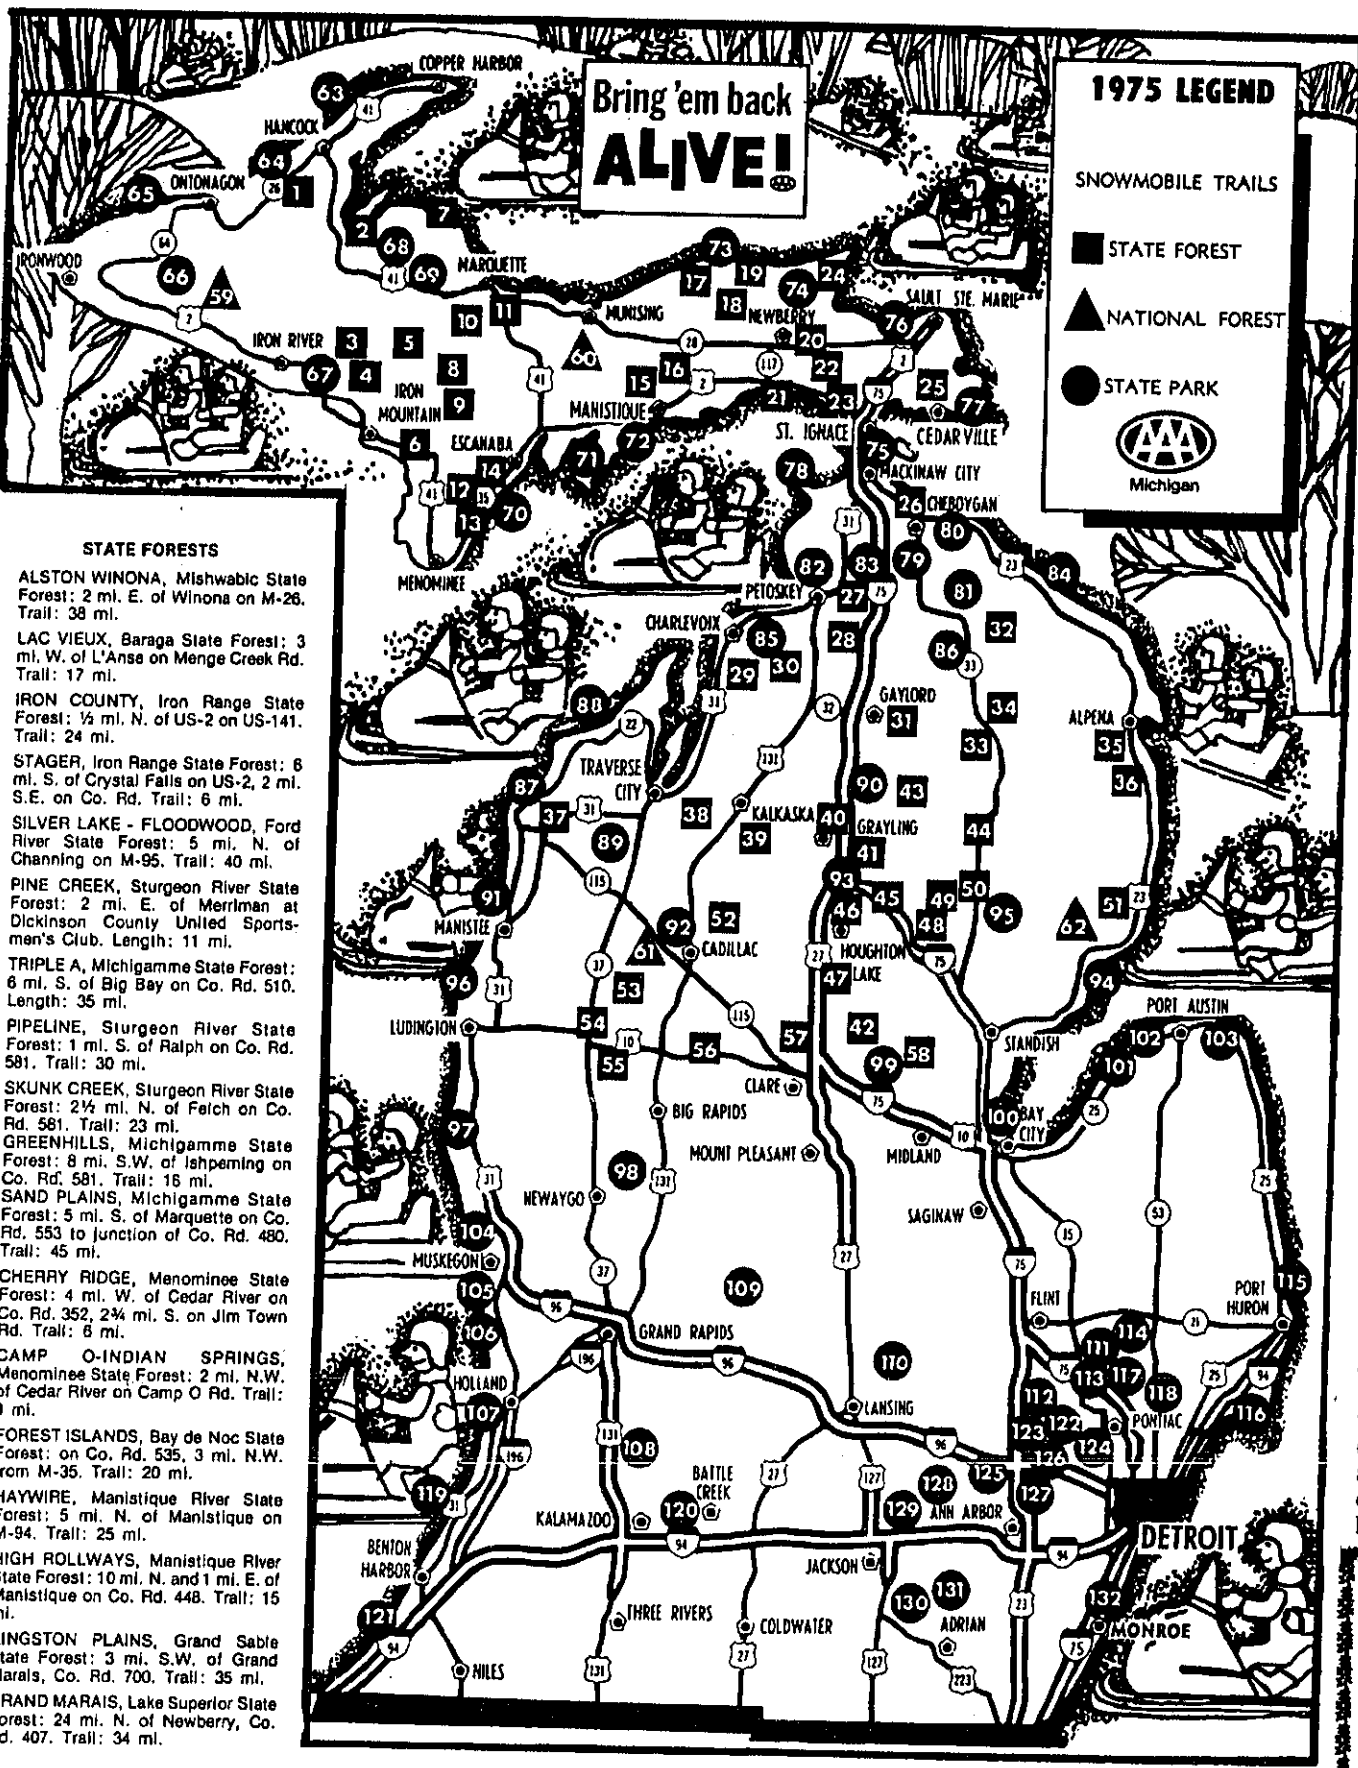

Available land includes more than 100,000 acres at 70 state park and recreation areas, 58 marked trails covering 1,500 miles in state forests and more than six million acres of state and national forest open country. In addition, seven Department of Natural Resources (DNR) public game areas will have trails and acreage open to snowmobilers from Jan. 1 to March 31, 1975.

Auto Club notes that due to poor public response, the DNR is not leasing any private land in southern Michigan for open country snowmobiling as it has done during the two previous seasons. A DNR spokesman said the department is conducting a pilot project near Grand Rapids to determine the feasibility of renting private land for trail use.

The accompanying Auto Club map pinpoints the locations of 132 marked snowmobile trails—eight more than last winter—at Michigan state parks and state and national forests. Snowmobilers will not be allowed to run on state lands unless four or more inches of snow are on the ground. Vehicle entrance permits, costing $5, must be obtained for snowmobiles to be operated in sections of state parks and recreation areas designated for their use. The annual permits also are required for cars, trucks and other vehicles used to bring snowmobiles into these public areas.

New public snowmobile trails, all in state forests, are: Lower Peninsula—Gladwin Refuge in the Tittabawassee River State Forest near Meredith; Chandler Hills, Jordan River State Forest, near Boyne Falls; East Devils Lake, Alpena State Forest, near Alpena; North Branch, Otsego State Forest, near Gaylord; St. Helen to Roscommon, Houghton Lake State Forest, near St. Helen; Bear Lake, Kalkaska State Forest, near Kalkaska; North Missaukee and Lake City Forest, near Lake City, and Silver Creek, Black Lake State Forest, near Millersburg.

Upper Peninsula—Greenhills, Michigan State Forest, near Ishpeming. Pigeon River, a trail in the Pigeon River State Forest near Gaylord, has been closed.

Ratke noted that last winter, when a record 33 persons died in Michigan snowmobile accidents, 23 of the fatalities occurred on highways or highway shoulders and primarily involved collisions with other motor vehicles. "As these figures show, snowmobiling is much safer if enjoyed on trails and open areas specially designated for the sport," the Auto Club official said.

Ratke added that darkness also was a factor in more than 75 per cent of last season's fatal snowmobile accidents. Twenty-five fatalities occurred between 6 p.m. and 6 a.m.

Auto Club reminds snowmobilers that according to state law, children under 12 cannot operate a snowmobile on public property without adult supervision.

Letters

to the Editor

Thanks for tribute to Mrs. Murray

3161 Eglinton Ave. E.
Apt. 909
Scarborough, Ont.

Nov. 26, 1974

Dear Mr. Ketchum,
I received a copy of your article, "Here's to Mrs. Murray" in the mail today at my request from the administrator of Provincial House. I wish to express my deep thanks for such a good (and true) portrayal of my aunt. Although not a "close," as you say relation - I am her husband's niece. Aunt Julia was always one of my favorite people for all the reasons you listed and more. Had I known of her passing I would have at least been able to be there.

My husband and son and I were down to see her at the end of June and left the specific request with the home that should her condition worsen in any way we were to be notified by collect call, day or night. Since this wasn't done, I learned of her passing by receiving back a letter marked "Return to sender - deceased."

Down with boys' sports

Thursday, Nov. 28, 1974

Dear Mr. Haire:

I agree with rabbit tracks 100 per cent. "Readin", writin", and "rithmetic" and all things academic, should come first. Let's get rid of boys' fifth and sixth grade sports. This should certainly help a great deal toward easing the existing "shortage of cash".

Sincerely,
Patricia Gee

Editor's note: Ms. Gee is reading into the item something that wasn't there. The fact is that there is not now a shortage of cash at the school and that the district is better off financially than it has been in the last decade. When and if the crunch comes, I'm sure that it will be felt by all levels except varsity.

State office expands hours in Caro

The Caro office of the Michigan Secretary of State's office will expand its hours to provide service for peak periods, according to Secretary of State Richard Austin.

Under the new schedule, the office will be open from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday and from 9 a.m. to noon Saturday. The office will be closed one hour at noon during week days. The new hours took effect Monday.

The longer hours are designed to handle sales of license plate tabs and vehicle registrations, Austin said.

Zonta Club meets Nov. 26

The November dinner meeting of the Zonta Club was held at the home of Edith Little with Beverly Little as co-hostess, Tuesday evening, Nov. 26.

A moment of silent prayer was offered for Julia Murray, former member.

Christmas gifts were planned for patients without families at Provincial House and for senior citizens at the Hills and Dales Hospital.

Dorothy Ballard presented Jan Grenholm, exchange student from Sweden, who gave a presentation and slides on his homeland.

The Christmas dinner meeting will be held Dec. 17, at the home of Helen Baker with an exchange of gifts.

However, that is no longer important. What is important is that she is mourned, not just by her friends but also by us!

Never have I read a nicer tribute and I feel privileged to be even slightly related to someone who could foster that feeling among her friends. Thank you for expressing it so well!

Sincerely,
Sheila Texmo
(Mrs. Ken Texmo)

We knew Julia Murray, too

Dear John,
Congratulations to Jim Ketchum for the exceptionally splendid column "Here's to Mrs. Murray". He sure knew "Julia" and portrayed a wonderful insight of her personality and character—a fine memorial tribute.

We, too, knew and loved her. We got quickly acquainted when they came to Cass City; Blanche in the Women's Study Club and Hospital Auxiliary, and I weekly met George at Rotary meetings and on other occasions.

Soon after coming here, we discovered extra common interests to enhance our friendship. For example, George's background of early residence near us in Canada, north of Toronto (Markham), where Blanche was born. Also, he had a nephew, a Presbyterian minister.

You can guess as to our closeness of friendship by the fact of requesting that I participate with her priest in the memorial service for George.

We had a little joke. When she was first in Hills and Dales Hospital, I called. The nurse said only her family could call. I said she has no family this side of Toronto. "I'm her Protestant Priest." Then I explained. I said, "Ask Julia if she is able and would like to see me." Julia overheard our conversation. When we called at Provincial House, she would put out her hand and say to the nurse or room mate, "Here is my Protestant Priest."

Sincerely,
M. R. Vender

She was born in Gageton March 2, 1930. She is survived by two brothers, Joseph and Paul Kuchta, both of Detroit, and four sisters, Miss Virginia Kuchta of Chicago, Mrs. Julia Berto of Florida, Miss Helen Kuchta of Detroit and Mrs. Emily Vignary of Detroit.

Graveside services were held at noon Thursday, Nov. 28, at St. Agatha cemetery, Gageton. Hunter Funeral Home, Gageton, was in charge of arrangements.

AAUW attends Revolution program

Cass City AAUW members spent an evening with the American Revolution at their monthly meeting Tuesday, Nov. 26, held at the home of Mrs. Robert Walpole. Thirty-five members were present.

Forrest Walpole, a Caro attorney, presented a program on the causes of the Revolution and detailed the colonists' loss of freedoms that led to an armed insurrection.

He also presented a film "Williamsburg—The Story of a Patriot."

County labor talks begin Tuesday in Caro

Formal negotiations opened Tuesday between county employees and the Tuscola County Board of Commissioners with both sides agreeing there won't be an early settlement of the basic issues—a contract and wages.

Courthouse employees will be represented for the first time by the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees (AFSCME), replacing the old County Employees Association.

So far, the outlook is dismal, according to opinions from both sides of the collective bargaining fence.

Marilyn Griffin, chairman of the negotiating committee for the union, predicted Tuesday a settlement won't come easy. She indicated a settlement before the end of January would come as a surprise.

"I hope it comes before then, but right now, I just don't know," she said.

Tuesday's session was more or less a get-acquainted meeting with both sides establishing negotiating dates and establishing some overall ground rules.

Mrs. Griffin said before talks can get down to the nitty-gritty, an overall contract must be reached with employees. Once this is done, then the hard issues of wages, hours and pay scales will be hashed out, she said.

Mrs. Griffin declined to discuss what some of the union's demands would be regarding wages and working conditions, preferring to wait until substantive talks began. Just when that will happen is anybody's guess.

Second District Commissioner Maynard McConkey said last week chances for an early settlement are "slim". His opinion is shared either completely or in part by most of his colleagues.

One thing is evident. Bad blood still exists on both sides who remember last year and previous years when labor relations were less than smooth in the courthouse.

An unfair labor practice suit filed by courthouse employees against the county board last February sought to rescind merit raises to three employees. The suit was later dropped after the board promised to take action lowering pay scales for the three.

On the county side, commissioners and work supervisors saw this as an attempt to remove the power of the county to grant merit raises without consulting the union.

On the union side, some employees bristled when the board hired Charles Minner, a professional labor negotiator, to represent them in bargaining sessions.

They felt it was unfair for the board to hire a negotiator and pay him with taxpayers' money when the union had to hire its own negotiator.

Some observers speculate sparring on both sides will continue until an overall contract is reached. Once this is done, sessions are expected to intensify until wages are settled.

Women's Council holds meet

Saint Pancratius Women's Council met Monday evening for their December meeting.

The council will provide Christmas treats for all children enrolled in the CCD program.

Parking ban enforced in Gageton

A ban on parking on Gageton streets from 3 a.m. to 6 a.m. came under discussion at Monday night's Gageton Village Council meeting. Council agreed to strictly enforce the ordinance. Clerk Mrs. Ebery Sontag said parked vehicles hinder snow removal during winter months.

Council also reviewed the dog situation in the village and will contact the Tuscola County Dog Warden to pick up animals running loose or causing a disturbance.

Council also reviewed the police department situation.

Mrs. Sontag was instructed by council to prepare candy to be distributed by Santa Saturday, Dec. 21, at 1:30 p.m.

Board nixes study

The Tuscola County Board of Commissioners discussed county ambulance service, labor negotiations and the possible construction of a room to house vital county records when it met Tuesday, Nov. 26, in Caro.

The board turned down a plan to study ambulance services presently existing with Huron and Sanilac counties. The board felt entering into an agreement with the other two counties setting up a county-financed ambulance service might infringe on those private services already doing business, according to Commissioner Maynard McConkey.

"We felt that present ambulance services were adequate," McConkey said. "And we felt as long as they're meeting the needs of the area, we should leave them alone."

He indicated Huron and Sanilac counties may enter into an agreement to upgrade ambulance service.

In other business, the board heard a report on the storing of county records. One firm, represented by Gordon Gezan of Grand Rapids, told the board his firm could store the documents in a facility near Grand Rapids.

The question of availability was discussed by the board. Further doubts arose when it was learned the firm would not provide insurance for the documents when they would be shipped.

McConkey said the board may explore the construction of a separate room at the courthouse to store the documents. The question was referred to the committee on county affairs.

The board geared for labor negotiations this week when it signed a statement submitted by Charles Middleton, negotiator for the Fraternal Order of Police (FOP). Middleton told the board if the agreement, stating that the board was ready to bargain in good faith, were not signed, officers might lose some retroactive pay.

but no serious injuries.

Wednesday, Nov. 27, a car driven by Randall Lee Damm, 20, of Pigeon, went out of control and rolled over on M-81 about three miles east of Cass City.

Cass City Police who investigated said Damm said the brakes on his car locked, causing the car to spin out of control on snowy pavement. The vehicle rolled over and landed in a ditch on the south side of the road.

Damm was not injured. The mishap took place at 7:40 p.m.

A Gagetown man escaped serious injury Thursday when the car he was driving went out of control and rolled over on Cass City Road just east of Hurds Corner Road.

Robert Harvey McCreedy, 23, of 3200 E. Dickerson Rd., told Sheriff's deputies he was headed west on Cass City Road when he lost control of his car on the slippery pavement. The vehicle skidded sideways 99 feet before striking two mailboxes and rolling over.

McCreedy was not injured and no ticket was issued. The mishap occurred at 5:00 a.m. Wednesday, Nov. 27, a car driven by Lorené Carlotta Reich, 44, of Unionville, went out of control and landed in a ditch on Bay City-Forestville Road a half-mile west of Hurds Corner Road.

Sheriff's deputies said Ms. Reich was westbound on Bay City-Forestville Road when her car struck the shoulder of the road, spun around and skidded into a ditch. She was not injured. The mishap took place at 6:15 p.m.

Monday, cars driven by Robert Clare Crosby, 22, of 6806 E. Kelly Rd., and Victor Allen Beddow, 39, of Crawford Road, Deford, collided on Kingston Road just south of Deckerville Road in Deford.

Sheriff's deputies said the Crosby vehicle was headed south as the Beddow vehicle pulled from a gas station on the west side of the road into the path of the oncoming car. Neither driver was injured and no ticket was issued.

The accident took place at 8:40 a.m.

CAR-DEER ACCIDENTS

Several car-deer accidents were reported by police last week.

Tuesday, Nov. 26, a car driven by Eugene Andrew Kaake, 23, of Bruce St., Deford, struck and killed a deer while traveling south on Cemetery Road a half-mile north of Deckerville Road.

The deer ran into the path of the Kaake vehicle from the west. Kaake was not injured. The accident occurred at 11:30 p.m. Sheriff's deputies investigated.

Wednesday, Nov. 27, a car driven by Anna Marie Menzel, 73, of Sebewaing, struck a deer while traveling east on M-81 near Dodge Road. The animal ran from the north side of the road into the path of her auto, police said.

Sheriff's deputies investigated the 9 a.m. accident. Friday, a car driven by Raymond Earl Hendrick, 21, of 5318 Pringle Rd., Decker, struck a deer while traveling east on M-81 about a mile east of Cass City.

Cass City Police who investigated said the deer ran into the path of the auto before Hendrick could avoid a collision. He was not injured. The mishap took place at 11:30 p.m.

Saturday, a car driven by Kenneth Donald Graichen, 18, of 5671 Deckerville Rd., Deford, struck and killed a deer while traveling east on Deckerville Road a half-mile east of Murray Road.

Joe Stanko creates humor with dry wit, paint brush

By Jim Ketchum

DEFORD'S LATEST addition is a new jail, courtesy of Joe Stanko.

To some persons, a paint brush is just a paint brush. But not to Joe Stanko of Warren and Deford. To Stanko, a paint brush is the tool that works humorous magic on just about anything that will hold still.

You can generally tell where Stanko has been. You can tell because he leaves behind a humorous picture-message that says in effect, "but for the grace of God go I."

You don't have to look far around the Cass City and Deford area to see where Stanko's been. Deford, for instance, has a new jail, courtesy of Joe. Then there are the totem pole, mail box and sign welcoming you to "Mosquito Haven", Stanko's week-end place on Gilford Road a mile south of Deford. Stanko is a sign painter by trade, but a witty cartoonist with a paint brush by choice. "I just enjoy making people smile," Stanko said, flashing his wide smile from underneath the bill of his red winter cap.

"I try to do my little pictures to depict sort of a scene from life that could apply to nearly anybody," Stanko said. "It's fun."

Stanko came by his talent naturally. "I kept getting swatted by my mother for drawing on the walls when I was a kid until she decided maybe I had enough talent and was pretty good at drawing."

Born near Washington, Pa., 51 years ago, Stanko perfected his talents during World War II while stationed with the Army in North Africa.

"I did a lot of drawings on bombers," Stanko recalled. "We did lots of those and I also did some work for 'Stars and Stripes,' the Army newspaper. I also got in some free-lance cartooning as well."

After the war, Stanko studied in a commercial art school for four years with hopes of becoming a full-time cartoonist. But the big break just never came around. That's when he turned to sign painting. "I had worked with small carnivals when I was a youngster," he said. "I painted up the tiger cages and did signs for the show. And things just kind of led from there. I had to eat, so I went into sign painting."

Stanko has worked as a sign painter for over 20 years and today does much of his work in Warren, his week-day home.

DEFORD HOME

But his trailer and small cottage south of Deford is generally his week-end home. Anytime from Friday through Sunday, you can find the talented Stanko in this area, either going to or coming from another project.

"I've painted around here the last three years," Stanko said. "I've done projects for Bill Johnston and Cliff Croft and a few other things here and there."

Stanko came to Deford six years ago. He said he had a week-end home near West Branch, but decided he wanted to be a little closer to home but still away from the crush of the city. He's carved himself a quiet spot marked chiefly by a Stanko original—a hand-painted totem pole created from the trunk of a dead tree. It includes a small pond he stocked with bass last year and a garden spot.

"I really love it back here," he said. "It lets you get away from things for awhile."

It also gives the talented Stanko a chance to practice the craft he loves most—cartooning.

"Humorous paintings are my favorite," Stanko acknowledged. "I try to deal with the inability of man to deal with the life around him. I try to editorialize his plight and try to make him laugh at it as well."

While cartooning is what he likes best, sign painting is what he does full-time.

"Actually, the sign painting was just a hobby that turned into a profession," he said. "After all, I had to feed the larder and that's what would do it. There are an awful lot of starving cartoonists around these days."

Stanko says Hank Ketchum, creator of "Dennis the Menace", Al Capp of "Li'l Abner" fame and Ed Dodd, who created the nature comic strip "Mark Trail", are his favorites.

"These boys know how to create a situation from life and make you laugh at it."

Stanko said. "They're among the tops."

SIGN PAINTING

While it isn't what he planned to do full-time, sign painting has provided Stanko with an interesting and rewarding life. He said in the 20-plus years he's been in the business, methods have changed but the need for skill and precision have not.

"The old-time sign painter was more of an artist than the fellows in the business are today," Stanko said. "He had to be able to do it all and do it well. Today, you've got specialists who only do one part of a sign and move on."

He said proper preparation is still essential when it comes to painting a sign and making it last. He said while the profession is relatively open, persons interested in learning the trade are few and far between.

"I can't understand it," Stanko said. "It's a good trade. But a lot of these young kids don't seem interested enough in learning it. For me, it's been sort of a romantic kind of deal. I've traveled all over the country painting signs. I lived out of the back end of my truck for a long time. That was when you didn't have to lock up everything you own if you were going to be gone more than 10 minutes. You couldn't do that today."

Stanko said he loves the Thumb and spends as much time here as he can. "There's a genuine quality about people around here," he said. "The friendship is real. It seems as though you can trust people more. It's a little of the old days around here."

Today, Stanko spends most of his work time in the Detroit area. No longer does he undertake a project like the 30 by 40-foot doe conservation sign he painted near West Branch years ago. It took him two days to complete it.

Stanko is the father of two children. His son is a sophomore at Wayne State University and plays fullback on the football team. His daughter is a teacher.

At 51, Stanko still has some dreams that he'd like to make come true.

"For one thing, I'd like to illustrate a book of humorous verse some day," Stanko said. "Something similar to what maybe James Thurber or Ogden Nash wrote."

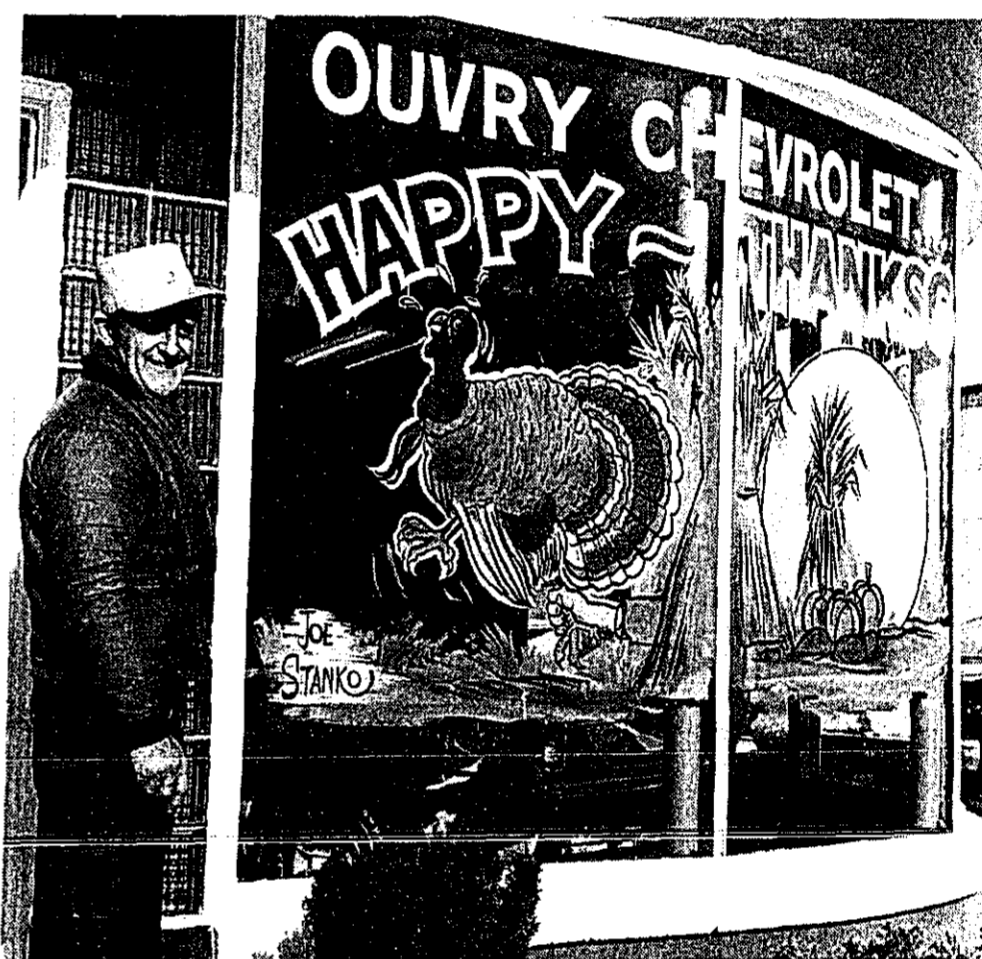

Stanko would also like to do more cartooning, just because he enjoys it.

Whatever he does, chances are he'll enjoy it.

"You may wind up with an activity not in the niche of life you want it to be," Stanko said. "But you can enjoy it, if you try."

A DEAD TREE stump became a totem pole, thanks to Joe Stanko's talents. Stanko said he patterned his creation after several he saw while traveling the Alaska highway several years ago.

JOE STANKO, sign painter-artist, poses beside one of his latest creations in Cass City. Stanko, who has a week-end home near Deford, has added humor to storefronts in the Cass City area for over three years.

Cold shooting Hawks bow to rangy Harbor Beach, 60-51

The Cass City Red Hawks basketball team is working feverishly to overcome opening game mistakes observed in last Saturday's 60-51 loss at Harbor Beach and get ready for the opening of the Thumb B Conference season this Friday against the Hatchets from Bad Axe.

While Coach Ron Nurnberger pointed out that a loss is never a satisfactory result, he noted that there were bright spots in the team's performance.

One is that 10 players saw action without a great loss of efficiency on the floor using the various combinations. Another was the rebounding. According to Cass City's game statistics the Hawks outrebounded, 47-40, the much taller Pirate quintet while the turnovers were even.

But in one important statistic, Cass City was far behind. The Hawks hit just 20 of 67 shots for 29 per cent while Harbor Beach converted 22 of 52 for 40 per cent.

Actually it was anybody's ball game until the final four minutes when the score was tied. But with Jerry Toner on the bench with five fouls Cass

City went stone cold dead and the Pirates walked off with the victory.

The game started as if the Beachers were going to blow Cass City right off the floor. Early in the opening period the Pirates had rushed to a 12-4 lead and Cass City fans were beginning to squirm in their seats.

But Cass City started to find the range and quickly closed the gap. At the end of the first period the Hawks trailed by four, 15-11.

The attack continued in the next quarter as Cass City started pressing on defense and hitting the nets. At the half the score was 30-29, Harbor Beach.

Neither team was able to gain an advantage in the third period or early in the fourth quarter.

But in the crucial final four minutes it was Harbor Beach that came up with the big baskets and the win.

The first game jitters for many of the players seeing virtually their first varsity action was apparent and Coach Nurnberger expects them to develop rapidly as the season progresses. Ken Lowe scored 13 points to lead Cass City's balanced scoring. He picked off 10 rebounds. Clark Hillaker led the team in rebounds with 13 rebounds but had trouble finding the basket. Jerry Toner scored 12 points and Chuck Bliss netted 8 points and added 9 rebounds.

JUNIOR VARSITY

The Cass City Junior Varsity was unable to stop a last half surge by the Pirates in the preliminary and bowed, 54-37. At the half Cass City trailed by just four points. Rick Selby showed the way on offense for the Hawks.

WORKING HARD on the boards for Cass City in the season's opener was Clark Hillaker. He out muscled Dave Messing, number 10, and Larry Kozfkay on this play. Brad Goslin, number 55, waits for a possible chance at the ball as Hillaker prepares to shoot.

BEGINNER'S LUCK - It was the first year of deer hunting for Chris Titus, 15, of Marlette and he celebrated with this big 8-point deer shot about 2 1/2 miles north of Cass City. The buck was shot late Thursday evening and lost. The Titus luck held as the hunting party returned Friday morning and found the trophy about 50 yards from where it was shot.

Mrs. Tuckey, Cooklin named to golf award

Mrs. Delores Tuckey and Henry Cooklin, both of Cass City, have been named Most Improved Golfers of the year at Rolling Hills Golf Course. The certificates of improvement awarded by Golf Digest, were presented to each of the winners by Mary Hutchinson Friday.

Mrs. Tuckey achieved her award by reducing her handicap from 83 to 51 for a nine-hole course during the 1974 season. Cooklin reduced his handicap from 27 to 15 for an 18-hole course.

BUCK LUCK

Joe Gruber, 15, Cass City, shot an eight-point buck at 8:30 a.m. Nov. 27, while hunting north of Cass City. The deer weighed in at 200 lbs.

George Lapp, Cass City, shot a 15-point buck at 9:20 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 30, while hunting northeast of Cass City. The deer weighed over 200 lbs.

Girls' tourney trail ends as Ubly presses way to 51-47 win

The Ubly Bearcats used a pressing zone trap defense to stage a fourth period rally and wrestle victory from the Cass City Red Hawks after the Hawk girls seemingly had the Class C District tourney wrapped up. The score was 51-47 and the host Bearcats never led until the final two minutes of the game.

Cass City jumped off to a good start as Coach Kally Maharg's charges scored the first seven points before Ubly found the range.

The Bearcats came charging back to knot the score at 9-9 with 2:33 left in the initial period. Cass City answered the challenge with a bucket and led at the end of the initial period, 11-10.

The Hawks played some of their best ball of the night as they zoomed into a 21-15 lead at the half behind the ball handling of Kathy Kerbyson, Marci Miller and Elaine Stoutenburg and the rebounding of Lisa Zimba.

Things seemed well in hand in the third period as the two teams battled on almost even terms. Cass City added a point to the margin and led by seven, 36-29, at the three quarter mark.

Cass City fans started looking for substitutes to make an appearance as early in the final period the Hawk margin jumped to 12 points, the largest lead in the game.

But right here, the Bearcats turned it all around. They did it with some defensive ball hawking by Karen Geboski, a diminutive 5-foot, 1-inch guard, who started chasing the ball all over the court. Time after time she caused turnovers by sneaking the ball away from behind or intercepting Cass City passes.

Coupled with the efforts of the freshman was the work of a senior, JoAnn Jaroch, who started to control the backboards and sink shots from around the free throw line.

With 6 minutes left the 12 point margin was down to six. Cass City's chances to hold off the charging Bearcats suffered a severe blow when Marci Miller fouled out with about 3 minutes left.

Ubly finally took the lead, 46-45, with 1:46 seconds left. The Hawks had several opportunities to forge back in front but the ball just wouldn't fall.

With time running out, Ubly scored the final bucket of the game, the ball dropping through the net as the final whistle blew, to make the final margin four points.

Ubly student works MSU info. center

You name the question and the odds have it that Kenneth P. Murray of Ubly has the answer.

Murray is a Michigan State University volunteer with the Hubbard Information Center located on the MSU campus.

The center is manned with 25 MSU students who are ready and waiting to answer any and all questions students or faculty may have. If, by some chance, they do not have the answer, they will refer the caller to the appropriate place to get the answer.

It began operation in 1969 in Hubbard Residence Hall as a rumor control clinic. At that time, many students were concerned with the draft lottery and campus unrest. The center's main objective was to answer the numerous questions students had with regard to these issues.

Eventually the information center expanded in personnel because the demand for their services grew tremendously.

The completely student-operated facility now has three main functions. It acts as a referral guide, a rumor control clinic and serves as general information center.

When the center opened was located in Hubbard Hall but as the demand for the services increased, so did the office space for the volunteers. Working closely with the Associated Students MSU (ASMSU) and the university, the center was provided with increased office space in the MSU Library where they are now located.

The center is believed to be the first of its kind on any U campus.

Murray, son of Mr. a Mrs. John Murray of McLister Road, is an MSU junior majoring in criminal justice and a 1972 graduate of U High School.

KATHY KERBYSON Cass City's leading scorer in a narrow loss to Ubly last Wednesday drives under Michelle Bukoski for two points.

Gagetown students re-enact first Thanksgiving feast

THE "FIRST" THANKSGIVING - that's what Mrs. Carolyn MacAlpine's fourth-grade class at Gagetown Elementary School re-enacted Wednesday, Nov. 27. The class prepared the meal, which included stew, corn bread and pie, themselves. Most of the Pilgrims and Indians said the meal tasted pretty good.

MRS. MACALPINE dishes up some tasty stew to Pilgrim Rosie Murawski.

There's no better way to learn than by doing. That's what Mrs. Carolyn MacAlpine's fourth-grade class at Gagetown Elementary School thought and that's how they studied the first Thanksgiving this year.

Wednesday, they demonstrated their results by cooking their very own Thanksgiving dinner on hot plates and in the school cafeteria. With a little help from Mrs. MacAlpine, they succeeded.

And while it didn't look completely like that first Thanksgiving dinner back in 1621, it did taste good and provided the students with a first-hand look at how it's done.

Mrs. MacAlpine said the class cooked the dinner as part of their social studies coursework. Students contributed stew, cornbread and three kinds of pie for their mini-feast.

To add to the flavor of that first Thanksgiving, students donned paper Pilgrim and Indian costumes and said grace before digging into the meal. Joining in the fun was Bill Britt, Gagetown Elementary Principal.

Then the 15 students lined up as Mrs. MacAlpine dished out hot stew and cornbread, and dug in.

Mrs. MacAlpine said the students learned a lot from the experience and so did she. "I must be a glutton for punishment," she laughed.

"Really," she said seriously, "it was a learning experience for all of us."

One other difference from that first meal was that this one was cooked on hot plates and served on paper plates and paper cups. Students ate with plastic silverware instead of pewter knives and forks.

Judging by the squeals of delight, the students enjoyed the day. For them at least, this Thanksgiving was something special.

Farmers asked to report crop losses

Tuscola county farmers who have protection on corn and soybeans and feel that they have not produced their guarantee under the terms of the contract are advised that the final date for reporting a loss is Dec. 10, according to Albert Dalton Jr., contract service center director for the Indianapolis Center, U.S.D.A.

Anyone who has not completed harvest should also give notice by Dec. 10 if a loss is anticipated.

The Indianapolis Center services approximately 20,000 farmers who are policyholders carrying FCIC all risk protection.

VA expenditure $1.5 million in Tuscola

Veterans Administration expenditures in Tuscola county for the fiscal year 1974 which ended June 30 totaled $1,589,145, according to Frank Kilcullen, regional office director in Detroit.

Tuscola county veterans received $969,282 in pension and compensation payments. Schooling and vocational rehabilitation payments totaled $507,983 and county veterans received $111,880 in insurance and indemnities.

Sanilac county VA expenditures totaled $1,003,672, with $612,178 paid out in pension and compensation payments. Schooling and vocational rehabilitation payments totaled $320,832 and insurance payments totaled $70,662.

In Huron county, VA payments totaled $1,098,220, with $669,847 paid out in pension and compensation. Schooling for Huron county veterans totaled $351,055 and insurance payments totaled $77,318.

DAN GLIDDEN, fork in hand, says it was a good meal. And why not? He helped prepare it.

Southeastern Gas gets rate hike

Southeastern Michigan Gas Company has been granted a $1,585,377 rate increase by the Michigan Public Service Commission effective Nov. 19.

Orville O. Wilson, company secretary and treasurer, said the rate increase represents partial and immediate relief pending final decision on Southeastern's application filed May 20, in which an increase of $2,064,670 was requested.

The new rates amount to a 6½ per cent increase for residential customers as compared to a 12½ per cent increase for commercial and industrial users of natural gas, equalizing rates between all three classes of customers.

Wilson said customers will now pay a $4.50 service charge each month, in addition to a rate charge of 12.34 cents for each 100 cubic feet of natural gas used. This will mean the average residential heating customer will pay approximately $18.00 more per year under the new rate.

The company will phase out its present gross and net billing rates during the next 30 days and thereafter bills will show only one amount payable.

Wilson also said that this is the first rate increase for Southeastern since November, 1972, except for small increases under its Purchased Gas Adjustment Clause, authorized by the Public Service Commission to pass on increases in cost of gas received from Southeastern's principal supplier.

The rate increase will affect over 54,000 customers served by Southeastern in portions of Calhoun, Hillsdale, Jackson, Lapeer, Macomb, St. Clair, Sanilac and Tuscola counties.
